FRENZIED FINISH TO GUBERNATORIAL DRIVE BEGINS

SMALL IS CHEERED AS THOUSANDS HEAR HIM IN PAMPA

Notes on All-Panhandle rally.

The impression is strong throughout Texas that Clint Small and Ross Sterling have the other candidates on the defensive and are gaining rapidly. Mrs. Ferguson, with the famous "hip-pocket" vote, is the other aspirant who might get into the run-off. Mr. Small has the advantage of Sterling in that he has the West Texas vote. Moreover, Sterling's attempt to buy, through his allies, the governorship is turning the trend away from him.

Telegrams poured into the Small-for-Governor club headquarters here yesterday saying that if West Texas stood pat Small would be in the run-off. It is West Texas' opportunity, and surely the long-trodden citizens of this section will not pass it up. Stay by Small!

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Small of Shamrock, parents of the candidate arrived somewhat before their son. They impress one as being "fine old folks" of the pioneer type, of which plains residents love to boast. Mr. Small, county judge of Collingsworth for many years, is sturdy for his age and has the kindness for which pluriety is noted. Would he and Mrs. Small pose for a picture? "No, no," out of modesty, but yes, for sake of accommodation.

The senator arrived at the Schneider after a fast drive through the heat and dust from Memphis, where he spoke to 5,000 persons. He greeted local and visiting friends happily, posed for a picture, and rushed to the barber shop.

A small dinner party had been arranged by President Willis and Secretary Mel Davis of the local club. Those seated included Senator and Mrs. Small, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Small of Shamrock, Judge Willie M. Davis, Mayor and Mrs. Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, Mrs. Temple Atkins of Shamrock, Mrs. R. L. Templeton of Wellington, Miss Mary Frances Templeton, C. C. Small, Jr., w/y Templeton of Wellington, C. C. Small, Jr., Horace Saunders, J. E. Williams, George Briggs, and Olin E. Hinkle.

Wellington's 25-piece band directed by G. Ward Moody was the first musical organization to arrive, and the lobby of the New Schneider rang with martial notes for half an hour. Members of the band wore black capes with gold trimmings. Soon thereafter the Clarendon band, attired in white, marched into the lobby and played a concert of lively numbers. The Clarendon organization was notable for its precision in marching and playing. And most snappily dressed of all was the Pampa American Legion band, directed by Pete Bradford.

The bands added greatly to the occasion and especially to the parade.

Oran Kelly, editor of the Spearman Reporter, was the first of the country publishers to arrive, and J. D. Merriman of Panhandle and John D. Merriman of Panhandle were second. T. E. Johnson, managing editor of the Amarillo News-Globe, had arrived in mid-afternoon.

Jepp Todd of Canadian said that two, or possibly three persons in his town were not for Clint Small. Odo Caraway of Clarendon predicted the Wellington candidate would get 90 per cent of the Donley vote. Rev. W. A. Erwin, Pres-

CANDIDATE IS WELCOMED AT GREAT RALLY

He Declares He Will Be in Second Primary

RESULT RESTS ON HOME AREA

West Texas Is Asked To Hold Battle Line

Senator Clint C. Small, short-grass candidate for governor with a vision of service to the entire state, told five thousand persons assembled at the All-Panhandle rally here Friday night that he was in mortal combat with the sky-scraper candidate from Houston but that with the Panhandle solidly behind him he would go into the second primary.

"The whole state has been very good to me," Clint Small said, "and with this splendid reception testifying to my strength in the Panhandle I am very happy that there is a bright prospect for my election. I had been hearing, after three other gubernatorial candidates had invaded my section, that the Panhandle was dividing its allegiance. But now I just wish I felt worthy to return to such a welcome as this. Your presence means a great deal to me, and I shall never be able to repay you if I live to be 100 years old."

The senator said that when he entered the race the other candidates assumed he had no chance for election and paid no attention to him. But as time passed it became apparent that the Small candidacy and platform had appealed to voters all over the state, and today many of the "well known leading candidates" are attacking the Wellington man.

"Too Well Known"
Most of the candidates, Senator Small declared, are too well known, and they are only leading the state into further turmoil and expense. Failure of the governor and legislature to agree cost a million dollars in the last twelve months, he pointed out. Striking back at three rivals who recently spoke critically of him in the Panhandle, Senator Small paid his respects in caustic terms to Sterling, Love, and Jim Ferguson.

He opened up early on Sterling, first answering the Houstonian's charge that in five years as county judge of Collingsworth Small had not paved any roads. The speaker said that if he were chairman of the highway commission he would know, from Sterling's example, how to pave Collingsworth's roads.

Roads Lead To Houston
"You have heard," Mr. Small shouted, "that all roads lead to Rome. I tell you that here in Texas all roads lead to Houston. And now that Houston has built all her roads she wants the rest of the state to reimburse her in full. . . . I am a good roads enthusiast, and I want all the county seats connected by paving as soon as possible, but I don't want to inaugurate a wild spending orgy in order to do it."

The senator said that, counting federal aid, Texas would have $7,000,000 yearly for new highway paving, which he called as great a sum as three men can efficiently spend and supervise. He attacked the statewide bond issue as likely to cause graft, extravagance, and poor construction, and as costing $183,000,000 in interest alone if $350,000,000 were voted as Sterling proposes. He did, however, go on record as favoring reimbursing of counties for part of what they expended on state highways, basing the refund upon present value of the roads and not upon original cost. He also opposed the Sterling plan because it would take away $7,500,000 from the public school fund and place an equal burden

EL PASO DISTRICT JUDGE SAYS DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE LEGALLY MAY BAR NEGROES FROM PRIMARY

EL PASO, July 19 (AP)—The state Democratic executive committee acting as private individuals, and not as a state agency has a right to bar negroes from participating in the party primaries, Judge Charles A. Boynton of the United States district court held here today.

He dismissed the application of Luther Wiley of San Antonio, who sought to restrain the Bexar county Democratic executive committee from carrying out instructions of the state committee to refuse negroes a vote in the primaries.

In face of the state committee's action in disqualifying negroes, the county executive committees of McLennan and Val Verde counties voted to let them participate. The absence vote of a negro had already been accepted in Val Verde county.

In handing down its decision the court cited its holding in the Nixon vs. Congdon case, involving the same question, passed on by it prior to the 1928 primaries. It said the opinion in the former case covered each question involved in Wiley's application for an injunction.

"The court held in the Nixon case that the Democratic executive committee and the county committees are not governmental agents," Judge Boynton said. C. O. Wolfe of San Antonio, who represented John K. Weber, chairman of the Bexar county executive committee, one of the defendants in the case, argued to the court that the committee had nothing to do with preventing negroes in Bexar county from voting.

Oliver W. Johnson of San Antonio, of counsel for Wiley, said the matter would be pressed further and an application for a writ of mandamus probably filed in some court.

By The Associated Press
One week from today, the candidates will be reading the good or bad news, in the papers, but between now and then the seven active aspirants to the governor's chair will do their hardest work.

Jim Young and Barry Miller, who usually talk only once a day, will speak two and three times a day during the coming week. Ross Sterling and Thomas B. Love, who have been very active, won't let up. Earle B. Mayfield said Saturday that he had so many requests that he did not know just where he was going but he intended to fill as many newspapers as possible. Under chairmanship of a possible challenger, the "speakers" schedule before the first primary yesterday. James E. Ferguson, speaking for his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, plans six speeches.

Love, Alfalfa Young, Instead of "soft-pedaling" his attacks on former Congressman Young in a speech Saturday in Young's home town of Kaufman, Love emphasized them.

"One of the ten Tammany candidates, a former congressman, took me to task the other night for saying that Texas negroes supported Al Smith for president in 1928," Love said. "The sworn reports in the office of the clerk of the house of representatives in Washington show that John J. Raskob and his national committee spent $143,000 in cash in 1928 financing the Smith for President Colored League, organized to get the negro vote for Al Smith in every state of the union."

"These same reports show that the Texas Democratic campaign committee of which the distinguished former congressman was chairman, spent $12,799.25 in the futile effort to carry Texas for Al Smith in 1928 and that 210,000 checks were sent to Texas by Raskob to aid in the good work."

Love ridiculed Young's asserted

GRAY COUNTY PRODUCTION IS LOWER AS DRILLING SHIFTS TO AREA OF SMALL WELLS ON WEST

But Pool Adjoining City Long-Lived And Promising—Panhandle Drops To 101,691 Barrels

With the transfer of drilling activity from the oil fields south of Pampa to the small-well area adjoining the city on the west, the flush production of Gray county continued to decline last week, giving crude purchasers in the west a reason to be optimistic.

The pool opened up by Cockerell-McTroy Oil company is proving to be as good as any in Gray county. Practically no gas formation is found in the pay formations and in the Bowers, Wilcox or Finley pools, but they are exceptionally long-lived and will be producing when granite wash gushers are abandoned. Two good wells were completed in this pool this week.

Gray county's 617 wells decreased 1,090 barrels last week, producing 70,352 barrels, compared with 71,345 barrels of the previous week. Hutchinson county's 960 wells produced 21,184 barrels, a gain of 395 over the previous week. That the White Deer pool in Carson county is producing to the disappointment is indicated by the current production which is about the same as it was this time last year despite the fact that a number of completions have been made. Cockerell-McTroy's No. 7 Archer in the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 130, block 2, is producing 400 barrels a day on the swab. The same company's No. 1 Volmert, southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 140, block 3, is pumping 192 barrels. This well is a half mile north extension to the west of Pampa pool.

Champion Oil and Refining company's No. 7 Faulkner, section 30, block B-2, was drilled to a total depth of 2,941 feet and completed for an initial production of 100 barrels. Gulf company's No. 5 J. M. Saunders, section 40, block 3, was drilled to a total depth of 3,020 feet for an initial production of 594 barrels.

Lennox et al's No. 1 Bradford, section 118, block B-2, produced 6 1-2 million feet of gas from a total depth of 3,252 feet. Prairie Oil and Gas company's No. 5 Leycomb, section 36, block 3, was completed for 250 barrels from a total depth of 2,915 feet.

Shamrock Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Worley-Reynolds, section 84, block 3, had an initial production of 365 barrels from a total depth of 2,977 feet. Texas company's No. 9 Combs-Worley, section 36, block 3, flowed two million feet of gas and 250 barrels of oil from a total depth of 2,930 feet. The same company's No. 6 Wright, section 13, block 3, was completed for an initial production of 50 barrels of oil and 1 1-2 million feet of gas from a total depth of 2,890 feet.

Vulcan Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Carpenter, 330 feet north and west of the west 80 acres of the northwest quarter of section 25, block 25, was drilled to a total depth of 2,810 feet and produced five barrels of oil and one million feet of gas.

New Locations
Danciger Oil and Refining company is building a rig for No. 3 Arnold, 330 feet from the north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 49, block 3. Gulf Production company's No. 5 Combs was located 330 feet from the north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 38, block 3.

Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 2 Sallor was located 330 feet from the south and west lines of the east half of the northeast quarter of section 135, block 3. Gulf is rigging up a rotary for its No. 5 J. M. Saunders, 330 feet from the northeast quarter of section 40, block 3.

OFFICER SHOT WHEN SEEKING HUNTED MAN

George Alexander Is Victim In Gun Fight

LON DILLINGER ALSO IS KILLED

Brother and Woman Wounded By Bullet

DALHART, July 19 (AP)—George W. Alexander, Sheriff of Dallam county, veteran peace officer of the Panhandle, and Lon Dillinger, for whom officials held a felony warrant, were killed, and Orrell Dillinger, Lon's brother, and Arleta Boger, a woman, were wounded in a gun fight near here today. The slaying took place in a small house 5 miles south of here.

The sheriff's office had received a tip that Lon Dillinger could be found at the house and Sheriff Alexander and his chief deputy, H. D. Foust, and Earl Damron, deputy sheriff of Hartley county, surrounded the place.

Sheriff Alexander was at the front door with Damron, and Foust was at the rear door. Orrell Dillinger, who was injured today in the course of a pistol fight in which Sheriff George W. Alexander of Dallam county and Lon Dillinger were killed, died last tonight in a hospital. He insisted before his death that he did not know who shot Sheriff Alexander.

DALHART, July 19 (AP)—Orrell Dillinger, who was injured today in the course of a pistol fight in which Sheriff George W. Alexander of Dallam county and Lon Dillinger were killed, died last tonight in a hospital. He insisted before his death that he did not know who shot Sheriff Alexander.

had stationed himself at the rear of the house, officers who investigated the shooting said. Foust said he heard a shot from inside the house and kicked in the rear door. Getting inside, Foust said he saw Lon Dillinger reaching into a trunk, apparently in an effort to get firearms.

Foust said he covered Dillinger but about that time he saw a woman sitting near the trunk with a shotgun in her hands, and quietly Dillinger made a lunge at him. Dillinger was shot through the head and death was instantaneous.

"During the struggle with Lon Dillinger, Orrell Dillinger rushed from the front door and opened fire," Foust said.

Orrell Dillinger was shot through the throat and stomach and doctors said he had little chance to live. Arleta Boger was shot through the hips.

After the shooting, Foust said he found Sheriff Alexander in the front yard mortally wounded. He had been shot through the head. He lived about 40 minutes.

Foust had a bullet through his left sleeve, but he was not wounded. Bert Dillinger, brother to Lon and Orrell, is under a sentence of 25 years for kidnaping and assault in connection with a case several years ago when a man was spirited away and left bound in a small shack near the New Mexico line.

Lon Dillinger was wanted for jumping bond on a liquor law charge and the tip on his whereabouts was given by a relative of the Dillingers, according to members of the slain sheriff's force.

Deputy Sheriff Damron said Orrell Dillinger greeted Sheriff Alexander himself. Damron said he was standing ten or fifteen feet from the sheriff when he fell and said Orrell then started backing toward the door and went inside.

"I don't know who shot Alexander," Orrell said from his hospital bed. "I didn't even have a gun." Late tonight, attending physicians said he was dying.

WICHITA FALLS, July 19 (AP)—George Alexander, slain Dallam sheriff, served as county and district clerk of Archer county from 1912 to 1918 and as county judge in Archer county from 1918 to 1922.

In Revival

Former Congressman Will D. Upshaw, noted prohibition crusader, is in Pampa to participate in a two-week revival of the Central Baptist church. Services will be held at the Central gymnasium twice daily.

DALLAM ROAD BONDS DEFEATED BY 870 TO 490

DALHART, July 19 (AP)—The proposed Dallam county road bond issue of $850,000 for paving highways 5, 54 and 41, was defeated today by a vote of 870 for and 490 against, owing to the fact that it lacked the necessary two-thirds majority.

Rural districts and Texline voted against the proposal, while the Dalhart vote was favorable. Proponents of the bond issue declared that petitions would be filed for a new election, since Texline citizens wished only highways 5 and 54 paved.

Club Work to Be Assisted By County Groups

Committees in each Gray county community, affiliated with the Agricultural council, will assist the agricultural agents in their work, and will cooperate in the programs of the vocational teachers.

It is believed by the council members that more effective work can be done in this way than by forcing separate programs. All committees of the council will be called together at regular intervals to discuss problems and projects affecting the entire county. Special emphasis will be placed this year on the work of the women's and 4-H clubs.

Pampa will have a community fair next fall, and it is likely that one will be held at McLean. The date of the Pampa fair has not been determined, but it will probably be in late October in order that the basement of the new City Hall Auditorium may be utilized.

Representatives of several communities met at the Pampa B. C. D. rooms Thursday and discussed the plans. These included F. H. Bourland of McLean, E. B. Hedrick of Albreed, F. B. Farley of Groom, Ralph Thomas and George Briggs, Archer county from 1918 to 1922.

Candidate

Scott Rheudasil, above, is candidate for constable of precinct 2, subject to the action of the Democratic primary of next Saturday.

WILL BUILD REFINERY
TAYLOR, Tex., July 19 (AP)—Construction of an oil refinery to be known as the Taylor Refinery, will be started here within the next 10 days by E. L. Chapman and G. L. Rousey of Big Spring. It was announced here today.

SECREC Y IN GOVERNMENT IS BAD

Although it is possible that no ill results will come of the president's refusal to give the senate certain documents concerning the naval reduction peace pact negotiations, it is nevertheless true that a bad precedent was set.

"Open covenants, openly arrived at" was more than a Wilsonian axiom; it was a course of action calculated to inspire confidence and promote peace. Ambassador Dawes, with all his virtues, is not every inch a diplomat.

Senator McKellar pointed out that Italy and France were hostile because of "secrecy, bad blood, and jealousy." Anyone familiar with modern European history knows that secrecy, secret treaties, and animosities incident to development of nations caused war after war.

Secrecy is inimical to democratic government. It is the device of all manner of schemers. Overcautious persons sometimes put themselves in unfavorable positions by undue secrecy. Sometimes the pomp of newfound power results in lamentable secretiveness, which can result disastrously for the one affected.

Secrecy should be condemned by press and public, whether it is in the lowest office in the land or in the mighty councils of leading nations. Leading statesmen of all ages have thundered against it, and the thunder will not diminish while statesmanship, undefiled and unafraid, exists.

RECREATION AND ECONOMY

We very frequently hear the protest that too much money is being spent for recreational purposes, both collectively and individually. Persons who go in for a considerable amount of outdoor exercises are criticised severely for lack of attention to business, and the utility of recreational projects is questioned loudly when any public funds are to be spent.

There is another side of it, however, that concerns economics and health. It is generally agreed, even among the more reserved people, that outdoor exercises makes for the preservation of health and its restoration once it is lost.

It is a matter of common knowledge that it costs more to be sick now than it did in former years. The price of medical care has gone up, decidedly, and time has become more valuable with increase in wages, making the loss of time through sickness more costly to the individual and to industry.

Surely there is room for questioning whether it is cheaper to spend money and time in exercising in the open in the preservation and rebuilding of health or in payment of medical and hospital bills. There cannot, however, be any question of which time is best spent that in a hospital bed or that devoted to recreation. Add to this the risk taken by the person who refuses to utilize the forces of nature and it is easy to see the economic advantages of recreation, not to speak of the personal suffering that may be prevented.

In the past, when most of the work was done in the open, and entailed a certain amount of physical exertion, there was no great demand for play. Now that we have moved our work within doors, and utilized machinery and specialization to make it not only possible but almost necessary that we do it sitting, the demand for exercise to maintain physical efficiency and proper development of the body is unquestionable.

CANDIDATES ARE SHOWN TO HAVE SPENT $63,000

AUSTIN, July 19—(AP)—The battle for first round honors in Texas' free for all political campaign, fast drawing to a close, cost the participants $63,000.

A tabulation of the sworn expenses statements filed with the secretary of state, made today, disclosed that three of the eleven principal races—for governor, attorney general and lieutenant governor—alone cost the campaigners $47,481.

The governor's race, with 11 starters, accounted for $35,150.

One more report must be filed, immediately after the election. Since a good many of the candidates have reached the limit they can spend under the law, this report was not expected to increase the totals materially.

Here is what the candidates for the major offices spent:

Office	Amount
Governor	$35,150
Attorney General	$6,412
Lieutenant Governor	$5,888
Comptroller	$3,141
Commissioner of Agriculture	$3,140
Railroad Commissioner	$3,049
Treasurer	$2,157
Land Office Commissioner	$1,563
U. S. Senator	$1,366
Chief Justice	$1,337

The railroad commissioner's race did not include the expenses of Gregory Hatcher who had not filed today.

In the race for Governor, C. C. Small of Wellington reported the largest expenditures, just $425 under the $5,000 limit. Expenditures reported by others seeking the chief executive's chair were: Earle B. Mayfield, $5,523; James Young $6,531; Barry Miller, $5,009; R. S. Sterling, $4,019; Thomas B. Love, $2,876; Miriam A. Ferguson, $2,887; Frank Pufman, $2,567; Paul Lovett, $2,521; E. C. Walker, $2,223; C. C. Moody, $1,100.

In sharp contrast was the Republican primary campaign. Virtually every candidate, reported no expenditures.

The Hunters expected to resume their flight at dawn tomorrow, halting at El Paso, and planning to spend the night either at Tucson or Yuma, Ariz., and to meet an escort of planes from Hollywood Tuesday morning for the final lap of the trip.

They were traveling in three planes, one of which was the endurance ship, the City of Chicago, and another the refueling plane, the Big Ben.

Heat Records In Nation Broken

By The Associated Press.
Heat records fell yesterday over that section of the country lying east of the Rockies and north of the Mason-Dixon line.

The weather was the most intense "temperate" zone had experienced this summer—and in many summers, in some spots.

New York, with 96, registered the hottest July 19 in 54 years, and Baltimore reported 99 at noon, 3 degrees above the all time record for the day. Philadelphia sweltered in a temperature of 97 degrees, the highest of the summer and the warmest July 19 on the books.

Out in Nebraska, where the thermometers were well above 100 over the entire state, a bishop invoked a day of prayer for rain to revive the parched crops.

The weather man went home early in St. Louis, but he gave out the official reading of 97 at noon. Folks in the street said it should have been 103 at 3 p.m., one degree below the season's high. Kansas City reported 99 at 4 o'clock.

Unofficial readings in Chicago showed a temperature of 103, a record for the date, but the official figure was only 101.6.

Normal temperatures prevailed in most of the south and in the southwest, along the Pacific coast and in the Rocky Mountain regions.

But the head weather observer's home town, down in Keokysville, Md., was one warm place. The mercury climbed to 105 degrees.

In other sections of Dixie the mercury got out of bounds, registering 103 at Charlottesville, Va., a high there for the summer and 100 at Bristol, Tenn. The Shenandoah Valley reported crop damage due to drought.

There's no general relief in sight over the heat infested area, although some communities may benefit from thundershowers.

The accident victim, had just arrived from Topeka, Kans., for a visit with her son and he was believed to have been on his way home when struck by the truck.

TREATY WILL BE APPROVED EARLY IN WEEK

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Ratification of the London naval limitations agreement early next week seemed assured tonight as the opposition ended its speech making and permitted the text of the treaty to be approved formally.

The end of the stubborn fight waged by the militant band under Senator Johnson, Republican, California, was heralded as the only two amendments offered to the treaty were shouted down without record votes.

Johnson started today's session with resumption of the continuous debate carried on by the treaty foes for the last three days, but his voice was hoarse and after a short address he yielded for the consideration of the text of the treaty.

One by one the 26 articles of the pact were read and late in the day they were completed.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, who is in charge of the treaty, then offered the resolution of ratification he assured Senator Johnson that he regular session on Monday. The rules and would take it up in had no intention of seeking to waive rules require the resolution to lie over a day.

Satisfied that the opponents were intending no filibuster against the treaty and would let it come to a

STERLING CLAIMS MAYFIELD RUNS FOR PUBLIC UTILITIES

WACO, July 19. (AP)—Ross Sterling of Houston struck back in an address tonight at Earle B. Mayfield, one of his opponents in the race for the governorship.

"Mayfield has been talking about me for three weeks," said the state highway commission chairman, "and thus far I have ignored him. But now I am going to tell you something about him."

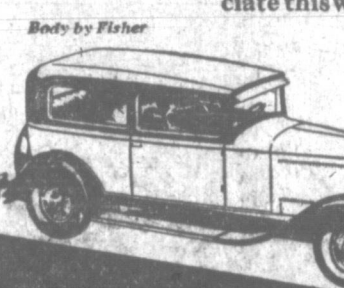

"About three weeks ago, an emissary of a public utilities head who is sponsoring and financing Mayfield's campaign for governor, approached me at my hotel in Fort Worth. He said to me in the presence of three other men, 'Mr. So-and-So (mentioning his principal's name) is furnishing the money to finance Mayfield's campaign. He feels he is backing a losing candidate and is getting awfully tired. He would like to sit across the table with you and if you will promise to be nice to his utilities if elected, he will call Mayfield off and be for you.' 'Sterling will not sit across the table with him on any such a proposition.'"

A BORN HILL CLIMBER

Oldsmobile owners who drive regularly in the mountains say that Oldsmobile is a born hill-climber. That it does its work so easily and quietly. That very little gear-shifting is required. That its running temperature is little affected by the hardest grades. That its power is more than ample for every requirement. Such a recommendation is of real importance—whether you ever drive through the mountains or not. For it means just so much reserve power—so much added dependability for everyday travel. You will appreciate this when you drive Oldsmobile.

Ranger Captain Gonzallus Is Unphotographed and Won't Talk About His Magnificent $800 Pistols

A friend of Capt. Manuel T. ("Lone Wolf") Gonzallus tells how the noted Ranger acquired his two guns, one of which he wears on either hip. Pampans who have observed the guns in the last few days and in previous visits of the Ranger to this city may be interested in learning that the story of his guns has never been published.

The captain has an aversion for publicity and most all that is known about his romantic career has come from friends and those with whom he has had dealings.

The friend's explanation of the guns:

"As a member of the only state police force in North America, except the Canadian Mounted Police, Capt. Gonzallus has, of course, traversed Texas from one end of the state to the other while preserving law and order and tracking criminals. At one place, he succeeded after many officers and detectives had failed, and a millionaire friend and admirer of his who had secured the inside story of the Lone Wolf's courage and daring deeds gave him the guns on his birthday."

The guns are automatic Colt revolvers and cost $800. They are elaborately carved and are literally veined with fine gold. The ivory handles are decorated with the head of a longhorn steer and are embossed with gold. A handsome carved, gold-embossed belt and holsters accompanied the guns. Each holster is made so that the gun can be drawn with the greatest possible speed, and it is said that the Ranger is as quick at drawing his left gun as his right. On another birthday, a wealthy admirer of the Ranger gave him a 500 diamond studded badge.

When Capt. Gonzallus first became a Ranger, he spent several years on the Rio Grande river. As a patrol, he rode horseback most of the time. It was in the Big Bend section that he gained the sobriquet of the "Lone Wolf."

The Ranger is more averse to personal publicity than Lindbergh. He will permit no photographs of himself to be taken, and he has smashed cameras of many an ambitious photographer who wanted to be the first to take his picture. Capt. Gonzallus is liked by the newspapers because he will not withhold the facts of a story. "One might as well give reporters the facts because if you don't they'll use their imaginations and get everything wrong," he said.

But when it comes to talking about himself, how long he has been on the Ranger force, how he became a Ranger—the captain walks off and leaves you standing. However, it is known that he was born in El Paso.

A casual glance at Capt. Gonzallus leaves the impression that he is a pronounced young, but that is before one sees his eyes, which are the color of blue "ray" smoke. He is always immaculate in the khaki clothes he wears. The Lone Wolf likes to stay in the background and avoid the front page as much as possible. He is always anxious to uphold the reputation and honor of the Ranger force, and prefers to say "the Rangers did it," than "Gonzallus did it." He has consistently refused to have his photograph made because he works undercover much of the time. Even in group pictures he pulls his hat down over his eyes.

Methodists Will Retire Debt On Church Building

A campaign to raise the entire sum needed to wipe out indebtedness against the Methodist church building has been launched by a finance committee appointed by the official board and headed by J. M. Dodson.

Mr. Dodson, appointed at a meeting of the board Friday afternoon, named the following to assist him: E. E. Reynolds, R. S. McConnell, Mrs. Phoebe Worley, Mrs. Z. H. Mundy, J. N. Duncan, O. W. Ferguson, W. W. Harrah, and Rev. Brabham.

The committee feels confident that the drive will be a success. It will close on the first Sunday in September, when the drive will be officially completed. On that day dinner will be served in the basement of the church and a special program will be rendered.

A canvass of the entire membership of the church will be made in the next few weeks. Prior to inauguration of the drive, voluntary gifts included the sum of $5,000, $1,500, two $500 checks, and three gifts of $100. It is believed that two or three other gifts of $5,000 will be made before the drive ends. The first $5,000 donated was with the stipulation that the entire sum be raised.

Another Body Is Found In Bay

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 19. (AP)—The body of a second unidentified man found near Corpus Christi within eight days was taken today from Corpus Christi Bay. The man had a 52-pound concrete block tied to his neck and shoulder and apparently had been dead more than a week. No identification papers were found.

Due to the decomposed state of the body, description of the man was not obtained. The man's clothing were of good quality, as were those of the man found south of Corpus Christi, July 11, with a bullet hole through his head.

It was believed, although not positively determined, that the man found today in the bay either had a bullet hole or a wound in his head.

GIRL IS KILLED

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Betty Ayres was killed early today when the speed boat, Whoopee, which she was riding with a pleasure party, crashed into the racing yawl, Scarp, owned by George Pulver of Washington, D. C., catapulting her against the sailboat from the prow of the speedster.

Both boats were sunk, but the other occupants escaped with minor hurts. The collision was said by witnesses at a coroner's inquest today, to have been caused by absence of proper lights on the Yawl, which was drifting off shore in Lake Michigan. Pulver did not appear at the inquiry, which was adjourned until he could be found.

The Scarp was on its way to Belmont Harbor in Lincoln park to take part today in the yacht race from Chicago to Mackinac. It was a 63 foot sail and motor boat.

Benjamin Marshall, 21, son of an Evanston architect, was host on the speed boat to 5 young people. They were accompanied by the Marshall chauffeur.

Dorothy Marshall, sister of Benjamin, was driving the speedboat at the time of the crash and testified today at the inquest that she was unable to see the yawl until it suddenly loomed up across the smaller craft's bow out of the night. She said she swung the rudder over hard, but was unable to avert a

ED MORGAN DOES HIS BIT FILLING FONSECA'S SHOES

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Ed Morgan of the Indians has done his share to ward off the numerous blows that have fallen on the team this year.

This season Morgan found himself forced to substitute for Lew Fonseca, first baseman, who last year led the American league in hitting. Fonseca was compelled to leave the club to nurse a broken leg.

Morgan started a streak of hitting that did much to offset the loss. At Independence Day, Morgan was batting above .300 and with Urban Hodapp was leading the club in runs-driven home.

Morgan is another of the southern university boys that the Indians favor. He played baseball and football three years with Tulane university, entering professional baseball in 1927 with the New Orleans club of the Southern league where he batted .354.

the outfield, though he did get some first base experience in the 1928 season.

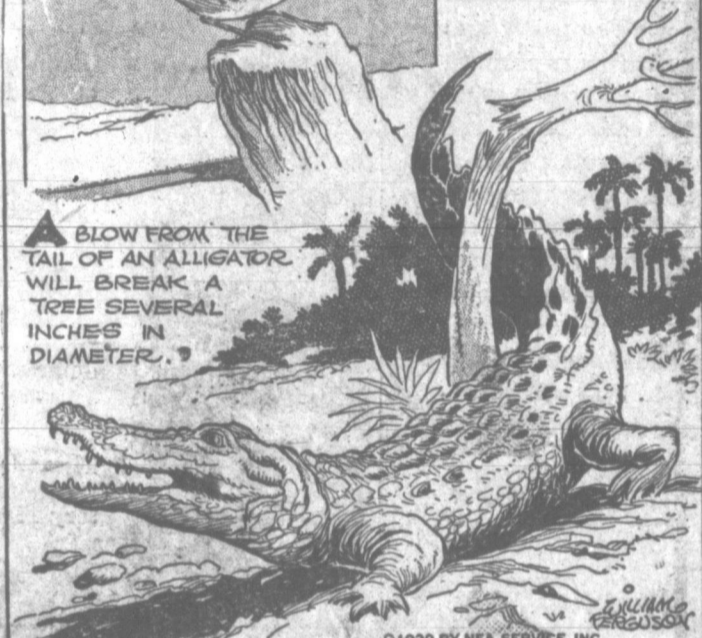

Morgan was born in Cairo, Ill., May 22, 1905. He bats and throws from the right side and is a six foot 180 pounder.

DETROIT, July 18. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy was found today in the dark basement of the home where he lived with his father and stepmother.

Rescued by police, the lad, Clifford Peters, told them he had been chained up for more than 12 hours every day since school was dismissed early in June and that prior to that he was confined in the basement dungeon on Saturday's for about a year.

Free wheeling is a triumph of that same Studebaker progressiveness that pioneered the popular priced Eight—seasoned it and proved it to the satisfaction of over 100,000 owners. Today the whole industry is following the Eight trend that Studebaker inaugurated three years ago.

A New Experience

Prepare to drive the most unfettered, yet most obedient car in the world—a car that literally floats along, in gear and fully controlled, yet free and silent as though there were no gears!

You shift with silence and safety from high to second, back and forth, at any speed—forty, fifty miles an hour—and never touch the clutch!

The instant you lift your foot from the throttle, no matter how swiftly you may be traveling, your engine drops to idling speed—with no forcing of the engine by car momentum—with no sensation of "piling up".

You know, of course, that Studebaker Eights hold many world records for speed and endurance and more American stock car records than all other makes combined. But the increased power of the great Studebaker Eight engines which drive these new cars is a revelation.

Save Money, Too

With free wheeling, you save 12% on gasoline, 20% on oil—and the heavier traffic the greater the saving. Carbon is reduced. The terrific reversal strains thrown on rear axle, clutch and transmission of an ordinary car are utterly unknown.

You are ready for any emergency of road or traffic on the instant. No sudden grabbing of the new Duo Servo brakes—no swerving. Instead, a smooth and reassuring drop in speed—swift as your need dictates.

Your steering gear rights itself after a turn—automatically the car swings to "straight ahead". Your car, floating at each spring-end on oil-sealed ball bearings, rides friction-free.

Enviably in Appearance

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, beautiful artist's model, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with CHUMMY MURLEY, a girl whose memory deserted her seven years ago when her lover, ALAN STEYNE, abruptly disappeared. Steyne suddenly returns, but Chummy does not recognize him; meanwhile he falls in love with Judith, telling her that he has never really loved Chummy. Returning one day from posing for VINCENT STORNAWAY, successful portrait painter, at whose house she has aroused the admiration of the rich financier, BRUCE GIDEON, Judith discovers that Chummy's memory has suddenly returned. Steyne comes in, and Chummy throws herself in his arms. Chummy takes it for granted that they are to be married. Steyne, however, repeats to Judith that he does not love Chummy, and asks Judith to marry him. Judith refuses; meanwhile Bruce Gideon lays siege to her, and she promises to let him take her to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Judy said nothing to Chummy about her dinner with Bruce Gideon. She merely told her friend that she was going out with a friend, and she came back quite early.

Chummy did not ask any questions. She was still too much unbalanced—poised, as it were, on a knife edge between memory and forgetfulness. She fully realized now that her mind had been a complete blank in some respects. It was most probable that Judy had friends of whom she had known nothing in the momentary state of her brain.

There was something rather alarming that Judy had recognized. Chummy did not for a moment realize that Judy had been seeing her lover, and had been going about with him quite frequently, without knowing who he was. His return so far as Chummy was concerned, took place on the day when she came into her room in the Village and found him with Judy.

Judy had been obliged to warn everybody at the cafe about this. It was the most mysterious fact of Chummy's condition. The "nice, handsome boy" whom she had met before her illness had evidently, in her reawakened mind, not the slightest connection with Alan Steyne. And yet, when she had dreamed of him during her illness, it had been as if he were now, and not as the pallid, half-starved figure who gave up the hopeless struggle and went away.

When she thought over her evening with Bruce Gideon, Judy could find nothing amiss with it and nothing particularly in its favor.

It has already been said that she knew life, but she knew it chiefly in one respect as far as men were concerned. To her all men were alike—except the "boys" at the cafe, Bastien Dumont, Alan Steyne, and extraordinary characters like Max Dickhead and Doctor O'Shane. None of those had ever made love to her. All others had tried to, and it was the kind of love that she did not want.

But Gideon was different. He disarmed her from the beginning by his deferential attitude. He continued to consult her, to seek her opinion, to treat her as he might have treated a girl of his own world. He took her to a swell restaurant, and never saw that her clothes were out of place, or that she did not wear gloves, or that her makeup was badly put on.

Judy had resumed her likeness to a dyed narcissus, and that night she looked as gaudy and terrible as it was possible to be. She knew all that—knew it by comparing herself with the other women, with their strikingly simple clothes and their spare but splendid jewelry. She was nervous and laughed loudly. She spilled a glass of wine over the cloth, which brought three waiters to mop it up and juggle the table into order again.

But Gideon had only elaborated that idea of his that they were two friends, exploring each other's separate domain. This was his world, or a part of it. The next time they met he wanted to come to hers, to have a glass of wine at the Cafe Turc, or to go and dance at the Lemon Grove.

A day or two later she nerved herself for a talk with Chummy. She had not seen Alan Steyne since she left him after luncheon to go out to Vincent Stornaway's.

Chummy had come in alert and vigorous, like the young Diana with whom Stornaway had compared her. She had been making arrangements to return to Welford's art school and take up her painting again. A few hours spent at an easel had proved to her that neither hand nor eye nor brain had lost its craft.

Her aunt, Miss Morley, had insisted on giving her an allowance until she found her feet. It was very little, but it seemed a fortune to Chummy. She was 25, she had just come to life again, and she had such wonderful friends!

"Judy, I shall do something—I know I shall!" she cried, flinging away her battered hat and throwing out her long, thin arms in a sweeping gesture of victory.

"Have you seen Mr. Steyne today?" asked Judy, all smiles of admiring devotion. "Of course, you'll be a great artist—the best of the lot!"

"Yes, I saw Alan this morning. He's gone back to Welford's, too. He's going to 'take up painting' again."

"He says he never could paint."

"That's rubbish. Of course he can!" And Chummy flushed gloriously in praise of her beloved.

"And when are you going to be married, you two?" asked Judy.

Chummy's face put on the reserved look that always slightly awed her friend.

"Please don't talk about that, Judy," she said. "You see, it's still all so strange. I mean—she paused a moment, because all her instincts were against hurting in the very faintest degree the feelings of this friend who had been her guardian angel in her time of distress—

"I mean that Alan and I must get used to each other all over again."

Judy, frankly speaking, could not understand these reticences, these subtle delicacies of her friend's mind.

"But you are going to marry him?" she asked, her purple eyes opening wide.

"Oh yes!" And Chummy's face glowed with soft rapture.

"You love him most awfully, don't you, Chummy darling?" There was an almost hysterical catch in Judy's voice.

The elder girl came up to her, took her hand, and held it for a moment against her own cheek. Then she spoke, and her voice was solemn.

"Judy, do you know, it's rather like a dream to me, but it seems to me that all the time I was queer—and you know—it was years and years—I was only living for the day when Alan came back. Of course, I didn't know it, but it was there deep down inside me. Though I loved him when he went away, I love him so much more now that I can't express it. And that's what makes me a little afraid of happiness, don't you see? It's come upon me so suddenly, even though it's so old."

There was a silence, during which Judy heard her own heartbeats.

"Darling Chummy," she said, "you're going to be the happiest girl in the world."

"I am," answered Chummy in a low voice, and with a deep sigh.

The next evening Judy took Bruce Gideon to a dance at the Lemon Grove. She made him known to various friends. Neither Chummy nor Alan Steyne was there. Gideon did not dance, but he encouraged Judy to dance with other men.

Bastien Dumont was a faultless dancer, and the rich man watched the pair gyrating in perfect rhythm and harmony to the tunes of a wheezy but powerful phonograph between the yellow-washed walls of a large disused garage, on which were painted rows of stiff lemon trees in full flower. The floor was excellent, the company heterogeneous. The refreshments were very poor and very high priced.

GALLEY THREE—DANCE OF

Judy wore black, and seemed to float like a little storm cloud among the multiplored figures about her, drawn largely from the foreign residents in the Village.

"You love dancing, don't you?" asked Gideon, as he left the club with her, followed by the furious eyes of Dumont.

"I adore it," she replied.

"And you dance like—well, I don't know what. My vocabulary fails me. Have you never thought of dancing on the stage?"

"I've done it—in a chorus; but I've never had a chance on my own. I'm too small, and I can't sing. And I've got no pit!"

"I'll see to that," said Gideon in a business-like tone. "I don't mean what you think. Dancers shouldn't sing. You shall have the best show in New York. I can arrange it. What do you say to that?"

Judy had nothing to say to Bruce Gideon's proposal just then.

To begin with, she was tired to death, and in some way the evening had jarred on her. The rich man was undoubtedly as much out of place at the Cafe Turc as he had been at the Lemon Grove as he was not his behavior—it was himself.

She felt that she was ungrateful, because he was very kind and obviously interested in everything around him. He was anxious to be on the friendliest terms, not only with herself, but with the little band of artists, and with Clara Jenks and the other girls Judy knew.

That was the trouble. These others responded to his advances. They ate and drank at his expense; they showed him around; but they set him apart as belonging to Judy, as an admirer out of another world whom she had picked up. They were not in the least unfriendly, but they were not very much interested—all but Bastien Dumont, who was furiously jealous, and made Judy half miserable and half angry with his darkly accusing eyes, even while she danced with him.

She and Gideon reached the doorway of her building before he had time to say anything more about the career he was suggesting for her. She bade him good night, and he asked her to think it over.

The next two days passed without incident. On the third morning she received the following letter:

Dear Miss Judy: I have been thinking over your career as a dancer. It appeals to me as a business proposition. I believe you

Clauson Motor Company Is New Chrysler Dealer in This Area

A straight 8 sedan, one of the first eight-cylinder cars to bear the Chrysler name, will be in Pampa today, according to T. J. Clauson, manager of the Clauson Motor company, who has taken over the Chrysler agency here. The agency is located at 112 North Somerville, former location of Underwood Motor company, Chrysler dealer.

Two lines of straight 8 cars are being built by Chrysler: the Chrysler 8 and the Chrysler Imperial 8. In these new cars Chrysler engineers have directed every effort toward designing a perfectly balanced and correlated piece of mechanism.

Outstanding features of both lines include the L-head type of straight 8 engine with the famous Chrysler Silver Dome cylinder head; four speed transmission and gear shift; downdraft carburetion; automatically controlled radiator shutters; two way hydraulic shock absorbers; four wheel internal expanding hydraulic brakes, completely enclosed fuel pumps; four-point rubber engine mountings; impulse neutralizers; the bondrite rust proofing process on all enamel parts and scores of other refinements.

In appearance, neither car has a counterpart. A long graceful hood covers the engine compartment; narrow at the front, it comes to a point in a single vertical chromium bar at the center, creating an atmosphere of speed, power, and grace. Bullet shaped chromium headlamps and sweeping air-wing fenders add to the fleet lines of the low frontal area. The lamp tie rod is concealed behind the radiator shutters, adding to the clean-cut front appearance.

Sloping windshields are parallel to the forward slant of the radiator front. On the Imperial 8 the windshield is in two panels. Wide molding of colors complementary to the body lacquers starts at the radiator front; crosses the cowl, and encircles the body of the car, tapering down the rear compartment of the coupe models. On the Chrysler 8, Chromium beading tapers from the radiator cap around the front of the car, in contrast to the radiator shell. Mounted on the radiator caps are the silver wings of Chrysler drawn nearly straight back to denote speed and grace.

All steel bodies are introduced on every model of the Chrysler 8. Convenience and completeness are featured in the driver's compartment with seats adjustable for leg room. The steering column is also adjustable for three driving positions. On the instrument panel, arranged in separate single glass dials following air-craft style, are speedometer, electric fuel gauge, ammeter, oil pressure gauge, and engine temperature indicator. Below these separate gauges are carburetor choke and manifold heat control buttons. Spark control is entirely automatic.

The luxury of custom coach work is apparent in the interiors which are designed to provide maximum room and comfort for every passenger. All metal appointments are in matched silver design. Assist cords, vanity and smoking sets are standard equipment. Pillow type upholstery and interior finish are broadcloth, the cushions being exceptionally wide and deep, and tilted at the correct angles for the maximum riding comfort. Genuine leather is used for upholstery in the open models.

Models that will be handled by the Clauson Motor company will range from the Plymouth to the 8 and Imperial 8, including the Plymouth, the new 6, the 66, and the 70, all being Chrysler Motor products.

Here's Hint for Hot Weather

NEA Cincinnati Bureau Any "fired business man" would really enjoy dictating letters to dissatisfied customers if his stenographer followed the example of Mary Belle Smith of Cincinnati, and donned a bathing suit when the mercury stirred around the 100-degree mark. Her boss, William Danziger, is shown catching up with a lot of correspondence and Mary Belle, of course, is trying to keep her notes in shape. And who says it isn't a good idea during hot weather?

Meeting in the High School Gymnasium, G. C. Stark, Supt., 9:45 a. m.

Sermon by Hon. Wm. D. Upham, 11 a. m.

Sermon by Hon. Wm. D. Upham, 8:30 p. m.

Last Sunday was a record day for the Central Baptist church, there were two very fine crowds in attendance, with 12 additions to the church, we are more than pleased with the way our work is starting off.

Beginning today at 11 o'clock and continuing for two weeks we are to have the famous "Fighting Georgia Congressmen" with us in a two weeks meeting, we believe never before in the history of this city have we had a man with as wide reputation as the Mr. Upham, and we believe that all the churches will cooperate with us in putting over a great revival for the Lord.

Many have asked us, "Why are the shows being brought to this city just at the time of this special meeting?" Well, we will answer that after the meeting is over, and for the almost three years of our ministry in this city, we have held 4 revivals here and each time a show has been run in on us. The devil will do all he can to defeat a real revival, but notwithstanding the hard fight the devil and his crowd put up just at the time of these four meetings, and all the time through our nearly three years in this city we have witnessed over 500 additions to the church here. The Lord wasn't captured, tried and crucified until he was first betrayed by one of the inside, and if the church people in this city would live right stay away from these rotten carnivals and shows they would soon pass Pampa up.

S. J. Strickland of Fort Worth will have charge of the music. Mr. Strickland is one of the very best singers in this state, and he invites you to take a part in singing.

All the meetings for the following two weeks will be held in the high school gymnasium. An invitation is extended to all, and a hearty welcome awaits you at the Central Baptist church.

D. H. TRUHITE, Pastor

Konjola First Medicine That Brought Relief

Grateful Lady Declares That New and Different Medicine Gave Her New Lease On Life.

No wonder the record of Konjola, the new and different medicine for stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and for rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness, fairly overflowed with enthusiastic endorsements, for Konjola does make good even in the stubborn cases that have defied all else. Consider, for instance, the happy experience of Mrs. L. Stockton, 2108 North St. Paul street, Dallas, Texas, who says:

"Konjola quickly proved to me that it is a fine medicine. I had indigestion and constipation; was generally run down, tired all the time and had no ambition. All that I tried gave only temporary relief. I actually thought there was nothing to help my case. To my astonishment I noted a great improvement after starting on Konjola. Now I can eat anything without suffering; Konjola ended constipation and has given me a new lease on life."

Konjola does the work quickly, for all of its 22 ingredients work as one. But a full treatment of from six to eight bottles is highly recommended for best results.

Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

GULF GUNS AND MAGNOLIA TO PLAY THIS AFTERNOON

TOURNEY MAY LAST OVER TO NEXT MONDAY

Following decisive victories over Magnolia, Amarillo Cats and Canadian River Cassers, the Gulf Guns will play Skellytown at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the right to enter the finals of the Amarillo baseball tournament. Immediately after the Gun-Skellytown game has subsided, the Memphis Owls and the Tactus Texans will decide who the other entry will be.

The final game will be played this evening if there is sufficient time but if not, the championship affair will be staged Monday afternoon. It is highly probable that the last contest will take place on Monday afternoon.

In Saturday's game, Memphis beat Texas-Farwell 6 to 4, but lost to Skellytown 2 to 15. The Skellytown victory marked Memphis' first defeat, but cannot be taken too seriously because Jack Knight, Memphis pitcher, won the first game and attempted to hurt the second. His arm failed to deliver and Leisner succeeded him after more than enough runs had been made. Friday afternoon, the Guns beat the Canadian River Cassers 14 to 1. Lefty Graham performed on the mound for the Guns in a great come-back.

The Guns will enter the game with a distinct advantage over Skellytown. Dillon, the Skelly moundman, will not feel too good the day after the game with Memphis. The Guns rested and practiced lightly throughout yesterday Memphis will also be recuperating from their double-header yesterday, and Knight, the Owl pitching ace, may be incapacitated.

However, the dopsters have picked the Gulfmen and Memphis to win tomorrow's first two games. The Tacks were badly defeated by the Owls the first of last week and if the Memphis pitchers are right, the Amarillo team will go home. The Tacks are confident of winning, claiming they have "rejuvenated" since the Memphis fiasco.

Skelly's victory over the Owls does not impress the Guns because it was apparent to observers that Memphis shot her wad in the first game. The two games were just too big a bite.

It's a stumble as to whether Lefty Graham, Lefty Coop, or Haddock will pitch for the Guns but an Graham did such a good job cooking the Gasser's goose, he is favored to lead off.

He said a record would be required to do this.

He reviewed his record in the state senate and discussed, only briefly, the candidacies of Mrs. M. L. A. Ferguson, Thomas B. Love, and Earle B. Mayfield for the governorship.

Shamrock V On Way To America

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., July 19 (AP)—The Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger for the America's cup, started on her voyage across the Atlantic today to the accompaniment of cheers from a vast crowd and a sereen of ship's sirens.

The craft, on which Sir Thomas has pinned his hopes to achieve his ambition of capturing the famous cup, tonight was anchored in the spithead roadstead, sheltered from a stiff blow and a turbulent sea. With her was Sir Thomas' steam yacht, Erin, which will escort her across the ocean.

Cattle Prices Drop

KANSAS CITY, July 19 (AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Livestock trade around the eleven-market circuit this week was marked by sharp price declines on most all classes of cattle. Corn belt feeders continued to roll in a liberal supply of steers and yearlings while the movement of Western grass cattle showed a considerable expansion. Dry weather tended to narrow the demand for replacement stock. Most classes of cattle are eleven 25 cents to 1.00 under the close of last week, with some markets off 1.00 to 2.00 on beef cows and heavy heifers.

Packers showed an inclination to purchase rather than an inclination to hold a lot of fed steers and yearlings at the decline. Receipts were estimated at 207,700.

Fat lamb prices broke 75 cents to 1.25 and current values are the lowest of the season. Chicago had a late top of 10.60 on choice range lambs. A limited offering of fat ewes were firm to higher. A few markets reporting upturns of 25 to 50 cents. Offerings were around 260,900.

Hog trading during the week was somewhat uneven with demand centering upon weight averages 230 lbs. and down. Light and medium weight butchers are generally strong to 25 cents higher than a week ago, while heavy butchers are weak to 25 cents lower. St. Louis and Chicago had a late top of 10.00 on 170,200 lb. averages. The supply approximated 446,400.

Italians Give Yanks Trouble But Are Losers

AUTEUIL, France, July 19 (AP)—America overcame a fighting Italian tennis team today to enter the challenge round for the Davis cup.

Adding two more victories to the one achieved yesterday in the opening match of the interzone final, the United States forces chalked up the three victories necessary to clinch the series. Tomorrow's two singles cannot affect the result and the Americans will clash with the French for the trophy here next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Bacon Humbert, de Morpurgo, whom many hereabouts had believed might win from George Lott of Chicago, was beaten by scores of 3-6, 9-7, 10-8, 6-3, in a match which was interrupted by darkness yesterday with the American leading at two sets to one.

The Trieste nobleman then paired with Placido Gaslini in a last minute shift of the doubles lineup and gave the crack American combination of John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, one of the hardest tussles they have had in many a day. The match went to five sets, provided some brilliant but spotty tennis and ended with the Americans on top by scores of 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 1-6, 5-3.

byterian pastor of McLean, chimed in likewise for his town. S. B. Hale of Spearman said the upper plains would be solidly behind Small.

Senator Small was made happy by the extra arrangements made by Pampa citizens for the rally. Not the least of these was the voice amplifiers. His voice was heard for more than a block, and the remarkable difference was noted when, for an instant, the power was cut off.

Friends of the candidate were surprised by his freshness and vitality after a hard day. Earlier in the week he invaded the Rio Grande valley. Thursday evening he spoke in old San Antonio, then entrained for Fort Worth, where he arrived Friday morning took a plane to Memphis. Fast, gruelling travel, but he is holding up remarkably well. Racked, as the wise-cracked, on jack-rabbit meat, he is running a race that has surprised and discomfited his rivals.

All in all, it was doubtless the greatest rally ever held north of Amarillo.

the cattle men and farmers. Every West Texan should vote for Young, Hudspeth was reported as saying. J. Cleo Thompson, campaign manager for Young in North Texas took Lynch Davidson to task for his reported support of Small. He charged that Davidson said more than three weeks ago that Small would make a "fizzle" as governor, and that Davidson was looking ahead to run for governor himself in 1932. Ferguson, who has been governor as has his wife, said that things were looking better than in any previous campaign in which he had been interested. He predicted that Mrs. Ferguson would lead that ticket by 100,000 votes.

Claims Dallas County The Miller campaign committee said that the lieutenant governor would lead in Dallas, San Antonio, Galveston and El Paso, four of the ten most populous cities in Texas. "He also will carry Fort Arthur, Brownsville, Harlingen and Corpus Christi and will receive a good vote in Fort Worth, Beaumont, Waco and Houston, probably leading in two of them," the statement con-

"This large city vote, added to the always large rural vote which he has received in the past, is enough in itself to insure Miller's being in the runoff." "Favorite son," Senator Small, was in his home section for an address at Lubbock Saturday night. His headquarters claimed 7,000 persons heard him at an All-Panhandle rally at Pampa Friday night, that 3,000 attended his speech at Memphis Friday afternoon and that arrangements were being made to care for a crowd of 10,000 at Lubbock.

Erhard Out For Small John Erhard of Dallas spoke for Small Saturday at Leonard in the afternoon and at Sherman at night. It was announced that radio speeches for Small would be made over station WMAP, Fort Worth, from 9 to 9:15 and 10:30 to 11 Monday night; from 6 to 7 Tuesday night; from 10:05 to 10:40 Wednesday night, and from 10 to 11 Friday night. Small's Dallas address Monday night will be broadcast from 8:15 to 9.

Earle B. Mayfield said that he had never failed to be high man in a first primary and predicted that the state had learned what that price would be. He said that Ferguson would block progress and continue legislative discord. The speaker went into less detail in advocating adequate support for public and higher education, speeding up of law enforcement including prohibition, aid to cooperative marketing, equitable taxation, fairness to labor, and economy in state management. While declaring himself behind the program for a better penitentiary, he asserted that good management and industrialization of the plant would go far toward solving the problem. He said that oil trend was nearing one of the farms and that petroleum likely would pay for new construction. Members of the Austin crowd, he charged, wished to have the state sell the present oil-promising property and buy G. O. hills near Austin. He ridiculed the idea that most of the prison farms were "unhealthy."

Senator Small began speaking at 8:30 p.m., following a parade of bands and cars and did not quit until after 10 o'clock. He stood on a raised platform at the north entrance to the new courthouse, where a loudspeaking arrangement had been placed by radio engineers of WDAO, Amarillo.

Predicts His Election Senator Small closed his address with the prediction that, assured of West Texas vote, he would go into the run-off with "one of the political sore-backs" and be elected, Texas' next governor. He said that he offered himself as no political Santa Claus, but that he wanted to "take the hinges off the door of the governor's mansion" and give the people the kind of administration they have long desired in vain. On the speakers' platform were Judge Newton P. Willis, Judge E. J. Pickens of anadlan, Siler Faulkner, former Senator H. L. Darwin of Paris, the Rev. Tom W. Brabham, Mel Davis, Senator and Mrs. C. C. Small, J. J. Cunningham of Miami, Mayor and Mrs. Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, Olin E. Hinkle, and Judge and Mrs. E. H. Small of Shamrock, parents of the candidate.

Senator Darwin was given a few minutes in which he outlined his candidacy for lieutenant governor. He served in the state senate eight years. "Rev. Brabham opened the rally introducing Judge Willis, president of the Small-for-Governor club of Pampa. Judge Willis then presented Senator Small, saying in part: "I remember to have heard a story of a wood chopper who was always talking to himself; when asked why he indulged in this soliloquy he said: 'For two reasons; first, because I like to talk to a smart man; second, because I like to hear a smart man talk.' Emulating the wood chopper only in the second characteristic I wish to hasten, because I would rather hear a smart man talk. "I could not and I would not introduce to you this peerless prince of Panhandle pioneers whom I already know far more intimately than I can depict. I merely present to you my friend of many years, your friend and this champion of our rights whose personality has won its way to our hearts. "Born in Alabama in 1868, this son of the old South, this gentleman of the old school, was reared on these Panhandle highlands, whose rarified atmosphere produces men intrepid, dauntless and true. Pride of this apostle of common sense, fully I have watched the career whose life has been an open book, known and read of all men: Receiving his education at Trinity University, Waxahachie, Texas, and the University of Texas, he was admitted to practice law in 1911, winning the confidence of juries and clients. Married to Miss Zoe O'Neil, one of the Panhandle's queens, he rose to the positions of county judge, mayor of Wellington, president of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, district judge, senator, leading statesmen of both houses, and finally as the Saint George who slew the dragon of greed that would filch from the people the land they had bought and paid for, he defeated the attempt of the attorney general to knit a knot in his fortunes with the finger of substance, and like a plumed knight, like a warrior bold this young Lochinvar came out of the West and mounted to the summit of Texas fame. "With extreme pleasure, therefore, I present to you a friend without treachery, a commander without cruelty, a victor without oppression, a public officer without vice, a neighbor without reproach, a Christian citizen without hypocrisy, and a man without guile, the natural, logical and invincible candidate for Governor of all Texas, Senator Clinton Charles Small.

4-H Club Meeting Largely Attended

McLEAN, July 18. (Special)—Representatives from practically all communities in the county, and from many other counties, to the number 400, attended a meeting of the 4-H clubs of Collingsworth county at the Sitter ranch, recently.

George W. Sitter and J. L. Hess furnished both beef and dairy cattle for the judging contests and mainly of convenience of the affair. The program for the day was supervised by C. C. Stinson, county agent of Collingsworth county, assisted in the various contests by county agents E. W. Thomas of Hall county; T. R. Brown, Donley county; Ralph R. Thomas, Gray county. Contests were held in the morning and placings in the afternoon. Tom Harwell was winner of first place in the baby beef contest, and C. E. Puryear, first in dairy cattle judging. There were fifteen contestants.

Mr. Hess furnished from the ranch two heaves, one to the clubs and one to the neighbors. The heaves were prepared and spread on a table erected under shade trees at the ranch headquarters. The barbecue was supplemented by bread, pickles, cakes, pies, and vegetables.

Following selections from the Wellington band, Mr. Stinson called attention to the fact that the benefits and festivities of the day had been made possible by Mr. and Mrs. Hess and Mr. and Mrs. Sitter. Both families were introduced to an appreciative audience, as was Prof. J. D. Wilson, county superintendent of public instruction in Collingsworth county, R. T. Alexander, Canadian, president of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders association, Ralph R. Thomas, Gray county agent, and several candidates who were present to further their campaigns.

Among other visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. H. C. White, Wellington; Miss Paralee Brock, Collingsworth county home demonstration agent; R. E. Lee, Allison.

The sum of $50 was raised by the Enterprise Girls' club thru the sale of refreshments. This sum will be used to send Miss Annie Mae Nicholson to the summer short course school.

PUBLIC FORUM

To the Public:

In announcing my candidacy for district attorney of the 31st district I want the people to know that, unlike my opponent, I was not drafted into the race, nor am "acceding to the request of friends" in permitting my name to be placed upon the ticket. I am making the race upon my own merits and will therefore, not be obligated to any man or set of men should I be elected to that office.

I was born and raised in Montague county, Texas, and prior to being admitted to the practice of law six years ago, I served in various state and federal courts as court reporter for a period of ten years. I feel that in this capacity I was able to secure more experience in the practice of law, even before being admitted to the bar, than most lawyers do in the actual practice.

For four years I was engaged in the practice of law in Wichita Falls with my brother, James V. Allred. I served as special investigator to the district attorney at that place for six months, my duty being the preparation and actual trial of felony cases. For the past four years I have resided in the 31st district, having been elected county attorney of Wheeler county two years ago, resigning a month ago to make the race for district attorney. I served as court reporter for Judge W. R. Ewing for a period of two years, prior to having been elected to the office in Wheeler county, to whom I respectfully refer any one who may wish to know just who I am and what I stand for.

If I am elected district attorney

I promise fair and impartial law enforcement. I do not believe in prosecuting one man and permitting another man to go unprosecuted for any reason.

My opponent has seen fit to advertise in the Pampa Times, of July 18th, that he is the only man running for district attorney that has had any experience as a prosecutor at all. Look elsewhere in this paper for an affidavit in this regard. I wish to be fair with my opponent so I will make him this proposition in view of his untrue statement that I have not had any prosecuting experience: If I did not unassisted, prosecute one of his clients last year, as county attorney of Wheeler county, and he, with the aid of another man defend this man, and if the trial did not result in a conviction of HIS CLIENT I will withdraw from the race at this time. The only other case he ever defended in Wheeler county resulted in a conviction.

Promising fair and impartial law enforcement if elected, I respectfully submit to the will of a majority on Saturday next.

Lon Chaney to Talk In Picture At Rex Theatre

Having waited until a period of extensive experimenting had proved that he could do as strange and unusual things with the microphone as he has done in the past with the make-up box, Lon Chaney will make his all-talking picture debut today at the Rex theatre in "The Unholy Three," talking version of his silent success of some years ago, directed by Jack Conway and with a supporting cast which includes Lila Lee, Elliott Nugent, Harry Earles, John Miljan, Ivan Linow, Clarence Burton and Crauford Kent. Information is that Chaney purposely asked Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to give him the curious Clarence Aaron Robbins story as his first dialogue vehicle because of the fact that it permitted him to enter the talkie field with a smash, enabling him not only to talk, but to do so in five different voices, something entirely new to the screen and typical of Chaney's inimitable ability to mystify movie audiences. Whereas in the past, people have been hard put to tell which of the many "faces" Chaney used on the screen came nearest to his actual physiognomy, they will now be equally baffled in determining which of the five voices he uses in "The Unholy Three" approaches his normal voice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ward and granddaughter, Mary Lee Morris, left today on a ten-day trip to Holton, Kans., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Houston Andrew, Mrs. N. M. Agee, and other relatives and friends.

Former Citizen Dies In Amarillo

Mrs. Theo Tipps, 22, former Pampa citizen and well-known here, died in an Amarillo hospital at 5:30 o'clock Saturday morning after an illness of nine weeks. She was in the hospital four weeks.

Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist church at Panhandle at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon with Rev. Hicks, pastor, in charge, assisted by Rev. Douglass Carver of White Deer. Interment will be in Pampa cemetery at 5:30 o'clock.

The Tipps lived in Pampa three and one-half years and have many friends here. Mr. Tipps is now manager of the Southwestern Public Service company at White Deer and Panhandle. The Tipps family lived at White Deer two and one-half years and have been living at Panhandle for two years. Mrs. Tipps is survived by her husband and four children.

In the Pampa Times of July 18th, that "CURTIS DOUGLASS is the only man running for DISTRICT ATTORNEY that has had any experience as a prosecutor," I respectfully submit to the voters the following affidavit of H. D. Bishop. This is the first pre-election statement designed to mislead the people from the real issues in this race.

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF POTTER:

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENT:

This is to certify that during the year 1925, and a part of 1926, I was first Assistant District Attorney of Wichita county, at Wichita Falls, Texas, and prior to that time, lived in Wichita Falls for about seven years, and I am therefore acquainted with Raymond Allred, who at this time, is a candidate for the office of District Attorney for Gray, Wheeler, Roberts and Lipscomb Counties, Texas.

During the time I was in said office at Wichita Falls, Mr. Raymond Allred regularly assisted in the prosecution of cases in the District Court, and particularly when the district attorney, or others were busy with prosecution in more than one court, which very often occurred.

Mr. Allred was also engaged in the office of District Attorney for Gray, W found him to be very capable, efficient and an able and vigorous prosecutor and lawyer, in the many cases he appeared in, both as a prosecutor, and in the preparation and trial of civil cases.

H. D. BISHOP.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this the 9th day of July, A. D., 1930.

Senator Small was made happy by the extra arrangements made by Pampa citizens for the rally. Not the least of these was the voice amplifiers. His voice was heard for more than a block, and the remarkable difference was noted when, for an instant, the power was cut off.

Friends of the candidate were surprised by his freshness and vitality after a hard day. Earlier in the week he invaded the Rio Grande valley. Thursday evening he spoke in old San Antonio, then enroute for Fort Worth, where he early Friday morning took a plane to Memphis. Fast, grueling travel, but he is holding up remarkably well. Ralsted, as he wise-cracked, on jack-rabbit meat, he is running a race that has surprised and discomfited his rivals.

All in all, it was doubtless the greatest rally ever held north of Amarillo.

Gray county deputies had to halt a "show" staged by prisoners in the When the Small fans began to as-Washington, negro slayer, thought seemie, it is said that Jesse Lee fell just above the crowd at the rally, they comprised a mob and began praying eloquently.

the cattle men and farmers. Every West Texan should vote for Young, Hudspeth was reported as saying.

J. Cleo Thompson, campaign manager for Young in North Texas took Lynch Davidson to task for his reported support of Small. He charged that Davidson said more than three weeks ago that Small would make a "fizzle" as governor, and that Davidson was looking ahead to run for governor himself in 1932.

Ferguson, who has been governor

as has his wife, said that things were looking better than in any previous campaign in which he had been interested. He predicted that Mrs. Ferguson would lead that ticket by 100,000 votes.

Claims Dallas County
The Miller campaign committee said that the lieutenant governor would lead in Dallas, San Antonio, Galveston and El Paso, four of the ten most populous cities in Texas.

"He also will carry Port Arthur, Brownsville, Harlingen and Corpus Christi and will receive a good vote in Fort Worth, Beaumont, Waco and Houston, probably leading in two of them," the statement con-

"This large city vote, added to the always large rural vote which he has received in the past, is enough in itself to insure Miller's being in the runoff."

"Favorite son," Senator Small, was in his home section for an address at Lubbock Saturday night. His headquarters claimed 7,000 persons heard him at an All-Panhandle rally at Pampa Friday night, that 3,000 attended his speech at Memphis Friday afternoon and that arrangements were being made to care for a crowd of 10,000 at Lubbock.

Erhard Out For Small
John Erhard of Dallas spoke for Small Saturday at Leonard in the afternoon and at Sherman at night. It was announced that radio speeches for Small would be made over station WBAP, Fort Worth, from 9 to 9.15 and 10.30 to 11 Monday night; from 6 to 7 Tuesday night; from 10.05 to 10.40 Wednesday night, and from 10 to 11 Friday night. Small's Dallas address Monday night will be broadcast from 8.15 to 9.

Earle B. Mayfield said that he had never failed to be high man in a first primary and predicted that history would be repeated. "I have just concluded one of the most inspiring weeks of my campaign," he said.

The former United States senator said Mrs. Ferguson appeared to be second in the race. "The Sterling candidacy has appeared to be more formidable than it really is," Mayfield stated. "It looks on the surface as if he is making headway, but I do not find it so except in spots."

Senator Small began speaking at 8.30 p.m., following a parade of bands and cars and did not quit until after 10 o'clock. He stood on a raised platform at the north entrance to the new courthouse, where a loudspeaking arrangement had been placed by radio engineers of WDAG, Amarillo.

Predicts His Election
Senator Small closed his address with the prediction that, assured of West Texas' vote, he would go into the runoff with "one of the political sore-backs" and be elected Texas' next governor. He said that he offered himself as no political Santa Claus, but that he wanted to "take the hinges off the door of the governor's mansion" and give the people the kind of administration they have long desired in vain.

On the speakers' platform were Judge Newton P. Willis, Judge E. J. Pickens of Anadarko, Siler Faulkner, former Senator H. L. Darwin of Paris, the Rev. Tom W. Brabham, Mel Davis, Senator and Mrs. C. C. Small, J. J. Cunningham of Miami, Mayor and Mrs. Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, Olin E. Hinkle and Judge and Mrs. E. H. Small of Shamrock, parents of the candidate.

Senator Darwin was given a few minutes in which he outlined his candidacy for lieutenant governor. He served in the state senate eight years.

Rev. Brabham opened the rally introducing Judge Willis, president of the Small-for-Governor club of Pampa. Judge Willis then presented Senator Small, saying in part:

"I remember to have heard a story of a wood chopper who was always talking to himself; when asked why he indulged in this soliloquy he said: 'For two reasons; first, because I like to talk to a smart man; second, because I like to hear a smart man talk.' Emulating the wood chopper only in the second characteristic I wish to hasten, because I would rather hear a smart man talk."

"I could not and I would not introduce to you this peerless prince of Panhandle pioneers whom you already know far more intimately than I can depict. I merely present to you my friend of many years your friend and this champion of our rights whose personality has won its way to our hearts.

"Born in Alabama in 1888, this son of the old South, this gentleman of the old school, was reared on these Panhandle highlands, whose rarified atmosphere produces men intrepid, dauntless and true. Pride of this apostle of common sense, fully I have watched the career whose life has been an open book, known and read of all men: Receiving his education at Trinity University, Waxahachie, Texas, and the University of Texas, he was admitted to practice law in 1911, winning the confidence of juries and clients. Married to Miss Zoe O'Neil, one of the Panhandle's queens, he rose to the positions of county judge, mayor of Wellington, president of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, district judge, senator, leading statesmen of both houses, and finally as the Saint George who slew the dragon of greed that would filch from the people the land they had bought and paid for; he defeated the attempt of the attorney general to knit a knot in his fortunes with the finger of substance; and like a plumed knight, like a warrior bold! this young Lochinvar came out of the West and mounted to the summit of Texas fame.

"With extreme pleasure, therefore, I present to you a friend without treachery, a commander without cruelty, a victor without oppression, a public officer without vice, a neighbor without reproach, a Christian citizen without hypocrisy; and a man without guile, the natural, logical and invincible candidate for Governor of all Texas, Senator Clinton Charles Small.

upon the taxpayers.

Senator Small drew frequent applause by his darts at Sterling's "mansion with 22 bath tubs," his attempt to buy the governorship, and his inability to get the viewpoint of common people. Small said that Sterling could never live in the modest governor's mansion, and would doubtless want to enlarge it if elected.

Tom Love was mercilessly "analyzed" as a too well-known trouble maker who would lead the state into the Republican column if not defeated.

Replying to Love's charge that he stumped the Panhandle for Al Smith, Senator Small said that he made only one pre-election speech, and that at Dodsonville where it was an annual custom for years. He said he was looking forward, not backward, and wanted to lead the state into a progressive business administration. He asserted that he did not and never did wish to disfranchise a single white voter, but that he did believe the parties had the right to fix their membership eliminating the negro vote. Love, he said, wanted to open old sores and base his race on dead issues.

Of the Ferguson candidacy, he admitted that Texas "could get two governors for the price of one," but that the state had learned what that price would be. He said that Ferguson would block progress and continue legislative discord.

The speaker went into less detail in advocating adequate support for public and higher education, speeding up of law enforcement including prohibition, aid to cooperative marketing, equitable taxation, fairness to labor, and economy in state management.

While declaring himself behind the program for a better penitentiary, he asserted that good management and industrialization of the plant would go far toward solving the problem. He said that the oil trend was nearing one of the farms and that petroleum likely would pay for new construction. Members of the Austin crowd, he charged, wished to have the state sell the present oil-promising property and buy C. O. hills near Austin. He ridiculed the idea that most of the prison farms were "unhealthy."

Senator Small began speaking at

McLEAN, July 18. (Special—Representatives from practically all communities in the county, and from many other counties, to the number 400, attended a meeting of the 4-H clubs of Collingsworth county at the Sitter ranch, recently.

George W. Sitter and J. L. Hess furnished both beef and dairy cattle for the judging contests and many of conveniences of the affair. The program for the day was supervised by C. C. ### Reason No. 2

In casting your vote for Lon L. Blanscet you are voting for a man who is not now and has never been entangled with any political scandal of Gray or any other county and for a man who can walk into the office free to enforce the laws without being under obligations to any individual or group of individuals.

In the Pampa Times of July 18th, that "CURTIS DOUGLASS is the only man running for DISTRICT ATTORNEY that has had any experience as a prosecutor," I respectfully submit to the voters the following affidavit of H. D. Bishop. This is the first pre-election statement designed to mislead the people from the real issues in this race.

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF POTTER:

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENT:

This is to certify that during the year 1925, and a part of 1926, I was first Assistant District Attorney of Wichita county, at Wichita Falls, Texas, and prior to that time, lived in Wichita Falls for about seven years, and I am therefore acquainted with Raymond Allred, who at this time, is a candidate for the office of District Attorney for Gray, Wheeler, Roberts and Lipscomb Counties, Texas.

During the time I was in said office at Wichita Falls, Mr. Raymond Allred regularly assisted in the prosecution of cases in the District Court, and particularly when the district attorney, or others were busy with prosecutions in more than one court, which very often occurred.

Mr. Allred was also engaged in the office of District Attorney for Gray, W found him to be very capable, efficient and an able and vigorous prosecutor and lawyer, in the many cases he appeared in, both as a prosecutor, and in the preparation and trial of civil cases.

H. D. BISHOP.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this the 9th day of July, A. D., 1930.

LLODY FLETCHER,
Notary Public, Potter County, Texas.

(Signed) RAYMOND ALLRED.

Superlatives Needed To Describe Beauty of Grounds at Hughey Home

BY ARCHER FULLINGIM

Superlatives should be unparadigmatic among intelligent people because sophisticated persons really never see nor attain the ultimate; nevertheless it's hard to describe the grounds surrounding the residence of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hughey without using superlatives.

Consider first the house which is built in a semi-Old English style of red brick and tile. The arrangement of flowers and shrubbery accentuates all the attractive features of the house, and vice-versa. The entrance is pleasing. While one is waiting for the door bell to be answered he will observe geraniums in elevated pots on each side of the steps, then verbenas, poppies, violas, nasturtiums, a perennial sweet pea vine in a corner, a graceful spruce, pink, purple and orchid phlox, blue bells, butterfly bush, batchelor button, spirea and infillium!

The carriage porch on the south side of the house under which runs the driveway to the garage, is an arbor of Seven Sisters roses, honey-suckle, and woodbine. The south wall of the house is made lovely by an Old English ivy vine. The south lawn is decorated with catalpas spaced far apart. Near the garage is a Shaeta daisy hedge now in full bloom. On the south wall of the house is another lattice of perennial sweet peas. These bloom throughout the year.

At various places around the house are 18 different varieties of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Hughey has the only sycamore and tamarack trees we have seen in Pampa. The tamarack tree is reminiscent of brooks and grows luxuriously. A rose garden 30 by 40 feet is at a rear corner of the house. It contains many varieties of roses and there are blooms throughout the year. There were a dozen bushes flaunting pink and red blooms yesterday morning, among them sweet-heart roses.

Between the sidewalk and the street are elm trees. A sun-parlor at the southeast corner of the house overlooks large pink and purple balls of phlox, sweet peas, shrubby and other flowers. This sun room seems to melt into the grounds since it contains urns of ferns, rubber plants, but the loveliest of these is a lace fern of light, light green.

The chrysanthemums are pompom and single. Other shrubs and flowers growing at the base of the walls include a row of red and orange zinnias, privet, violets, canna lilies, holly hocks, pink and red weigelas, pink and white spirea, snap dragons, catheas now in bud, bush honeysuckle, English juniper, pine, Chinese, firethorn, woodbine, wistaria, clematis, coleus, Boston ivy, pomegranate, forsythia, pfitzer, mock orange, lilac. A barberry bush hedge shuts off the grounds. Rich tropical specimens of tiger lilies are growing in a secluded spot at the rear of the house.

Mr. Jack Hunter of Elk City landscaped the grounds and did the interior decorating in the Hughey home.

Courthouse Cafe Fully Remodeled, To Re-Open Today

The remodeled Courthouse cafe, located at 121 West Kingsmill, will be opened at noon today, according to "Six" Owens, proprietor. The partition separating the cafe from the space formerly occupied by the Maytag shop has been taken out, resulting in increasing the floor area from 25 x 11 to 43 x 18. Seating capacity has been increased from 35 to 70.

In appearance the place is attractive, in a color scheme in which black and white predominate. Walls are Textone tile with pastel panels.

New equipment has been installed, including new counters, coffee urns, and cigar case. In the kitchen every bit of the equipment is new, and two new Frigidaires has been installed.

The remodeled Courthouse cafe is one of the most attractive eating places in Pampa, and the color scheme has been developed to create an effect of brightness and coolness.

Mr. Owens is well known in Pampa, having been employed as a chef in Gibson's cafe, before entering business for himself.

Union workmen were employed in the remodeling of the cafe, painting being done by Roscoe Pirde; carpentry by H. V. Friedman; plumbing by GIB Moore; and electrical installations by Davis Electric company.

Mr. Shaw now has approximately 636 hours on his plane. This is one of the most attractive ships in the Panhandle. Its color scheme of yellow and dark blue reminds one of a black and yellow butterfly.

The Pampa Flying Club's American Eagle flew to Mangum Wednesday with Gus Irvin at the stick. J. A. Cliff and D. B. Furrington were passengers. Other cargo included parachutes for Ray Shifflett. While at Mangum, Irvin took some acrobatics. The ship returned to the local airport Thursday. Cliff now has 192 hours and is making plans to take the transport license test after he gets the necessary 200 hours. Friday members of the club took instruction from Gayden Kennedy. They were C. S. Gordon, Ray Sledge, E. C. Hatfield, and J. M. Ormsby.

SUGGESTIONS for MODERNIZING

How About Your Home?

Is It Modern?

Consider Your Wife!

Your home can also be made modern, thus relieving the housewife of much of her domestic toil. There are, however, three very definite questions that every home owner must consider if a modernizing process is to be at all successful:

- First: Is the old house structurally sound?
- Second: Will the modernizing process give what you want?
- Third: Will the cost of modernizing be justified in the finished result?

Every old house has certain valuable characteristics. It is a rare occasion to find an old house that does not have some possibilities, some features, which if recognized and carefully added to and brought to light, make not only a livable, modern house, but a thing of beauty as well. Your favorite lumberman will be glad to go with you on an inspection of the old house to determine if it will justify remodeling and suggest to you where modernizing can be done with best results and most economically.

Eating Cornbread and Milk Each Day Promotes Longevity, Asserts McLean Man, 92, Who Looks 75

The secret of growing old gracefully lies in pioneering, courting adventure, and in consuming a "bait" of corn meal mush, or cornbread, and sweet milk every night for supper, according to C. H. Rowe, 92, of McLean, who drove to Pampa yesterday from his farm near McLean alone in less than two hours in an eight-year old Ford.

Mr. Rowe who appears to be not a day over 70, said that for the last 70 years he has eaten either corn meal mush or cornbread with milk every night when he could get it. When the bovine beverage and the corn products were not available, he ate very little of anything. "I have yet to see the man who could guess within 10 years of Mr. Rowe's age," said Charlie Thut. "The usual guess is between 65 and 75." Mr. Rowe declares that he will live to be 130 or 140, and he looks good for at least 50 more years. His hands are the hands of a man about 50. They hold yours in a vice in a hand-shake and there is not the slightest suggestion of a tremor about them.

Mr. Rowe came to McLean 29 years ago from Oklahoma. He has always been a pioneer and because the Panhandle has become so civilized he has been considering for 20 years whether he will go to Old Mexico or to Alaska. The only things that keep him from going is that his wife is "kinda puny every now and then." His oldest boy is 67 years old. He has two other boys and a girl. He has been married three times.

Mr. Rowe came to Gray county in a prairie schooner. That is he got as far as the Canadian river, where the wagon and its valuable contents sank in the turbid waters. Lost were carpenter tools, all the cash he had, household goods, clothing—everything.

On April 22, 1889, Mr. Rowe, his son and his niece waited near Caldwell, Kans., just across the line from the Indian Territory. They were among thousands who were waiting to make the famous "run." There was only one place to cross the line over into the coveted territory. This was a passage 60 feet wide which had been made through a bluff, but one morning Mr. Rowe followed a cow over a precipitous trail. On the morning of the "run" Mr. Rowe, his niece and his son on fast horses followed the cow trail. They rode 18 miles in 40 minutes. They staked their claims near Medford.

Mr. Rowe was also a pioneer in Kansas, going there in 1878 from New York state, where he was born near Buffalo. He voted for Abraham Lincoln in 1860, being 22 years old at the time.

"Before prohibition I used to take a drink of whiskey pretty regular but I haven't taken a drink now in six years because none of it's fit to drink—not even the prescription liquor. I used to get my whiskey from Louisville, Ky. Good whiskey is good for you but this stuff they sell you nowadays will kill you," Mr. Rowe declared.

He is a tee-totaler as far as tea and coffee are concerned, none of which ever went down his gullet. "I used to smoke a meerschaum pipe but one day I threw it away and said I was through with pipe. I have smoked several cigars since then," he confessed.

Tidwell Shows to Arrive Tomorrow

The T. J. Tidwell shows will open in Pampa tomorrow on the lot adjoining the airport on the west. This will be the first time the show has been in Pampa in four or five years. It has been enlarged so that there are 300 persons in the company. When they last were in Pampa there was only 75.

There are twelve attractions in the show, including such shows as Vick, the duck-faced boy; Major Fox and family of midgets; Bozo, who eats glass and razor blades, who is another of the "tribe," one of those whose glass eating propensities cost the amiable Col. Tack $200 on a bet some time ago.

Other parts of the show are a minstrel show, athletic stadium, original Hawaiian village, a bigger circus sideshow, "fun on the farm," and "Law and Outlaws," a museum of wax figures of notorious law breakers and law enforcers, including Jesse James and Bill Fillman, breakers and law enforcers, including the "Lindy Loop," an apparatus costing $15,000.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. 2 GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS

You haven't seen me yet, as I have been busy trying to make a living, but no doubt that it is just as well for I am not so good looking as my opponents. I haven't a very long song and dance to give you. I am just like the rest of these candidates, want the office because I think I can handle it to the satisfaction of the law abiding people and second because I think that there is a living in it.

I believe in law enforcement to all men alike, and if elected I will endeavor to treat all men alike, rich or poor. Just a few things that I believe in and some that I do not believe in:

I do not believe in fining a man when he has committed a felony act.

I do not believe in fining a man for having whisky in his possession.

I do not believe in "vaging" a laboring man if he tries to work.

I do not believe in the fee system of paying officers.

I believe that if a man has whisky in his possession for the purpose of sale that he should be put under a good bond to wait the action of the grand jury.

I believe that when there is a murder or any kind of a capital crime committed that it is the duty of the justice of the peace to have a hearing and get all the evidence that he can while it is fresh on the minds of the witnesses. Take each one's affidavit.

I believe that if 50 per cent of the people would help enforce the law that we would have better success and more convictions.

I believe that when an officer does not do his duty and wilfully neglects same ouster proceedings is the way to get rid of him.

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Voter, if you think that I will make you a good Justice of the Peace, I will certainly appreciate your vote. And if you do not vote for me we will still be friends and I will see all of you that I can and would like to see every one personally. But I thought I would like to put this in black and white so you could keep it and if I am elected you can look it over in the future and see if I am living up to same.

I thank you.

Markets

CORN PRICES SOAR CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—It was a runaway market today in the corn trade, with a tumultuous rush of buying, and prices showing a decided tendency to soar. The climax came when the weekly official weather forecast was issued, shutting off hopes which previously were held that a general breakup of excessive heat and drought damaging to the corn crop might be looked for soon. A maximum jump of nearly 4c a bushel over yesterday's finish on corn resulted, with wheat values strongly sympathizing.

Closing quotations on corn were nervous at 3-4 to 3 5/8-c a bushel net advance, and more than 7c up from this week's bottom figures. Wheat closed unsettled, 1-2 to 1 3/4-c over yesterday's finish, oats showing 1-2 to 1 1/8-c gain, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

Provisions were likewise responsive of upturns in cereals. Closing indemnities: Wheat, Sept. 91 1-4, 95 3-4 to 7-8; Dec. 97 1-4, 1.01 5-8. Corn, July (bids) 80 1-4; Sept. 78 5-8 to 3-4, 83 3-4 to 7-8; Dec. 72 1-4 to 1-2, 79 to 1-4.

A. L. Dodd and C. A. Mason are visitors in White Deer today.

corn proved to be of broad volume and especially in the last hour, the widespread prevailing excessive heat and drought being an incentive to general buying.

Aside from the stimulating influence of the upward flight of corn prices, the chief feature in the wheat market today was big export business and persistent unfavorable news from spring crop territory both north and south of the Canadian border, with crop news adverse also from Europe, France and Germany in particular.

Oats prices followed the action of wheat and corn.

Provisions were likewise responsive of upturns in cereals.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Sept. 91 1-4, 95 3-4 to 7-8; Dec. 97 1-4, 1.01 5-8. Corn, July (bids) 80 1-4; Sept. 78 5-8 to 3-4, 83 3-4 to 7-8; Dec. 72 1-4 to 1-2, 79 to 1-4.

Building Permits Light for Week

Despite a dearth of apartments and rooms, building permits for the week included only two garages, a warehouse and a small cottage and totaled $4,150. This raised the amount for the year to $675,325.

Permits were issued as follows: To W. R. Kaufman, Jr., to build a garage in the park hill annex at a cost of $100; to Mrs. Anna McAfee to build a garage and servants quarters on the southwest corner of Somerville and Montague at a cost of $1,000; to George Hancock to build a residence in the Finley-Banks addition at a cost of $1,000; to the Union Oil and Gas company to build a warehouse in the Eiler addition at a cost of $1,000.

The department was called to extinguish another fire at 204 North Gray street, where flames started

Young Woman Severely Burned

Miss Mildred Flynn suffered severe burns on the face and hands yesterday morning when a cleaning fluid in which she was washing a dress exploded.

The fire department was summoned to 402 Yeager street at the home of E. J. Pafford where the accident occurred, but the burning garments had been extinguished when the firemen arrived. Heat from a hot water heater nearby ignited the cleaning fluid, it is believed.

Miss Flynn is an employe of the Postal Telegraph company. She went to her home in Amarillo yesterday.

The department was called to extinguish another fire at 204 North Gray street, where flames started in the kitchen wall-paper. Damage was slight.

Collector For Tax

TO THE VOTERS OF GRAY COUNTY

As a home boy, reared in Gray County, who worked his way through college, who has studied and practiced every kind of office work, from a one-man office to one with 1,200 employees, from office clerk to accountant, including filing systems, bookkeeping systems, and practically every kind of machine used in an office, who has trained hundreds of office clerks, stenographers and accounts, I ask your earnest consideration for Tax Collector in the Democratic primary next Saturday.

Our tax valuation was three and one half million dollars in 1925. Today it is approximately thirty million dollars. The duties of the Tax Collector's office have increased accordingly. And beginning January 1, 1931, the office will be operated under the schedule for counties of more than ten thousand population instead of the old schedule.

This office demands a man who is honest and dependable; that is capable and competent to do the work efficiently, and one that will do it. Upon my past record I ask that you vote for me on July 26th.

I have tried to see every voter but have missed many of you, still I want every citizen to know that I will appreciate your vote. I want the office, I need it and when elected I will give the best service I can according to my training and ability.

Sincerely yours,

WALTER D. HARDIN.
