MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 15. (AP)—National Guard Lieut. Kelson, in charge of a rescue detachment, reported to Gov. Graves today that the tide has turned and that the water is beginning to fall in the vicinity of Elba, Ala., where 4,000 residents have been marooned since yesterday.

MOBILE, Ala., March 15. (AP)—The Mobile Register was advised by telephone today that seaplanes from the Pensacola naval air station were flying over Brewton and Flomaton, Ala. dropping bread to marooned inhabitants of the flooded towns.

MANY RIVERS RISE
MEMPHIS, March 15. (AP)—Increasing rises in the upper Mississippi, the Ohio, Cumberland and Tennessee rivers meteorologist F. W. Brist said today, will cause the main river to reach 39.50 to 40 feet on the Memphis gauge by next Friday. Flood stage here is 35 feet.

Reassurances of U. S. Army engineers that the levee system is in good shape throughout the central valley and able to take care of 45 feet of water found protected areas unalarmed over the situation. Levee boards however have instituted 24 hour patrols on all dykes

(By the Associated Press.)
At least five towns in Southern Alabama were under water today with the fate of the residents in doubt as the numerous creeks and rivers which traverse that section of the state continued to rise.

Regular channels of communication were cut off and reports of conditions were received mainly from refugees and from outposts of the national guard, which was in charge of rescue work. No check of the number of dead or injured was possible.

Elba Under Water
At Elba, Ala., where 4,000 persons were marooned by high water, an observer who communicated with the national guard base from a tree a mile away reported that only the tops of taller buildings could be seen above the water. He could hear the screams of the marooned citizens.

Brewton, Ala., was under water and communication was cut off when the telephone exchange on the second floor of a building was flooded. Other towns flooded included Flomaton, Castleberry and Big Creek.

Thirty-five persons were rescued at Big Creek and 37 were taken to safety from the vicinity of Elba by national guardsmen.

While Alabama was hardest hit, many other sections of the country were suffering from floods. Communities in Nebraska, Iowa, and Illinois felt the effects of spring freshets, but unless rains set in no trouble was expected.

Mississippi Rising
The Mississippi was rising rapidly. At Memphis, the river was more than two feet above flood level. It was indicated that the crest of the swollen waters would be reached there by the middle of next week.

If you're looking for beauties, try the sunny south! Here is a quartet of Dixie co-eds who have been honored by southern colleges. The large picture is that of Betty Reid of Rochelle, Ga., a real "Georgia peach", who has been chosen by the student body as the most beautiful girl at Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga. Upper right is Mary Winter, of Leland, Miss., named as the "most modern girl" at Agnes Scott; lower left, Belle Brockenbrough, elected May Queen by students at Sweet Briar College, Lynchburg, Va.; lower right, Lyla Brown, of Burlington, N. ATTEMPTS TO BREAK SAFES AT MARLAND STATION AND CITY STEAM LAUNDRY FUTILE

A man arrested this afternoon in a South Pampa rooming house is being held as a suspect in the attempted robbery of two business houses last night. Officers said there were strong evidences of his being implicated.

City and county officers are busily engaged today in attempts to make the acquaintance of a newcomer who, it was proved last night, is a yeggman.

Knob-knocking of safes at the Marland service station and the City Steam laundry was reported early today when these business houses were opened. The intruder was unable to open the safes and no loot was obtained in either instance.

The Marland station on West Foster avenue was entered through a back window, which was jimmied. The burglar stepped upon a freshly painted oil pump and left plain tracks all over the floor.

Similar footprints were found at the laundry, which was entered through a rear window as in the first instance. Tracks indicated that the prowler left by a front door.

Jeff D. Guthrie, fingerprint expert of the city police department, took several photographs of fingerprints at the Marland station. This was impossible at the laundry because two shirts had been used to obliterate all marks.

Boise City, Okla. Wants New Road

F. P. Reid, president of the Oilfield Highway association No. 41, received a letter from the Boise City, Okla., Chamber of Commerce asking that highway 41 be routed into Colorado through that young and thriving city. Highway 41 will connect Oklahoma City, with Colorado, passing through Pampa, Borger and other points west. Mr. Reid has asked the Boise City C. of C. to present maps and data before the association at its April meeting in Sayre, Okla.

COUNTY AGENT WORK MAY BE STARTED HERE

Demonstration Agent

Commission

DUNCAN ASKED TO GET FACTS

Activity Could Not Be Begun Before
Next Fall

The first move toward ultimate securing of a county farm agent and county home demonstration agent for Gray County has been taken by the commissioners.

County Judge Ivy E. Duncan has been authorized to open negotiations with the extension service of A. & M. college and to obtain all details as to the appropriation necessary.

Should it be found possible to make an immediate appropriation, the work probably could not be inaugurated before next fall. The state will assist in financing the work when it is started.

County commissioners also have begun efforts to straighten out all the financial affairs of the county and road districts, to outline possibilities for future expenditures, and to make the best arrangements for handling warrants and bonds. The Brown-Crummer company, which bought the $400,000 road bond issue in this district, has been asked to place the money in a Texas bank.

The money has been on deposit in a Kansas bank, and neither the funds nor securities to safeguard them have been subject to Texas laws and jurisdiction. The money will be transferred to the local depository only upon estimates for work done or ready to be done, in the paving operations.

Santa Fe Wants to Build Branch Line Into Field

Rumors that the Santa Fe is planning a spur line from a point on the new C. & O. W. railroad about 9 miles east of here to a point about three miles east and a little north of LeFors have been substantiated, and it is expected that application will be made soon for a permit to start construction.

The branch line would terminate near the new county bridge over the North Fork, and would serve carbon black plants, gasoline plants, and general oil activity either already underway or to be started as the proven territory is developed. The Texas company has leases on more than 7,000 acres in that general area.

Shifflett Brings 3 Planes to City

Pampa's landing field looked like a real airport yesterday after Ray Shifflett, accompanied by three of his pilots landed with three American Eagle biplanes Wednesday night. Also on the field was Gus Irvin's home-made monoplane which added to the color of the occasion.

Accompanying the noted flier were his 21 year old pilot, Boyd Kennedy, Paul Powell, transport flier, and Lamont Gregson, commercial pilot, all of Mangum, Okla., where the Shifflett Airport company is located.

Mr. Shifflett has a class of more than fifteen students here. Several of his pupils are far enough advanced to do solo flying and stunting.

MRS. BRATTON SINGS AT LIONS LUNCHEON THURSDAY

Mrs. W. A. Bratton delighted members of the Lions club with vocal solos at the luncheon yesterday. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. T. W. Brabham.

It was reported to the club that members appointed to help in the Welfare association drive had done good work.

Visitors of the day included Hugh P. Johnson and James Ensign, and J. Ray Smith of Amarillo.

Calles' Troops Enter Durango Without Battle

MEXICO CITY, March 15. (AP)—Colonel Ricardo Tapia, chief of the presidential staff, announced at noon today that cavalry constituting the advance guard of General Calles' army, occupied Durango this morning.

The forces of the Rebel Genstat to have fled from Durango eral Juan Getalberto Amaya were on the approach of the federals, presumably going north.

General Calles himself was expected to reach the city by mid-day to establish headquarters in preparations for a march on Torreón the rebel stronghold, upon which five federal columns are now converging.

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., March 15. (AP)—Northern Sonora headquarters of the rebel army today announced receipt of a telegram from General Ramon F. Iturbe, commanding the rebel advance against Mazatlan, important west coast seaport, stating that troops of the division of the late General Carrasco had revolted to the south of Mazatlan, and were cooperating with him.

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—Large amounts of war materials, including tear gas, arms and ammunition have been ordered from American manufacturers by the Mexican government.

The orders have been placed through the Mexican embassy here, which has requested the state department to issue permits to enable shipment of the material across the border. Some additional war munitions are to be provided by the American government from its surplus stocks, but all of the tear gas is to be obtained from private concerns.

Boys Heed War's Call

AMARILLO, March 15. (AP)—Eldon and Carl Doyle, 9 and 13, tired of life in Dalhart, Texas, left yesterday for Mexico to take part in the revolution.

Amarillo police halted their journey today, however, when advised by the boys' parents that the revolution would have to get along without them. The boys were sent home.

TORREON, Coahuila, Mexico, March 15. (AP)—Revolutionary forces have no intention of evacuating Torreón, headquarters of the rebellious movement and industrial center of the state of Coahuila. General Jose Gonzalo Escobar declared in a statement to the Associated Press today.

General Escobar, leader of the revolt, explained recent moves of his troops in this vicinity as formal maneuvers without particular significance to the general military situation.

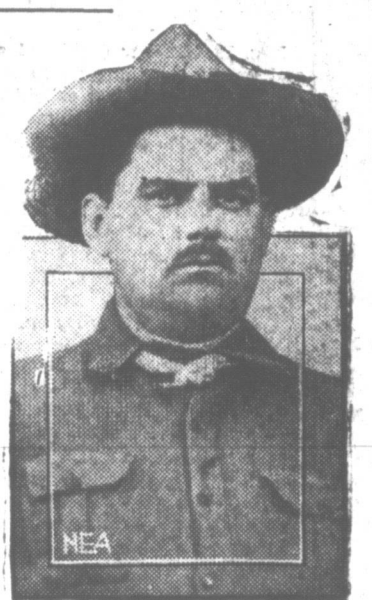

PORT WORTH, March 15. (AP)—Four speedy Waco sport model planes left here today for Brownsville where they will be delivered to a quartet of Mexican pilots for use by the federals in the Mexican revolution.

Garland Sells Planes
Pilot from the Garland Aircraft corporation of Tulsa were at the controls. The ships are the first of an order of 40 placed with Garland by Mexican interests. Robert J. Garland, Tulsa oil and aircraft operator, was a passenger in one of the planes.

HIPOLITO, Coahuila, Mexico, March 15. (AP)—Two rebel planes circled over the encampment of General J. A. Almazan today but made no attempt to drop bombs. Almazan has 3,000 cavalrymen.

As Almazan and his staff watched the planes with field glasses, the general received a message from his train, several miles behind him in the desert, that the ships were mail planes seized by rebels when they evacuated Saltillo yesterday.

The message said the pilots were government mail pilots, and three rebel officers were in the cabins of each plane with drawn pistols covering the pilots.

Above is a picture of General J. Gonzalo Escobar, commander of the rebel forces at Torreón. He is expected to lead the revolutionists against the advancing federal troops of ex-President Calles in a desperate effort to save the revolt.

SOONER SCRIBE TO BE SPEAKER AT PRESS MEET

John H. Casey, head of the department of rural journalism at the University of Oklahoma, will be one of the main speakers at the Panhandle Press association convention which will convene here April 19 and 20.

Mr. Casey is well known to several local newspaper men who were students of his at the University of Missouri several years ago. He comes of a newspaper family and has been in the work since childhood. His particular hobby is agricultural journalism, and he is expected to speak on this subject while here.

And of course "State Press," famous humorist and philosopher of the Dallas News, will be present. He is Joe J. Taylor, popular column conductor and convention favorite.

Plans are being formulated for the entertainment of what is regarded as one of the most desirable conventions held in this section. Trips over the oil fields, several luncheons and a banquet, a tea for women delegates, and a golf tournament for the golf addicts will be included. Probably not less than 150 members of the publishing fraternity will register during the two-day meeting.

MANY ROYALTY OWNERS WILL ATTEND SESSION

SAN ANGELO, March 15. (AP)—More than 4,000,000 acres of royalty lands will be represented here tomorrow in the meeting of the Mid-Continent Royalty Owners association, according to M. D. Bryant, a committeeman.

E. G. Bradford, president of the Texas division of the association will talk on royalty cooperation between owners and ranchmen and will outline the purposes of the organization. V. E. Coppingham is chairman of the program.

Miss Roy Riley's condition is much improved today, Pampa hospital officials said. She has been ill several weeks but entered the hospital only last Sunday. Miss Riley is an art teacher in the grade junior high school.

Ed Maddox of the Hay Hook ranch, who suffered a broken leg a few days ago, is recuperating at the Pampa hospital.

Mrs. J. N. Duncan is recovering rapidly, after undergoing a major operation two weeks ago. She is at the Pampa hospital.

BIG GUSHER IS DOING NEARLY 4,000 BARRELS

Operators' Jackson Is Sensation At Top of First Pay

BLOWS SELF IN
AT 2,845 FEET

Texas Well Nearby Is Best Producer in Field

The Bowers pool of the South Pampa field came into the limelight again last night with the bringing in of a 4,000-barrel well from first pay. The well blew itself in at 9 p. m., and at noon today was still flowing wild while pipeline connections were being made.

The new gusher is the Operators' Oil company's No. 3 Jackson, in the northwest corner of the north half of the northeast quarter of section 88, block B-2, Bowers-McGee pool. Pay was topped last night at 2,845 feet and drilling ceased. But the well blew itself in before storage or pipeline connections could be made.

Pay is being flowed by 26,000,000 feet of gas encountered Wednesday at 2,830 feet. A flow of 90,000,000 feet was picked up, but yesterday had died down to the present flow.

Near Best Producer
This important test is a southeast offset to the Texas company's famous well in section 89, block B-2. The Texas well was brought in more than a year ago and has made 1,223,000 barrels of oil. The test is still flowing 2,380 barrels a day.

Pay in the Operators test is coming from 40 feet above where the big pay was encountered in the Texas company's test. The Operators' Oil company has a lease of 80 acres in the Bowers-McGee pool. There are three producing wells on the lease, making about 800 barrels a day.

T. W. Doswell is general superintendent and Ray M. Dunnett is general manager of the company. Both are residents of Pampa. Robert Garland, president, is in Brownwood where he is delivering Garland airplanes to the Mexican government. He plans to take a plane at Brownwood and land here late this afternoon.

The big well was not placed under control until 1 o'clock this morning. After being turned into storage it made more than 1,600 barrels of high gravity oil up to noon. A test for gravity had not been made at noon, but the oil was of the same "sweet" crude that other wells in the field are producing.

The Pampa Refining company made pipeline connections this morning and is taking the oil. The flow is steadily increasing and according to officials the Humble line may have to be tapped to take storage.

School Taxes of This District Are Largely Paid Up

A total of about $128,000 in school taxes has been received by the Pampa Independent district, according to Joe Smith, business manager and tax collector for the system.

Not more than 7 per cent of the taxes remain to be paid. A levy of $1 for each $100 valuation is made. The assessed property valuation in the district is approximately $13,890,000.

The public schools are to receive a total of about $27,000 from the state, but apportionments have been delayed and about $17,000 is yet to be received by June 1. The district ranks very high in the state in proportion of taxable wealth per scholastic.

Miss Pear Marchant will go to her home today, after spending several weeks in the Pampa hospital, where she underwent a major operation.

Earl Vernon, who received serious injuries in an accident several days ago, is recovering at the Pampa hospital.

P-T. A. Hears a Student Program—Elected Delegates

The High School Parent-Teacher association met yesterday, when a program was given by freshman and sophomore students. Jacqueline Jones, a sophomore girl, talked on "My Favorite Subject and Why." The same topic was discussed by H. L. Ledrick, a freshman boy; Paul Camp, a sophomore, gave "A Kindly Criticism of Freshman Girls." "A Kindly Criticism of Sophomore Girls" was made by Virginia Hawkins, a freshman. Miss Mabel Gene Campbell was in charge of the program.

Following the student numbers, Miss Bernice Whiteley, a member of the high school faculty the last three years, talked on "These Students in School and What We Think of Them." The teachers' point of view was most interestingly presented by her.

In business session members of the Fathere had read an informative article explaining the purposes and the nature of the endowment, the members voted to give $5 toward the sum. Observance of "clean-up" day, March 25, as designated by the city management, was urged, and it was announced that the school children would assist in making the city more attractive for the district convention.

Music Pupils Enjoy Class Lessons and Club Meetings

Two music clubs have had interesting and instructive lesson programs this week. The Keyboard club, composed of the pupils of Mrs. Maryin Lewis, met Wednesday afternoon with Eloise Lane as hostess. Sixteen members were present. An enjoyable musical program was presented, after which Helen Meers was given a prize for playing her piece the most correctly. Florence Bar was awarded a prize for writing the best club song.

The lesson study was conducted by Mary Yoder. Three great composers and their outstanding contributions to music were discussed. These were Handel, who composed "The Messiah"; Hayden, father of the symphony, and Gluck, who strove to raise the standard of opera.

The following club members were present: Mrs. Lewis, teacher; Inez Barrett, Helen Meers, Lillian Keahey, Leah, Edith and Eloise Lane, Ruth Crump, Peggy Johnson, Leslie and Essie Cobb, Mary Yoder, Florence and Isabelle Bar, and Josephine Lewis. Pearl Wilson was a visitor.

The Never B Flat club had a lesson yesterday afternoon in scale-writing, rhythm dictation, and ear training. Mrs. Nina McSkimming, teacher of the class, outlined the history of the organ.

Those who attended the meeting were: Leona Ledmon, Lorence Keith, Ann Sweatman, Dorothy Dodd, Anne Clayton, and Glen Hassell.

William T. Douglas, western representative of the NEA newspaper feature service, was a visitor at The Daily News office this morning.

Shower-Party is Given Honoring Bride of Month

One of the week's delightful social events was a surprise party and bridal shower for Mrs. Belvin Coffman, given by the Ladies' Bible class of the Church of Christ. Mrs. Coffman was Miss Florella Bohanan before her marriage two weeks ago. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Bohanan of this city.

The party in her honor was given at the home of Mrs. G. W. Cox, 721 East Francis avenue. All details of the affair featured a pink and blue color scheme. The shower of attractive gifts was brought to the honoree on a small wagon, drawn by little Danny Hill and Betty Jo Frazier. Dainty refreshments were served at tea time.

Following is the list of those present: Mrs. Coffman, honored guest; Mrs. N. A. Bohanan, Mrs. Lucy Cash, Mrs. S. A. Beavers, Mrs. P. W. Wade, Mrs. J. E. Williams, Mrs. N. A. School Lunch Sales Profitable, Finance Committee Reports

The finance committee for the convention of the Eighth district Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, of which Mrs. R. C. Campbell is chairman, has reported that school lunch sales this week brought an additional $75 to the convention expense fund.

Members of the five associations maintained food counter at the school selling sandwiches, milk, and candy bars. Generous donations of sandwiches and money for supplies, from individuals outside the P-T. A. as well as from members, and the untiring work of the mothers and teachers who kept the booths made the income almost wholly profit, Mrs. Campbell said. Mrs. E. E. Finley, who was in charge of the Central campus counter this week, Mrs. Campbell, and others of the committee praised and expressed appreciation for the cooperation given them in this project.

Sales at the different schools were as follows: Baker $7; West Ward, $8; East Ward, $10; and Central high and Lamar, $50. The sum brings the total convention fund to $325, $138 of which was earned last week in school lunch sales. It is estimated that at least $500 will be needed for the convention, which will be one of the largest and most important meetings to be held in Pampa this year. It is expected that the returns on the benefit program to be given by the teachers this evening will be substantial, bringing the fund nearer the $500 mark.

Lawrence Hayter of Amarillo visited friends and transacted business here yesterday.

Dr. W. C. Mitchell is transacting business in Clinton, Okla., this week.

Baby Jennie Lou Aikens, a patient in the Pampa hospital, the last several days, will be taken home today. She has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia.

HENRY L. FARRELL

Higgins, the Theorist

Found in a rather eloquent mood, after our first talk to him at St. Petersburg, Fla., about his Yankee ball club, Miller Higgins expressed some interesting theories about baseball that might explain his extraordinary success with the New York club.

The Immediate Problem

"Considering beyond the immediate future, the law of averages is the problem of our club," Higgins said.

"We are bound to serve that law, but I do not think it is immediately upon us, but some day it is going to arrive and when that time comes the Yankees will have to wait for the last to turn. This sounds like pessimism and everyone says I'm a pessimist, but I could give you proof of my point if I had a couple of hours to spare.

"The immediate problem of the Yankees, as it confronts me this year, is one of disposition on the part of the players. I don't mean heart, and I don't mean bad acting. I haven't any bad actors on my ball club and I wouldn't discuss the question of heart.

"There are some players on other ball clubs in our league who are said to lack courage. I have heard my players talk about it, but I have never seen any display of cowardice in those players.

"There have been ball players on my club who were called gutless by other players, but I wouldn't say it. Before the Yankees got going, we were called yellow, but it has been my experience that courage alone will not win a championship. You have to have the ability first and above all before you can beat road teams.

Young Fellows Hustle

"I am not worried about the Babe," Higgins went on. "I am not worried about any of my ball players. I think the Babe ought to be good for four or five years more. He won't be as fast a man, of course. Nobody can beat the effects of age on legs. But the Babe will be a very good ball player on any club as long as he can walk. Any player who can hit at least 25 home runs a season is a very good player for any ball club.

"The point I was trying to make about the disposition of my players is this: You can't eat pie all your life without getting tired of it. If you worked for 10 years and made a pile of money you would quit scribbling with the pencil, wouldn't you?"

"Well, success and too much assurance may injure my ball club. After they have been winning so much they may get the idea that no one can beat them and that's where the young hustlers come in. As long as I can have a couple of young hustlers who are looking to a future on my club the problem will be reduced.

"I think it is going to be a tough pennant race. The team that wins the pennant may win less than 100 games. The Athletics are going strong and the Tigers have to be considered. Detroit has a very good ball club."

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

John Chapman, the czar of bike racing, told a scribe he was getting out of the racket. . . when his present contract with the Garden was up. . . and that is in eight more years. . . S. M. U. Students Suspended—Poker Games Are Hinted

DALLAS, March 15. (AP)—Friendly games of poker in a school dormitory are thought to be responsible for the suspension for one week of 28 Southern Methodist university students. Two prominent track men, looked to as point winners in the southern exposition track and field meet at Fort Worth tomorrow, are included in the list of men suspended, with several other prominent campus figures.

The disciplinary committee refused to make public the grounds for the suspension, but some of those suspended admitted they had been questioned about poker games in the dormitory.

Cats and Chicago White Sox Will Play Game Today

FORT WORTH, March 15. (AP)—Managers Jake Atz and Lena Blackburn of the Fort Worth Cats and Chicago White Sox, respectively, arrived here from their training camps in Mineral Wells and Dallas today ready for a game here today. Atz brought 22 men. Blackburn brought all of his squad except Red Faber, Jack Mealey and Johnny Mostil.

Manager Frank Snyder has announced the Houston Buffaloes have secured the services of Raymond Pepper, right handed outfielder of the Danville club. Pepper has been working out with the Cardinals this spring and has showed plenty of class. He played with the Laurel club last year and was noted for his hefty clouting. He hit for extra bases in the first three games he played this spring. If he lives up to expectations he will be used in the outfield in place of the veteran Roy Powell.

The San Antonio Bees baseball squad worked out in two sections today, most of them here, and a few of them at Laredo where they were left with Honus Mizel, ex-Bruder manager, recently signed as skipper of the Coleman West Texas league team. The Bees in San Antonio squeezed in a practice session between the two New York Giant workouts. Manager Alexander decided his Bruins could stand some batting practice and that his young pitchers needed lots of drilling after the New York bunched San Antonio 15 to 5 yesterday.

After an enforced idleness because of rain yesterday, Manager Jim Gallows today put his Wichita Falls Spuders through the usual two routine practice sessions. A bright sun greeted his charges this morning. Beginning tomorrow, the practice sessions will be interrupted with exhibition games, the stage for this part of the spring training have been reached. The Spuders first will meet the St. Paul club of the American association.

Delayed Offense Is Favorite Play of Basketeers

KANSAS CITY, March 15. (AP)—Basketball is much the same the nation over.

With slight variations, the type of game played by the 44 teams entered in the 1929 National A. A. U. tournament was the same whether the team hailed from the Florida Everglades, the Rocky Mountains, the midwestern prairies or the Pacific Coast. The one outstanding exception was the Kenosha-A five from Kenosha, Wis., whose "stalling" offense was unlike any other of the tournament.

The man for man defense was used by all teams part of the time and by most of them all the time. The zone defense, so popular a few years ago, is fading from the picture. Its impotence against a clever team was especially emphasized when the Kansas City Athletic club, tournament favorite tried it against Ke-Nash-A and was routed.

A delayed offense was the favorite attack, although the Cooks frequently resorted to a fast passing game which starts from back court. A man to man defense is employed by the champions.

GIRLS TOURNAMENT NARROWS

BRECKENRIDGE, March 15. (AP)—Eight teams remained in the running for the state A. A. U. girls' basketball championship as the third round of the tournament opened here today.

Those remaining in the tournament after yesterday's matches are Breckenridge, Class, Celente, Mings, Seago, Viller, Post, Roby, Frankell, and South-bead.

THREE MEN FREED

TEXARKANA, March 15. (AP)—Luther Nunnally, John Cates, and Wiley Norris were acquitted here today on charges of assaulting Allen Morton with intent to kill. The case went to the jury last night, but deliberations did not start until this morning.

Graphic Story of Alabama Flood Is Told by One of Elba Survivors

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 15. (AP)—Conditions in flood-stricken Elba were described in a telephone interview with the Birmingham Age-Herald by Miss Allie Hughes, Coffee county home demonstration agent.

"Water submerging the tops of automobiles flowed through the courthouse square," Miss Hughes said.

"Hundreds of families had sought refuge in the courthouse when the muddy waters first began to lick at their homes, and at 5 p. m., hundreds of other families were marooned on the roofs of their houses or had sought in the more substantially built business houses.

"We are used to floods in Elba, and when this one struck we paid little attention at first.

"The water started rising early Thursday morning and by 9:30 a. m., had risen to a height to cause school authorities to dismiss their pupils.

Connie Mack Will Use Few New Men in 1929 Drive—Breckenridge May Be Only Recruit to Get Opportunity

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 15. (AP)—Connie Mack, active and cheerful in spite of nearly half a century in baseball, will attempt to win an American league pennant for Philadelphia with practically the same players who failed by a narrow margin last year.

Manager Mack will rearrange his men to some extent but no new faces will appear in the regular line-up. Every indication, however, points to one new pitcher and if the young man about to be struck by major league lightning has a curve ball Athletic fans will see a great deal of him. This promising recruit, Bill Breckenridge, late of Dartmouth, may be the only player who will be introduced at Shibe park.

"Breck," as he is affectionally addressed by the other players, has not yet been called on to show specifications for a curve ball but there is little doubt that he has everything else a pitcher needs.

Assignment of the versatile Jimmy Foxx, of the extra X Foxxes, to first base will cause a revision of the infield plans. Max Bishop, would have been renominated at second base but he showed a disinclination to sign. Jimmy Dykes will play second with Joe Boley at short and Sammy Hale at third. If Bishop gets in at second,

Local Negro Wins From Rigdon in Eighth Round

Calvin Jones, local negro boxer, won a sensational fight from Elmer Rigdon of McLean at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night. The negro boy won on a technical knockout in the eighth round when Rigdon's seconds threw the towel in the ring. Rigdon claimed a broken rib.

Although outweighed at least 15 pounds, the negro had the lead after the third round. Speed and a one-two combination gave the McLean heavy trouble after the second round. In the fourth, Rigdon took a nine count. He took another in the seventh and was down at the bell. In the eighth Jones lifted Rigdon from the floor with an uppercut and at the count of six the towel went into the ring.

Jones is without a doubt the fastest boy seen in the local ring in many months. Rigdon showed that he was game. He took more punishment than one man ordinarily could stand.

Kid Buster won the semi-final from Roy Landrum of McLean in the opening round. A right uppercut ended the fight before the first minute had elapsed.

A special bout between Jerry Shelby of Pampa and Pete Reed of Arcadia, Fla., showed some clever boxing. The boy from Florida was too fast for the local boy. He tied him up readily and showed great bursts of speed. For a beginner, Shelby is good. Good preliminaries opened the card.

Counterfeit Ring Now Operating in Southwestern Area

TULSA, Okla., March 15. (AP)—Carl W. Blair, federal operative in charge of the Oklahoma district, said last night that Tulsa was headquarters for one of the most extensive rings of counterfeiters and "passers" uncovered in the United States in the past several years.

Blair's statement followed the arrest of Harley Dean and his wife Lola, of Tulsa; here, and of a man identified as C. W. Crabbe, in McAlester. Blair added that six other persons were being sought in and near Tulsa, for connection with the alleged "passing" of $75,000 in counterfeit $10 federal reserve notes.

Most of the money, it was said, had been passed in Omaha, Wichita, Kans., Fort Smith, and Little Rock, Ark., Nashville, Tenn., Fort Worth, Texas, and in various towns in Oklahoma.

Blair said tonight that according to a detailed confession made by Dean, "members of the ring" had contracted for $300,000 in counterfeit notes, from a plant "known to be operating in Mexico."

First Story Hour For Children to be Held Tomorrow

For every little girl and boy who loves fairy stories there is a treat in store, for tomorrow morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, Mrs. H. H. Hicks will tell fairy tales at the public library to all who wish to hear them.

And the story hour tomorrow is only the beginning of many treats. At the same hour each Saturday morning Mrs. Hicks will tell stories. Sometimes they will be about animals; sometimes about boys and girls of other countries; but most of the time, she says, they will be fairy stories.

Story-telling is an art with Mrs. Hicks. School children to whom she talked a week or so ago on health and care of teeth, found that even physiology may be made a most entertaining subject when it is taught in fairy tales.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

C. C. Merritt, Minister. DISSATISFACTION

When a man becomes dissatisfied with himself, that is the time of his crisis. He will not remain there very long. He will seek rest from his dissatisfaction, and it will either be by rising higher; he will give up his ideal or strive to attain it; he will fight or he will compromise; he will forget the things behind and stretch forward to that which is before, or else he will look back and console himself, and compare himself with those who have done worse, and find content in being as good as some other respectable man.

Either way—but one way he must take. The one is unto life, while the other ends in failure and death. Remember this, and God make you dissatisfied and enable you to gain the upper road.

The only reason we have to register another record-breaker in attendance last Sunday, again, is because the present membership has become dissatisfied with past attainments. They are showing that state of dissatisfaction by an active interest in better things. Always come greater and better things when greater and better things are truly desired and sought after.

So, we are looking for and expecting a continuous increase in our attendance and growth in membership. Five were added to the membership of the church last Sunday.

Subjects for next Sunday: "By-Standers and Stand-Bys" and "Re-kindling the Fire—Timothy."

Bible Study, 10; worship, 10:45; Young People's meeting, 6:30; evening worship, 7:30; mid-week meeting, Wednesday, 7:30; Ladies' Bible class, Thursday, 3.

Search Given Up For Lost Child

GORDON, Nebr., March 15. (P)—The snow swept sand hills hold the fate of little Melvin Reeves. The 60-hour search for the boy, last seen pursuing a hoop into a canyon on his father's ranch, was ended last night Mr. and Mrs. William Reeves, the child's parents, were near collapse as they called off the search.

Rebels and Federals Advance to Battle, With Durango Likely One of Hardest Knots in Calles Plan

By The Associated Press Battle lines between federals and revolutionists around the strategic city of Torreon grew closer today as powerful rival armies were reported advancing on one another in an effort to come to grips.

The wide encircling movement of General Calles, federal commander-in-chief, to close in on Torreon and cut off the rebel retreat northward, continued to develop steadily.

General Calles himself was within 20 miles of Durango. He hoped to capture it shortly and then to continue northward along the Mexican national railway to Torreon.

Durango, however, may be a hard nut to crack as it is strong strategically and is reported guarded by 4,000 rebels.

Four other federal armies were also advancing on Torreon, three from the east and one from the south.

The government has expressed fear that the insurgent army will not stand and fight, but will flee northward in an effort to escape.

Advices from Juarez, on the contrary, said the rebels were reported on the march south from Torreon to meet the federal forces outside the city.

At Naco, on the border, another battle was imminent between 1,200 federals and 1,000 insurgents. Ever since the return of Naco to the government fold it has been a thorn in the side of the rebels for whom it was an important point both for sending reinforcements southward and as an avenue of escape to the American border in case of reverses.

While the rebels have been inactive for the past few days on the west coast, General Manso was again reported en route to take command of the insurgent forces near Mazatlan.

Many Americans are stranded in Torreon, unable to obtain travelling funds because of the closing of banks. Others are arriving at Juarez having succeeded in leaving the beleaguered city.

Five high ranking rebel officers have been executed in Vera Cruz after court martial.

Brother of Colquitt Dies in Corsicana

CORSICANA, March 15. (P)—W. F. Colquitt, 66, brother of former Gov. O. B. Colquitt, died at his home here last night.

Mr. Colquitt for many years had resided in Corsicana, and published the old Corsicana Democrat from 1885 to 1905, and later was in the banking and real estate business. He was a native of Georgia.

Death was due to a heart attack. Beside the former governor, Mr. Colquitt is survived by John M. Colquitt, Dallas; Pierce Colquitt, Corsicana, publisher of the Democrat and Truth; David D. Colquitt, Dallas, brothers, and a sister, Mrs. Eula Colquitt Williams, Dallas.

Oil Showing Found South of Bowers

Eslick & McKinney's No. 1 Mrs. Hopkins, in the northeast corner of the east half of the northeast quarter of section 84, block B-2, south of the Bowers-McGee pool, encountered a small showing of oil Wednesday at 2,876 feet and drilled ahead. Pipe was set 2,880 feet and drilling will be resumed as soon as the cement dries, Mr. Eslick says.

The test is three miles south of proven territory in the Bowers-McGee pool. The test is being watched with interest by local oil men.

LAWYERS ORGANIZE TO HELP JONES' DEFENDANTS

NEW YORK, March 15. (P)—A group of lawyers has organized to aid Jones law defendants. Frederick R. Coudert, Jr., chairman, one of four former assistant United States attorneys on the committee explained its purpose as follows:

"It was felt that such a committee of lawyers might be helpful in aiding our juries to perform their invaluable functions in preserving civil liberties.

"Since the sale of a glass of beer has been raised to the dignity of a felony, carrying penalties similar to those provided in this state for assault and manslaughter, it was thought wise to form a committee to assist those who have done nothing condemned by civilized society and who might be subject to such severe penalties."

ATTORNEYS TRYING TO FREE ALLEGED MURDERER

AUSTIN, March 15. (P)—Attorneys representing W. H. Dumas, under a murder indictment in connection with the killing of two men in an alleged attempt to rob a Rankin bank last year are attempting to free him from jail before he goes to trial.

Judge George Calhoun was asked today to set a habeas corpus hearing for Dumas. He is undecided as to whether this court has the right to grant such a bond, inasmuch as the case was transferred back to Upton county on a sustained motion challenging jurisdiction of the Travis county district court.

INVITES ANY-ONE TO CALL UPON HER

COULDN'T EVEN RISE IN A CAR, BUT NOW SINCE TAKING ORGATONE, I'D LIKE TO TELL THE WHOLE WORLD WHAT IT DID FOR ME." SAYS AMARILLO WOMAN.

"I can't praise this new medicine Orgatone too highly for all it has done for me," said Mrs. J. G. Stroup, of 700 Mississippi, Amarillo, Texas.

"I suffered from stomach, kidney and gall stone trouble and no appetite, and was in a badly run down condition. My food would not digest properly and caused me much distress. For the past year I have not been able to eat even the simplest foods without suffering afterward. Gas would form on my stomach right after eating and give me a bloated, depressed feeling I could hardly breathe. I had restless, sleepless nights, and suffered with a severe intense pain in my side, and was extremely nervous. I had a bad case of constipation and was forced to take laxatives most all the time. I really kept going from bad to worse, and got in a terrible condition.

"I heard about how Orgatone had helped so many local people with troubles just such as mine and began taking it. I have just taken one bottle, and feel like a different woman. Every one that sees me says I am looking much better and are amazed over the results I have obtained. My appetite is fine and I eat just anything I want and it doesn't hurt me in the least. The gas has stopped forming on my stomach, and I don't have the bloating spells any more, and shortness of breath. My nerves are in good shape and I sleep soundly every night.

Before taking Orgatone, I could not stand a trip of any kind, in an automobile, but since using it, I have made a drive of two hundred miles, and after I got home, I went to bed, and got a good night's rest and in the morning felt refreshed and vigorous, much to my surprise, and I figure if anything can help me in the shape I was, why, the whole world should know about Orgatone. For I was sure going down hill fast. I just invite anyone to call upon me and talk to me, relative to the benefits I received from Orgatone. It is a wonderful medicine and I'm glad that credit should be given, where credit is due, to Orgatone."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Pampa, exclusively by the City Drug Store, 300 West Foster avenue, Johnson hotel building, under

A SERMON FOR THE WEEK

The Charmed Circle

By DR. J. H. MARGETT

(Pastor Grand Avenue Temple, Kansas City, Mo.)

Text: I. John 2:17—"He that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

The circle of God's will is a charmed circle. Inside the circle of God's will is all we need for happiness, success and security here and hereafter. There is not a single thing outside God's will we need or ought to have to make us happy, secure and successful. How that simplifies, beautifies, dignifies and glorifies life! When one's life is lived within the circle of God's will, it becomes a blessed sacrament.

"But," says one, "to confine one's self to the will of God so circumscribes one's life." Does it? Listen! "If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land." "All things work together for good to them that love God." "No good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly." "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever." The circle of God's will is as big as eternity and as infinite as God.

Outside God's will is danger and disaster. Inside His will are peace and safety.

The young prophet who insisted upon having his own way was slain by a single lion, for he was outside the will of God.

Daniel, who went God's way, doing His will, found himself in a den of lions, but not a single beast dared touch him, for he was inside the charmed circle of God's will.

It is impossible to live a happy and successful life outside the will of God. It is impossible to fail to live a happy and successful life inside the will of God.

AUSSIES PAINT THE PYRAMIDS

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Copyright, 1929, Associated Press.)

One of the finest rough houses of the World war was staged by Australian troops in Cairo early in 1916. And it was some show! Cleopatra wouldn't have recognized the place had she returned for the Aussies' hold home week. The trouble really started in a small way over a girl, but it quickly assumed the proportions of a real menace. There was open mutiny, and for three weeks the Nile laved the shores of a city of tribulation. The situation was so fraught with danger to the army and to Cairo that the Pharaohs must have turned in their tombs, for perchance there are any of these ancient rulers who have not been dug up and carried away for the edification of the curious.

The matter was very wisely hushed up at the time. Indeed, even after all these years I shall get no vote of thanks from anybody, much less from my many good Australian friends, for telling this tale. Still it can do no harm now, especially since I am writing about only a few hundred men from a force of soldiers whose dashing bravery provided one of the epics of the war.

Before telling of the rough house, it is only fair to call attention to a fact which perhaps many people have not recognized. Everybody knows, of course, that the Australians were twofisted, fearless fighters of whom the enemy frankly were afraid. Nothing under the sun could stop them in an attack except death. But everybody knows also that the Australians chafed under military discipline, and that is what I wish to try to explain in a word.

Australia is still close to her pioneering days. She is filled with the type of her men who made history in America's west, not so many years ago. The Australian dislikes restraint as did the old-timers of Virginia City, U. S. A., who wrote their names on the barroom floors in lead to show their independence. This characteristic in part explains the Cairo imbroglio.

It happened that a considerable number of men from the wide-open spaces of Australia had been landed in Egypt from the east and were waiting to be transported to the battle lines in France. They were bronze-faced, strapping six-footers who were more used to their saddles and plains than they were to cities and irksome military restraint.

The show started one night in a house used as a billet for Aussies next to the Bristol hotel in the heart of Cairo. Australian officers were quartered in the Bristol. Some free-thinking soldier smuggled a girl into the billet, which was rather asking for trouble.

Another Aussie claimed that his sweetheart had been stolen, and there followed a glorious free-for-all fist fight in which everybody took part. Then with a dash and abandon worthy of a great cause, these wild men smashed their furniture, virtually dismembered their house and finally set fire to it, just to celebrate a job well done.

Naturally, the Australian command in the adjoining hotel took action. Several hundred Aussie soldiers were paraded before the hotel and a stern edict was issued that they were to let the ladies of Cairo alone. Worse, the pay of the soldiers was stopped.

Now when you talk to an Australian like that you want to smile. The troops looked at each other out of the corner of their eyes for a moment, and then with one accord they rushed their officers' quarters. There was a bit of a mess. Other troops were called out and certain number of the rioters were rounded up. These men were court martialed, and they challenged no more orders.

The rest of the outfit, however, totaling several hundred, distributed themselves about the city and hid from the military police. For the most part, the truants found refuge in native cafes where they proceeded to have a high old time. It was a common occurrence for an Aussie to steal a girl from a Greek or some other habitue of these places. Frequently a fight followed with the result that many people were injured and some establishments were wrecked.

The Greeks and natives finally began to take revenge. They declared war on all men in uniform. It was unsafe for a soldier to be on the streets after dark; more than one got a knife in his back.

This sort of thing went on for about three weeks. Finally the Australian command got the affair in hand, the soldiers were bundled aboard a ship and started off to France where they could find plenty of fighting to engage their attention. That pleased them, because they were aching for a scrap.

Apreros of this incident, the cities of Egypt provided the authorities a lot of anguish during the war. There was more viciousness to the square inch in the underworld of Port Said, for example, than could be found in a score of western cities. Port Said wasn't called the "sink hole of the east" for nothing. It wasn't merely ordinary immorality—if one may be permitted the expression—but downright filth that permeated the underworld.

When I was in Egypt, not long after the Aussie show, I found that a rigid military regime was keeping troops away from these evils. In Port Said most of the immoral women were rounded up and put in a concentration camp on the outskirts of the city, and it was court martial for any soldier caught going to this quarter.

STUTTERING

By Alice Judson Peale

Specialists find that there is no physical basis for stuttering. It is not hereditary. It is due entirely to psychological causes. It is the symptom of an emotional conflict in the individual. He desires to be friendly and communicative at the same time that he wants to run away from people and situations. The result is a compromise in broken, stuttering speech.

Children who stutter sometimes outgrow the difficulty without help, but more often they do not. The adolescent who retains his defect suffers agonies in his adjustment during those trying years. And it is an heroic growth-up who does not feel himself constantly hampered and humiliated by such infirmity.

Since the causes of stuttering are to be found in the entire adjustment of the individual to life it cannot be helped by specific correction. Indeed, such correction only increases the fear which causes the stutter. The stuttering child should never be made self-conscious or asked to repeat what he has said. He should not read in the expressions of those about him annoyance and irritation because of his unattractive speech. He should have plenty of time to say what he wants without fear of interruption.

He should be helped to overcome his feeling of inferiority by play activities and little successes all along the line. He must learn to get satisfaction in actual achievement rather than in dreams.

His progress is usually slow and in moments of strain he will probably suffer a relapse to the old habit, but if parental love and patience and optimism hold out he eventually will overcome his trouble.

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Webb and Roy, Jr., left yesterday, where they will spend a few days with Dr. Webb's brother, who is seriously ill.

Judge A. M. Gray of Texas Highly Endorses Sargon

"Only a remarkable medicine could do what Sargon has done for me. For 10 years I have been in failing health. I was badly rundown, nervous and had severe pains in my side. I couldn't sleep well, and would arise mornings feeling worn-out."

JUDGE A. M. GRAY

"I suffered intolerable pains from indigestion. I had to take powerful laxatives very often. I am thoroughly convinced that a badly disordered liver was responsible for my troubles. Sargon proved to be far superior to any medicine I ever took. My color is better, my appetite splendid and I have gained weight. I sleep well, and awaken refreshed and invigorated. I am stronger and my general health much better than for many years. Sargon Soft Mass Pills I believe aided materially in my restoration to health. They cause no griping or cramping. I make this statement, in the hope that other sufferers may profit by my experience."

The above statement was made recently by Judge A. M. Gray, widely known lawyer who lives at the Houston hotel, San Antonio. Sargon may be obtained in Pampa from Fatheree Drug Co., and in McLean from Erwin Drug Co.—(adv.)

Vote to Impeach Sooner Governor to Be Next Week

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 15. (AP)—Possibility that a vote on the 11 impeachment charges against Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, would be taken by the state senate court early next week was seen today when his near-end of their case and the court defense counsel indicated they were voted to hold a Saturday session.

The regular legislative period of sixty days, provided by the state constitution, will end Monday, and the salaries of members of the legislature will be reduced from $6 to $2 a day after that date.

Comparatively little legislation has been passed in the regular session, and members are expecting a special session, regardless of the outcome of the governor's trial, for the purpose of passing appropriation bills and other legislation.

Clark Mandigo, state highway engineer, resumed the stand in the senate court this morning as a defense witness for Johnston.

EAKER TO BROWNSVILLE SAN ANTONIO, March 15. (AP)—Captain Ira C. Eaker hopped off from Kelly field at 10:35 a. m., for Brownsville, from which place he will take off Saturday for his dawn-to-dusk flight to France filed Canal zone.

Mrs. Clarence E. Oswald and Mrs. Jack Delaney were visitors in Amarillo yesterday.

PAMPA DAILY NEWS Corner West Foster and Somerville

THE BLACK PIGEON By ANNE AUSTIN

"Missus Minnie Cassidy!" the cleaning woman corrected the detective with surprising spirit. "And you're Tommy McMann. Me husband—God rest his soul!—was a rook along with ye, Tommy McMann. Many's the poker game he's won your good money off ye and brought it home to Minnie Cassidy."

"M'ANN chuckled and thrust out a big hand which Minnie Cassidy seized and shook warmly. "So you're Tim Cassidy's widow, Minnie! Poor Tim! As grand a big-fella as ever walked a beat! Come in, Minnie. Miss Lester will stand by and see that I don't use any third-degree methods on you."

"As if ye could!" Minnie wagged her head at him derisively. "I'm on to ye, cop. I am! Hot air and bluff, the lot of ye. . . . Now what did ye want to know, Tommy McMann? . . . So ye're a detective sergeant now! My Tim would-a been your captain if the gangsters hadn't got him."

"I'm sure of it, Minnie!" McMann answered heartily, with a humorous lift of his bushy eyebrows toward Ruth, who had slipped into a chair beside the one he had drawn up for Minnie Cassidy. "You cleaned these offices on Saturday, Minnie?"

"That I did! And not a slipshod job like most of the girls get with on a Saturday," Minnie answered emphatically. "Emptied the wastebaskets, wiped off the desks and window sills and chairs with me oiled rag."

"That's fine, Minnie!" McMann grinned. "You left us a fine surface for fingerprints. But to go back a little. Was Mr. Borden in this office when you came to clean, and at what time did you come in here?"

"That he was, and looking like he'd live to be a hundred!" Minnie answered. "It was near the death of me, and yes, of Lety, too, when Mr. Coghlan, the superintendent of the building, told us the poor gentleman had been murdered."

"What time was it when you cleaned these offices. If you remember, Minnie?" McMann was plainly trying to be patient with his former colleague's widow.

"Half-past one it was when I finished in '13. Mr. Green's offices across the hall. They've got a big fancy clock in the front office, and I noticed the time by it. Then I come straight over here, and let myself in with my pass key."

"The door was locked?"

"That it was, and I thought Mr. Borden was gone. I knew Miss Ruth had left for me and Lety seen her and her young man—and a nicer man ain't in the land of the living than Mr. Hayward. Tommy McMann!—seen them at the elevator, we did."

"When?"

"Just before I went in to Mr. Green's office—musta been 15 or 20 minutes past one," Minnie answered readily. "So I thought nobody wasn't in here and I come in. It wasn't no light on in Mr. Borden's private office—not that he needs it, what with two windows on the street and one on the airshaft. Anyways, there wasn't no light, so I opened the door without knockin' and then I seen Mr. Borden a-settin' at his desk, and I started to back out, saying, 'Excuse me, sir, I didn't know ye was still here,' and he said, 'Come on in. I'm going to be here till two. You won't bother me.'"

"Pleasant, was he?" McMann demanded. "Didn't look worried or angry?"

"He spoke sort of short, but Lordy, I'm used to that," Minnie confessed resignedly. "I went on about the work, and was carryin' out his wastebasket when Benny, his office boy, come in."

"TELL me exactly what passed between Benny and his boss," McMann directed.

"Now, Tommy McMann, ye're not going to make me help ye solve that poor kid to death!" Minnie assured the detective spiritedly. "I didn't pay no attention to what passed between 'em—none of my business. I took out Mr. Borden's wastebasket, emptied it into Miss Ruth's wastebasket, and then took hers out into the hall and dumped the papers into the big sack 'td drug up to the door from Mr. Green's office. When the sack 'td full, the porter takes it down to the basement."

"All right, Minnie," McMann interrupted. "Benny says you overheard Borden telling him to 'get 'ell out of here.' Is that right?"

"I didn't pay no attention, I tell ye!" Minnie repeated stubbornly. "The boy left while I was here—that's all I'll swear to, Tommy McMann!"

"O. K., Minnie," McMann chuckled. "I don't blame ye for being sorry for the kid—after hearing Borden bawl him out and fire him."

"Did he fire the boy now?" Minnie asked, with blind innocence, so that the trap, if such it was, which McMann had laid for her, failed to spring.

McMann did not answer, but opened up a new line with his next question. "You say you wiped off the window sills, Minnie? And closed the windows, I suppose, as your duty requires you to do?"

"Sure I wiped off the window sills, inside and out, and the window frames, too. I ain't a sacker, even if I am gettin' old and rheumatic. But I didn't shut the windows. The two front ones, looking out on the street, was already closed, or the draft would have blown the poor man away. That with the window open on the airshaft, like it was, I did pull it down to wipe it clean, but Mr. Borden told me to push it up again. He said he'd shut it when he left at two."

"The last vestige of hope Ruth had unreasonably nourished that the window had not been closed until after Borden had been killed died then. Of course she had known all along that it was foolish to entertain that hope, in view of the incontrovertible evidence of the pigeon's footprints in blood both inside and outside the airshaft window. But weak though it was, it had been hope, and the girl stared with unconcealed misery at the garrulous old woman who had slain it."

"You pushed up the window after you had wiped it clean, I suppose?" McMann asked, and Ruth knew he had in mind the fact that Forber, the fingerprint expert, had found no prints at all upon the window frame.

"Of course I did!" Minnie retorted.

"Do you wear rubber gloves while cleaning?" McMann suggested.

MINNIE chuckled her derision. "What does an old woman like Borden a-settin' at his desk, and some of the girls ain't tinkered furniture polish and yellow soap will rough up their precious hands, but not Minnie Cassidy!" and she spread the pitiful old hands on her lap, regarding them with curious satisfaction, even the hand with the mutilated forefinger, whose stubby print was now a part of Forber's sinister collection.

"That's the spirit, Minnie!" McMann grinned. "Now, die anything else happen when ye were cleaning in here Saturday afternoon? Any visitors or telephone calls?"

"Well, there was a phone call while Mr. Borden—peace to his soul, poor man!—was out."

"Out? He left the office while you were here?" McMann demanded.

"That he did," Minnie answered, unperturbed. "Stopped down the hall to the lavatory. He asked me to stay till he got back, as he didn't have a key and didn't want the door left unlocked. He'd scarcely closed the door behind him before the telephone rang, and I answered it, so's I could tell the party he'd be right back. Which I did, and the lady said she'd hold the line."

"So it was a woman calling, was it?" McMann interrupted sharply. "Did you ask her name?"

"Now, Tommy McMann, I'm surprised at ye!" Minnie reproved him severely. "As if it was any of my business! I flat said it was Mr. Borden's office, and 'No, ma'am, 'e ain't in right now, but he's just stepped down the hall and will be back in a minute,' and she said, 'Thank 'll hold the wire thank you, a sweet and ladylike as you please.'"

"Wait!" Ruth cried, leaning toward Minnie excitedly. "What kind of voice did she have, Minnie? Oh, please try to remember! Was it—?"

"Just a minute, Miss Lester!" the detective reproved her sternly. "No leading the witness, if you please. Describe the woman's voice, if you can, Minnie. Anything at all unusual about it?"

"Minnie Cassidy reached out and patted Ruth's hand, as if to console her for McMann's chagrin. "As sweet a voice as ever I heerd, Tommy McMann! Put me in mind of a singer I heerd one time on my daughter's radio—an alto singer, she was—"

"The woman with the contralto voice!" Ruth cried triumphantly.

"Alto or contralto, it was a pretty voice, and fair did me good to hear it," Minnie asserted cheerfully.

"And did Borden talk with her when he returned?" McMann demanded.

"No, that he didn't! He done the same as you've done—asked me what kind of voice the lady had, and I told him same as I've told ye, and he said, sharp and real madlike, 'Hang up the receiver!' and I was gone so like he told me, though it went against the grain I can tell you, when he said, 'Wait a minute! Tell her to call me again in 15 or 20 minutes.' I can't talk to her now. I'm expecting my wife any minute," he says, 'but don't tell her that, he says real quick.'"

"And what?" McMann leaned forward, betraying almost as much suspense as Ruth—"exactly what did the lady answer?"

Minnie Cassidy folded her hands on her prominent stomach, regarding the man whom she dared call "Tommy McMann" with shrewdly humorous old eyes, enjoying the sensation she knew she was about to make. . . . (To Be Continued)

The woman with the contralto voice again. Does she hold the solution to Borden's murder?

Executive of Boy Scout Council

E. D. McIVER

A new era dawned for boys of five North Plains counties when the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council was organized and E. D. McIVER, a son of West Texas, took over the work as scout executive. Nearly 300 boys are actively engaged in scouting in a program intended to interpret present-day values in terms of the principles that have dominated the work of the Boy Scouts of America since its inception.

With Scott Barcus of Pampa as organization chairman, business and professional men of Hemphill, Roberts, Gray, Carson, and Hutchinson counties met here on June 14, 1928 and formed the council. Mr. McIVER was employed as scout executive, and he immediately established headquarters at Panhandle and inaugurated the work.

McIVER is West Texan Is peculiarly fitted by temperament and experience for his vocation. He organized councils in Texas and Oklahoma, was graduated from the National Training School for Scout Executives in New York, studied the system at Kanawake Lake camp in the Adirondacks, and, as a fore-runner to his later activities, he was a Boy Scout then a scoutmaster for several years in the San Angelo area.

When the council was organized, there were 100 boys; now 300. The council has 100 members. The council has 100 members. The council has 100 members.

McIVER's job as scout executive is to train adult leaders, direct activities of the scoutmasters and troops, plan field meets, camping trips, and summer camps, and keep the work going in every town. He discourages mere accumulation of merit badges, believing all work should be faithfully and thoroughly done. He planned a six-week training course for adult leaders, and with the assistance of Chairman Scott Barcus is carrying this out. He hopes through this work to make citizens of the area scout-minded—the first requisite to a great program.

Courts of honor are held in all towns of the council every 60 days. The next field day, to be held April 20.

"It's Like This"

THE CIVIC COMMITTEE of the board of City Development in recommending limitation of parking in the main traffic channels also urged courteous treatment of offenders.

If the recommendation should become a law, courtesy would be very necessary as a part of the administration of the system. Warning tickets, containing a brief summary of the city ordinance, would be advisable.

Some cities are experimenting with "mail order fines". Instead of asking offenders to report "to the judge", the tickets ask that the fine be mailed to the proper authority.

The proper conduct of officer and person arrested ought to be codified and made a part of the knowledge of every child through the civics classes.

Plans submitted in the contest were so many that no comprehensive survey of them was possible and the same may be said for this choice collection of a hundred, space being limited.

WHO WAS IT who said fighting fires is romantic pastime and makes one a hero in the public eye?

The volunteer firemen of America do find something satisfying in this kind of public service, or many homes would go unprotected from the fire demon.

There is a thrill in mounting the big trucks and racing off to a fire—the first few times. But being awakened in the wee morning hours is unpleasant at any time, not to mention bad weather.

There is "the devil to pay" if two or three firemen fail to answer a call. Pedestrians and motorists hinder efficient work and the criticism from the sidelines is exasperating to those who are not paid a cent for doing the best that they know.

THE BIG MEN of Congress usually are repeatedly returned to service by their constituents, but often the smaller the of-office the more rapid is the turnover. Political patronage makes for this state of affairs; civil service tends toward the opposite.

May we yet maintain our principle of representation and still gain some of the advantages of the longer tenure? Here is one answer from a speaker who is an expert on the subject, Cornelius A. Pugsley of Peekskill, N. Y.

"Our congress, state legislatures, all positions of public trust, should be filled, in the main, at least, with men and women who have planned from youth a political career and made a thorough study of government and the business of statesmanship.

"The day is upon us when the study of government must be entered into with the same seriousness and fixity of purpose that guides them in the approach to any other career.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—It so happens that the winner of W. C. Durant's $25,000 prize for the best and most practicable plan for making the eighteenth amendment effective was a former New York prohibition administrator who was eased out after protracted argument with his superiors over their intrusion of politics into his enforcement efforts.

Considering also the fact that the winner's public complaints were used extensively by Governor Al Smith in his presidential campaign speeches, it may be that the present bosses of prohibition enforcement are not seizing upon his plan with noticeable alacrity.

Nevertheless, thousands of other plans were submitted and it may be that the enforcement bosses can get something out of them: Especially since Durant has published a hundred of what he considers the most representative plans by the best qualified persons and since the volume, entitled "Law Observance", is readily available.

Plans submitted in the contest were so many that no comprehensive survey of them was possible and the same may be said for this choice collection of a hundred, space being limited.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: The Christian Sabbath.

Scripture Lesson: Exod. 20:8-11; Matt. 12:1-8; John 20:19; Rev. 1:10.

Exod. 20:8. Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy.

9. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work.

10. But the seventh day is a Sabbath unto Jehovah thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor any stranger that is within thy gates.

11. For in six days Jehovah made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore Jehovah blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it.

Matt. 12:1. At that season Jesus went on the Sabbath day through the grain-fields and His disciples were hungry and began to pluck ears and to eat.

2. But the Pharisees, when they saw it, said unto Him, behold, Thy disciples do that which it is not lawful to do upon the Sabbath.

3. But He said unto them, Have ye not read what David did, when he was hungry, and they that were with him:

4. How he entered the house of God and ate the shewbread, which it was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them that were with him, but only for the priests?

5. Or have ye not read in the law, that on the Sabbath day the priests in the temple profane the Sabbath, and are guiltless?

6. But I say unto you, that One greater than the temple is here.

7. But if ye had known what this meaneth, I desire mercy, and not sacrifice, ye would not have condemned the guiltless.

8. For the Son of man is Lord of the Sabbath.

John 20:19. When therefore it was evening, on that day, the first day of the week, and when the doors were shut, where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

Rev. 1:10. I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet.

Golden Text: For the Son of man is Lord of the Sabbath.—Matt. 12:8.

INTRODUCTION

What we shall do Sunday is not a new question. It is as old as the commandment for Sabbath observance. It was a perplexing question for the ancient leaders of the Hebrews, and still a vital issue when Jesus came to lead mankind into the abundant life. Not did the question remain settled after his wise pronouncements. It has vexed conscientious followers of Jesus even until this day. What can I rightfully do on the Sabbath? The answer to this question has varied greatly with the centuries and with different groups. A study of all the answers is beyond the scope of this lesson. However, we want to think frankly about the real purpose of the day of rest as set forth by the Master, and then ask ourselves if that purpose can be realized in these modern days, to make it truly a "Sabbath for man."

Purposes of Sabbath

To honor God was one of the basic purposes of the Hebrew Sabbath. The ancient worshipper of Jehovah recognized in Him his leader as well as his creator. The hardness of his nomadic life made him constantly conscious of his dependence upon God. He was not overwhelmed with an abundance of things. He was free to think a great deal and the more he thought the deeper was his sense of dependence upon his Maker. Therefore it would be perfectly natural for the believer to express his gratitude to God in observing faithfully the day set aside for worship and rest from the usual duties of life.

To meet the needs of man was another basic purpose of the Sabbath. We cannot think of God demanding honor and worship of His followers merely to gratify a desire for homage. He saw in the Sabbath an institution that would meet some of the basic needs of the human heart. These were rest from usual tasks, expression of gratitude, worship, social and individual and fellowship.

A Benefit To Man

Jesus replaced the emphasis upon the value of the Sabbath to man. He healed on the Sabbath; He did not criticize His disciples for plucking grain on the sacred day. When He was assailed by His critics for allowing His disciples to do that which was unlawful on the Sabbath, His answer did not please His enemies, for they went out to take counsel against Him. They could not see beyond the ceremony real spiritual values.

Industry and commerce make it impossible for many to observe the Sabbath day properly. There are manufacturing processes that make it imperative for certain workmen to be on hand at all times. There are power plants that must be attended to, telephone switchboards which must be operated in some cases, to summon the doctor—there are horses to be fed, cows to be milked, trains to be run—some carrying human beings and others hauling food, medicine, mail and other necessities of life. To stop all these processes and activities Saturday night and renew them Monday morning would disrupt, if not destroy, our industry and commerce.

The Automobile

The automobile has become both a help and a hindrance. It is used to bring many to church services, to renew contacts in the old home town, to perform deeds of mercy and healing. On the other hand, it takes many far afield, it compels traffic officers to work overtime, it makes necessary the opening of gasoline stations on the Sabbath. It jeopardizes many lives. Should we leave the cars in the garage on Sunday? Some do. Others say that it is the only time they have to drive, and that they can see no harm whatever in a Sunday drive.

THE SUNDAY PAPER

The Sunday paper, and more recently the radio, are numbered by many as hindrances to Sabbath observance. The Sunday paper is so big that one does not finish it in time for church. Many and listen to sermons given over the radio! Many yield, and save their consciences with the assertion that the preacher on the air is anyhow a better sermonizer than their pastor. The list attempts by no means to exhaust the hindrances to Sabbath observance. It merely suggests some of the more serious conditions with which observance of the Lord's Day is faced in these modern times.

Values of the Sabbath

Sabbath observance in the old days possessed certain religious, Christian values. It met certain deep human needs, such as worship in groups, rest from monotonous labors, fellowship, expression of gratitude, definite service in giving money, aid, and self. While the conditions of life have changed with the passing of the years, yet these basic needs remain in the human life. And the Sabbath must still, in spite of all hindrances, minister to the needs of mankind.

Worship

Yes, man can worship anywhere, at any time, but he can worship more readily in the right kind of church, where others are worshipping, than under any other circumstances. The churches need to study the needs of man and discover the best methods for serving these needs. This will give power to at least one service each Sunday. Such a service would tone up a life for the entire day and ward off many excesses now so prevalent.

Rest

Man needs real rest. Growing specialization makes it more imperative than ever that workmen—all of us—should have at least one day of real rest. Now that the five-day week is being adopted so widely, workmen may take Saturday for sports and strenuous activities and devote Sunday to real rest.

Individuals are strengthened by the group and the group prospers as the individual members prosper. The speed of modern work makes fellowship difficult. Sunday should be a day of fellowship in church service and in family and friendly groups. The stimulation from such fellowship is always needed and can never be measured.

Expression of Gratitude

There is something noble in every human heart that grows with gratitude, and diminishes with extreme self-concern. The Sabbath custom gives opportunity for this expression of gratitude; and all leaders should arrive to embody in their Sabbath programs not only giving of money, but also other means for showing deep appreciation to God and our fellow men. Unselfish service befits Sunday.

THE SABBATH

Welcome, delightful morn,
Sweet day of sacred rest!
We hail thy kind return,
Lord, make these moments blest.

HOLLYWOOD.—What's in a movie name? Substantial pin-money, around Hollywood.

The demand for "box-office titles" for motion pictures is giving many studio employes the opportunity to cash in on original ideas for titles which will intrigue the fancy of the great picture-going public.

Producing a snappy, appealing name for a movie may seem, at first thought, an easy matter. But it's far from that, as witness the several companies now offering rewards of $50 or so to employes suggesting "sure-fire" titles for their productions, or the same reward, in some cases, for names for pictures not yet produced or even written.

The requirements for a "sure-fire" title are comparatively simple, of course, when described, says one authority. The name naturally must be brief—five words is the usual limit. It must either excite the curiosity of the prospective movie-goer, or evoke a picture in his mind, to encourage the spending of his money. One that fulfills both these functions is all the better.

But, there is many a slip between what looks like a good idea and the $50 reward.

CAUT BEFORE HORSE

That is why, in the annual meetings of sales managers of the producing companies, usually convened in the spring, the matter of titles comes in for a large share of discussion in framing the production program for the coming year. At these meetings, as well as those in the studios during the year, many pictures which are to begin with, nothing but titles, are planned.

With a good title to work on, the scenarist is expected to build a story to fit.

Scarcely a day passes that a company does not announce a change in the title of one of its pictures in course of production, and not infrequently a movie goes unchristened for the days or weeks without even a "working title" to distinguish it during filming, while numerous brains are being racked in search of the one sure-fire monicker that will draw.

With "love" always a favorite title ingredient word, it is interesting to note that at present, among all the films in production or contemplated, only two make use of it. There is "The Man I Love" and "Tree of Love." Nor is there a single "passion" in the list.

ESTEEMED MEMBER OF C. I. A. FACULTY IS DEAD

DENTON, March 15. (AP)—Thousands of young women, students and former students of the College of Industrial Arts here, today heard of the death of a prominent mentor, Miss Marian Lopp, professor in home planning in C. I. A. for many years.

A coroner's verdict was that she died from an apoplectic stroke. Her body was found in her apartment late yesterday after firemen had broken down a door in response to a general alarm caused when the professor failed to attend two of her scheduled classes.

to transport a kilowatt-hour of electricity to the light switch on your walls as it costs to make it in the power house.

Keeping down the cost of distribution, is, therefore, one of the biggest problems of the light and power company.

To keep down this cost, millions of dollars have been spent in the research laboratories of the electrical industry on studies of the loss of electricity through leakage, the technique of constructing underground cables, improvements in transformers and insulators and the accuracy of meters. Bookkeeping, meter reading, bill collecting, are other items entering into the cost of giving service.

Improvements in the art of generating and distributing electricity are in the interest of the consumer and the company by reducing the cost and increasing consumption.

About New York

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

NEW YORK—Another hero reception is imminent at this port, where the "welcome" mat is woven with ticker tape.

Capt. Einar Lundborg, Swedish army flier who rescued General Nobile after the Italia disaster, will arrive in New York March 20 on the Swedish-American liner Drottningholm.

It is too early to know whether he will have a typical Groven Whalen reception, with a procession up Broadway, where the illustrious are paraded before the admiring populace. But already the Swedes, and the Italians as well, are preparing to give him a joint greeting, with bands of both nationalities, so widely different.

The visit also may serve to bring together Sweden's own air hero and the one she gave America, through ancestry, meaning of course, Charles A. Lindbergh. For although Lundborg is coming to lecture under the auspices of a patriotic society, the American Sons and Daughters of Sweden, it is reported that he intends to make an extensive study of America aviation.

PERSONALITY

Captain Lundborg is likely to be an interesting visitor. The son of a missionary, he was born in India. He has been a soldier since his youth, and fought against the Bolsheviks with the "white" armies of Finland and Estonia. It will be remembered, too that while he himself was marooned on the ice off Spitzbergen for 17 days after rescuing Nobile he did not forget his wife's birthday, but sent her a cheering radio message. Also during that period he kept up his own spirits by playing a harmonica.

His rescue of Nobile already has been acclaimed in Italy, where he went to testify before a committee investigating the Italia disaster. He has written a book about the rescue.

SPEAKEASYING BY MAIL

A number of Greenwich Villagers are showing a form letter received the other day. It reads:

"To My Worthy Patrons:
"You are undoubtedly aware that conditions over which I have had no control have brought about me the discontinuance of my establishment at street, New York City.

"I am making a short visit to Italy, where I expect to taste some of its good wine. With every glass I shall think of our happy associations.
"When I return I expect to reopen

A 15-Year Old's Book Exposes Girls' Schools

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Fifteen-year old Carman Barnes of this city is to make her literary debut shortly with "School Girl", a fictional composite of life at a boarding school.

The book is not a study of conditions at one school. Carman is a student at fashionable Ward-Belmar, Nashville. "School Girl" does not mince words and it may not please the elders. Carman's answer is that all her life she wanted to write a book and she has chosen the subject she knows most about.

The young author is the daughter of Mrs. George Pullen Jackson. She has decided what she is going to do with the money from the book—"Buy about the most expensive sport model roadster on the market."

my business and hope you will favor me with your patronage in the assurance that the goods will be of the very best quality obtainable."

The signature is that of a speak-easy proprietor whose place was raided by Commissioner Whalen's bluecoats in their recent drive.

SOCIETY

El Progreso Club Studies Famous Willa Cather Novel

Willa Cather's "Death Comes for the Archbishop" was the basis of an enjoyable program given at the meeting of El Progreso club Tuesday afternoon. The life story of New Mexico's first bishop—his years of sacrifice and hardship, his services to the Indians, and the final realization of his ambition for a cathedral for his people—was interestingly related. A description of the picturesque Santa Fe country, setting the story, was a pleasing part of the study.

Mrs. A. Cole was leader for the afternoon. Others who presented topics were Mrs. W. Purviance, Mrs. George C. Walstad, and Mrs. Dave Pope. All members joined in the final discussion. The meeting was held in Mrs. C. C. Cook's home in Cook-Adams addition.

Twentieth Century Has Program on Famous Elegies

Members of the Twentieth Century club spent a pleasant afternoon Tuesday in the study of three famous elegies: Tennyson's "In Memoriam," Shelly's "Adonais," and Milton's "Lycidas."

Mrs. Tom Rose, program leader, sketched the life of Shelly and paraphrased his elegy on Keats. Mrs. H. H. Hicks dissected "In Memoriam." An analysis of "Lycidas" was given by Mrs. R. W. Mitchell.

William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis" was outlined by Mrs. A. H. Doucette, who briefly reviewed the poet's life. Roll call was answered with excerpts from famous elegies.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Porter Malone, where a social hour was enjoyed following adjournment.
