Mexico City Is Given First News of 24 Hours

AMERICANS ARE HELD IN NOGALES

Released at 3 a. m.—Victory Claimed by Officers

MEXICO CITY, April 24. (AP)—Federal infantry and artillery was concentrated at the village of Dori today and a telegram from General Cardenas to the presidential castle, timed at quarter past midnight, declared they would advance on Maslaca at sunrise tomorrow.

The main rebel force was last reported strongly entrenched at Maslaca, where it was thought fighting had begun between the two armies. General Cardenas' telegram, the first message from that sector of the campaign for more than 24 hours, mentioned no fighting.

NOGALES, Ariz., April 24. (AP)—Scores of Americans, caught on the Mexican side of the border when revolutionary officials closed the international line abruptly about midnight, were permitted to return to American soil at 3 a. m. today.

The Americans were in the cafes and other amusement places of the Mexican town when the international gate was closed. Mexican authorities at first refused to permit passage of anyone into Sonora from American soil but later allowed a young woman relative of Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar, revolutionary commander-in-chief, to re-enter Mexican territory.

Shortly afterward, Gen. Francisco Bonillas, commander of the garrison, announced the border hereafter would be closed from midnight to 9 a. m.

Rebel Victory Reported Reports that rebel troops had met and repulsed federal soldiers at Maslaca, Southern Sonora, were received at revolutionary headquarters in Agua Prieta, Sonora, last night from Gen. Pascual Aguilar, insurgent leader. Details regarding the federal advance guard had that "after 700 of its men had been killed or captured."

Aguilar continued preparations for a possible federal attack. Thousands of feet of barbed wire entanglements have been placed outside the trenches which encircle the town.

Developments also indicated Nogales, Sonora, headquarters was expecting to see more action. A federal airplane, apparently from Mexicali, Baja California, flew over the town and dropped several bombs yesterday. No damage was reported.

Escobar Talks to American General Escobar conferred here with Brigadier General Frank S. Cocheu, commander of the United States forces along the border. The subject of their conference was not disclosed. It was learned, however, that General Cocheu had established temporary headquarters here and a battery of American field artillery had been brought to Nogales from Don Lila, Ariz.

Flood Pours Upon 5,000 Acres Early This Morning

RIVER LEVEL IS LOWER, HOWEVER

Residents Abandon Homes but Save Most of Livestock

QUINCY, Ill., April 24. (AP)—Twenty persons were marooned on the levee along the South Quincy Gardens today by a new breach in the wall, which occurred at 7 a. m. and widened from 66 feet to 100 feet before noon. A steel bottom boat was sent from Keokuk to the rescue.

Water from the Mississippi river was pouring in fast and the entire South Quincy Gardens district was expected to be under water before night.

The 200 residents of the district were warned immediately after the break and most of them vacated their homes at once. The 20 marooned on the levee were unable to beat the onrushing waters.

QUINCY, Ill., April 24. (AP)—The pounding waters of the Mississippi battered a new breach in the protecting wall along the South Quincy Gardens at 7 a. m. today and poured in upon 5,000 acres of improved farm lands.

The dyke gave way despite the gradual recession of the Mississippi flood, which had dropped six-tenths of a foot overnight. Several weak spots had developed yesterday along the levee extending south of Quincy for five miles to Marblehead, and one of them, undermined further by today's steady rain, crumbled.

Residents of South Quincy Gardens had prepared to abandon their homes and no loss of life or livestock was anticipated as the waters spread over the valuable garden tracts and inundated the $100,000 group of homes completed last year. The flood will cost farmers probably another $300,000, estimated value of the onion crop, part of which was already in the ground.

OIL HISTORY IS CITED

Vice-President of Sun Oil Company Speaks to Engineers

DALLAS, April 24. (AP)—The history of oil and gas development in Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas was reviewed here today by J. Edgar Pew, vice-president of the Sun Oil company, in an address prepared for delivery before the convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers. This development stated, he said, from a shallow well near San Augustine, Texas, which had a total production of 48 barrels of oil for the entire year of 1889.

After discovery of oil at Corsicana in 1896, the next development was the Spindle Top field near Beaumont, which the paper described the first great oil discovery in the Southwest; it also was the first great Salt Dome producing field.

Had Wanted Sulphur Spindle Top was started by Capt. Anthony F. Lucas and associates in an effort to develop sulphur. On January 10, 1901, to the consternation of the promoters, the hole began to gush oil. It flowed wild for a week, at a probable rate of 50,000 barrels a day, according to Mr. Pew, then quit producing, possibly due to caving-in. The oil produced caught fire and was entirely lost.

"The Lucas well never produced any oil of consequence thereafter; it did, however, start something," the paper said. "Captain Lucas thought he held under lease the area around and on Spindle Top necessary to give him a solid block of leases. It was soon evident that about 70 to 75 acres in the center of his block were unleased. The result was that several of the small tracts composing these 70 odd acres were to be further divided, and were sold, some of them, in as small fractions as 12-8th of an acre. Hundreds of wells soon started drilling, and as the depth of this production was from 900 to 1,000 feet, there were more wells of a rated capacity of from 25,000 to 50,000 barrels per day each than had ever been seen in the history of oil.

Oil Sold Cheaply "The producers of Spindle Top were largely a new set of oil men. Many millions of barrels of oil sold at 5 cents, and some oil was sold even as low as 1 cent per barrel. Speculation in the shares of these new companies was world-wide. Stock companies were organized with capitalizations of anywhere from $100,000 to $5,000,000, with no other holdings than 1-16th of an acre on which was located a well good for possibly 50,000 barrels per day. A single acre at Spindle Top had 105 wells drilled on it. Some of these promotions were crooked and were never made for any other purpose than to get money from the sale of stock. Others, and I believe the majority of them, were made in the honest belief that they would make money for the stockholders. Such promotions were mostly carried on by men of the South, with no previous oil experience, but who honestly believed that thousands of barrels of oil would continue to flow daily from their wells for 10 years or more.

Thought Oil Poor "Many of the experienced oil men from the North went to Spindle Top, but the great majority of them left without much loss of time. "The oil was not good, could not be refined etc.," they said.

"Following Spindle Top new salt dome fields on the Gulf coast were rapidly developed. Sour Lake, Batson, Saratoga, and Humble in Texas, and Jennings in Louisiana, all came within the following six years. More of these domes have been developed and others are known and will be developed.

"In 1908 and 1909 the Northern Louisiana fields near Shreveport, and in 1911 and 1912 the Electra field, in Wichita county, Texas, were important developments, and because of the higher gravity of their oil, were the first southwestern oil discoveries of great importance that came into competition with the oil business as it was

ELINOR SMITH IS FIRST TO FLY ALL DAY

Brings Plane Down at 2:02 o'Clock in New York

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., April 24. (AP)—At 11:40:44 a. m., today Elinor Smith, Long Island flying flapper, completed a full day in the air, the first time a woman solo flier ever accomplished such a feat.

Three minutes and 12 seconds after completing her 24 hours, aloft Miss Smith had added two hours to the previous woman's solo endurance flight record, and kept on flying.

Earlier this morning she dropped a note saying her stabilizer had gone "haywire" and she was clinging to the control stick with both arms. This difficulty apparently corrected itself, however, as when photographers flew alongside her shortly before noon she blew them kisses with both hands and seemed to be having no trouble at all. Fliers at the field had not heard any spluttering of her engine at noon, indicating that she had not switched from her main tanks to the five-gallon reserve supply of fuel. If this was true they estimated Miss Smith might stay up 30 hours.

British Secretary Says U. S. Views Equally Shared

LONDON, April 24. (AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, told the house of commons today the British government shared fully the hopes and wishes of the United States government on disarmament as set forth in Ambassador Gibson's speech at Geneva on Monday.

"The government desires me to take this opportunity to express its warm appreciation of the cordial conciliatory spirit shown by the American delegate and give assurances on its behalf that in the same spirit and with the most earnest wish to reach a complete understanding, it will consider the American suggestions," declared Sir Austen.

Sir Austen made his statement in answer to a question by Commander Joseph Kenworthy, laborite, whether Ambassador Gibson's speech had been called to his attention and what response his majesty's government proposed.

"As was at once stated by my noble friend Lord Cushendun," began Sir Austen, "his majesty's government shares to the full the hopes and wishes of the government of the United States as therein set forth. His Majesty's government, equally with the government of the United States, desires, not merely a limitation but a reduction of naval armaments.

"They have indeed themselves made proposals for such a general reduction and that the reduction should be applied to every class of war vessel. As between ourselves and the United States, such difference as has hitherto existed has not been concerned with these great principles, nor with the relative strength of our respective navies, but with determination of the categories into which ships of war should be divided."

FARM BILL TO SUBMERGE ALL MINOR PLANS

Long Debate Will Be Inevitable This Session

CENSUS TO BE NEXT ON CALL

Immigration Is Among Subjects Crowded to Rear

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Immigration, prohibition, flood relief and the host of other proposals pushed before the senate in the early days of the extra session have settled behind the administration's restricted program and face a doubtful future.

Senator Heflin of Alabama, however, showed the senate yesterday the plan for a restricted session may be applicable to legislation but not to debate. He held the floor two hours appealing for adoption of a resolution condemning the treatment accorded him at Brockton, Mass., where he made a Ku Klux Klan speech March 18, but the farm relief bill got a start and the revolution was put aside.

Farm relief, which reshaped the amendment stage in the house today, has first place on the administration program in the senate. How long this debate will run is problematical. After it ends, the administration bills for the 1930 census and reapportionment of the house will be awaiting next attention.

Defeated in their first test, President Hoover's supporters in opposition to the national origins provision of the immigration law were looking ahead today to the conclusion of the farm debate before renewing in earnest their battle for repeal. The senate immigration committee indefinitely voted 4 to 2 to postpone indefinitely the bills for repeal.

Meanwhile, threats of debate in the senate over the credit situation, involving the federal reserve board's efforts to curb loans for speculation, have failed to materialize. Bills and resolutions for investigations are in some of the senatorial desks, but they have been withheld.

Unlike the house debaters on this subject who want to investigate the reserve board's warnings against increased brokers' loans, the senate has some members who want to investigate Wall Street. In the senate the only expressed complaint, so far, against the reserve board is that it didn't issue its warning sooner.

Sensor King, democrat, Utah, who has prepared a resolution to withhold the credit situation is withholding this move to see how things develop. He is one of those who believe excessive credits have been made available to speculators and the federal reserve board should have acted sooner.

J. J. Barnard Badly Hurt in Accident on South Highway

When their car overturned on the south oilfield road early this morning J. J. Barnard was seriously injured and James Allen and Lon Day slightly hurt. Barnard was rushed to Pampa hospital, where it was found his shoulder was broken and badly crushed and his head cut and bruised.

Mr. Allen was injured about the hip and legs. Lon Day, driver of the car, was bruised and cut.

The three men, employees of the Stuckey Construction company, were on their way to work on the south end of the road where paving work is under way. The car was badly damaged when it turned over. Mrs. J. T. Clark of Midland, formerly of Pampa, is visiting friends in the city.

JOPLIN YOUTH SUCCUMBS TO LEG INJURIES

Ralph Frizzell, Whose Leg Was Mangled, Dies Today

MOTHER ARRIVES 12 MINUTES LATER

Funeral Will Be Held in Missouri Next Saturday

Ralph Frizzell, 15-year-old Joplin, Mo., boy, died at a local hospital at 3:55 a. m. today of complications resulting from his having been run over by a freight train last Thursday evening. It had been necessary to amputate his left leg below the knee soon after the accident, and a second operation was made Monday.

Harry Frizzell, father of the boy had been with him for several days, and his mother arrived on the morning train just a few minutes after the boy's death.

The body will be placed on a train tonight, and the funeral will be held at the Methodist church at Joplin Saturday afternoon. The youth lost much blood after his left leg had been mangled by the wheels of the train, and only the first aid rendered by W. W. Evans, White Deer farmer who rushed him to a hospital here, probably saved his life at the time. The boy had attempted to catch the fast moving freight. He was hitch-hiking toward El Paso, and was to have joined companions, from whom he had become separated, at Amarillo.

He had never before tried to "hop" a freight. He had been enrolled in Junior high school at Joplin, and was doing amateur boxing as a hobby. About a month ago he was praised for having made an excellent exhibition in a bout. His first thought after the accident was that he would be unable to play football again.

Farm School to Be Attended by Many Tomorrow

Poultry raisers and dairymen from this part of the county will attend a free school tomorrow at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the White Deer Land building. The first session will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning. The afternoon meeting will start at 2 o'clock.

Prof. R. C. Mowery and Prof. K. M. Renner of Texas Tech will be in charge of the school. Both men are experts in poultry raising and dairying. They will talk on subjects that will be of vital interest to poultry fanciers and dairy cattle raisers.

Students of the high school agricultural class will be present at both sessions.

The school is being conducted under the auspices of the agricultural committee of the Pampa Board of City Development.

Mrs. J. M. Turner and little daughter, Joyce, are spending the week in Wheeler with Mrs. Turner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Merriman, and other relatives. Mrs. J. M. Cox of Shamrock is visiting Mrs. H. T. Barnard and Mrs. C. W. Laurence. J. R. Porter, Cal Merchant, J. L. Bain, and J. W. Gordon of Clarendon were business visitors here yesterday.

It's Like This—

JOHN SANTA FE, if his intention is to charge Pampa folk the full rate for a special train to Clinton, Okla. when the new C. & O. W. line is opened about May 15, is certainly not acting with his customary consideration.

It is the general custom, on such occasions, to offer a substantial reduction or quote a total cost for a train, which then places the cost according to the number who make the trip. It is perhaps possible that such a rate may be granted, although present indications are to the contrary.

As we see it, Pampa citizens have a clear fight to oppose the spur line into Central Gray county if they believe such construction would be detrimental. Moreover, that $50,000 that was raised by donation to pay toward building of the line has not been forgotten.

If the Santa Fe officials are looking without much kindness toward this community on account of its attitude toward the spur line, then they should look a little deeper into the sacrifices which many local citizens made in donating to the road started by Frank Kell.

John Santa Fe's officials ought to think it over and grant a more reasonable rate on the post to each individual in making the trip celebrating the opening of the line. Unless this is done, the spirit of celebration will be seriously impaired.

HOPE THAT THE PALO DURO canyon may be made into a well-kept state park seems to have been abandoned in most quarters. The Panhandle-Plains of Texas, Inc., is continuing a campaign to get action of one kind or another.

The analysis drafted by the organization involves the following factors:
 1. The federal government has never purchased a national park. The national parks we have now were either created out of the public domain, or they were gifts to the federal government and the latter will not deviate from its rule to refuse to purchase sites.

2. There is no hope what ever that the state legislature will appropriate sufficient money to buy the Palo Duro canyon park.

3. The obvious situation is that if we are to get a park in the Palo Duro canyon it must be through the efforts of the people in the Panhandle and particularly those people who are located immediately adjacent to the proposed park.

4. One possible plan is by the organization of a park district, comprising a number of counties adjacent, which would be able to issue bonds for the purchase of a park site to be given to the federal government for a national park, or monument, as gifts of that character are called.

It is estimated that to improve such a park would cost ten times the worth or cost of the land, and this expense would be borne by the government. Of course, to give the land would be merely to keep it and shift the expense of improvement to Uncle Sam. This seems to be a logical plan.

Unless the cost should prove exorbitant, it appears that formation of a park district is the most likely plan to save the major scenic portion of the Panhandle for the enjoyment of present and future generations.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON—Many leaders of American business will gather here at the end of this month to discuss a wide range of problems.

These men concede an existing national prosperity, but so numerous and perplexing are the questions which they will undertake to thresh out that the program reveals deep interest, and in some cases anxiety, about the future of the nation's economic structure.

The annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce begins April 29. It will devote special sections of discussion to the marketing of agricultural products, trade practices, manufacturing problems, transportation, water power, conservation of natural resource raw materials, modern city planning and financing, future of mass merchandising, principles of tariff legislation, business finance and the credit system, safety of life and property, city traffic and trade areas and employer-employee relations.

Will Reveal Business View
 The chamber will pass resolutions on most of these subjects which may or may not have some important effect on the future, but which may be taken as expressing the preponderant sentiment of American business men and will be handed on as such to the innumerable local chambers of commerce over the country.

The two main matters scheduled for action by the present special session of Congress are on the chamber's agenda, the tariff and co-operative marketing such as is expected to be the principal factor in the farm relief act.

The chamber will consider the question of federal and state aid for development of co-operative marketing along with other phases of the co-operative system. It will consider the tariff as regards its effect on agricultural prices, the extent to which it has succeeded or failed in maintaining industrial stability, limitation of its present readjustment, likely effects of its increase on American export trade, its flexible provisions and a dozen other related questions.

Great emphasis will be placed on consideration of mass production and the problems which it has created, especially in respect to mass merchandising and employment.

Selling Costs Go Up
 Mass production goes right on putting men out of productive industry and forcing them into the distribution system. The theory is that new occupations in the distribution system have been sufficient to absorb the surplus labor from the factories.

At the same time distribution costs have increased. Mass distribution hasn't kept up with mass production. It costs about as much to sell a pair of shoes or a suit of clothes as it does to make them. Some business men look forward to the day when nearly everything will be bought through vending machines. They think that, in a small way, a definite trend in that direction has already begun.

In its round table on employer-employee relations will take up such questions as: What are sound politics with regard to maximum age-limits for initial employment? What about employment of married women? How can physically handicapped workers be given satisfactory employment? Is Farmers should be well educated. Otherwise, how are they going to understand what congress is trying to do for them?

Fortunately, cities are not judged by their clean-up weeks.

Yes, we must have a special train to Clinton if possible—anything to give us scribes an opportunity to work overtime. Anyway, a scribe is never in lower spirits than when there is nothing to do.

Major Mack says he speaks ten languages. What a wonderful opportunity to swear without offending. Everyone, no matter what is the gravity of his remarks under duress, ought to speak more than one language.

This city is getting so many chutes around these construction jobs that it begins to resemble the Kansas City stockyards.

the extent of displacement sufficient at present to cause a difficult employment problem? What are special problems created by displacement of highly skilled and specialized workers? Will a reduction of daily or weekly hours of labor in place of lay-off ameliorate the effects of displacement?

Amarillo Business and Professional Women's Club Active

Because Pampa has a new Business and Professional Women's club, and because interest in the organization and its future is growing daily, the following news story of the recent activities of the Amarillo unit will have wide interest here, and is, therefore, reprinted in full as it appeared in this morning's issue of the Amarillo Daily News.

The latest activity undertaken by the Amarillo organization of the Business and Professional Women's clubs is the establishment of an employment agency. Mrs. Hallie Martin Harper, attorney, is in charge of the bureau here, and she announces that already many women and girls have been placed in good positions. No charge is made for this service.

Mrs. Harper asks the co-operation of Amarillo business men who wish to employ stenographers, office girls or clerks. They may call Mrs. Harper, whose office is with the Commerce Farm Credit company in the Amarillo building, and an applicant for the position will be supplied.

Another activity of the local club is the scholarship fund. There is $100 available now to be lent to some worthy girl to help complete her education.

The local club is a part of a huge national organization, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, numbering 32,000 members in 47 states, and the Hawaiian Islands. It has approximately 1,000 clubs and 45 state federations and expends an annual budget of about $100,000.

While its program is diversified, seeking the physical and economic welfare of the business woman as well as her mental and spiritual growth and development, the two most important phases of its work are educational and vocational.

The Texas federation is one of the most active in the nation, and the Amarillo club is an important part of the state organization.

A demonstration in pillow making will be given by Mrs. Jay Evans at the next club gathering, as the first of a series of art craft lessons.

Mrs. Murphy and Dr. Mitchell held high scores for club members, while Mr. and Mrs. Taylor scored high for special guests. Mrs. Coffee was high in a general cut. Consolation for low scores went to Mr. and Mrs. Seal. The hostess served a two-course luncheon at the conclusion of the game.

El Progresso Club Studies Stirring Novel, "Red Rust"

"Red Rust," Cornelia James Cannon's story of the Swedish pioneers of Minnesota, was read by members of El Progresso for their program of yesterday afternoon. In the colorful story of the struggles of immigrant people to develop the wheat fields in their adopted land and their heroic fight against the red rust, the readers found a love story of rugged appeal and a picture of sturdy courage and simple aspirations that gave beauty to the picture of human struggle.

Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, program leader, presented the setting of the story from the geographical, racial, and artistic standpoint. A discourse on Mrs. Cannon's intimate knowledge of Matt's hobby, wheat culture, was given by Mrs. C. M. Bryson, who also gave a character sketch of the tragic figure of the novel, Olga Swenson.

Mrs. Dave Pope analyzed that author's particularly clever handling of a situation difficult to develop. A paper prepared by Mrs. R. R. House on the "The Element of Child Life which dominates the Story," was read by Mrs. Pope. Matt, the hero and Lena, the heroine, were pictured by Mrs. James Todd.

Discussions of the group centered on the possible inconsistency in the lack of Matt's schooling and the ease with which he acquired German, un tutored, and read Darwin intelligibly, and on the reserves of the story which give power to the book. Each member told why she liked the book.

The meeting was in Mrs. P. C. Ledrick's home.

She was charged with violation of the dry laws as a part of the concerted drive against Gotham night life launched by Mabel Walker Dillebrandt, Assistant U. E. Attorney General.

Cleveland Gang Takes Young Men Out "For Ride"

CLEVELAND, April 24. (AP)—Bodies of two men who had been shot to death and then thrown into a ditch were found near here today. Police said bootleg warfare had broken out again in Cleveland.

The men were identified as "Skinny" Fuerstman and Isadore Shiller. Both were about 25 years old.

They had been "taken for a ride," and dumped from the killers' auto in typical gangster style. Detective Chief Cody said. The bodies were lying face down.

At the point where the bodies were found, there was no indication of a scuffle, which Detective Cody interpreted as sufficient evidence the bodies had been thrown out there after the killing had been done somewhere else.

Giants Let Down By Phillies Before Big Gotham Crowd

By WILLIAM J. CHAPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The home opening of the giants was a complete success for the Phillies. In full view of 25,000 fans at the Polo Grounds yesterday, the furious Phils tantalized the Giants for eleven innings, but finally romped away with the decision by 3 to 1 on Barney Friberg's triple in the final round with two aboard.

Claude (Weeping) Willoughby pitched against Larry Benton, who deserved better things. The Weeper passed 10 Giants, three of them intentionally, and filled the bases in four distinct innings. Out of these situations, the clan McGraw squeezed the sum total of one run, forced over the plate in the seventh when Willoughby slipped on Hogan after having passed Roush by intent to fill the bases.

Having failed to make any impression upon the Chicago defense in pitching battles, the Cardinals turned loose their heavy guns in the final assault and won from the Bruins by 9 to 6.

The Braves lost to the Robins by 3 to 2 in eleven innings, but even so, the defeat of the Giants left the Boston entry high and dry, clinging in a dazed fashion to the top of the ladder with no disputant in sight.

The Brooklyn team gave its best efforts, but even these were not enough to lose with Vance in the box. The wild throws of the Robins infield sent terrified thousands to the safety of the upper stand.

The entire American league took hope at the further indication, in the opener at Boston, that the Yankees may just possibly be on the verge of a real old-fashioned batting slump. The world champions collected six small singles, three of them by that sterling slugger, Leo Durocher, and the Red Sox won by 4 to 2. George Pigras was wild, but Fred Helmach finished like a thoroughbred.

The Senators spoiled the Shibe park debut of the Athletics by taking a 4 to 3 decision in eleven innings. This untoward happening prevented Professor McGillicuddy from occupying the lofty quarters upon which he has had his heart set for so long.

Instead, the Indians, who shaded the White Sox by 5 to 4, moved into the top floor, with the St. Louis Browns established, temporarily at least, in the quarters directly beneath them. The latest prank of the Browns took the form of an 11 to 6 victory over the Tigers in the final game of the series.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS

By Laufer

Back to the front rank of the lightweights comes the hard-hitting Billy Wallace.

His recent victory over Tommy Grogan in Detroit puts him neck and neck with Ray Miller in the chase for a chance to fight the champion, Sammy Mandell.

Over a year ago Billy stood in the same spot he enjoys today, but misfortune, in the shape of ring injuries, forced him down in the standing. The courage and determination Billy displayed in fighting back to his present position have won him as much popularity as has any fighter in the ring today.

Billy first attracted national attention with a knockout over Louis Kid Kaplan, former featherweight champion, in the kid's first battle as a lightie. Then came more knockouts and wins over good men and finally the big money of Madison Square Garden.

Whipping Sid Terris, although the decision went against him, added to his fame.

Next a fight with Jimmy McLarnin, who at that time was making his bid for the lightweight championship, and Billy started on the downward grade. Against McLarnin, Billy broke his right hand and lost the decision.

A long layoff followed and when he returned to the wars, indifferent fights with mediocre opponents caused the word to go around that Wallace was through. But Billy fooled them. Slowly but surely he regained his old form. Knockouts over Jackie Pilkington, Joe Medill and Mickel Chapin were steps on the comeback trail.

If the champion defends his title this summer, it's a good bet that Wallace will be in there with him.

Waco, Houston and Dallas in Battle for Leadership

By The Associated Press
Excellent pitching in two instances and poor hurling in the third left Waco, Houston and Dallas in a three-cornered battle for the Texas league lead today as the race passed into its second week.

Waco and Houston got the pitching from Dumovitch and Lindsey, respectively, and the fighting Dallas Steers fell heir to their fifth win when the FortWorth mound corps blew sky high in the eighth inning of their fracas at Dallas.

A debacle such as overtook the Panthers pitching staff yesterday scarcely is reminiscent of the clubs that won six straight flags for Jakey Atz. Four Cat pitchers graced the hillock, more or less, during the Steers' six-run trade giving up between them three doubles, a single, three walks, and a sacrifice. When the dust settled the Herd had stored away a 9 to 7 verdict; St. Rosenthal's double proved to be the deciding factor in the groggy exhibition.

Jim Lindsey, heavy Houston ace, limited the San Antonio Indians to one hit and shut them out, 8 to 0, at Houston. It was Big Jim's second victory; likewise the second time the Tribe had been held to a lone bingle since the season opened. The Indians have displayed a glaring weakness with the willow thus far, and their pitching has been shaky.

Dumovitch upheld the high standard of Waco pitching by taming Beaumont 3 to 1, in the Shippers' new park. In two games so far Nick has allowed one earned run. Riviere appeared to have regained his form of early last season when he held the Cubs hitless for the first four frames, but from there on he was nicked at timely intervals.

After dropping two straight to Dallas, Shreveport came back to down Wichita Falls, 7 to 4, in the opening game at the Spudder city. The win lifted Art Pheasant's hopefuls to fourth place and further depressed the Spudders, expected to be battling for the league lead from the drop of the hat.

All visiting clubs remain over for another crack at their adversaries today.

By VERNE WICKHAM

You will find the wise-cracking goat-getter on almost every course. He will yell back "Five" or "Four-ninety-eight" when you courteously warn him of a shot by yelling "fore."

Golf to him is a brand new game which furnishes bright cracks. He has an idea that the grand old game with its romance and its stories is going to profit because he and his wit have finally taken it up. He never misses a chance to call back a crack to anyone warning him.

"Fore"—A warning cry to any person in the way of the stroke or the ball. That's the rule book definition of the word.

Learn when to use it. Nothing so quickly marks a player a crab as the misuse of the warning. Yell it when your partner is at the top of his swing; yell it before you shoot to a green 300 yards away, and see how quick they hop on you. Many unpopular golfers in clubs can trace the fact back to the days when they went around the course like human frogs, yelling "Fore" at everybody and everything.

If a member of your foursome strolls into your line of play, call "Fore."

If a golfer on the green doesn't notice you are back of him, call "Fore."

If a golfer, by mistake, starts to play your ball, call "Fore."

If you're driving through the foursome ahead by permission and you slice into them, yell "Fore."

In fact, remember that "Fore" is a warning call to any person in the way of the stroke or the ball.

Lone Star Loop Will Open With Much Ceremony

By The Associated Press

Parades, closed stores and other things that go to open a baseball season were in vogue today at Texarkana and Palestine where teams of the Lone Star league, a four-club circuit, were to start the race for the 1929 pennant.

The Texarkana Twins will have as their initial opponents the Sherman club, while the Palestine Pals will act as host to the Tyler Trojans.

Managers of the four teams are optimistic as the race gets under way, and officials of the league agree with the president that the Lone Star circuit will be "the fastest four-club loop in the world."

U. S. Will Enter Jumping Contests

NEW YORK, April 24. (P)—A United States army team of four riders will sail on May 2 for Europe to compete in the international jumping competition at Warsaw, Poland, from June 1 to 12. Three members of the team have been selected—Major Harry D. Chamberlin, and Capt. William B. Bradford, of the Ninth cavalry, Fort Riley, Kans., and Lieut. Edwin Y. Argo, First field artillery, Fort Sill, Okla.

Earl F. Thomson, Ninth cavalry, probably will be the fourth member of the squad. Only once before has an American team competed in European jumping contests, outside the Olympic games. Three years ago a team was entered from the United States in the English contests at Olympia.

Germans to Study American Athletics

NEW YORK, April 24. (P)—The Germans were right on the heels of Uncle Sam in the Olympic games at Amsterdam, and apparently they will not be satisfied with anything less than first.

Hoping to grease the wheels of German sports efficiency with American methods, Dr. Theodore Lewald, president of the German Olympic committee, and Dr. Carl Diem, secretary-general of the German federal council for athletics, will arrive here May 6 to spend a month and see what they can see.

Dr. Lewald was the master-mind behind the German Olympic team that caused a stir last summer while Dr. Diem was the leader of a German commission of five that toured the United States in 1913 when Germany was preparing to play host to the Olympic games of 1916 prevented by the war.

Texan May Hold Racing This Fall

NEW YORK, April 24. (P)—W. T. Waggoner, of Texas, owner of the Three D stable, has under consideration a plan to establish racing in his own state this fall with a $150,000 race.

Associates of the oil man and sportsman said at the opening of the Jamaica meeting here yesterday that Mr. Waggoner would like to stage the race which he would call the Texas Derby, on his own private track. The purse of $150,000 would make the "Texas Derby" the richest race in the world.

Jones Prepares for Golf Matches

ATLANTA, Ga., April 24. (P)—Bobby Jones, amateur champion, has begun serious preparations for the two big American golf events he will enter this year—the National open in June, and the national amateur at Del Monte in September.

He is playing a couple of times a week and on his last time out turned in a neat 65 over the difficult East Lake course.

Jones is going to Philadelphia later in the week for the annual meeting of the United States Golf association.

Baptist University Expels Professor

SHAWNEE, Okla., April 24. (P)—Alleged preparation of a sex questionnaire similar to that which led to the discharge of faculty members at the University of Missouri several weeks ago has resulted in the dismissal of Dr. D. Powers, head of the psychology department of Oklahoma Baptist university here and the discharge of Bernice O. Wells, student assistant.

Dr. W. W. Phelan, president of the university, made an announcement in which he relates his discovery of the questionnaire, which he said had been sent to the university print shop.

The questions were "vile and filthy," he said, adding it was "the most un-Christian sheet of writing" he ever had seen.

Dr. Phelan said he had discharged Powers and Wells, a ministerial student Tuesday after he had made an investigation which led him to believe the questionnaire was to be used in psychology classes.

Wells, charged with having given the order for the questionnaire to the print shop, told officials he was having them printed to be used in the state penitentiary.

Randall Farmer Shows How Hens Net Big Profit

CANYON, April 24. (Special)—How 378 pullets netted him $752.50 in nine months' time from egg production alone is told by J. H. Morgan of Happy. Although raising chickens as a sideline to his wheat farming, Morgan stated that a few chickens furnished an income to farmers that often looks as attractive as that of a wheat or cotton farm.

Morgan originally purchased 1,000 baby chicks from an early-spring hatch of this number, 898 survived. Exactly 520 roosters were sold for enough to pay for the initial cost of the flock, besides furnishing a profit, and the 378 pullets were kept for egg production.

From April 1 last year to January 1, 1929, eggs from the flock brought $1,069. Feed, none of which was raised on the farm, cost Morgan $307.50, leaving a profit of $752.50, or a little more than $4 per month as the chickens' part in making the farm a paying proposition, according to Morgan.

Bootleggers Bomb Homes of Officers

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 24. (P)—Two dynamite bombs which police charged against harrassed bootleggers exploded within an hour of each other today in attacks upon two members of the department. One was planted at the home of Captain William A. McMasters and the other at a recent residence of Sergeant Patrick J. Holland, chief of the vice and liquor squad.

At the McMasters home, part of a porch was torn away and all windows in the neighborhood were shattered. Mrs. McMasters and two children, William, Jr., 4, and Ruth, 3, were severely shaken. Frame porches were ripped from a four-apartment building where Holland lived until four weeks ago. Windows were broken and occupants of the building were thrown from their beds.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL & RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE, stenographer at the Judson Hotel, has her fox fur stolen from her in a crowd but STEPHEN ARMITAGE catches the thief and returns the scarf. He asks to take her home. Not wishing to seem ungrateful, she invites him to dinner. Their evening is spoiled when PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of her employer, phones Mildred to return to duty. Stephen escorts her to the hotel where Pamela recognizes him as the salesman who had sold her a car, she accuses Mildred and tries to lure Stephen away by pretending she wants to buy another car. Then she accuses MUCKY CONNOR, who becomes infatuated with her, and she amuses herself by playing with both men. When Stephen favors Mildred the hotel manager warns her to be careful or Pamela will have her discharged. But this may not be so easy as HAROLD JUDSON is in love with Mildred. He is a weakling and Mildred permits him to call to keep him from Mucky's snubbing crowd. However, he suspects that she cares more for Stephen than for him and refuses to stay one evening when Stephen calls. As the weeks pass Mildred realizes that Pamela is vowing Stephen from her and that Harold is hopelessly tangled with Mucky's gambles. She asks Harold to consider in her but he refuses unless she will go out to dinner with him. They drive to her home so she can change her dress and they learn that her mother has had a serious accident.

When he returned half an hour later, his arms were laden with packages.

"Oh, no," Mrs. Lawrence put in, her hospitable spirit surmounting her suffering. "I'd like to have you here," Mildred admitted, fearing to be left alone with her mother ill and Connie unstrung. The doctor came in then and Harold told Mildred hurriedly that he would wait in the living room. Connie came to him soon and told him the doctor was dressing the burn. She couldn't bear to watch it.

"How did it happen?" Harold asked. "Mother was preparing dinner," Connie explained, "and she tipped over a pot of boiling lard. Her hand and arm are frightfully burned. I don't know what I'd have done if Mildred hadn't been here. It happened just after she came upstairs. Oh, dear, there's the telephone. Will you answer it, please? I'm too upset to talk."

Harold went out and Connie soon heard his voice raised in angry argument. "No, I won't call Mildred to the phone," he said, "You've no business bothering her after office hours, Pam. Besides, she's not working for you. No, I won't tell her what you want. Her mother is ill and the doctor is here. What? Well, that's none of your concern. Yes, of course I'm going to stay. They need me."

He hung up with a bang just as Mildred appeared in her mother's doorway. "Who was it?" she asked, not having heard Harold's end of the conversation. "Pamela," he said crossly.

pinched features and Mildred knew that the mercifully induced sleep had come. She tiptoed softly out of the room and found Connie trying to dispose of the flowers Harold had brought up.

"Won't mother love them?" she exclaimed gratefully. "And I'll enjoy them, too. I'll be home with her for a while. You'll tell them at the hotel, Harold?"

"Of course. I hope it isn't going to be serious. I mean . . ."

Mildred glanced at Connie. "The doctor said he doesn't think the arm will be crippled," she replied, but there was a note of gravity in her voice.

Connie missed it. "Is mother asleep?" she asked in happy relief.

Mildred nodded. "I wonder what we can give you to eat," she said to Harold.

"You needn't worry," Connie explained. "He's brought up everything but canary tongue."

MILDRED sighed. A guest bringing food. Well, there was nothing she could do about it. She didn't feel like making a fuss over a trivial matter, but it always seemed that she must forever be the recipient, and recipients, she was certain, knew better than others how much more blessed it was to give than to receive. No one, she thought irritably, would take food to Pamela. Orchids and French chocolates, perhaps, but not pate de foies gras and almond-stuffed olives.

True enough, Harold had brought a large pot of pate and a jar of olives, but there were more substantial viands as well, which Connie and Harold appeared to enjoy. She left the table several times to slip in and see that all was well with her mother. Connie, assured now that the accident was not a tragedy, was her own self once more and led Harold to say verbal dance.

But when 11 o'clock came Mildred firmly put him out. And it was not until she curled up in the big arm chair that she and Connie had hauled into their mother's room that she remembered the hadn't found out why Mucky Connor could bring that look of mingled fear and hatred to Harold's countenance.

Well, she'd have to let that go for the present. She had other things to think about. The doctor had warned her that the shock of the accident had been bad for her mother. The patient must be kept as quiet as possible for a while, and there was the matter of the doctor's fee. Her mother would object to calling him again, Mildred knew, but there was danger of crippling if the burn were not properly cared for.

Mildred slept fitfully and uncomfortably. She was up many times during the night and when morning came she was worn and tired. But she got Connie off to school on time and managed to keep up a cheerful appearance through the morning for her mother's sake.

At noon a neighbor came in, bringing a bowl of hot soup and an apple dumpling. Mildred led the soup to her mother and saved the dumpling for Connie's supper. She was too tired to eat, but she drank a glass of hot milk which made her feel sleepy.

Finding her mother snoring, she decided to take a short nap. But just as she entered her room the doorbell rang and Mildred's heart jumped into her throat.

OIL HISTORY

generally understood by the average man in the oil industry. The eastern oil men commenced to arrive in Texas in large numbers.

War Was Disastrous

In 1917, W. K. Gordon, of the Texas Pacific Coal company, drilled a well near the town of Ranger, in Eastland county, Texas, which came in making about 7,000 barrels of paraffine oil daily. Following this development, in this county, and in the Stephens and Young counties, there was developed what seemed to be one of the greatest oil fields, in area, in the size of wells, that had ever been discovered. While these fields produced a large quantity of oil and are still producing many thousands of barrels per day, as a whole, for the operators. Wartime conditions, poor labor, high costs of material, and unusually bad road conditions made the cost of all operations too great for profit.

Following these developments other pools of oil in North Texas were developed, the best of which was Burkburnett field in Wichita county.

"Homer and Haynesville, in northern Louisiana, and El Dorado and Smackover in Arkansas, were the important developments in these states following that at Shreveport.

Humphreys Did Much

"Another mining engineer, Col. A. E. Humphreys, now deceased, developed the possibilities of oil in great quantities from what is known as the Fault Area of East Texas, by finding oil at Mexia, in 1920. Colonel Humphreys also developed the Powell field, Mexia, Powell, Richland and Wortham, all fault zone developments, following Colonel Humphreys' discovery, have already produced nearly 225,000,000 barrels of oil.

"It is also reasonable to suppose that there is much more of this character of production to be developed in East Texas. Luling, in Caldwell and Guadalupe counties, is another fault zone producing area. This field was developed by Edgar B. Davis of New York, and is in an area which at the time was little valued by the oil man. Davis has had no previous experience in oil. He has been for many years manager of a rubber plantation in the East, and only entered the oil business on a hunch that he could make a success of it. His hunch was a good one and he retired in a little over a year with some $15,000,000 for his venture.

"The Panhandle area of Texas, in Hutchinson, Gray and Carson counties, was developed in 1924, although a small amount of production was had in 1921. This field has produced, to January 1, 1928, a total of 92,000,000

"I Feel Just Fine in Morning Now"

AMARILLO RAILROAD MAN SAYS HIS TROUBLES ARE DISAPPEARING AFTER TAKING ORGATONE AND HE GAINS DAILY

"I get up in the mornings now, feeling like a 2-year-old, and I've gained in weight and strength since I started taking Orgatone," said L. D. Priest, a few days ago, when he was talking to the Orgatone representative. Mr. Priest who lives at 2109 Roberts street, is in the railroad store department, for the Santa Fe railroad, which position he has held for the past ten years.

"I suffered terribly for more than five years," he continued, "and got in an awful, run-down condition. I got so I didn't want anything to eat and what little I did force down would cause me trouble from the gas that would form on my stomach. I would have smothering spells, and a choking sensation in my chest, and I want to tell you this is a real suffering. My kidneys bothered me a good deal which made me very restless at night and would get up in the morning feeling so tired and worn out I actually hated the thought of going to work, and then when I did go out to the shops I would feel bad all day. I took everything I could find, trying to get some relief, but I just got worse and worse and there's no telling what would have become of me if it hadn't been for Orgatone.

"I heard a lot about what this medicine was doing and read so much in the papers where people all over Amarillo were helped by it that I decided it might do me some good, and I tell you it was the best day's work I've done in a long time when I started taking Orgatone, for I'm a steady man now and my nerves are as steady as a steam engine. I can eat anything I want without a bit of suffering and I enjoy every minute full. I noticed before I had finished the first bottle my appetite was improving and now after taking four bottles of it, it seems like I can't get enough to eat. It sure is a fine feeling to sit down to a good dinner, like I do now, and know you can eat anything on the table, and not have any trouble afterwards. And sleep, why, I never wake up until time to get up and go to work and when I start out I feel as fine and full of life as a boy going hunting with a gun.

"Yes, sir, this Orgatone has got me feeling like my old self again and I know it's the right medicine for me. Everybody I know asked me what's making me look so much better and I don't lose any time telling 'em 'Orgatone', and I'm glad to tell you about it, so you can publish it and let other suffering people know what Orgatone has done for me."

Geniue Orgatone may be obtained in Pampa exclusively by the City Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

Merchants Find Oil

"It remained for two other strangers to the oil business, to develop the important production of the salt basin area of West Texas. In 1923, the Big Lake field, in Reagan county, was opened up by Frank T. Pickrel and Ryman Krupp of El Paso, Texas. Pickrel had been a traveling candy salesman and Krupp was a wholesale merchant. This may have been the greatest discovery of oil in the United States up to date. The Winkler and Pecos county fields, and numerous fields in this area, are all important developments arising out of their discovery of the oil possibilities of the salt basin area. The Pecos county field, better known as the Yates pool, has a production of about 125,000 barrels per day, but frequent tests for its potential production, developed but closed in, have resulted in estimates as high as 4,000,000 barrels of daily production—more than the production of the entire balance of the world. Winkler county is only producing about 175,000 barrels per day, but it also has a large potential production not now being produced."

Houston Bandits Taunts Accusers

HOUSTON, April 24. (P)—Tony Corona, 18-year-old wise-cracking bandit, who has confessed to a series of hold-ups and robberies, was back in his cell today with several stitches in his neck after inflicting a 3-inch gash last night.

Sheriff T. A. Binford believes the boy cut himself expecting to escape while being taken to a hospital.

Corona was given an examining hearing yesterday and held without bond after a long procession of witnesses had accused him of robbing them. The youths taunted and laughed at the victims.

WHISKEY RUNNER KILLED

WASHINGTON, April 24. (P)—Otman Herman Fleming, 21, driver of an automobile that attempted to escape from police by laying down a smoke screen, was shot and killed today when officers opened fire on the machine.

Banker of Mineral Wells Comes Out for W. T. C. C. Head

MINERAL WELLS, April 24. (P)—Yielding to the insistence of friends, J. P. (Pat) Williams, president of the First National bank of Mineral Wells, today announced he would be a candidate for president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"I have been interested in and closely identified with the work of this organization since its inception," Mr. Williams said. "I am familiar with many of the problems of West Texas, especially as they pertain to farming, live stock and banking, and it is to these problems I would give the major portion of my time and interest if elected."

"I have no special hobby to present to West Texas people, but rather would I bring to bear constructive thought to general plans of comprehensive development along all lines of endeavor in which West Texans are engaged or may become engaged.

"In announcing my candidacy, I also want to say that if a campaign is made in my behalf, it will be made by my friends as a whole and not by any particular group, either here at Mineral Wells or in any part of the territory served by this great regional organization."

American Legion Gives U. S. Flag to Central School

Kerley-Crossman post No. 443 of the American Legion this morning in an impressive ceremony presented Pampa high school a large American flag and a pole. A preliminary service was held in the high school auditorium when Commander F. M. Culbertson of the local post, George W. Briggs, manager of the Pampa Board of City Development, and the Rev. Tom W. Bradham, chaplain of Kerley-Crossman post and pastor of the First Methodist church, made short addresses.

The flag was presented to Principal R. B. Fisher by Legionnaire Alger Jones, past adjutant of the Nagadach post, now a member of the local post.

The flag was raised to the top of the new flag pole in front of the high school while students, teachers and citizens stood with bared heads. A color guard of high students will be appointed by Principal Fisher. It will be their honor and duty to display and care for the flag.

DALLAS JEWELER RESIGNS HIS NATIONAL POSITION

DALLAS, April 24. (P)—J. J. C. Holland, of San Angelo, vice-president of the National Association of retail jewelers and president of the Texas-Louisiana Jewelers' association, Tuesday announced his resignation as a national officer.

He charged the national organization with tardiness in beginning work on a plan indorsed at the last national convention to organize a trade institute to stimulate the jewelry industry nationally.

Hardy Denies All Charges of State

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 24. (P)—Having flatly contradicted testimony of prosecution witnesses in his impeachment trial, Judge Carlos S. Hardy prepared today to undergo cross-examination.

For four hours yesterday the jurists denied the principal charges against him. The prosecution alleges he acted as attorney for Mrs. Albee Sempie McPherson and that he obstructed justice by becoming unduly active in her behalf during the investigation of her kidnaping story.

C. I. A. NAME MAY BE CHANGED BY LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, April 24. (P)—Two bills affecting the College of Arts and Industries, one changing the name of the institution to Texas State College for Women and the other vesting the board of regents with power to issue contracts and assume obligations for the construction of dormitories, were passed today by Representative Fred Minor, Denton.

Minor said he would seek to change the name of the school because South Texas State Teachers' college at Kingsville was recently designated by law as the College of Arts and Industries. This title, Minor believes, will confuse the school with C. I. A. at Denton.
