HOOVER MOVES TO STOP RISE

CONGRESS IS GOING ABOVE LIMIT SET BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—President Hoover moved today to apply the brakes to congressional relief program threatened to expand above his recommendations on its speedy way at Capitol hill.

Calling in Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, Mr. Hoover urged strictest economy and pictured a prospective deficit of $355,000,000 for this fiscal year instead of $180,000,000 on the basis of the contemplated relief work.

Later in the day, the house appropriations committee decided to cut down the emergency unemployment construction fund from $150,000,000 to $110,000,000. Mr. Hoover had asked for $150,000,000.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho about the same time offered the suggestion for a two cent increase in income taxes next year in addition to discontinuing the one per cent reduction in effect this year as a way of averting the deficit.

Earlier the agriculture committee in the house had added $5,000,000 to the $25,000,000 proposed by the administration for drought relief, but voted down the $30,000,000 figure unanimously approved yesterday by the senate agriculture committee.

There still was cooperation between Republicans and Democrats in congress tonight for speeding the emergency relief measures but it was obvious the cooperation broke did not include endorsement for any specific program.

Representative Aswell, Democrat of Louisiana, announced he would carry to the house floor his fight for a $60,000,000 drought relief fund and he predicted it would be approved.

No specific measures were mentioned in the White House parley but Watson was summoned within a few hours of the time for the senate to start consideration of the $60,000,000 drought relief bill.

Both the senate and house will begin work early in the week on the relief program with the drought relief bill due for first consideration. The house appropriations committee will report the unemployment bill Monday or Tuesday and there is prospect that part of the program may be enacted by the end of next week.

The house drought bill limits the loan to the purchase of seed and fertilizer for putting in next year's crops.

GIVEN TWENTY YEARS FOR SLAYING WOMAN

WACO, Texas, Dec. 6. (AP)—Whether Hugh McClellan will appeal the 20-year sentence meted out this morning by a district court jury on conviction of the murder of Mrs. Vera Gedfrey was a matter of speculation tonight.

The jury deliberated 69 hours on the fate of the former Freestone county man who said he shot the woman as she leaned over a bed in an East Waco tourist camp, Sept. 14, because he thought she was going to "get" him. He testified he had lived with her at intervals for three years.

FEDERAL ATTORNEY PICTURES SHEPARD AS PLOTTING MATE

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 6. (AP)—A picture of major Charles A. Shepard as plotting the death of his wife that he might marry blonde, 22-year-old Grace Brandon of San Antonio, Tex., was spread before a court jury today as E. M. Brewster, United States district attorney, outlined the government's case in the murder trial of the army medical officer.

medical corps of the United States army. Adjournment was taken until Monday because the government asked time to assemble an array of medical testimony it wished to present. The chief prosecution counsel, whose statements several times brought objections from defense because of what they termed argumentative and impassioned expressions, told the jury the government would introduce ardent love letters from the major to Miss Brandon as part of its case. One of these letters, Brewster stated, was written three hours after the death of Mrs. Zenana Shepard at Fort Riley June 15, 1929, and began: "My darling sweetheart."

ROW OVER 75 CENTS CAUSED KILLING OF NEGRO MAN AT DANCE

A quarrel over a 75 cent debt led to the shooting which ended in the death of William Midciff, 26, negro Friday night at a dance at Tullis' place in the flats, spectators declared yesterday. Robert Andrews, also a negro, is being held without bond in the county jail pending action of the grand jury which convenes next week.

Andrews was arrested about 11 o'clock near the Empire cafe on North Cuyler. He declared the negro had been following and threatening him for several days. Andrews said he shot Midciff when the latter "drew a knife" on him. Midciff's widow declared that Andrews shot her husband over the shoulder of another person as soon as he came into the dance hall. The bullet entered Midciff's left shoulder, pierced his heart and traveled downward. Midciff died on the way to the hospital. FEDERAL ATTORNEY PICTURES SHEPARD AS PLOTTING MATE

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 6. (AP)—A picture of major Charles A. Shepard as plotting the death of his wife that he might marry blonde, 22-year-old Grace Brandon of San Antonio, Tex., was spread before a court jury today as S. M. Brewster, United States district attorney, outlined the government's case in the murder trial of the army medical officer.

In contrast, Harry S. Class of defense counsel, depicted the 59-year-old tuberculosis specialist as a kind and affectionate husband, worried over his wife's alleged addiction to liquor, disappointed in his home life and naturally becoming attracted to the pretty Brooks Field stenographer during his short period on duty at the Texas post, taking a course in flight surgery.

Testimony began after a noon recess but only four witnesses were heard, including Major General M. S. W. Ireland, surgeon general of the medical corps of the United States army. Adjournment was taken until Monday because the government asked time to assemble an array of medical testimony it wished to present.

The chief prosecution counsel, whose statements several times brought objections from defense because of what they termed argumentative and impassioned expressions, told the jury the government would introduce ardent love letters from the major to Miss Brandon as part of its case. One of these letters, Brewster stated, was written three hours after the death of Mrs. Zenana Shepard at Fort Riley June 15, 1929, and began: "My darling sweetheart."

A quarrel over a 75 cent debt led to the shooting which ended in the death of William Mideif, 26, negro Friday night at a dance at Tullis' place in the flats, spectators declared yesterday.

Robert Andrews, also a negro, is being held without bond in the county jail pending action of the grand jury which convenes next week. Andrews was arrested about 11 o'clock near the Empire cafe on North Cuyler. He declared the negro had been following and threatening him for several days.

Andrews said he shot Mideif when the latter "drew a knife" on him. Mideif's widow declared that Andrews shot her husband over the shoulder of another person as soon as he came into the dance hall.

Miss Ethel Simpson, Mrs. Eleanor Koch, and Mrs. Nettie Schwender, grand jury which convenes next were visitors in Amarillo Saturday.

CONGRESS IS GOING ABOVE LIMIT SET BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—President Hoover moved today to apply the brakes to congressional relief program threatened to expand above his recommendations on its speedy way at Capitol hill.

SYNOPSIS: When David Frost runs away and marries Fanny Freiburg, daughter of a poor German music teacher, his mother is furious. The Frosts and Brownbecks locate the little town of Pampa, Pennsylvania, and old-fashioned and unrecognition leader of the town brings back his pretty wife to the ancestral Fanny at once. Fanny is made mother-in-law's active. Frost blames Fanny and announces his plan to take to a cottage of their parents. David's uncle, Swanbeck, to refuse him a raise in salary at the time, David throws up and persists in his intention.

Chapter 4. AN OCCASION

IN OCCASION morning in late November awakened early with certainty that something and very beautiful had happened about to happen. remembered now, she and been married six months he loved her far, far better had in the beginning, have liked to write and other so, but he was in at least she hoped he many—and she did not to write. He had been her marriage.

earlier, Fanny's father her $50 and instructions in New York. Fanny little reluctantly, but her only greeted her tenderness to make much of the two days they were. He explained that he was home. His country, Germany now at war; he was to fight.

had never seen her father to her surprise he seemed no end of money. Herr took Fanny to the theaters and the opera, ordered selection a succession of and exotic foods. Instead pointing him she showed some strange reason to him.

mitted, what Fanny had acted, that he was an ex-Germany army. On the blockade he was going used as a sailor on a Norwegian. He showed her his her's clothes, and was like a child, happy, altogether. They laughed together at time in their lives. He question her about David, her new life, and did not want to be told.

"Tell me about my mother," he brooded upon her. "as very beautiful," he said, "beautiful than you. You have—like Aurora. I cannot—I am dead Lena will tell us had been their house-had found work as a time-keeper in a brick factory, at $18 a week had to be at the factory o'clock—and walk to save. In the summer months he both rather enjoyed the morning, the fragrant morning freshness. Getting up in the cold and wrestling with unruly fires was another matter. But on this anniversary morning Fanny had the house warm and the breakfast well under way before David "wakened."

"Dearest girl, you shouldn't." "But I like to, darling, I adore doing things for you! You really ought to make me get up first."

"A fat chance! But come here and kiss me."

"David, are you glad to be here alone with me?"

"Of course, goose. Where would I rather be?"

"At your mother's you wouldn't have to get up at half-past five and make fires."

"Well, I'd rather be here." Fanny did not remind David what day it was, but she spent most of the morning happily cracking and picking hickory nuts for his favorite cake, and the afternoon in making ready a special feast.

David ate an enormous dinner and praised every bite until Fanny glowed with pride. They had their coffee in the living room, both wedged into the big Morris chair David had had at college.

"David—do you think you'll ever get tired of me?"

"No, goose."

"Not in a million years?"

"But, David, I'm serious. What would you do?"

"I'd marry a young and beautiful chorus lady."

"Do you like young and beautiful chorus ladies?"

"My child, when you have lived as long as I have you will know that the young and beautiful ladies of the chorus make a specialty of millionaires. So far I haven't had a ghost's change to find out whether I like them or not."

"So you have to put up with me?"

"So I have to put up with you," said David, and kissed her.

"David, if I should die first, before we're awfully old, would you marry again?"

David placed his two hands around Fanny's throat and squeezed it gently. "You'll take a ride to the cemetery, young lady, far sooner than you expect, if you don't stop your cheery evening's entertainment. What are you trying to do—make me cry?"

"No, darling, of course I'm not. Only I can't help thinking about it."

"About what?"

"That we can't always be together."

"Who says we can't?"

"But if we should live to be 90 years old, we'll have to part some time. Oh, David, promise you won't ever, ever die first."

"Stop it," commanded David roughly. "Talk about something else or I'll howl."

This wasn't quite fair of Fanny, not quite sporting, David thought, knowing how frightened he had been these last weeks since it seemed certain they were going to have a baby. Fanny was pleased—not at all frightened—all her life she had had so little to love. Like all lovers David was never entirely unconscious of the menace of the final parting but unlike Fanny he could not talk about it. If anything happened to Fanny. (Copyright, 1930, by Mateel Howe Farnham)

Andrews said he shot Mideif when the latter "drew a knife" on him. Mideif's widow declared that Andrews shot her husband over the shoulder of another person as soon as he came into the dance hall.

Miss Ethel Simpson, Mrs. Eleanor Koch, and Mrs. Nettie Schwender, were visitors in Amarillo Saturday.

Amarillo Stops Ten Year Bi-District Jinx with Buck Win

BLANKET AIR ATTACK SENT BY BUCK MEN

SANDIES DUPLICATE PAMPA'S VICTORY OVER DIST. 2

AMARILLO, Tex., Dec. 6. (AP)—After waiting some ten years, the district one's standard bearer in the annual chase for the schoolboy grid championship of Texas defeated a winner of district two today when the Golden Sandstorm of Amarillo blanked the Breckenridge Buckaroos, 13 to 0 before a crowd of over 12,000 fans.

It was a magnificent power machine overcoming a spectacular aerial offense brought to the Pampa by the Buckaroos. Boyce Magness, the Oil Beest idol, flung footballs to all corners of the field completing 15 passes out of 37. Muggins Fowler, Sandstorm quarterback, led two of his backfield mates, Burt Bufkin and Dick Scanlan, in a plunging and running spree, and while his passing was not up to standard, it was a long toss to Conaley, an end, that brought the first touchdown in the second period. At the close of the third quarter, Glass Sandstorm center, who was one of the defensive stars of the day, intercepted a pass and galloped to the four yard line as the gun was fired. Fowler carried it over on two plunges as the final period opened.

Most of the last quarter was played in Breckenridge territory, and three long penalties stopped further scoring threats by the Sandies. As the game wore on, the locals began to rush Magness when he dropped back to pass, and five of his hurried tosses fell into the arms of Sandstorm players.

Magness' running attack was fairly well smothered, but his spectacular passing and punting kept the outcome in doubt throughout. Fowler and Bufkin, on the other hand, galloped through the Breckenridge defense, their way cleared by well executed blocking, for several long gains. Breckenridge gained only 33 yards on running plays to 242 for Amarillo.

SCHOOLS IN BIG SIX WELCOME KANSAS BACK INTO GRID LOOP AGAIN

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6. (AP)—Big Six schools, with one exception, welcomed the University of Kansas back into their conference today by scheduling 1931 football games with the Jayhawk institution which was reinstated by the faculty council yesterday.

Iowa state college was unable to arrange a gridiron meeting with Kansas next fall because of conflicting schedules, athletic director T. N. Metcalf announced.

The faculty representatives who voted to ostracize Kansas for alleged subsidization and recruiting of athletes and rescinded the action yesterday agreed to allow each school to schedule nine games for next season in order to accommodate Kansas.

The maximum schedule allowed under the rules calls for eight games, although there have been special dispensations before.

The governing faculty body at its final meeting granted special permission to four athletes to compete in an East-West football game in San Francisco during the Christmas holidays. They include James A. Bausch, the Kansas star who has been declared ineligible by the Kansas athletic board.

Dean S. W. Reeves of Oklahoma explained that Kansas and not the conference had found Bausch ineligible. "The conference never has taken action on Bausch," he said.

LAMPASAS WINS GAME

JUNCTION, Tex., Dec. 6. (AP)—Scoring a touchdown in the first three minutes of play and another in the third quarter, the Lampasas high school Badgers, class B champions of district 11, today defeated the Junction Eagles, champions of district 12.

Junction threatened in the first quarter but fumbled the ball on the one-yard line. At the end of the game, Junction was in possession of the ball on the Lampasas 10-yard line. Lampasas made 11 first downs while Junction made 10.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Douglas Friday night in Wesley hospital.

OFFICIAL ALL-DISTRICT 1 1930 TEAM

Prejudice Seen in Grid Selections

Lubbock Coach Places No Harvester on All-Star List He Chooses.

Freckish judgment of Coach Henry Frnka in failing to place a single Pampa Harvester on his first team, coupled with juggling of the votes by Amarillo sports writers, accounts for the fact that only two local players made the All-District 1 eleven announced today.

Regarding Coach Frnka's choice, the Childrens Index says: "The noticeable thing about his selection lies in the fact that not a single member of the mighty Pampa Harvesters, considered by many the best team in the district, made the grade. This was in the face of the drubbing given the Lubbock crew by the Harvesters, on top of this the Lubbock mentor adds insult to injury by naming seven Lubbock gridsters on the mythical eleven."

Big Saalsbury, without doubt the outstanding backfield man in the conference, and who almost single handed beat the entire Lubbock eleven, coach, waterboy and all, just didn't show enough stuff to make Coach Frnka's all-stars.

Moving of Saalsbury to an end position on the all-star eleven was premeditated, as shown by the fact that the Childrens scribe was urged to put Captain Don at that position. The Childrens man, Ross A. Buckner, refused to do so and protested the idea.

Haskell Indians Beat Tulsa 34-7

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 6. (AP)—The heretofore unconquered University of Tulsa eleven was defeated here today by a fighting band of Red-skinned warriors from Haskell Indian Institute who won 34 to 7.

Led by Louis (Little Rabbit) Welner, who reeled off many a sensational dash, the Haskell Indian Tribe counted touchdowns in rapid fire order after the initial period.

CORSICANA SHUTS OUT OAK CLIFF LEOPARDS

CORSICANA, Texas, Dec. 6. (AP)—The Corsicana High school Tigers, presenting a bruising running attack along with a strong aerial game, crushed the light Oak Cliff Leopards of Dallas here today 35 to 0, after being held to a 6 to 0 score at the half.

The stamina of the Tigers and amply reserves turned the tide as the game waned. The Tigers ran up 24 first downs to 10 for the visitors.

The play of Ross Hightower, Richardson, Wilson, Stewart, Stamps and Pryor for Corsicana counted heavily while Goodenough, Cook, Gore and Wyman were stars for the visitors. Gore of Oak Cliff and Clarke of Corsicana engaged in several punting duels.

RICE INSTITUTE BEATS IOWA STATE WITH TWO SCORES IN EASY GAME

RICE FIELD, HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 6. (AP)—The Rice Institute Owls, members of the Southwest conference, defeated the Iowa State college Cyclones, 13 to 7, in a post-season football game here today.

It was the 16th straight loss for Iowa State and the eighth victory for the Owls this season. The day was cold and the attendance was estimated unofficially at not more than 2,500.

Quarterback Greff, who did not start for the mid-westerners, played the most sterling game for them. He was the offense that enabled the Cyclones to score late in the fourth period. He took a Rice punt, carried it 25 yards to the Owls' 48-yard line and then, aided by Jones, a substitute half, marched down the field to the Institute goal. Tegland went over for the touchdown and Swoboda kicked goal.

How Selected

Selections made by 19 men — coaches, officials and sports writers in District 1—were the basis for the compilation of the official all-star Class A high school team for District 1.

The sports department of The News-Globe sent blanks to 25 experts, and 19 were returned. Two coaches, two newspapermen and two officials failed to return the lists. Although the experts were asked to pick first and second teams, about five picked only first teams while the teams selected about 35 names "worthy of consideration."

In making the first and second team selections, two points were allowed a player for each place on a first team and one point for a second team place. In the case of the coach who picked a squad of 35 players, one point was given each of these players.

Capt. Don Saalsbury, Pampa fullback, who was placed at end, was given this position on four of the first team selections. In view of the fact that four other backfield men amassed a great many more points than the end who received second place in number of points, Saalsbury was placed at a wing position to make room for four other backs. The scarcity of outstanding ends in the district, and the fact that Saalsbury is versatile enough to handle the wing job as well or better than any regular end in this district, led the committee to make this move.

Lard of Pampa was placed at quarterback, as he received more points at this position than at half back. Fowler of Amarillo received more total points than Lard, but they were about equally divided between quarterback and halfback positions. Bufkin was chosen halfback by some and fullback by others, but inasmuch as his fullback votes were more than those of Lawson, he was made fullback and Lawson was placed at half.

ROUGH RIDERS BEAT TROJANS IN HARD TILT

IRISH STRIKE TERROR AMONG RANKS OF CALIFORNIANS

BY PAUL ZIMMERMAN Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—(AP)—

Knute Rockne's Rough Riders from Notre Dame, prancing behind miraculous interference, staged their last wild charge today and trampled Southern California into a 27 to 0 defeat.

Paul "Bucky" O'Connor, transplanted from half back to full back and one of Knute's few Irishmen, was the youth who spread the alarm to the Trojans with Marty Brill and Marlin Smith, Schwartz galloping closely at his side.

Their mad dashes struck terror in the ranks of Coach Howard Jones' valiant eleven and carried the invading troop from South Bend through its nineteenth straight triumph in two glorious seasons.

Unlike their ancestor of mythology, the Men of Troy could find no Hector to lead the vaunted offense with the result that through sixty minutes of nerve shattering spectacle, Notre Dame's goal was never so much as threatened.

Defeat brought the number of reversals to four for Southern California against one victory in its Notre Dame series. It was the most decisive trouncing either team ever accepted in the annals of the inter-sectional play.

More than 90,000 frantic football followers shouted and groaned throughout the startling fray, which stamped Coach Rockne's ramblers as probably the greatest eleven the country has seen in a decade.

Southern California's dashing backs found their interference fragile before the rushing Rockne line, and their passing attack was pierced with constant interceptions by the secondary defense when touchdown marches seemed well underway.

Notre Dame's attack was so baffling that at no time could the Trojan defense organize itself against the unstoppable assault.

From the start there was no doubt as to the outcome. Notre Dame walked right down the field from the opening kickoff. Southern California rose to stop the threat and held for downs, but a bad pass from the Trojan center, Stanley Williamson, was recovered by Alvin Culver, Irish tackle, on the first play.

Like a flash the Riders charged. Schwartz flipped an 11-yard pass to Frank Carideo, the unparalleled quarterback, who jauntered the remaining eight yards untouched by Trojan hands, and the game was won.

It was only a few plays later that O'Connor's long eventful journey of 80 yards brought the second touchdown. Southern California had moved well into Notre Dame territory when Marshall Duffield, Trojan quarter, recovered a bad pass from center, and displaying a marvelous bit of headwork, quick kicked over the goal line as the line rushed in on him.

The yard saving feat was of no avail, for on the first play O'Connor broke away. It was a reverse and a lateral from Brill which pulled Troy's secondary defense aside.

O'Connor filtered through the line, out back to the side lines, and sped across the goal after pivoting away from Erny Pinckert, Troy's star halfback.

The second period went without a score, although Carideo passed to Dan Hanley across the goal line, only to have the play called back and Notre Dame penalized for holding.

Cochin Rockne, in a gesture of respect to Larry "Moon" Mullins, fullback whose injured knee prevented him from starting the contest, sent the South Pasadena, Cal., youth into the game on the kickoff for one play and then replaced him. It was Mullins' last game for Notre Dame. The parade of Rough Riders started again. Shades of the Four Horsemen of yesterday. Schwartz sifted through for a run of fifty yards. An offside penalty put the ball on Troy's seven-yard line.

One of those demoralizing laterals, Schwartz to O'Connor, brought the touchdown. That drive was 69 yards in seven plays.

Through the greater share of the fourth quarter's gloom and advancing dusk, Notre Dame kept the ball deep in Southern California's domain. Hard put to score, the Trojans launched a passing attack which Hanley quickly stemmed on the Southern California's 23-yard line. Nicholas Lakata, a sub back, took the finishing touches to the affair by scoring from there on a clever reverse.

With Duffield gone and the highly praised Orville Mohler also out of the picture, Blanchard, Besty, third string quarter, started down the field. His work put the ball on the Riders' 25-yard line as the encounter ended.

his coach, Henry Frnk, who wrote him as follows:

"McGehee of Lubbock is one of the greatest line men that I have coached. He would, I am sure, be an all-state selection on some down-state play. He is as good a man as has played in the district the last five years. I consider him equally as good as Fred Nicklaus of last year's Sandies. He is the kind that comes once a lifetime to a coach."

"Mugs" Fowler, Sandies' sensational quarter, was placed both at half and quarter to pile up 32 points. The champion's offensive leader won his way into the hearts of district fans because of his versatility. He can pass, punt, run, catch passes, and is one of the coolest in the state under fire.

Lard of Pampa evidently won the place at quarterback because of his uncanny ability to make good the breaks of the game and score practically every time his team approaches scoring distance.

What a team this all-district selection would be! What coach would not like to have these fellows to teach? In the backfield there are Lord, Fowler, Lawson and Bufkin. What those four cannot do is not known to football. There are power, speed, weight and brilliance in that backfield.

And the line! It is doubtful if the state has seen a more aggressive line than this would be. Not so heavy, but fighters, every one of them, and efficient, too.

McDanald of Electra won the center's job over Crawford of Lubbock in one of the closest individual races of the entire ballot. The Tiger won by a scant four votes. Crawford's defensive play could not be improved on, but the Electra lad was plenty good on both the defense and offense.

Foster of the Sandies, that 150-pound dynamo of energy, was chosen as McGeehee's running mate at guard. Pafford of Pampa ran these lads a close race, polling 19 votes to clinch his place on the second team.

With Montgomery at one tackle and Brawley of the Westerners at the other, this part of the line is as well cared for as any on the team. Both are big, fast and willing. Reno, Pampa's own concentrated essence of fight, was popular because of his great play despite his smallness. Brawley barely nosed him out for the first string job by three votes.

Conaley, Amarillo's inexperienced end, won his place on the team because of his consistent defensive work and led a great end of last year. Watson of Lubbock, by 10 votes to get his place.

All in all, the team shapes up as a most powerful one both on the offense and defense. What a pity this first team with the second team players as reserves cannot be matched up with a similar team from the Oil Belt district!

Blair Cherry, Amarillo, "Froggy" Lovorn, Plainview, Harvey Stanford, Electra, Virgil Balford, Childers, "Hennie" Weir, Vernon.

Editor's Note—The writer, as one who saw many of the games of district I this season, certainly cannot approve of any all-star selection which would place five Amarillo players on it. Nor would any mythical eleven be half-way accurate with only two members of the strongest team in the district—the Harvesters. Moving of Salsbury to end is ridiculous. He is a better man than any other fullback, and could have replaced either Bufkin or Lawson. It is significant, however, that Pampa placed Reno, Pafford, and Burch on the second team, while no Sandies made that eleven.

How it happened is not as obscure as it seems. Most of the referees who were consulted or sent in their lists were strong Amarillo partisans, and their votes were enough to land the Sandies on the first squad and squeeze other good men into the second group. Readers will therefore take the selection with a strong realization of good sea water.

GIRLS TO GET CHANCE FOR PART IN BASKET TOURNAMENT MONDAY

Girls of the physical education classes of Pampa high school, will each have a chance to play in the basketball tournament that will begin at 5:30 Monday afternoon.

The first team of the third period class will play the first team of the seventh period class Monday afternoon, and a game between two other classes is scheduled. The first team, third period class, is composed of Vera Clements, and Emily Sheats, forwards, Beulah Livezey and Susis Bell Hickman, centers Ruth Casey and Pauline Hogue, guards.

They will play the first team of the seventh period class composed of Allene Chandler and Garret Poole forwards, Wilma aBrker and Edna Mae Schillo, centers, Jewel Binford and Gladys Moore, guards. The tournament will be played between the different girls teams on Monday Tuesday, and Wednesday of each week.

There are 277 girls in the physical education classes, and some of them have never played basketball. The tournament is designed to give each girl a chance to play.

LOYOLA IS VICTOR

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6. (AP)—Loyola of the south defeated the heavier Detroit team 9 to 6 today in a charity football game. Loyola made the first touchdown against Detroit's second string men and missed two other touchdowns against the varsity by inches but got two points on a safety when Detroit attempted to pass. Detroit scored a touchdown in the last quarter but missed the extra point.

MAKES TOUCHDOWN ON OWN KICKOFF IN TILT

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 6. (AP)—The Austin Maroons entered the semifinals of the state high school football competition today, running away with John Reagan of Houston 34 to 15.

Reagan's points were made in the final quarter, after Austin substitutions had been made. The Bulldogs opened up with a chowder of passes that netted two touchdowns and a safety before the final whistle. Reagan's safety came on a free pass from center which went clear over the head of Pewee Beard, the Austin quarter, and into the bleachers.

It was a game as such freakish plays, and not the least freakish was the feat of Helf, Austin tackle, in making a touchdown on his own kick-off. Helf booted a low ball to the 5 yard line. It skidded into the legs of a Bulldog player who seemed unable to make up his mind to pick it up. Helf, dashing down the field, grabbed the ball as it rolled across. The Maroons made their first two touchdowns in the first quarter and the three others in the third.

FLORIDA IS BEATEN JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 6. (AP)—The Tennessee Volunteers clung to their "old army game" here today when the chances looked as gloomy as the weather and their perseverance was rewarded by a 13 to 6 victory over Florida. Buddy Hackman, playing his last Southern conference game, scored both Tennessee's touchdowns, on spectacular plays, and matched the nonchalant Bobby Dodd with brilliant playing.

COTTON IS QUIET
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6. (P)—Cotton experienced quiet short Saturday session owing to the general apathy to trade immediately in advance of the government's final estimate due Monday. It was a typical pre-bureau market with such trading as developed confined to evening up of commitments. With cables better than due, some of the later months opened 2 to 3 points up but there was no trading in either December or January on the previous close of 3 to 5 points and at the lowest of the second hour prices were 5 to 8 points under the highs. After a slight recovery at the end the general market closed steady net 2 points up to 1 down.
A private estimate issued near the start made the crop 14,188,000 bales.

LONGEST

Several of the grand jury, including the foreman, have already stated that no comments nor facts about the Heffner trial were heard over the radio that was in the jury room during the trial of the case. Programs they heard came from "a long way off," it was said. The amended motion for a new trial will be filed next week.
Judge Ewing 1 sin a quandary about the H. J. Shadwick case. He frankly admits that he believes the state would be "on thin ice" if he were to deny the motion for a new trial and send the case on to the court of Criminal Appeals. If the case is reversed it would be on the question of corroboration of accomplice testimony and the special prosecutor's reference to the failure of the defendant to testify decided not to give an instructed verdict of acquittal in the case. The jury gave Shadwick two years. Shadwick's motion will come before the court Monday.

nificant theme of the birth of the Saviour, make it a thoroughly enjoyable presentation. While such productions have suffered from lack of interest in America there is a revival of enthusiasm in sacred oratorios and audiences are learning to appreciate the worshipful character of the music.
"The Messiah" has outlived all the other oratorios and is given in many cities and colleges every year. Lindborg, Kans., has achieved fame by reason of having a chorus of 500 members—almost the entire population—for such singing. The oratorio has been given several times at Amarillo and Canyon Teachers College. Last year 1,600 persons heard it at the municipal auditorium in Amarillo.
The final rehearsal for the local chorus will be held at the Methodist church Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

FED STEERS HIGHER
KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6. (P)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit this week was featured by a fairly broad demand for finished fed steers and yearlings at firm to slightly higher prices. Short fed offerings with weight were little changed but light weight steers and yearlings lacking in finish, closed unevenly lower. Declines of as much as $1.00 were registered at some centers on their between grade of light yearlings which were offered in liberal numbers. Choice carrying steers in St. Louis scored 13.85 and in Chicago finished heavy steers reached 13.15. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 231,200.
Hogs were slightly higher the fore part of the week but with supplies liberal the close was slow at values 5-25 lower than last Saturday. St. Louis had a late top of 8.40 on weight average under 180 lbs. Offerings were around 699,000.
CORN PRICES PLUNGE
By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
CHICAGO, Dec. 6. (P)—Corn poured into primary markets today much faster than at this time last week. In dismay, holders of future delivery contracts made haste to stop losses, and a quick plunge in corn resulted. Prices fell to about 5c a bushel lower than were obtainable at one stage heretofore this week. Contributing to corn weakness was an official forecast of generally mild and fair weather conditions throughout the week, indicating a further liberal movement of corn from farms, and pointing also to a let up in feeding demand.
Corn closed unsteady at almost the day's bottom level, 1 1-2 to 2c a bushel under yesterday. Wheat finished irregular, 1 1-4 off to 3-8c up, with oats 3-4 to 1 1-8c down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15c.
Corn arrivals were heavy at Chicago, Omaha and Kansas City. An increase at this time was anticipated, but not in such surprising volume. Arrivals here in 24 hours were 251 cars, against only 67 a week ago.
Wheat averaged higher as a result of persistent buying of all deliveries except July, which met with enlarged speculative selling as a result of beneficial rains over domestic winter wheat territory. July delivery represents the new 1931 crop yet in the ground, whereas the nearer months stand for wheat available at once.
Oats sympathized with corn weakness.
Provisions slanted downward, influenced largely by declines in hogs. Closing indifferences: wheat march 78 1/2, 79 1/2 to 79 3/4; May 80 1/2 to 81 1/2; July 72 3/4 to 73 1/2; Corn December 71 1/2, 74; March 74 1/2, 77 1/2; May 76 1/2 to 77 1/2, 79 to 79 1/2; July 78 1/2, 80 1/2.

Pampa Has Many Private Planes But No Permanent Airport

AIR SERVICE HAMPERED BY BAD FACILITIES

NEARNESS TO CITY IS SOURCE OF REAL DANGER

Pampa stands in the unique position of having the greatest number of privately-owned planes of any city in the Panhandle, and at the same time is practically the only town in the West Texas-Plains area which really has no permanent airport. This paradoxical fact is a constant source of chagrin to Pampa pilots and aviation enthusiasts.

Local men who own and fly planes are apprehensive most of the time that some of these bright days the owners of the present landing field will decide to develop the tract into a residential subdivision. Every one of the local pilots has his pet choice for a landing field. "Dutch" Bartgis points out that the cow pasture just north of the present field would be ideal.

Mr. Bartgis is afraid that some day when a pilot is taking off over Pampa, his engine is going to go "hay-wire" and force a landing and crash-up on a residence or business building. Other aviation enthusiasts boost the emergency landing field of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., north of town as the logical place for an airport, owned by the city.

Mr. Bartgis is certain that if Pampa had an airport the Western Air planes would afford local citizens all mail service as well as passenger service.

The planes now at the local landing field are as follows:

Dr. J. C. McKean's Stearman bi-plane; Cree & Hoover's Ryan B-7, pilot Dutch Bartgis; Art Pavay's American Eagle; Frank Shaw's American Eagle; Mr. Bartgis' Swallow; Murphy & McKernan's new Spartan monoplane is due to arrive next week. The landing field has lost two planes in the last year. One the Pampa Flying club's American Eagle in a smash-up, and the other, Pampa Refining company's Ryan B-5 monoplane by removal to Tulsa.

GEORGIA TECH LOSER IN GAME WITH GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Dec. 6. (AP)—Buffeted around all season, the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets displayed unsuspected strength in their final game here today to hold a raging Georgia Bulldog eleven to a 12 to 0 score in their annual game on Grant field. Stopped for nearly half the game by a valiant Georgia Tech stand and the wet and slippery condition of the field, the Bulldogs clucked effectively behind their dual aces, Austin Downes and Jack Roberts. In the closing minutes of the first half and hammered across a touchdown with Downes scoring on an end run of ten yards.

Georgia's second touchdown came midway in the last period as Tassabouas recovered a Tech fumble on Tech's 47-yard line and the Bulldogs began another tremendous march which ended as Downes flipped a pass over the goal line to Smith.

W. MARYLAND IS WINNER
BALTIMORE, Dec. 6. (AP)—Western Maryland college, undefeated since the middle of the 1928 season, continued its winning ways in the final game of the season here today defeating the University of Maryland, 7 to 0. Koppke, fullback, took it over in the fourth quarter after a sustained drive. Maryland several times threatened.

NAVY WINS 28 TO 0
FRANKLIN FIELD, PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6. (AP)—A powerful Navy eleven that failed to take advantage of its opportunities until the second half tore a Pennsylvania team apart in the final two quarters today to win 28 to 0 before a crowd of 40,000. Navy scored a pair of touchdowns in both the third and fourth quarters and held Penn helpless throughout. It was Navy's final prep for the Army battle next Saturday.

HITS PAY SAND
COMMERCE, Tex., Dec. 6. (AP)—Drillers on the Ablowich, best two and a half miles east of here encountered pay sand at 875 feet today using a nine and one-half inch bit. Bit-talling and rebitting were started after a core test had been made and the well was expected to be brought in Sunday. Worthington and Sidam are drillers on the project.

FARMER KILLS SELF
HILLSBORO, Texas, Dec. 6. (AP)—Marvel Tidwell, 51, bachelor farmer was found dead at his home in the Fort Graham community today. A shot gun was near. A suicide verdict was returned by the coroner. Tidwell had been in ill health for some time.

Huge Navy Airship May Fly Next June

Assuming form in its skeleton body (left), the navy dirigible Akron (top) is scheduled to be completed in June. The hook-gear (lower) of the Los Angeles will be improved so that it will permit the handling of five planes in the new air monster. Drawing shows how planes will be lifted into the new queen of the skies.

By OSCAR LEIDING

Associated Press Aviation Editor
AKRON. (AP)—The skeleton of a man-made mastodon of the air, the navy airship Akron, is being shaped ahead of schedule.

By the beginning of next year, its constructors expect, the new queen of the skies will be ready for her fabric dress and in June ready for flight.

More than two-thirds of the girder work forming the body have been assembled while separately workmen are fashioning the tapered nose and tail sections which will complete the cigar-shaped structure.

Eight German motors to drive the 6,500,000 cubic inch ship have been tested for the new role of powering swivelled propellers which will enable pilots to move the dirigible forward or backward, up or down. Meanwhile the navy is working upon heavy-oil engines which may be developed in time for installation in the ZRS-5, scheduled to be built as the Akron's sister ship.

Twelve huge gas cells to contain the non-inflammable lifting gas, helium, are being fabricated and will be installed in the skeleton body after its strength has been tested.

The cells, forming the equivalent of bulkheads in water craft, are designed to buoy the dirigible safely even with the loss of gas from two compartments.

Within the taut dress of waterproofed, metalized skin to cover the rigid skeleton will be the engine rooms with nothing exposed but the propellers.

Improvements on the airplane hook-gear which has been used successfully with the Los Angeles will be included in the design of the trapeze equipment for handling five complete planes with the Akron.

The new gear, instead of being a rigid projection as it is on the Los Angeles, will be hinged at one end, so it may be dropped for airplane contacts and then swung upward, carrying the plane within the airship.

With the expected completion of the Akron in June, the navy has yet to decide where the ship will be based. The Lakehurst hangar, home of the Los Angeles, can accommodate but one ship.

Congressional bills for building a base on the Pacific coast still remain in committee hands with an unsettled controversy over which of two sites, Camp Kearney and Sunnyside, Calif., is the better.

BARTGIS HAS QUIT COUNTING HIS AIR HOURS

VETERAN PILOT HERE HAS SHIP OF HIS OWN

Long ago, R. W. "Dutch" Bartgis, Pampa's veteran pilot, quit counting the hours he spent in the air at the stick of a ship. Now he just remembers the motors he has worn out. However, as near as he can estimate, he has between 4,000 and 4,500 hours to his credit.

Mr. Bartgis, who owns his own ship, but spends most of his time piloting Cree and Hoover's Ryan B-7, began flying at Fort Worth in 1922. He has flown dozens of ships since then. The Cree and Hoover ship has 470 hours on it. 469 of them with "Dutch" at the stick.

Since his flying career began, Mr. Bartgis has had four crack-ups. Three of these occurred within three weeks, two within a week in East Texas where the pilot was baffled by the height of piney wood forests.

Mr. Bartgis says that every pilot knows when he is going to crack-up. "He may tell you that he doesn't but he does. Then is when the boys who have no use flying lose their head," he declared. The veteran pilot has one rule which he has followed.

"Get a wing in the ground if you can," he said. "If you are headed for a house or a tree, don't keep going on. Get a wing in the ground. That'll throw the ship into a spin. I came out of three smash-ups without a scratch by doing that," he explained.

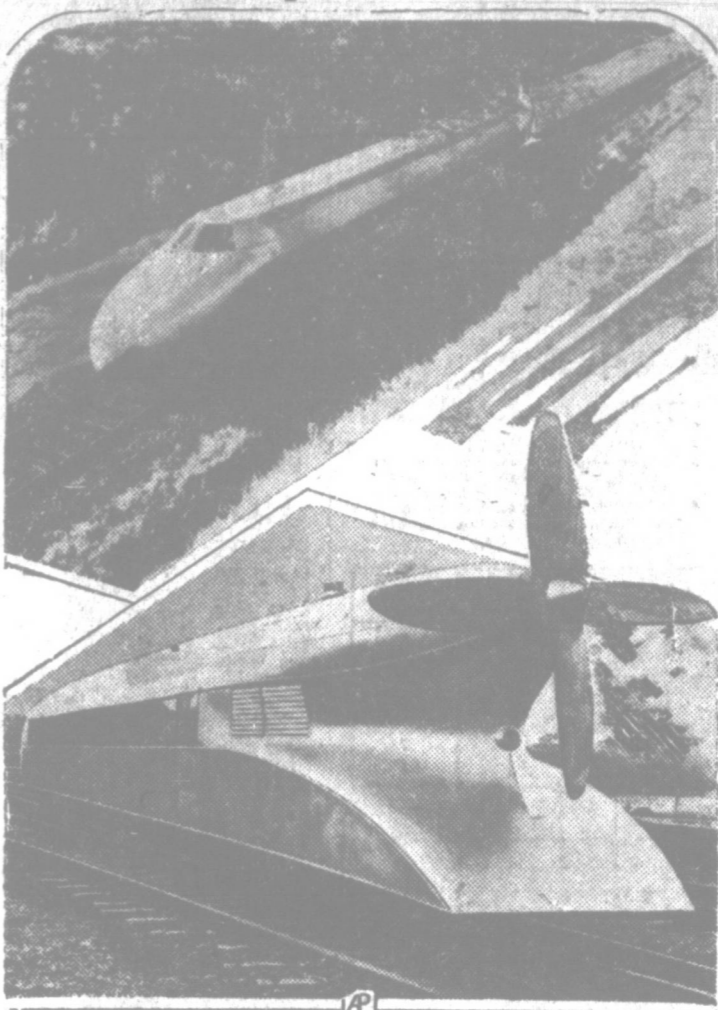

The boys who learn to fly at the San Antonio field have to learn all over again when they come to these plains, Mr. Bartgis said. Flying in the light atmosphere of the plains is quite different from cruising in the San Antonio country. It's the difference between a high and low altitude. And another thing, there is usually no such thing as a ceiling in the Panhandle. The ceiling trails upward into space toward the blue and who can tell where the blue begins, Mr. Bartgis asks. "You've got to know light air to fly in this country," he asserted.

The greatest need at the local landing field is a system of boundary lights. Unless a pilot knows the field, foot by foot, it is impossible for him to land his ship at night, and even if he is thoroughly familiar with it he's likely to go into a fence. A minor improvement needed on the field is leveling of the loose earth over the city's seven line which extends north and south across the field. The ground above the line has never been packed and it is constantly caving in. Each pilot has prepared a crossing over the line although they sometimes miss them.

Injury to his already sore knee as he was leaving a movie pit Paul Hug, All-Southern end, last year, out of the game for good at Tennessee this fall.

The University of California at Los Angeles grid teams had not won a football game when Coach Bill Spaulding took over the coaching tasks six years ago.

How Can Zep Car Turn Curves?

The "Zeppelin of the rails," two views of which are shown here, will attain a speed of 113 miles an hour. Whether it will round curves safely is a problem facing the designer, Dr. Frank Kruckenbergh.

Theatre Notes

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK.—Following "Twelfth Night," Jane Cowl has brought a most modern and witty play to her repertory theatre. It is called "Art and Mrs. Bottle," written by that artful Britisher, Benn W. Levy.

The playwright in his comedy preaches the moral that Art (with a capital A) is not the best policy. He amusingly proves his theory in as fantastic a plot as ever took place in a normal home.

Mrs. Bottle, played smoothly by Miss Cowl, is married to a drainage engineer, a sort of settled and dull fellow, but dependable. She deserts him for the arms of an artist, who is not only undependable. He also is fickle, and boasts a few other shortcomings that make Mrs. Bottle

Bottle accede to the suit of a Russian nobleman.

About Face

After 20 years Mrs. Bottle returns to find that Art still is raising ruckus with her home. Her son is studying painting, but studying his model even more seriously. Her daughter is about to wed the very artist who took her away in the first place.

She persuades her son that his father's business will prove a more faithful mistress than his model. And she persuades her daughter that the nice young fellow from next door is the right man for her.

She chases the artist from her doorstep, then quietly moves back home with her drainage engineer.

NEW SPARTAN IS TO BE SENT DECEMBER 10

SHIP DAMAGED HERE RECENTLY TO BE REPAIRED

Due here Dec. 10 is a new Spartan monoplane which Murphy & McKernan is having built in Tulsa, Okla. The firm has traded the Spartan bi-plane for the new ship. The pilot of the new ship has not been announced. The bi-plane did not see much service while it was kept at the local landing field, but the plans for the new ship are extensive.

The Swallow, owned by R. W. "Dutch" Bartgis, which received a pretty bad cracking in a forced landing made north of the cemetery several weeks ago has not been repaired, but Art Pavay who was at the stick at the time, has plans to repair it.

Pavay owns an American Eagle plane, himself, but since he works during the day now, he has little time for flying. He is a drifter for the Texas company. He accumulated a good many hours last summer.

The Stearman biplane of Dr. J. C. McKean recently arrived back from Fort Worth where its engine was over-hauled and the body repainted. The ship has been over-hauled three times this year and it is now reported to be in "jam-up" flying condition.

Bill Morris, one of the veteran licensed pilots in Texas, flew the McKean plane to Midland and back yesterday. Dr. McKean himself has not had the plane out this week. He has been on the sick list. Even doctors get sick sometimes.

Another new play, on Broadway is not such a good play, but it is rather an important document. This is "School Girls," taken from that novel by Carmen Barnes which caused quite a sensation about a year ago.

Miss Barnes, it is said, is a young woman from down south, and she has written an unobscured diary of life in a girls' boarding school.

FIRE LOSS IS $110,000

NUOVA LAREDO, Mexico, Dec. 6. (AP)—Fire, originating with a mysterious explosion, destroyed the Miller Textile mill, an American-owned plant, here late today. Bryan D. Miller, manager of the plant, estimated the loss at $110,000.

SCHOOLS OF COUNTY GIVING INTELLIGENCE TESTS TO PUPILS

Intelligence tests of pupils in the schools of the county began Wednesday, following completion of the physical examinations. The students in the upper grades of the Back school were given the intelligence test Wednesday. There are 15 pupils in these grades.

During the next week, pupils in the Grandview, Bell, Shaffer, and Hopkins 1 and 2 schools will be given the examinations. The intelligence examinations consists of five tests and exercises. The first is a test of arithmetic, the second is a test of the student's ability to insert words in incomplete sentences, the third is an exercise based on the association of words, the fourth is method of matching words, indicating whether they are different or similar. Information concerning the student's age, address, etc., are on the front page of the blank.

The tests are being given by Miss Ruby Lee Speed, assistant to John B. Hensley, county superintendent of schools. Physical examinations of the 14 schools, with a total enrollment of 800 pupils, showed that defective adenoids, tonsils, teeth, and eyes, were the principal physical ailments of the pupils. The Shaffer school has the record of having its pupils average more in weight than those of any other school. One room at Hopkins 1 made a good record, the weights of the pupils in this room being more near normal than any other in the county.

Examinations for teachers state elementary certificates is being completed today. Four teachers had registered for the examinations yesterday, but only one, Mrs. Mattye Rosch of Alameda, had taken the examination. Today is the final day for the examinations.

Ralph Cairney, University of Washington athlete, won letters in basketball, track and football during the last year.

A "Medal of Honor" for the ONE you love best.

A gift idea that's new this Christmas. How shrewdly they keep us from knowing—the wives and mothers of ours. They never show their disappointment when they unwrap some curious knick-knack. Instead, they hide their tears and tell us it's just what they wanted.

But it's time to end this "error of judgment" and give them a real Christmas thrill for a change. It's such an easy thing to do. The price of a few Christmas trinkets will put a Frigidaire in your home. And that's a gift of which your wife or mother will be proud. Not only that, it's a gift that's lasting—a gift that she'll use every day in the year—a gift that really shows how much you love her.

WHAT A MAN NOW SHOWING AT STATE

Eileen Kilbourne 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kilbourne, of Haverhill Road, eloped last night with Wade Rawlins, the family chauffeur. Noboy was aware of the romantic attachment existing between the couple, and the sudden elopement becomes even more mysterious in view of the fact that Miss Kilbourne had resented Rawlins' presence in their home and had even attempted to have him discharged.

Rawlins had obtained a position as chauffeur in the Kilbourne home after Mrs. Kilbourne whose hobby is reforming tramps and starting them on the way to respectability, had seen him hovering about her home. His skill as an auto mechanic won him a place as the Kilbourne chauffeur.

Considerable mystery is attached to the entire affair arising through rumors of Rawlins' past. According to an unknown source, Rawlins is supposed to have been a former captain of the Cold Stream Guards. Having lost his fortunes, continues this rumor, luck ran against him, and his friends would not consider his attempts to get a foothold in the business world seriously. When he heard of Mrs. Kilbourne's philanthropy and her hobby, Rawlins is said to have come to her just when her chauffeur quit, and he was immediately taken on.

Upon the return of Mr. Kilbourne who was then out of town, Eileen, little Marion, and Kan: Kilbourne informed him of the indignity brought upon the household through their mother's philanthropy, and Mr. Kilbourne was about to discharge Rawlins. He reconsidered the matter and permitted him to stay. Having been thrown together as mistress and employe, the romantic affair is supposed to have started and thrived.

When you've established credit with any concern, even on the smallest scale, you are practically put upon probation and the amount of credit accorded to you is regulated on a basis of your financial status or other factors that measure your means rather than your moral facilities to meet your obligations.

The man who pays his bills promptly from there on builds a new structure upon which creditors gauge his responsibility. A good reputation for prompt payment of bills establishes a new basis of confidence and trust . . . that of Character. Character is considered a far firmer rock of reliability than means, income or social standing.

Many men of moderate means hold a better reputation for good credit than other men living on an apparently higher scale of influence, largely because the former meet the obligations promptly and the latter are dilatory, careless or living beyond their means.

Also when important promotions or commissions of trust are open to men Integrity of Character and Good Reputation in the handling of their personal matters are the points that score highest in determining the fitness of candidates. It pays to KEEP YOUR CREDIT GOOD

GIRLS IN HOSTESS ROLES ONCE HELD BY OLDER FOLK

By SUE McNAMARA
WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Girls hostesses, stepping into social positions once claimed only by mature women, now range in age from 12 to 24.

With ease they thread their way through the red tape of officialdom and preside gracefully at the most important functions.

The latest to assume the role is Miss Cynthia Davis, 19-year-old daughter of Dwight F. Davis, governor general of the Philippines. A Washington debutante last year, Miss Davis will be head of her father's executive mansion in Manila this winter.

Miss Alice Davis, 22, who has been acting in that capacity for a year past, will spend the winter with her mother in France, where Mrs. Davis has been, for some time, for her health.

Horseback riding, swimming and tennis take up much of the time of the governor's general's daughters when they are not presiding at his state dinners or informal teas.

Miss Sue Pollard, daughter of the governor of Virginia, is another example of the modern girl who efficiently assumes social command when her mother is unable to do so.

Mrs. Pollard has been an invalid for some time, but the vivacious dark-haired Sue has successfully dispensed the Virginia brand of hospitality at the governor's mansion in Richmond.

Modes of the Moment

Home-Made Apple Butter Raises Fund for Church

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6. (AP)—Women of the Carnegie Episcopal church were discussing fund-raising to obtain money for completing a new $60,000 church. The answer was apple butter. The women went about their business on a large scale. Large kettles were obtained and placed in the yard of one of the members, and many women gathered to assist in the operations. After much stirring, testing and fire building, the net result was gallons of apple butter, with a "home-made" label—and it found a ready sale.

First Business Woman Was Printer of Books

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Who was the first American business woman? Jane Aitken, printing books in Philadelphia in 1808, so far holds the honor in the search being conducted by the national federation of business and professional women. Other early business women discovered were Mrs. Elizabeth Timothy of Charleston, S. C., who took over her husband's printing establishment in 1838, and Mrs. Hanna Cole, who operated a ferry across the Missouri river in 1814.

PLAIDS PROVING POPULAR— WILL BE CHIC IN SPRING

By DIANA MERWIN Associated Press Fashion Editor
PARIS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Winter sports clothes are hailed as forerunners of what spring will offer in the way of color combinations.

The kilts of St. Moritz and Lake Placid look like advance agents for checked skirts and plain basque jackets of next spring's Easter parade.

Reversing it, plaid jackets and plain skirts also are plainly viewable on the style horizon.

And sport togs are not the only plaid in present styles. One daytime costume of an important dressmaking house with a social register clientele is a black duvetyne three-quarter coat over a black and white shepherd's plaid skirt.

Scotch plaid lined and trimmed coats also are a factor to consider in styles which have succeeded here in a big way.

For casual blouses—blouses to wear with almost any sport skirt—chic sportswomen are voting en masse for plaid wool jersey of feather lightness.

The same plaids are worked up in scarf and bereet combinations. Normandy checks play the same role as plaids in playtime fashions.

Only seven members of the University of Southern California football squad of 50 men are from out of the state.

Bible study, 6:15 p. m.
Preaching, 7:15 p. m. Subject, "Man."
Communion, 8 p. m.

Some have supposed that since man has been very progressive in the affairs of this world that man should be progressive in religion to the extent that man may teach and practice things different from what is taught in the New Testament. It will be admitted that we are progressive, but to what extent? Not that we can teach or practice anything different from that which is taught in the Gospel, but man should make progress in material things such as automobiles, radio, airplanes and so forth, but not in the gospel because it is perfect. Jas. 1:25. We cannot improve upon perfection. If automobiles, radios and airplanes were perfect man could not improve upon them.

Come to the Church of Christ and study this important lesson with us, and let us learn just how we are to progress. Jesse F. Wiseman, minister.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
CELIA MITCHELL, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her seamstress mother, MARGARET ROGERS, to join her wealthy father, JOHN MITCHELL, in New York.

HARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections.

She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Celia and TUD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character.

Although Mitchell forbids Celia to see Jordan she goes about with the young man frequently. "LET DUNCAN," a girl of Celia's age, becomes her "best" friend. Shields comes to New York to work for a photographic service and meets Celia. She tells him she has lost her heart to Jordan.

Realization that it is really Shields she loves comes to Celia when the young man is imprisoned in a burning building. He escapes unhurt except for a broken arm. Mr. Parsons, who pretends to be friendly to Shields, goes to Mitchell and tells him Celia is meeting the young man surreptitiously. That afternoon Celia and Shields are strolling together when Mitchell appears.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLVI
Neither Celia nor Barney noticed the man until he was directly in front of them, scarcely 10 yards away. The boy and girl walked slowly. Barney was speaking and Celia raised eager eyes to his.

"Suddenly she saw her father. John Mitchell was striding toward them briskly. The girl stopped, uttered a low cry. "It's father!" she exclaimed. Barney Shields looked at her puzzled. Before he could speak Mitchell had reached them. John Mitchell's face was a mask for his emotions, coldly formal, but there was a glint in his eyes which startled the girl. She had seen it once before.

"Why, father!" Celia began, "what a surprise to meet you here!" Mitchell halted. "And a surprise to meet you, too," he said severely. "Won't you introduce me to your friend, Celia?"

"Of course! Father, this is Mr. Shields. Mr. Shields, my father." Her fluttering laugh added to instead of decreasing her appearance of embarrassment. "I was just wishing I had company for my walk when I met Mr. Shields. Wasn't that fortunate?"

"Very. How do you do," Mitchell said curtly, offering his hand. Barney took it eagerly. "I'm certainly glad to meet you, Mr. Mitchell. Celia's told me a lot about you."

"Really? Have you—known my daughter long?" "Oh, yes," Celia spoke up. "I knew Barney before I came to New York. He's a photographer, father. Makes pictures for newspapers. He goes to the most exciting places!"

"Newspapers?" Mitchell glanced at the young man quickly. "Interesting, indeed. Celia, I must ask Mr. Shields to excuse you if you don't mind. I have some things I wish to talk over with you, Mr. Shields."

"It was done, sweetly, but there was unquestioned finality in the icy tone. Both of the young people showed surprise. Hot color came into Celia's cheeks. Shields stared for an instant, then he stepped back."

"Why—why, certainly," he said. "Then, to the girl, he added, 'Excuse me, won't you? I'll see you later.' The young man hesitated a moment, tipped his hat and walked away in the opposite direction.

Celia's eyes followed him. A flash of resentment overcame caution and she whirled toward her father. "Why did you do that?" she demanded. "Why did you send him away? It sounded as though you were deliberately trying to get rid of Barney!"

"But he's my friend and I won't see him humiliated. He came here today because I particularly asked him to!"

"Oh? I thought you said you two had happened to meet!" She saw what she had done and colored more deeply. Celia was angry and Mitchell, taking exactly the wrong tactics, prodded her. His own face was white and he spoke nervously, attempting to control his voice. "I will not have you meeting any young man in a park or any other public place. Your home is the place for you to receive guests, and you know that. No respectable young man would stoop to such subtleties. I am thoroughly ashamed of you, Celia. This thing is never to happen again! As for Shields—your acquaintance with him is ended."

"Father, you would—you don't mean that!"

"JUST IMAGINE" AT REX THEATER TODAY

The sound of the hall door opening interrupted them. The next instant Evelyn Parsons, wreathed in smiles, appeared in the doorway. "How nice to have company!" she exclaimed sweetly, hurrying forward and giving her hand to Mitchell. "I'm so glad to see you, John. Why—Celia, has something happened?"

"The girl looked up through mist-ed eyes. "Oh, Evelyn," she said, "you make him understand! Father says I have to stop seeing Barney. He met us together in the park. He wouldn't let Barney stay and defend himself. Father thinks Barney's a blackmailer. You tell him he's wrong. He'll believe you."

Mrs. Parsons' brow drew together. "But I don't understand!" she said. "Who do you mean, Celia? I don't know any Barney!"

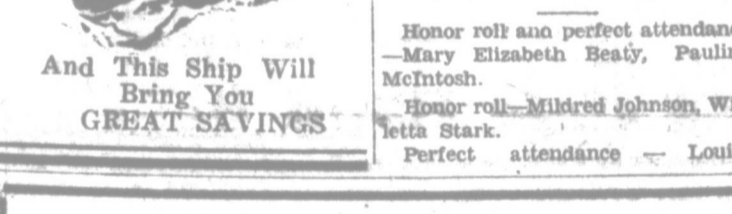

"Barney Shields—you remember? Why, he was here yesterday! Evelyn Parsons' gaze was incredulous. "Child, what in the world are you talking about? I never heard of such a person."

Celia Mitchell stared unbelievingly. "Why, Evelyn!" she gasped. Mrs. Parsons dropped into a chair. "Do sit down, John," she said pleasantly. "And you, too, Celia, and tell me what this is all about. I hope it's nothing disagreeable."

For a full second the girl held her ground. Then she fled from the room, locked the door of her bedroom and leaned against it, weeping. No one came to disturb her. Two hours later Celia planned a course of action.
