PARKING ORDINANCE WILL BE DRAFTED—GWIN ASKS ANYONE INTERESTED TO GIVE IDEAS

Decision of the Pampa city commission to inaugurate parking restrictions within the most congested districts was announced last night by City Manager F. M. Gwin in his talk to the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Gwin said that the commission had authorized him to draft a suitable ordinance, and this would be done in the next few days. He invited anyone interested to submit their ideas on the subject to him, both as to time limitation and zone to be affected.

Agitation for parking limitation has been heard for some time, particularly from merchants whose customers have to carry their merchandise for blocks because parking places are filled from early morning to late at night. Many cars are now left standing all day in the business section.

Winners in Essay Contests Announced

Robert J. Meers, first year student and Charles Barrett, second year student, of the high school vocational class, were this morning announced winners of the essays written on the recent dairy and poultry show held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms two weeks ago. Awards were presented to the winners by George W. Briggs at chapel this morning.

Both of the winning essays were written on dairying. The judges had difficulty in selecting the winning essays in both instances and as a result gave honorary mention to Eugene Heflin, Clyde Carter, and Robert Locke, first year students, and Bruce Cash, Harold Holmes, and Glover Carter, second year students.

Boys of the agricultural class, who are taught by Prof. J. L. Lester, attended the school given under the auspices of the agricultural committee of the Board of City Development. Professors from Texas Tech at Lubbock were in charge of the session. About 50 boys and the same number of adults attended.

ITALIANS ARE SLAIN AND PUT OUT ON ROAD

Capone Gunmen Killed Likely by Moran Clansmen

DREADED PAIR WERE INDICTED

Bodies Are Discovered Near Hammond Indiana

HAMMOND, Ind., May 8. (P)—A triple slaying today sundered the brief truce of Chicago's gangland. Three men, identified by newspapermen, as John Scallisi, Albert Anselmi, and Joe Guinta, were found shot to death on a rural roadside early today and the forfeit of their lives was seen as the retribution of their underworld foes for the massacre of George "Bugs" Moran's seven clansmen last St. Valentine's day.

Scallisi and Anselmi, a dreaded pair of killers against whom police have often had to conjure, were regarded as axes of the Capone staff, and their supposed executions today were seen as the stroke of avengers for the seven followers of "Bugs" Moran, the North Side chief, who were lined up against the wall of a North Clark street garage three months ago and swept with machine gun fire.

Thrice have Scallisi and Anselmi been tried together for the slayings of two policemen, only to win acquittals because they professed to believe the detective squad that chased them was a squad of their underworld foes.

Scallisi and Jack McGurn, "Machine Gun" Jack, were the only two indicted for the Moran gang massacre. Their trials were deferred several times at the behest of state's attorneys and police who wanted further time to build up cases against the men, and only last week attorneys obtained their release from the county jail under heavy bond on the promise of their appearance when the trial was called.

McGurn had been trapped in a downtown hotel where he had been hiding since the day of the seven-fold murder. Scallisi, however, sauntered into police headquarters one day and surrendered, observing he had been one of the dozen listed "wanted" by the police for investigation.

Guinta, who was thought to be the third victim, was a tobacco store owner and also had been questioned in connection with the Moran gang killings. In a pocket of the man's coat police found a card bearing the name of Joe Berardi, official of a cigar shop. The reporters, however, believed this was not the dead man's name. All other marks of identification had been removed from the bodies.

The men, police said, were probably taken for the familiar gangland "ride," shot to death with pistols or machine guns, and the car ditched on the lonely prairie road. The cushion had been removed from the back seat and the bodies dumped in its place.

New Pump Being Installed at Well

The turbine pump on the city water well recently completed is being set this week. A temporary pump was used to develop the well and it is expected to have the permanent pump set this afternoon.

The new 1,000-barrel capacity test being sunk is down 280 feet this morning and drilling ahead. The development hole has been drilled 650 feet deep and drilling of the 33-inch hole nearing completion.

When completed the new well will give Pampa a water supply of more than 2,350,000 gallons a day.

Miss Adeline Atterberry underwent an operation at the McKean & Connor hospital this morning.

Kaiser's Kin May Wed Lily Damita

Admitting they contemplate matrimony, Prince Louis Ferdinand, grandson of the ex-kaiser, and Lily Damita, movie actress, are shown here together in Hollywood. The prince has decided to locate permanently in America and probably will be affiliated with the aviation department of the Ford interests in Los Angeles. They are expected to be married as soon as the prince makes a success in business in the United States.

BODY LOCATED IN WRECKAGE OF HIS PLANE

Ivan Houston Crashes in Fog While Landing

MAIL FOUND TO BE SAFE

Flier Was Graduated at Kelly Field Recently

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 8. (P)—The body of Ivan Houston, Denver, pilot on the Denver-Cheyenne airmail route was found amidst the wreckage of his plane 10 miles south of here today by a searching plane.

Houston had been missing since 7 o'clock last night, when he passed over the local air field. He was unable to make a landing on account of the dense fog.

Houston's body was found after an all-night search by the Cheyenne airport officials. His plane was heard over the local airport last night but because of the fog, it could not be seen, and officials today expressed belief Houston had lost his way during the fog and had crashed while endeavoring to land. His plane was wrecked. The mail was recovered.

Pat Maroney, pilot on the Cheyenne-Salt Lake leg of the Transcontinental Airmail Service met the Houston plane shortly after he took off last night and blinked his lights at Houston but there were no responding signals.

OPERATORS' BIG GUSHER NOW MAKING 120 BARRELS HOURLY ACCORDING TO BEST ESTIMATE

It was estimated that the Operators' Oil company's No. 1 Cook-Paulkner, in the southeast corner of section 30, block B-2, which struck the big pay Sunday afternoon and has been flowing strongly since that time, is making 120 barrels an hour today. No definite test had been made. Some of the oil is flowing through the top of the gas separator.

Oil and gas are coming from the same level. The hole is bottomed in granite wash formation at 2,790 feet. The Marland Production company's test in the northeast corner of section 32, block B-2, lost production when the big gas was encountered in the Operators and Phillips offsets, but this morning is reported to be making 150 barrels a day.

Drilling in the Phillips test in the southeast corner of section 31, block B-2, ceased yesterday while an additional gas separator was being set. Drilling will be resumed this afternoon, officials say. The extra separator is being installed as a safety measure in case big gas is encountered with pay. One separator in the Operators' test would not handle the flow and a second had to be constructed.

TEXAS COMPANY'S BOWERS WELL NO. 5 PRODUCES 176 BARRELS

Flowing by heads, the Texas company's No. 5 J. B. Bowers, in the southwest corner of the east half of section 89, block B-2, in the Bowers-McGee pool, made 176 barrels of high grade crude yesterday. Pay was topped at 2,895 feet. The hole is bottomed in granite wash formation at 2,900 feet.

Agitation is in progress in an effort to bring back the gas to flow the well. There is enough gas to flow the test by heads and a good producer is expected.

Missionary Held By Chinese Bandits

NEW YORK, May 8. (P)—The Christian and Mission Alliance today received word from their mission at Singao, Kweichow, China, that the Rev. H. Schwendener of Chicago had been kidnapped by bandits.

Chinese authorities had hopes the missionary would be returned safely, the cablegram said. The wives of both men are in this country.

Huge Beacon Is Being Erected at Miami for Planes

MIAMI, May 8.—The Trans-Continental Air Transport company, operating between New York City and Los Angeles has consummated a deal with the owner of the local utilities plant for current for three beacon lights, one of which has been constructed by the side of the city reservoir on top of Mount Moriah south of Miami and just outside of the city limits. This is a revolving light of two and a half million candle power. The powerful beacon is 258 feet higher than the Santa Fe railway tracks and it is claimed that its rays can be seen from the air for a distance of one hundred and fifty miles. The light will burn twelve hours each night for the guidance of airmen that are scheduled to make regular trips over this route starting May 15th. The huge transport planes are 1,500-horse power trimotored, all steel type, equipped with all modern safety devices and will carry a ton of express and twelve passengers with ease.

Last Chance Well Flows 50 Barrels

The Last Chance Gas company's No. 1 McConnell in section 212, block 3 Carson county, has been cleaned out and is flowing at the rate of 50 barrels a day. The test is the old Tipton-McConnell's No. 1 McConnell which was started in 1924 and drilled to pay but never completed.

The hole is bottomed at 3,325 feet but the pay is coming from 3,245 feet. The test is northwest of Kingmill and west of the Gray county well. It is owned by local men.

R. H. Muir, Jr., of Clarendon is visiting friends here today.

"It's Like This—"

THE PARKING PROBLEM
never ends, whether a city is large or small. Many municipalities which have adopted one new plan or another have gone back to the plan of placing a traffic officer in the congested-center.

There are many times, especially in the late afternoon, when the Cuyler-Foster traffic jam could be averted or at least modified if the stop signs were ignored and traffic made to follow the direction of an officer. On the other hand, stop and go signals are not needed during much of the day, and would be annoying.

Other cities of this size have adopted plans which have served well enough to preserve. Parking limitations are to be expected in bustling cities. They are not unreasonable, and are, in fact, for the protection of motorists instead of being any inconvenience.
Much of the milling around in the business section is due to search for parking places, many of which are occupied by the same cars all day.

And certainly it is not to be expected that double and triple parking be allowed under congested conditions. Parking limitation of some kind is

OUT OUR WAY

By Williams

the main business section should obviate the necessity of double parking, which should be prohibited.

Particularly in the vicinity of the post office, there is often only a narrow lane through which traffic may pass between double parked cars. A fire truck simply could not get through. There is danger of a serious accident every time the big fire truck has to careen through the business section. It is especially dangerous to volunteer firemen hanging on the sides of the truck.

Moreover, the obligation of motorists to take the curb every time the fire siren grows is very clear.

MODERN INSURANCE has made such tremendous strides that it is one of the best examples of cooperative business structure. It has been reduced to a finely drawn scientific basis, so that premiums may be reduced to the smallest minimum commensurate with safety. The cooperative angle has all but disappeared except in theory, and the size of the premiums depends largely upon the law of averages.

Aviation, still a hazard, is becoming more and more acceptable to insurance firms without exorbitant premiums attached to policies, and riding in a licensed plane does not jeopardize many policies. In other words, aviation is taken according to the averages it is able to show over a period of years. And in ratio of miles covered plane traffic is showing itself to be even safer than motoring.

Insurance companies are interested in bettering the averages their research bureaus find, and to increase the life span during which premiums are paid. Their interests in health and happiness of the people is genuine. For example, we find one great company using a series of advertising stressing right habits of eating, working, sleeping, breathing, standing, walking, thinking, and cleanliness and hygiene. Proper education of the masses is a long process, but the insurance men, through their contacts with their prospects and clients, can do an important work.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — Congres-
man Louis Ludlow of Indiana, who spent many years in the press gallery watching congressmen and writing about them for their constituents, now has a better opinion both of the congressmen and the people who elect them.

Everyone gets a little cynical about both Congress and constituents after being around

Washington awhile, but Ludlow reports that his opinion of both is somewhat higher now that he has been mixing around with one group and hearing from the other.

How Ludlow jumped from the press gallery down onto the floor of the house is an interesting yarn.

He made an inauguration speech after being elected vice president of the National Press Club. Somebody put it in the Congressional Record and B.
M. Ralston, a prominent Democrat and realtor of Ludlow's home town of Indianapolis, saw it. He wrote: "Glad to know you're a congressman by proxy. Come on out here and we'll make you one in fact."

So Ludlow began to get sentimental about the possibility of serving this district to which he had come as a farmer boy many years back and soon he was writing letters to a dozen Democratic leaders of Indiana asking what they thought about it. The late Tom Taggart,
National Committeeman
Charles G. Greathouse, State
Chairman Earl Peters, Evans
Woolen; Meredith Nicholson
and the others all came back promptly with loud cheers.

Ludlow expected nomination without opposition, but two rivals sprang up at the last moment and his vote doubled their combined total. The district was normally Republican by 25,000, but all Indianapolis newspapers supported Ludlow, and although Hoover carried the district by 36,000, Ludlow won by 6380.

Apparently there must be some satisfaction in being a congressman, because Ludlow is very thankful to the voters and very anxious to do a good job. He has sent 10,000 letters back into his district, signing very one of them and advising the folks that he wanted suggestions about any way he could help anyone and would like to be considered
"your personal representative in Washington." This was something unheard of. Constituents call on their congressmen for every conceivable type of service without being asked.
And Ludlow has been swamped. He appears to be a glutton for punishment, however, and is putting in long hours with astonishing zeal.
He has two secretaries in his office, both busy, instead of the customary one.

Day after day he has been running around to the various government departments, establishing new contacts through which he can work to help everyone who asks for something.

"I used to have one boss", he says, "but now I have a half a million." Which, coming from Ludlow, is no bunk. He feels that way about it and is positively inspired by his opportunity for service.
"I've been here 28 years now", he says. "I used to think a congressman never got any thanks for what he did for his constituents. But the way constituents show their appreciation has begun to surpris-me."

"There's altogether too much public cynicism about Congress. Most of those that I know try to do what's right and now that I'm closer to them I'm developing more of a liking for them. Congress strikes a good average.
There's very little real crookedness or venality here."

Entre Nous Club Members Guests at May Day Bridge Tea

A May day motif, in a color scheme of pink and yellow, was cleverly used by Mrs. Emmett Dwyer in appointments for a meeting of Entre Nous bridge club at her home yesterday afternoon. The tally cards were drawn from a May basket, each attached to the stem of a flower. The packages in which favors were given were suggestive of flower baskets also. Dainty cup cakes shaped as baskets with candy handles and topped with colored sugar flowers were served with ices.

Mrs. Dwyer's special-guests were:

Mrs. McCathern of Breckenridge, Mrs. Frank Keim, Mrs. Paul Hill, and Mrs. Paul Kasalshke. The following members were present: Mrs. S. A. Burns, Mrs. Charles Boles, Mrs. Floyd A. Hollenbeck, Mrs. C. E. Hutchins, Mrs. P. T. McNamara, Mrs. Harry Marbaugh, Mrs. M. F. Roche, and Mrs. Walter J. Rogers. Mrs. McCathern made high score for guests, while Mrs. Rogers scored high for club members. Mrs. Roche received consolation favor.

Mrs. G. McConnell Gives Luncheon for White Deer Party

Mrs. G. McConnell gave a luncheon yesterday at her beautiful country home west of Pampa, honoring Miss Amanda Busch of White Deer, who will leave shortly to make her home in St. Louis. Members of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary society of White Deer and a few other friends of the hostess and the honoree were guests. Covers for 21 were laid at a prettily appointed table, which had a centerpiece of vari-colored sweet peas in a low bowl. Concealed in a basket fashioned as a huge rose-bud, a shower of charming little gifts was presented Miss Busch.

The afternoon hours were spent in presenting the regular weekly program of the Missionary society. Mrs. E. H. Grimes read the 25th chapter of Matthew during the devotional period. Two chapters of a mission study book were taught by Mrs. J. C. Freeman and Mrs. Kuykendall.

Mrs. McConnell's guests for this delightful affair were: Miss Amanda Busch, honoree, Mrs. E. H. Grimes, Mrs. J. C. Freeman, Mrs. J. C. Jackson, Mrs. Harry Edenborough, Mrs. Turney, Mrs. Dittbunner, Mrs. Lundy Stalls, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. John Appel, Mrs. Howard Vanbiber, Mrs. T. L. Coffee, Mrs. Ray Crumpacker, Mrs. Yell, Mrs. M. F. Dowd, all of White Deer, and Mrs. Jim White of Pampa.

Mrs. Hunkapillar Is Hostess at Pretty Party for Card Club

Mrs. J. M. McDonald made high score. Other players were Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mrs. O. P. Buckler, Mrs. Wm. M.

Shell Petroleum Wins Over Gulf

Home runs were too much for the Gulf nine last evening at Magnolia field and the Shell Petroleum company's team won an 8-to-1 victory from the Gunners. The stickwork of Hunter, Cahill, and A. Godwin for the Shell boys was largely responsible for the win. Each got home runs and singles.

Gulf's lone tally came as the result of a home run by "Red" McLendon. Another sure home run was nipped when Cahill in left field for Shell grabbed a long fly out of the air.

Shell outthrew the Gunners, 9 to 4. Dekey was especially effective for the Shell boys. Gulf's pitchers were both youngsters but are comers.

Tonight Magnolia and Cabot will clash at Magnolia field. Tomorrow night Shell and Magnolia will tangle.

Half the Merchants Whippet Contest

Will be over Saturday night. Contestants will be coming into the home stretch beginning next Monday morning. Now is the time for the boys and girls who mean business to tighten their belts and go after votes harder than ever. A hundred thousand votes don't mean a thing. A little extra work will put you up near or at the top. Let's go.

Yankee Battery Wins Tho Hurling Remains Poor

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN.

The Yankees are back home again, but only by the skin of their teeth. The champions regained their old stamping ground with just half a game to spare late yesterday as they shaded the Browns by 6 to 5 at Sportsman's park, while the White Sox were tumbling the Athletics by 4 to 2 in a surprising battle on the Chicago front. This combination of events left the Macks and the Browns in a virtual tie, but for second place rather than first.

The Ruppert rifles fired a dozen volleys at young Alvin Crowder. The hardest was Babe Ruth's home run with two aboard in the fourth, but the most effective was Bob Meusel's pinch double in the ninth after the Babe had walked and Gehrig had singled. Both scored, carrying the runs which drove Crowder to cover and decided the game. Ruth's homer was his fifth, which placed him only one behind his pal, Gehrig. Bill Dickey also combed Mr. Crowder for all the bases, in the fifth.

The other side of the picture, from a Yankee point of view, was Herbert Pennock's third failure in the box this season. Leading by 4 to 2 after Ruth and Dickey hit homers, the noted fox farmer cracked up in the sixth when four Brownie blows netted three runs and brought Wiley Moore to the rescue. Wiley gave way to a pinch batsman just in time for the veteran, Tom Zachary, to get credit for the garrison finish which won.

No team ever gained anything by losing a left arm like Pennock's but the Yankees will remain at or near the top so long as they continue the fierce canning which has marked their last five games. They have clubbed opposing pitchers for 63 hits in their last five starts, all of which have been won. And after all, they didn't win last year or the year before on any excessive amount of fancy pitching.

Boston nosed out Cleveland by 5 to 4 and Detroit shaded Washington by 3 to 2 in minor raids along the American league front.

The Giants once more had to hit for four bases to score, and as a consequence the Pirates rushed off with the decision by 3 to 2 in their first engagement of the season at the Polo Grounds. The Cubs tied in the eighth and won in the tenth when Lloyd Waner doubled and Traynor singled.

The Braves remained at the top by shacking the Cardinals, 8 to 5, in an eighth-inning rally. Billy Southworth tried to slip past the Bostonese with his second pitching string, but this was insufficient.

The Cubs had no trouble with the Robins, winning by 9 to 4 and holding on within striking distance of Judge Puch's amazing team. Charlie Grimm backed up Art Nehf's fine pitching with two home runs, and Riggs Stephenson hit one.

Frank O'Doul, the reformed pitcher, hit his fifth home run at Philadelphia, enabling the home team to defeat the Reds by 6 to 4. Two were on base in the eighth when Frankie's drive against Rbey scaled the right field wall.

Iowa University Athletic Director Gives Resignation

IOWA CITY, Ia., May 8. (AP)—A far reaching shakeup in the athletic department of the University of Iowa was predicted on the campus today following the announcement that Paul E. Belting had resigned as athletic director.

In accepting Belting's resignation, the university athletic council announced he would remain in charge of physical training classes, but will have no part in the control of athletic teams.

Belting's resignation followed by two weeks that of Justin M. Barry, head basketball coach, who announced he would go next season to the University of Southern California.

Belting's and Barry's resignations came after two years of agitation by alumni, following the football seasons of 1926 and 1927 when the Hawkeyes won only one conference football game.

Bert Ingwersen, head football coach for a time was included in the alumni attacks, but the agitation against him subsided last season.

Bobby Jones Is Admitted to Bar

ATLANTA, May 8. (AP)—Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., better known to golf fans as "Bobby" Jones, three times winner of the national amateur championship and twice holder of the national open title, was admitted to the bar in United States district court yesterday.

Bobby, who recently finished his law course at Emory university here, was introduced to Judge Samuel H. Sibley by a member of the law firm of his father, Robert P. Jones.

The youthful attorney is expected to lay aside his practice to compete in the national open championship and to defend his amateur laurels this summer.

Runner Falls Dead

LAUREL, Miss., May 8. (AP)—Tory Round, 19-year-old Laurel high school boy had just finished the 440-yard dash in 55 5-10 seconds here yesterday when he dropped dead from heart trouble. He was trying out for a state track meet to be held this week.

Derby Caravan Faces Dirt Roads

COALGATE, Okla., May 8. (AP)—Improved roads brightened the outlook for C. C. Pyle's bunion derby caravan this morning as the runners lined up for the jaunt of approximately 48 miles to Durant, Okla., on the thirty-ninth lap of the race.

Pete Gavuzzi, of England, found the rough dirt roads to his liking yesterday, joggling in well ahead of the field and adding a substantial margin to his lead over Johnny Salo, flying cop of Passaic N. J. Salo finished yesterday's run in second place and Phillip Granville of Hamilton, Ont., and Paul Simpson of Burlington, N. C., tied for third place.

STRIBLING IS SIGNED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 8. (AP)—Young Stribling of Macon, Ga., has accepted terms for a 10-round bout here June 3 against an opponent to be named later. Stribling is now in Columbus, Ga., where his tonsils were removed a few days ago. Jeff Carroll of Biloxi, Miss., is being mentioned as a possible opponent.

DICKIE SCHUMAN RELEASED

DALLAS, May 8. (AP)—Dickie Schuman, one of the heroes of the Dallas drive to a Dixie series title three years ago, today appeared to have reached the end of his Texas league career. The little southpaw has been made a free agent by the Dallas management, and so far as has been learned he has received no offers from other clubs.

Kill the Leaders Is Main Idea in Texas League

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer
If the practice of bumping off the leaders, as exemplified yesterday, becomes a habit with the boys further down the ladder, the Texas league very shortly is going to develop into a "hoss" race to satisfy the most exacting fans and fans.

In yesterday's four tussles the higher ups were trounced without exception, and the whole thing resulted in a general tightening up of the situation. Today four and one-half games separate the fifth place Dallas Steers from the leading Waco Cubs Beaumont and San Antonio, knotted at the foot of the class, are only seven and one-half games removed from the top.

Wichita Falls edged up into the thick of the fight by handing Waco its fourth straight licking, and the rebounding Dallas Steers vaulted into the 500 class by taking their second straight from the Houston Buffs and their fourth victory in a row.

To make the insurrection complete, San Antonio took a 2 to 0 verdict from Fort Worth in their series final at the Alamo City, and Beaumont nosed out Shreveport, 4 to 3.

It is certain that the present leaders Waco and Houston, are going to strike tough sledding when they begin their invasion of the north country next week. Playing in their home lots, the Cubs and Buffs in the last week have seen their once handsome leads whittled to a whisper. Waco's pitching staff, if not shattered, appears badly cracked.

For the present, the Dallas steers are living up to all the fancy adjectives applied to them before the season opened. A week ago they looked like flops of the purest ray. Henry Hardaway, the semi-pro from Ennis, earned himself a regular berth in the Herd pitching staff with his brilliant 8 to 3 victory over Houston yesterday. Houston, incidentally, gave him a tryout last sea-

Landis' Strong Attitude Causes Some Agitation

By ALAN J. GOULD

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—The smooth surface of organized baseball has been somewhat ruffled by reaction of the disciplinary moves of Commissioner Landis on the "covering-up" of strings attached to minor league talent.

Baseball men familiar with events of the last few months, subsequent to the drastic steps taken by Landis to free the players involved and fine the big league clubs accused of violating the optional player limit, understand that a bloc of American league magnates is again ready to shoulder arms. In fact, the "wise ones" assert the main purpose of the American league meeting in Cleveland yesterday was to air the objection to Landis' action, although the headlined item of news concerned the abandonment of the "most valuable player" award.

For years the major league magnates, by a gentlemanly understanding, have "covered up" players put out for more seasoning in excess of the official limit of eight.

Apparently a number of them, understood to be led by Clark Griffith of Washington, resent the summary action of the high commissioner in not only calling an abrupt halt but in administering sharp discipline.

Whatever their personal feelings, there is not likely to be a serious tempest, especially since Landis retains the full backing of the National league and sufficient American league support to give him any vote of confidence required. Furthermore the commissioner's sweeping powers of office give him undisputed control of the situation. There is no appeal from a decision by Landis, whose $65,000-a-year job as sole arbiter of organized baseball has until 1933 to run.

Frank Ford of Amarillo was a business visitor here yesterday.

Loughran and Sharkey May Be Matched for Bout

By ALAN J. GOULD

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO, May 8. (AP)—A match between Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion, and Jack Sharkey, the Boston boy, is being engineered by Paddy Harmon for his Chicago stadium.

Loughran is after a chance at the throne vacated by Gene Tunney, and Harmon has first call on his services. Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, has notified Harmon that Sharkey is willing to meet the Philadelphia, if the price is right.

STAR ATHLETE KILLED

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Edwin Hill, star halfback of New York university's great football team of last fall, was shot and killed last night in a playful struggle for a policeman's revolver.

The shooting occurred outside a police booth near the college campus, a favorite congregating place for the students. The patrolman, Joseph Green, was absolved of criminal blame by District Attorney John E. McGeehan of Bronx county but was suspended from duty.

Financier Shoots Girl; Kills Self

LOS ANGELES, May 8. (P)—Frank J. Williams, financier, today lay dead from a self-inflicted bullet wound and Miss Peggy Troxel, 18, was in a hospital seriously wounded as the result of a disagreement between them at the girl's residence here last night. The financier, who was president of a securities company here and an officer in other Southern California companies, had been divorced by his wife and was infatuated with Miss Troxel, E. Neil Ames, attorney for Williams, said. Miss Troxel is the daughter of a Chula Vista, Calif., banker and had been married, Ames added. He declared it was a letter she received from her former husband which precipitated the quarrel. Last night Williams went to the home of Misses Phyllis, Ruth, and Helen Grubbs, where Miss Troxel was staying, and asked to see her alone. The shooting followed. Williams died in a hospital some hours later. Miss Troxel's left eye was destroyed and her nose shattered by a bullet. Hospital attendants said she likely would recover. Ames told police Williams had made a will leaving his property to a young daughter by a former marriage.

President Gil May Offer Church Plan

MEXICO CITY, May 8. (P)—President Emilio Portes Gil, has opened a door through which diplomatic negotiations for settlement of his country's church-state strife may be approached. In a signed statement published today he said, "If Archbishop Ruiz (Monseñor Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, archbishop of Michoacan and a leader of the Mexican Roman Catholic hierarchy) should desire to discuss with me the way to bring about co-operation in the moral effort to better the Mexican people which he desires, I shall have no objection to talking with him on the subject." Archbishop Ruiz recently gave out a statement published in the United States which said "the church and its ministers are ready to co-operate to the fullest extent for the betterment of the Mexican people." It was in answer to this President Portes Gil spoke.

DEBENTURE PROPOSAL IS AT CRUCIAL POINT TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 8. (P)—Administration leaders in the senate had only a few hours left today for their efforts to avoid defeat in their attempt to eliminate the export debenture proposal which President Hoover opposes from the general farm relief bill. With unlimited debate on the proposal ending at 2 p. m. today, and a vote imminent, their uneasiness was apparent. Proponents of the debenture plan, mostly democrats and republican independents, were freer, meanwhile, with their expressions of confidence, and leaders of the group claimed a majority for retention of the provision in the bill. Fred G. Brunk's presentation of "Her Other Husband" was enjoyed by a packed house last night. The play was a comedy drama that had the attention of the audience from the first curtain until the amazing tangle was unraveled. Jerry Barnes and his orchestra were hits of the evening and were called upon repeatedly. The vaudeville acts were clever and amusing. Tonight the players will present "The Spell of the Island," a story of the South seas. Thursday night the great mystery play, "The Cat and the Canary," will be played.

Preacher Pleads Self Defense in Trial at Lamesa

LAMESA, May 8. (P)—Testimony in the trial of the Rev. W. E. Duke on charges of murdering J. A. Cox near here February 6 was completed last night, and arguments by attorneys were first on the court calendar today. Rev. Duke contended in his testimony that he killed Cox through fear Cox would kill him and pleaded self-defense. At the session last night, the state introduced evidence in an attempt to show the Baptist circuit preacher brought buckshot shells with the intention of using them for a definite purpose. The defense denied this testimony. Mrs. Cox, widow of J. A. Cox, testified briefly, and showed no emotion as she identified the bullet riddled, blood and crease-soaked hat her husband wore when shot. Mrs. Duke, the preacher's wife, a few hours earlier testified Cox had hugged and kissed her and said, "there's where I leave you" immediately before the fatal shot was fired. She told of three years intimate relations with Cox, and said she had no idea, before the shooting, that her husband suspected anything wrong. The Duke and Cox families were neighbors, and each had several children. Among them was Elmo Duke, the preacher's 17-year-old son, who was with his father the evening of the shooting up to a few minutes before the killing. He told of events leading to the tragedy. Curiosity and thrill seekers swarmed the courtroom, and many brought their lunches yesterday and today. Women predominated among the spectators. Moultrie, Ga., farmers have adopted a slogan of "bigger and better peanuts." They are not satisfied with present production. More than 300 Ohio settlements inaccessible by railroad may be reached by boat from Cincinnati.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE meets STEPHEN ARMISTEAD when he rescues her for far from a thief. PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, tries to lure him away from her. HUCK CONNOR becomes infatuated with Mildred. HOWARD is in love with Mildred, who tries to keep him away from her. When Stephen confides in Mildred, Pamela catches her father to prevent this but fails. Pamela succeeds in seducing Stephen's mind against Mildred and the latter faces dreary days in search of work. Then Pamela tries to break with Huck and when he objects tells him she and Stephen are engaged. She tells Stephen that the only way she can get rid of Huck and please with him to confirm the engagement. Huck commands Harold to prevent Pamela from going to Stephen under fear of exposure concerning a forged check. Harold obeys but Pamela forces Pamela to Huck plans to dispose of Stephen. He has one of his pals ask for a demonstration of his strength and they set a trap to steal it from him and goes back to his office expecting to be discharged but nothing is to be done until after a full investigation. Pamela insists on Stephen attending a dinner that night in honor of her engagement. NOW ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVII PAMELA was stirring rock candy in her demitasse when Stephen joined her in the dining room of the Judson Hotel. She ordered a cup for him and Stephen told the waiter to bring a regular size. Pamela looked at him twice for him. "Nervous?" she smiled at him across her own particular table which had fresh cut flowers on it. "Bad day," Stephen replied. Pamela pouted. "You don't look at all as if you liked being engaged," she said challengingly. The remark irritated Stephen: It always made him impatient when Pamela stepped out of character. He preferred her as the ruthless little demon he knew she was under her exterior of angelic beauty. But the beauty made him tolerant. And tonight she had enhanced it with all the art and skill she could command from high-priced beauty specialists. She had slept until midday, gotten up the early afternoon to wake her up, and then had come home to give herself over to becoming a fairy princess for the night. Suddenly Stephen reached out and touched her hand. "If I lose you, Pam," he said, "I'll never get over it." Pamela looked at him in astonishment. "Are you setting a skeleton at me?" she asked. "You sound suspiciously like a person with a past." "Not a past," Stephen confided, "but a darned uneasy present with a most uncertain future." Pamela laughed. "Don't let it get you," she advised; "marriage isn't such a responsibility anymore. Take it you're thinking of how I'm going to pay for my stockings. That's about all a toilet's salary is supposed to be good for with rich girls, isn't it? But really, I think I'll use it to buy bath salts for my Peles." "That's just what I was thinking of," Stephen said. "Don't you tell me more!" "I can make me do anything," Harold told her wildly. "I'm a beastly coward, Mildred." His voice was growing louder now, showing his excitement. "You ought to kick me out in the gutter where I belong! I'm no good! I won't even save my sister, and maybe it's just because you love him that I won't save Armistead either! I'm too rotten to know what's decent..." "Stephen!" The name burst from Mildred's lips in a passionate cry. "Harold, what do you mean? What has Huck Connor to do with Stephen?" She was shaking the boy's thin shoulders furiously, trying to make him speak, but Harold's crazed confession was at an end. Mildred's reaction to the mention of Stephen's name had made him realize that she would fight for Stephen at any cost. Her fingers clutched painfully through his clothing; he heard her voice break. It was unbearable. He had to tell her something. "Stop shaking me," he said, and tried to pull away. "Then tell me; tell me about Stephen," Mildred pleaded. "I will. Let me get my breath." MILDRED dropped her hands and waited. Harold did not look at her. "He's going to marry Pam," he said reluctantly. For a moment there was a ghastly, tense silence. Then Mildred turned away with a choked sob. Harold lifted his face, saw her at the door, in flight. He stood up and called to her but she did not answer. Presently she sent Connie to ask him to excuse her. "She seems to have acute indigestion or something," Connie said, a bit peevish because she could not understand the drama that she sensed was being played in their flat. Harold left immediately, which provoked Connie into going back to Mildred and trying to make her talk. Finally Mildred reached out for her sister's hand and clung to it in a way that silenced Connie. But later, with Connie offering sympathy and comfort as best she could without Stephen's engagement. "And I love him, Connie," she added, a world of pain in the whispered words. Connie said nothing, only pressed closer the arm she had thrown protectively about Mildred. But after a while her feelings got the better of her and she burst out angrily. "He'll get all that's coming to him with Pamela Judson! Marrying for money!" "Connie, he wouldn't. He loves her." "After knowing you? Don't make me laugh." Her words were small comfort to Mildred who lay awake all the night through regretting that she had not made Harold tell her what Huck Connor said to Stephen. "Tomorrow," she told herself at last, "I'll go to Huck Connor himself." (To Be Continued)
