Essay Winner Receives Pin

Alice Ann Martin, Big Spring, is presented a pin bearing a miniature jet aircraft and an ATRC insignia by Brig. Gen. August M. Minton, chief of staff for the Air Training Command. At left is Fred A. Kober, Phoenix, Ariz., who, like Alice, was essay winner for the command. Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Martin, returned here Wednesday at 4:40 p.m. aboard an AF transport after leaving Washington in the morning in rain, lunching in Omaha, Neb., where it was snowing. After a round of special recognition at Scott Field, Ill., they were shown the highlights in Washington, met top personalities but missed President Eisenhower by an hour. However, on an extensive tour of the White House, Alice left an autographed copy of Shine Phillips' book, "Big Spring," to be given the President. Thursday she was off again—to Sweetwater for the football game.

Canada Holds It Must Rule On Any Gouzenko Publicity

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada stood pat today on its insistence that U. S. officials may question Igor Gouzenko about Soviet spying only if the Dominion government keeps complete control over publicity of any resulting evidence. That threw the international tussle over efforts of the U. S. Senate internal security subcommittee to interview Gouzenko into at least a temporary stalemate. Gouzenko is the former code expert at the Russian Embassy here who turned against the Soviets in 1945, enabling Canada to uncover a vast Red espionage network which apparently branched into the United States. Gouzenko now lives under an assumed name in a little village "somewhere in Ontario," under protection of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The U. S. Senate subcommittee, digging into ramifications of the explosive Harry Dexter White case, has tried twice to get Canadian permission to talk with Gouzenko. Yesterday the Dominion government said "yes"—but under conditions the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), didn't like. Canada announced officially that anyone designated by U. S. authorities could question Gouzenko—provided (1) he is willing (2) the meeting is confidential and under Canadian auspices, and (3) Canada retains the right to say evidence of information obtained shall remain secret or be made public.

Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson laid down the conditions in a note to the State Department and in a long, heartily applauded speech in Parliament. In Washington, Jenner objected to the terms and hurried off a letter to Secretary of State Dulles asking him to keep on negotiating with Canada. Jenner wrote that he felt the subcommittee "could not receive evidence vital to the security of the United States, and the United States alone, and commit itself not to make it available to Congress if necessary." In effect, that would be making it public. The only official reaction here was in the polite language of diplomacy. Pearson told a reporter that his government naturally would weigh carefully any new communication on the subject from Dulles. "I wouldn't want to say more until I saw the communication," the foreign minister said, "but we came to our decision only after very careful consideration." Another Canadian authority on foreign affairs likewise said a new U. S. note would receive due consideration, but it would be difficult for the Canadian government to change its attitude. Other Canadians were less restrained, but didn't want to be quoted by name. Many of them have been inclined to think all along that the Jenner subcommittee is trying to sidestep the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation (which interviewed Gouzenko), since it isn't allowed access to FBI files and reports, and to get at one of the agency's original sources of information on Soviet espionage. Several sources suggested that it would be politically uncomfortable for Canada to change the conditions laid down yesterday for the questioning of Gouzenko, in view of the widespread expressions of support for them which came not only from Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's own political supporters but also from opposition leaders in Parliament. Furthermore, Canadian officials already were miffed at one disclosure of FBI information on which they weren't consulted, an action the CCF (socialist) party leader, M. J. Coldwell, described to the House of Commons as "shocking." This was the release by U. S.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. of a confidential letter FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover sent to the White House in February 1946 relating to Harry Dexter White. White, who died in 1948, was the former assistant secretary of the Treasury in Washington who was named U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund in 1946. Brownell touched off the tremendous uproar over the White case on Nov. 6 by accusing former President Truman of promoting White in the face of FBI reports he had identified the Treasury official as a Russian spy. Truman blasted back that Brownell "lied" for political purposes and said he retained White in the government so the FBI could keep tabs on him without tipping off its search for members of a Soviet spy ring. Brownell released the Hoover letter in testimony before the Jenner subcommittee. Citing "sources high-placed in the Canadian government," the letter indicated there was concern over espionage charges against White because "it is reported that the British and Canadian delegates to the International Monetary Fund" might back White for president or executive director of the fund. Speaking before jammed galleries in the House of Commons, Pearson declared Canada never had any intention of supporting White for any post. Moreover, the foreign secretary declared, the information Hoover got wasn't from any high Canadian source, but from an official of a "friendly third power" assigned to security liaison with the Canadian government. He didn't name the official or the third power. And this official, Pearson said, merely reminded the FBI of information which the FBI already had sent to Canada intimating that White might be a spy. The FBI had transmitted this information, Pearson said, to determine whether Canada had any third.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—There's a shortage of Santa Clauses in the nation's third largest city. In fact, the supply of men willing to spend eight hours a day listening to children's Christmas wishes is so tight that John Wanamaker's, one of the city's largest department stores, ran a newspaper advertisement yesterday asking for applicants. "Playing a Santa Claus is not easy work," a store spokesman said. "There are not many qualified persons available. We already have two regular Santas but the work is so hard that we need a third."

Couple, Thought Dead, Found Living In Orange

Legal Precedent For Case Held To Be Lacking

BOOK SEEMS NO SUCCESS

Disappeared From Tennessee In 1931

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Puzzled lawyers said today there is no legal precedent to many of the angles stemming from the complex case of Thomas C. Buntin, and his former secretary who turned up in Orange, Tex., yesterday after 22 years.

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas lawyer Peter Schley traded in his car recently. In the excitement of the transaction he forgot to take a book from the glove compartment. "I bought the book a year ago and never read it," Schley said, "I couldn't remember to take it out of the car." The book's title: "How to Improve Your Memory."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Nashville Tennessean reported today it had located Thomas C. Buntin, member of a socially prominent Nashville family who disappeared 22 years ago, living in Orange, Tex., as man and wife with his former secretary who dropped from sight with him. Both had long since been declared legally dead. They had raised a family of six, four daughters and two sons. One daughter presented them with a grandchild last October, the other is expecting a baby momentarily. Their discovery brought to a dramatic climax an intriguing international mystery of more than a score of years. The hunt for them had been pressed throughout the United States. It had extended into South America, where the searchers sought futilely to track down reports they had been seen. While the search was on Betty McCuddy became heir to a sizable chunk of a great uncle's million dollar estate. It went to the son of an only brother—a brother whose death 17 years ago she learned of only last night. Lawyers said in Nashville last night they would not even speculate on what might happen to that money; or what would be the answer to many other legal facts of the strange case. When Buntin, an insurance man, disappeared in September 1931, he left a wife and three sons in Nashville. She is now married to Louis Phillips, president of the Broadway National Bank of Nashville. The sons are Thomas C. Buntin, 31, Nashville commercial artist; Rogers C. Buntin and Daniel C. Buntin, the latter two in their late 20's. Buntin was 28 at the time of his mysterious disappearance; Miss McCuddy 22. Last Nov. 6 the New York Life Insurance Co., which had been forced by court order to pay a $30,000 life insurance policy on Buntin seven years after his disappearance, disclosed it had found him but declined to say where. That disclosure resulted in an injunction obtained by the insurance company tying up part of the insurance money which had been paid into a trust fund for Buntin's heirs. Until that action there had been not the slightest clue to the whereabouts of Buntin and Miss McCuddy. It was then that the Tennessean took up the search which ended in locating the couple who now live in a white frame house at 1001 Orange St., in Orange. The newspaper's staff, under the direction of Publisher Silliman Evans, himself a former reporter on Texas newspapers, had a clue they were somewhere in Texas. Within 15 days they were located. Yesterday Tennessean Reporter John Singthair and Photographer

Others said that payments of insurance to heirs of supposedly dead persons who later are found alive usually are handled under a mutual "mistake of fact" ruling. But they added there was no mutual mistake in the Buntin case. The New York Life Insurance Co., which paid $50,000 in insurance on Buntin's life, had never "been a party to a mistake." The company, believing staunchly that Buntin was alive, resisted payment through the state courts. It paid only when directed to do so by the State Supreme Court. Then, after 22 years of hunting their man, the insurance company disclosed earlier this month they'd found him to bear out their contention that he was very much alive.

BOSTON (AP)—A former convict, his wife and their college student son were under arrest today in connection with the second largest cash robbery in the nation's history—the $681,000 theft from a parked armored car in March 1952. The FBI identified them as George D. O'Brien, 43; his wife, Margaret, 42, and George Jr., 20, a third-year student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The father was charged with the theft of property belonging to a Federal Reserve bank. His wife and son were charged with receiving stolen property. FBI agents arrested the mother and father last night in their one-family house in a middle-class neighborhood of Wollaston, Mass., a community on Boston's south shore. The son was arrested on the M. I. T. campus in Cambridge, Mass. The armored car, belonging to the United States Trucking Co. was robbed on a bright forenoon while parked on a busy square in Danvers, Mass., a residential town 20 miles north of Boston. An unknown number of men drove up and rifled the armored car while its three guards were having coffee in a nearby drugstore. It was the biggest armored car robbery in the nation and was topped only by the $1,219,000 Boston Brink's counting room robbery of January 1950, as the nation's largest cash haul. Police Chief Raymond Kerwin of Danvers said an FBI agent told him that agents had recovered some bills whose serial numbers matched numbers of the stolen currency. Kerwin said it had not been generally known that investigators had the serial numbers of the stolen money. A next-door neighbor of the O'Briens, Arthur L. McGilvray, 33, said the FBI had asked him to keep an eye on their activities since the O'Briens moved into their new white colonial home from a Dorchester, Mass., tenement district last January. The elder O'Brien was held in $100,000 bail after Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward Hassan told U. S. Commissioner Peter J. Neilligan, presiding at a special night session that the government contended O'Brien was a participant in the robbery. The younger O'Brien was ordered held in $5,000 bail. His mother was released in $1,000 bail on her personal recognizance, because she has two other children, aged 4 and 6, to care for. A hearing will be held Dec. 9. Hassan told the commissioner that the son and mother had received funds from O'Brien that were "knowingly taken from the armored truck in Danvers." The FBI said the elder O'Brien served two terms in Massachusetts State Prison from 1934 to about 1940 on charges of larceny and breaking and entering.

Czech Truce Inspector Shoots Self

INCHON, Korea (AP)—A Communist Czechoslovakian truce inspection officer due to return to Red North Korea tomorrow shot and seriously wounded himself today. He was described as "conscious and exhilarated" aboard an American hospital ship where doctors said his condition was serious but not critical. Czech Lt. Col. Vojtech Bagda was found in his quarters early this morning at this port city where he was a member of the neutral nations inspection team set up under the armistice agreement. There was a small calibre bullet wound in his head. An Army announcement said "apparently the wound was self-inflicted." Bagda was taken to the American hospital ship Consolation for an operation. Bagda came to Inchon Nov. 20 to serve with the Czech, Polish, Swiss and Swedish inspection team that reports on movement of military supplies. "Whoever found him called the American military policeman at the gate of the compound," a U. S. officer said. Bagda was accompanied to the Consolation by a senior Czech officer and an interpreter. The inspection team is billeted apart from American military personnel at Inchon.

Special Thanksgiving Services Held In City

True thanksgiving is all embracing and constant, the Rev. E. C. Armstrong told the faithful attending the traditional Union Thanksgiving service at Baptist Temple here this morning. Congregations from most churches represented in the Big Spring Pastors Association took part in the special worship. The Rev. Armstrong, pastor of the Park Methodist Church, spoke from Psalms 96:1, "O sing unto the Lord a new song; sing unto the Lord, all the earth." The Rev. Clyde Nichols, First Christian minister and association president, presided. M. F. Ray directed the choir with Mrs. C. W. Norman serving as accompanist. Dr. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian minister, led the Thanksgiving prayer after the Rev. Otis Moore, St. Paul's Presbyterian pastor, gave the call to worship. Mrs. Don Newsum was soloist for the service, unto the Lord, all the earth." The Rev. James Parks, Baptist Temple pastor, benediction was by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor. In other services, the Rev. William J. Moore, St. Thomas Cath-

Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission, says a Farm Labor Day will be observed here in January, the exact date of which will be announced later.

It will probably be held in the TEC office at 213 West Third Street, unless the crowd gets too big in which event it will be moved elsewhere, maybe into the new Court House if that place is in business by then.

The purpose of the Farm Labor Day, Kinney explains, is to get into one gathering all the people who want farm work and all the farmers who want somebody to work for them. Chairs will be arranged, in pairs, all over the place so these fellows can sit down and talk things over and see if they can come to an understanding. If a farmer and a prospective worker can't make a deal, then that farmer will be introduced to another prospective hand and the worker will be introduced to another prospective landlord or employer.

By mixing and mingling the workers and farmers around this way Kinney hopes to be able to get everybody matched up, and everybody made happy.

"Right now," says Kinney, "I'm too early for people who want to farm next year, and for farmers who want help next year to start making plans to attend this roundup."

Asked about refreshments, Kinney said they might be able to serve coffee, maybe doughnuts even, and that if he made more Christmas candy than he can sell he'll also pass the surplus around. Sort'a sweeten' things, you know.

It will be an all-day event. Charlie Robinson has replanted about five acres of alfalfa which managed to survive the drought, on his farm east of Big Spring. It was getting thin in spots. He used one of the SCD's drills and double-sowed the area.

He also used the drill to seed Rescue Grass or Mild Rye in his native pasture. Wild Rye both holds the soil and provides good grazing. Robinson says that next spring he plans to overseed this pasture with Blue Grama, Side Oats Grama, and King Ranch Bluestem.

Tickets may now be obtained at the office of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce for the Soil Conservation banquet at the Settles Hotel the evening of Dec. 3.

Howard Boswell, assistant state conservationist, will be the guest speaker.

Since everybody has a stake in soil conservation everybody is invited to attend the dinner. If you can't get to the Chamber of Commerce office right away, telephone in your reservation and then pick up the tickets as soon as you can.

ers Association has requested such an item of equipment.

In September of 1952 Palmer Baxter of Dawson County drilled hairy vetch in his cotton middles. On April 13, 1953, Baxter turned under 4,900 pounds of green vetch per acre which furnished 33.75 pounds of nitrogen per acre.

This past August a check on the cotton following vetch showed 12 bolls, 17 squares and four blooms per average stalk, whereas cotton following cotton had only three bolls, six squares and one bloom per average stalk.

Baxter has about completed the harvest of this cotton and he reports that the cotton following vetch is making a bale to the acre, whereas the cotton following cotton is only making one-half bale to the acre.

Ray Davis has brought an irrigation well on his farm near the Skyvue Theatre at Lamesa. The county agent, the Soil Conservation Service and the Farmers Home Administration are now all located in the basement of the Lamesa Court House.

Woodshed Justice Urged For Vagrant Youth Of Present

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Edgar S. Vaughn appealed today for a return to "hickory limb justice" to curb juvenile crime.

Judge Vaughn suggested the old fashioned remedy just before sentencing 11 persons, mostly teenagers, to a total of 19 years in prison on a variety of charges.

"There is such widespread disregard of the law," he declared, "particularly by youths from 17 to 22, that imprisonment doesn't seem to do any good.

"There just is no proper substitute for the old-fashioned woodshed where the shingle was used for something besides covering the roof."

School Committee On Safety To Form

As an aftermath to the Youth for Traffic Safety meeting in Snyder Tuesday, a Big Spring safety committee consisting of representatives from the junior and senior high schools will be formed.

The committee will work in conjunction with the Citizens' Traffic Commission and will deal with problems of traffic as it concerns students, especially around the schools.

George Oldham, who was one of the adult representatives of Big Spring at the Snyder meet, said that the local students intend to function as a committee starting soon after Thanksgiving. Delegates to the school safety committee have not yet been named.

Representatives from 13 schools attended the Snyder session and voted to set up a year-round safety program in their towns. The Youth for Traffic Safety meeting is planned for an annual affair, Oldham said.

Signature Seeking By Scouts Halted

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Boy Scout Executive Hugo Olsen has ordered a troop to stop gathering signatures against a proposed half-cent cigarette tax. The money is to be used for juvenile recreation.

Declaring scout officials never authorized using the youngsters to gather names, Olsen said, "why, some people might interpret this to mean the scouts are in favor of cigarettes and against recreation."

Jimmy Kelley of Colorado City has planted 12 acres to alfalfa and eight acres to a winter grass mixture. He seeded the alfalfa broadcast at 20 pounds to the acre. The winter grass mixture is made up of Orchard Grass, Fescue 31, Perennial Ryegrass, Smooth Bromegrass, Madrid Sweet Clover, and common alfalfa, and was seeded 22 pounds to the acre broadcast.

He used a cultipacker type seeder and reports a good stand from both plantings. Kelley has 12 acres of Blue Panic grass seeded in the spring, and 12 acres of small grains. He says he will irrigate these crops as needed in order to assure maximum production. He is operating several farms and has planted several hundred acres of various kinds of winter cover crops including wheat, oats and Abruzzi Rye.

After the first of the year the supervisors of the Mitchell Soil Conservation District are going to make an appraisal of the district-owned equipment. The study will determine which pieces of equipment are not being used, which break easily and require an excessive maintenance cost, and those which are not now paying their way. They are also discussing the matter of buying a commercial fertilizer spreader to use on irrigated pasture and alfalfa. The Mitchell County Alfalfa Grow-

New Buddy System Announced By Army

A new buddy system of Army training, which guarantees enlistees at least eight weeks of training with friends and acquaintances provided they enlist together, is now in effect in the Fourth Army area, according to Colonel N. D. Woodward, commanding officer, Southwestern Recruiting District.

Special arrangements with two training divisions at Camp Chaffee, Ark. and Fort Bliss make it possible for buddies to enlist and train together for the first eight weeks, Colonel Woodward said.

He said the Army will guarantee enlistees that they will not be separated during this period unless they miss training due to sickness or other emergencies.

Only one-fifth of the cotton acreage in the southern United States is mechanically harvested.

Mormons Deny Charges By Reds On Genealogies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—An official of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) Church last night termed "ridiculous" charges by Moscow's Izvestia linking Mormon interest in genealogy with "FBI wishes to have detailed population registers from West European countries."

Archibald F. Bennett, executive secretary of the LDS Genealogical Society, explained that the Mormon interest in genealogy is a fundamental part of his belief in the Mormon faith.

"We believe that in order to reach the highest goal we have to be united with our families—both our immediate families and our ancestors," he explained.

"In order to unite these families we have to go 'way back."

"We believe certain ordinances are essential to their exaltation in the hereafter. If they haven't been administered these ordinances in their own life on earth, then these ordinances may be administered for them by their living descendants—by proxy."

Moscow radio, quoting from Izvestia yesterday, said American Mormons had taken 69,000 microfilm pictures of church registers in several West European countries and added:

"It is not difficult to realize that it is not at all a question of American Mormons' scientific interest in family history. It is simply the fact that the FBI wishes to have detailed population registers from West European countries."

Bennett said the church has collected some 90,000 100-foot rolls of microfilm—including 69,000 from Europe—containing church, tax, census and probate records. These are kept in a library in Salt Lake City which is open to anyone, he explained, for research into ancestry without the need for extensive travel and expense.

"The government has nothing to do with these," he explained, "and what they (Izvestia) said about the FBI is just ridiculous."

"Operation Ice Box"

The Cardinal-Inks super markets in Sacramento, Calif., promised 1,000 Thanksgiving turkeys to citizens for old ice boxes or ice box doors. The offer was made because so many small children had died when trapped in old ice boxes throughout the nation this year. The operation turned into an avalanche and had to be called off after two hours. In that time 4,000 keys had been given away and company trucks are still hauling in boxes and doors. (AP Wirephoto).

Eisenhowers Plan Thanksgiving Dinner Tonight; Menu All Set

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, like the heads of thousands of other American families, honed a carving knife today for use on the traditional Thanksgiving turkey.

In the President's case, he was ready to apply the knife to a 39-pound prize gobbler and to parcel out shares with all the trimmings to his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and his three grandchildren.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower deferred dinner until 7 p. m. (EST) because the major is having an earlier turkey feast across Georgia at Ft. Benning, where he commands the 1st Battalion of the 30 Infantry Regiment.

The Chief Executive and Mrs. Eisenhower, vacationing here until Sunday, arranged to attend Thanksgiving services at the Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Services begin at 10:30 A. M., EST. Dinner tonight will be in the Trophy Room of the Augusta National Golf Club, close by the new "Littlest White House" built by fellow club members for the President. The family will be joined at dinner by a few old friends.

On the menu in addition to the traditional turkey with oyster dressing will be fruit cup, yams, cranberry sauce, green vegetables and pumpkin pie.

Late yesterday, newsmen accompanying the President from Washington were his guests at his new vacation home.

When they arrived, Eisenhower was on the lawn in front of the 1 1/2 story white brick cottage known as "Mamie's Cabin" for the first lady.

He had a motion picture camera and was concentrating on filming the house, with Mrs. Eisenhower on the front porch.

He swung the camera around, trained it on the arriving news photographers, and remarked with a grin:

"You fellows get over there so I can take a picture of you for a change."

After that round, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower posed on the porch. Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a bronze-colored iridescent gown, called on the cameramen to hurry. "Make it snappy," she smiled. "I've got a cold."

The President, delighted with his new vacation home which reportedly cost upwards of $100,000, remarked:

"It's a beautiful place—I didn't imagine they could make anything so nice."

At Eisenhower's invitation, the newsmen got a look at the interior. But he stipulated it was "off the record," except for a few generalized facts released by the Augusta National Golf Club. The house is on the edge of the golf course.

The house has two spacious living rooms, one on the first floor and another on the second, and each has a handsome fireplace.

On one wall of the upstairs living room are hung colored pictures of all the 18 houses in which the Eisenhowers have lived prior to moving into the White House last January. In the center is an oil painting by the President of his 5-year-old grandson, David Eisenhower.

Courthouse May Be Ready By Dec. 10

The new Howard County courthouse now is expected to be ready for occupancy by Dec. 10.

General Contractor B. F. Horn and Architect Olen Puckett said Wednesday general construction probably will be complete in three or four days, and electrical and mechanical subcontractors are due to finish their work about Dec. 9 or 10.

New furnishings already are being installed in the building and the telephone company is surveying the structure preparatory to starting the installation of communications equipment.

Date for moving into the building still is indefinite, but County Judge R. H. Weaver has said the about mid-December if construction is finished.

Dr. Alexander Will Be Next Lecturer

Next lecturer scheduled to speak at the Big Spring Veterans Hospital is Dr. Eugene P. Alexander, attending dermatologist at San Angelo. He will discuss problems in treating diseases of the skin on Dec. 17.

Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, chief of VA professional services here, stated that Dr. Alexander's appearance in Big Spring will be in connection with the educational program being conducted at the hospital.

All local doctors will be invited to attend the lectures, Dr. Friedlander said. Other lectures will be scheduled when a roster is obtained from the dean of post-graduate studies at Southwestern Medical School.

District Session Of Eagles Is Held Here

Approximately 100 attended the district meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at the hall of Aerie 2937 here during the weekend.

Representatives were here from San Angelo, Odessa and Midland. The host club served a turkey dinner for the occasion. Roy Bell, Big Spring, district president, presided.

Navajo Studies Law But Plans Return To Home

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The Navajo have a big investment in 21-year-old Charlie De Jolie, and he doesn't intend to let his people down.

Charlie, who spoke only his native tongue until he was eight, is a freshman at New Mexico University, attending on a $1,300 annual scholarship granted by the tribal council.

It's been a long haul—this determined drive for an education so he could help his people. And the climb isn't over.

"I plan to get a master's degree," he says. "And then I may study for a law degree. I am thinking seriously about law, for I believe that as a lawyer I could do the most good for my people."

He left his family near Kibeto, Ariz., turned from the traditional family livelihood of sheep raising, and enrolled in the Tuba City, Ariz., Indian School.

There he began learning English. In 1946, he transferred to the Albuquerque Indian School where he maintained such a high scholastic average that he was granted an all-expense scholarship to Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire in 1949.

He won many honors there, among them a prize in American history, a wrestling trophy, letters in that sport, cross-country running and la crosse. The faculty voted him the school's most popular student.

He even visited Harvard to help out in anthropology classes. "The students were getting acquainted with the Navajo linguistic system," he explains, "and I helped them learn the pronunciation of Navajo words."

"I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine." — John 10:14. The sooner we realize that we need guidance the better. Christ showed the way and demonstrated it. Shepherds in the Levant do not drive their sheep. They lead them. All we need do is follow.

We Can Be Thankful For Blessings Of Liberty And All Its Begotten

"Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty," wrote St. Paul to the Corinthians. He admonished the Galatians to "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." Paul spoke of the spirit, but as we celebrate our Thanksgiving Day we should not neglect to include in our prayers heartfelt thanks to God for the privilege of living in the most truly free country in the world today. Men came to this country in the beginning in search of religious and civil liberty, and they found it here. But they had to fight to preserve it. Today our liberty is confronted by the most relentless, the most powerful and the most dangerous challenge in human history. It is challenge to our freedom to believe in and worship God Himself. The religion which is the germ of our way of life is anathema to those who seek our ruin, because it is the most potent bulwark that stands between us and the worldwide threat of communism.

Vishinsky's Latest Proposals In Same Vein As Moth-Eaten Play

Reprise of an ancient drama regularly played on the stage of the United Nations was under way this week, and the leading characters were the same as always: on one side, the U. S. S. R.; on the other, the U. S. of A. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky had trotted out his moth-eaten Putsch and Judy before the U.N.'s Political Committee, composed of representatives of sixty nations. Vishinsky had presented the unwavering Russian "peace" theme—ban atomic and hydrogen weapons unconditionally, cut the armed forces of the big powers by a flat one-third, forbid foreign bases in other countries, and condemn Western anti-Communist propaganda as war-mongering. Each of these items, if carried out, would leave the West easy prey to Russian imperialism. As on each preceding occasion, the nations of the world outside the Soviet bloc plus fewer than half a dozen fringe areas, will turn thumbs down on the Russian program. Repeatedly, under leadership of the U. S., various U. N. committees as well as the Assembly have insisted that the

Washington Calling — Marquis Childs Bright Hope Of Bermuda Parley Has Faded Into A Faint Gleam

WASHINGTON — The Bermuda conference has been for many months a kind of mirage in the increasingly arid wasteland in which the Western Powers find themselves. The bright hope which it once glowed has faded to a faint gleam. The mood in which the conference originated has likewise receded into the distant past. Actually it was only seven months ago that Sir Winston Churchill took the initiative to try to bring about a top level conference with the new government of Soviet Russia; Churchill was confident that such a conference would lead to an easing of tensions throughout the world. He hoped that he could show the way to peace as the crowning act of his career. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were skeptical from the beginning. They believed that the Russians had far more to gain from such a meeting than the West. It would, as Dulles views it, confirm the new rulers in power at a time when there was at least a hope of continuing conflict and disorder such as had brought about the overthrow of Berlin.

From the Washington perspective, in the first instance at least, Bermuda was a delaying tactic. The meeting of the Big Three would be an opportunity to analyze with Sir Winston the hazards of an open end conference which the Communists could exploit for their own propaganda purposes inside Russia and particularly inside the satellite states. Then a series of misfortunes occurred. France was without a government for nearly a month until finally Premier Joseph Laniel agreed to become head of a weak coalition cabinet. Churchill was stricken with an illness taking him out of action through most of the summer. But the decisive event which reduced the possibility of a Big Four conference almost to zero was the uprising in East

Eisenhower Aide Confident Conference At Bermuda To Be Held On This Attempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is a great calm about the Big Three conference in Bermuda, starting Dec. 4. At the moment it's not entirely certain the meeting will be held at all. French Premier Joseph Laniel, who planned a five-day get-together with President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Churchill this week faces a test-of-confidence vote in the French Assembly. If he loses, he will be replaced by a caretaker Premier until another Cabinet is chosen. Nevertheless, an Eisenhower aide last night expressed confidence the meeting would be held. It had to be called off once before. The Big Three were supposed to meet last July 8 but Churchill was suddenly stricken ill and remained inactive most of the summer. No one expects the three heads of state to come up with a magic formula for world peace. They can talk about handling their own problems and dealing with the Russians. That seems the most they can do. They couldn't by themselves restore peace. They'd need Russia's Premier Malenkov sitting in with them. And any arrangement for talking with Malenkov seems far in the dim future. Even Churchill has cooled off on the idea of getting together with Malenkov although he had persisted for months in advocating it after he first proposed it last spring. The West has made unification of Germany one of the main steps toward any real peace. But that can't be done without Russian agreement, and the Russians weeks ago threw a road block across that path. That was when they rejected the West's proposals for a Big Four meeting — not with Eisenhower, Churchill, Laniel and Malenkov — but with their foreign ministers. Eisenhower, Churchill and Laniel are taking their foreign ministers to Bermuda with them: Secretary of State Dulles, Foreign Secretary Eden, and Foreign Minister Bidault. So all that seems left for them to talk about is how to get along among themselves while putting up a defense against Russia. British sources have said one of

Miles Standish Finds Pebbles Just Too Much

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (AP)—Let us suppose that Miles Standish, military leader of the Pilgrim Fathers, miraculously returns to life to spend Thanksgiving in a modern American city. The doughty captain, dressed in Pilgrim garb, rubs his eyes, looks around and demands: "Where are all the Indians?" His odd raiment draws no attention whatsoever, as everybody figures he is advertising a restaurant and just forgot to put on his sandwich boards. Miles steps into the street. A passing car knocks him sprawling to the pavement. "Devil's chariot!" shouts Standish. He lifts his blunderbuss and shoots out the tires of three more cars before he runs out of ammunition, and retreats to the curb, where other pedestrians break into cheers and shake his hand. One of them is Wilbur Peeble, America's average husband, who decides to take Miles home for a free meal, although he thinks the old boy is a bit balmy. "What are we playing—charades?" asked Trellis Mae Peeble, when she opens the door. "Capt. Miles Standish, at your service," says the soldier. "Yeah, and I am Priscilla," jeers Trellis Mae. "You are?" asked the captain, uncertainly. "My, Priscilla, you look so much older—and you have indeed put on weight. You used to be such a pretty wench." "Take this old bum out of here," helps Trellis Mae, turning to her husband. Well, Wilbur finally soothes her, settles Miles in a living room chair and calms him with a dry martini, which the captain laps eagerly, murmuring: "My, when did we get these in the colony?" When Wilbur switches on the TV set Miles takes one look at the screen and then rushes over, his blunderbuss upraised, ready to club it. He is talked out of this during the program and waking up and cheering when the beer commercials come on. Miles immediately puts on his tall hat, shoulders his blunderbuss, marches to the door, opens it, and asks: "Will you direct me to the nearest seacoast?" "Why?" says Wilbur. "I want to board the Mayflower," says the captain, "and sail away, if you see any Indians, give them my apologies. I didn't know how it would all turn out."

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Death came on this day in 1907 to Silas Hare, veteran of two wars who practiced law in four states and the District of Columbia. A native of Indiana, Hare joined the 1st Indiana Infantry before his 20th birthday, and fought in the Mexican War under Zachary Taylor. Returning to his home after the war, he began practicing law there, but moved to Texas in 1853 in the hope that a southern climate would benefit his health. Shortly before the Civil War Hare interrupted his law practice to accompany William F. Hardeman on an extensive exploration of the Panhandle area and parts of New Mexico. In the course of their travels they searched for gold and also investigated the possibilities of colonization in the area. Hare also worked for a time as a government trader and practiced law in New Mexico and Arizona. After three years in the Confederate Army as captain of the Arizona Brigade of Texas troops, Hare again resumed his law practice, this time in Sherman. A member of Congress for two terms, he remained in Washington as a lawyer until his death.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

Few Can Grasp Significance Of Proposed Highway System

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

Most Big Springers probably don't appreciate significance of federal-state plans for development of U. S. Highway 80 as a part of a national super-highway system. As J. C. Roberts, district highway engineer, says, "It takes awhile for it to soak in." Roberts, who makes a living building roads, said here this week that when he first saw plans for the interstate highway system even he couldn't at first comprehend full magnitude of the job. The highway engineer then went on to explain some of the angles that had to be, and yet must be, taken into consideration in planning the super-highway network. He also gave a better description of the proposed system than some of us had heard before. Actually, Big Spring can consider itself extremely fortunate in being situated on the interstate route. Only five highways in the entire nation are involved—three running transcontinentally east and west and a couple north and south. The whole system will cover 17,000 miles, which isn't much when compared to the hundreds of thousands of miles of highway in the country. But Roberts calls it "the grandpa of all highways." The interstate highway system will consist of four-lane divided pavement, with some 50 or 60 feet of clear space between the opposing ribbons of paving. The lanes will be far enough apart that you won't be blinded by another driver's lights when you meet him at night. There will be "limited access" to the super-highway, when means that vehicles won't be breaking into the stream of traffic at just any old place. That may sound inconvenient to the person who thinks he might like to drive onto the road immediately in front of his home or place of business. But not necessarily so. Before the federal government would contribute any funds toward construction of the road, it obligated the various states to provide paved roads from approved access points alongside the main highway to a place convenient to homes or other establishments adjacent to the highway. In other words, if you live on the highway, you'll be provided with pavement starting next to your property and running to one of the access points where you can safely enter the expressway. Other features of the interstate system will include wide right-of-way (260 feet), alignment to eliminate all but the most gradual curves and grades, traffic exchanges to permit safe and easy entry or departure, wide drainage structures and overpasses. Time the freeway will become a reality still is indefinite, depending on the availability of money, the securing and clearing of right-of-way, and the completion of detailed engineering plans, Roberts explained. He said the highway department is attempting to plan the road to cause the "minimum disturbance" along the route. Officials don't wish to destroy existing property values by moving the road from its present route, or by going around cities and towns. For that reason, the highway probably will follow its present route through Combs and Stanton and pass as near the north edge of Big Spring as possible. Economic significance of the interstate highway to Big Spring has been summed up aptly by Mayor G. W. Dabney. The traffic attracted by the interstate system probably will result in an "overflow" here greater than the total amount of traffic now using Highway 80, said the mayor. —WAYLAND YATES

These Days — George Sokolsky

Gouzenko Apparently Is Eager To Testify In This Country

Igor Gouzenko is a Russian, formerly connected with the Soviet mission as a code clerk, who decided to turn decent, gave himself up to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and provided the key to the Canadian spy ring. Canada then offered Gouzenko sanctuary in Canada where he now lives under an assumed name, hidden from public view. It is now eight years since Gouzenko disappeared from public view. Meanwhile he wrote a book which was quite interesting but obviously did not cover the subject, for shortly after Gouzenko turned himself over to the Canadian authorities, the story goes that Prime Minister Mackenzie King rushed to this country and handed President Truman a list of names of Americans who were spying upon this country. What President Truman did with this list, if anything, has not been made known to the public. Mackenzie King is dead. The only men who can tell about this are Igor Gouzenko and Lester Pearson. The Canadian Minister for External Affairs, Lester Pearson, has evidenced considerable antagonism to the United States and to American policy. He has been in favor of recognizing Red China in the United Nations and has not backed the United States in any major policies. In fact, for the first time in the long history between Canada and the United States, the splendid relations between the two countries have deteriorated since Lester Pearson has become its minister for external affairs. It is no secret that among the interesting items in Elizabeth Bentley's testimony before the Jenner committee were astonishing references to Lester Pearson. This was in executive session and has not been made public up to this writing. Herbert E. Norman, associated with Lester Pearson in the Canadian foreign office, and now Canadian High Commissioner to New Zealand, however, was discussed in open hearings in the investigation of the Institute of Pacific Relations. He had been in Tokyo as a language officer in the Canadian legation. Edward C. Carter advised Owen Lattimore to have Norman write for "Pacific Affairs" under a nom de plume. Carter wrote to an associate in the institute on September 5, 1940: "...Any very secret messages might be sent him care of Herbert Norman at the Canadian legation..." (The "him" is presumed to be Philip Jessup.) Herbert E. Norman became the Canadian minister to Tokyo during the MacArthur period in Japan. Dr. Karl Wittfogel identified Norman as a Communist, associated with him in a Communist Study group that met on Cape Cod in 1938. This is the colloquy: "Dr. Wittfogel. There was a talented and pleasant young man who was studying in the Japanese department at Columbia. His name is Herbert Norman." "Mr. Morris. Was he a member of this study group?" "Dr. Wittfogel. Yes." "Mr. Morris. To your knowledge, did he know that it was a Communist study group?" "Dr. Wittfogel. Yes. It was obvious." "Mr. Morris. To you." "Dr. Wittfogel. I think it was obvious in general." "Mr. Morris. Was it obvious, therefore, that he was a Communist?" "Dr. Wittfogel. Yes." (E. C. Carter called Wittfogel's testimony slanderous.) Under Lester Pearson, Herbert E. Norman has become a leading figure in the Canadian foreign office, particularly with regard to far eastern affairs. As the principal difference between Canada and the United States is over Korea, Formosa and the recognition of Red China in the United Nations, Norman becomes important in the picture. The question then arises: Why has the Canadian foreign office made it so difficult for Gouzenko to come to Washington to testify? In Gouzenko's book, "The Iron Curtain," it is stated that he is a British subject. As a Canadian, he is free to come or not to come to the United States. Why, then, does he require a special permit? Is he a prisoner? The Canadian minister, Lester Pearson, needs to make this perfectly clear because it is apparent from Gouzenko's conversation with a Chicago Tribune reporter that Gouzenko wants to come to the United States to testify.

Theft In Installments

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—With luck, some thief may have a rebuilt automobile at the expense of George Black. Fellow keeps coming back and taking another item of equipment off Black's car. So far he's got several hubcaps and a battery. The time he took the battery he left a dead battery in its place.

Indians Were Help At Plymouth

When we think of the Pilgrims and their successful colony of Plymouth, it is well to remember that Indians played a part in helping these settlers from England. Indians joined in the feasting on what people now speak of as "the first Thanksgiving." Indians did far more than take part in a feast. Two warriors and a chief gave very special help. The chief was Massasoit. He promised peace for the settlers and kept his word. One of the warriors was Samoset. He had met with British sailors who had landed on the coast of Massachusetts in past times, and had learned some English words from them. Here is a note which was written by Governor William Bradford: "He became useful... with many things. His name was Samoset. He told them also about another Indian, whose name was Squanto, a native who had been in England." The governor also said that Squanto could speak better English than Samoset. He went on to state: "Squanto stayed with them (the Pilgrims), and helped them to speak with the other Indians... He showed them how to plant their corn, and guided them and never left them until he died." According to Bradford, "Squanto had been captured by a certain Captain Hunt, who had planned to sell him in Spain as a slave. Squanto escaped and managed to get to England, where he was treated kindly by a British merchant. Later, a few months before the Pilgrims crossed the Atlantic, the Indian was sent back to his native country. He was one of the best friends English settlers ever had in a strange land. Tomorrow: Kingbirds.

Air Force Considering Medal For POWs Who Didn't 'Confess'

By ELTON C. FAY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is considering decorating or giving some other recognition to former war prisoners who resisted torture and refused to make false confessions for Communist propaganda.

A spokesman said yesterday that official recommendation of such action must await completion of a detailed study of each individual case.

Such recognition presumably would go to five airmen who refused to succumb to pressure by the enemy—Lt. John Street of South Orange, N. J.; M. Sgt. George Morar of Rockville, Md.; Capt. William Preston of Batavia, N. Y.; Capt. Each Dean of Douglas, Kan., and Capt. William McTear of East Brady, Pa.

In the course of interrogating other former prisoners, more cases of heroism probably will come to light.

Regulations apparently would make appropriate any one of several decorations, among them the Legion of Merit, for outstanding service; the Soldier's Medal, for heroism involving voluntary risk of life; the Bronze Star, for outstanding service or heroism, and the Commendation Ribbon, for meritorious achievement or service.

Under military regulations, any officer or other member of the armed forces can suggest recognition. Normally, the formal recommendation is forwarded by the immediate commander, but in these instances the initiation may come from higher levels in the Pentagon.

While a policy for dealing with the men who refused to confess in captivity, the problem of what to do about the others remains unsolved. It may be months before the scrutiny of each case is completed.

Also involved is the matter of 22 Army soldiers who so far have refused to come home from enemy hands, preferring to live with the Communists.

These new problems, most of them without precedent, are the subject of almost daily meetings in the Pentagon to decide not only the individual cases but to frame a general policy.

WASHINGTON TRIP

Alice Ann Martin and Fred Keber, the two ATRC essay contest winners, are scheduled to wind up their five-day trip to Washington, D. C. when they land at Webb today aboard a B-17 converted heavy bomber transport.

The non-stop trip from the nation's capital today is the final leg of a program which opened last Friday when both Alice Ann and Fred were special guests of the Webb AFB commander prior to their departure.

Alice Ann, a 16-year-old senior at Big Spring High School, was the ATRC winner from Webb while Fred was the winning entrant from Williams AFB, Arizona.

FHA Head Expects Authority On Loans

DALLAS (AP) — The state director of the Farmers Home Administration says he expects authority this week to make economic disaster loans in Texas.

J. L. Cappelman also said yesterday that two million dollars has been added to a "virtually exhausted" $11,250,000 fund for 1953 crop production loans to Texas farmers.

Cappelman said the economic disaster loans, the first made in Texas, differ from production disaster loans which FHA has made since the drought relief program started last summer.

Stolen Bird Would Make Tough Repast

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — That fowl stolen from Pete Hettings' ranch is no Thanksgiving bird, he announced today. He said it's a young swan, not a goose, and would make a pretty tough holiday dish.

The rancher, who values the swan at $125, says he'll give the thief a goose, however, and will ask no questions if the swan is returned.

Registration Suits

HOUSTON (AP) — Complaints against 118 more Harris County car owners who allegedly registered their vehicles in other counties were filed yesterday by State Highway Department investigators.

Coin-Find Tale Given Changed Up

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A man who claimed he found buried treasure under the Suwanne River is now talking about 30 coins of little value instead of thousands worth a fabulous half million dollars or more.

William F. Sneed Jr., a coin collector and hotel operator, said last night the story of a treasure find he told 24 hours earlier in Jacksonville was "misinterpreted."

"I had around 15 doubloons and 15 gold pieces," Sneed said here. He said they did not have too much value but they were found in the vicinity of the Suwanne.

The Florida Times-Union at Jacksonville said its story was accurately written by a reporter who quoted Sneed as saying he found 4,500 Spanish gold doubloons and 3,500 silver pieces of eight worth over $600,000.

A radio-television interviewer at Jacksonville said Sneed also told substantially the same story as that which appeared in the Times-Union. Tommy Tucker of WMBR and WMBR-TV said Sneed told him he found about 8,000 coins in a barnacle-crusted chest under the Suwanne River and they were worth about $300,000.

Both newspaper and radio interviewers said Sneed told them he found the treasure last Saturday under several feet of water near the mouth of the Suwanne.

Last night Sneed, however, said the coins were found about three weeks ago near the Suwanne.

Lenient Treatment In Dynamite Case Is Set

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Police promised lenient treatment today for anyone returning dynamite stolen from a seismograph crew's trailer.

Twenty sticks, each weighing five pounds, were taken. One was exploded in a wheat field, bringing a flood of calls from jittery citizens. Police blame prankish youngsters.

Coal reserves in the United States account for 40 per cent of the world total.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

She's Mother Of Seven, Keeps A Girlish Figure

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Even Maureen O'Sullivan's friends in Hollywood look at her with amazement for she seems more like a co-ed than the mother of seven.

"How do you do it?" I asked Maureen as we sipped a glass of sherry in her lovely home in Beverly Hills.

"I'm naturally thin," Maureen said modestly. "All my family are, but during pregnancy I never allow myself to gain more than eighteen pounds."

Maureen explained that her doctor believed that the size of the baby did not depend on the size of the expectant mother.

"This was beautifully proved when a friend of mine, who had gained only twelve pounds in nine months, gave birth to an eight-pound boy."

"It is not only much easier to get back to normal when you don't allow yourself to gain too much," Maureen confessed, "but it's economical because you can wear your old clothes almost right away."

sitting?" I asked. "About fifteen minutes," Maureen confided, "and by changing your position and not working on one spot all the time, you don't get sore."

"The tone of your body is as important as the line," Miss MAUREEN'S ADVICE

You'll want to know more about Maureen's routine to regain and retain her girlish figure after childbirth, and you'll find the answers in leaflet M-21. Included is Maureen's own deep breathing routine to streamline figure, her exercises to reduce hips and information on the kneechest position. Get your copy by sending 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

O'Sullivan cautioned, "and I find it a great help knowing how to breathe properly. Oxygen revitalizes the whole body and when I breathe deeply it helps to keep my body streamlined."

Problems Of Older Women Discussed
The problems older women face when seeking employment were discussed by Mrs. Thelma Roe at the Altrusa Club meeting Wednesday at the Settles.

Mrs. Roe who is associated with the Texas Employment Commission, made suggestions for manners and dress. She said women who stick with the kind of work they have done in the past will usually have an advantage.

Lou Ward Says Vows With Truett Vines

An arrangement of white gladioli banked with fern formed the setting for the wedding of Lou Ward and Truett Vines Tuesday at the First Christian Church.

The bride wore a navy gabardine suit with navy accessories and a pink off-the-face hat. She carried a white Bible adorned with a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid. Her "something borrowed" was an Irish linen handkerchief belonging to her twin sister, Mrs. Lynn Killam.

The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor, read the double ring ceremony at 12:30 p.m. Betty Earley played "Because" and "Oh, Promise Me."

A Second Home

That's practically what the Webb Air Force Base nursery is for these five children of working mothers. From left to right they are Reggie Majors, Lynn Chaffin, Kenneth Haskell, Ken Chaffin and Marsha Mezzon. They are the children of M-Sgt. and Mrs. J. H. Majors, M-Sgt. and Mrs. C. E. Chaffin, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haskell, and S-Sgt. and Mrs. F. E. Mezzon.

Base Nursery Eases Baby Sitter Problems

Hiring a baby sitter and paying her has become less of a problem in the last few months for Webb Air Force Base personnel.

The perennial problem of parents has been eased by the base nursery, organized and sponsored by the Officers' Wives Club.

Opened in August, the nursery has been in operation on a full-time basis since the beginning of November. It is located in building 501.

Hours are: Monday through Friday, 7:15 a.m.-11 p.m.; Saturday, 5 p.m.-2 a.m.; Sunday, 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 5-11 p.m.

Hourly rates are 25 cents for one child, 35 cents for the second child of the same family, 40 cents for the third and 55 cents for six.

The facilities are sponsored by the chaplain's office Sunday morning and are free to children of parents attending worship services on the base. Often no charge is made on Saturday nights either as the NCO Club and the Officers Club are frequently sponsors on those nights.

Reservations should be made beforehand especially on Saturday nights.

The nursery also cares for children on a weekly basis at $6 for a five-day week, making the facilities handy for working mothers.

Although the nursery is now closed until 5 p.m. on Saturdays, it will be opened during the day whenever there is a request to accommodate children of working mothers on a 5 1/2 day or six day basis.

Civilian as well as military personnel are eligible to use the facilities, and children of their guests will be taken care of on an hourly basis.

The Officers' Wives Club hires supervisors and carries insurance. The nursery is equipped with playpens, high chairs, 12 cribs, 20 cots, a stove, refrigerator, and sink.

The club nursery committee is Mrs. Raymond F. Werkmeister, chairman, Mrs. William A. Jones and Mrs. Marion Marshall. Mrs. Francis E. Jeffery was chairman of the committee that organized the nursery.

Motions In Alaskan Murder Case Are Denied By Judge

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (U) — Motions for dismissal of first degree murder charge against Diane Wells and severance of her case from that of Negro jazz drummer Johnny Warren, also charged with her husband's slaying, were denied yesterday.

Another motion in Federal District Judge Harry Pratt's court — to transfer the trial to a court in another district — was put over until Friday for further argument.

The pretty, 31-year-old widow of Cecil Wells, wealthy Fairbanks businessman who was killed in the early hours of Oct. 17, sought dismissal of the charges on grounds of insufficient evidence.

The change of venue has been asked because, her attorneys contend, she cannot receive a fair trial in Fairbanks. Warren's attorneys are opposed to the change.

No trial date has been set. Officials have said they are looking for a third person in the case.

Payne Service Is Set For Friday

Last rites for John William Payne, who died Monday while visiting in Oklahoma, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Preston Denton and Dr. P. D. O'Brien will officiate. Burial will be in the City Cemetery under direction of Eberley-River Funeral home.

Pallbearers will be Reagan Bollinger, Walter Hayes, Robert Currie, Clyde Williams, Melvin Loudamy, Hayes Stripling, Bud Leonard and Earl Brownrigg.

er Jimmy Holt talked with Buntin and Betty in Beaumont, where both work, and later with them at their home in Orange. Both readily acknowledged their identity.

Asked why they had divorced themselves so thoroughly from their past that they had been declared legally dead, Betty was quoted by the newsmen as saying:

"We were in love. Money didn't mean too much to us. If money had meant anything, we wouldn't have done what we did."

They declined to go into details of their life after their departure from Nashville, the newspaper reported, except to say that they lived in Brownsville until five years ago.

Buntin was reported working presently in a Beaumont television appliance store, and Betty as court reporter in the office of the Circuit Court judge in Beaumont. They commute daily the 24 miles from their home in Orange to Beaumont.

COW PROVING TO BE TOO MUCH TROUBLE

AUSTIN (U)—Blackie, the troublesome cow, threatens to become as famous locally as "Ferdinand," the romantic bull, ever was.

Blackie, an Angus, seems to have a persistent attraction for trouble. Just consider her past which has caused Edmund Simmacher, her owner, to give up on her, as far as milk is concerned.

In the past eight months "Blackie" has:

- 1. Fallen in the Colorado River. She had to be lifted up a high bank with a block and tackle.
- 2. Jumped in a river (no name given) and was hooked on a trapline. Had to be unhooked and rescued.
- 3. Waded onto an island when a river was low. "Blackie" was marooned when the river rose.
- 4. Broke into a hogpen. All the hogs escaped. "Blackie" ran off with one of the hogs, of all things.

And where was "Blackie" today? Trapped in a 20-foot ravine. Simmacher, wondering how he was going to get "Blackie" out of this one said, "It's getting to be a routine."

Youngster At Last Achieves Ambition

RICHMOND, Va., (U)—When Sammy Gregorio was just a youngster back in Philadelphia, his one ambition was to learn to fly.

All that seemed over at the end of World War II. For Sammy was injured so severely that his legs were paralyzed and his arms were rendered virtually useless.

Sammy couldn't even walk with crutches but he still wanted to fly. In the summer of 1952, Sammy began visiting a local airport and the manager, Hunter Jones, finally agreed to see if he could help.

With the aid of specially constructed gadgets to make it easier, Sammy began flight training. He achieved his dream yesterday—a solo flight.

Thanksgiving Day Takes Precedence In Korea Today

PANMUNJOM (U) — America's traditional day of Thanksgiving today took precedence over work on plans for a Korean peace conference and the stalled Communist campaign to woo home prisoners of war who have refused repatriation.

The ponderous and complicated armistice machinery was at a virtual standstill for the Thanksgiving Day holiday. Diplomats trying to arrange a peace conference took the day off.

For thousands of American troops, South Koreans and U.N. forces there were prayers, big turkey dinners and holiday entertainment.

There was something special, too, for 22 Americans who have refused to go home. The Indian Command, which guards unrepatriated prisoners, said the Chinese Communists supplied chicken, eggs, fish, pork, beef and candy for Thanksgiving dinner.

The food was shared by 1 Briton and 328 South Koreans who the Reds say have chosen communism.

Condition Improved

Condition of Mrs. Dora Roberts, who was reported critically ill Monday at the All Saints Hospital in Dallas, was said to be much improved Wednesday evening. She rallied Monday afternoon following a sinking spell in which she lapsed into a coma. Mrs. Roberts has been ill for about four years.

love and we wanted to change our lives. "Do you know if my father is still alive?" "Yes," the newsmen replied. "How is my brother?" She was told that her brother, William Ross McCuddy, is dead. He was killed in an airplane accident in 1936 while in the service.

She was told that her mother had died in 1932. "After all these years!" she said biting her lip. "My brother," she then asked, "was he married?" She was told that he had married and there is a son, Robert F. McCuddy, a freshman at Duke University.

Blood Is Needed For Victim Of TB

A 17-year-old boy who recently underwent surgery at McKnight Tuberculosis Sanatorium needs eight pints of blood.

He is Joe Creamer Jr., who has been under treatment at the sanatorium for several months. The surgery was performed on Nov. 21. Any type of blood will be accepted, since the supply needed for young Creamer is being withdrawn from the sanatorium's blood bank. However, it must be replaced.

The boy's father, Joe Creamer Sr., lives at 1111 North San Antonio Street.

Auto Is Recovered At Colorado City

An automobile reported stolen here Monday has been recovered in Colorado City, sheriff's officers reported today.

Driver of the vehicle was apprehended. Deputy Sheriff Jim McCoy went to Mitchell County this morning to assume custody of the man.

The 1939 Ford was taken from the Abernathy Used Car Lot.

Appointment Made

Dr. G. F. Dillon of Malone and Hogan Clinic-Hospital has been appointed as consultant in urology for the Big Spring Veterans Hospital. Announcement of the appointment was made by Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, chief of professional services for the hospital.

Vote Set Today On Russia's Peace Plan

By TOM HOGE UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U)—The U.N.'s 60-nation Political Committee aimed for a vote today on Russia's 1953-model peace plan amid predictions that it would meet the same defeat accorded similar Soviet proposals in the past.

Scheduling a meeting despite the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday the committee was first slated to hear a last ditch appeal from Russia's Chief Delegate Andrei Vishinsky for approval of the plan the Assembly and its committees have rejected year after year.

Vishinsky reportedly had a 30-page speech ready, filled with blasts against the United States and other opponents of his plan. The United States has urged the U.N. to junk Russia's latest proposal for easing world tension and suggested that the Soviet Union could clear the air herself if she gave up "seeking the violent overthrow of the U.S. government."

The five-point Russian plan would have the Assembly: (1) ban atomic, hydrogen and other weapons of mass destruction; (2) recommend a big-power arms cut of one-third in a year; (3) recognize that bases of one state on another's territory, threaten peace; (4) urge the Security Council to effect the elimination of such bases, and (5) call on all governments to scrap war propaganda.

The United States contends the first four points are merely a re-echo of old Soviet proposals which the Assembly has found unsound and says the fifth point has been taken care of by Assembly resolutions.

France and other major powers have urged Russia to withdraw its proposal and not waste the committee's time by forcing it to vote on something it doesn't want.

Residence Damaged By Fire Wednesday

Inside of a bedroom was completely burned and two others were hazed with smoke following a fire at 610 NW 10th, home of R. E. Digby, about 1:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Firemen laid cause of the blaze to a cigaret. It is believed that curtains first caught fire, and a mattress on the bed was completely destroyed.

Theft Is Reported

Police received a report Wednesday afternoon that a set of black-fender skirts were taken from a 1952 Mercury at 1301 Michael. The car was parked in a garage at time the theft occurred, police were told.

Rite Set Friday For W. O. Moore

W. O. Moore, 63, former resident of Big Spring and Stanton, died Wednesday night at Lubbock.

Mr. Moore had been living in Lubbock for the past two years. He is survived by five sons, Raymond Moore of Big Spring, Monroe, Freeman and W. O. Jr., all of Lubbock, and Ernest Moore of Lamesa; and one daughter, Mrs. J. F. Ray of Imperial.

The body was returned last night to the Eberley-River Funeral Home in Big Spring. Funeral service will be conducted at 10 a.m. Friday, Dr. P. D. O'Brien will officiate.

Two Mishaps Are Reported Wednesday

Two minor automobile mishaps occurred Wednesday night in Big Spring, according to records in the police office. Apparently there were no injuries.

An accident in the 200 block of Scurry was reported at 7:16 p.m., automobile drivers being Thomas E. Barnard, 2205 Main, and Neely L. Blain, 1105 1/2 N. San Antonio. A little later a truck got out of control and crashed into Jones Construction Company, 1100 Lamesa highway. Driver was Wayne Smally of San Antonio.

Mrs. J. L. Thiltgen of 2015 Cavitt Street, Bryan, is seeking information leading to location of her husband, Justin L. (Jerry) Thiltgen, above. He has been missing since May 25 and she fears he may be an amnesia victim. He is age 44, 5 ft. 7 in. high, weighs 125, ruddy complexion, dark brown hair; combed straight back; walks fast, slight limp, occupation cook, barkeep or bookkeeper. His wife has posted a $500 for his location.

corroborative evidence here about White's activities. The foreign minister said the government had none.

Nor, he added, did Gouzenko ever give Canadian authorities any information about White.

Pearson said that all information the Canadian government ever obtained from Gouzenko had been put at the disposal of responsible United States authorities.

That applied, he said, to word from Gouzenko that the former code clerk had heard that an assistant to the late Edward R. Steptinus Jr., then U. S. secretary of state, was a Soviet agent. Pearson made a particular point of this because he said Jenner had been quoted as attaching significance to the fact that this information was omitted from a report of the Canadian Royal Commission which brought to light the operations of Soviet spies in the Dominion.

"The Canadian government," Pearson said, "of course fully appreciates the importance of the closest possible cooperation between the Canadian and United States governments in exchanging information important to the security of both countries."

"It has, therefore, long been our practice, and remains our practice, that security information should be exchanged on a confidential basis, which should be respected on both sides, between the competent authorities responsible for the internal security of our two neighboring countries."

FBI agents, Pearson said, repeatedly have talked with Gouzenko—as recently as 1950.

When and under what circumstances United States questioning of Gouzenko might be arranged still is an open question, Pearson's reference in Commons and in the official note to Washington to an interview by "any person" designated by U.S. authorities apparently bars the entire nine-member subcommittee or even the bulk of it from talking with the man.

After Pearson spoke, opposition leaders took the floor to uphold his position.

one-seventh of total output. State and local government purchases will be in record amount, about 7 per cent larger than in 1952.

3. For the full year, business outlays for fixed investments—construction of facilities and durable equipment—may be about 5 per cent above the record of 1952.

4. The increase in business inventories "is likely to approximate five billion dollars, as compared with three billions in 1952."

5. Spending for non-farm residential construction has declined about 10 per cent during the year. The total number of housing units started will be about 1,100,000, about the same as in 1952 and 1951.

6. Funds for mortgages, tight earlier in the year, have become more plentiful.

7. Purchases of new automobiles have accounted for the bulk of the year's increase in spending. Passenger car output in 1953 is estimated at 6,100,000, second only to the record of 6,700,000 in 1950.

8. Spending for clothing and shoes, up sharply in 1952, fell off in 1953. Dollar outlay for food and beverages rose at a much slower rate. A sharp reduction in retail beef prices helped raise the per capita meat consumption to 151 pounds, 5 per cent above 1952.

Hull Arrangements Are Still Pending

Funeral arrangements for J. G. (Green) Hull, 78, retired T&P employee, were pending Thursday morning at Nalley Funeral Home.

Mr. Hull, who came to Big Spring in 1906, died early Wednesday morning after a long illness. Rites were held up pending the arrival of a son, Jackson G. Hull, Roseville, Calif. Should he arrive in time, services will be held at 4 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church, where Mr. Hull was for two score years a deacon. Otherwise, funeral will be held Friday.

Klondike-Cougars Rally To Triumph

For the first time in history, a District Six six-man football team has advanced into the Region II finals.

The hard-hitting Klondike Cougars did it by thrashing the Fort Davis Indians, 47-19, in Steer Stadium here Wednesday night.

The Cougars now become eligible to meet the winners of the Forsan-Lohn game next week at a site still to be determined.

Charlie M. Beckett, superintendent of schools at Klondike, indicated he would favor a coin flip to determine the site of the game on a home-and-home basis.

After the Cougars had scored the first touchdown, the Warriors grabbed a touchdown lead when Van Kounts and Joe Granado punched across touchdowns.

The Cougars were in command at half time, however, 20-19, and the Dawson County team completely dominated play in the final two periods.

The spectacular passing combination of Kenneth Dossey to Don Alrhart opened up daylight between the two teams. Alrhart scored three touchdowns for the Cougars and set up several others on long runs.

Doyle Archer counted two six-pointers for the winners, Junior Hogg and Bob Mitchell one each.

A strong bench helped to turn the tide Klondike's way. Fort Davis simply did not have the reserves to compete with the talented Cougars.

Rudy Granado scored Fort Davis' other touchdown on an end-around play while Earnest Rivera pitched to Johnny Granado for the extra point.

Dossey, who played a fine all-around game for Klondike, kicked a conversion try for two extra points for the Cougars. Passes and a run by Archer accounted for the others.

THREE COUGARS NAMED ON ALL-DISTRICT SIX

Three members of the championship Klondike team have been named to the All-District Six six-man football team, selected recently by conference coaches.

The Cougars honored on the first club are Charles Tibbett, center; Donald Alrhart, end; and Kenneth (Stubby) Dossey, back.

The complete team, listed with school and class, includes:

P. Player	Class
Charles Tibbett, Klond. Jr.	Sr.
Don Alrhart, Klond. Jr.	Jr.
E. L. Farmer, Gall Jr.	Jr.
Charles Nance, F. Grove Sr.	Sr.
Ken Dossey, Knott Jr.	Jr.
Eddie Gill, Ackerly Jr.	Jr.

Nance was the speed merchant in the Flower Grove backfield, a fine all-around ball player. Dossey, although weighing only 125 pounds, was the standout performer in the Cougars' rush for the conference championship. He passed for 13 touchdowns and ran for 12 others. He kicked 18 extra points and passed for five more.

Nance was described by the Klondike coach as the best open field runner his team faced. His weight is 172.

A 200-pounder, Gill hit the line like a locomotive and was the district's best "down-the-middle" runner.

A fine blocker, Tibbett also had a fierce desire to win. He won his fourth letter this year. He weighs 185.

Alrhart had what was generally agreed to be the best pair of hands in the conference. He is also a fine punter. He weighs 155.

Farmer was a leader in Gall's resurgence to six-man football prominence. Gall did not win a game last year but was right in the thick of things the past season.

Those gaining honorable mention included:

Doyle, Reeder and Franklin, all of Gall; Henley and Rogers, both of Dawson; Barkovsky, Wiggins and Phelan, all of Flower Grove; Wilson, Mitchell and Kimbrell, all for 12 others. He kicked 18 extra points and passed for five more.

Nance was described by the Klondike coach as the best open field both of Knott.

Angry Texas Aggies Await Struggle With Longhorns

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The Texas Aggies, bitter and angry over a 4-game losing streak, telescope their football campaign into a slashing 60 minutes against hard-driving Texas today in an effort to salvage the season and at the same time kick their arch enemies out of the Southwest Conference race.

Victory over the mighty Longhorns would be the sweetest yet and would ease a lot of aches and pains in Aggieland.

But Texas, scenting unexpected glory—a tie for the conference title—is a solid favorite to slam the Aggies for the 13th time in 14 years.

Texas can clinch part of the title by making its deep rival in this big game of the year for both teams—and it might mean a spot in the Cotton Bowl. What happens at Houston Saturday when Baylor and Rice fight it out will tell whether the Longhorns are to be around on Jan. 1.

If Rice beats Baylor the season will be over for Texas. If Baylor beats Rice, Texas can start getting ready for the Cotton Bowl.

This all, of course, if Texas beats A&M today.

A crowd of 41,778 will be here to see if the 12-point favorite's tag put on the Longhorns is justified.

All the Aggies are ready and so are the Longhorns—even having a star of last year's game, who was believed lost to the team for the season, back in uniform. He is Billy Quinn, who hasn't played since Oct. 24. Quinn has recovered from an arm injury and will be in uniform ready for use if needed.

The Aggies beat Texas in 1939, then came the biggest drought in the series. They never licked the Longhorns again until 1951. Last year Texas triumphed, 32-13.

All Schoolboy Champs To Be Known Shortly

By The Associated Press

Championships of three remaining districts in the top divisions of Texas schoolboy football go on the line Thursday to complete the state playoff brackets.

At the same time the lower divisions—Classes AA and A—plunge into the bi-district round.

Paschal plays North Side in an important Fort Worth district game in Class AAAA. North Side is tied with Poly for the lead and Poly needs Arlington Heights tomorrow night. If both North Side and Poly win, the latter will get the district title by virtue of leading on a statistical basis when the two teams played a 20-20 tie.

Waiting for the Fort Worth district champion to be determined are Odessa, Bowie (El Paso), Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Waco, Ray, Lamar (Houston) and Port Arthur. In the opening round of state play next week Odessa meets Bowie, Woodrow Wilson plays the Fort Worth winner, Waco battles Ray and Lamar clashes with Port Arthur.

In Class AAA, two district titles are in the balance Thursday. In District 3 Sherman plays at Paris and Denton at Gainesville in games involving the three teams tied for the lead—Sherman, Paris and Gainesville. If Sherman beats Paris it will get the district representation since it beat Gainesville in regular season play. If Paris beats Sherman, however, the title goes to Gainesville because it defeated Paris—that is, if Gainesville beats Denton. A loss by Gainesville would give the title undisputed to the Paris-Sherman winner. In District 4 Kilgore plays at Texarkana in a game that will decide the title.

Already in the state playoff in Class AAA are Big Spring, Brownwood, Temple, Port Neches, Edison (San Antonio) and Edinburg.

In the first round of the playoff Big Spring meets Brownwood, the District 4 champion, Temple battles Port Neches and Edison takes on Edinburg.

The schedule in the Class AA and A playoffs for this week:

Class AA Today—Fort Stockton at Ballinger, Terrell vs. Mt. Vernon at Commerce; Friday—Phillips vs. Otton at Amarillo, Spur at Andrews, Comanche vs. Handley at Stephenville (night), Hillcrest at Jacksboro (night), Atlanta vs. Henderson at Longview (night), Luvetsville at Waxahachie (night), Huntsville at Lampasas (night), Rosebud vs. Gonzales at Temple (night), Wharton at Brenham (night), Lamarque at Nederland (night), Refugio at Del Rio (night), Weslaco at Falfurrias (night), Jasper draws a bye in the first round.

CLASS A Today—Springlake at Memphis, Hale Center vs. Sundown at Littlefield, Sonora at McCamey, Paducah vs. Grapevine at Olney, Whitewright vs. New Boston at Sulphur Springs, Leverett's Chapel vs. Newton at Jasper; tomorrow—Ranger vs. Albany at Breckenridge (night), Clifton vs. Richardson at Hillsboro (night), Hawkins at Canton (night), Trinity at Cedar Bayou (night), Franklin at Elgin (night), Burnet vs. Luling at San Marcos (night), Palacios vs. Boerne at Cuero (night), Hebronville vs. Lyford at Falfurrias (night); Saturday—Karnes City at Crystal City (night).

Decatur's Cage Schedule Drawn

DECATUR (SC)—The Decatur Baptist College basketball team, with two victories already behind it, appear to be much stronger this year than last.

The team is being coached by Glenn Morrison, who succeeded Gene Sunderland at the helm. Sunderland moved in as athletic director at the University of Corpus Christi.

Decatur will compete in the second annual Howard College Tournament at Big Spring during the Christmas holidays.

Decatur has already beaten Weatherford JC, 77-70; and Clarendon JC, 65-51.

The schedule:

Milwaukee Cagers Finally Win Game

By The Associated Press

A 10-game losing streak and a six-game winning streak in the National Basketball Assn. were at an end today after a night of upsets.

Milwaukee's low flying Hawks, who hadn't won a game since they surprised Minneapolis in the opener, outlasted the Fort Wayne Pistons, 64-58, Don Sunderlager, one-time Illinois star, scored 24 points in the Hawks' second victory in 12 games.

Dedicated to the proposition that all football teams start even, at least, the Sweetwater Mustangs will try to up-end the Big Spring Steers in their game this afternoon in Sweetwater and snarl the traffic around first place in District 1-AAA.

Nothing that happens down in the battle pits of Mustang Bowl can affect the playoffs, since the Steers have already qualified to meet Brownwood in the bi-district round, but there would be no sweetener way for the Ponies to end the season, as far as Sweetwater fans go, than to beat Big Spring.

The Cayuses, despite their mediocre record in district play, have a slam-bang ball club. The talent might get a little thin, after the first 11 boys, but the regulars are as capable as any one in the conference.

Plainview, Breckenridge and Snyder have beaten the Mustangs. Only Breck was supposed to do it. The other two were considered rank upsets.

Fact is, when Snyder knocked over the Ponies last weekend, Pat Gerald's team was supposed to have been overlooking the Tigers for Big Spring.

Gerald has as fine a set of backs as there is in this section of the state.

His backs are faster than the secondary aces of the Steers, although they do not run with as much power, perhaps.

In Freddie Armstrong, the Red and White have a heady field general.

The real speed merchant in the Sweetwater backfield is Frank Smith, up from the B team.

Senior Angel Olvera and Sophomore Harold Hobbs offer Armstrong and Smith plenty of help.

Big Spring will outweigh the Ponies but, of course, must perfect a defense to contain the Sweetwater speed.

The Ponies can take to the air if the need arises, too. Armstrong is the bombardier, with Harold Green and Kenneth Young as his favorite targets.

Big Spring won't be at full strength. Back J. C. Armistead was doubtful yesterday. Defensive backs Jerry Hughes and Don Swiney probably will not play.

Upwards of 6,000 people—nearly half of them from Big Spring—will witness the struggle. The local fans are going by train, bus and private conveyance.

If Big Spring suffers a loss, it will have to share first place with Breckenridge. The Steers already have a ticket to the playoffs, however, because they've beaten Breckenridge.

Because of major construction, the Hialeah track is closed to the public this summer for the first time since 1932.

West Virginia And Georgia Tech Tangle In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—West Virginia will match its powerful offense and reluctant defense against Georgia Tech's speedy backfield in the Sugar Bowl here New Year's Day.

The West Virginians, who were selected yesterday for their first major football bowl game, are leading the Southern Conference in four statistical departments.

Georgia Tech's colorful Engineers selected Monday for their tenth bowl appearance and their third in the Sugar Bowl have rolled up slightly better than 298 yards per game in 10 outings and have a game left with Georgia in the season finale Saturday.

West Virginia, beaten only by South Carolina in a completed nine game schedule holds top place in the Southern Conference in total offense, total defense, rushing offense per game and rushing defense per game. The edge in both offense and defense statistics indicate the Mountaineers have a well-balanced team.

The Sugar Bowl committee made its selection of West Virginia shortly after indicating it would wait until after Saturday's games. But the announcement came with little surprise since West Virginia and Texas Tech were regarded as the top plums for an opponent for Georgia Tech.

The West Virginians placed five men on the Associated Press all-Southern Conference team, headed by its All-America quarterback candidate, Fred Wyatt. Fullback Tony Allman, also named to the conference's select team, is called by Coach Art Lewis as the "greatest blocking fullback I've ever seen, pro or college."

Wyatt and Allman will spearhead the West Virginia attack against Coach Bobby Dodd's Southeastern Conference leaders in the 20th Sugar Bowl. But Dodd whose Tech team has won seven games and tied one in ten starts has some aces of its own to test West Virginia's widely-praised defense.

In halfbacks Leon Hardeman and Billy Teas, Tech has two of the fastest backs in collegiate football.

Mustangs Boast Big Edge In Series With Steers

Since the long and storied Sweetwater-Big Spring series was begun in 1907, the Ponies have won twice as many games as the Steers.

In all, the Mustangs have copped 26 decisions while losing 13 times to Big Spring.

Last year's win by the Longhorns was the first time since 1940 the Longhorns have topped Sweetwater.

There have been no ties in the series. In three different years, the two have played two games annually.

Sweetwater has scored a total of 768 points, to only 462 for Big Spring.

The 42 points Big Spring collected last year was more than they had managed in the seven previous games between the two clubs, combined.

Only three times in history have previous S-ecer clubs managed to score more points on the Mustangs—in 1916, when Big Spring won, 41-0; in 1924, when the tab was 50-0; and in 1910, when Big Spring won, 48-0.

Dedicated to the proposition that all football teams start even, at least, the Sweetwater Mustangs will try to up-end the Big Spring Steers in their game this afternoon in Sweetwater and snarl the traffic around first place in District 1-AAA.

Nothing that happens down in the battle pits of Mustang Bowl can affect the playoffs, since the Steers have already qualified to meet Brownwood in the bi-district round, but there would be no sweetener way for the Ponies to end the season, as far as Sweetwater fans go, than to beat Big Spring.

The Cayuses, despite their mediocre record in district play, have a slam-bang ball club. The talent might get a little thin, after the first 11 boys, but the regulars are as capable as any one in the conference.

Plainview, Breckenridge and Snyder have beaten the Mustangs. Only Breck was supposed to do it. The other two were considered rank upsets.

Fact is, when Snyder knocked over the Ponies last weekend, Pat Gerald's team was supposed to have been overlooking the Tigers for Big Spring.

Gerald has as fine a set of backs as there is in this section of the state.

His backs are faster than the secondary aces of the Steers, although they do not run with as much power, perhaps.

In Freddie Armstrong, the Red and White have a heady field general.

The real speed merchant in the Sweetwater backfield is Frank Smith, up from the B team.

Senior Angel Olvera and Sophomore Harold Hobbs offer Armstrong and Smith plenty of help.

Big Spring will outweigh the Ponies but, of course, must perfect a defense to contain the Sweetwater speed.

The Ponies can take to the air if the need arises, too. Armstrong is the bombardier, with Harold Green and Kenneth Young as his favorite targets.

Big Spring won't be at full strength. Back J. C. Armistead was doubtful yesterday. Defensive backs Jerry Hughes and Don Swiney probably will not play.

Upwards of 6,000 people—nearly half of them from Big Spring—will witness the struggle. The local fans are going by train, bus and private conveyance.

If Big Spring suffers a loss, it will have to share first place with Breckenridge. The Steers already have a ticket to the playoffs, however, because they've beaten Breckenridge.

Because of major construction, the Hialeah track is closed to the public this summer for the first time since 1932.

Mustangs Boast Big Edge In Series With Steers

Since the long and storied Sweetwater-Big Spring series was begun in 1907, the Ponies have won twice as many games as the Steers.

In all, the Mustangs have copped 26 decisions while losing 13 times to Big Spring.

Last year's win by the Longhorns was the first time since 1940 the Longhorns have topped Sweetwater.

There have been no ties in the series. In three different years, the two have played two games annually.

Sweetwater has scored a total of 768 points, to only 462 for Big Spring.

The 42 points Big Spring collected last year was more than they had managed in the seven previous games between the two clubs, combined.

Only three times in history have previous S-ecer clubs managed to score more points on the Mustangs—in 1916, when Big Spring won, 41-0; in 1924, when the tab was 50-0; and in 1910, when Big Spring won, 48-0.

NOW LOOK BOYS!

Things ain't so bad as they seem. From the outside looking in an old boy might think that car prices are all shot. But ya old car JOCKEYS still know that if you dance ya gotta put the fiddler. That's why we give lots of "GETUS" for the cleanest used cars and if you buy the BEST—ours or anyone's—YOU'LL pay high. BUT you'll get something for those old hard earned ROCKS. BUY THE BEST.

FOR YOUR BEST BUY

1952 Special Buick 4-door Dynaflo. This car's so clean, by mistake we found it on the show-room floor three times. We're so scared we'll sell it for new we've chained it on the used car lot for your protection.

1952 Chevrolet Club Coupe. Please buy this old black dog. It's bit two customers and all three salesmen already. We need the space this one occupies for something worse.

1951 Ford Convertible Coupe. Can't truthfully find anything wrong with this car but we've had it so long we've charged it off as a total loss. Now the boss says it's our Christmas, so we better sell it high as we can. For exasperating prices, just contact one of the boys.

1946 Oldsmobile '76' 4-door. Don't know what 76 means, 76 cents a pound, $76 for the car, or 76 reasons for not buying. However, for small chips, it will make a good boat anchor.

We've lost our marbles, I'll swear we thought it had a motor and four wheels when we got it. Next morning we found a 2-wheel, horseshoe, Lake Thomas special House Trailer. Now what would you do? In cash we mean—dollars and cents. Make us a price.

Just as a small thought in passing, (our thinking capacity is limited to small thinking). It just so happens that we have 1 (or more) new Buicks that we would sell. Seems we're giving something like $400.00 too much for these old used wagons. You might as well join the fun. Come on in and chat us.

Hear HS Choir

The high school choir blended voices Wednesday in its first public appearance of the school year, and Lions and Kiwanians who heard it applauded long and vigorously.

There were approximately three score voices in the group, clad in black and gold surplices, and Director Harry Lee Plumley carved out some smaller units for novelties. Martha Winans, talented young pianist, contributed a solo, "Rustles of Spring," for good measure.

Selections by the choir, some a capella and others with Arlene Mitchell as accompanist, included "O Rejoice Ye Christians Loudly," Bach; "To Music," Schubert; "The Heavens Are Telling," Hyden; "Go Not Far From Me," Zingarelli; the "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel. For an encore it did the spiritual, "Rock My Soul."

Close harmony in a sentimental strain came with the Triple Trio singing "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." In this group were Arlene Mitchell, Beverley Edwards, Martha Winans, Dolores Sneed, Colleen Vaughan, Billie Ann Norris, Anna Bell Lane, Nancy Conway and Jane Reynolds.

A pair of novelties were sung by the Tune Twisters, male quartet composed of Jackie Shirley, R. B. Hall, Richard Hughes, and Jerry Brooks. Beverley Young and Mary Walker brought down the house with a couple of loads of melodious corn, "Seven Lonely Days" and "Are You Teasing Me." Plumley did the guitar accompaniment.

Program for the joint meeting of the two clubs was introduced by Cliff Fisher, Lions program chairman, Roxie Dobbins, Lions president presided.

Bar Schedules An Important Session

An important meeting of the Howard County Bar Association is scheduled for Saturday, President R. H. Weaver has announced. Discussion of the county law library and possibility of placing supplemental orders for additional volumes for the library in the new courthouse is slated, said Weaver. The session will be held at noon at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Once again it's an old-fashioned Christmas

It's always a thrill to proclaim the beginning of another Christmas Season . . . for we thoroughly enjoy decorating the store in the Yuletide manner . . . and we like to think that our customers enjoy it along with us.

Overnight a complete transformation has taken place . . . a Christmas setting done in the old time traditional manner . . . like Christmas used to be . . . deep rich green pine . . . bright with old fashioned lamp post . . . the ceiling alive with just a touch of the modern . . . new, decidedly different Christmas Mobils.

Hear the lovely Christmas music as it casts a charm felt only in the spirit of Christmas.

Let us help make your Christmas shopping an exciting adventure . . . enjoyed in the Christmas Spirit.

Our Gift Wrapping department is ready . . . our U.S. Sub Post Office is at your service . . . and the store itself is cram-jam-packed with thousands of lovely gifts that await your selection . . . in a pleasant setting.

Let Us Bow Our Heads in THANKS...

Today, in the spirit of the first Thanksgiving, let us give thanks to the Creator for all the blessings we have received . . . both as individuals and as Americans . . . a free people, living without fear in a free country. Like the Pilgrim Fathers, let us humbly acknowledge our debt to Divine Providence for all that we are and may hope to become. Like them, let us bow our heads in a prayer of gratitude to the Giver of "every good and perfect gift."

How better express the gratitude that is in your heart than to gather with family and friends in Church on Thanksgiving Day?

Maintenance Squadron At Webb Breaks Own Record

Webb Air Force Base's 3561st Maintenance Squadron, which set a world's record in August with a jet engine that flew for 1,000 hours without repairs, smashed that record Monday when that same engine was timed at over 1,200 hours, still without benefit of even "minor jet overhaul."

At the controls of the T33 jet trainer housing the workhorse engine was First Lieutenant J. M. Danoff. With him was crew chief A-1C J. H. Haskins.

The last of the hours were flown as operational tests to check the characteristics of the engine and to determine performance of an engine that has flown for a period of fifty days and nights without any trouble at all.

Lieutenant Danoff brought the plane down at 3:55 p.m. Monday and when it rolled to a stop the exact time logged was 1,201 1/2 hours.

The usual time for engine-change for this type jet is 800 hours. The extension of this engine's time had been requested some time ago by Lt. Col. B. J. Clark, Aircraft Maintenance Chief at Webb.

The record-breaking 3561st is commanded by Capt. E. J. Neely, Jr. M-Sgt. C. W. Kohl is flight chief.
