in An Alabama
Accident

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 4. (AP)—Barnwell P. Howell and Andrew Brink, attached to the naval flying squadron here, were killed today when their airplanes crashed in mid-air, during a formation flight.

Howell, who was 24 years of age, was born in Franklin, Texas, and is survived by his widow, LeVonne Miller Howell of Pensacola, Fla., and his parents in Franklin.

Brink, 21, was born in Wilmington, Del. He is survived by his mother, Maggy C. Kennedy, Wrentham, Mass. The navy planes collided in mid-air at seven hundred feet altitude one mile west of Old Curry field at 8:30 a. m.

Both crashed to the ground, killing the pilots almost instantly.

Brink's plane was one of three in formation flying.

Both were flight students and flying solo. They were attached to the Pensacola naval station.

ENGINEER KILLED AS ENGINE OVERTURNS

MEGARGEL, Ala., Feb. 4. (AP)—Engineer S. G. Foreman of Pensacola, Fla., was killed last night when the engine and mail car of the Sunnysland, Frisco passenger train, overturned after running through an open switch and crashing into a gondola on the side track here.

Mr. and Mrs. Drude Talkington of Amarillo visited friends here yesterday. Little Billie Bob Chafin accompanied them home for a few days' visit.

Foggy Weather Is Traced to Navigable Streams as Cause

CHEYENNE, Okla., Feb. 4. (Sp.)—People of this section are hardly aware of the fact that within a few weeks steel rails will connect this town with Pampa, Texas, through the C. & O. W. railroad, now owned by the Santa Fe.

This extension has been carried on in a systematic manner, with each part of the work being done independently of the rest, yet so thoroughly that when the last shovel of dirt has been put in place, steel will be ready and the Santa Fe trains will roll into Cheyenne from Pampa, the western terminus of the line.

During the last week, rails were laid across the state line into Oklahoma and have proceeded to where the town of Rankin will be located. Pile drivers used along the western end of the line have been brought east and are at work driving piles for bridges and trestles across streams near Cheyenne.

Grade work is being rushed to stay ahead of advancing steel and bridge gangs.

Following the completion of the Pampa and Cheyenne line work of rebuilding the roadbed from Clinton to Cheyenne will be started, information received here reveals. While that work is being finished trains from both ends of the line will stop at Cheyenne making this town the terminus of both the Texas and Oklahoma divisions.

After a battle for her life for eleven days, during which time firemen of Topeka, Kan., kept oxygen in her lungs by means of a resuscitating machine, Margaret Brown, 7, of Perry, Kas., is breathing naturally again and physicians say she is much better. A new record for keeping life in a body by means of artificial respiration was set.

The annual banquet and business meeting of the Panhandle Historical Society, of which T. D. Hobart of Pampa is president, will be held at the West Texas State Teachers college March 29. It has been decided by the directors.

Until last year, the annual banquet was held in February, but the delay necessitated last year resulted in a larger attendance than ever, and this year the later date will be tried again.

The board of directors is composed of Mr. Hobart, L. Gough of Amarillo, H. E. Hoover of Canadian, Mrs. Olive K. Dixon of Miami, and J. A. Hill of Canyon.

Two sessions are held annually, a business meeting in the afternoon and a banquet and program in the evening of the date set. In 1928 the banquet was attended by 185 persons from all parts of Northwest Texas.

Fog so dense and protracted that the old-timers of the community have disagreed as to when it was worse has been the weather's offering for Pampa for several days. And the forecast for tonight and tomorrow is continued cloudiness.

Citizens from downstate have been surprised at the similarity between this winter and seasons they have experienced in other parts of the state.

How to account for the humidity is puzzling the weather sharks. Perhaps, as George Briggs remarks, the new "navigable streams" have something to do with it.

Miss Mary Schell visited friends in Plainview during the week-end.

COLONEL WILL COMPLETE HOP IN AFTERNOON

First Stop Will Be at Belize, British Honduras

WEATHER GOOD FOR ENDEAVOR

HAVANA, Feb. 4. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off for Belize, British Honduras, on the second lap of his inaugural airmail flight to Panama, just one hour and four minutes after his arrival here from Miami.

The weather was favorable and the colonel hoped to reach Belize by mid-afternoon.

Colonel Lindbergh was accompanied by Col. John Hambleton, vice president of the Pan-American Airways, as passenger and H. L. Burkey as mechanic and radio operator. J. T. Tripp, president of the airways company, was in the plane on its flight here from Miami, but remained in Havana.

The youthful pilot told the Associated Press here he considered this flight of great significance, not only as a medium of quick transportation to Central America, and the West Indies, but also because the new service would bring the nations of the world into closer contact.

Dempsey Wants Stribling On Soil Until Big Fight

Remains of Dixon May Be Returned to Scene of Encounter

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, promoter of the Sharkey-Stribling fight, today instructed a firm of Miami attorneys to request a court injunction restraining W. L. (Young) Stribling from the use of an airplane or motorcycle until after the fight.

The remains of William "Billy" Dixon noted army scout and buffalo hunter who died about sixteen years ago and who is buried at Texline, may be brought to Hutchinson county to the scene of the most famous Indian fight in the plainsman's romantic career, the battle of Adobe Walls.

Mrs. Olive K. Dixon, his widow, anticipates that the body will be returned to Adobe Walls before the celebration of the anniversary of the battle next June. "I hope that Mr. Dixon's remains will be brought back to this county which he loved so well," she said in an interview with the Borger News. "The good people of Hutchinson county and others want it done. I have been offered every assistance in having the body brought back here and buried at Adobe Walls."

Mrs. Dixon, who lives in Miami, devotes most of her time to newspaper and historical work. She has been an active worker in the Panhandle Historical Society since its foundation, and is now engaged in raising funds for a memorial to marking Old Fort Elliott near Mobeetie.

Lack of Walks Only Difficulty in Getting Delivery

In a letter from Marvin Jones, congressman from the 18th district, addressed to George W. Briggs, manager of the Pampa Board of City Development, Mr. Jones said that the main reason why free mail delivery was not granted recently in several Texas cities was the lack of connected sidewalks.

Pampa practically meets all other requirements for free mail delivery, but lack of proper sidewalk connections caused the third attempt for free delivery to fail.

An effort will be made to get a connected system of sidewalks in the near future. Postmaster W. A. Crawford says.

B. C. D. Asks Big Audience Tuesday at General Session

The public is invited to attend a meeting of the Pampa Board of City Development in the B. C. D. rooms tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will take the form of a smoker with the B. C. D. supplying the smokes.

An out-of-town speaker will address the gathering on a subject relating to chamber of commerce work.

The board will hold a business session in the White Deer Land company's office at 7 o'clock, Manager George W. Briggs said this morning.

TO STUDY HURRICANE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4. (AP)—President-Elect Hoover decided today to make a personal inspection of the Okeechobee district of Florida to get first hand information as to the needs for flood control in that section where 3,000 people were drowned during the 1928 storm.

Robison Wants Facts in Investigation to Be Public

AUSTIN, Feb. 4. (AP)—The senate turned against investigations with a vengeance today, voting 16 to 3 to table a resolution providing for an investigation of the state prison board.

The resolution, introduced by Senator McFarlane, asked for an inquiry by a joint committee of the house and the senate. The vote found only Small and Garner siding with McFarlane. Cousins, Martin and Patton did not vote, while several other senators slipped out of the chamber just before the roll call.

McFarlane's resolution and his remarks in support of it aroused the ire of many of the senators and about a third of the membership gained the floor to defend members of the prison board.

Senator Woodward unlimbered the opening gun on McFarlane. He characterized McFarlane's allegations as the second most serious charges ever made on the Texas senate floor. He assented the charges which resulted in former Governor Ferguson's impeachment were the only ones more serious.

Senators Woodward and Hyer suggested that McFarlane should bring impeachment charges if he could support his allegations and Senator Hornsby advised McFarlane to place the matter before a grand jury.

Woodward, Hyer, Hornsby, Beck, Woodul, Holbrook, Stevenson, Witt, Love and Westbrook spoke against the McFarlane resolution.

AUSTIN, Feb. 4. (AP)—After placing in the record a request of the committee for certain information with reference to operation of the general land office under the reappraisal acts passed by the 39th legislature, and Commissioner J. T. Robison's reply, the committee investigating the land office today recessed until Thursday when taking of testimony will start.

Senator Moore at first objected to either the request or Commissioner Robison's statement in reply thereto being given to the press, but later agreed that it should be made public, after E. F. Smith, former assistant attorney general, representing Robison, stated that he and Robison desired "everything developed by the investigation to go before the people of Texas."

Property Owners to Decide Which Paving Desired

Owners of lots on East Francis avenue and East Kingsmill avenue have been asked to meet with the city commissioners at 7:30 o'clock tonight to express their desire as to the type of paving wanted on those two avenues.

The commission will respect the request of the people whether they want the boulevard type of paving or the solid pavement, also the width wanted. City Manager F. M. Gwin said this morning.

"We are desirous of having all the property owners on the two streets here promptly at 7:30 o'clock tonight so that we will be able to make the decision," Mr. Gwin said.

East Francis avenue and North Somerville street have the boulevard type of pavement.

Executed

Judges and lawyers agree that circumstantial evidence must be absolutely convincing before it is safe to inflict the death penalty on the strength of it. Innocent men have been caught in its meshes and have been sent to the gallows.

One of the most noted cases in which a man has been put to death for a crime he did not commit occurred in Illinois. Mary Murphy, a domestic employed in Pontiac, Ill., went to visit her family living about six miles from town. The next afternoon she started back, walking along the railroad tracks. Eighteen days later her body was found near the tracks.

Suspicion pointed to Wiley J. Morris, who was seen in the vicinity on the afternoon of the murder. Blood stains were found on his clothing. He was arrested, convicted and hanged, despite his claims that the bloodstains were received in a fight he had had that same afternoon.

Several years after his execution a gang of horse thieves was rounded up. One of the members confessed the murder of Mary Murphy.

In the interests of justice, crimes must be solved correctly. Circumstantial evidence must be discounted. Beginning soon The News will publish an amazing mystery serial by Anne Austin, "The Black Pigeon." In it, several persons came under suspicion of murder. Logical reasoning is required to find the murderer. Read it and see if you can solve the mystery.

AN AUDITORIUM on Pampa's vacant square offers the best opportunity in sight for a worthwhile, essential public improvement.

The only opposition we have heard has been from the standpoint of the tax rate. Should the taxable property in Pampa increase $700,000 this year; there would not have to be an increase in the tax rate, unless other extra expenditures should be made.

We see only one issue, therefore, in the city hall-auditorium proposition—the confidence the people have in the future of the city.

There is a point on which we think an immediate stand should be taken—the amount to be spent for the building when one is voted and constructed.

Delay, on the basis of present valuations, will be costly, yet the city cannot afford to rush into the matter half-cocked.

The bachelors of the Pan-

Along Hoover's Trail SOUTH AMERICA

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Latin American has taken tariff lessons from the United States. Her republics have built up tariff walls which compare favorably in height with our own.

Nevertheless the percentage of their goods which enter our ports free of duty is much greater than the duty-free percentage of our exports to them.

Of course the higher the duties the greater the restriction of trade. Our manufacturers often complain at South American tariff barriers, but in view of our own policy the most the United States government can ask anywhere is an even break.

Our policy has been to obtain most favored nation treaties or similar agreements assuring us of an equal chance with European nations in Latin American markets.

Latin American republics have it in their power to damage the United States by according preferential tariffs to European products, but that is rather unlikely because most of them look to us for their big export market and their exports are now so often duty free.

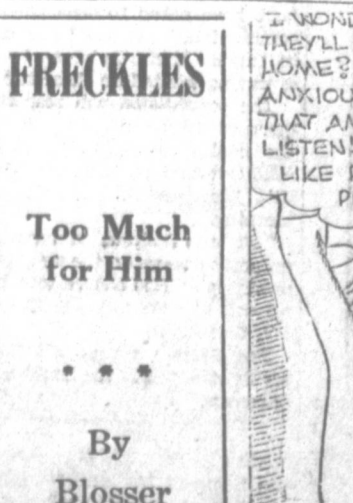

Meanwhile, manufactured goods from the United States sell at high prices all through Latin America and we have continued, thus far, to strengthen our position in her import trade.

Nearly everywhere the primary purpose of tariffs is revenue. Infant industries are developing, especially in Argentina and Brazil, but the customs revenues are vitally important throughout the Latin republics.

On the other hand, an industry handle are all het up, Old Twink among them. Emil Myers of Amarillo is getting grand opera for the Panhandle all right, but he is getting that pesky Jose (J) has the sound of H) Mojica again.

Well, it's cropped out again—that South Texas feeling that "The State" ought to have everything that obtainable up here in the Panhandle.

crease in amount of manufactured imports from abroad tends to raise the domestic standards of living.

All the Latin American countries are trying to advance in domestic production beyond the raw material stage. Some of them progress very slowly, but their tariffs, even though the protective motive may have been distinctly secondary, encourage industrial development.

Naturally they begin manufacturing with the raw materials available. The Argentine, great cattle and hides country, once bought several million dollars worth of American shoes each year.

Whenever employment is provided for native citizens through importation of unfinished products the fact is recognized in fixing duties. This and the fact that tariffs are often assessed on weight, including containers, has resulted in more exportation in bulk.

The method means more work on both ends, but it provides employment for native workers and thus the finished goods can be sold considerably cheaper than under the previous process of shipment.

Weather May Affect Sharkey in Stribbling Match

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4. (AP)—The diopeters were in hard training today for the Sharkey-Stribbling fight Feb. 27, although the principals in the battle of Miami Beach gave no indications of being overburdened with worry.

While Young Stribbling, pride of Macon, Ga., and Jack Sharkey, erstwhile Boston gob, sought the surf and the golf courses in indifferent attempts at conditioning, the goggle-eyed groups which have watched the boxers' ever mangle stroke since their arrival here last week, began their serious work of experting.

So far, the weather has led other topics in early speculation. It has been argued loudly that Sharkey, fresh from the cold north, will be handicapped by the balmy breezes, while the Georgian is conceded the advantage of knowing his weather.

Six Masters in Billiards Match at Gotham Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 4. (AP)—With six masters of the game in the field, the world's championship 182 ballline billiards tournament opens at the Level club tonight.

To Edward Foreman's, the present title-holder, falls the honor of opening the tournament. The slender Belgian meets Kirney Matsuyama, little Japanese holder of the world's junior championship in the first of the 15 four hundred point matches.

Tomorrow afternoon Welker Cochran one of two American hopes will play Eric Hagemeister, German champion. In the evening Jake Schaefer, son of the old wizard, will meet Felix Grange of France.

Play will continue every afternoon and evening except Sunday with the wind-up a week tomorrow night.

J. D. Merriman, manager of the Panhandle Herald, spent the weekend with his family here.

By HENRY L. FARELL
HOW ABOUT WILLIE?

It has been rather thoroughly broadcast that Jack Sharkey didn't cover himself with glory in his fight with K. O. Christner. He did win the decision, but there were some squawks about the justice of the award.

Willie Stribbling, the same night that Sharkey fought Christner, met some fellow named Smith down in New Orleans and the referee stopped the fight along about the fourth round. Not so much noise was made about that fight. Not so much appeared in general circulation about Willie's showing.

But it seems that to all those who witnessed the thing in New Orleans the Stribbling boy did not knock the customers dead with a demonstration of championship class.

HERE'S SOME COMMENT

Mr. Harry Martinez, a very competent boxing critic, had a few words to say about the Georgia boy in his column in the New Orleans States and here they are:

"Willie Stribbling, whom the entire south is pulling for to become the recognized successor to the throne vacated by Gene Tunney, has departed from our midst leaving some doubt as to his being a truly great heavyweight fighter."

"After hearing so much about his long string of knockouts, the fans of New Orleans had a chance to see his ring sensation, but not everyone who crowded the Coliseum left the arena fully convinced that W. L. is the logical successor of the retired champion. If Stribbling's opponents whom he has been bowling over-almost weekly, are in the class of Ralph Smith, then his 'kayos' cannot be taken too seriously.

"Smith was nothing short of a 'Push Over'. He was in there for nothing but to take a lacing. He possessed no fighting ability at all—just a human punching bag. The bout, as it ended goes in the book as a knockout for Stribbling, still Smith wasn't counted out."

WILLIE MISSED PLENTY

"The dyed-in-the-wool fans cannot understand why Stribbling missed the big fellow so much. The way he missed Smith at times was just like a fellow missing a punching bag. That should not be for a man who is touted as the next heavyweight champion of the world. It left some room for argument in the minds of many fans who ask the question, 'If he missed Smith that way, what would he do with a clever fighter?'"

"Stribbling did not stand up there and punch Smith into submission. His most effective blows were landed when in a clinch. He hasn't gotten over his old wrestling tactics altogether, this bout showed. He would go into a clinch and, while standing almost behind Smith, would let go a series of lefts to the face. A more experienced fighter than Smith no doubt would protect himself from such tactics, at least after being caught a couple of times.

"Men of the type of Jack Sharkey and Tommy Loughran will put Stribbling to an acid test. If he can beat this pair, then there will be no dispute as to his being the CHAMPION."

Don Miller could well rest on his honors as one of the immortal Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, but he is going on, it seems, to even more fame in the football world.

Undefeated Texas Five Will Meet Mustangs Tonight

DALLAS, Feb. 4. (AP)—The undefeated Texas university quintet, led by the dazzling sharpshooter, Holly Brock, class his North Texas invasion against Coach Jimmy St. Clair's Southern Methodist Mustangs here tonight.

After that, and providing the capital city cagers trim the Ponies, they will troupe back to Austin and prepare for their important encounter with the Arkansas Razorbacks Friday and Saturday nights.

In view of a previous win over the Methodists at Austin, the Longhorns enter tonight's tussle 'eight favorites. Their victory over the Texas Christian Horned Frogs Saturday night at Fort Worth was none too impressive, though and they might catch a tartar in the revamped Pony team.

If the Texas dribblers do enter their two-game series with Arkansas this week-end with five straight victories under their belt, as compared to six straight for the champs, it will mark a very definite climax to the Southwest conference campaign.

Four second division clubs, all definitely out of the championship running, will do business Saturday night. Southern Methodist will meet Rice Institute at Houston, and the T. C. U. Horned Frogs will have a chance to climb out of the cellar at the expense of the Baylor university Bears at Waco. The Texas Aggies, unscheduled for a week, seem assured of their place berth for another seven days.

GOLF'S SLOW MOTION STAR MAY SPEED UP HIS GAME

Cyril Walker's disqualification for delaying play in the $10,000 Los Angeles open makes him a contender for the title as the world's slowest pro.

By GLENN ALLAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Cyril Walker, former open champion whose deliberate methods of play have harried tournament officials for years, may play a trifle faster now. Or he may not; the 'tiny Englishman' is a stubborn chap and his ejection by California officials for "delaying the game" in a recent tournament may roll off his back as have the walls and profanity of fellow professionals in years gone by.

Walker is unbelievably slow but he considers the agonizing preliminaries an essential part of his game and there the matter has hung, for the rules say nothing of a contestant's gait in a tournament. The rules are silent but the players have not been and tactful officials have usually placed Walker at the tail end of the field. Sometimes he has gone out with a marker when a partner objected. And his protests have found deaf ears in high places.

Walker has always had a great deal of trouble with the galleries. On one occasion he rebuked a group of sight-seers who were not quiet enough and received, in return, a reprimand from tournament officials. In California, he was playing ahead of MacDonald Smith, the apparent winner, and the overflowing galleries had Sir Cyril considerably agitated. So he took steps. He took about 300 steps from his ball to the green and back again. He changed clubs, studied the turf and, in general, managed to hold up the parade until vacant holes stretched out in front and frenzied players banked up behind.

The officials stepped in. They ordered Walker to make way for Smith and his partner. The deliberate Cyril refused and was summarily disqualified.

For the first time in golfing history, an important tilting was "called on account of darkness." Tommy Armour found the eighteenth tee wrapped in the shades of night and was given an reprieve until daylight. He went out next day, and finished with second money.

But the elimination of Cyril Walker set the most astonishing precedent which may go far toward hustling the stragglers who gray the hairs of tournament officials the world over.

"We know our Luckies That's how we stay slender"

EVERY woman who fears overweight finds keen interest in new day and common sense ways to keep a slender, fashionable figure. Overweight must be avoided. "Better to light a Lucky whenever you crave fattening sweets."

Toasting does it. Toasting develops and improves the flavor of the world's finest tobaccos. Lucky Strike satisfies the longing for things that make you fat, without interfering with a normal appetite for healthful foods. That's why Luckies are good to smoke. Toasting makes Lucky Strike the healthy cigarette for you to smoke.

Many men who carefully watch their health discovered this years ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not slow-up their physical vigor—prominent athletes have gone on record that this is so. They know that 20,679 physicians have stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

Each for Rockefeller and Col. R. W. Stewart

NEW YORK, Feb. 4. (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Colonel Robert Stewart today each had an additional recruit in the ranks of the stockholders in their battle of proxies for control of the management of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

At the same time the shadow of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, nemesis of the Teapot Dome conspirators, fell across Stewart's path with a reminder of the Continental Trading company bonds.

Frank D. Brewer, president of the Olen Ridge, N. J., Trust company announced his decision to give his proxies to Rockefeller. He said he owned only a small amount of the stock. Although not saying whether it influenced his decision, Brewer made a public letter from Senator Walsh in which Walsh expressed surprise that some stockholder of the company had not brought suit to compel the payment by Stewart of the bonds.

Senator Walsh said was due the money from him in interest on unpaid coupons from Continental Trading company bonds.

W. Boreman of the Boreman Drug company of Pittsburgh sent a telegram to Rockefeller saying he had in his lot with Stewart, giving a reason the fact Rockefeller had the country, making it "almost impossible for me to communicate with Boreman said he owned 6,200 of Indiana Oil company stock at resignation of the officers of the nothing short of a calamity.

Stanford President May Become Part of Hoover Cabinet

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4. (AP)—The miner declared today it had learned that Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford university would take a temporary place in President Hoover's cabinet as secretary of the interior and that he later is to be named secretary of a new department, that of education and public welfare.

The Examiner understood that the formation of the new executive department of the government would require about two years, and that it would have jurisdiction over the public health service, the bureau of education, the women's and children's bureau of the department of labor and hospitalization and care of war veterans.

TEXAN DELAYS FLIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2. (AP)—Inclement weather today caused postponement of the projected non-stop flight of Captain Frank M. Hawks, of Houston, Texas, aviator, from Los Angeles to Newark, N. J. Captain Hawks, who said his plane was ready, announced that he would take off tomorrow weather permitting.

BATTERED SHIP SAFE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP)—The Norwegian steamship Dagfin which sent out an SOS this afternoon reporting she was without fuel and drifting helplessly off the Virginia Capes, tonight was reported safely in tow of the American steamship W. E. Hutton.

They're Getting Back to Nature

Well it's a nice day. The sun is shining and everything. See the boats out in the harbor? Notice the way the sky and the water seem to blend together. It's funny about things like that. And look at those islands out there, too. Those are palm trees you see on them—this being Miami Beach, Fla. . . . And say, by the way, there are some girls in the picture, too. Had you noticed them? They're taking their daily sun baths in the name of health and beauty on the roof of one of the resort hotels.

Pupils of Junior High Divided on Lines of Ability

January 17 began the new school semester. The term diagnostic tests of the previous week confirmed the idea that pupils of high and low abilities should be segregated. As a consequence pupils of approximately the same abilities, high average, and low have been placed in their respective rooms in the Junior high school. Already the interest and competitive spirit of the pupils has been aroused. They are more nearly accomplishing that of which they are capable. The result should be that the term grades this coming spring will show fewer failures.

Mr. Smith's English classes have been diagramming lately. As is true in the other subjects, Mr. Smith reports great progress in the sections of higher abilities, but very retarded progress in the low sections.

A revival of reading has been instituted by Miss Dorothy Pollard and Mrs. Hayes. Since this is a basic subject, they are hoping to see other grades advance as the reading ability progresses.

The seventh grade this term is being introduced to the study of civics. The pupils feel that they are learning so much they should be allowed the privilege of voting immediately.

The installation of class bells in the Junior wing of the building has been a great aid. One no longer has to strain his ears the last five minutes of a recitation wondering whether or not the bell has rung.

A series of sandwich sales is being planned for the next few weeks to raise money for records for music memory contest. We must have these records, so bring your nickels and dimes.

Then, too, about the new public library Pampa is to have. Will Pampa have books or a section of books for the children? The children need them, so parents and townspeople, see that they get those books. Won't you?

Vengeance for Enemies Left in Coloradoan's Will

BOULDER, Colo., Feb. 2. (AP)—Love for his friends and vengeance for his enemies are two of the bequests of J. E. Kirkbridge, former deputy district attorney, who Sunday shot his wife and then killed himself here.

Kirkbridge's will filed for probate here today, said "unto those who have sought to doublecross, to condemn, to criticize unjustly and bear false witness, I leave my revenge implanted within their own consciences and may it ever be a spur and pointed sword therein, that similar wrongs be not imposed on others. Forgiveness personally, of course, is bequeathed to all, yet to those members of the board and also of the county central committee, I can only express the hope that some day they will experience the same humiliation that has been mine as a result of their duplicity.

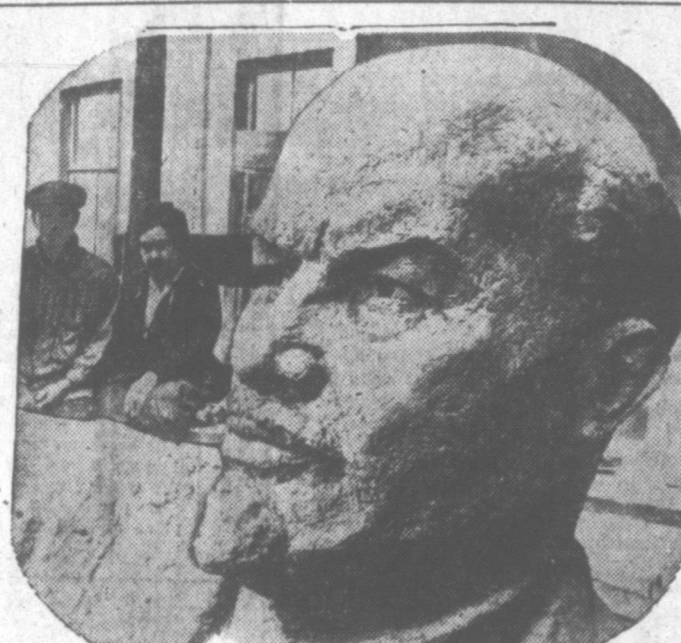

"And to my recent superior in office, I can only hope as the years roll by he may yet have the opportunity to quench his thirst at the fountain there the milk of human kindness flows freely and fully. This is not for myself, but for others he has injured by reason of delay and hesitation."

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

HOLLYWOOD.—The testimony of the extras who work under them is a reasonably good criterion of the capabilities of a motion picture director—and put to that test, Dorothy Arzner, Hollywood's only woman director, measures up to any of them.

One cannot remain in Hollywood long without hearing of the little woman who, in her own words, "pried the studio gates open with a typewriter," learned the picture game from the inside, and came at length to realize an ambition when she was entrusted with the direction of an Esther Ralston vehicle. She has been at a Paramount megaphone ever since.

She's "There" Clara Bow (you may have heard of her) has worked in several pictures under Miss Arzner, and the little red-head whooper girl, "resting between scenes on a 'wild party' set, testifies from a star's viewpoint that Dorothy Arzner as a director is all "there"

But four young extra girls of the picture, during the comparative leisure of the noon lunch period, amplify the star's beginning, and attest that Dorothy Arzner's sex, while it does not prevent her being as firm, as quick to make decisions and as efficient as any man, gives her the advantage of "a woman's understanding." Too, they declare, she has the patience of Job, and sweetness, and a positive gift for getting things done, and quickly.

Not Easy It is a point of pride with Miss Arzner that her film product is measured as sternly as that of all directors and she sees nothing unusual in the fact that she is doing a work monopolized with two previous exceptions, by men. Directing she chose for her career, and she trained herself for success in it, trained for eight years.

She began as a stenographer at Paramount, then went through the mill as script girl, original story writer and "outter," achieving quite a reputation for skill and efficiency in this important work. Hard work and a steady eye on her goal—the transferring of stories to the screen—brought success.

Breakfast Sliced Oranges Corn Cereal and Cream Poached Eggs Buttered Toast Luncheon Celery and Green Bean Salad Sugar Cookies Tea Dinner Broiled Steak and Mushroom Gravy Mashed Potatoes Buttered Spinach Bread Cranberry Sauce Head Lettuce French Dressing Walnut Layer Cake Foamy Icing Coffee

Broiled Steak and Mushroom Gravy One and one-half pounds sirloin steak cut one inch thick, one teaspoon salt.

Wipe off the steak with a damp cloth. Place in a frying pan. Broil six inches below a glowing fire (the broiler on a gas stove). Cook until well browned on both sides. Sprinkle with the salt. Lower the fire and allow to cook for five minutes to cook the meat through. It will require 10 minutes to broil a steak this size for "medium" and 12 minutes for "well done," and of course, about eight minutes for "rare." Remove the hot steak from the pan and place it upon a hot serving platter. Keep in a hot place while making the gravy.

Mushroom Gravy One cup mushrooms, canned or fresh, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, three tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups milk.

Place the butter in a small frying pan, add the mushrooms and cook slowly until they are well browned on both sides. Add the salt and paprika. Place the flour into the fat which has cooked out of the broiled meat. Mix in the pan in which meat was cooked, add the cooked mushrooms. Cook for one minute, stirring constantly. Add the milk and let boil for two minutes. Stir frequently to prevent lumping. Four over the steak and serve.

Talks To Parents

BOOKS VS. PLAYMATES By Alice Feale "My boy Freddy," said a proud father to me recently, "doesn't care about playing with the boys on the block. He'd rather spend his time reading. He reads good books, too, I can tell you."

If Freddy were my boy I should be worried rather than pleased by his stated preference of books over companions, to the exclusion of the latter. It would be better if it were the books he found unnecessary.

The child who excludes companions is losing an essential educational experience. We may be sure that the child who aggressively says that he would rather read than play with the fellows is really trying to hide something from himself. Very likely the truth is that he is unable to get on with them or that he feels inferior to them.

The child who always playing the game his way or who would rather run than fight when somebody calls his bluff, finds in reading a blessed relief from situations in which he feels frustrated and inadequate. The boy who can't play ball, who is physically awkward and undersized, may well tell himself that playing down the street is stupid, not geared to such superior intelligences as his own.

Certainly his absorption in books is no cause for parental pride. It should rather be regarded as a symptom of an inadequacy which the child must be helped to overcome.

Reading and day dreaming are a natural part of the life of every child, but when these are indulged at the cost of wholesome physical activity and normal companionship they are harmful to the child's development.

The child who runs away from playmates should be brought into supervised play groups and should be taught enough physical skill so that he will learn to take his part in the play of the children down the street.

Aimee's Mother Won't Testify

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 2. (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Kennedy came from seclusion here today and reiterated that she had no intention of going to Los Angeles to testify in the legislative inquiry into a $2,500 gift to Superior Judge Carlos Hardy. Nor has she any intention of rejoining her daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson, she said.

"Of course I could go to California," Mrs. Kennedy said, "and point out certain discrepancies in the testimony. But why should I?"

"If Judge Hardy, and he's a nice old gentleman, wants to say the money was given for friendly talks, why, that's all right. Just let it go at that. I have no intention of going to California."
