More Than 150 Women Are Expected for Gathering

VITAL PROBLEMS TO BE SUBJECTS

Entertainment Will Be Varied—Music Is Feature

By WILLETTE COLE, Society Editor, The News.

The sixth annual conference of the Eighth district Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, one of the largest and most important of the conventions to be held in Pampa this year, will open Wednesday noon, when it is expected that more than a hundred delegates and visitors will have arrived for the three-day meeting.

Great interest in the convention is indicated by messages sent district officials and the local general committee by officers of Parent-Teacher associations throughout the 26 counties comprising the district. It is thought that at least 150 representatives from other towns will be present, and entertainment has been planned for that number. More than 300 members of five local Parent-Teacher associations will be vitally interested in the meeting and many others will attend part of the sessions.

Sessions at Church
All sessions will be held at the Methodist church and will be open to the public. A cordial welcome is extended to all persons interested in child welfare or in the work of the public schools. Evening programs have been scheduled to meet the convenience of business men, and it is the earnest desire of district and local officers that the representations of men will be as large as these meetings as that of the women. Problems connected with health, welfare, ethics, citizenship, vocational efficiency, the use of leisure, home guidance from the pre-school age through high school years, humane education, and others in which parents and society at large are concerned will be discussed by experts under the general theme, "The Seven-fold Program of Home and School as Applied to the Four Ages of Childhood." College professors, and public school teachers who have achieved eminence, as well as state and district P.-T. A. officers, are included in the roster of speakers. The three-day program has been so arranged that morning, afternoon, and evening sessions are of equal interest, with one or two outstanding lecturers for each program.

State President Coming
Wednesday afternoon will be given over, largely, to preliminary details and a tea for women delegates. Mrs. Noyes

CANYON DEFEATS PAMPA'S ONE-ACT PLAY TEAM BUT LOSES TO TULLA

Pampa's one-act play team entered the semi-finals at Canyon Saturday afternoon, but was eliminated by the Canyon high school team. Canyon lost to Tulla, winners of last year's one-act play contest.

The Pampa high school team won its early contests but was surprised when the Canyon high team showed a winning aggregation. Tulla then easily defeated the Canyon representatives for first place.

Pampa's team was composed of Clara Brenner, Melba Graham, Dorothy Doucette, and Bob Kahl. Eliminations in literary events in the Pampa schools are still in progress today, according to Supt. R. C. Campbell. He says the finals will be reached this afternoon and a complete list of Pampa's representatives in the county meet of Friday and Saturday will be announced. The contests started Saturday morning in the gymnasium.

B. C. D. PROTESTS TO I. C. C. ON NEW SANTA FE LINE

The Board of City Development, which has protested to the Santa Fe the construction of a branch line railroad into Central Gray county, today through its transportation committee started a thorough investigation of steps that may be taken to discourage the proposal.

It also was brought out that individual property owners here, who fear their holdings would suffer, will make protests to the interstate commerce commission. Intervention through the I. C. C. is planned, and will be made at a hearing to be set by that body.

In response to local protests, President Storey of the Atchison, Topoka & Santa Fe has replied that the line is in the plan in building the line to the carbon black industry for the service. He declared that he and associates believe the line would be directly beneficial to Pampa, since all train service will be from and to Pampa. He enclosed a blueprint showing how the proposed line would leave the new C. & O. W. line at Heaton, a blind siding 8.7 miles east of Pampa, and extend southeasterly 8.7 miles to a point slightly beyond the center of section 12, roughly three miles east of LeFors.

Adams Trial Is Granted Transfer to Corsicana Today

DALLAS, April 1. (P)—The trial of V. Ray Adams, charged with the murder of Orville L. Matthews, Dallas bank employee here September 1 over the payment of a $2,000 election bet, was transferred today to Corsicana. No date was set.

The state's attorneys agreed with Adams' attorneys it was almost impossible for the defendant to receive a fair trial in Dallas county. The motion for the transfer said that due to the "unprecedented flood of newspaper publicity about Adams' trial trial it was unlikely there was a single person in Dallas county not intimately acquainted with the facts."

Clifford Braly, district attorney, is representing the state in the case. Lyons is represented by Judge Ben S. Baldwin, local attorney.

LEAD IN FIGHT TO OUST THE LOUISIANA GOVERNOR

Leaders in the Louisiana legislature's battle to oust Governor Huey P. Long, against whom 19 impeachment charges have been filed, are shown here. Above, at the left, is Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cyr, a dentist, a former Long supporter, who will become governor if Long is removed. At the right is John Fournet, speaker of the house of representatives and Long floorleader, as he explains an allegedly fake count on a motion to adjourn which precipitated a riot. Below, left, is Representative Clinton Sayes, of Avoyelles parish, who was struck on the head and badly injured in the riot. At the right is Harry "Battling" Bozeman, former personal bodyguard of Governor Long, who now charges in an affidavit that Long tried to get him to assassinate Representatives J. Y. Sanders, Jr., a political enemy.

PARIS, April 1. (P)—The new ambassador will be the most important in the diplomatic service and the new administration had considered it satisfactorily filled because of Mr. Herrick's known desire to stay there.

The nature of the tasks which the new ambassador will be called to perform has led to the suggestion that former vice-president Charles G. Dawes, most prominently mentioned for the highly prized London post, may now be asked to go to Paris instead.

At the same time consideration of Dawes in connection with the London assignment has led to the suggestion that former secretary Frank B. Kellogg might be asked to go to Paris.

A meeting of a house committee to determine procedure for taking testimony against the governor, and the committee report tonight were on the day's program.

The governor's political enemies plan to train their heavy guns upon him tomorrow when testimony probably will begin. Under present plans, witnesses will be summoned to appear before the house.

During the house hearing only anti-Long testimony will be heard to determine whether there is merit in the charges. If a majority of the house believes the testimony warrants a trial, the governor will be called before the senate where the case will be heard. A two-thirds vote of the senate is necessary to convict.

Governor Long has mailed thousands of letters to voters in the state requesting them to come to his assistance by wiring or writing their representatives.

Two More Tests to Be Drilled Soon

Gray county has two more locations today. Six locations were made last week, all of which are to be drilled immediately.

The Magnolia Petroleum corporation made a location to drill in the north-west corner of the northwest quarter of section 63, block B-2, on the Bowers land. This new test will be the fourth on the quarter. It is situated less than a quarter of a mile northeast of the Operators Oil company's 7,000 barrel gusher in section 68, block B-2.

The other location announced this morning was for the Marland Production company's No. 2 Finley-Brown in section 32, block B-2, H. & G. N. survey. This test will be in the southeast corner of the section and will offset the Champlin Refining company's No. 1 McLaughlin in section 33, block B-2. The derrick is on the ground for the Champlin test.

County Clerk Charlie Thut also issued a marriage license yesterday to Miss Bernice Ballard and Chesney Tidwell. Mr. Tidwell is from Cheyenne Okla.

CHICAGO, April 1. (P)—Congressman M. A. Michelson of Chicago, indicted at Jacksonville, Fla., on charges of violating the national prohibition law, surrendered today to Henry C. W. Lambenheimer, United States marshal. Congressman Michelson's appearance at the marshal's office in the federal building was surrounded with secrecy and he was ushered immediately into the office of Edwin K. Walker, U. S. commissioner, to make bond.

Congressman Michelson appeared voluntarily. Before the commissioner he waived a preliminary hearing, posted $2,000 for his appearance and announced he would go voluntarily to Florida to face the charges against him.

"It's Like This"

COUNTY JAIL CONDITIONS are far from ideal. In fact, the arrangement of prisoners is one that should not be tolerated.

The condition referred to is one which makes it necessary for the sheriff's department to place all classes of white prisoners in the same compartment.

There are many types of inmates. Some of them are desperate characters, facing felony charges here or elsewhere and having neither fear nor respect for the law.

The main reason for the uncertainty is that persons who consider themselves "close to Hoover" have been telling different stories for some time.

Placing a man in jail is no proof of guilt. He may be held by mistake, he may be held merely "for investigation," or perhaps because he is temporarily away from acquaintances and cannot make bond.

The officers cannot remedy the situation unless they are furnished with additional jail compartments. They need a section for minor offenders, for those held on investigation without charges being placed, and for those too drunk to place with the other prisoners.

It will be nearly a year, perhaps, before the new jail is ready for occupancy. The large number of jail cases will not be greatly diminished during that time.

For a nominal expense it would be possible to divide the jail section for white prisoners. It appears to the News that the conditions justify such a step, and that the county commissioners should investigate the matter in order to take some action upon it.

ed, filthy specimens of humanity such as often also are in the jail.

THE MEMBERSHIP PLAN of the Chamber of Commerce should not be confused with the Board of City Development and its tax-supported arrangement.

Under the state law, money raised within the city from taxation cannot be spent outside of the city, nor for such intangible things as convention entertainment, publicity, highway upkeep, and the like.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER WASHINGTON — Probably one of the rarest specimens outside the National Museum is the person who has no strong prejudices about prohibition.

It continues to appear that President Herbert Hoover is one of those. Not only is he neither fanatically dry nor fanatically wet, but he also seems to be rather sour on both sets of extremists.

There are still those who insist that Hoover is at heart a "wet," if he is anything. And there are many in Washington who would hesitate to place him, from the standpoint of his personal viewpoint, in either camp.

The main reason for the uncertainty is that persons who consider themselves "close to Hoover" have been telling different stories for some time. The drys profess positive assurance that he leans entirely their way and the wets insist that he has an open mind, is far from confident of the ultimate nationwide success of the eighteenth amendment and has in mind some ultimate modification of the Volstead act.

If there is any reconciliation of seemingly conflicting and allegedly inspired interpretations of Hoover's attitude toward prohibition it must boil down to some such logical surmise as this:

The president himself doesn't take a drink. He is primarily concerned with prohibition as it affects America's governmental and economic efficiency and as it presents a challenge to his oath to uphold the constitution.

He will not condone violations of the law nor will he condone violation of the spirit of the law by subordinate officials. A federal official in Washington who produced a flask in his presence would undoubtedly be sternly rebuked. But he did not once frown when members of his good will party in Latin America readily accommodated themselves to the customs of those countries.

Each man on the tour was permitted to use his own judgment. From the standpoint of efficiency, Hoover must determine whether the prohibition laws are going to be sufficiently beneficial in the long run to justify themselves and their admittedly harmful effects.

He did not call prohibition a "noble experiment"; he called it "an experiment, noble in purpose" and said he didn't favor repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The president is supposed to feel that prohibition has been an economic benefit and has definitely increased the efficiency of the industry. On the other hand, he admits that it has had a serious effect on the morale of government and the laxity of prohibition enforcement probably strikes him as hideous.

But he must decide whether present conditions, which are still the major national scandal, are bound to continue and if so whether prohibition and its present laws are worth the price. There is no evidence that he has come to any decision at all about the ultimate success of the "experiment."

His determination to do his very best to enforce the law is something else again. Whether he has any doubts about success or not, he has given ample indication of his intention to see what can be done—and do it. Perhaps there is no more significant fact than that he has failed to utter the familiar roar that he would soon have the bootleggers on the run and that the law would be enforced at last.

He said that the "experiment" must be "worked out constructively" and when he recently passed the word to the correspondents that there wouldn't be any hysterics or melodrama about his enforcement program that was what he meant.

Soldiers of fortune, in this case, mean soldiers drawing $50 to $150 per day—if they can collect it.

TWINKLES

A name usually denotes an individual as a definite being, but in Pampa it is likely to be otherwise. In a district court case last week, five men concerned have names exactly like five other citizens in no way concerned.

It may be all right for those Yanks to get on both sides of the Mexican pasture, but when they meet in an aerial battle it will be time for them to call off the war and head for the Rio Grande.

Italians are frank, at least—they are organizing an "Association of Propaganda" among the leading manufacturers.

What's sauce for the goose is likely poison for the gander. Hoover's oil policy looks wonderful where there is overproduction, but to the states affected it seems truly "a bold usurpation of legislative authority."

Senator Small is coming up Thursday. He'll find that most people up this way have heard of him.

Movie theatres are fine, but they are not the best places in the world to show off Easter finery.

Those who talk about "the worst streets" they ever saw here should think back into the winter of 1926. "Those were the days" that we are glad can never return.

Pampa is the city of the busiest streets in the Panhandle, but we can recall when it meant busiest trying to pull away from the curb lakes.

Postponed Meeting at Canyon Will Be Held Friday

CANYON, April 1. (Special)—The postponed meeting of the Panhandle-Hill Country Historical Society will take place here on April 5, according to the announcement made by officers of the society.

Some changes have been made necessary by the later date, but the program will be even more varied than was planned at first.

With Judge James D. Hamlin of Farwell as toastmaster, the success of the banquet is assured. On the toast program will appear Professor L. F. Sherry, head of the History department of the West Texas State Teachers College, Judge L. Ough of Amarillo, Miss Marie Stalcup of Canyon.

Friends Speak of Change in Him

My friends are speaking about how well I am looking, and I'm feeling a lot better, so Orgatone is responsible for it all," said J. C. Johnson, of 1806 Pierce St., Amarillo, Tex.

"I inferred for about three years with stomach trouble and nervous indigestion," continued Mr. Johnson, "and at times it just seemed as if everything I ate would sour on my stomach and form gas and I would be in such misery that I could hardly stay on the job. At times I was so bilious and dizzy, that when I was walking over the cats, I would get so dizzy when stepping across from one car to another, I would get on my knees and reach hold of the running board so I would not topple over. I lost my appetite and was losing weight every day. I was troubled with asthma, and was so nervous I couldn't sleep well at all and sometimes I would roll and toss nearly all night long and would get up in the morning feeling perfectly miserable from loss of sleep and rest."

"Orgatone had helped to many people here, that suffered from the same trouble I did. I decided to try it. I have only taken three bottles and sure feel entirely like a different person. My indigestion is a thing of the past, and I can eat anything I want without it bothering me in the least. The gas doesn't form, and best of all, all my dizzy and bilious spells are gone. I rest and sleep fine every night, and get up in the morning feeling rested and refreshed and ready for my day's work. My asthma doesn't trouble me in the least, and in fact, I am just in a better condition, all around, I have gained weight, just how much I don't know, and look so much better. All of my friends are remarking about how well I am looking and I feel so much better. I can hardly express words. I am more than glad to say a good word for Orgatone and heartily recommend it to any one suffering as I was."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific preparation containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Pampa exclusively by the City Drug Store, Johnson Hotel Building, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.

About New York

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
NEW YORK—A tendency in the American drama to lay stories in New York and the suburbs has been noted by one of the metropolitan critics, Mr. J. Brooks Atkinson.

The New York setting, Mr. Atkinson thinks, is more convenient than inevitable. As for instance, in "Kibitzer."

The term "kibitzer" itself would need explaining to strangers, for it is peculiar to the city, if the character it represents is not. It means one of those lookers-in who knows it all, who tells you how to play your cards—and if you lose, says, "I told you so"; who knows what's wrong with everything and the remedy; who always could do anything better than anybody else.

PLACES TO LOAF

Other cities, of course, have their counterparts. But they serve the neighborhoods in another way—as loafing places for those who live or work thereabout. The scene in the evening faintly resembles the once familiar picture of small-townmen, swapping yarns on soap boxes in village stores. Like the latter scene, too, they are threatened by modern conditions. Or so thinks the lugubrious Mr. M. Grossman, proprietor of such a shop in the section north of Eighty-sixth street.

"It used to be," he said, "that I knew all my customers. Now I don't." He wagged his head. "It ain't even the same kind of trade. Smart people they are now. Short and snappy 'Gimme a pack o' fags.' No more do my old customers come in and stay awhile, they move away to new apartments, or they buy everything downtown. They get well, and my business, it's rotten; well, anyway, it ain't what it used to be. People ain't neighbors any more."

CHINESE CHANGE

Mr. Grossman was right; the city changes constantly, as what does not? Even the Chinese, famed for the tenacity with which they hold to traditions, have adopted western gambling habits. Where they once played fan-tan and mah-jong in Chinatown, they now roll dice. And their favorite amusement is the movies.

The back drivers, too, the lingering few who somehow manage to pick up enough trade to keep horse and cab together, probably could say much about modern manners. Especially the one I saw on Fifth avenue early the other morning, attempting to remain dignified despite the antics of an exuberant fare. The latter, silk-hatted (toppers are very fashionable now, you know), was trying to climb on the horse's back. Every time he got his feet planted unsteadily on the shafts, the cabby would stop his steed and, with remarkable patience, induce the playboy to return to his seat.

Talks To Parents

GILDING THE LILY

By Alice Judson Peale
Said a young father proudly: "My wife doesn't need any of this training in motherhood. All the books on child psychology and child training couldn't improve on the way she handles our little Margie. Everyone says there never was a more well behaved child nor a happier one. We never have to punish her. The neighbors ask my wife how she does it; it just comes natural to her. It seems to me that all this training is foolishness if your heart is in the right place."

FROM WIDE EXPERIENCE AND SCIENTIFIC STUDIES IN SUPERFLUOUS.

The man who spoke was a rare individual, for he was happy in his work, happy in his marriage, happy in his fatherhood. His wife had achieved in her love and in her motherhood, all which to her seemed vital or significant. The simple life of their home was profoundly satisfying to them both. Such parents are likely to do intuitively what those of us whose lives are arranged less ideally or who temperamentally are less gifted in the subtle art of parenthood must set out to learn consciously.

Easter Skirts Were Seemingly Longer

NEW YORK, April 1. (AP)—The consensus of fashion experts who watched Easter parades is that modish skirts are just a trifle longer.

Many of the fashionable paraders along Fifth avenue wore dresses that came an inch or two below the knee. A few that were emphatically longer were seen. Here and there were distinctly low hemlines showing a tendency to dip in uneven frills. There were also plenty of ultra short skirts.

Shoes were so variegated they often struck the eye before the other components of the costume. Purple, green, pink, beige and steel blue suedes were the rule. Lavender kid and polka-dotted footwear proved startling. Repulsive slims were popular.

Most of the women had costumes in which black, relieved by liberal dashes of white, predominated. All shades of brown and the new steel blue found favor. Loosely woven tweed ensembles in browns and heather mixtures were among the smartest outfits.

Hats took a distinct step toward the novel. Their variety of shape and their brilliant colors, ranging from scarlet to a greenish yellow called abanthe, immediately caught the eye. Modish skullcaps, showing nary a wisp of hair and making faces appear a trifle harsh, were popular.

Easter Storm in Missouri Damaging

ST. LOUIS, April 1. (AP)—Twenty-two injured, three missing, and thirty to forty farm buildings wrecked or damaged was the known toll today of an Easter storm that cut a swath through Southeast Missouri last night. Searching parties, under direction of the Poplar Bluff Red Cross chapter, today attempted to make their way over highways strewn with trees and other debris to make a further survey.

Growth of Church of Christ Has Been Rapid in Last Year—First Big Revival Is Announced by Minister

By C. C. MERRITT
Minister, Church of Christ
The church is neither a social nor a religious institution. It is a church for a church. All that is necessary for it to lower the chief purpose for which Christ established it and lift up a by-product of the church into the place of the primary. Keeping the right spirit and purpose of the church alive is more important than thorough organization.

"The operation of the church of the kingdom of heaven" is the chief purpose of the church. It is the noblest of achievements. It is to have the civilized hands and hearts where the Bible is freely distributed and freely used. That we are living in the nation where we can read the Bible for ourselves and where we can worship God after the dictates of our own hearts is because the church of Christ has not lived and labored in vain here.

But these are only by-products. The great accomplishment of the church is quite entirely another thing. The great work of the church is to loose the souls of men and women from the power of Satan, and to bind up the broken spirits and bring them to God. The church is to take up the work the Lord left unfinished. To seek and save the lost and lead men and women into a close walk with God in all holy living, is the work of the church of Christ in the world.

On every plot of ground where the church has erected a house of worship there should be a cemetery in the back yard. There each should bury the faults, weaknesses, and failings of all other members. Inside the chapel they should worship as the angels of heaven. Christ is given a free hand and the peace of God rules the hearts. The "joy of Thy salvation is restored" and sinners are the more turned unto the Lord.

Just a short while ago the Church of Christ now meeting on the corner of Francis and Warren had its beginning. A dozen members began the work in a private home. When there were only about thirty members they erected the present church building. This house was finished and "paid in full" without delay. Nine months ago the church secured their present minister, C. C. Merritt, to labor with them. He is their first minister to give his full time and attention to the work. The increase in membership and in the attendance to the church services has gone well above the one hundred per cent mark. The church has raised out of obscurity into a prominent

Children Frolic on White House Lawn

WASHINGTON, April 1. (AP)—The White House grounds were thrown open today to a crowd of laughing youngsters for the annual Easter Monday egg rolling.

Although rain threatened, several hundred children gathered within an hour and scrambled about the lawn. As an unusual feature of the event, Mrs. Hoover had two May poles to present to the youngsters in person.

Only children and adults with children were admitted to the grounds in the morning, but, as usual, a welcome was arranged for every one in the afternoon, with the marine band giving a concert.

RAILROAD COMMISSION TO REVIEW T. P. TROUBLE

LONGVIEW, April 1. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission will hold a meeting here Wednesday in connection with the removal of a division point of the Texas and Pacific railway from Longview to Mineola.

Removal was a reason for the strike vote having been taken recently by the brotherhoods of the T. & P. The men sought reimbursement from the road for homes in which they had invested.

The world we live in
TODAY the world is literally at our doors. A spin of a dial, and we listen to the President in Washington, or a football game in San Francisco. From our talking machines the greatest of operatic stars sing to us, the foremost dance orchestras play lively syncopation of our choosing. Our automobiles stand ready to whisk us over smooth boulevards to new scenes. Monday is no longer blue; the family washing is done by electricity; so too is the cooking, and the preserving of food, and the sweeping of floors.

Yes, the world we live in has changed. . . . changed marvelously for the better.

Have you ever stopped to consider the part advertising has played in this change? Glance over the advertisements in this newspaper. How many of the products mentioned are old friends of yours, familiar because you already own them or intend to get them soon! And the articles in your own home. Every one of them, probably, is advertised, either here or elsewhere. The chances are you first learned of them through the advertisements.

Advertising is important to you because it keeps you informed of the changes in the world. It tells you of new products, of improved designs and workmanship and materials. It helps you to spend your money wisely and well. It points you to the better things of life.

Hurlers Provide Cheer for Their Managers Sunday

BEAUMONT, April 1. (P)—Cub pitchers seem to have snapped out of their spring lethargy. Blake and Bush shut out the Kansas City Blues, 3 to 0, Saturday and two rookie hurlers, Lautenbacher and Horne, duplicated the feat yesterday, the Cubs winning 4 to 0. The Detroit Tigers were here for a series with the Cubs today.

Ted Lyons, ace of American league hurlers in 1927, and Hal McKain, rookie hurler, have provided some sunshine for Manager "Lena" Blackburne, who has his worries in whipping a winning White Sox team together. Lyons and McKain added to their brilliant spring hurling records yesterday by holding the clouting Giants to two hits in six innings. Thomas and Adkins relieved them and were bumped for nine runs, seven of them in the ninth inning, and the Giants won, 9 to 2.

Joe Roberts may have a complete roster able to get into action soon if they keep on recovering from injuries. Jim Elliott was in uniform at West Palm Beach, Fla., yesterday for the first time since he pulled a knee tendon 10 days ago and Capt. Glenn Wright is nearly ready to go back to work.

Miller Huggins, mastermind of the Yankees, has decided to make another change in his infield. Lyn Lary, expensive California recruit who lost to Durocher in the contest for the shortstop job, will get a chance at Mark Koenig's third base post.

Manager John McGraw has called for a new deal in his two teams of Giants who are barnstorming their way to New York. Eddie Roush, Chick Pullis, and Curly Ogden join the first squad, while Veltman goes to the second team.

Jimmy Dykes, man of all work with the Philadelphia Athletics, is likely to see service in four infield positions this year. Mack's infield makeup is not decided upon, but his order that Dykes be tried in all positions indicates his man of all work will be moved about this year to bolster up the weakest point.

Two more games in Florida and the Phillies will hit the home trail, and in almost perfect condition, to open the season Saturday in Philadelphia's city series with the Athletics. Ray Bengie, righthanded pitcher, who has a sore arm, is the only casualty. He is expected to be back to normal soon.

Although the St. Louis Cardinals ended their major league spring training exhibition season in the South by dumping the Washington Senators yesterday, the American league entry had clinched a five-game series by copying the third game Saturday. The Senators were the only junior circuit representative to best the St. Louisans in rival league combat.

Tulsa Hitting Is Rotten—Houston to Battle Pirates

DALLAS, April 1. (P)—Dissatisfaction with the failure of his hitters against the good pitching turned in by Tulsa Oilers' hurlers in the three-game series at Wichita Falls with the Spudgers has been expressed by Manager Jim Galloway, and orders have been issued to pitchers to "bear down." Starting today, Manager Galloway intends to give his whole time for a few days in an effort to improve the work of his hitters.

Houston faced a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates today after an overwhelming, 13 to 5, defeat by Detroit yesterday which celebrated "Helenie Schuble" day. Schuble played with Houston last year, and was presented a watch by President Fred Ankenman of Houston.

An exhibition game with the New York Giants made up today's training period of the Shreveport Sports. The Sports yesterday defeated Little Rock of the Southern Association, 6 to 1, making a sweep of the series. Of the 10 exhibition games Shreveport has played, they have been victorious in eight.

A little wozzy from the 23-9 pating Pittsburgh handed them yesterday the San Antonio Bears were jolted alive today by Business Manager Tom Conner's announcement that Pitcher Ear' Cash had been released for breaking training rules and another pitcher, whose name was not disclosed, was fined $100 for the same reason. Further Conner said he probably would leave for the east tonight in search of an infielder and a pitcher.

The Fort Worth Panthers play Texas Christian university today. The Cats closed the fourth week yesterday by handing Dallas a 9 to 6 lacing.

Cooler weather greeted the Dallas Steers today when they resumed their spring training on their home lot. Country Davis, first sacker, whose foot was on the blink, seems to have recovered. Manager Stock said a few days of ideal training like today's would get the Herd hustling so fast they couldn't slow down.

The Waco Cubs dropped their third straight game to the New York Giant yankigans yesterday, 7 to 4. It was Andy Cohan day at Waco, and the former Waco star, is now with the Giants, was honored in several ways.

CONNIE MACK IN WHOSE BREAST THE PENNANT HOPE SPRINGS
...ETERNAL...

With the start of another American League pennant race only a short distance away, Connie Mack visions the realization of his greatest ambition—the winning of another pennant.

Since the collapse of the Athletics in the 1914 world series the lean leader of the Athletics has experienced many slim baseball years. For a long time the A's were the doormat of the junior major organization, but Mack kept patiently to his work of rebuilding.

Of late years, Connie's efforts have been rewarded with a great baseball machine. But it has been his hard luck to be in the same league with the New York Yankees, an even greater team.

The dope for this year has the Yankees a bit weaker. Mack is said to have the greatest pitching staff in the league, so maybe, after all his disappointments, the silver lining will show through for Connie Mack.

Cross Country Race Well Begun

by Pyle's Protoges

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 1. (P)—The second edition of Charles C. Pyle's cross country race and pain parade is off to a good and apparently profitable start.

With a crowd that dwarfed the best they could collect last year gathered to see them start and many thousands more lining the course of the first day's run, 78 runners made their first day's jaunt of 21 miles. Today they continue with a longer run to Trenton, the last stop in New Jersey, thence westward on their 80-day, 3,500-mile journey due to wind up in Los Angeles June 18.

Ed Gardener Seattle negro who finished eighth last year, turned in the best performance of the day, leading the pack home in one hour, 59 minutes, 30 seconds. Another veteran, Sam Richman of New York, came in 15 seconds behind. The Cools brothers of Belgium, Karl and Juul, took the next two places

WELL, OF ALL THINGS!

When Walter Johnson gathered his Washington boys around him in Tampa, Fla., he told them there were to be no club training rules. He told them they could make their own rules but that they would have to be guided by the realization that they would have to be in condition to play their best every day or whenever they were called upon.

But the club had been in camp only a few days when Johnson was forced to assume the role of a disciplinarian. And guess who was the first man on the club who had to listen to one of Walter's mild sermons?

No one but Mr. Al Schacht, the distinguished coach of the club and one of the celebrated clowns of the league.

SATANIC, THOSE SCRIBES

Some newspapermen, friends of Al's, made Tampa on their tour of the southern training camps and they invited Al to dinner with them. Along with them was Jim Downing, the popular Tampa boxing promoter.

It was after 9 o'clock when the newspapermen finished their stories and it was later when they arrived at a famous eating place in the Latin quarter. Downing, a great Tampa booster, insisted upon showing the party the sights and they finally wound up in a night club. Schacht was recognized and he was forced to do some entertaining.

Time slipped by and it was too early in the morning to mention when Schacht was dropped at the hotel where the ball club stopped. He mounted the steps bravely with pep in his step and a whistle on his lips. He strutted over to the desk, got his key, greeted the sleepy night staff and went to bed.

And in the morning he was told that Mr. Johnson would have a few words with him.

JUST A FEW WORDS FROM WALT

"Al, I am surprised at you," Mr. Johnson said in his nice mild way. "You are the first one to break the training rules."
"But there ain't any rules, are there, Walt?" Al asked.
"You broke your own rules, Al," Johnson said.

"I just came in a little late, that's all, Walt," Schacht said.
"It was a little too late for this early time of the season," Johnson said. "Supposing some of those young fel-

Jonnard Finally Lands With Cubs

CHICAGO, April 1. (P)—Claude Jonnard, righthand pitcher and storm center between Commissioner K. M. Landis and Owner Phil Ball of the St. Louis Browns, has landed with the Cubs.

Announcement of the acquisition to the Cubs' pitching staff was made last night.

Jonnard, a pitcher who has been very successful in the AA class, but who has never been able to hit his stride in the majors, was declared a free agent by Landis recently. Ball protested strenuously.

Last season Jonnard toiled with Milwaukee in the American association. Several seasons ago, he tried out with the New York Giants, but was sent back to the minors.

Hoppe Will Meet St. Louis Artist

NEW YORK, April 1. (P)—Stars of the billiard world will clash here in two big matches this week. Willie Hoppe, a leader in every form of billiards, starts tonight in a 600-point three-cushion match against Allan Hall of St. Louis.

It is Hoppe's first appearance here since he defeated Johnny Layton, the world's champion, in January. Since then Hall has scored two victories over Layton. Welker Cochran, of Hollywood and New York, former 18.2 ball-line champion meets one of his most dangerous rivals, Felix Grange of France in a 12-block test.

Threat Divulged Oil Man's Death

TULSA, Okla., April 1. (AP)—Inquiry into the death of William S. McCray, millionaire oil operator, started by his estranged wife Mrs. Jeanette McCray, today led county authorities to conclude he was fatally injured by a man who had threatened him, by telephone.

Abdominal injuries caused his death Saturday, authorities said. The assault occurred on the night of March 24 in McCray's hotel room. Shortly after he had received a telephone call from a woman a man called him and said: "I'm coming up there and get you for that. I'm going to beat you up."

McCray reported the conversation to a friend who divulged it to police. The oil operator summoned a physician that night, who operated him to a hospital where two removals were performed. McCray told his nurse he did not know his assailant.

"DON'T feel too badly," Jack urged tenderly, his hand closing over hers lightly. "McMann would have got on her trail within a few hours anyhow. Since there must be any number of people who know of her and Borden's affair... But what did McMann get out of the poor thing, with his damnable third degree methods?"

Hidalgo Election May Result in Some Indictments

WASHINGTON, April 1. (AP)—The House special campaign expenditures committee, in a report made public today, recommended that the department of justice make a searching investigation of the election in Hidalgo county, Texas, last November, which it said was "tainted with wholesale fraud in various forms."
The report said it was the opinion of the committee that the throwing out of returns from Weslaco was "utterly without justifiable grounds" and the "voting of thousands of Mexican citizens or naturalized Mexicans for whom the Baker machine paid poll taxes were overwhelmingly established by the evidence."

Highway Finance Problem Will Be One of Most Perplexing When Special Session of Texas Legislature Meets

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—Governor Moody has decided on April 22 as the date to convene the special session of the legislature, he announced today. While the session's chief business is expected to be passage of appropriation bills for support of the government during the next biennium, other matters, including penitentiary concentration, public utilities regulation and gasoline tax and automobile registration bills will be considered.

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—When the legislature meets the latter part of this month principally to enact the appropriation bills in order to support the government for the new biennium beginning September 1, it will find that much of its time will be occupied in an effort to finance the highway building program.
It will be obliged to fix the license fees owners of automobiles shall pay and levy an occupation tax on gasoline. The two propositions are certain to stir up a controversy.
A called session of the legislature can not be more than 30 days' duration. At the expiration of that time it automatically terminates. In the event the session convening this month does not dispose of the registration fees and gasoline tax measures, the governor will be forced to call an extraordinary session.

There is a divergence of opinion in the legislature over the size of the license fees as well as the gasoline tax. The fact that the house and senate were able to agree in the closing days of the regular session on the fifth per cent cut in the regulation fees, does not mean anything, in the opinion of observers. It is well known the bill perished because the house did not have a quorum and opponents of the bill refused to permit concurrence in minor amendments placed on the measure by the senate. Under the rules the house could not concur in the absence of a quorum without unanimous consent of those present. A band of highway boosters, holding out for a reduction of not more than 30 per cent, refused to let the bill pass.

The administration is opposed to the 50 per cent cut and every effort will be made to avert it. The senate wavered when the bill was first presented over there and was inclined to reduce the cut to 20 per cent, but the highway bond issue proposal had not been settled in the house, and some of its warm supporters in that end of the capitol threatened to vote against it unless the senate enacted the 50 per cent reduction bill. Those opposed to the bill claim it will greatly hamper the highway commission's road building plans.

The gasoline tax is 2 cents per gallon. The special session is reasonably certain to make it 3 cents, maybe four. Two years ago the tax was set at 3 cents for the first year of the biennium and 2 cents thereafter until changed by the legislature.
There will be considerable opposition to a high gasoline tax, with some of the legislators insisting on 4 cents, and a few favoring 5 cents. The Highway department hopes the tax will not be lower than four cents.

Although it is claimed the consumer pays the tax indirectly, a likely lobby is expected to make itself felt in opposition to a high gasoline tax. It will be resisted by other powerful influences such as automobile organizations, road clubs, and chambers of commerce, all of which are clamoring for a larger revenue for highway building.

Texas Oil Notes

DALLAS, April 1. (AP)—With the finding of oil in a well drilled by the Crosscut Oil corporation on the J. W. Newton land, Robert Mitchell survey, near Crosscut, a half mile extension of the Eubanks pool appeared imminent. Oil in the hole was encountered around 1,150 feet, and drillers believe the well will be good for 100 barrels daily when completed.

Good signs of oil in the Simpson well No. 1 Owens, northwest of Denison, is reported. Gas stand in the test was found at 922 feet, and drillers expect to pick up oil sand a few feet deeper.

T. D. Hobart left this morning on a business visit to the J. A. Raneh south of Clarendon.

Darling Smith, Austin, president of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, and Rush M. Caldwell, Dallas, president of the Texas State Teachers' association, will be the principal speakers of Wednesday evening. Following the formal opening of the convention, Thursday morning, Mrs. H. B. Grace, Fort Worth; Jesse T. Nicholas, Austin; Prof. S. H. Condon, Canyon; Mrs. Geraldine Green, Canyon; Mrs. J. I. Kendrick, Amarillo, and Dr. J. M. Gordon, Lubbock, will present the main portions of the day's program. Friday's program will include lectures by Mrs. Emanuel Toomim, Fort Worth; Mrs. Gervis Taylor, Amarillo; Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, Austin, and H. T. Burton, Clarendon.

Most Plans Ready
Pre-convention work has been completed except for final details. A gift of $50 from the Chamber of Commerce toward expenses placed the fund well above the estimated need of $500. The check was presented Saturday, after the finance committee had raised $485 through several well-managed projects. Mrs. R. C. Campbell, chairman of the finance committee, in expressing her appreciation and that of other members of her group and the Parent-Teacher associations, said: "We are very, very happy about this donation. It not only completes our fund, but such splendid co-operation assures us of a successful convention." She praised also the teachers of the schools, members of the various organizations and individuals outside the P-T. A. membership, and the management of the Rex theatre for the generous co-operation which made financial enterprises of the last several weeks successful and profitable.

Local Talent Furnished
Entertainment numbers by local talent will supplement the program of addresses, business and sectional meetings, and instruction classes. These will include short orchestra and band concerts at 7:45 each evening, preceding the main program; vocal and instrumental solo, choral selections, men's quartets, women's quartets, readings, and numbers by the high school quartets. The local portion of the program was arranged by Mrs. A. H. Doucette and her committee. Cleverly planned recreational periods under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Sanders, Amarillo, will further enliven the sessions.
Social courtesies to be extended by the five local associations will include a tea at the home of Mrs. C. P. Buckler, on Wednesday afternoon, and three luncheons to be given in the basement dining room of the Methodist church. The tea will honor all delegates and visitors. Members of the Pampa associations and all mothers of school children are invited. The hours are from 4 to 6 o'clock. The three luncheons also are open to all P-T. A. members or patrons of the school. All local persons, including delegates from the five associations, will pay a small plate fee and will make reservations with the committees two days in advance. The first luncheon will honor the district board and state officers; the second will honor juniors and seniors of the correspondence courses, and the third, life members of the P-T. A. Mrs. W. A. Bratton, assisted by representatives from each of the associations of the city, is in charge of arrangements for these social affairs.
A drive to the oil fields will be one of the high points of interest to many visitors. The Board of City Development has graciously offered to take charge of this courtesy, furnishing cars and drivers.
All delegates and visitors will be guests in homes of the city during the meeting. Mrs. Joe Smith, chairman of the housing committee, says she and her fellow workers have met with gratifying co-operation. Homes for 100 delegates have been secured. The committee is confident that other homes will be opened today and tomorrow, in numbers sufficient to care for 50 or 60 more guests. They will welcome offers. Transportation is under arrangement of Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar and a committee. Other committees will, of necessity, do most of their work during the convention itself.
