CHARGE OF MISCONDUCT THROWN OUT

But Magistrate Has Sharp Rebuke for Jurist

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—A charge of disorderly conduct against former Judge Ben Lindsey was dismissed today by Magistrate Dreyer.

The court dismissed the complaint made out by a police officer charging the Denver jurist with interfering with a religious ceremony when he interrupted Bishop William T. Manning's assault on companionate marriage in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine a week ago last Sunday.

Then Magistrate Dreyer ordered a new complaint drawn to be signed by a representative of the church, and when nobody came forward to sign it, he threw the case out of court.

He rebuked Lindsey, however, in dropping the charge. "You are a man of intelligence, you are a lawyer, you are a judge, you knew you were in church and you knew the law," Magistrate Dreyer told the proponent of companionate marriage.

"If you felt you were maligned you had your remedy. I always say if a man hurts my feelings I have the courts to go to. A church has a right to hold a divine service without interruption. The public should be given to know that dismissal of this complaint does not make it all right to interrupt church services."

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—Ben B. Lindsey goes to trial this afternoon on a revised charge of disorderly conduct, with Bishop William T. Manning as his principal witness.

The case grew out of a disturbance in the cathedral of St. John the Divine two Sundays ago when Lindsey volubly objected to Bishop Manning's denunciation of his views and was forcibly removed from the church.

On the protest of Lindsey's attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays, that his client was being placed in double jeopardy by the wording of the complaint, the trial was postponed last Wednesday and the charge revised to state disorderly conduct instead of "disturbing a church service."

Bishop Manning, head of Episcopal Diocese of New York, again has been subpoenaed and has been directed to bring a marked copy of Lindsey's book on companionate marriage, a telegram from the author pleading for an impartial hearing and a copy of the sermon which led to the melee.

The hearing is before Magistrate August Dreyer at 2 p. m. under the penal code.

Highway Hearing To Be Tomorrow

A hearing to determine whether a $1,000,000 road bond election in road district No. 5 shall be called is set for tomorrow.

Due to the absence of Commissioners Lewis O. Cox and M. M. Newman, and in order that new facts might be presented, the commissioners court postponed the hearing last Thursday until tomorrow.

Approximately 40 citizens of Pampa and LeFors were present for the hearing. It is understood that there is some organized opposition to the plan in precinct No. 1. The issue is the result of a compromise reached between those who approved and those who voted against unsuccessful plans.

Cabot Co. Employees Vote to Work 5 Days in Order To Help Jobless Men

Responses to plans suggested by the E. C. D.'s unemployment committees for relieving conditions here was announced this morning by R. G. Allen, local manager of the Cabot Co. interests in the Panhandle.

Yesterday, employees of the four carbon black plants in Gray, Carmon, and Hutchinson counties unanimously voted to shorten their working days per week from six to five, thereby giving employment to 17 additional men, all of whom are heads of families. The new employees have already been hired and will begin work this week.

Under the plan voted by the employees, each man will work eight hours per day, five days a week, instead of eight hours a day, six days per week. In some cases, the division of sharing of the work will amount to as much as a sacrifice of 15 per cent in wages. The sum that will be re-distributed will total $2,400. The company will contribute about 30 per cent of this amount, while 70 per cent will be given by the employees. A poll at each of the four plants resulted in unanimous approval of the plan.

Several months ago, the company instituted the six-day-a-week plan, whereby employees drew wages which virtually amounted to seven-day-a-week pay.

Worse Times Than These

Republic of Texas Was Founded

Peter Molyneux in a current issue of The Weekly: Those who are inclined to lose faith in the future because of present conditions, or who think this is not an appropriate time to talk about progress, display a woeful ignorance of the history of this country. For it is very much to the point now to remember that both the settlement of Texas by Anglo-Americans and the founding of the Republic of Texas began in the midst of depression which were more severe than the one through which we have been passing.

The settlement of Texas was started in the midst of depression which followed the panic of 1819, what is even more significant, it was started by victims of that panic—Moses and Stephen Austin. Republic of Texas was launched at the very moment of the disastrous panic of 1837 swept over the United States and the difficult task of financing the maintenance of a stable government faced the founders of the Republic at a time when states of the American Union were repudiating just debts, thereby ruining credit throughout the world, and when every bank in the United States had been compelled to stop specie payments. And yet both the colonization of Texas and the founding of this commonwealth as a free and independent government turned out to be glorious achievements. In the light of such experience, who will dare to doubt the future of Texas?

Probably no Pampans are doubting the future of Texas, but it is interesting to recall that some of the examples of progress that history delineates were during trying days. Now is as good a time as any to do the best work of one's life.

Speaker said recently that the so-called depression could be likened to a successful competitor. Business must compete with the tendency to "bury the dead in the ground." Now is the time to go after business with more advertising, more optimism, and more active salesmanship.

Most of the great achievements of history took place during hard times. Out of adversity good works should be wrought.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (NEA).—There is an attempt to analyze the results of the three wet-dry referenda in the November election by Illinois, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The attempt has become possible with the recent publication of complete figures by the secretary of state of Illinois. Scientific determination of the relative influence of various factors which cause a given election is impossible—except for partisans. But those figures, dealing only with the specific issue, probably are more accurate barometers of popular sentiment than the majorities of wet or dry candidates obviously were affected by other issues.

Illinois voted on three propositions. It cast 1,054,000 for repeal of the 18th amendment and 551,000 against; 968,000 for modification of the Volstead act and 506,000 against; 1,060,000 for repeal of the enforcement act and 523,000 against.

On the basis of those figures alone it may be suggested that in Illinois there is a distinct wet-dry cleavage between those who favor repeal and those who favor to keep both the federal amendment and the Volstead act intact. There may be 45,000 dries who would favor repeal but not repeal, but repeal got 86,000 more votes than modification. On both ends the excess appear to have been far more numerous than the middle-ground of modification group.

You can do whatever you like with the fact that the Illinois vote was 2,332,000 or 728,000 fewer than the largest total vote on any of the wet-dry propositions. There is always a large group of voters which referenda and vote only on candidates. There also have been many in Illinois who voted on one or two of the three wet-dry questions.

In five votes, dry strength has ranged between 506,000 and 556,000 and wet strength between 1,000—assuming the 1930 repeal vote to be more than the 1930 modification vote—and 1,060,000. But whereas the vote against 18th amendment this year was virtually as large as the high of 1926, the largest wet vote in 1930 was 100,000 less than the wet vote of 1922. And the anti-liquor and beer vote of 1923 was not appreciably more than the anti-modification vote of 1930.

Whatever these comparisons prove, if anything, they appear to indicate a tremendous growth of wet sentiment or any great weakening of dry sentiment. There seems more nourishment in the idea that wet voters were more willing to vote for wet candidates regardless of party lines, for wet Democratic Senator-elect Lewis defeated moist Republican Mrs. McCormick by something like 1,400,000 to 700,000 while the independent dry candidate had less than 200,000. Although Illinois had voted wet before, she had always been glad to elect dry Republicans.

Wet Democratic Senator-elect Marcus Coolidge beat the dry Republican Butler in Massachusetts this year by about 670,000,000 to 550,000. The total wet vote was almost as large as the Coolidge vote, but the Butler vote was far ahead of the dry vote, with the referendum vote somewhere around 200,000 less than the senatorial vote.

Rhode Island voted 172,000 to 48,000 against retention of the 18th amendment—about 7 to 2 wet, compared with 2 to 1 in Illinois and rather less than 2 to 1 in Massachusetts. It was Rhode Island's first referendum and both her senatorial candidates were wet.

Red and Green Are Colors Favored By Mrs. Edwin Vicars When She Is Hostess to Members of Amusu Club

Among the smartest of the Christmas club parties was that given by Mrs. Edwin Vicars, 608 Buckler, Tuesday afternoon as a courtesy to Amusu club members. Three tables of bridge were in progress in rooms attractively decorated to suggest the spirit of the season, and the colors red and green were used in all details of the party.

At the close of the games, a dainty salad course was served by candle light, and Christmas handkerchiefs and sachets were given as favors. Mrs. C. P. Buckler won high scores. The club re-elected Mrs. C. P. Buckler as president for the coming year. Those attending were Mrs. Buckler, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, Mrs. C. M. Bryson, Mrs. W. M. Craven, Mrs. Siler Faulkner, Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, Mrs. J. M. McDonald, Mrs. L. N. McChilough, Mrs. C. T. Hankapillar, Mrs. Alex. Schnieder, Mrs. Dick Walker, and Mrs. George Walstad.

MENU for the FAMILY

By SISTER MARY It's really amazing—the varieties of candy the perfectly inexperienced and imperfectly equipped candy maker can turn out of her own kitchen. A wooden spoon and a smooth porcelain or aluminum sauce pan are the only absolutely necessary equipment. The theory back of fudge or fondant—any "cream" while it is cooking, to change a large part of the cane sugar into another sugar composed of much smaller and finer crystals than those of cane sugar. This new sugar is known as "invert" sugar and is in reality part glucose. Of course, not all the cane sugar is changed by the cooking process, but enough must be changed to produce a creamy, melting texture in the finished candy.

In order to make sure sufficient "inversion" takes place, acid is often added to the sugar mixture. Lemon juice, vinegar or cream of tartar can be used. Cream of tartar is the easiest acid to use since it does not vary in strength as do lemon juice and vinegar. Or glucose can be added to prevent graininess. Ordinary honey and many of the corn syrups on the market are largely glucose. Molasses also contains a goodly amount of glucose. The addition of too much acid or glucose makes a mixture which will not respond to stirring and becomes more like a caramel or pull candy and with longer cooking a brittle, hard candy.

Keep Crystals Out of Syrup Do not stir fondant while it is cooking. The crystals which form on the sides of the pan are extremely coarse and every effort must be made to prevent them from dropping back into the syrup. Wipe them off with a swab of cheesecloth dipped in cold water as fast as they form. Fudge mixtures are less sensitive to physical influences, since the milk or cream helps to prevent crystallization in a chemical way. Always let a "cream" candy cool undisturbed before heating. As long as there is heat in the syrup stirring will cause evaporation. This in turn makes larger sugar crystals which give a coarse, grainy texture to the finished candy.

The regulation of temperature is important. Fondant should boil fast over a high flame. Caramels require a slow steady heat, nougats use two temperatures. A "brittle" should be cooked over a low fire, the flame being lowered and finally extinguished before the syrup is removed from the pan.

Fudge always is popular. There is a white fudge to which candied pineapple and cherries are added that is decidedly Christmasy and

Christmas Bridge Party Is Favor to Twin Six Members

Entertaining rooms at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Paul Shepherd were attractively decorated to suggest the Christmas season when members of the Twin Six club met for an evening of bridge and a Christmas tree Monday.

Frank C. Allison was favored for high score among the men and Mrs. C. P. Buckler for high score among the women. Gifts from a decorated tree, which were exchanged by the members, were distributed by Paul Shepherd as Santa Claus. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Peake, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gribbon, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, and the host and hostess.

Intermediates to Be Favored With Christmas Party

Boys and girls of the Intermediate Sunday school department and the Intermediate Christian Endeavor of the First Christian church will be entertained with a Christmas party Thursday evening at 7 o'clock by their teachers and sponsor. The church parlors will be decorated for the occasion, and a lovely Christmas tree will be provided. Each person is asked to bring a gift for the poor at this time.

Firms Cooperate In addition to these business firms published Saturday and Sunday, the following other firms contributed to the success of the bridge tournament sponsored Thursday evening by the Business and Professional Women's club: City Bakery, Pampa Bakery, Piggly Wiggly No. 1, "M" System and "M" System meat market No. 1, Canary Sandwich Shop, and Murfee's, Inc. The function was held at the Clouston Motor company. Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, president, yesterday expressed the thanks of the club to these firms as well as others cooperating.

FEMINE FANCIES By HOLLYCEE SELLERS Just a note to "Bobby" before talking to the grown-ups. Even though you forget to stamp your letter, we received it at the News-Post and delivered it to Santa Claus. The Santa Claus picture on the envelope was just as precious as the letter, and the Santa Claus appreciated the pretty stickers and the Christmas card. But Bobby, you forgot to give your last name and your address, so I'm afraid Santa won't know where to take your presents on the night before Christmas. Won't you write him another letter and give the necessary information, together with a list of things you want on Christmas?

Did you ladies try any of the recipes recommended by Miss Myrtle Miller, county home demonstration agent, for fruit cake last week? How did you like them? Today we are publishing the following recipe for English plum pudding, also recommended by Miss Miller. Ingredients: 2 c. flour, 1 tsp. salt, 1-2 tsp. saltpeter, 1-2 tsp. cinnamon, 1-2 tsp. nutmeg, 2 c. stale bread crumbs, 2 c. seeded raisins, 6 eggs, 1 c. currants, 2 c. brown sugar, 1-2 c. chopped figs, 1 c. shredded candied grapefruit peel or citron, orange and lemon mixed, 2 c. chopped beef suet, grated rind of 1 lemon, 1 c. grapejuice or sweet pickle syrup. Directions: "Stir" together the flour, salt and spices, add the bread crumbs, the raisins, cut into halves, the currants, sugar, suet very finely chopped, the shredded candied peel, the figs and lemon rind, mixed thoroughly, then moisten with the well beaten eggs and grapejuice. Turn into well oiled moulds or tin cans.

The methods differ when cooking puddings and when just steaming puddings, so the two methods will be given. Steaming in moulds: Line mould with butter paper which has been oiled. Fill mould not more than two-thirds full. The amount may depend on the size desired. One and two-pound puddings are best steamed for marketing. Special orders may require a larger size or even individual moulds.

The mould should be covered with heavy brown oiled paper. Fasten paper cover tightly on the mould. It is now ready to be placed in the cooker to be steamed. Steam, cook and decorate puddings. Channing puddings: If steam pressure cooker is used, fill No. 2 tin cans about three-fourths full. Line sides of tin cans, top and bottom with butter paper cut to fit. Oil the paper before placing it in the can. Butter paper does not break as easily as oiled paper. Cover top of can with heavy wrapping paper which has been oiled. Fasten paper cover on well.

In Worse Times Than These Republic of Texas Was Founded

Says Peter Molyneux in a current issue of The Texas Weekly:

"Those who are inclined to lose faith in the future of Texas because of present conditions, or who think that 'this is not an appropriate time to talk about progress,' display a woeful ignorance of the history of this commonwealth. For it is very much to the point now to remember that both the settlement of Texas by Anglo-Americans and the founding of the Republic of Texas were begun in the midst of depression which were more pronounced than the one through which we have been passing.

"The settlement of Texas was started in the midst of the depression which followed the panic of 1819, and what is even more significant, it was started by two 'victims' of that panic—Moses and Stephen Austin. The Republic of Texas was launched at the very moment that the disastrous panic of 1837 swept over the United States, and the difficult task of financing the maintenance of a stable government faced the founders of the republic at a time when states of the American Union were repudiating just debts, thereby ruining credit throughout the world, and when every bank in the United States had been compelled to stop specie payments altogether. And yet both the colonization of Texas and the founding of this commonwealth as a free and independent government turned out to be glorious achievements! In the light of such experience, who will dare to doubt the future of Texas?"

Probably no Pampans are doubting the future of anything, but it is interesting to recall that some of the finest examples of progress that history delineates were begun in trying days. Now is as good a time as any to begin the best work of one's life.

A speaker said recently that the so-called depression should be likened to a successful competitor. Business men must compete with the tendency to "bury the talents in the ground." Now is the time to go after business—with more advertising, more optimism, and more aggressive salesmanship.

Most of the great achievements of history took place in harder times. Out of adversity good works should be wrought.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (NEA).—There is an attempt to analyze the results of the three wet-dry referenda held in the November election by Illinois, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The attempt has become possible with the recent compilation of complete figures by the secretary of state of Illinois. Scientific determination of the relative importance of various factors which cause a given election result is impossible—except for partisans. But those referenda, dealing only with the specific issue, presumably are more accurate barometers of popular sentiment than the majorities of wet or dry candidates which obviously were affected by other issues.

Illinois voted on three propositions. It cast 1,054,000 votes for repeal of the 18th amendment and 551,000 against; 968,000 for modification of the Volstead act and 506,000 against; 1,060,000 for repeal of the state enforcement act and 523,000 against.

On the basis of those figures alone it may be suggested that in Illinois there is a distinct wet-dry cleavage between those who favor repeal and those who want to keep both the federal amendment and the Volstead act intact. There may be 45,000 dries who would favor modification but not repeal, but repeal got 86,000 more votes than modification. On both ends the extremists appear to have been far more numerous than the middle-ground of modification group.

You can do whatever you like with the fact that the total Illinois vote was 2,332,000 or 728,000 fewer than the largest total vote on any of the wet-dry propositions. There is always a large group of voters which ignore referenda and vote only on candidates. There must also have been many in Illinois who voted on only one or two of the three wet-dry questions.

Thus, in five votes, dry strength has ranged between 506,000 and 556,000 and wet strength between 1,054,000—assuming the 1930 repeal vote to be more indicative than the 1930 modification vote—and 1,185,000. But whereas the vote against 18th amendment repeal this year was virtually as large as the high dry vote of 1926, the largest wet vote in 1930 was 100,000 less than the wet vote of 1922. And the anti-light wines and beer vote of 1922 was not appreciably smaller than the anti-modification vote of 1930.

Whatever these comparisons prove, if anything, they do not appear to indicate any tremendous growth of wet sentiment or any great weakening of dry sentiment. There seems more nourishment in the idea that wet voters were more willing to vote for wet candidates regardless of party lines, for wet Democratic Senator-elect, Lewis defeated moist Republican Mrs. McCormick by something like 1,400,000 to 700,000 while the independent dry candidate had less than 200,000. Although Illinois had voted wet before, she had always been glad to elect dry Republicans.

Wet Democratic Senator-elect Marcus Coolidge beat the dry Republican Butler in Massachusetts this year by about 670,000,000 to 550,000. The total wet vote was almost as large as the Coolidge vote, but the Butler vote was far ahead of the dry vote, with the referendum vote somewhere around 200,000 less than the senatorial vote.

Rhode Island voted 172,000 to 48,000 against retention of the 18th amendment—about 7 to 2 wet, compared with 2 to 1 in Illinois and rather less than 2 to 1 in Massachusetts. It was Rhode Island's first referendum and both her senatorial candidates were wet.

MENU for the FAMILY

By SISTER MARY N.E.A. Services White It's really amazing—the varieties of candy the perfectly inexperienced and imperfectly equipped candy maker can turn out of her own kitchen. A wooden spoon and a smooth porcelain or aluminum sauce pan are the only absolutely necessary equipment.

The theory back of fudge or fondant—"cream" candy fact—is to change a large part of the cane sugar into another sugar composed of much smaller and finer crystals than those of cane sugar. This new sugar is known as "invert" sugar and is in reality part glucose. Of course, not all the cane sugar is changed by the cooking process, but enough must be changed to produce a creamy, melting texture in the finished candy.

In order to make sure sufficient "inversion" takes place, acid is often added to the sugar mixture. Lemon juice, vinegar or cream of tartar can be used. Cream of tartar is the easiest acid to use since it does not vary in strength as do lemon juice and vinegar.

Or glucose can be added to prevent graininess. Ordinary honey and many of the corn syrups on the market are largely glucose. Molasses also contains a goodly amount of glucose.

The addition of too much acid or glucose makes a mixture which will not respond to stirring and becomes more like a caramel or pull candy and with longer cooking a brittle, hard candy.

Keep Crystals Out of Syrup Do not stir fondant while it is cooking. The crystals which form on the sides of the pan are extremely coarse and every effort must be made to prevent them from dropping back into the syrup. Wipe them off with a swab of cheesecloth dipped in cold water as fast as they form.

Fudge mixtures are less sensitive to physical influences, since the milk or cream helps to prevent crystallization in a chemical way.

Always let a "cream" candy cool undisturbed before heating. As long as there is heat in the syrup stirring will cause evaporation. This in turn makes larger sugar crystals which give a coarse, grainy texture to the finished candy.

The regulation of temperature is important. Fondant should boil fast over a high flame. Caramels require a slow steady heat, nougats use two temperatures. A "brittle" should be cooked over a low fire, the flame being lowered and finally extinguished before the syrup is removed from the pan.

Fudge always is popular. There is a little fudge to which candied pineapple and cherries are added that is decidedly Christmasy and

Schmelling Is Warned to Accept Sharkey's Challenge in 15 Days

ACCEPTANCE EXPECTED TO BE CERTAIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission has re-shuffled the heavyweight deck without affecting the relative position of the cards.

The recognized champion, Max Schmelling of Germany, has been notified that he must accept within 15 days a challenge from Jack Sharkey, Boston sailor man.

Schmelling was advised of the commission's action in a cablegram, sent by Chairman James A. Farley, which said:

"There is on file in this office a challenge directed at you by Jack Sharkey. Your six month period in which to defend the title expired Dec. 12. You are directed to advise within 15 days from date your acceptance of the above challenge."

Sharkey thus once more is picked as the logical contender and will get another chance to redeem himself for some of the miserable exhibitions he has put up in important matches. Schmelling won the title last June when Sharkey fouled him. Schmelling's acceptance of the challenge was considered virtually certain but should he refuse it, he will be suspended.

The commission ignored the somewhat general view that W. L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga. is this country's best heavyweight at the moment. The solons apparently took the position that since Sharkey had beaten Stribling once there was no real reason why he should be forced to battle him again.

Ignored also were the rising crop of younger heavyweights among whom is Max Baer, Pacific coast slugger, who makes his New York debut against Ernie Schaaf of Boston, in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Two Mustangs Are Placed by Rockne Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 17. (AP)—Drake, Northwestern, the Army and Southern Methodist university each placed two players on the all-opponent football team as selected by Notre Dame coaches, scouts and players for 1930.

Seven of the 10 teams met by Notre Dame had one or more representatives on the mythical team, which follows:

Messenger, Army, left end; Bowstrom, Navy, left tackle; Baker, Southern California, left guard; Don Carlos, Drakes, center; Humber, Army, right guard; Marvill, Northwestern, right tackle; Leonard, Southern Methodist, right end; King, Drake, quarterback; Mason, Southern Methodist, left half; Eyth, Carnegie, Tech, right half; Russell, Northwestern, fullback.

Messenger and Don Carlos were the only players to repeat from last year's team. The teams which met Notre Dame this season but were not represented were Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Pittsburgh.

Bobby Jones Has New Honor

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—Bobby Jones' last and greatest campaign has won for him the Sullivan Memorial award as this country's outstanding amateur athlete during 1930.

Jones, who accomplished the unprecedented feat of winning all four major golfing championships in a single year, won out by an overwhelming margin over a field of nine other candidates for the award, given for the first time, in memory of James E. Sullivan, pioneer worker in the A. A. U.

The award, a gold medal, goes to the athlete who by his performance and by his example and influence as an amateur and a man, has done most during the year to advance the cause of sportsmanship.

Mr. Sneeze to Meet Mr. Blow

This, fans, is Mr. Walter (Sneeze) Achiu of Honolulu, who will wrestle Mr. Dutch Blow-Hard Mantell of Amarillo in a bout at the Pla-Mor auditorium Thursday evening.

Wherever football fans foregather, the yards invariably swirl around to some connection with Notre Dame and Knute Rockne.

The Rock has kept more addressees laughing with his witty tales than any other coach in the business, unless it's the well known landscape artist Robert Zuppke of Illinois. These two had a verbal tilt at a coaches' banquet of Illinois. These two had a verbal tilt at a coaches' banquet of Illinois.

ESTELLINE IS BEATEN AGAIN LAST EVENING

Victorious in their first two games of the basketball season, the Pampa Harvesters will journey to Borger Thursday night to meet one of the strongest outfits in the section. The Harvesters girls will accompany them for a game with the young ladies of Borger.

The girls are coached by the former Miss Fannie Florence Sims, who is on her honeymoon now. In her absence, Principal L. L. Bone has charge of the squad.

The Harvesters will wait until after the holidays to choose a captain. Albert Lard has been acting captain one night and Charles James the other.

Although the Estelline Cubs blanked the Harvesters in the first quarter and the Pampa forwards failed to get a point in the first half, the local quintet spurred to win 22 to 17 with Lard and James taking scoring honors here last night.

Scoring by quarters:
Estelline 7 6 1 3—17
Pampa 0 11 6 5—22
In a preliminary game the Pampa Freshmen noosed out the Hopkins five, 27 to 24.

The Pampa-Estelline contest opened with the visitors hitting the basket with ease and the locals unable to find their stride. The game ended with the Pampa defense smothering the Cubs and the local forwards dropping the ball through the hoop.

Lard saved the game for Pampa in the second period when he looted three baskets and a field goal, James, who failed to tally in the first half, broke loose in the last two periods to hit the basket twice from the floor and three times from the foul line.

Captain Curtis of the Cubs was high point man with 10, and Lawrence, forward, was the next leading scorer with 4.

Coach of Coast Grid Kings Says East-West Equal
FULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 17. (AP)—O. E. "Babe" Hollingbery, coach of the Washington State college football champions of the Pacific Coast, is one man at least who believes that far west college football is equal to those of the east.

And Hollingbery aired his opinion before Notre Dame licked Southern California 27-0, to confound the experts who freely predicted that the Trojans would win.

"If there is a difference the reason might be that western football is newer in the west," Hollingbery said shortly after his team defeated Villanova in an inter-sectional contest.

"Our boys are filled with the desire and the determination to win which the eastern players, with much more competition, do not possess."

"Then again there are so many large schools in a small territory. The west has only a few major schools. This may influence the division of material."

"However, if you consider the average team of the east and west, including man power, style of play and results of games, they will be about equal."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CELIA MITCHELL, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her seamstress mother, MARGARET ROGERS, to join her wealthy father, JOHN MITCHELL, in New York. The parents are divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a second marriage.

BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, a beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections. She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Celia and TOD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character.

Mitchell has forbidden his daughter to see Jordan. Shields comes to New York to work for a photographic service and meets Celia. She tells him she cares for Jordan but later realizes it is Shields whom she loves.

Mrs. Parsons goes to Mitchell and tells him the girl has been meeting Shields surreptitiously. Father and daughter quarrel and Celia leaves for Baltimore. Her mother is not there and all clues to Mrs. Rogers' whereabouts fail. Mitchell arrives. He and Celia become reconciled and return to New York after he has promised to locate Mrs. Parsons. Meanwhile, Mrs. Parsons invites Shields to dinner and tells him Celia is to marry Jordan. When they meet Celia is broken-hearted at Shields' coolness and the interview ends with the understanding that everything is over between them. No word comes from Mrs. Rogers. Celia is alone and miserable when the maid announces a young man has come to see her. Jordan begs her to elope within. It is several hours later that Mrs. Parsons notifies Mitchell the girl is missing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER LV

John Mitchell struggled to control his voice. "Then you have no idea what time she left the house?" he asked. "You didn't think it strange she was not here at dinner time?"

He was standing in Evelyn Parsons' living room. Evelyn had just told him of Celia's disappearance. Mitchell held the note which the girl had left in his hand.

Mrs. Parsons touched a handkerchief to her eyes. "Oh, John, you talk as though I'm to blame! I told you I don't know. I'm so terribly upset!"

"But you must think," the man said sternly, "Evelyn minute lost may be important! Calm yourself, Evelyn. This is no time for hysterics!"

She saw he was unmoved by her pretended grief and changed her manner. "You're right, of course!" Evelyn said. "We must find her. Forgive me! We must think what to do!"

"What time did you say the maid saw her?"

"Wait—I'll get Rose and she can tell you everything," Mrs. Parsons hurried from the room.

While he was waiting Mitchell strode back across the floor. His hands were thrust deep in his pockets. The man's face was white, his eyes tortured. It was more than five minutes before Evelyn returned. By that time Mitchell was pacing like a caged animal. He stopped short as the door opened and the two women entered.

"This is Rose," Evelyn Parsons began. "Rose, tell Mr. Mitchell when and where you saw Miss Celia last."

The maid looked sleepy. She held a long, figured robe about her, apparently slipped over a nightgown. Though she had risen from bed these had been thoroughly coached by her mistress.

"I think it was about four o'clock," the maid answered. "I was coming through the hall and I saw Miss Celia standing in front of the mirror in her room putting on her hat. She didn't say anything but a minute later when I was in Mrs. Parsons' dressing room I heard the door shut and then footsteps going toward the outside door. That's all I know about it."

"She was alone?" Mitchell asked.

"Yes, sir. There wasn't anyone else here but the cook in the kitchen."

"You say it was about four o'clock? Earlier or later than that?"

"I'm not just sure, sir, but it must have been about that time because at 4:30 I went downstairs to do an errand. It couldn't have been very long before that."

"I see. I suppose you know Celia's disappeared. Has she ever said anything to you that might give you an idea where she could have gone?"

Rose looked toward Mrs. Parsons and shook her head. "No, sir. She never did."

"Well, this doesn't help much," Mitchell was addressing Evelyn. "Someone else must have seen her. How about that doorman—the one on duty afterwards. Is he here now?"

"No," Mrs. Parsons answered, "but we can reach him. Rose, telephone downstairs and find out where to call the man who was at the door this afternoon."

Before the maid could take up the telephone Mitchell had it in his hand. "I'll do it," he said, and immediately was in conversation with the operator.

The result of 10 minutes of alternate waiting and frantic conversation produced the news that Celia Mitchell had left the apartment in company with a tall young man whom the doorman had seen frequently. They had driven away in a black roadster. The doorman agreed that it might have been about four o'clock but he was not sure.

Mitchell slammed down the telephone. "It's that Shields!" he exclaimed. "Blind fool—why didn't I guess. Good God, they may be anywhere! Evelyn, Evelyn—!"

Mrs. Parsons sprang to her feet. "John, dearest, don't take it so terribly! Everything may be all right. Please! For my sake."

He pushed her aside. "Where does Shields live?" he demanded.

"I haven't any idea!"

The man stared at her. "You promised to be responsible for my daughter," he said harshly, "but you know nothing about her goings and comings in the house. You are unable to name any of her friends who might tell me what's become of her. And you say everything is all right. Bah!"

Mitchell turned away. Evelyn Parsons started and for an instant her eyes flashed with unalloyed malice. Then she began to weep.

The man apologized. He begged her to help him find Celia.

"But I've been trying to!" Evelyn sobbed. "I've been trying to do everything I can and now I know you hate me!"

In desperation Mitchell swore he meant nothing of the kind. He urged her to stop crying and aid him in locating Barney Shields.

Together they went to the room Celia had occupied and here, after much searching, Mrs. Parsons produced a penciled memorandum. The slip of paper read: "Call Mr. Shields, Blank 5585."

"Look!" she cried, waving the note toward Mitchell. "It's the telephone number!"

By now it was nearly 1 a. m. One glance at the memorandum and John Mitchell was urging the downstairs operator to speed his call. There were tense moments of delay before the man spoke excitedly:

"Is this Shields? Barney Shields?"

The young man's voice came back over the wire. "At the phone. Who's calling?"

Mitchell straightened. "You are Barney Shields?" he asked again.

There was an electric instant and then Mitchell continued: "I'm sorry to disturb you, Mr. Shields. This is John Mitchell—Celia Mitchell's father. You remember we met the other day?"

"Oh—how do you do?"

Something important has happened," Mitchell went on. "It's something I'd like to talk to you about. Can I see you if I come where you are at once?"

"Why, yes. Certainly."

"Then I'll be there immediately," Mitchell asked the address, and put down the telephone.

"Where are you going?" Evelyn Parsons demanded. The man's answer was lost over his shoulder as he hurried from the room. Evelyn followed in time to see Mitchell jam on his hat and pull open the outer door. With a deep sigh she turned and went to her bedroom.

There was little traffic and in 20 minutes John Mitchell's car stopped before the building where Shields made his home. Mitchell hurried up the steps and was addressing a young man at a desk in the lobby when someone touched his arm. He swung around to confront Barney Shields.

"Were you asking for me, Mr. Mitchell?"

"Yes. How do you do, Shields. The older man paused for an instant. "I want to have a talk with you. Is there somewhere we can go?"

Except for the youth behind the counter the club lobby was deserted. Barney led the way into a writing room, likewise unoccupied. "No one will disturb us here," he said. "You said something has happened? It isn't Celia—?"

Curiously was written plainly on the young man's face. He had seen Mitchell only once in his life. To be awakened at 1 o'clock in the morning and summoned for an interview was distinctly disquieting. "Shields, where is my daughter?"

"Why, what do you mean?"

"Just what I said. Where is Celia? You were seen with her leaving the apartment at four o'clock this afternoon. What have you done with her? Where is she now? Young man, you'll pay—"

Shields' expression changed from blank wonder to indignation. "You don't know what you're saying!" he exclaimed. "You're crazy. I didn't see Celia today! You don't—you can't mean she's—gone!"

For answer Mitchell thrust out Celia's note. At the same time he continued threatening the youth. Barney read the brief note in Celia's writing undeniably—and his bewilderment faded.

"But where could she go?" he cried. "Celia's just a kid! Good Lord—you've got to find her. What are you standing here for? You're wasting time!"

There could be no doubt of Shields' sincerity. Even the distraught father saw that. His tone altered.

"But didn't you meet her at the apartment—at 4 o'clock?"

"I tell you I didn't see her all day. If she left the apartment with a man it was someone else," Mitchell's face had turned a grayish tinge. "The doorman said they got into a roadster—" he began when Barney interrupted: "Maybe it was Jordan," he said. "I saw them together the day before."

"Celia? With Jordan?"

Barney recounted the incident hastily. He named the hotel and said that he had gone there to meet a business acquaintance. Celia had appeared with Tod Jordan and a girl whom Barney did not know. "Do you know Jordan, do you?" Mitchell cut in anxiously. "Celia pointed him out to me once. I've never met him."

"That's the truth?"

"My God, why should I want to lie to you? If Celia disappeared I should think you'd be trying to find her instead of standing here asking me questions!"

"You're right!" John Mitchell's fist landed on the desk. "I'll go after Jordan—!"

"Let me come with you!" Barney urged. "I can't sleep unless I know that Celia's safe."

"Come along!"

They searched a directory to find the address. Then in Mitchell's car they set off for an east-side address. The apartment building, when they reached it, was neither conspicuously smart nor shabby. The street to right and left was deserted and there was no attendant at the door. Barney tried the lock, but the door would not give. "Not so good!" he muttered and stepped back. The whirr of a motor car attracted their attention. A taxicab had turned at the corner and was coming toward the apartment. The two men stepped into

Rock Island to Start Work Soon on New Railroad

LUBBOCK, Dec. 17. (P)—Early construction by the Rock Island of its 310-mile line from Shamrock to Quanah was indicated by A. MacKenzie of Chicago, vice-president of the road.

He said engineers of the Rock Island and Port Worth and Denver would meet at Shamrock today to approve certain engineering details regarding a 30-mile stretch of joint track ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission in authorizing both roads to carry out building programs in the east Panhandle.

F. E. Williamson of the Burlington announced last week early construction on the Denver's line from Childress to Pampa. MacKenzie today said he expected the Rock Island to begin construction shortly after January 1.

The Rock Island extension will connect with the Frisco at a point near Quanah, providing a new route from the Panhandle into Fort Worth and Dallas.

Obscure Hero Now Remembered

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (P)—They do this sort of thing for nothing, but every now and again congress remembers obscure heroes.

Private William H. Dean, of the United States cavalry, died after submitting to yellow fever tests in behalf of science. Now Representative Mages of Michigan has put in a bill to give both his father and mother a pension of $250 a month, and to have Dean's name inscribed on the War department's roll of honor.

TIRES OF WIFE

CHICAGO, Dec. 17. (P)—After 44 years of married life Charles Brod, 72, father of 10 children, has decided to make a change.

He filed suit yesterday, alleging his wife, Beate, 67, was cruel, but she countered with a cross bill denying the charge and insisting he never would have thought of suing if he hadn't been urged on by a young and beautiful widow.

Demand Ratable Taking of Crude

DALLAS, Dec. 17. (P)—Resolutions demanding that pipeline companies observe the state pipeline ratable takings act and inducing an embargo on gasoline and a $1 a barrel tariff on oil, were adopted yesterday at a meeting of the Texas division of the Midcontinent Oil and Gas association.

Edward T. Moore of Dallas was re-elected president and J. H. Clark of Amarillo was elected vice-president to succeed Earl Calloway. Other officers were re-elected.

Hijackers Push Old Man Into Line of Fire

PITTSBURGH, Kans., Dec. 17. (AP)—Philip Miceli, 67, was shot and killed here last night when one of two men, described by Crawford county officers as liquor hijackers, used the aged man as a shield against the fire of Miceli's son, Tom.

The men alleged by officers to have entered Miceli's home near Canolio in an attempt to steal liquor, escaped after the shooting.

The men's actions prior to the shooting attracted a large crowd of men, several of whom were armed. Young Miceli rushed out, grabbed a shotgun from a bystander and returned the fire. As he raised the weapon to fire at one of the intruders the man pulled the elder Miceli in front of him. The charge struck the aged man in the heart.

As the men fled, armed men in the crowd fired at a motor car being backed from a neighboring garage in the belief that the fugitives were in the machine. Fifteen shots struck the car but the driver, Tom Sotania, was uninjured.

'Passion Flower' Comes to Rex

'Passion Flower,' Kathleen Norris' stirring account of a woman who, failing to find happiness in her own "money marriage," attempts to break up the domestic tranquility of her cousin who has thrown wealth overhead in order to marry her father's chauffeur—is the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which will be the feature at the Rex theatre today only.

An imposing cast was selected by Director William de Mille to fill the principal roles. Kay Johnson, who starred in "Madame Satan," and "Billy the Kid," is seen as Cassy Frindle, who is content to exchange a millionaire's mansion for a two-room attic flat and the man whom she loves; Charles Blockford, who will always be remembered for his work in "Dynamite" and "Opposition," plays the role of the chauffeur who is driven to extremes in order to support his wife and child; Kay Francis, of "Street of Change," "Raffles" and "The Virtuous Sin," plays the discontented Dulce whose freedom with an elderly invalid husband drives her to drastic action in an effort to secure the love of Cassy's husband; Lewis Stone, recently featured in "The Office Wife," portrays the invalid husband.

The supporting cast includes Zasu Pitts as an amusingly pessimistic servant; Winter Hall, as Cassy's stern father; and four-year-old offspring of the chauffeur-society set match.

Missing Man Is Safe with Piutes

STOVE PIPE WELLS, DEATH VALLEY, Calif., Dec. 17. (AP)—A large searching party was demobilized here today when a sheriff brought word that the object of the search, a missing man, had been found safe with the Piute Indians of Death Valley.

Fear for the New Yorker's safety arose Saturday when a pack burrow which he was known to have taken on a trip into the valley was discovered in the little settlement of Furnace Creek.

A search begun immediately ended last night when Harry Cooper, Inyo county sheriff, announced he had found the theatrical agent.

"He's safe," the peace officer informed other searchers. "But he's gone Indian."

Furnace, who forsook Broadway early in November for the perils and furnace-like temperature of Death Valley in search of health, did not know he was being sought, the officer reported.

"I'm living just the way I want to now," the officer quoted Furnace as saying. "My health is greatly improved and I intend to stay here with these Piute fellows until I am fully recovered."

Quick Results in News-Post Ad

The quickest and best results I ever received from newspaper advertising," is the way Hugh Johnson, manager of the Pampa Bulk company, characterizes the results of the 90c used-car sale announced in last Sunday's News-Post. Much interest has been manifested in the sale of cars from 90c up to $600.00, according to Mr. Johnson.

"We have carefully checked our stock of cars and prices have been marked on all of them. People began coming in soon after the newspaper announcement and are still coming."

A big open-house party will be held tonight and Saturday night when the 90c used cars will be sold.

Mayor of Orange Succumbs Today

ORANGE, Dec. 17. (AP)—Ed S. McCarver, 51, mayor of Orange, died today after several days' illness. He was stricken with apoplexy last Friday.

He formerly was commander of the Texas division of the Sons of Confederate Veterans and at the time of death was commander of the Trans-Mississippi division of the national organization.

He was completing his second term as mayor, was county judge of Orange county two years and had served two terms as county clerk of Orange county. He was prominently identified with the Orange Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows lodges.

Mexico Changes Santa Claus

Mexican children this year will have a new Santa Claus. Instead of the traditional Christmas saint, the old Aztec deity, Quetzalcoatl, known to the people of Montezuma's day as "the fair god," will preside over Christmas festivities, by order of the ministry of public education. An old carving of Quetzalcoatl is shown above; at the right is his modern, humanized guise, in which he will distribute toys and candy to poor children at a big festa in Mexico City on Dec. 25.

CHOOSES RAIL FOR BED; ENGINE BARELY HALTED

WAUKESHA, Ill., Dec. 17. (AP)—Innocent victims might be interested in the experience of James Murphy.

Selecting the rock ballast road-bed of the Chicago and North-western railway for his bed and a steel rail for his pillow, he lay down for a nap.

Out of the darkness came a south-bound limited. Murphy's sleep was undisturbed. There was a screeching of brakes as the engine sighted the recumbent figure. But Murphy kept right on sleeping. The engineer found him still dead to the world after the heavy train had come to a jolting stop, the engine's cowcatcher three feet away.

In a magistrate's court he told the judge he had no desire to kill himself. His choice of bed, he said, was inadvertent. The judge let him go.

Gulf and West Texas Sale Allowed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—Acquisition of the Gulf and West Texas railroad by the Southern Pacific was authorized today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Southern Pacific was authorized to acquire the capital stock of the Gulf and West Texas and the latter was permitted to issue $300,000 of common stock with a par value of $100 a share to be used in construction of proposed new line.

Epidemic of Sore Throat Is Severe

TORONTO, Dec. 17. (AP)—Three hundred residents of the town of Kirkland Lake are receiving medical attention for septic sore throat. There have been five deaths.

In a message received by Dr. J. M. Robb, minister of health, from his deputy minister, Dr. W. J. Bell, who is now at Kirkland Lake, it was stated that the disease had been traced directly to two workmen employed by one of the dairies.

"The germ is a very malignant one and is known as streptococcus haemolyticus," said Dr. Robb. "The disease is usually a long drawn out one, and highly contagious."

The 300 cases are divided about equally between children and adults. Scarlet fever anti-toxin is being used with varying results.

"The milk from the dairy was unpasteurized," said Dr. Robb. "Had it been pasteurized there is little doubt but that the epidemic would not have broken out, as pasteurization kills the germs."

The minister of health said he believed the situation was fairly well in hand, but that it still was serious. The sanitary inspector and the medical health officer for Kirkland Lake are both laid up with septic sore throats.

Wilbur's Open Door Plan Has Its Drawbacks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—It's nice to keep the office door open to the world, but to have people sit and gape at you is something else.

This conclusion came to Secretary Wilbur, who practices the open door principle at the Interior department. A comfortable chair in the ante-room commands a fine view of his desk. Idle persons just looking around found it a fine place to take a load off their feet and watch Wilbur at work.

Instead of the secretary's large frame they can now gaze at the decorations of a small screen, which has been set squarely in front of the resting place.

Ford Escapes in Auto Collision

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Dec. 17. (AP)—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, escaped injury in an automobile collision which damaged the steering gear of the car in which he was riding through Youngstown last night.

Mr. Ford and his chauffeur and secretary proceeded on their trip from Washington to Detroit in a new car furnished by a Ford agency here, after a delay of an hour and a half.

The collision occurred on the main street at the public square here, between Ford's car and an automobile driven by W. N. Bare of Youngstown, who asserted today that Ford's car "crashed" a red traffic light while Bare was crossing with the green light.

In spite of the damaged steering apparatus, Mr. Ford's car was driven to a motor agency under its own power. There the motor magnate waited in the sales room while a new car was prepared for him, and the party's baggage transferred.

No report of the accident was made to police, and the occurrence became publicly known only this morning.

Bare was not injured, and his car was only slightly damaged. Damage to the Ford car was limited to a crumpled fender and the steering gear.

DEATH AT OWN HANDS

FORT WORTH, Dec. 17. (AP)—I. F. Watkins, 55, was found shot to death in his room at a hotel today. A pistol was lying on the floor beside him. Justice Frichard returned a verdict of suicide.

A letter left to a friend, gave ill health as the reason for the act. The man's nearest relative is a third cousin living in Kentucky.

New Governor

Governor-Elect Arthur Seligman, above, of New Mexico, who takes office in January, will be the second native-born New Mexican ever to hold that office — and this despite the fact that New Mexico's succession of governors dates back to 1698, when the first Spanish governor took office. Mr. Seligman was born at Santa Fe in 1873 and is president of a bank there.

Title of Land In Oklahoma City Now At Stake

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 17. (AP)—Oklahoma City's title to land in the heart of the city, abandoned recently by the Rock Island, is questioned in a suit on file in federal court here today.

The suit was brought by James W. and Louise Rice of Kansas City, who ask reversionary title to lot 6, block 21 of the original plat. The abandoned right of way is valued at $7,000.00.

The Rices contend they are heirs of Seymour S. Rice, who obtained the land from trustees of the city and deeded it to the Choctaw Coal and Railway company with a stipulation that the title revert to him in event the land was abandoned by the railway company.

Noted Robbers Are Victims of Illinois Posse

SIDELIA, Ill., Dec. 17. (AP)—The trans-border line battle which five daring bank bandits lost yesterday to a posse of unrelenting officers resulted in the capture of bigger criminal game than was at first indicated, authorities said as they surveyed the results.

More Santa Fe Witnesses Heard

LUBBOCK, Dec. 17. (AP)—Other Santa Fe witnesses today supplemented the testimony given yesterday by J. R. Hitchcock, of Amarillo, general manager of the western line of the Santa Fe system. The Santa Fe is leading the opposition to the proposed construction of the Texas and Pacific Northern railroad in the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing being held here.

J. D. Tinsley of Amarillo, Santa Fe agricultural agent, was the first witness today. He told of the agricultural development and potentialities in the territory surrounding the 333 miles which the T. & P. N. would cover from Big Spring to Lubbock, Amarillo, and Vega.

C. M. Evans of Marshall, agricultural agent of the T. & P. N., had stated the T. & P. N. would serve 23 counties, containing approximately 14,500,000 acres, without making any estimate as to how the traffic from that area would be divided. Evans had said the population served would be some 242,000; Tinsley stated it would be only 120,000.

The witness stated the agricultural development in the territory had been steady, indicating it was not being held back by lack of adequate rail facilities.

Before Tinsley started testifying, Luther Hogsett of Fort Worth, general freight agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, was recalled to the stand for cross-examination.

The audience here is a laugh when T. & P. attorneys showed that the Denver timetable which Hogsett had introduced as an exhibit contained an advertisement of the wonders and potentialities of the plains country.

Hogsett stated the Denver was getting our share of what little traffic there is to and from the south plains. He accused the Rock Island and Santa Fe were keen competitors.

India Whacks the Demon Rum

NEW DELHI, Dec. 17. (AP)—The Indian government today announced that it had decided to prohibit the sale of liquor in the country. The move is part of a series of reforms aimed at improving the economy and social conditions. The government stated that the sale of liquor had been a major source of revenue, but it was necessary to take this step to address the social issues associated with alcohol consumption.

Evidence that a movement for prohibition is under way in India is contained in this photograph, taken in Karachi and showing an effigy that was carried through the streets bearing the placard, "Monster of Liquor—the Worst Enemy of Indians and Mankind." After thousands of Hindus vowed not to touch wine of liquor, the effigy was burned in one of the city squares.

Major Shepard Denies His Previous Tale to Officers

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 17. (AP)—Major Charles A. Shepard testified on cross-examination today at his trial for the alleged murder of his wife that he had never had any conversation with her that she had been carrying on with another man. Shepard's testimony contradicted his previous statements to military officers, leading to further questions about the circumstances of the crime.

Shepard testified that he realized at the time there were inaccuracies in the statement taken at Denver, in which Shepard was asked whether his wife loved him and he was quoted as replying "absolutely."

"This," Major Shepard responded, "was another of several inaccuracies." Shepard left the stand after about an hour of cross-and-redirect examination. He appeared calm in contrast to the display of emotions which marked his presence on the witness stand all day yesterday.

Harry S. Glass, a defense attorney, objected strenuously to repetition of questions by Brewster in cross-examination. Glass told the court Shepard repeatedly had answered some of the questions put by Brewster.

"It is part of cross-examination to give the witness a memory test," Judge Richard J. Hopkins said, overruling the objection. "Proceed with the examination."

Brewster questioned Shepard again regarding the fact he used no stomach pump on Mrs. Shepard. "Mrs. Shepard was a confirmed alcoholic for years. I did not consider poisoning at the time," Shepard said in support of the defense contention that he did not suspect the presence of poison.

"You know if mercury was left alone in the stomach 20 minutes nothing could be done to save her," Brewster continued.

"I have told you," Shepard replied, "she had no symptoms of mercurial poisoning."

Guatemala Has New Government Following Revolt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—Minister Reinos of Guatemala was notified by message from his country today that the government of President Palma had been overthrown. The message received was signed by Rodriguez Beteta, secretary general of the military junta described as now in control of the government. The message said Gen. Mauro de Leon, former minister of war, was killed in the fighting yesterday, and that tranquility prevailed there today.

Gen. Manuel Orellana, a well known military leader, has been designated as provisional president of the republic.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—Existence of a "critical" revolutionary situation in Guatemala was reported to the state department today by the American legation at Guatemala City.

Aside from reporting that sharp fighting had occurred on the streets the legation's advice was indefinite. The obscurity of the actual situation of the revolution was indicated by the legation's report saying that the army was divided, but that it was not known whether the revolt was against provisional President Palma or another faction.

Guatemalan legation officials maintained the published reports of disorders. Minister Reinos said he received a message from his government last night which contained no indication trouble had arisen.

TODAY'S RADIO

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD Associated Press Radio Editor NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—Synchronized broadcasting on identical wavelengths by two network key stations and two of its units is expected to get under way about March 1 or shortly thereafter.

Permission having been granted by the radio commission to NBC to broadcast WEAF, New York, with WTIC, Hartford, and WJZ, New York, with WBAL, Baltimore, engineers believed they might be able to have their apparatus installed by that time. Preliminary work already is under way.

Under the plan, WTIC, which divides time with WBAL on 292.5 meters, will move up to 454.5 meters and operate simultaneously with WEAF on alternate days. The other days when WTIC is using 222 meters WBAL will be on with WJZ at 384.5 meters.

Two networks are to present the lighting of the White House Christmas tree by President Hoover from the White House lawn at 6 p. m. (EST) Christmas eve. Both the WEAF and T. E. WABC chains will have microphones there for the feature which will include a Christmas greeting to the nation by President Hoover. Lieut. U. S. Grant XIII also is to talk and the U. S. Marine band will play.

Try these on your radio tonight: Christmas messages to the nation's fighting forces and war veterans by Secretary of War Patrick Hurley, Brigadier General Frank T. Hines and Ralph T. O'Neill, national commander of the American Legion at 8:15 (EST) on WABC and chain.

Countess Alga Albani, soprano, as guest soloist with the Nathaniel Shilkret orchestra, WEAF and stations at 8:30. The pleasure hour on the WJZ group at 9:30. The Detroit symphony orchestra on WABC and hookup at 10. Albert Payson Terhune interview, WEAF and chain at 10:30.

Loal Lane, actress, and Bob Steele, as guest artists with California melodies, 11:30 on WABC and chain.

Young Woman Dies Last Night

Mrs. Leona Elizabeth Tutton, 24, died of facial erysipelas at 10 o'clock last night at a local hospital. The body will be sent by train this afternoon at 6 o'clock by the G. C. Malone funeral home, which has charge of arrangements to Hugo, Okla., for funeral services and burial.

She is survived by her husband, S. P. Tutton, employee of the Plains Drilling company; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Petty of Hugo, Okla. The Tuttons have lived here for the last two years.

BOOZE—

(Continued From Page 1) would not cut much ice. Drys predicted the Supreme court, if and when the ruling comes up for review, will reverse it. They cited numerous precedents. The Justice department hid it could not, until after Supreme court action, affect the status of prohibition. Anti-prohibitionists in Washington had not summed up their attitude, but most heads of national wet groups in other cities were conservative in comment.

The drys gave their position in expressing belief that the grounds upon which Judge William Clark of New Jersey yesterday decided against the prohibition amendment, had been held unsound by the Supreme court years ago.

Edward B. Dunford, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, said the contention in the case "is not new," and "was held unsound when first made 10 years ago."

The highest bench has held repeatedly that various attacks on constitutional prohibition had no merit. It has refused to entertain several other attempts to break down the amendment. Those who know well the workings of the court hold the view that in matters of this sort it is inclined to a liberal construction of the constitutional provisions.

The only direct effect anticipated from Judge Clark's ruling was a possibility that in his jurisdiction authorities might refuse to act against violators. This was entertained by one government official here while others were emphatic in asserting it could have no control over the actions of other district judges even in New Jersey, and that it would not prevent arrests in that state under the national prohibition act.

A suggestion was advanced by one dry leader, Oliver W. Stewart, president of the Flying Squadron Foundation, that if the eighteenth amendment were held invalid, the thirteenth — it abolished slavery — must also fall. It too, was ratified by the legislatures and not by conventions.

WHEAT ON BOTTOM CHICAGO, Dec. 17. (AP)—Wheat fell today to the lowest prices which July delivery has reached here since 1901. The drop followed sharp setbacks in wheat quotations at Liverpool.

Opening irregular, 11-3 to 3-4c off, July 68@68 1-2c, wheat after wheat underwent a further tumble for July. Corn started 1-4 to 5-8c down, rallied a little, and then broke lower.

COTTON STEADY NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 5 to 15 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables which evidently promoted further covering and scattered buying.

New January contracts sold up to 9.02 and May to 10.16 during the first few minutes, making net advances of about 18 to 16 points on the more active positions, but the bulge met some southern and New Orleans selling which eased prices off a few points.

At the end of the first half-hour the market was fairly steady at net advances of about 6 to 10 points.
