Authorities investigate shooting, robbery

Pampan to undergo surgery to remove bullet

A Pampa man was expected to undergo surgery today on a gunshot wound suffered in a Thursday night shooting.

Deputies hope to question the man later today, Gray County Sheriff Don Copeland said this morning.

Jesus A. Carrillo, 49, 1133 Sierra, drove himself to Pampa's Regional Medical Center about 10 p.m. Thursday, authorities said today.

Two Gray County deputies at the emergency room at the time said Carrillo drove up in his car and walked into the emergency room dripping blood.

Officers said Carrillo suffered a gunshot wound to the upper left arm and to his right thigh.

Initially, Carrillo told officers that he had been near the intersection of Texas Highway 152 and Price Road when he was shot, but officials said Carrillo later changed his story.

Authorities said that as they were piecing facts together today, it appears that Carrillo was shot by two assailants shortly before 10 p.m. No motive, they said, has been established.

Carrillo was expected to undergo surgery today to remove the bullet lodged in his leg.

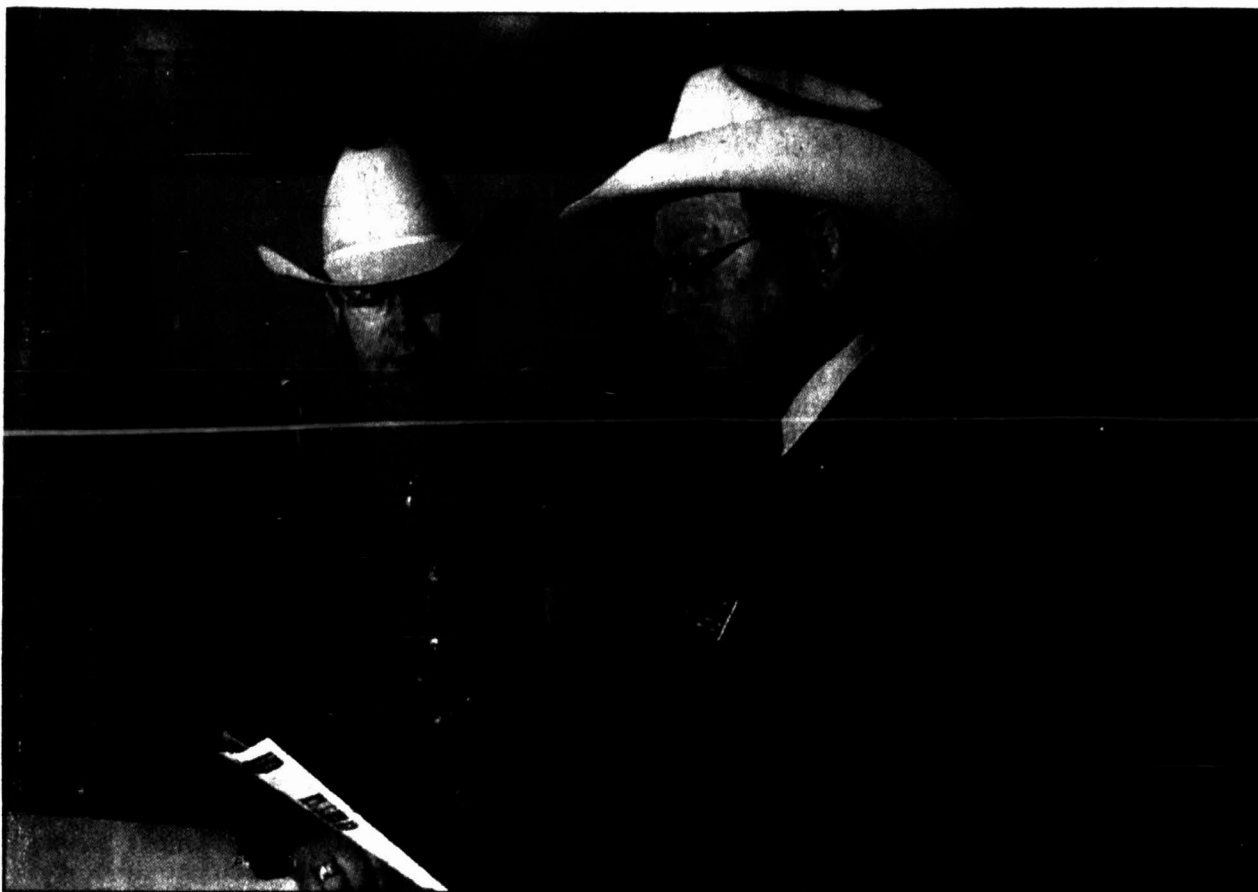

Teens suspects in convenience store stick-up

Police were searching for two teenagers today in connection with the armed robbery of a Pampa convenience store Thursday night.

Pampa Police Chief Charlie Morris said today that two teenagers walked into the Allsup's Convenience Store, 1025 W. Wilks, shortly before 9 p.m. Thursday and robbed the clerk of an undetermined amount of cash.

The duo, described as one white male and one black male, walked into the store and pointed what they said was a weapon wrapped in a cloth.

When Gray County Deputies Morse Burroughs and Cary Rushing stopped a pickup Memorial Day weekend last year on the east side of town, they added about $100,000 to the amount of stolen livestock and equipment recovered through Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association (TSCRA) investigations.

Burroughs and Rushing pulled over a Gray County man and his son-in-law from Kansas about 1 a.m. on Memorial Day, 2000, on a routine traffic stop. In the back of the pickup they found welding equipment that had been reported stolen in Oklahoma earlier in the evening.

The arrest brought to a close an investigation by TSCRA Field Inspector Kelly Rushing of Pampa, who, working with law enforcement officers across Western Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle, had been developing the case that involved some $100,000 in thefts of welding equipment from ranches and oilfield sites in the region.

Rushing, who had been investigating the case for some seven months, said the key to the arrests

Marsha Sharp, Texas Tech University's championship women's basketball coach, will be featured speaker at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce's annual Citizen of the Year banquet Tuesday, April 10.

The public is invited to hear Sharp share her experiences at the Chamber's annual banquet at 7 p.m., April 10, in M.K. Brown Auditorium. Tickets are $20 each and are available by calling 669-3241. Pampa's Citizen of the Year will also be named at the banquet.

"I'm going to talk about my West Texas roots. What it means to be a part of the community and how that is like being on a team," Sharp said in a telephone interview Thursday.

No stranger to community life, Sharp grew up playing guard on a three-on-three girls basketball team in Tulia.

"I never dreamed I'd end up being a coach at that time," she said. "Back then, only men were calling 669-3241. Pampa's Citizen of the Year will also be named at the banquet.

After high school, she attended Wayland Baptist University and was a member of the Queen Bees her freshman year.

She began her coaching career directing the freshman women's basketball team during her junior and senior years at Wayland and also served as graduate assistant coach for the 1974-75. She earned her bachelor's degree from Wayland in 1974 and received a master's degree from West Texas State University in 1976.

After graduation, Sharp served as basketball coach and head track coach for six years at Lockney, garnering three district titles, the beginning of a long history of winning.

This year, Sharp's Lady Raiders finished second in the Big 12 Conference with 25 wins and seven losses.

During 1999-2000, Sharp led the Lady Raiders to their third straight Big 12 Conference regular-season title and it's 13th NCAA tournament appearance.

Dunlap's store celebrating 75 years in Pampa

By NANCY YOUNG
Managing Editor

An important part of Pampa for 75 years, The Dunlap Company continues in the community.

In observance of the company's anniversary, local sales began yesterday and will continue throughout the spring, according to store manager Christi Parker.

"Dunlap's continues to be a success in buying and selling of stores," she said. "We plan to be here another 75 years."

"Dunlap's has been a very successful business," said Parker. With so much competition in the retail business, it says a lot that Dunlap's has been in business so long. There are a lot of businesses who would like to stay in business this long.

She credited the success of the business to the company being "old-fashioned" in many areas. "We are a family store, and very proud of it," said Parker.

The Dunlap Company was founded in 1892 by H. G. Dunlap, in Wagoner, Indian Territory, during the Land Rush days.

After a few years, Dunlap consolidated his store with his three sons' store in nearby Coweta. It wasn't long before the Dunlap Brothers had twelve stores throughout eastern Oklahoma.

In 1916, at the age of 15, Retha R. Martin went to work for the Dunlaps. By 1921, there were 20 stores and the Dunlap branch of the

NEW YORK (AP) — Aretha Franklin may be a diva, but she doesn't live like one.

The Queen of Soul says a typical day at home in her native Detroit is watching television and doing daily tasks.

"I get up and have my breakfast, do some other little necessities for others, and CNN, I like a lot. ... And I watch my soaps," Franklin told The Associated Press.

She recently watched the TV miniseries "Life With Judy Garland: Me and My Shadows," produced by Garland's daughter Lorna Luft.

"I thought it was very informative — maybe perhaps more of the well-rounded picture of who Judy Garland really was. I thought her daughter did an excellent job," she said.

family decided to retire, close the stores and move to California to open a new group of stores.

"The history of the store is very interesting," said Parker.

Deciding to stay behind, Martin purchased a 40 percent interest in the only remaining store. The store prospered and expanded.

In 1939, seeing the prosperity of the booming ranch and oil country of West Texas, Martin began acquiring stores in that area. In 1942, the company purchased the Addison Wadley store in Midland. J.B. Hoskins was a partner in the store. Joining the company, he eventually rose to the position of executive vice president.

By 1943, there were 14 stores located primarily in West Texas and New Mexico. Martin moved the headquarters to Lubbock. His philosophy was to establish independent, locally-operated stores, offering moderate to better merchandise for the home and family, responsive to the needs of each unique community, said Parker.

Today, in addition to Pampa, she said there are Dunlap stores located in several Texas communities: Abilene, Amarillo, Big Spring, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Stephenville and Victoria. Carlsbad and Hobbs are home to the two New Mexico stores.

Parker said the company has purchased several top stores from around the Texas area which they now operate.

Among the many Texas stores which are now owned by the Dunlap Company are Goldstein-Migel of Waco, Stripling and Cox of Fort Worth and Arlington; Russell's of Denton; McClurkans of Wichita Falls; Gabriel's of Plainview; and Ware's of Littlefield.

New Dunlap stores opening in May are in Liberal, Kan., and two stores in Lake Havasu, Ariz., said Parker.

was the interagency cooperation among law enforcement officers in the region.

The investigation, he insisted, was not his alone but involved a number of sheriffs in Oklahoma and Texas and the Texas Rangers.

Nonetheless, TSCRA inspectors accounted for $5.7 million in stolen livestock and ranch equipment last year, including such things as the welding equipment recovered in Gray County on Memorial Day.

Steve Munday, former executive vice president of the association, announced at their convention this spring that TSCRA's 31 field inspectors, all certified peace officers with special law enforcement commission in Texas and Oklahoma, investigated 1,133 cases in the two states involving stray or stolen livestock.

Working with federal, state and local law enforcement officers, they recovered or accounted for 2,891 head of cattle, 135 horses, 39 trailers, 48 saddles and other property with a total value of $5,751,477.81 last year.

Offenders were given 70 years in prison and ordered to pay $1,504,949 in restitution. They were also ordered to pay $1,017,659 in fines, court costs and attorneys' fees.

Munday said the association also employs 80 market inspectors who identified 5,570,050 head of cattle at the time of sale at 131 auction markets in Texas.

Since September, 1997, the association has been responsible for similar inspection of all horses processed at commercial processing plants in the Lone Star State. TSCRA inspectors at two processing plants in Texas inspected 35,630 horses last year.

While he's happy with the numbers, Rushing said this week that those numbers wouldn't have been possible without a lot of hard work by people like Morse Burroughs and Cary Rushing, Gray County Sheriff Don Copeland, Texas Ranger Gary Henderson of Pampa and their counterparts across Texas and Oklahoma.

"It takes everybody working together," Rushing drawled.

DeLay: Democrats target minority voting strength

AUSTIN (AP) — Democrats are willing to dilute the voting strength of minorities in the redistricting process in order to keep winning elections, U.S. Rep. Tom DeLay told state lawmakers.

DeLay, the third-ranking Republican in the U.S. House, testified before a joint session of the state House and Senate redistricting committees Thursday.

"GOP members are supporting the Voting Rights Act. The Democrat members are trying to destroy the Voting Rights Act," DeLay said. "It is quite obvious that it serves white Democrats well to dilute the Voting Rights Act, and the evidence is right on that map."

The Voting Rights Act essentially requires that minorities have a chance to vote for the can-

The Texas Tech coach has observed major changes in women's basketball, even since she began coaching at the university in 1982.

"I can't begin to describe the change in women's basketball over the years — the speed the athleticism, the interest in the game," she said. "I never would have believed that there would be 13,000 people in the gym every time we play."

The Saudi government issued 10,876 visas to American residents for the 2000 pilgrimage, up from 5,339 in 1996.

The number of Houston residents applying for visas has also grown dramatically, Al-Jubeir said. The Saudi consulate in Houston issued 619 visas last year, compared with 195 in 1996. The figures do not include Houstonians who applied directly to the Washington embassy for visas, he said.

There are at least 10 companies that specialize in tours from the United States to Mecca for hajj, said Jamil Khundkar, a Houston travel agent who has handled pilgrimage travel arrangements for five years. Prices including air fare and accommodations range from about $2,450 for the economy trip to about $5,390 for a "super deluxe" package, which means three people to a five-star hotel room.

While last-minute reservations are available, Khundkar recommends at least three months of planning.

It is particularly important to study the prescribed steps of the hajj, which include cleansing rituals, days of communal prayer and the sacrifice of animals, performed in government-owned slaughterhouses.

The goal of the hajj is to perform the rituals correctly so they will be deemed acceptable by God. In Islam, the reward of accomplishing this goal is paradise, Khundkar said.

Concentrating on the rituals in the midst of throngs is crucial to making sure the experience is spiritual, Ikbal said. But it is also important to enjoy the experience, despite any hardship imposed by the heat, crowds or tasks, he said.

"When God almighty who created us is such a loving being, why would he make it difficult on us?" Ikbal said.

When Ikbal was able to return to Mecca last year, 16 more years of knowledge, experience and study helped him focus on the tasks at hand.

But it was his goal that made this second pilgrimage particularly joyful, he said.

"The love and feelings I have for my father who I never knew, that put me on a high," Ikbal said.

God lovingly chooses to bless

I have looked, but as yet I have been unable to find anywhere in God's Word where God owes you or me anything. The Word is filled with teachings regarding all we owe to God, but it is silent concerning God's indebtedness to us.

Out of His great love, God has richly blessed us, offered all forgiveness and acceptance, provided for a glorious eternity and made Himself available to any of us genuinely seeking Him. He owes none of this to us! In fact what we are owed is death, eternal death (see Romans 6:23) but God offers the gift of life, abundant and everlasting.

Somehow we have believed the lie that God is in debt to us. Things haven't happened in life like we felt they should. God let us down. "Church" doesn't tickle our fancy so why bother with it.

By Derrell Monday
Central Baptist Church

It is amazing that most people, even those claiming to be Christian, have so sold out to the world that they expect and even demand that God satisfy them, please them. Why are most church members so unfaithful in attendance, service and giving? They believe God owes them something and hasn't fulfilled His part of the "bargain." God owes us nothing! Church is not to please us, make us feel good, satisfy our desires — it is to WORSHIP the Lord God. It is to please Him.

Everything we do, in every area of our life, is to be for God's glory, His pleasure ... not ours. It is time for God's people to get our minds transformed by the truth and quit being unfaithful. God owes you nothing. We owe Him everything. It is time to come back to God and His church and be actively involved in all areas of God's ministry. It is time to quit expecting things to be done for our pleasure and benefit and to focus on making sure everything being done is done for God's good pleasure.

It is time for God's people to bow on their knees and cry, "Holy, Holy, Holy, is the Lord God Almighty." When God is given what is due Him, He lovingly chooses to bless.

Pilgrimage to Mecca is no easy trip

By TARA DOOLEY
Houston Chronicle

HOUSTON — Even before he had completed his first pilgrimage to Mecca in 1984, Anwar Ikbal knew he would return to the holy site of Islam.

It was a resolve he made as he finished the last of the rituals of hajj, one of the five pillars, or basic requirements, of Islam. One day he would return on behalf of his father, who died when Ikbal was 2.

"I was hoping that if my hajj was accepted by the Exalted One, not only would I benefit, but also my late father would benefit," Ikbal, now 57, said.

But getting to Saudi Arabia for hajj is not as easy as hopping a plane. It requires planning — on the part of Muslim pilgrims and the Saudi government.

Ikbal, an oil company marketing analyst and Houston resident, fulfilled his wish last year, joining some 2 million people who descend on Mecca annually to retrace the steps of a pilgrimage made by Muhammad, the prophet of Islam.

The pilgrimage begins with cleansing rituals, after which pilgrims enter the Grand Mosque and circle the Ka'aba, a stone said to have been built by Abraham and his son Ishmael. Highlights of the hajj include a communal prayer of repentance, guidance and forgiveness at Arafat and the celebration of Eid ul-Adha.

"It is something you can't really explain," said Kamorudeen Lawal, a Houston-based oil-and-gas-company executive, of his pilgrimage last year. "It tests your ability. It is something you have to be very religious to understand and enjoy."

John McAndrews, an electrician who has performed the hajj twice, said it is best to have someone with knowledge show the way during the pilgrimage. "It is not something anybody can go and do, read a book and think you know everything," he said. "There is a lot to know."

The Saudi government requires pilgrims on the hajj to travel in organized groups of 50 or more, said Nail Al-Jubeir, deputy director of information for the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia in Washington, D.C. The goal is to ensure that each pilgrim has a place to sleep and that no one camps out in the streets, he said.

With 1.3 million pilgrims from outside the country joining nearly 1 million Saudi citizens, organization is key, he said. Government officials worry about everything from the spread of disease to the spread of fire.

"It is a spiritual experience," Al-Jubeir said. "Most people who go there are doing it as an obligation to worship the Creator. You don't want them to worry about problems of overcrowding and stampedes."

Visas are another requirement for pilgrims. While obtaining a visa can be difficult in countries with large Muslim populations, U.S. citizens and legal residents usually have no problems, Al-Jubeir said.

Religion news ...

Poll: U.S. Jews more interested in social action than religious observance

NEW YORK (AP) — A poll of U.S. Jews suggests they're generally more interested in social action than religious matters.

In the poll, released this week, 47 percent of respondents said "commitment to social equality" was the "most important" element in their Jewish identity, compared with 24 percent who chose "religious observance" and 13 percent "support for Israel."

Steven M. Cohen of Hebrew University in Jerusalem, the sociologist who directed the survey, said it's no surprise that Jews are interested in social issues, "but that it is a leading — if not the leading — component of Jewish identity was not so certain."

Asked to pick which is more important, 56 percent favored work for social justice versus 6 percent for studying the Torah; 36 percent said the two are equal. In a parallel choice, twice as many favored social justice as "having a rich spiritual life."

In a listing of activities judged very meaningful to being Jewish, the highest response (68 percent) went to "making the world a better place," followed by believing in God (62 percent), celebrating Jewish holidays (51 percent) and helping the underprivileged (43 percent).

On specific causes given strong support, 72 percent listed the traditional one of fighting anti-Semitism, followed by abortion freedom (71 percent), affordable health care (70 percent), stronger gun control (59 percent) and protecting the environment (56 percent).

Forty-five percent of respondents reported synagogue membership.

The phone poll of 1,002 American Jews was conducted in February and March for Amos, a newly organized "Jewish partnership for social justice." Survey results had a margin of error of plus or minus 3 percentage points.

Dissident Lutherans form new association

PHOENIX (AP) — Hundreds of dissidents in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America met to form a new association for those who can't accept an accord that established full fellowship with the Episcopal Church.

The new "Lutheran Congregations in Mission for Christ" is billed as a "post-denominational" protest association, not an outright schism. A spokesman said the goal isn't for congregations to quit the Evangelical Lutheran Church entirely, though some are prepared to.

The association is sponsored by the Work Alone Network, based in New Brighton, Minn., which reports a membership of 80,000 (compared with 5.1 million in the parent denomination).

The dissidents believe the unity accord, which went into effect in January, violates Lutheran tradition by requiring that bishops be in an Episcopal-style line tracing back to Jesus' apostles, and that only such bishops may ordain clergy.

Leaders of the new group include former Minnesota Gov. Al Quie.

Iranians celebrate ancient festival amid religious mourning

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) —

Iranians flocked to parks and orchards this week for picnics to celebrate the ancient festival of Sizdeh Bedar, the last day of the Persian new year holiday.

Families sipped small cups of tea, munched on nuts and ate a traditional lunch of rice, meat and potatoes on Monday to mark a holiday that predates Islam.

Iranians believe it is bad luck to stay indoors on Sizdeh Bedar, the 13th day of Nowruz, the Persian New Year that began March 21. But because this year's festival coincided with mourning ceremonies for an important Shiite Muslim saint, some people stayed at home or attended ceremonies to mark the death anniversary of Hussein, the grandson of Islam's 7th century Prophet Muhammad.

Iran's ruling clerical establishment, which discourages pre-Islamic festivals, issued a statement on Sunday calling on Iranians to attend mourning ceremonies.

"Neither mourning ceremonies nor Sizdeh Bedar should be ignored at each other's expense. Moderation and respect for both is what most Iranians support," said Mohammad Hassan Tarzi, a picknicker smoking a water pipe at a park.

Newspaper says Istanbul leaders rejected charter for the U.S. Greek church

NEW YORK (AP) — Church leaders in Istanbul, Turkey, have rejected a bid for increased self-government from the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese in America, according to the English edition of the National Herald, a Greek-American newspaper.

The Herald said it had obtained the text of a paper from the office of Istanbul's Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew that opposes a new governing charter endorsed by the U.S. bishops. The patriarch's see exercises direct jurisdiction over the U.S. Greeks, the largest branch in American Orthodoxy.

An American delegation went to Istanbul and the U.S. Greek bishops discussed the situation in New York last month, but issued no details.

The Herald said the U.S. bishops want their leader, the archbishop, to be chosen in Istanbul from three nominees they propose, but the patriarch's office wants the Americans to have only an undefined advisory role. Also rejected was a requirement that a U.S. archbishop have pastoral experience in the nation.

In addition, the Herald reported, the Istanbul see wants the power to name other U.S. bishops rather than having them elected in the United States, and to decide on all decisions by the U.S. bishops, including creation or elimination of any U.S. institution. Also, the powers of a congress of U.S. priests and laity would be reduced.

CHURCH BRIEFS

Dr. Howard Batson will be preaching revival services at First United Methodist Church Sunday, April 8 through Tuesday, April 10. Dr. Batson is the pastor of First Baptist Church in Amarillo, serving there since 1995. The 8:30 a.m. worship service from First Baptist Church is televised every Sunday with Dr. Batson preaching.

Dr. Batson holds a bachelor of science degree from Lander University in Greenwood, S.C., a master of divinity from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, and a Doctor of Philosophy from Baylor University in Waco.

Dr. Batson will be preaching the morning service on Palm Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and again at 7 p.m. Sunday. On Monday and Tuesday, he will be preaching the evening services at 7 p.m. The Chancel Choir of the church will be providing special music for the services which will include guest soloists from other churches in Pampa.

A nursery will be provided at all services, and a reception in honor of Batson will be held Tuesday evening following the service. Pastor of the church, Todd Dyess, and the congregation of First United Methodist invites everyone to attend.

Central Baptist Church at the Corner of Starkweather and Browning will be having an emphasis for senior adults this weekend. A banquet is planned on Saturday night with Harold Elliott speaking. Harold was born in Clarendon and serves as a full-time Chaplain for the Arlington Police Department. He has written two books and produced two films dealing with suicide. Harold was assigned to debrief personnel after the tragedy in Waco as well as the bombing in Oklahoma City.

Harold will be preaching in the morning worship service this Sunday, April 8th at 11 a.m. The Golden Heirs Senior Adult Choir will be presenting a musical "Moving With The Spirit" on Sunday evening at 6 p.m. "If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit". This musical tells of one couple's attempt to be led by the Spirit of God during some major changes in their lives.

Dr. Derrell Monday, pastor of Central Baptist Church, invites the community to the morning and evening worship services this Sunday.

"Turn It Down!" Is Battle Cry For Those Sick of Public Din

DEAR ABBY: Why do television and movie directors think they must fill every moment of a show with background music? I know many others feel as I do. I am particularly bothered when the wonderful nature shows have such loud background music that it's difficult to understand the commentary. What would be wrong with simply hearing the natural sounds of nature, like the sea or the forest?

Many people I know dislike going into restaurants because, again, the "background" music level is so high it is impossible to converse. And forget about sitting in a movie theater. Any sound level about 90 decibels does permanent damage to one's hearing — yet studies show that practically every movie theater exceeds this damaging level by a huge margin. Ask a theater manager to turn down the volume, and you'll be told the public likes that noise. We are permanently damaging the hearing of our people.

NANETTE FABRAY MACDOUGALL, PACIFIC PALISADES, CALIF.

Abigail Van Buren

audiences whose hearing is already impaired from rock concerts and dance clubs.

Speaking as someone with a degree of hearing loss of my own, I agree that television shows are sometimes marred because the background music overpowers the dialogue. But whether or not it will be altered depends upon the demographic the producers and station executives are trying to appeal to.

Sad to say, but the situation probably won't improve until people are able to prove in a court of law exactly where they were when their hearing was damaged.

DEAR ABBY: I am responding on behalf of the Vermont State Judiciary Committee to a recent letter from "Needs to Know," who plans to "marry" in Vermont. We would like to clarify a potential misunderstanding of our landmark civil union law.

In Vermont, the institution of marriage is available only to couples of the opposite sex. However, same-sex couples may establish a "civil union," which entitles them to benefits and privileges, as well as the responsibilities, equal to those afforded to married couples.

We hope "Needs to Know," her partner, their families and friends enjoy their stay in Vermont.

JOHN F. CAMPBELL, SENATOR, WINDSOR COUNTY, CLERK, SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

DEAR SEN. CAMPBELL: Thank you for the clarification. Regardless of what you call it, your landmark civil union law is sensible and forward-thinking. I wish other states would follow your lead and allow same-sex couples who wish to be officially committed to each other the privilege of doing so. It poses no threat to "traditional" marriages and promotes responsibility and accountability between the partners.

J&J Globetrotters are 11-0 in three basketball tourneys

BORGER — Tournament action seems to agree with the J&J Globetrotters of Pampa.

This past weekend, the Trotters played at Borger and won their third tournament in a row.

The Globetrotters have a perfect 11-0 record in the three tournaments they have entered this year.

The team, made up of all fourth graders, won all three games they played in at the Borger Extreme Classic.

In their first game, the Trotters struggled to a 22-18 win over a tough Gruber team. Hayden Skinner scored 10 points, including a 3-pointer to lead Pampa.

In the second game, the Trotters started off slow again by scoring just two points in the first quarter against Fritch. The Trotters came alive in the second half and outscored Fritch 21-2 for a 30-9 win. Matthew Smith led Pampa with 11 points in that game.

The third game was against a tough Hereford team.

The Trotters once again were led by Hayden Skinner, who had 12 points and two 3-point goals on the way to a 27-16 victory.

The Trotters relentless defense, led by Heath Skinner, John Luke Covalt, Casey Trimble, Thomas Fraser, Mathew Smith, Kadin Barton and Hayden Skinner, proved to be the downfall of all their opponents.

The Trotters are averaging 28 points per game while giving up 14.

The J&J Globetrotters are entered in the Panhandle Tournament this weekend.

Pampa's Nash is first-team all-district soccer selection

PAMPA — Pampa junior Ryan Nash has been named to the First-Team All-District 3-4A Boys Soccer Team.

Nash, who played the forward position, was the only Harvester selected by the district coaches to the first team.

Harvesters named to the second team were freshman forward Sammy Silva, senior midfielder Ivan McKenzie and senior defender Ryan Sells.

Three Harvesters — Ryan Chambers (senior midfielder), Tristan Brown (sophomore defender) and Richard Rodrigues (senior goalkeeper) made honorable mention.

The Harvesters advanced to the playoffs this season after taking second in the district standings.

Horoscope

BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 Since the Ram can be blunt and fiery, try reinventing yourself for the day. Be diplomatic with feelings and ideas. Others become highly responsive. A boomerang from a friend turns into a promising situation. Discuss what is important to you and your family. Make time for someone special in the afternoon. Tonight: Be half of a duo.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

 Others load you — the dependable Taurus — with things to do, so plan your day with an eye to being helpful. An elder tosses an unexpected element into your life. Seek out someone to confide in. Airing your feelings helps you open up and be friendlier. Tonight: Just don't be alone.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 Your ability to communicate the essence of your feelings wins friends and confidants. Use your Gemini wit when you change plans at the last minute. Call someone at a distance. Socialize in the daytime, but plan on more spiritual or quiet time later. Tonight: Relax.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 Spend some quality time with family and loved ones. You don't have to rush. A conversation with an older family member or friend carries a lot of weight, as this person appreciates your attention. You'll have to deal with someone's moodiness by giving him space. You, the Moonchild, might feel that this is at odds with your nurturing, affectionate nature. Tonight: Play and enjoy.

This week: Your creativity might not be anchored. Keep at it. By Thursday, you find that ingenuity merges with the practical.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 Show your gregarious Leonine side by reaching out for others, making their day special. They will appreciate your thoughtfulness. Accept an invitation and understand more about what another expects from you. Others expect you to relax with them, so know that you don't have to be on stage. Tonight: Put your feet up.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 You love to be efficient. Also, try being thoughtful, and see what happens. Maybe you can surprise someone special with a breakfast treat. It doesn't take much to make this person happy. Return calls and make low-key plans. Tonight: Not far from home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 Quite clearly, another is trying everything to make your day go well. Express your appreciation. A child or new "friend" surprises you. Consider this person's feelings. Sometimes, Libra tends to overlook problems if no one raises a red flag. Curb a tendency to be materialistic or possessive. Tonight: Your treat.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 You do not need to let everyone know what you are up to. Remember Scorpio's tendency to be secretive, which can be a tremendous asset, but sometimes also a detriment. Step back and do something special for someone who might need a little gentleness. You might not be clear with others. Relax and screen calls until you are ready to go out. Tonight: You are the lead player.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Take your time evaluating an offer that seems too good to be true.

While you love a risk, knowing when not to take one might be critical now. A relationship develops to a new level, especially after an important conversation. A child might be involved. You cannot anticipate another's response. Tonight: Vanish while you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

 Take your time getting started. Give up the Capricorn tendency of needing every detail laid out. Share plans with loved ones, and you'll get important feedback and perspective. Do not forget an older relative who sometimes feels isolated. Get together with him in the afternoon, at your own pace. Tonight: Where you are, there is a party!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

 Make calls after you have cleared the cobwebs out of your head. Someone at a distance is only too thrilled to hear from you. Listen to news about an older friend or co-worker, but be cynical about gossip. Express the Aquarian value of friendship, and do what you do best: Take charge and bring others together. Tonight: In the spotlight.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 Take your time with an important friend or loved one this morning, and use your sense of empathy. You might not see eye to eye with this person, generally, but your efforts now can turn the tide. Reach out for someone at distance. Maybe the time has come to plan an important trip. Tonight: Check out the Internet for vacation ideas.

Israel rockets Gaza police station

GAZA CITY, Gaza Strip (AP) — Signaling a new stage to seven months of fighting, Israel rocketed two Palestinian police stations early Friday, shelled another position and knocked out power to thousands of homes. The barrage came after four Israeli communities were attacked by Palestinian mortar fire, even though nobody was hurt in Thursday's mortar fire. Israel previously launched air strikes only if Israelis were killed or wounded in Palestinian attacks. The Israeli rocket attack, the second this week, came only hours after a top member of the militant Islamic Jihad group died in a West Bank explosion blamed on Israel. Earlier this week, another Islamic Jihad activist was killed in a helicopter gunship attack.

Japanese prime minister announces intention to resign

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Yoshiro Mori told his Cabinet that he would step down, signaling the end of one of Japan's most unpopular governments since the end of World War II. Mori, under fire for months over verbal gaffes and missteps, had been long expected to quit. The ruling Liberal Democratic Party is planning to hold a leadership election later this month to choose a successor. But Friday's announcement did not solve Japan's mounting problems. A long-awaited recovery from the lengthy economic downturn has stalled, and banks are still crippled by a decade-long debt crisis.

Hawaii public education system shut down by strikes

HONOLULU (AP) — Strikes by 13,000 public school teachers and 3,100 state university faculty members have shut down Hawaii's public education system in what is believed to be the first labor actions to paralyze all public education in a state. About 180,000 public school children and 42,000 University of Hawaii students are out of school because of the strike. Hawaii teachers' salaries, which average about $40,400, are 18th in the nation in terms of average salary but come in last when that salary is adjusted for cost of living, according to figures from the American Federation of Teachers.

Truckloads of new refugees arrive at U.N. camps in western Herat

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Famished and tired, thousands of Afghan refugees fleeing drought and protracted war are arriving at camps set up by the United Nations in western Afghanistan. About 1,000 new refugees are arriving by truckload each day, stretching to the limit facilities at six U.N.-run camps in western Herat, the United Nations said in a statement Friday. "Sanitary conditions are poor," the statement said. The worst drought in three decades has destroyed most crops and wiped out entire herds in Afghanistan. People in remote mountain villages, who have used up their food supplies, are leaving their homes in search of food and water. The U.N. camps in Herat now house 110,000 people and it is estimated that as many as 800,000 people are living as internal refugees inside Afghanistan. The United Nations is pleading for additional assistance to help those inside the country.

Square House to host watercolor workshop with artist Kenneth Wampler

PANHANDLE — Amarillo artist Kenneth Wampler will conduct a weekend watercolor workshop April 21-22 in Hazlewood Education Building at the Carson County Square House Museum in Panhandle. The workshop will be a continuing education (leisure study) class through Amarillo College. Wampler's exhibit, "A Walk With Nature," is currently on display at the museum.

"Painting to me is like reliving the invigorating experiences of climbing over boulders and fallen trees, while attempting to reach the summit of the mountain, experiencing the aroma of an open campfire, listening to the flow of melting snow trickling into the streams as it winds its way through the trees," Wampler said. "It enables me to perceive the sights, smells, and thin cool air, experienced with early morning treks through the pines and quaking aspens," he said.

Wampler, an outdoor enthusiast, is known for realistic watercolor, acrylic and pastel paintings of wildlife and nature's many wonders. Many of his paintings are reflections of hunting trips in Texas, New Mexico, Wyoming and Colorado.

Wampler holds an industrial engineering degree from Texas A&M University and is a veteran of the military. In 1996, he retired from engineering and now devotes his full time to painting. Wampler shares his enthusiasm with many through Amarillo College's Seniors' continuing education classes.

Wampler is a life member of the Amarillo Fine Arts Association and has served as president, treasurer, show director and membership chairman of the organization. He is a member and past treasurer of Lone Star Pastel Society of Amarillo, a member of the Tri-State Artists' of West Texas A&M University and Moore County Arts Association in Dumas. He has won awards for his art and exhibited throughout the region.

His paintings are in private collections in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Washington, Mexico, Holland and England.

The class fee is $50 and pre-registration is required. For more information, call the museum at (806) 537-3524.
