JOHNSTON TO TRIAL MONDAY AUTOMOBILE DEALERS' CARAVAN TO VISIT 11 TOWNS RICHARDS, FOUND GUILTY OF FORGERY, IS GIVEN 3 YEARS

JURY IS OUT FIVE HOURS IN DALLAS TRIAL

Young Politician Was Involved in Bet on Election

ENDORSED ONE $1,000 CHECK

A. A. Crabb, Confessed to Have Helped, Also to Be Tried

DALLAS, Feb. 9. (P)—Ben Richards, Jr., Dallas politician, was found guilty of forgery and given three years by a jury here tonight. The jury deliberated slightly over five hours.

Richards was charged with having forged an endorsement to one of two $1,000 cashier's checks put up as an election wager. When V. Ray Adams, one of the winning bettors, found the checks had been paid to the wrong man, he killed Orville Mathews, banker who acted as stakeholder. His trial for murder resulted in a mistrial.

A. A. Crabb, confessed "tool" of Richards in the conspiracy, also will be tried for forgery. He testified against Richards in the present trial.

MOODY TO URGE PASSAGE OF HIS PRISON BILL

Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 9. (P)—Governor Moody has his heart set on prison centralization and he is going to do his best to make the present legislature see it his way. Not to the extent of coercion, but through explanation of his plans to win over opponents to his ideas of how the reorganization and centralization should be done, will be act.

With the Holbrook bill, approved by the governor, all but rejected by the senate committee, the governor rallied his friends to its support with the result it has been passed out favorable.

The house committee preferred the Young-Turner-Loy measure providing for concentration on the seven farms below Houston with the central plant on the Darrington farm in Brazoria county, to the Holbrook companion bill, sponsored in the house by Graves of Williamson and Hubbard of Bowie, who by the way, are fast taking places as house administration leaders—but the governor's measure has been ordered printed there on minority report.

The senate committee had espoused favorably the cousins bill, senate companion to the Young-Turner-Loy version in the house, previous to its action in recommending the Holbrook draft, thus bringing about a dilemma that might amount to nothing more than one of the two bills being considered on minority report.

Moody to Press Issue
At any rate, the legislature will take its choice between the two measures and Governor Moody will ask that the one he favors be given first consideration.

He is preparing a message to the legislature which will convey his thoughts and wishes in plain language on prison and other subjects of legislation. He probably will deliver in person Monday and his friends believe it will be the stroke that may not only drive home administration prison legislation, but warm up the state-wide bond issue.

Dick Hughes made a business trip to Amarillo Friday.

THE WEATHER VANE

WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy somewhat warmer Sunday; Monday partly cloudy.

FORT WORTH MAN NEARLY FREEZES ON MOBEETTIE ROAD

Sterling P. Clark of Fort Worth was nearer death Friday morning than he had ever been, and had it not been for O. C. Walker, driver of the Lone Star mail route east on highway 33-A, he would have frozen to death.

Mr. Clark, connected with the C. T., a finance corporation, left Pampa shortly after 8 o'clock for Oklahoma City. When about seven miles east of here, his car skidded into the ditch and he was unable to get it out. Mr. Clark decided to walk back towards Pampa, expecting to meet someone, but he became affected by the cold and was lying in a snowbank when found by the mail driver.

The man was rushed to the McKean & Connor hospital for treatment and later in the day was able to be taken to his room in the Schneider hotel. Yesterday, Mr. Clark was little the worse for his experience.

WINTER IS TO MOVE TO EAST THIS WEEK-END

(By the Associated Press)
Winter, that irascible actor, was to shift its scenery east today after playing to shivering audiences nearly everywhere west of the Mississippi river.

It lingered for a parting bow or two last night after breaking frigidly records on many boards, but today the sun was due to make a welcome return, bringing warmth at last to the storm-ridden area.

More lives and damage were added to the cold wave's toll yesterday, when weeks of its icy breath were climaxed by temperatures ranging from near zero to 14 below in the Missouri valley down to 52 below in Southwestern Wyoming. Sweeping to the southeast, chill blasts roared over the southern gulf states today, with Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana in their path. The lowest temperatures of the winter were expected there.

Predictions from the Missouri valley, the Southwest, the Northwest, the Rockies and the coast were for moderation during the day, although the grip of the almost universally record-breaking coldness seemed barely loosened last night at many points.

Robert Hilton of the Texas company underwent a major operation in the McKean & Connor hospital yesterday morning.

Toral Goes Calmly to Execution And Dies Instantly—Priest Who Rushes to Side Held by Officers

By CLARENCE DUBOSE,
Associated Press Correspondent.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 9. (P)—The pistol shots that killed General Alvaro Obregon last July had their last echo today with the execution by a firing squad of Jose de Leon Toral, the president-elect's assassin.

The young slayer, who throughout had maintained that he felt his act was for the good of Mexico, went to his death calmly and bravely, facing the firing squad quietly and dropping swiftly before a hail of shot.

The execution had been set for noon, but it was put over until 12:30 p. m. A few minutes before that hour, Toral was taken to a patio and instructed how to act before the firing squad. He listened calmly and even smiled a little as the men told him how to die. Then he was led to a stone wall in a court yard of the federal penitentiary and was placed before a portion scarred by the bullets of many other executions.

SECOND TRIP MAY BE MADE BY LOCAL MEN

Itinerary Now Being Worked Out for Event

PARADE TO BE STAGED HERE

Auto Show Last Year Seen by Thousands of Persons

Eleven towns in the Pampa trade territory will be visited on the automobile dealers' caravan Monday, February 18, it was definitely decided at a meeting of the Automobile Dealers' association Friday noon. More towns may be visited on a short trip Tuesday. Tom Rose and F. M. Guberson are working out the details.

It was definitely decided that the following towns will be visited on the trip: Miami, Mobeetie, Shamrock, McLean, Alanreed, LeFors, Roxana, Skellytown, White Deer and Kingsmill. The caravan will leave Pampa at 7 o'clock and on the return trip will pass through here about 3:30 o'clock for a parade before going to points to the west.

It was estimated that 10,000 visitors saw the show at the Pla-Mor last year, and plans are being made to bring twice that number here for the show this year. Dealers in other towns are being notified of the show and the caravan.

Sixteen kinds of automobiles will be shown and it is probable that two more will be on the floor, making 18 from which buyers may choose. The big price and style range makes Pampa now one of the best towns in the Panhandle for automobile buyers.

Big Questions Before County

The county depository will be selected tomorrow morning at the regular monthly meeting of the Gray county commissioners. Judge Ivy E. Duncan said yesterday.

Another important matter to come before the commission will be whether the office of district clerk will be created here. R. B. Thomson was elected district clerk in the general election last November, but the office has not yet been created.

Elks Official Coming Here to Organize Lodge

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler W. W. Settoon of Plainview will be here Wednesday night to organize an Elks lodge. Every Elk in Pampa and surrounding territory is urged to be present at this meeting which will be held in the dining room of the Schneider hotel at 8:30 o'clock.

There are more than 100 "Bills" in and around Pampa, according to P. B. Mooney, and he is anxious that all attend this important gathering.

Pampa Asks Visit of City Planning Expert of Note

If plans started by the Board of City Development materialize, Pampa will receive the benefit of a visit by Gardner S. Rogers, city planning engineer of the United States Chamber of Commerce, probably in April. Such a visit would be part of a second tour by Texas cities, since Mr. Rogers is now making such a trip and will be in Sweetwater Thursday.

Sweetwater's B. C. D. announces that he will speak at two public gatherings, consult with the city planning commission recently appointed there, and make suggestions for the orderly zoning and future development of that city. Probably a similar program would be worked out here.

Recently Mr. Rogers spoke at Sherman, where a city planning program has been launched. He has also spoken at Fort Worth and other cities in North and East Texas. Big Spring lately asked for his services.

Last year the engineer won national fame by being awarded a $1,000 prize offered for the best plans on the development of small cities. Since that time he has been connected with the United States Chamber of Commerce. He is a former head of the city planning department of the city of Milwaukee.

His salary is borne by the national body, and only a nominal amount to cover his expenses is asked from the cities he visits.

Eight Contractors to Bid on Rose Two-Story Project

Eight sets of plans are in the hands of local building contractors who are bidding for the contract to erect the Rose Building at the corner of Cuyler street and Kingsmill avenue. B. W. Rose stated yesterday. All bids are to be in the hands of B. W. and T. W. Rose next Friday and it is likely that the contract will be let Monday.

A 50x90 foot basement has practically been completed by the Kaiser Contracting company. The new building will be 75 feet wide by 140 feet long and will be two stories high. The structure will be of brick and steel.

Part of the new building will be occupied by the J. C. Penny company.

Elks Official Coming Here to Organize Lodge

COLD WEATHER AND LESSENING ACTIVITIES CUT PRODUCTION IN GRAY COUNTY AND WATER BOTHERS

Says Road Issue Should Be Given for People's Choice

AUSTIN, Feb. 9. (P)—It would amount to misuse if not usurpation of power for the legislature to refuse to submit a constitutional amendment which any considerable number of citizens desired referred, Representative R. M. Hubbard of New Boston, said today in urging passage of the resolution proposing a $175,000,000 state wide bond issue for highway construction.

Pointing out that the bond issue plan had received the endorsement of many organizations, he said if he were opposed to issuing bonds he would favor submitting the plan to the people for their action.

WEALTHY OKLAHOMA FARMER IS FOUND Dead Near Wichita Falls—Helper Is Charged With Murder on Confession

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 9. (P)—A bullet wound through the head and hands found carefully across the chest, the body of Arthur Pendegrift, 48, wealthy farmer of Cotton county, Okla., was found in a clump of bushes on a vacant ranch about 10 miles from here late today.

D. K. Hobbler, described as having been Pendegrift's "right hand man" for 11 years, was charged with murder after he had led officers to the body.

Cold weather, water encroachment and curtailed activities in the Panhandle oil fields caused a big decrease in daily oil production of the last week. Gray county was the hardest hit of any of the Panhandle counties, dropping 1,735 barrels daily.

All Panhandle counties showed slump in production, but none came near that of Gray county. Moore county took another slump of 240 barrels from water encroachment and cold weather. Carson was next with 100 barrels, while Hutchinson dropped only 30 barrels and Wheeler 35 barrels.

The Panhandle decline totaled 2,140 barrels.

Production by counties:
Carson: 5,890 barrels, a decrease of 100 barrels.

Gray: 21,545 barrels, a loss of 1,735 barrels.

Hutchinson: 26,615 barrels, a loss of 30 barrels.

Moore: 2,205 barrels, a loss of 240 barrels.

Potter: 20 barrels.

Wheeler: 670 barrels, a loss of 35 barrels.

Total: 56,945 barrels, a loss of 2,140 barrels.

Schwald et al's No. 1 Fee, in the northeast corner of the east half of the southwest quarter of section 1, block 1, A. C. H. & B. survey, encountered first pay Friday while drilling ahead at 2,490 feet. Yesterday drilling was proceeding at 2,510 feet.

This test is four miles east of production in the LeFors townsite and is on the east edge of the LeFors pool.

One of the three most important tests in the county encountered 5,000,000 feet of gas Friday. The Marshall company's No. 1 Brown-Finley, in the northeast corner of section 32, block B-2, H. & C. N. survey, encountered the gas last week while drilling at 2,445 feet. The test is now going down at about 2,640 feet.

Is Real Wildcat
This test is rank wildcat, being half way between the Bowers-McGee pool and the LeFors townsite. It brought in it will mean active drilling in that territory, as seven different companies have leases nearby.

One of the other important tests.

LAWMAKING IS SHELVED FOR FINAL BATTLE

Governor Remains in Seclusion With Lawyers

MRS. HAMMONDS OUT OF REACH

Argument Over Methods Marks Rehearsal for Case

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 9. (P)—Rehearsals, preparatory to presentation Monday of the familiar Oklahoma drama, the trial of a governor, shodded lawmaking to the background of the Oklahoma legislature today.

Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, who will play the leading role, remained in seclusion with his attorneys, going over his defense before the senate court of impeachment.

The leading lady, Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, erstwhile confidential secretary to Johnston, also was inaccessible to the public.

Argument over the lines to be spoken by the house board of managers in its prosecution of the governor consumed much time of the house. Following the procedure in the impeachment trial of J. C. Walton, removed from the governor's office in 1923, the board wanted instructions to inform the senate court of the vote by which the house adopted each of the 11 articles of impeachment against Johnston. The board members also wished to inform the senate that a quorum of the house was present when each of the charges was voted.

In vain, administration supporters argued that the information was available in house records if the senators should express curiosity.

Oklahoma has had two other impeachment trials of governors in eight years. J. B. R. Robertson escaped removal in 1921 when a tie vote resulted on impeachment charges against him. Walton was impeached and removed by a session of the legislature he called after first refusing to convene it and calling out the national guard to enforce martial law.

Wink Jailer Is Forced to Give Up Oklahoman

Garton and the stranger fled in an automobile toward New Mexico. Posse were hunting the fugitives today.

"It's Like This"

LIBRARY PLANS, in their more ironical aspects, have a very logical place in the cultural uplift of this community. The library is a symbol of the best knowledge of the past and the best thought of the present.

Formal high school and college education is represented in the standard works, while current literary and scientific literature stands for timeliness of knowledge.

Regardless of your past training, unless you are making daily use of that knowledge it is likely true that DEPRECIATION IN YOUR FORMAL EDUCATION IS TERRIFIC AND COMPARABLE TO THAT OF THE CURRENT USED CAR MARKET.

At the time one crams his juvenile head full of the facts and dogmas of classified knowledge, he has the symbols of education within his mental grasp. He has the substance of culture, whether he has it in usable form or not. Comes graduation, the student drops training, and educationally gets "out of condition".

It is well for any section to keep out the welcome sign. The proposal for the junket trip is a good gesture, whether it becomes a reality or not. Every public man should endeavor to familiarize himself with the more remote corners of the state he serves.

without the ready means, life in its fullness is not apt to be realized. IT IS ALMOST SUPERFLUOUS TO SAY THAT ONE OF PAMPA'S NEEDS IS AN ADEQUATE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

ENTHUSIASM GROWS in the proposed junketing trip of Texas legislators through West Texas. It is an idea which captures the fancy of West Texans. No doubt there are a number of legislators from other parts of the state who would be glad to make the trip if it would not cost them very much.

This great state is so wide in its expanses that, unlike the smaller ones of the nation, a senator or representative is not considered especially ignorant if he has never been to all the sections for which he is expected to help make legislation. This condition is neither conducive to well advised law-making nor cordiality between those sent to Austin for governmental purposes.

As to the lasting effects of such a trip, however, the writer cannot number himself with those who expect the brethren from below Fort Worth to fall over themselves in recognizing the "tremendous latent possibilities" of this section. The solons from the forks of the creeks, as they like to style themselves, will react according to their prejudices on occasions and could not do otherwise if they wished. There are no persons so blind, it is well said, as those who will not see.

But regardless of the reactions, the legislators should be sight-familiar with this big area. The untilled acres should be visualized, along with the spacious fields, the livestock, the progressive little cities, and the oil development. West Texas is pouring much gold into the state coffers, and expects to get much of it back.

It is well for any section to keep out the welcome sign. The proposal for the junket trip is a good gesture, whether it becomes a reality or not. Every public man should endeavor to familiarize himself with the more remote corners of the state he serves.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER WASHINGTON — Congress continues to play politics with the problem of prohibition enforcement, playing politics being about the best thing Congress does, in company with most presidents, governors, cabinet members, sheriffs, cops and other public servants.

The Senate voted to toss $24,000,000 more into the enforcement pot, the house has rejected the appropriation and the merry battle has served to reveal a number of facts about the present prohibition situation which are herein set down without regard to the order of their importance.

Southern dry Democrats voted for the increase in a body, partly trying to get back at the G. O. P. for their campaign tactics by making the Republicans seem insincere through their opposition but especially because they had a grand chance to regain the affections of dry constituents who had been scowling at them for their campaign support of Governor Smith.

Senator Harris of Georgia, author of the $24,000,000 amendment, is a non-drinking dry. Previously he had contented himself with getting $50,000 or $100,000 for research in the peach industry or combating disease in peach orchards. But since the election Georgia preachers have been making sour threats against him and he seems to have decided to "redeem" himself from the Smith taint in a big way. And not a single dry southern Democrat failed to hop onto the redemption wagon.

Two dry agents in Chicago testified they drank 53 highballs while collecting evidence against a night club. That suggests one good way of making the country really dry.

If they are going to license automobile drivers, are they going to test the one-armed young bloods and have sort of a sliding scale of requirements, according to the likely habits of the applicants? Lots of people can drive well, but don't.

Many people drive well part of the time, and some drive well all the time, but it will never be possible for all to guide the things right all the time. If they did, news would be a lot scarcer than it is now.

Our hat is off and up to the record breakers. Anybody that cares to fly around in a snowstorm, going nowhere in particular, deserves whatever praise and publicity he is able to get for his pains.

They are hunting for old fossils up at Canadian. Well, every community usually has two or three. Coolidge has been invited to see the Carlsbad cavern. His natural expression is about like that of those one sees just emerging from that knee-cracking jaunt.

Wisconsin wants to vote on easier beer. But why vote on what she already has?

Visualize a nice, cool, shady spot hard by a big pool of cool, refreshing water. Rather hard to work up an interest in the park plans, isn't it—unless you are sitting by a warm fire?

So many "cats" have been let out of the political bags of Oklahoma and Texas lately that we fully expect to hear of "cat catchers" before long.

Lindbergh is reported to be finding his tongue, and if he doesn't watch out he will soon be talking about "service" and "cooperation" just like the rest of us.

Mrs. Paul Kasishke Hostess at Two Valentine Parties

Among the hostesses of the week who followed the Valentine day theme in appointments for their entertaining was Mrs. Paul Kasishke, whose bridge parties of Friday and Saturday afternoons added interest to the closing days. A red and white color scheme was featured in all details, as was the heart motif. A bowl of red, sweet-peas centered each of the card tables, giving an additional note of beauty. The menu of a two-course luncheon which closed the game on each occasion cleverly repeated the motif.

Burns, Mrs. Robert Hisky, Mrs. J. Byrd, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Carl Taylor, Mrs. Guy, Raymond Harrah, Mrs. Gilchrist and Mrs. F. M. Gwin. Favor for high score went to Mrs. Hisky and second high, to Mrs. Smalling. Mrs. Gilchrist was fortunate in the general cut.

The guest list for Saturday included: Mrs. C. E. Stowell, Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Mrs. H. W. Johns, Mrs. Ivy Duncan, Mrs. A. D. McNamara, Mrs. A. B. Zahn, Mrs. Eibert Thomas, Mrs. C. M. Bryson, Mrs. R. W. Mrs. Johns and Mrs. Hicks held high scores. Cut favor went to Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. C. C. Cockerill Entertains at Bridge

Frankie Farrell and Harry Stewart spent Friday and Saturday in Plainview.

Atmosphere of Spring Prevails at Mid-Winter Affair

While the thermometer stood at almost zero Friday afternoon, 36 guests of Mrs. Floyd A. Smith and Mrs. F. M. Culbertson at a party in the latter's new home in Cook addition enjoyed games of bridge in a setting of spring-time charm. Lovely yellow acacia pastels were effectively arranged throughout the entertaining rooms.

The floral motif was carried in all appointments for the affair, one of the most delightful of the winter. Tables were kept on miniature shopping bags, which were decorated in gay flower applique. Shopping lists served as score pads. As the game advanced, each progressing couple "shopped" at a table piled with attractive little packages.

Mrs. Lynn Boyd, winner of high score, received a Japanese tea set. Mrs. Ivy Duncan and Mrs. C. L. Craig, cutting high and low, respectively, received pastel toned linen handkerchiefs as favors.

The guest list for the afternoon was: Mrs. De Lea Vicars, Mrs. Charles Mrs. De Lea Vicars, Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mrs. Marion Howard, Mrs. Homer Elliott, Mrs. C. S. Boston, Mrs. J. D. Sugg, Mrs. Mel Davis, Mrs. Ed Dunigan, Mrs. C. L. Craig, Mrs. C. C. Cook and Mrs. R. A. Webb.

Miss Leora Kinard Hostess to French Heels Club Friday

Members of the French Heels Bridge club were guests Friday evening of Miss Leora Kinard, who entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wynne. The entertaining rooms were made doubly attractive by decorations of cupid, red paper hearts, and other suggestions of Valentine.

The Valentine theme was further developed in the card table appointments and in the refreshments served at the conclusion of play. A pretty heart-shaped boudoir pillow was given Miss Jewell Flanagan for high score. Low score favor was a heart-shaped box of candy, which went to Miss VeLora Reed. A high cut favor was given at each of three tables and these were small pin-cushions.

Miss Kinard's guests were: Misses Ruth and Ailes Rittenhouse, Miss Dorothy Pollard, Miss Gertrude Cook, Miss Virginia Paulkner, Miss Dee Breeding, Miss Louise Miller, Miss VeLora Reed, Miss Fern Hughes, Miss Kathleen Beatty, Miss Sallie Jackson and Miss Jewell Flanagan.

Dinner to be Given by A. A. U. W. and College Club Friday to Feature International Theme in Colorful Detail

A social event of foremost interest this week, and one that high praise to be among the most brilliant of the season, is the dinner with which the Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women and College club will entertain Friday evening at the Schneider hotel. Husbands and friends of the members will be guests.

The affair is to be in the form of an "international dinner," with several countries represented in the decorations and appointments. While details concerning the program or the decorations are not to be learned fully, indications are that the dinner will be a highly colorful affair, as attractive as it is unusual.

Mrs. George E. Wolfe and Mrs. W. A. Duerr are planning the entertainment, and Mrs. W. A. Bratton is in charge of reservations. Mrs. Bratton emphasizes that reservations should be made before Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock and the name of each member and that of her guest should be clearly written on the reservation, which should be accompanied by a check covering the fee.

Delightful Meeting Enjoyed by Just We Members Friday

Mrs. A. D. Johnston was hostess to Just We Bridge club members Friday afternoon, entertaining with two tables at her suite in the Britton apartments. Valentine suggestions in the table covers and the luncheon menu gave an added interest to the affair.

High score was made by Mrs. H. C. Heinlen and low by Mrs. J. J. Cassidy. Attractive trophies were awarded. Guests, other than those already mentioned, were: Mrs. C. E. McHenry, Mrs. J. H. Lavender, Mrs. S. L. Maynard, Mrs. J. H. Lutz and Mrs. L. M. Williams.

What is it that makes a large institution possible? Hearty cooperation and support of the local trade and all the out of the money possible. Order your baby chicks from Dodd's Hatchery and watch us grow. dl-11

More spacious interiors afford extra leg room and elbow room. Seats are wider and have form-fitting contours. Other important factors in riding comfort are the increased wheelbase, oversize balloon tires, snubbers and longer springs both front and rear.

Old Newspapers Contain Familiar Names of Pioneers and Advertising Includes Buggies Instead of Autos

CANYON, Feb. 9. (Special)—J. R. Gaut and Mrs. Ida Gaut of Amarillo, have just presented the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society two newspapers dated during the nineties. The Western Advocate was printed in Amarillo with J. R. Gaut as its editor and L. Gough as his associate. The paper is dated May 18, 1899, was published weekly, and was the successor of the Amarillo Stockman and Democrat. Names appearing in it which are yet familiar to people of this region include those of the late Mayor Bivens, and P. H. Seewald of Amarillo, L. G. Alexander of Memphis, Troy Womble of Hereford, Judge C. F. Kerr of Dimmitt, and J. T. Service, now of Canyon, was engaged in repairing the court house roof at Amarillo, it having been damaged by a severe hail storm. The other paper, dated May 19, 1893, is the Canyon City Headlight, published by J. R. Gaut. This paper succeeded the Echo published for three months by J. W. Edgell and the Keystone, published by J. B. Younger. The Headlight was published by Mr. Gaut from 1892 to 1896, when, on February 6 he and Mrs. Gaut moved to Amarillo, carrying their household goods and the printing outfit on a two-mule wagon.

This paper tells of a trail herd being held up for trespassing as its boss attempted to cross the T-anchor pasture. Advertisements of Elkhart harness, wagons, and buggies occupy the positions now used by autos. Two advertisements of the T-anchor saloon would seem to indicate that this was a prosperous patron of the newspaper. Familiar names in this paper are those of John Knight, Dr. J. M. Black, and A. E. Brown all of whom still live at Canyon.

The location of the test is the middle of the southwest 1-4 of section 5, block G.

The struggle to secure settlers was strong in those days and people are advised to "Come to Canyon where you can fish three times a day" while another item relates that N. Thompson caught 91 fish in one day. If the creeks near Canyon would yield as many fish in 1929, Canyon would speedily become a headquarters for tourists.

O. W. Ferguson, manager of the Diamond C store, will return today from the St. Louis markets.

Clarendon College Science and Commercial Departments Are Given Recognition—Golf Tourney Desired

CLARENDON, Feb. 9. (Special)—Clarendon Junior Municipal college has again taken a forward step in the fight to win a place in the first rank of junior colleges of the state. This time, recognition has been awarded the science and commercial departments by the State Department of Education, with full credit allowed in these courses. In announcing the accrediting of the two departments, J. R. Reir of the department added that the college will be continued on the State Board's list of approved colleges. The addition of the two departments to the school with full recognition gives Clarendon Junior college seven fully accredited divisions. In addition to the science and commercial departments, there are departments of English, History, mathematics, social sciences, and foreign languages.

been invited to hold its 1929 tournament in Clarendon next summer, and the Hillcroft club is already at work preparing to meet requirements of the host chapter. The main requirement is that the clubhouse facilities be provided, and with purchase of the acreage now used and subsequent building of a club house almost assured, it is probable that this requirement will be met. The tournament invitation, if accepted, would bring to Clarendon an array of the finest talent in this section of Texas. Location for a new test well for Donley county was made this week by the Marine Oil company, holding leases on the Sawyer estate, southwest of Clarendon. Smith and Towney of Tulsa Okla., were awarded the drilling contract for a turnkey job. The contract calls for a depth of 3,500 feet or pro-

THE BLACK PIGEON © 1929 By NEA Service, Inc. BY ANNE AUSTIN

CHAPTER I

A BLACK pigeon, its iridescent breast gleaming in the sunshine of the January morning, circled warily above the open window, then fluttered to the white stone ledge. The tiny head jerked back and forth, a brilliant black diamond of an eye cocked suspiciously, as the little feet pattered just out of reach of the white hand extended invitingly, palm upward.

"Satan, you old humbug!" the girl laughed softly. "Don't Ritz me! I'm sure I don't look so different this morning that you don't know me! Is it because I have no crumbs to give you, greedy?"

The black pigeon stood still on his little red sealing-wax feet and studied the girl, his graceful head cocked constantly. Then, as if reassured, the gleaming black wings spread to the cold sunshine, and a second later those tiny red claws were tightly gripping Ruth Lester's forefinger.

As if they had been waiting for a signal from their leader, the black pigeon which Ruth had named Satan, a flock of pigeons whose home was the roof of the seven-story Starbridge Building, came swooping down upon the broad ledge of the window outside the private office of "Handsome Harry" Borden, to pay court to the suddenly revealed beauty of Borden's private secretary.

Ruth, with an exultant laugh, spread her arms wide, leaving far out of the window. In a moment she was a living pigeon-perch. On her little white hands, along her arms, on her small shoulders, even on her golden head, Brown pigeons, spotted with white, blue-gray pigeons, with enchanting breasts of bronze and gold and purple; black-and-white pigeons; white pigeons—no, only one pigeon that was pure white and only one—Satan—that was inky black.

An exclamation made the girl raise her eyes, but did not startle her, for she had been expecting it. Directly across the narrow alleyway that separated two wings of the Starbridge Building, a broad window, exactly like the one from which Ruth leaned, framed a young man's head and torso. The January sun, which was really quite cold, seemed to the girl to gather all his shivery rays and concentrate them, for borrowed warmth, upon the coppery-brown head of Jack Hayward.

Ruth leaned farther out of the window, impetuously, her arms reaching toward the man who looked like a sun-god to her, the man to whom she had just become engaged. Jealously, the pigeons took wing and fluttered indignantly away—all but the black pigeon, which clung stubbornly to her finger, his beady black eye flashing from the girl to the man.

"Oh, beautiful!" Jack called softly. "Little snow princess with the sun in her golden hair! You're too beautiful! Go put on your big yellow spectacles and slick back your hair. I'm jealous even of Satan, and he's jealous of me! Look! I believe he'd like to peck my eyes out!"

Ruth laughed, then very gently, so as not to frighten "Satan" away, she reached into the pocket of her sweater. In a moment she was holding the struggling pigeon against her breast, as her quick, deft little fingers wrapped a slip of paper with a typed message—"I love you"—about one of the tiny red legs, securing it with a bit of the black silk thread which she kept in the office for darning runs in the sober stockings she had always worn to work until today!

"If you have any bread crumbs, Mr. Hayward," she laughed, "you may be able to learn something to your advantage." And she let the black pigeon flutter away.

Then, because she heard the door of the outer office, where she was supposed to be opening the morning mail, she drew in her head, bringing a glittering, imprisoned mass of hair into the soberly but richly furnished room where "Handsome Harry" Borden conducted a business which had need of every artificial aid to make it appear respectable.

For Henry P. Borden was one of those financial vultures that prey upon the cupidity of men and the credulity of women who have hard-earned savings or pathetic little legacies to invest. His favorite boast to the sleek-haired, collegiate-looking young stock salesman who worked for him was that he was "always within the law," but Ruth, in growing disgust, had come to hope that the law would not always be so obligingly elastic.

But now—now!—there was no need to worry about Henry Borden's crookedness or about his offensive private life, or about anything in the world. For since exactly 12 o'clock last night she had been engaged to be married to John Carrington Hayward, who was listed on the bulletin board of the Starbridge Building as "Insurance Broker." Broker! The dear, delightful boyishness of that title, Ruth thought tenderly. Broker!—when Jack hardly made enough selling life insurance to pay the rent on his suite of two small offices! But she loved the courage with which he stubbornly kept them, the boyish cocksureness of future success which made him splurge now on "front."

"HULLO, Ruth! Any mail for the future president of the United States?" a cocky, nasal young voice called from the outer office.

Ruth smiled, a dimple which she did not have to repress any longer tugging at the corner of her adorable little mouth. Then she stepped through the door that divided Borden's private office from the big outer office which served as a reception room and as an office for Borden's secretary and messenger boy.

Benny Smith, 17, and just beginning to be very girl-conscious, was sprawled in Ruth's little narrow-backed swivel chair, pawing the pile of mail on her desk. His sandy hair was still wet from his morning brush, his big ears very red from the scrubbing to which they were not yet accustomed. He had told her recently, in a burst of confidence, that he was using freckle cream on his speckled cheeks and neck. The dear! He'd be asking some girl to marry him soon, just as Jack Hayward had asked her last night.

"Nothing from your girl this morning, Benny," Ruth called out in the meek, repressed little voice which had been so necessary a part of the disguise she had discarded.

"Girl? Who said I had a girl?" Benny spluttered, whirling about in the little swivel chair. Then he saw Ruth and his prominent eyes glared until Ruth, coloring and laughing, was afraid they would pop from his head.

"Gee gosh! He exploded at last. "All right! I bite! Who are you?" "Don't be silly, Benny! It's just Ruth Lester, of course."

"Jul-yus Caesar!" Benny y breathed. "It's just Ruth Lester, of course," he mimicked her pre-else, repressed little voice. "Gosh! What have you went and done to yourself, Ruth? Be yourself! I ain't feelin' so strong this mornin'!"

Ruth laughed. "That's what I'm doing at last, Benny! I'm being myself! Do you like Ruth Lester, herself?"

Benny rose slowly from Ruth's chair, then lifted a crooked elbow as if to ward her off. "Gosh, woman! Turn them lamps off me! You'll blind me! Where's your specs? And say what have you done to your hair?"

Ruth's little white hands, which she had never been able to disentangle from the golden curls, fumbled them. "Nothing—but turn it loose!" she laughed. "It's really too long to be worn as a bob—"

"But gosh! You didn't have to slick it back till your head looked like a yellow onion, and screw it into a little knob on your neck," the office boy protested, curiously angry with her. "I used to think your hair'd pull your eyebrows out by the roots. Say! Maybe that was what give you that scared rabbit look—your hair-skinned back like that, pulling at your eyebrows, and them big yellow-eyes specs of yours, covering half of your face. Gee!" he marveled again. "But, listen! What'd you do to your face? It looks different, too, not pale and sickly—"

RUTH opened the top drawer of her desk and took out a box of powder, which she showed him triumphantly. "See! Rachel-tinted powder, very heavy. See how yellowish it is? Plenty of that slapped on and my milk-maid complexion was successfully hidden. But—I've got to get to work, Benny! Be a good infant and get me some water for my sponge, and sharpen a bunch of pencils, won't you?"

LONGHORNS BEAT ARKANSAS BY STOPPING GREAT STARS TO CLINCH SECOND PLACE

Harvesters Will Meet Amarillo in Pampa Monday

The Pampa Harvesters and the Golden Sandstorm from Amarillo will clash at the local gymnasium in a return engagement Monday night. The local are smarting from a 28 to 20 defeat handed them in Amarillo last Wednesday night.

Coach Odu Mitchell has been putting his boys through a series of hard practices and believes he has a system of defensive plays worked out that will stop Travis, Amarillo center. Stalls local center and captain of the Harvesters, out-jumped the Amarillo boy in the encounter last week, but couldn't keep up with him on defense.

Last year the local quintet stepped into Amarillo after playing on an outside court and beat the Sandies. The game tomorrow night has been called for 7:30 o'clock.

Many Heavies To Be Seen in Flamingo Park

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9. (AP)—While Young Stribling fretted about the ring today perturbed about the injunction restraining him from flying or riding a motorcycle, motorboat, automobile or other vehicle faster than the speed limit, Jack Dempsey, promoter in the Stribling-Sharkey elimination bout, announced the personnel for his preliminary fights on the night of February 27.

Johnny Grosso of New York has been matched with Marty Gallagher, Washington, in the eight round heavyweight semi-final to the main event of the evening at Flamingo park. Another pair of heavies, Spike Webb, Orlando, Fla., and Tony Tuzita, Mexican fighter, from California, will precede the Grosso-Gallagher affair of four rounds.

Pat McCarthy, Boston, will battle Jack Elezar Rioux, "the Canadian Woodchopper" in another four-round heavyweight engagement.

The opening bout of four rounds will offer "Baby" Stribling, brother of W. L. and Andy Callahan, Boston, a youth from the stable of Jack Sharkey. They will enter as junior welterweights.

Stribling got in another hour or so of snappy activity at his training quarters, and occupy the ring again tomorrow, prior to a rest Monday that will precede a fishing trip to the Everglades. Sharkey spent today on a golf course having worked out in an exhibition bout at Tampa last night.

Dempsey, who got the anti-speed injunction against Stribling, did it to stop the fighter's flying activities.

He insisted there was no "ballyhoo" in the move.

Groom Defeats Panhandle Here In County Series

Playing snappy basketball, a Groom five defeated the Panhandle Panthers in the Pampa gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

Panhandle won the opening game of county series in Panhandle last week and Groom elected to play the return game here.

After winning to tie the series, Groom chose to play the odd game here after having won the toss from Panhandle. The game will be played here tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Razorback Stars Know Nothing of Their Next Coach

AUSTIN, Feb. 9. (AP)—If anybody has an idea as to who will succeed Francis A. Schmidt as head football and basketball coach of the University of Arkansas it isn't the Razorback basketball players.

The team sweeping through the Southwest conference, were surprised men last night when Schmidt informed them after their victory over Texas he was going to T. C. U. No thought of the change existed on the Fayetteville campus, according to Captain Tom Pickel.

Earl Thomson, former Dartmouth track star, is line coach at Arkansas but his name has not been linked with the vacant job.

Canadian Boy Wins His Race

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Feb. 9. (AP)—Percy Williams, the Canadian flash and Olympic champion, got off to a victorious start tonight in the Millrose track carnival by capturing the first 60-yard dash of the international sprint series. He beat Jimmy Daley of Holy Cross, indoor intercollegiate champion, by a foot in a heat which found Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech fourth and last after a bad start.

Williams was beaten off the marks a foot by Daley but closed with a great burst to nip his American rival by a thin margin in 6 2-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second short of the world's indoor record. Daley led until the last ten yards.

ROMNEY'S FIVE GAINS FAVOR IN MOUNTAIN STATES CIRCUIT

Baskets and Bankboards

By FORREST C. (PHOG) ALLEN (President, National Association of Basketball Coaches)

Why do so many senior-year athletic captains fail to measure up?

I have seen athletes perform brilliantly in their sophomore and junior years, only to fail as players, in their senior years, with the burden of an athletic captaincy placed on them.

Athletics, as conducted today, are work, not play. Critical and coldblooded groups through our athletic arenas to analyze and to criticize every play and every mis-play of the athletes involved.

In other days, coaching was an avocation. Today, it is a vocation, in which the coaches too often hold their positions on their record of wins. As a result, the athletes become the coaches' meal ticket. They must work for him and they must win for him.

Every practice period is intensive work. The execution of every play is timed to the nth degree. Every game of every opponent is scouted and analyzed in minutest detail. Thus have our athletic contests become serious business instead of play. They have become altogether too serious for the average senior who knows the additional responsibility and the grind that a major sport captaincy implies.

Every normal athlete wants to win. However, the old-fashioned spirit of "my all for Alma Mater" is no longer the same sharp blade that it was in other years.

Along with the changes in our methods and standards of living, have come the new attitudes of present day youth. The preliminary training, both at home and at school, has not entailed much in the way of hardships. Men in our college groups are out in search of freedom, in search of a modern care-free Garden of Eden where they can work a little and play a lot. Too much shackling makes them rebellious. And the average athletic captain, in his senior year, is unable and unwilling to enter into an ultra-serious pact with any coach, for another season's toil.

"Big Bill" Tilden Is Named First Ranking Tennis Player of Nation and Helen Wills Holds Leadership

BOSTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—William T. Tilden, 2nd, "tennis bad boy" was named as America's highest ranking male player for the ninth consecutive time here today at the annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association, which began and ended harmoniously.

Helen Wills of Berkeley, Ca., again was placed at the head of the women's ranking list.

Though Tilden, restored to amateur standing last night after being suspended for violating the association's player-writer rule did not compete in the 1928 national championship, more than 100 delegates from all sections of the country agreed that he deserved the honor.

Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., was ranked second and George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, third. Both were given those positions in the ranking list last year. John F. Hennessey of Indianapolis, was ranked number four, in place of Manuel Alonso of Philadelphia, not in competition the past season. Hennessey was given fifth place on the 1927 list.

Several other members of the sport's "younger set" were honored by being included in the first ten on the list. Wilmer Allison of Fort Worth, Texas, named fifth, coming up from his last year's 11th position. John Van Ryn, of Orange, N. J., was again sixth and Frederic Mercur of Harrisburg, Pa., another youngster, was seventh instead of fifteenth as he was a year ago.

John Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., again was named eighth and the other two in the first ten, Julius Seligson and Frank X. Shield, both of New York, "were each rated ten places above their last year's ranking.

Helen Jacobs, another product of Berkeley tennis was ranked just behind Miss Wills in the number 2 place on the women's list, changing rankings with Mrs. Molla B. Mallory of New York, who was dropped back to number 4. Edith Cross of San Francisco, who was not on the 1927 list of 20 names, was named as the nation's third best woman player.

The other women in the first ten were: No. 5, Mrs. T. C. Bundy, of San Francisco; No. 6, Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass.; No. 7, Marjorie K. Gladman, of Los Angeles; No. 8, Mrs. L. A. Harper of San Francisco; No. 9, Mrs. A. H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, who was No. 3 last year and No. 10, Mrs. J. D. Corriere of South Boro, Mass., who ranked seventh in 1927.

John Hennessey and George M. Lott, Jr., were given the number 1 rank on the men's national doubles list, in place of William T. Tilden, 2nd, and Francis T. Hunter, who were rated third in the 1928 ranking. Lott and John Boeg were given the number 2 position and Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, number 4. The other pairs in the first ten were: No. 5, Berkeley Bell and his fellow Texan, Wilmer Allison; No. 6, Malcolm P. Hill and Henry L. Johnston, Jr.; No. 7, Alan Herrington and Ralph McElvenney; No. 8, Frederic Malcolm Hill and Henry L. Johnston; No. 9, Wallace F. Johnston and Frederic Mercur; No. 10, Robert Sellar and Nell Brown.

Killing "Conscience" Bill Gives Issue or 1930, Love Says

AUSTIN, Feb. 9. (AP)—The Texas senate set up the "principal issue in the gubernatorial campaign of 1930 when it killed the "freedom of conscience" bill yesterday. Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, its author, declared in a prepared statement today.

"My Freedom of conscience bill in the state senate is dead, but freedom of conscience in Texas is not dead," Love said. "The freedom of conscience democrats in Texas have just begun to fight. I predict there will be a freedom of conscience Democratic candidate for governor in the campaign of 1930.

By this, I mean a candidate who will declare his purpose to write in the statutes of Texas an unequivocal provision guaranteeing freedom of conscience in all political parties in this state. I further predict that he will be elected by a substantial majority over the candidate of the Al Smith forces. "I hope not," was his reply when asked if he would be the candidate.

WHEAT MEN OPTIMISTIC

CHICAGO, Feb. 9. (AP)—Friends of higher prices for wheat took fresh courage today chiefly as a result of adverse crop developments in Europe. Evidence that foreigners were buying wheat future deliveries both here and at Winnipeg received special attention, and there were predictions that world import needs for breadstuffs would exceed any estimate which has been current up to this time.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at 1-8c to 5-8c net advance, with corn at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c lower, oats 1-8c to 1-4c down, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 15c.

Incentive for buying of wheat here today appeared to center chiefly on pessimistic crop reports from central eastern Europe. These reports indicated that extra severe winter conditions throughout a wide extent of grain territory had brought about anxiety on the part of European growers and merchants, and that purchasing of wheat future deliveries in North America was a consequence.

Contributing to bullish sentiment today as to wheat was knowledge that temperatures in some sections of the domestic grain belt were down to 27 below zero. However, it was pointed out that snow covering at present appears ample, and that some districts have more snow now than at any time since 1922.

Liberal arrivals of corn in Chicago today, 383 cars, tended to pull corn values down. Besides, some further selling of corn at Kansas City to come to Chicago was reported. Oats sympathized with corn weakness.

Provisions were in moderate demand from commission houses, but the market felt the effect of downturns in the value of hogs.

Cattle Supply Erratic

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 9. (AP)—(U.S.D. A.)—Cattle trade around the 11 market circuit this week was marked by an uneven daily distribution of the receipts which influenced moderate price fluctuations. Packers had their way on Monday and Tuesday, and enforced moderate to sharp declines on killing classes, but curtailed supplies resulted in a partial recovering. A restricted outlet for dressed beefs and a lower hide market continued to have a weakening effect on the slaughter grades. Lightweight steers and yearlings are closing the week at generally steady to 25c higher levels, but mature steers show averaged losses of around 25c. Country demand for feeders remained narrow, and only limited interest was shown in stockers. Aggregate receipts were around 151,300, a decrease of 18,000 from last week and 40,000 short of the same period a year ago.

Shipping demand for hogs had sufficient volume to more than offset the deterrent influence of increased receipts. Pork prices were paid on Friday with the extreme top of $10.50 paid at St. Louis. Current values are unevenly strong to 30c higher than a week ago. Total offerings were around 691,250, against 582,319 last week and 754,972 a year ago.

Fat lamb prices are generally steady to 25c higher with exception of Chicago which reported closing figures slightly under late last week. A weak undertone prevailed on aged stock and values are unevenly steady to 25c lower. The supply approximated 232,050, a shortage of 8,500 from last week, and 28,000 less than the same period a year ago.

Two More Locations

Gray county got two new locations last week and Carson county one. In Gray county the Texas company made a location for its No. 6 H. M. Davis, in the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 86, block 3, I. & G. N. survey. This test will be near the west edge of production in the Wilcox pool.

The other test for this county was the Texas company's No. 10 Sanders, in section 1 of the J. G. Eustice survey. This test will be two miles east of the LeFors townsite.

Shipping Demand for Hogs

Shipping demand for hogs had sufficient volume to more than offset the deterrent influence of increased receipts. Pork prices were paid on Friday with the extreme top of $10.50 paid at St. Louis. Current values are unevenly strong to 30c higher than a week ago. Total offerings were around 691,250, against 582,319 last week and 754,972 a year ago.

Fat lamb prices are generally steady to 25c higher with exception of Chicago which reported closing figures slightly under late last week. A weak undertone prevailed on aged stock and values are unevenly steady to 25c lower. The supply approximated 232,050, a shortage of 8,500 from last week, and 28,000 less than the same period a year ago.

AMUSEMENTS

GILBERT AT REX

"A Woman of Affairs," a film from a story by Michael Arlen, with John Gilbert and Greta Garbo as stars, and with a supporting cast which includes Lewis Stone, Hobart Bosworth, Dorothy Sebastian, John Mack Brown and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will open at the Rex theatre today.

The reunion on the screen of Gilbert and Miss Garbo was said at the time the picture was being cast at the Mero-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, to be due to the unusual supporting cast, and the direction of Brown would furnish the necessary additional ingredients for a dramatic picture of the sort that would not be likely to disappoint those who enjoy the two stars in close-up.

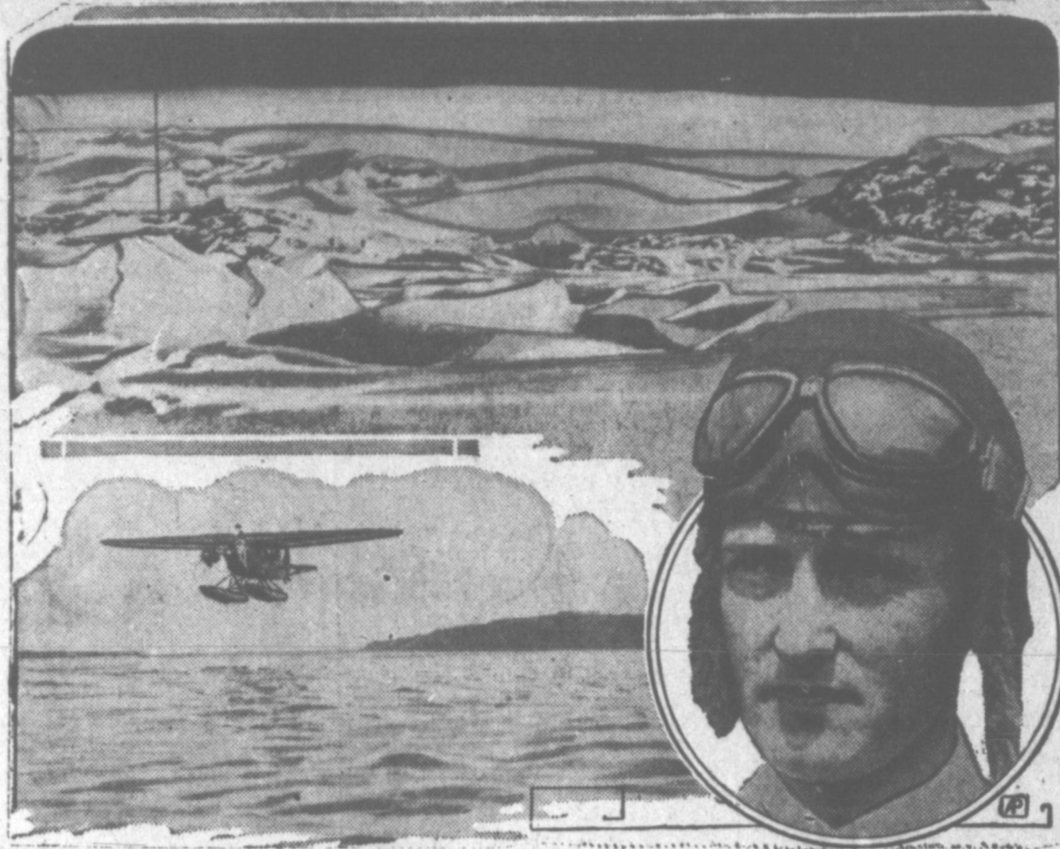

Miss Garbo has the role of a high spirited English society girl, a very different type from those she has essayed before. For the part she has relinquished what has been termed the "Garbo Slink", and has even changed the style of her clothes.

VARE CONTEST EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—Hopes for settlement of the election contest against Senator-Elect Vare, Pennsylvania, at this session virtually were abandoned today as the senate ordered authority of the elections sub-committee to consider the contest extended until the end of the next regular session.

August A. Gordon returned last night from a buying trip to the markets of Chicago, St. Louis, and Kansas City. Mrs. Gordon accompanied him and together they visited friends in St. Joseph, Mo., and Danville, Ill. She is remaining in Kansas City for an extended visit with relatives.

BOWER, W. Va., Feb. 9. (AP)—Rescuers tonight were pushing into the recesses of No. 3 mine of the West Virginia Coal & Coke company in search of three men, missing after an explosion in the workings today.

The blast occurred at a fortunate hour for other employes of the mine. Between 25 and 30 were due to enter it at the time of the detonation, but officials said so far as they knew the three missing men were the only ones inside.

NEVER

in the history of the furniture business has it been so necessary that you buy only those items that are backed by years of reputation for quality and dependability.

The hundreds of factories which sprang up during the war have thrown us into an over-production age, the last few years, and resulted in the markets being flooded by many make-shift items.

It is only through years of experience and constant study of new merchandise that we are able to discriminate from these inferior articles, keeping our floor stocked with the kind of furniture that we are willing to trust to build and maintain our reputation for Quality and Service.

You are invited to come in and see the latest designs which the market affords.
