

NEGRO'S TRIAL TO BE AT MIAMI

A New Champion Is Crowned

Folks, meet the world's champion tree sitter. Ten-year-old Jimmie Clemons, above, won the title and also $13.67 prize money contributed by friends and neighbors in Racine, Wis., when he stuck it out for 34 hours and 13 minutes in his backyard. The Chicago endurance flyers gave him the idea. Above is Jimmie in his leafy perch and left, Jimmie's refueling crew "hoisting soda pop and sandwiches to him by means of the family clothesline which was borrowed for the purpose.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

"Thar's gold in these here prairies."

Remember the "Battle of the North Fork" and welcome one of its heroes here next Friday evening.

Senator Clint Small, West Texas man with a statewide platform, will be honored by appreciative thousands when he makes a flying trip here next Friday. He doesn't need to come to get votes, but he will be inspired for the rest of the hot campaign by seeing undeniable proof of his high standing in the Panhandle.

Mr. Small will be in Lubbock as part of his itinerary, and use of an airplane will enable him to make a brief visit here. It was in Pampa, remember, that Mr. Small made the first address after he announced his candidacy for governor. At that time he made a plea for law enforcement and observance—after an energetic tour of other parts of the state, it will be refreshing for the candidate to be back in the Panhandle for a time.

Pampa should be out in "full force" Friday evening to greet Mr. Small and to welcome delegations from other towns and cities.

One of the chief accusations against Mr. Small is that he is the candidate of "special interests." This meaningless general term has been based in fact, and the gathering here will demonstrate the kind of support that is behind the Wellington man. He represents the common man, the home owner of Texas, the hard-pressed independent oil man, and the big Texas electorate that wishes to "do its own thing."

There is a big swing of sentiment toward Young and Senator Small. But obviously, a voter cannot support both. To divide the vote would be dangerous—too dangerous to try on any basis of trying to put both candidates in the

DECISION UPON RAIL RE-HEARING MAY BE SOON

Decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Burlington-Rock Island railroad controversy, based on the recent re-hearing in Washington, will probably be by August 1 providing the commission acts before taking its vacation.

This opinion is brought from the re-hearing by Chas. C. Cook, attorney for the Pampa Board of City Development, who took part in the oral argument in favor of the Burlington's proposed Pampa-Childress line.

The original hearing was before division 4 of the commission, composed of Commissioners Myers, Eastman, and Woodlock. Mr. Eastman favored the Burlington proposal, but the other two members demurred. The re-hearing was before the entire commission, with the exception of members Eastman, Woodlock, and Lewis, who were absent. The remaining eight members heard the argument in which the needs of the Pampa area were particularly stressed.

Mr. Cook is frankly optimistic, although there is no way of knowing what the decision of the eight commissioners will be. The focal point in the last hearing, however, was much more favorable than in the original argument, when consideration of lines entering Fort Worth largely figured.

The commissioners will make their decision and probably assign an examiner to write their findings, basing the conclusions upon the record. If the decision is favorable, it is believed that joint trackage rights between the Burlington (Fort Worth & Denver) and the Rock Island from Wellington to Shamrock will be granted. The Rock Island's permit to build from Quanah to Shamrock is suspended pending announcement of the decision based on the re-hearing.

Bad Forest Fire
BEND, Ore., July 15. (P)—Six hundred and fifty men worked desperately on an 18-mile front today to control forest fires which in two days have laid waste about 5,000 acres of timber in the Deschutes and Cascade national forests.

SHIP FALLS IN WOODED SWAMP

Companion Goes For Help and Search Is Held

PENNINGTON, Va., July 15. (P)—Frank Goldsborough, 19, holder of the transcontinental flight record, who crashed in an airplane on a mountainside here yesterday, was found alive by searching parties early today.

A searching party sent word here that he was unconscious and groaning. He was released from wreckage that had pinned him down since the crash yesterday noon.

A stretcher was ordered to be taken up the trail from Dunville to the wooded swamp into which his plane had plunged. He was found at 6:30 a. m. after searching parties had combed the mountain since late yesterday when his flight companion, Donald Mockler, found his way out of the woods and told of the crash.

The searching party said the plane was completely wrecked and apparently had plunged into the mountainside with wide open throttle. Directions given by Mockler early today led the woodmen directly to the wooded swamp.

The party said the march was at Marshall's mills plantation on Tucker Pond mountain.

Goldsborough is the son of Bryce Goldsborough, who lost his life in The Dawn, Mrs. Frances Grayson's plane, which disappeared in the North Atlantic in December, 1927, on the start of an attempted transatlantic flight. He is 19 years old.

Mockler, Frank's companion on a flight from Buffalo, N. Y., to Etene, N. H., was slightly injured in the crash and sought aid when unable to free Goldsborough. He wandered for six hours through tangled woodland to find help.

Trouble Begun Here Results In Fatal Shooting

Family trouble which started in Pampa several weeks ago reached a tragic climax in Wichita Falls Sunday night when Dewey Hanners was arrested shortly after the fatal shooting of Frank Blumhoff at the Hanners house. A charge of murder was filed against Hanners in district court at Wichita Falls yesterday.

Hanners said he had been estranged from his wife and that he had called at the house where Blumhoff was killed to inquire if she were there. Mrs. Hanners called officers and Hanners was arrested.

The Hanners family lived in Pampa until 19 days ago, when they moved to Wichita Falls. Just before they left Pampa, Blumhoff was arrested on charges preferred by Hanners. He was placed in the Gray county jail and held for three days, but was released after a hearing in which no evidence was submitted to substantiate the charges. At that time both Hanners and his wife were in Wichita Falls. Officers said that immediately after he was released from jail, Blumhoff went to Wichita Falls where he had been a day when he was shot.

Sweetwater Boy 'Takes Off' on Endurance 'Sit'

SWEETWATER, July 15. (P)—The Hunter brothers of Chicago duration flight fame had better look out. Buck Sawyer 14-year-old newboy, went to the top of a mesquite tree here today and left word he would "sit until Christmas." A large crowd was on hand to see Sawyer "take off." A refueling crew of eight boys is on the job, while local business concerns are furnishing food, soda water, chewing gum, and candy.

SAUNDERS HAS ADMITTED FIRM NOW INSOLVENT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 15. (P)—Clarence Saunders in federal court today withdrew his denial of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc. and opened the way for creation of a receivership this afternoon. Through attorneys he informed the court that the firm was insolvent.

Judge Harry E. Anderson announced his intention to appoint a receiver or receivers at 2 p. m.

In a statement, Saunders said the refusal of a banking syndicate to extend the maturity of a $300,000 loan, part of which is due now, $200,000 more due tomorrow, and the remainder in August, had so embarrassed him that the credit of Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc. was "practically destroyed."

Walter Armstrong, Memphis attorney, said in court today that he represented creditors other than the three who yesterday filed petitions in bankruptcy and for receivership and asked the court to delay appointment of a receiver.

STOREY GIVES WARM REPLY TO GOVERNOR

Takes Attack to Be Recognition of Strength

SMALL AGAIN RAPS STERLING

Love Predicts He Is to Lead First Primary

By The Associated Press
Candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination carried their campaigns into virtually every section of the state today as the hours before the primary on July 26 were shortened.

Signs of the increasing heat of the campaign were evident on all sides, and many were the charges and counter-charges, claims of increasing strength and denials of such gains.

Governor Dan Moody was on record with a charge that former Gov. James E. Ferguson had directed a triple advance on Texas politics through the candidacy of his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, also a former governor, the election of Geell Storey of Vernon as attorney general and the election of many of his friends to the legislature.

Mr. Storey likewise was in print with a scolding statement in response to that of the governor, that the linking of the Storey and the Ferguson names was "political propaganda," designed to turn the bitter enemies of the Ferguson against the Storey candidacy.

Storey in Hot Reply
"It appears to me that Governor Dan Moody is going a long way," Mr. Storey said at Lubbock last night, "when he sees the headway I am making in the race for attorney general to interfere apparently with the primary hope of trying to help them the tide."

"SAYS SMALL GAINING
"SMALL IS RUNNING LIKE WILD FIRE—DOWN HERE. WILL GET FOUR THOUSAND VOTES IN TRAVIS COUNTY."—Telegram from Mel Davis, secretary of the Pampa Small-for-Governor club, to Judge Newton F. Willis, president of the local organization.

Speaking at Austin, former Congressman James Young was caught in a maelstrom of political ferment when his speech was interrupted by a fist fight between two Austin men, E. Cartledge, a lawyer, and R. H. Hightower. Mr. Young had charged from the platform that "an infamous old scoundrel is distributing cards here with untrue charges printed on them," and Hightower had responded, "That is a contemptible lie."

Continuing his discussion of a proposed bond issue to finance highways, Ross Sterling, chairman of Business Men of City Will Convene Tonight to Plan Rally For Small

A group of Pampa business men will meet tonight at the Chamber of Commerce hall to make detailed plans for welcoming Senator Clint C. Small back to Pampa Friday night when a roundup of Small forces in the Panhandle will participate in a huge rally. The business men will meet with the executive committee of the Small-for-Governor club to discuss decorating the city, and providing accommodations for visitors, seating of the rally audience.

The business men will cooperate with the committee in sending out invitations to all Small enthusiasts in the Panhandle. Plans will also be perfected to bring a number of

TWO WOMEN BYSTANDERS ARE WOUNDED IN GUN BATTLE WHEN BANK ROBBERS RETURN FIRE

Willmar, Minn., Institution Is Looted of $35,000—Robbers Use Machine Gun in Raid

WILLMAR, Minn., July 15. (P)—Five men armed with a machine gun, wounded two women in a gun fight with citizens here today after robbing the bank of Willmar of between $35,000 and $40,000.

The women, Mrs. Emil Johnson and her daughter, Mrs. Don Gildia, were not seriously hurt. Mrs. Johnson was shot in the arm and Mrs. Gildia in the leg as the robbers sought to clear their path with a burst from the machine gun and revolvers.

Citizens who gathered after the alarm had been spread, exchanged shots with the bandit car as it sped out of town and two of the robbers were believed to have been wounded. Bullets crashed through windshields of several cars and shattered windows in nearby buildings during the brief exchange of shots.

John Evans, oil station employe, who fired several shots at the bandits. Said the driver of the car was replaced, apparently wounded. H. S. Paffrath also said he believed he had wounded one of the robbers. Shouting threats of death to the 25 employes and customers in the bank, three bandits entered the building while, another, carrying the machine gun, held a large crowd of citizens at bay. The fifth man sat at the steering wheel of the car while one man stood in the bank and the other two ransacked the cash drawers and the vault.

The bandits occupied eight minutes in the robbery.

NEGRO HELD AFTER ATTEMPT IS MADE TO ROB MAN—FUGITIVES IN PAMPA SWELL BLACK POPULATION

A negro is being held in the county jail in connection with an attempt to rob J. O. Lackey with a pistol last night in South Pampa. Lackey was walking on the sidewalk when two negroes ordered him to "stick 'em up!" He began running and yelling for assistance. The negroes pursued and one of them struck at his head several times with the gun but the blows landed on his shoulder and neck. The other negro grasped his shirt but he jerked loose, Lackey said.

Deputies Herman Wachtendorf and Frank Gordon, who heard the screams, rushed to the place. They believe they arrested one of the negroes but the other fled before the officers arrived. Lackey's shirt was torn into shreds when the officers arrived. Lackey was carrying a watch but no money.

Local officers reported this morning that the negro population of Pampa has increased by 75 in the last three days. All of them came from Erick, Okla., and vicinity, where angry white citizens drove out the negroes after Mrs. Henry Vaughan, a native of Erick, was killed by a negro at Shamrock Friday morning. Officers estimated that the negro population of Pampa now is about 500.

Two Robberies Reported Sunday

Valuables and cash were taken from the Taylor Farm dairy, the Derrick service station on South Oyster and a private home here Sunday night by thieves. No arrests have yet been made by officers.

About $8 in cash was taken from the cash register at the dairy's new pasteurizing plant, and about the same amount was taken from a cash drawer at the service station. Entrance was gained at the dairy by cutting the screen. The latch was broken off the door at the service station. Two watches were also stolen at the service station. The home of a negro was looted and $20 in money, and articles of clothing were taken.

Cleaning Out Is Boost to Well

Deepening and cleaning out of Shamrock Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Worley-Reynolds, section 64, block 3, this week increased the production from 120 barrels initial production to 350 barrels. The well is just south of the Wilcox pool. It is located in the northeast corner of the west 80 acres of the south east quarter. The well was brought in last Tuesday.

JUDGE EWING TRANSFERS IT THIS MORNING

Case to Be Called on July 28—Feeling Intense

INDICTMENT TO BE IMMEDIATE

Erick Business Men Ask Cool-Headed Action

WHEELER, July 15. (P)—Judge W. R. Ewing of the 31st district court today convened a special term of the court and summoned a grand jury to meet Thursday to consider an indictment against Jesse Lee Washington, negro, charged with the slaying last Friday of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, white.

Judge Ewing announced that on account of intense feeling over Mrs. Vaughan's brutal slaying near Shamrock when she was clubbed to death with an iron pipe, he would transfer the case to Miami for trial. He said his court would convene at Miami on July 21 and the case would be set for trial on July 28.

Decision to convene a special term was reached at a conference between Judge Ewing and officers and citizens of this section.

A report that Washington was being transferred to the jail here could not be confirmed and officers discounted it. They said they did not know where he was being held.

SHAMROCK, July 15. (P)—Rangers sent here to aid in controlling restless elements of the populace following the slaying by a negro of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, a white woman, maintained vigilance today, backed by two machine guns and a setup of tear and gas bombs. Orders were issued to arrest anyone found agitating mob violence. Meanwhile, the negro, Jesse Lee Washington, was held in an Oklahoma prison.

ERICK, Okla., July 15. (P)—County officials today expressed belief they had under control racial disturbances here resulting from the slaying at Shamrock, Texas, Friday of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, formerly of Erick.

Authorities yesterday made and later cancelled a request for state troops after negro families had been driven from their homes by mobs.

Three companies of infantry at Oklahoma City were being mobilized for duty at Erick when Governor W. J. Holloway withdrew the order. The guardsmen were told, however, to hold themselves in readiness in event of further trouble.

Officials estimated 200 negroes had been driven from their homes by groups of white men who warned them not to return. Several hundred signers of a "Jim Crow" (See NEGRO, page 6.)

SPIRIT OF ADVENTURE REFINED

Love of adventure, even with its often sad circumstances, has always sent young men of all ages on strange journeys. Adventure still abounds for those who seek it, although the capacity to enjoy it depends entirely upon the individual.

Two young newspaper men of Lubbock, former classmates of the writer, have embarked upon a world tour which will carry them into many capitals and will require probably two years' time. Sutton Christian, city editor and Allan Carney, sports editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal are the scribes who Sunday began their trip. Christian wrote a few days ago: "We are now in a spell of waked-up anticipation; have been sleeping only four or five hours of the twenty-four." And what American adventurer would sleep more.

This editorial, however, has for its purpose the pointing out of a newer method of "leaving home and country." The young men are not striking out without preparation. They have carefully planned the world tour. They know what to seek and to see in each country. They have introductions to prominent men from such world travelers as Dean Walter Williams of Missouri university. They will interview celebrities the world over. Part of the expense of travel will be paid through sale of articles written under the title of "Turning With the World."

The travelers do not spoil their trip by terming it educational, although it will be that. Their writing will be in line with their training, and there will be the added incentive that the better they write the longer can be the journey.

"The articles which we will write will, we believe, be of much interest in the Southwest," Christian said. "We realize that such an expedition as we are making is nothing unusual to those who see it from the outside, but our plans are such as to make it unusual. We will spend very little time in concentrated centers of the world—that is not our idea. From the first time the dream entered our minds, we have tried to get away from the stereotyped 'visit to London, Paris, Berlin, etc.'"

Realizing the dangers which lie in the paths of curious Americans in foreign, and sometimes hostile, lands, the two have not overlooked such details as heavy insurance. Armed with passports, letters of identification, a portable typewriter, and very little money but a determination to "go places and see things," the pair look forward only with eagerness.

Thus adventure, refined to a practical basis by two youngsters trained in the alert journalistic routine, lives and promises exciting times of which many will read. There are many acquaintances of the Lubbock adventurers who wish they had the time, opportunity, and resourcefulness to try the same idea.

A HEROINE AND A KISS

Somebody or other once remarked that women are rather hard to understand. Every now and then something happens to make the average man wonder if maybe there isn't something in that ancient saying.

Take, for instance, the long argument about the double standard of morality.

Women have protested against this for generations. It has irked them to realize that things which a man can do without damage to his reputation are considered out of bounds for women. They have written books about it, made speeches about it and talked at great length to dinner partners on the subject.

Miss Johnson, as you know, is the young aviatrix who flew from England to Australia alone. Right now she is the idol of the British empire. She is a sort of feminine Lindbergh, getting the same sort of public adulation that Lindy got after his flight to Paris.

The other day Miss Johnson was being driven thru some Australian city. A young man in the crowd, carried away by his heroine-worship, sprang to the running board of her car, leaned over the door and kissed her.

Miss Johnson, without delay, swung a lusty fist and whacked him on the nose. Apparently it was a hard, well-directed punch; and no one, since then, has tried

Public characters have to put up with a good deal. Men who have won sudden fame have been kissed, promiscuously, by fair admirers. Lindbergh has dodged countless kisses. One need not look back far to remember how Richard P. Hobson, Spanish war hero, was kissed—as one might say—from coast to coast.

This was all part of the game. The men have stood for it as best they could. Those that they could dodge they dodged; when they couldn't, they took it with a good grace.

But when it comes to be woman's turn—what happens? Does woman accept the chance to set up the single standard? She does not. Woman—in the person of Amy Johnson—socks the nose of the would-be kisser.

Anybody, apparently, can kiss a famous young man with impunity. But to kiss a famous young woman it is still necessary—as in the benighted old double-standard days—to get her full consent first.

Somehow, it is all rather puzzling.

CHURCHES

Christian Science Churches
"Sacrament" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, July 13.

The Golden Text was from John 6:35, "Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life; he that cometh to Me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst."

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise."—Psalms 51: 17.

Included in the service was the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "While We adore Jesus, and the heart overflows with gratitude for what He did for mortals—treading alone his loving pathway up to the throne of glory, in speechless agony exploring the way for us—yet Jesus spares us not one individual experience, if we follow his commands faithfully; and all have the cup of sorrowful effort to drink in proportion to their demonstration of His love, till all are redeemed through divine Love (p. 26).

Museum Will Be Begun in September

CANYON, July 15. (Special)—Work will start on the construction of the museum building for the Panhandle-Plains Historical society about September 1, according to a report made by the directors of the society.

Progress for collecting funds for the building as made by L. F. Sheffy, field secretary, was praised by the directors. H. E. Hoover of Canadian, chairman of the museum building committee, expressed himself as being highly pleased over the report of Mr. Sheffy, and urged the directors to adopt a plan to start construction on the first unit of the building, to cost approximately $25,000. The architects are being consulted as to the type of building that may be constructed for that amount of money. The possible size of the $25,000 unit will depend upon the kind of construction determined upon. The building must be fire-proof in order to safely house the valuable historical relics which have been assembled by the society.

WACO CUBS SHOWING SURPRISING LUCK UNDER LIGHTS

CHICAGO SOX SURPRISING IN UNEVEN PLAY

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago White Sox may be struggling along in the second division of the American league but they still have the profitable faculty of doing the unusual at the unusual time to pep up an otherwise drab ball game.

Always known as a team capable of playing championship ball one day and then going to the other extreme 24 hours later, or even sooner, the Sox yesterday produced a few more varieties in the way of baseball entertainment as they divided a double bill with the New York Yankees.

The opener went to the Sox 10 to 5 in a long, weird affair that lasted one minute short of three hours while the Yankees took the nightcap—a tame affair compared with the first—by the score of 7 to 2 in two hours and four minutes.

They started off by pulling four errors to help the Yanks into a big lead. This advantage was soon wiped out by a savage attack with the result that the teams went into the last half of the ninth tied at nine all.

At weighing ceremonies yesterday afternoon, Battalino tipped the beam at 125 1/2 pounds while Fernandez weighed 126 pounds, the class limit.

Walter Johnson tried two pitchers against the Tigers but Detroit found the pair for 13 hits to make it three to one for the current series.

In the other American league contest the Indians made it three straight over the Red Sox, winning 3 to 2 when Wesley Ferrell bested Milton Gaston in a hurling duel.

Only one game was played in the National league but the Brooklyn Robins increased their lead to three games as they downed the Pirates, 12 to 8.

CLUB MOVES INTO SECOND PLACE ROLE

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Winning their twelfth victory in thirteen starts under the flood lights, the surprising Waco Cubs swept into second place in the Texas league race by taking their opener at Shreveport last night, 3 to 1.

The Wichita Falls Spudders, first half champions, kept up their killing pace of the second heat by trouncing the Houston Buffs, 7 to 2, in their series opener.

It was another triumph for Hal Witte, the blonde southpaw, who has proved a notable exception to the rule that outfielders are out of luck in the Texas league this season.

Regaining their stride after three straight defeats by Waco, the Fort Worth Panthers took the third rung by nudging out San Antonio, 7 to 6, in their initial fray. The Cats scored all their runs off Tom Estell in the first three rounds, Hargrove stopping them dead thereafter.

SCHOOL BOYS STORM PARK—ALL ADMITTED

CHICAGO, July 15. Then the secret of the trouble came out: A Chicago alderman had provided tickets today for 13,000 boys, but 3,000 of them had not been properly signed by owner Somiskey.

DANCING JUDITH

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

Judith Grant, beautiful Greenwich Village artist's model and dancer, shares her apartment with Clarissa Morley, known as Chummy, a beautiful girl who lost her memory seven years ago when Alan Steyne, artist, her lover, abruptly disappeared, and who has been affected mentally ever since. Steyne reappears, and Judith and Bastien Dumont, another artist, bring him to Chummy; but Chummy fails utterly to recognize him. Steyne calls often to see the two girls, and explains to Judith that he and Chummy had never planned to be married but merely had been victims of a youthful infatuation which he had always supposed that Chummy had outgrown as easily as he did. He takes Judith to a theater party, and on their return kisses her and tells her he is in love with her; but just at that moment Judith learns that Chummy has contracted pneumonia and may not recover. She tells Steyne she hates him, and dashes off to take care of the girl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI

Chummy came very near to death. She was so ill that one night Doctor O'Shane spent five hours in her room. She was delirious that night, and her high-pitched chatter seemed to fill the building. There was no deep bellike sound in that thin, restless voice. Judy spent most of the time on the landing, and often Clara Jenks joined her. Clara could not help looking on the sunny side of things, and she made Judy laugh in the midst of her misery—which was a very good thing.

Judy did not go much into her friend's room. At first Doctor O'Shane would not let her do so, and afterwards she felt reluctance that had its roots in the memory of Alan Steyne's embrace at the foot of the stairs. She did not know how she was ever going to face Chummy again. She had thought herself sick about that night, picturing Chummy, light-headed and burning with fever, instinctively making her way to the Cafe Turc, seeking the place where was enshrined all she had ever known of happiness and love.

Before the end of the week the crisis was over and care, nourishment, and rest were all that Chummy required.

"She had a much stronger constitution than I should have thought," said Doctor O'Shane. "When she picks up, she'll be all right again; but, Miss Judy, it's yourself I'll have to be prescribing for next. You're looking altogether too much like a snowdrop—though, sure, there's no fault to be found with the little flower itself." Judy was a very bad housekeeper, and Clara Jenks had taken it on herself to buy food and other necessities for her. Judy handed over her purse with a sigh of relief; but she was forced to realize, in a day or two, that the luxuries and delicacies that Clara provided could not possibly have come out of that slender store.

She taxed Clara with it on the day after Chummy had finally turned the corner and began to struggle back to life.

"Clara, you're spending your own money on us! But, no, you haven't got any, I'm sure. Clara, where are you getting money from?" A suspicion made Judy flush and frown. "Is it Mr. Steyne?" she cried excitedly. "You're not taking money from him, Clara, are you?"

Clara confessed that she was. "I thought it was all right," she said, with her quaint, blunt face screwed up into an expression of contrite surprise. "He said he was an old friend."

"Where have you seen him?" asked Judy's accusing voice.

"Why, he came to inquire—twice. I don't know where you were—oh, yesterday you were out for a walk with Bastien! He was awfully anxious about Chummy, and I didn't like to refuse."

"How much, Clara?" "Twenty-five he gave me yesterday."

"You mustn't take any more. Promise! I'll get some money. Of course, Chummy must have everything."

"Oh, how splendid that she's getting better!" Clara cried. She proceeded to execute a weird shuffling dance that would have brought down the house if she had performed it on a stage. Judy laughed till the tears rolled down her cheeks.

All that morning her thoughts were busy with Alan Steyne as she posed for Max Dickbread's Spanish dancer in her vivid yellow-and-black dress, with immense scarlet popples under the lace mantilla that covered her flaming hair.

She had not seen Alan since that night. Of course, when Chummy was well again, she would have to. He must come to see Chummy. He had said he was fond of her. He must be. Everybody was. Those brief moments at the foot of the staircase had been madness. No doubt he regretted them bitterly.

Judy was an incredible optimist, but she had at the same time no very high opinion of men. She had seen too much of them.

The dinner, the lights, the wine, the music—and those laughing eyes! Was Alan Steyne really in love with her? She did not believe it for a minute. Was she in love with him? She pulled a little shutter down over her thoughts, and would not answer that question at all.

In the early afternoon she went to Vincent Stornaway's house. The artist had written her, asking if she would sit for the head and shoulders of Queen Elizabeth as a young girl. He had for the moment abandoned portrait painting, and was engaged on a large historical panel for a new apartment building.

Judy could not afford to turn down any offer of work, particularly at this moment; and she could not help feeling a little flattered. Stornaway had never asked her to sit for him before. In his letter he referred to her hair and her eyebrows as suggesting to him the coloring and lineaments of the young princess. The interview that resulted was satisfactory, and it was arranged that she should go to him when Max Dickbread could spare her.

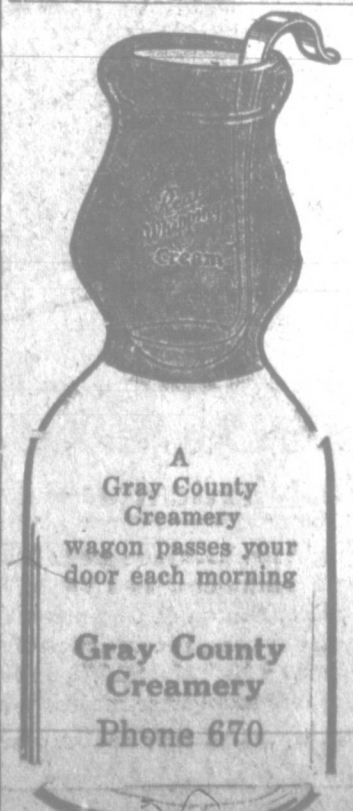

Stornaway proved restful after her tyrannical genius. He talked to her kindly and gave her tea. As she left his house—a large, low, many-windowed building of red brick, which suggested the country—she led her eyes on the snow-drops that spread a field of gleaming whiteness over the lawns on either side of the path. The grounds were inclosed by a high wall that had a gate set in it, and as she opened the gate a man met her. She recognized him with an inward grin. She did not know why, but even the thought of him made her laugh. It was Bruce Gideon, white and heavy-jawed, with pale eyes, black hair, and peevish mouth. Chummy's description of him as Punch came back to her. He wore correct afternoon dress, which made him look old-fashioned. A shining top hat was on his big head.

At sight of Judy his lips opened in a smile which chased the peevish look from his face, but brought out its coarseness.

"Do you remember me, Miss Judy?" he asked, holding out his hand.

Judy, glad of her new work, and still rejoicing in Chummy's escape from death, answered gladly: "Of course I remember you, Mr. Punch!"

"And here comes dog Tony!" Gideon went on, as Stornaway's terrier came trotting down the paved path. "Now we can give our show!" His little eyes rested on her glowing face with a covetous gaze that made her draw back into her shell.

"And how is your friend who called me Mr. Punch—the beautiful girl with the sad story?"

"Who told you her story?" Judy asked.

"Stornaway," replied Gideon. "He knew her, it seems."

"She has nearly died," Judy said. "And her young man has come back."

"Ah. Then I suppose there will be a happy ending?"

In her heart she meant that there must be a happy ending. In her heart she meant that there must be a happy ending. Alan Steyne would recover from his madness. All would be well with Chummy.

"I wonder would you dine with me tonight?" Gideon asked.

"No, thanks."

"Will you lunch with me tomorrow?"

"No, thanks."

"I mean—I will ask anyone else you like."

"No, thanks."

"When your friend is well again—then, perhaps?"

"If it would amuse her," said Judy, with cool scorn. "I shall make it my business, then, to amuse her."

"You are ridiculous, Mr. Punch!" She glanced at him with the same feeling that had often made her lay her hand like a snowflake on Bastien Dumont's arm; only there was less kindness in her eyes. A single drop of water would quench Bastien's generous ardor. This man needed a garden hose. "Please let me pass!" she added.

"Au revoir, Miss Judy," he said, his eyes traveling from her shabby hat to her perfect feet.

"Goodby, Mr. Punch," she answered without a further look.

When she got back, she went into Chummy's room. "The nurse has gone out for a while. Chummy is lying on her pillows in the soft luxury of convalescence. She smiled as Judy came up to her bed and bent over her."

And Judy knew at once that something tremendous had happened. "Oh, Judy," said Chummy's low, lazy voice, "what do you think? I was dying to tell somebody. I dreamed that Alan had come back."

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THIS REGULAR STOCK MOTOR OIL

CLOSE ON THE HEELS OF ITS ACCOMPLISHMENT AT INDIANAPOLIS MAY 30, CONOCO WINS 3RD, 4TH, AND 5TH PLACES AT ALTOONA AT BETTER THAN ONE HUNDRED MILES PER HOUR!

Frank Farmer, in a Miller Special, "placed" third with an average speed of 102.2 miles per hour. "Shorty" Cantlon, in a Miller-Schofield Special, was fourth with 101.5 miles per hour. Small Sure to Be in Run-Off Says Davidson

FORT WORTH, July 15.—Senator Clint C. Small has the best chance over all other gubernatorial candidates to win in the first primary, according to Lynch Davidson of Houston, former lieutenant-governor of Texas, and retired candidate in the present contest for Governor.

Mr. Davidson has been freely expressing his opinion regarding the favorable and widespread support of Senator Small in a series of addresses he is making over the state against the state road bond issue. Several weeks ago he announced that he thought both Senator Small and James Young had the qualities that would fit them for successful service in the governor's chair and he urged his friends over the state to consider them seriously for the office. Since he has been campaigning on his own against the road bond issue, however, he announced that in his opinion Senator Small stood the best chance for election.

"I have been in very close touch with the political situation throughout the state for some time," Mr. Davidson said. "And I think know something of the trend of affairs."

"I am now frank enough to say that Senator Small stands as the foremost candidate in the minds of the people for election. I believe that out of the district West of Fort Worth and North of the T. & P. Railroad the Plains candidate will poll at least 100,000 votes. With 11 candidates in the race this will practically assure his being in the run-off."

Mr. Davidson added weight to his argument when he said former Governor James Ferguson announced recently that he believed Small would get at least 40 per cent of the vote in the territory North of the T. & P. and West of Tarrant county.

"Forty per cent of that vote would be 80,000 votes, and if Jim Ferguson concedes that much you will know that a man of his political judgment cannot be far wrong."

Oklahoma Has Big Oil Slump

TULSA, Okla., July 15. (AP)—Oklahoma fields set the pace in the decline of estimated daily average production of crude oil throughout the nation during the week ending July 12, the decrease for the week in this state being more than half the total decrease for the entire United States, the Oil and Gas Journal says today.

Estimated daily average production for the nation during the last week was 2,541,430 barrels, as against 2,610,283 the previous week. This was a decrease of 68,853 barrels.

Production of Oklahoma fields slumped from 685,120 barrels during the week ending July 5, to 615,185 barrels last week, a decrease of 69,935 barrels. Seminole production went below the 200,000-barrel mark, dropping from 202,895 barrels to 193,765 barrels. The biggest decline in the state, however, was at Oklahoma City, where a decrease of 22,145 barrels brought the daily total down to 83,480 barrels.

West Texas production was off about 2,000 barrels for the week, and slight decreases were shown by most of the other sectors of the Midcontinent area, including North Louisiana and Arkansas.

Kansas production was 127,776 compared with 131,235 for the previous week.

Gulf Coast and Southwest Texas heavy crude fields joined in the general downward movement with small declines, as did the eastern fields when production slumped 1,000 barrels. After its big spur of last week, the Rock Mountain area was down again, with a decrease for the week of 13,881 barrels daily production. California, alone of the major producing areas, registered an increase for the week, and the total gain for that state was only 4,000 barrels daily.

CHICAGO, July 15. (AP)—The financial situation among Chicago's 13,000 public school teachers is once more acute. The dire days of last winter have been paralleled. It is vacation time and pay checks are three weeks overdue.

Absentee Voting Time Is Here

Official ballots for the Democratic primary election to be held July 26 have been printed and are now in the office of Siler Faulkner, county chairman, at the courthouse.

The form of the ballot is a noticeable departure from the slender style that is usually printed. The 1930 ballot is short, about 15 inches in length, and the candidates are listed in three columns.

The ballot reads from the upper left-hand corner with state offices, county, precinct and district offices following. The U. S. senate candidates are in the upper right corner. These are followed by candidates for district offices.

All qualified voters who do not expect to be in their voting precincts July 26 may cast absentee ballots between now and the election date. Qualified voters who paid their poll taxes in other counties and who do not expect to be at their home boxes on election day may file applications for absentee ballots, and vote before election day. These will be returned by the county clerk of the county in which the voters live. A number of such applications have already been filed, according to Charlie Thut, county clerk. All such absentee votes must be cast before the county clerk or some other notary public.

New Deputy Is Employed

Frank Jordan is a new deputy in the sheriff's department. He assumed his duties yesterday afternoon. Deputy Jordan came to Pampa from Ralls, where he lived for many years. He had experience as an officer in that section, and is well-known there.

Mr. Jordan succeeds Weldon Wilson, who about six weeks ago resigned in order to harvest a wheat crop at Spearman. It is understood he will continue to live on the farm.

For Tax Collector

Walter D. Hardin
A HOME BOY; 40 YEARS OF AGE

Thoroughly trained in office work of every kind from assistant clerk to manager; from a one-man office to one of the largest in state. At one time handled a pay-roll of more than $150,000.00 per month. He asks the consideration of every voter in the county for the following reasons:

1. Reared on farm in Gray county.
2. Worked way through college.
3. Experienced as office clerk and bookkeeper.
4. Has done accounting and income tax work.
5. Had supervision of office clerks in state department of agriculture.
6. Supervisor of commercial training with U. S. Veterans Bureau with desk at S. M. U. and local office at same time for four years he taught bookkeeping and accounting in the Dallas Vocational night school.
7. Has taught bookkeeping and accounting, commercial arithmetic and commercial law a period of nine years.
8. Has 10 graduates from the commercial school he taught here in Pampa, holding good jobs today.
9. Has studied law two years including more than three hundred and forty articles on the duties of tax collector.
10. He is the only man in the race for tax collector who has spent his entire life training and learning office work. He believed the tax collector's job to be the most technical one in the county since it comes under the new schedule and he asks for your votes upon his fitness for the place.

petition to bar negroes from Erick, said they favored permitting them to return for their property.

In a tense session today, Erick business men at a special meeting flatly refused to approve the action of the hoodlum gang that chased negroes from this community over the week-end. The business men counseled cool-headed action and refused to attach their names to the petition suggesting that negroes not be allowed to reside in this section.

The report of Washington's removal from the Granite, Okla., reformatory, where he had been held following threats of mob action, was that the negro was being taken to Wheeler for arraignment and preliminary hearing. Fear was expressed that if the negro is arraigned here, officers might be unable to give him protection.

Frank Tackett, father of the murdered woman, and Leo Rossen, brother-in-law, both were reported to have gone to Wheeler, accompanied by several others from Erick.

SAYRE, Okla., July 15. (AP)—Charges probably will be filed against Erick citizens who served notice on Beckham county negroes to flee their homes and resulted in a general exodus of negroes from

Wells Near City Now Upon Pay

The two wells now being drilled on the Allam and Cary leases adjoining the Talley addition on the Berger road will be brought in the latter part of this week or first of next week, it was reported today. Cockrell-McIlroy's No. 1 Allam is being standardized at a depth of 2,900 feet, while Prairie Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Cary is running six-inch casing preparatory to standardization. Depth of the latter well is 3,100 feet, contract depth being 3,300 feet. First pay is due at 3,300 feet.

the state highway commission, told an audience at Plainview to "look well into the qualifications of the man who want to save the people from themselves." He declared his plan of issuing state highway bonds the vicinity of Erick over the week end, following the killing of a Shamrock, Texas woman by a member of the race.

H. C. Ivester, county attorney and M. L. Inman, acting sheriff, were in conference today discussing probable filing of the charges. "We have learned the names of those who took the principal part in the affair but have not decided just what charges to file against them," Inman said today.

Frightened by the wholesale warnings issued at Erick, Sayre negroes, fearing violence, went to the county jail and asked to be permitted to spend the night behind the bars for protection. Billy Harris, porter, and Lizzie Jackson, cook at a hotel here were taken care of at the county jail. The only negro family living here, Charlie Walker, his wife and children, packed up Monday afternoon and prepared to leave town.

The sheriff and other residents of the city declared there was no danger of violence to Walker, so he changed his plans and today was still here.

MILLER IS INOFFENSIVE

At Orange, Lieutenant-Governor Barry Miller said he was running on his own record of service to the people and not on the faults of others. Mr. Miller has generally refrained from mentioning his opponents by name. He discussed taxation, labor, education, highways, law enforcement and prisons.

At Harlingen, State Senator Clint C. Small attacked the highway bond proposal vehemently, saying the public schools would lose money by it. The schools, he said, would be left without adequate support under the plan and the profits of big oil companies would be increased by the amount denied the schools.

Thomas B. Love, addressing an audience at De Leon, expressed confidence that he would head the ticket in the primary, basing his belief, he said, on mathematics. There are 200,000 more Anti-Tammany Democrats in Texas than Tammany Democrats, he declared, and while the former are united the latter are divided into various camps.

Earle B. Mayfield at Paris put himself on record as in favor of an equitable distribution of taxes, and a new prison system for the state on present owned lands, and against the highway bond issue and foreign-owned and foreign-controlled chain stores.

second primary. The Panhandle must present a united front, for it has the best chance of all time to back a winning candidate.

Some great issues are being taken in this campaign. They are discussed in other years. But when professional politicians make promises, they forget them by the time the legislature meets. When a real issue comes up, there is too much irrelevant talk about Tammany hall, national politics, and the tariff on petty. It is high time that politics is "adjourned" long enough to accomplish something.

F. F. Reid, en route to Canada for a deserved rest, is a road enthusiast and will never be anything else, it appears. Now a vacationist, nevertheless he takes time to write The Pampa that he visited secretaries of the Southwest Trail association at Woodward and Alva, Okla., and Kiowa, Kans. He said that the interest was good and that the dirt roads were in fine condition. However, he found that the markers needed replacing.

The millennium must be here. The Pampa was passed by a highway speed cop and not even a warning was given. The only explanation seems to be that the cop was either driving asleep or was chasing a car ahead.

Dust eating candidates do not agree with Mr. Sterling on his bond plan, but most of them we have met are boosters for paving nevertheless. It is no cinch—this making of three or four speeches day with your throat cut by pieces of verbs, dust, and strong adjectives.

It's fine to be in the public eye, but many folks are certain to mistake you for a cinder.

Modern Method Lift Them Out CORNS Callouses Go Too

The safest and real modern way to remove corns, root and all—out to stay is to soak them every night for 3 or 4 nights in an invigorating, stimulating Radox Footbath. Then put on modish shoes again, walk and dance with greatest comfort because there's nothing left to ache. No pain, no trouble.

Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layer of corn, each night penetrating further and further thru the pores, carrying the salts to actual root of corn, so loosening it that it comes right out. Nothing like healthy, free from corn feet to assure happy days! Get a package of Radox at Patheco Drug store, or any drugstore—Adv.—2.

When tempted to over-indulge

"Reach for a Lucky instead"

THE BATTLE CRY OF MODERATION!

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*There is only one remedy for fat, and that is eat the right food... There are at least one hundred so-called obesity cures. None of these is permanent. All of these are injurious," says Vance Thompson, Ph.D., in his famous little book, "Eat and Grow Thin," published by E. P. Dutton & Company. We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.
