WEST TEXAS CHAMBER FIGHTS HEAVIER TAXATION ON OIL

INDEPENDENTS WOULD SUFFER MOST BY LAW

Bill to Increase the Gross Production Tax Tabled

INDUSTRY NOW PAVING HEAVILY

Moody Adds Eleven New Subjects—Total Now Fifty

That the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is in the thick of the fight to prevent placing of further tax burdens upon the already heavily-taxed oil industry in this state was pointed out here today by J. E. Biggs, field representative of W. T. C. C.

Mr. Biggs showed The News a telegram from Manager Homer D. Wade concerning a proposed one-cent tax on natural gas. Mr. Wade said the organization was making a spirited fight against this bill.

AUSTIN, May 9. (P)—After hearing statements from a number of Texas independent oil operators that an increase in the gross production tax on petroleum from two to three per cent would force many small companies out of business, the house committee on revenue and taxation last night voted to table a bill by Representative J. T. Cox, Grapesack.

The committee was advised that oil companies last year paid into the state treasury $9,700,000 exclusive of the tax on gasoline and the present taxes were a burden on the industry.

Independents Menaced
The eleven major companies doing business in Texas will be able to survive this additional tax, because they can pass it on to John Citizen through refiners and their distribution system, McDonald Meacham, Houston told the committee, "but the independent operator will be forced to dig into his resources which already have been depleted for the past two years because of over-production."

AUSTIN, May 9. (P)—Arguments in the case growing out of the injunction brought by the state, joined by the board of regents of the university, restraining J. T. Robison, land commissioner, from selling oil and gas leases in West Texas lands on January 2, were made before the commission on appeals of the Supreme Court today.

The case was appealed to the court of civil appeals after the district court denied the injunction, and it has gone to the higher court on certified questions.

Commissioner Robison maintained he could not postpone the sale because he had received specific demands for some of the tracts, although he took from the market temporarily that part of land advertised for sale that he had no requests for.

AUSTIN, May 9. (P)—Governor Dan Moody increased the number of subjects the special session of the legis-

STAMBOUL, Turkey. (P)—The modern Turkish woman unwinds red tape by "queezing out a faint." Such is the idiom for a mock swoon which is becoming a popular method of getting attention from government officials to matters of taxes and the like. At the first possible moment the government official gives orders that matters of business pressed by the fainting person be attended to forthwith.

R. H. HAMILTON "PAYS OFF" TO KANGAROO COURT—HE CONFERS AT JAIL WITH COUNSEL DEFENSE

"Voulez Vous?"

Said French Teacher to Star Student, and She Said "Oui, Oui"

When Muriel Charlebois, above, entered Robert P. Champonier's French class at the University of California, there were "Comme Ca's" and "Je ne sais pas's" all over the place. A few months later he said "Voulez Vous?" and she replied "Oui, Oui", so they became Monsieur and Madame. Now Muriel's hubby is her teacher.

DR. TRUETT IS BAPTIST HEAD IN THIRD ELECTION

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 9. (P)—Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas was unanimously re-elected president of the Southern Baptist convention for his third term at the opening of the convention's seventh session today.

Dr. Truett was nominated by Z. T. Cody of Greenville, S. C., who described the Dallas minister as "the best loved man in the South."

Vice-presidents were chosen as follows: Dr. W. A. Hewitt, Jackson, Miss.; J. C. Hardy, Belton, Texas; M. P. L. Love, Pittsburgh, Miss., and Dr. W. C. Reeves, Hot Springs, Ark.

Hight C. Moore of Nashville and J. Burnett of Macon, Ga., were re-elected secretaries.

lature may consider to 50 when he submitted 11 items in a message today. In most cases they are local bills requested by members of the legislature.

With only 11 working days remaining of the 30 day session, appropriations bills and revenue have not been submitted. Bills fixing the license fee of motor vehicles are awaiting submission of revenue.

It was suggested that the statutes be amended to authorize the board of regents of the University of Texas to accept and hold in trust for the university sums of money to provide scholarships in the university to students.

Another proposal is that bonds be not issued to persons convicted of a felony and awaiting appeals.

AMARILLO, May 9. (P)—R. H. Hamilton, eminent Texas attorney, last night found himself in the presence of a new kind of court—kangaroo court of lower tank No. 1 in the Potter county jail.

In the jail cell, where Hamilton spent the night after his indictment yesterday for murder in the slaying of his son-in-law, Oren Stuart, charged with burglary, presides over the court for the tank. A fee of $2.50 is assessed each new prisoner, and the old inmates give him the choice of paying that fee or receiving a padding. Hamilton paid off.

The money goes into a fund, and those who pay the fee become full members and share equally in smokes and sweets bought with the money.

Attorneys made no effort to obtain Hamilton's release this morning, although it was expected they would demand a hearing today. Counsel conferred with Hamilton in the jail office throughout the forenoon.

AMARILLO, May 9. (P)—R. H. Hamilton, who once aided the highest Texas court in its interpretation of the law, today prepared to tell a jury under the compulsion of an accusing prosecution why he killed his 21-year-old son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr.

The proud lawyer was led away to jail last night after the Potter county grand jury had indicted him for murder. The state contended his case un-bearable and his counsel—three eminent law firms—refused to say whether an attempt would be made to free him from his cell through habeas corpus proceedings.

Hamilton shot Walton to death here last Saturday. The boy's mother, now broken in grief, had sent him to the father-in-law's office to tell of his secret marriage to Theresa Hamilton, 19, who, like the boy was a Texas university student. Theresa is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Mrs. Hamilton, with her daughter in Austin, felt the grand jury's action would clear up the shooting. "It is better that he should be indicted. Now the thing can be settled for all time," she said.

Girl's Plans Uncertain
Whether Theresa will go back to Amarillo to comfort the father who made her a widow could not be learned, the mother saying, "I can't tell you yet what our plans will be. They haven't been made."

Hamilton's attorneys have not divulged the line of action they intend taking but it was learned that they probably will be plead either self-defense, or a variation of the "unwritten law."

The lawyer himself has been steadfastly reticent about the affair. His statement after the slaying—"I'd rather die than kill a man, but I had to protect my home," thus far has been his only public declaration.

Contributions to a fund to hire special prosecutors are being deposited in an Amarillo bank.

Tom Walton, Sr., father of the 21-year-old University of Texas student, yesterday revealed in McAlester, Okla., where the youth was buried, that Hamilton had forbidden the marriage of Theresa to his son.

"Hamilton said he would never let his daughter marry beneath him," Walton said. "He already had refused to let them marry, but the boy's mother insisted that Tom tell Hamilton as soon as she found out they had been married secretly last February 10."

Walton indicated to friends his belief that Hamilton, wealthy and leading member of the bar in Texas, opposed the marriage because young Walton had no wealth and was not socially prominent.

It was said considerable sentiment had been aroused at McAlester where young Walton was popular and respected while attending high school. The Walton family moved to Texas from McAlester four years ago.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell are transacting business in Amarillo today.

BOYS' QUARTET WINS HANDILY AT AMARILLO

Girls' Glee Club Is Loser by Single Point

MISS NOEL GETS SECOND PLACE

Betty Anne Fannell Takes Similar Position

Yesterday's competition in the Panhandle musical festival contests at Amarillo brought honors to Pampa schools whose pupils won a first place and were crowded out in others by single-point margins.

The boys' quartet of Central high school won first place. Members of the quartet are: Noel Thomas, first tenor; Curtis Stark, second tenor; Don Zimmerman, baritone; and Ralph Irwin bass. Their rating was 95, against 88 for Amarillo.

The girls' glee club lost first place to Amarillo by only one point. Audrey Noel won second place in Class A vocal solos, receiving a rating of 95 on her song, "Farewell to Robin." The winner of first place, a Canyon girl, received 96 on her solo. Betty Anne Fannell, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fannell, won second place in the piano contest for girls of her division. Results of the piano contest for the younger boys, in which Glen Twiford took part, have not been learned.

The high school orchestra, composed of twenty students, will enter the contests for bands and orchestras tomorrow morning. Mr. Fannell is director of all of the high school musical organizations and teacher of the students entering the vocal contest. Mrs. Fannell, who is teacher of piano in the local branch of the Amarillo College of Music, is accompanist for the singers and the orchestra.

The World's Most Famous Couple

There aren't any pictures lying around loose showing Anne Morrow with her fiance, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, for the simple reason that they refuse to pose, but this one shows you how they look together. It is a composite photograph, the picture of Lindy having been taken at the races, while that of Anne was taken just the other day in Cleveland. You get the effect, though.

PHILLIPS TEST HAS HEAVY GAS WITH SOME OIL

Fifty-Million Cubic Feet Registered Early Today

CRUDE ESTIMATE 10 BARRELS HOUR

Third Producer Located on Palmer Land in Section 31

The new Finley-Brown pool, in central Gray county, is the sensation of the Panhandle and is now proven territory. The Marland discovery test was thought to be a lucky well. Then the Operators' Oil company's test hit for big production to further prove the territory.

This morning the Phillips Petroleum company's No. 1 J. H. Palmer, in the southeast corner of section 31, block B-2, hit the big gas and pay together. Granite wash pay was encountered from 2,795 to 2,800 feet. A shale formation was drilled through 2 feet and another granite wash pay and the big gas were picked up from 2,802 to 2,804 feet, total depth.

At 10 o'clock this morning a test registered 50,000,000 feet of gas with about 10 barrels of oil an hour. The gas is going through two separators and a 6-inch vent line and the well is blowing itself in. Each hour the flow of oil has increased and a second gusher in the new pool is assured.

First gas in the new producer was cased off. It totaled 40,000,000 feet and was picked up at 2,747 feet. That gas was missed in the Operators' test and 120,000,000 feet was picked up with the pay.

Flow in the Marland discovery well ceased when the big gas was encountered in the Phillips and Operators' wells, but in the last 24 hours it totaled 300 barrels and appeared to be coming back.

An official test of the Operators' Oil company's No. 1 Cook-Faulkner, in section 30, block B-2, which came in Sunday afternoon was made this morning. It flowed at the rate of 166 barrels an hour with an increase noted in the last hour of the test. The gas flow had dropped to 60,000,000 feet.

The Texas company's No. 1 and 2, in section 29, block B-2, are setting casing at 2,790 feet and will drill in immediately.

Rotarians Told of Welfare Work

Mrs. M. P. Downs, public welfare nurse and J. O. Gillham, treasurer of the Pampa Welfare association, gave reports of the work of the association in Pampa at the Rotary meeting today. Both speakers emphasized the necessity of co-operation of local business men in carrying on the charity work.

It was brought out that the association was much more able to investigate and provide for the needy than were individual givers. Worthy cases can be helped and those unworthy can be given the proper treatment by the association.

Dan Ohern, governor of the twelfth district of Rotary International, made a short talk on the international convention to be held in Dallas. He emphasized the necessity of meeting representatives from the foreign countries who will be there.

The meeting next week will be in charge of Frank Keim.

"It's Like This"
 ONE OF THE FREQUENT complaints here in this city is that of high rents. Merchandise and groceries are very reasonable, and in fact cheaper than in many Panhandle cities.

It cannot be denied that rents are too high. There must be a reaction, and landlords would find it wiser in the long run to anticipate the inevitable rebellion that will come unless prices on houses and apartments are lowered.

It is not altogether a question of demand. There are a number of empty apartments because the rental prices are so high that prospects refuse to meet them. In some cases, the salaried people take rooms below their regular standard of living, and remain dissatisfied. In some instances they refuse to live here.

Pampa needs more and cheaper rent houses. Confidence in the future of the city and the stability of real estate values have made it possible to obtain building loans, and rentals should not be kept up at figures which indicate the desire to pay out a house in a few years from the rent.

CHEAPER WATER RATES are desirable, but city officials say that the waterworks must be expanded through drilling of another well, erection of another elevated tank and a surface reservoir, and enlargement of mains, and that lessening of the revenues is hardly advisable at this time.

It might be answered that increased consumption, due to lower rates, would result in maintenance of present revenue levels during a normal year. The reply to this theory is that until the additional storage is available and the second new well is completed the bigger supply of water will not be ready. It should be remembered that last summer the city struggled through a water shortage, which probably has been averted this year. The completion of large well No. 2 should afford an ample supply.

Citizens are sincere in urging lower water rates to make possible greater consumption for civic beautification. The News subscribes wholly to this same idea. It is unreasonable, however, to expect the impossible, and the city officials declare that they will grant a reduction just as soon as it is expedient to do so.

A FEW YEARS AGO cotton raisers were in a bad way. Two years ago the crisis was eased by a rather poor crop and unexpectedly large consumption. An all-southern conference was called, and banks started relief movements for the down and out cotton farmers. Temporarily at least, cotton market conditions have improved, but overproduction is still threatened.

Now it is wheat that is suffering. Two hundred million bushels of last year's crop remains in farm granaries and elevators. A bumper crop this year will create a dangerous surplus. The market is making almost daily sags, with occasional rallies. The bottom of this trend will not be known until the crop is well harvested, but it is certain that the wheat raising business is unstable by reason of the large surplus.

Young Matrons' Missionary Society Elects Officers

Mrs. Will Kinzer was elected president of the Young Matrons' Missionary society of the First Christian church at a meeting yesterday in the meeting of Mrs. Charles Bales. She succeeds Mrs. C. W. Stowell. Other new officers are as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Paul Kasishke; secretary, Mrs. Nalda Luter; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Hill; secretary of literature, Mrs. Homes Kees, and press reporter, Mrs. S. A. Burns.

The business session was followed by a devotional period and a missionary program. Mrs. Kinzer gave the Scripture reading. A lesson on "Missions in China" was directed by Mrs. Homes Kees. A map chart talk, followed by discussions of the geographical conditions, as they effect social and economic progress, gave an excellent foundation for a study of present-day needs of the country and the opportunities of the church and its institutions.

Program numbers were given by Mrs. Kinzer, Mrs. Paul Hill, Mrs. Ivy Duncan, Mrs. Wm. Barrett, Mrs. Paul Kasishke, and the leader. A social hour followed the lesson.

Mrs. M. M. Rutherford and little daughter are visiting relatives in Altus, Okla. Mrs. Rutherford went especially to attend the commencement exercises of the high school, as her brother is in the graduating class.

Miss Mary Shell and Misses Fannie Florence and Nettie Sims were among the guests at a picnic given last evening at Clarendon Country club.

Woman's Auxiliary Meets in Home of Mrs. Wm. M. Craven

A gift box for the Little House of Fellowship at West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, was prepared yesterday by the Woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church. Pantry self-dainties—sandwich spreads, jellies, marmalades, cookies, and candy—as well as household linens, were contributed by the members. The Little House of Fellowship is a social center which the Episcopal church established and maintains for the benefit of all students and teachers of the college. Its home like charm and the hospitality it extends are made possible by such gifts as that of the local auxiliary.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was held in the home of Mrs. Wm. M. Craven, with Mrs. M. K. Brown, president, in charge of the business session and the devotional. Mrs. F. M. Perry and Mrs. E. H. Hamlett presented an interesting resume of the work of the Episcopal church in Liberia. A donation was taken, during the business session, to the million dollar fund which the auxiliaries of the United States are raising to rebuild St. Luke's hospital in Tokio, destroyed in the last earthquake. Mrs. Clifford Braly was a guest for the program and the social hour following.

Whitney Pony Out With Injury

BALTIMORE, May 9.—Harry Payne Whitney's Bargello white, coupled with Beacon Hill, another Whitney horse, had gained favor during the past few days for the Preakness stake to be run tomorrow, through performances at Jamaica, which probably will start in the $50,000 event. Just before the two ponies which were to have tried to make it three in a row for Whitney were to be shipped to the Pimlico track yesterday, Bargello suffered an injury which will put him out of the event.

Beacon Hill will still run, according to Whitney's stablemen, being the only horse to carry the Whitney silks, as The Nut will run under the colors of the Warm stables, having recently been purchased from the noted turfman.

A field of more than a score of the 93 nominated for the event is scheduled to go to the post for the mile and three sixteenths race which carries $50,000 added to the winner, with the historic Woodlawn vase. It was won in 1927 and 1928 by Harry Payne Whitney's Bostonian and Victorian, and by Whitney's Broomspun in 1921.

'Our Helen' Will Be Presented Today at British Court

LONDON, May 9.—Helen Wills, American tennis queen, in silken train and plumes, will curtsy tonight before Queen Mary in the first presentation at the court of St. James.

Partaking in this evening's presentation also will be seven other Americans. As many again from the United States will be presented to Queen Mary in the second court to be held tomorrow night at Buckingham palace.

It was a day of thrills and anticipation for those so honored, with crowded hours of rush, hurry, and finally tedious waiting. Visits to the hair-dresser, practice of the almost forgotten art of the curtsy and being photographed were just parts of the preparation.

There is at the end of it all, though 30 seconds of splendor, the half minute involved in the short trip across the room to where England's queen will sit alone on the imperial dais, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family ranged behind her. There, in front of the queen, the brief curtsy will be made, and the fortunate ones half-minute of glitter in the courtly constellation finished.

The Americans to be presented are: Tonight, Miss Helen Wills, California; Elizabeth Behn, New York; Alice Coonley, Illinois; Lillian Emerson, North Carolina; Mrs. Albert Halsted, Ohio; Jocelyn Pierson, Maryland; Harriet Walker, a friend of Miss Wills, California, and Virginia Willys, New York.

Tomorrow night: Mrs. George Barnett, Virginia; Miss Mollie Cullum, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Paul Grening, California; Mrs. George Lawrence, Jr., New York; Margaret McKiltrick, Missouri; Catherine Norcross, Georgia; Margaret Tyner, Illinois, and Adeline Winston, Georgia. Among the British women to be introduced tomorrow is another tennis player, Eileen Bennett, young British champion.

Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the American charge d'affaires, will sponsor the American presentations.

Among those who attended the music festival programs and contests in Amarillo yesterday were: Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Mrs. C. C. Dodd, Mrs. B. E. Finley, Mrs. D. D. McSkimming, Mrs. H. G. Twiford, and her guest, Mrs. Harold Morris of Oshkosh, Neb.

CHURCHES

Evangelist A. G. Smith spoke last night on "The Call of the Father's House" at the revival meeting at the First Christian church.

He read the story of the prodigal son as told by Jesus recorded in the fifteenth chapter of Luke, and said: "This is the best known and best loved of all stories in all the world. It is so true to the experience of all of us."

He then called attention to the son going into a far country, and said "The call of thy far county." This boy began the journey to the far country when he began to think about it. When we begin to think and meditate upon a life of sin is when we really begin to leave for the far country. What is the call to the far country? Ease! Self-gratification! Listening to the call of the far country is a false call.

"The call that is brought to us by the Christ means the call to the father's house. One of the most striking statements in this story is this, 'When he came to himself.' The evangelist dwelt much at length on this thought, quoting John Howard Payne's renowned song, 'Home Sweet Home' and from Whittier's 'Snow-bound,' and declared 'the call of the father's house are sacred memories. The call to the father's house is the call away from an unsatisfactory life. You cannot satisfy the hunger of the soul with material things. The call to the father's house is the call that excuses will not answer.'

As a solo before the sermon Mr. O. Fred Hanna sang in fine voice and very effectively, "The Prodigal." "Back to My Father and Home" rang again and again through the auditorium as his rich tenor voice with feeling tones carried the words of the song to the listening ears of all.

The services began promptly at 7 o'clock, the song service being under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. O. Fred Hanna, and Evangelist Smith speaking tonight on "Ordinances, Their Place and Purpose."

Mrs. Travis Lively and her two children are visiting relatives in Clarendon.

H. G. Twiford is transacting business in Amarillo.

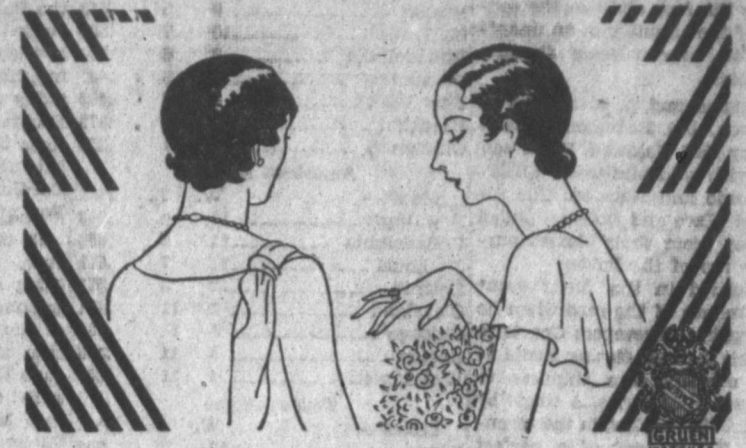

August A. Gordon of the Gordon Stores company returned yesterday from Kansas City and the St. Louis shoe markets.

Women Wrestlers Will Meet Here

Wrestling fans will have an opportunity to see two of the best women wrestlers in the Southwest tomorrow night at the C. A. Vernon shows. Also, Leo Chase, local man, and his old rival, Dutch Betke of Berger, will be in action.

The bouts will go to a finish. Miss Teddy Myers of Chicago and Miss Billie Jackson of Oklahoma City will furnish the first match of the evening. Both will enter the ring at 160 pounds. That match will be followed by the Chase-Betke battle.

Happy Gift Thoughts FOR MOTHER'S DAY

IN commemoration of God's two greatest gifts to mankind this week has been set in honor of Baby and Mother.

Isn't it befitting we stop to think of these two wonders of earth and try to make their lives a bit more pleasant while they are here?

America shows its appreciation by gifts and the appropriate gifts this week will be items of comfort for baby and Mother.

An easy chair, reading lamp, sewing cabinets, floor lamps, or suites of all kinds will show Mother just how much she is appreciated and thought of by her children.

baby week

A crib, jumpers, high chairs, novelty chair, etc., for baby will make its summer months more pleasant and comfortable.

We have one of the largest displays of gifts of comfort in the West—at prices so nominal it will be surprising for the quality considered.

Whether cash or credit is desired, the price is the same and WRIGHT'S LOWER COST AND SALES SYSTEM offers the opportunity for you to please Baby and Mother in the way you would like to, with all the terms you need at a SPOT CASH PRICE.

Again we say, show Baby and Mother how we appreciate them by giving gifts that last and are comfortable.

Southern Nines Beat Every Team From Northward

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous in the Texas league yesterday as the four clubs in the southern half of the circuit won an unanimous decision over visiting firemen from the north.

Scintillating mound performances by Elmer Hanson, big Beaumont wheelhorse, and by Earl Caldwell, Waco ace, contrasted with wild and woolly affairs at San Antonio and Houston. The result was that Waco and Houston pulled a game away from their closest pursuers at the top of the ladder.

Hanson turned in the finest game of the first month of the race when he held the slugging Shreveport Sports to one lonely hit in their closing tussle at Beaumont, enabling the shippers to sweep the two-game series. A single by Whelan, Sport first sacker, in the seventh knocked Hanson out of a perfect game. The Exporters won, 9 to 0.

While not as spectacular, the 5 to 3 victory hurled by Caldwell over Fort Worth in the series opener at Waco was as meritorious as that of Hanson. In addition to giving the Rogers school teacher a perfect record of six straight victories, it enabled the Pratmen to break a losing streak that had reached four straight and was on the point of becoming painful.

After weakly submitting to the Dallas Steers for two days, the Houston Buffs turned on the Herd in their final game at Houston. The slaughter was awful. When the nine innings were over, the Buffs checked up and found they had picked the offerings of two Dallas flingers for 24 hits and 18 runs and had done a very thorough job of wrecking the Steers beautiful winning streak, which had reached four straight. Lefty Myers saw to it that the Steers were well behaved, holding them to eight hits and two runs.

A somewhat similar exhibition was inflicted upon the fan when the San Antonio Indians overwhelmed the Wichita Falls Spudgers, 19 to 9, in the first of a three-game series at San Antonio. The Indians are becoming a bad lot to get along with since Pa Newman took over the reins.

Four Spudger pitchers were pounded for 26 hits during the hectic afternoon, and the men of Galloway helped themselves to 12 off of two Indian chuckers. Hobo Carson, former T. C. U. star, started for the home nine, but retired in favor of Nell Baker after the Spuds had scored their nine runs in four and a fraction innings and threatened to overcome the Tribe's big lead. Baker blanked them from there on out.

There was a new alignment in two cities today, Dallas opening a two-game series at Beaumont, and Shreveport hopping over to Houston for a pair.

Hubbell's No-Hit Pitching Obscures Cubs Big Rise

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The furore created by Hubbell's no-hit performance against the Pirates at the Polo Grounds yesterday all but prevented any mention of the Cubs' rise to the top of the National league standing, but there the McCarthymen stood today after a long fight upward. The Bruins slammed the recumbent Robins for a business-like 4-to-2 victory at Ebbets field yesterday as the thoughtful Cardinals tugged the Braves under at Boston, 10 to 2.

In the face of Hubbell's effort, however, the league standing became a thing of small moment. Practically a freshman in the major leagues for all of the fact that he is a regular and a star, this slender Missouri southpaw gave the Pirates' team batting average such a jolt that the Buccaneers slid into last place in that activity. The Giants won by 11 to 0.

Hubbell lost all chance of a no-man-to-first-base game almost as soon as he entered the box. Travis Jackson made a giddy toss past first base of Sparky Adams' grounder, and the wee infielder raced to second. Lloyd Warner's sacrifice sent him to third, and Hubbell was concerned more with preventing the Pirates from scoring than in pitching a no-hit game.

Paul Waner and Pie Traynor obligingly offered easy chances, and Dick Kinsella's Beaumont find set sail through the batting order of the Pirates with hardly a halt until the ninth. Adams walked with two gone in the third, but Lloyd Warner promptly forced him, and technically reached first. Hubbell's triumph was the first no-hit performance in the majors since Ted Lyons of the White Sox shutout Boston in August of 1926, and the first by any Giant since May 7, 1922, the date of Jesse Barnes' all-but-perfect effort against the Phillies. He retired 27 men, but walked one.

NO-HIT GAMES EASY

OMAHA, Neb., May 9. (AP)—Pitching no-hit games has become a habit with Eddie Henningsen, captain of the Creighton high school team.

Derby Has Short Distance Today to First Texas City

DURANT, Okla., May 9. (AP)—Charlie Pyle's patient pilgrims have a holiday today. They have only 30 miles to run for their fortieth lap, which, following daily grinds of 50 and 60 miles, represents only a few hours work for them.

The corn carnival moved out of Durant at 7 a. m., and headed for Sherman, the first stop in Texas. More than 1,800 miles have been completed by the patient band, and less than 2 hours separate the leaders, Pete Gavuzzi, bearded Italian of England, and John Salo, flying cop of Passaic, N. J.

Gavuzzi and Salo have struggled for supremacy ever since the mad minions of the MacAdams reached Ohio, and the Italian has managed to keep in the lead by more than an hour. During the last week, Salo cut the lead several times, only to have Gavuzzi pile it up again in the following lap.

Pyle's cross-country follies, after showing at Seminole, ran into difficulties last night and did not reach Durant until a capacity audience had grown impatient. Heavy rains made some of the roads impassable, and the troupe was forced to detour 200 miles to reach the control point.

Strong Man to Wrestle Dotson

Arthur Saxon, who claims to be the world's strongest man, will be in Pampa next week and will demonstrate his strength by letting a large automobile run over him. He will also break chains, bend horseshoes and give exhibitions of his power.

Next Thursday night the strong man, who weighs only 190 pounds, will wrestle Oscar Dotson, local blacksmith mauler, to a finish match at the Pampa auditorium. It will be a battle of strength against science. Dotson will weigh 210 pounds.

Heavy Slugging Wins for Cabot

The Magnolia boys found Mitchell and Hickey too much for them last night and accepted a whitewash at the hands of the Cabot nine. The boys from the carbon black plant took the long end of a 6-to-0 score. The stick welding of Mitchell and Hickey was largely responsible for the win.

Magnolia played snappy baseball in spots and Burks pitched a nice game. He was hit rather freely, but had his support been tighter he would have humbled the heavy-hitting smoke boys. Tonight Shell and Magnolia will clash.

To maintain a slender figure, no one can deny the truth of the advice: "REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

Conflicting Arguments
have been unable to halt the rapidly increasing tendency of the public to adopt Lucky Strike as its favorite cigarette. Lucky Strike is a blend of choice tobaccos whose toasted flavor thrills the taste, whose toasting process eliminates impurities, and, as 20,679 physicians testify, makes Luckies less irritating. Toasting elevates Lucky Strike to a plane of quality which no other cigarette can approach. The constant care of experts assures the quality of Luckies. Its choice by millions proves its superiority and is the truthful answer to selfish claims.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE meets STEPHEN ARMITAGE when he returns her for from a thief. Their friendship grows until PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, tries to lure him away from her. HUCK CONNOR becomes infatuated with Pamela and she plays both men. Her brother, HAROLD, is in love with Mildred, who tries to keep him from gambling with Huck's crowd. When Stephen continues seeing Mildred, Pamela cables her father to discharge her. Harold tries to prevent her but fails. Pamela succeeds in turning Stephen against Mildred and the latter faces dreary days in search of work. Then Pamela tries to break with Huck and when he objects tells him she and Stephen are engaged. Huck commands Harold to prevent Pamela's marriage under fear of exposure concerning a forged check. Harold says he can't force Pamela so Huck plans to dispose of Stephen. He has one of his gang frame Stephen for stealing one of his firm's demonstration cars, and the detective thinks the evidence against him sufficient when he finds Stephen apparently giving a big party that night to announce his engagement to Pamela. Harold confesses enough to Mildred to reveal to her that Stephen is in danger of Huck's scheming. In desperation she decides to make an effort to save him. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII MILDRED was still without a position. She was free to seek Huck Connor at any time, but household duties kept her at home throughout the morning. And by afternoon, when she went to the Judson and asked for him, it was too late. He was out of town, she was told. No, he had not said when he would return. Huck had gone to a town a few miles up the Hudson river where a retired gangster kept a convenient hideaway camouflaged as a chicken farm. He had business with the proprietor, one Ras Poberlin. On her way from the hotel Mildred passed the Mettle Agency, and though she would not allow her steps to slow she could not keep from glancing through the plate-glass window, hoping for a glimpse of Stephen. Naturally she did not see him as he was even then headed for J. B.'s place under Lefty Flint's malign direction. Mildred told herself it was better not to see him, but as she hurried on she was conscious of a keen disappointment. Her heart ached for sight of Stephen and even her pride, great as it was, could not moderate the desire. There were other things besides thoughts of Stephen to occupy her mind, however, and Mildred was too conscientious to neglect them. She must make a few calls where it was possible she might obtain a position. The outlook at home was becoming gloomy. The small income derived from a cautious investment of the insurance money her father had left was insufficient to meet the bills. "I must have a job," Mildred told herself worriedly. "If we fall behind with the rent and get into debt there won't be even so much as a trip to Coney Island on Sundays for our vacation this summer." SHE could not help feeling bitter toward Pamela at that moment. Once on a hot, humid day, she had been sent to the Judson boat where it was anchored in the breeze-swept Sound to do some work for the owner. It had been Paradise to her luxury-starved senses. The unexpected warmth of the present day brought it back to her mind. Well, Stephen had tasted of that luxury. She didn't blame him so much... but, of course, he was in love with Pamela, in spite of her brutal selfishness. Mildred could picture her curled up on her lacy pillows, commanding that even her slightest whim be satisfied. "While I walk the streets looking for work," was Mildred's bitter reflection. The injustice of it still smarted. She was efficient, capable, but on a parasitic creature's wish she had been treated as though her worth in the world were of no more account than a fly's. Her resentment clung as the day wore away and she was still numbered among the unemployed. She knew that it might be weeks yet before she found a position. Chance was such a large element in this matter in New York. People missed big opportunities by a hair's breadth, others stumbled upon them when they were not wanted. Mildred was genuinely worried. Her mother noted her downcast expression when she returned home and made her lie down a few minutes before dinner. Mildred had had to tell her mother that she'd lost her position at the Judson Hotel but she did not reveal her concern for the immediate future. "It was not just his alone that troubled her, her mother knew, for Connie had told her of Stephen's engagement to Pamela. Mildred came out to the kitchen in time to broil the hamburger cakes and fix the salad. Connie was cutting up some cold boiled potatoes. "How much butter?" she asked, when she went to the cupboard for a frying pan. "Butter!" her mother exclaimed. "Use the fat drippings. And you needn't have peeled the potatoes. The skin is healthful when it's nice and clean." Connie groaned. "You can bet I'm going to marry a big butter-and-egg man," she said determinedly. "I hate fat drippings." ORDINARILY Mildred would have given her a little sterner advice after such a remark, but tonight the older girl was preoccupied and silent. Connie decided not to pester her, but before she fell asleep that night she was aware that Mildred was crying soundlessly, and it was all she could do to keep from blurting out her contempt for Stephen. For Stephen it was a night of pleasure, unshadowed by any omen of what awaited him on the morrow. It was daybreak when he unlocked his door and let himself into his room. He hurried to undress and get some sleep before going to the office, but sleep would not come to him. Now that he was alone his troubles returned like a flock of vultures to pick at his peace. Pam in a flat. Pam in a kitchen apron! Pam in the balcony at the theater! Pam in the subway! He couldn't see it. But hang it all, she knew he'd make good with her to work for. He'd have to. He couldn't expect her to go on living in what would, to her, be abject poverty. What a girl she was! She certainly could put life into a party. Not that her friends were dull, but Pam led them all. She'd been as sparkling and as gay when he took her home as when they first reached Margola's party. He dozed off finally, and with the thought in his mind that he was a lucky devil to be loved by a girl like Pam. It seemed only a moment before his alarm clock woke him with its inconsiderate summons. He hurried to be at the office early. He could get off some letters to certain of his prospects, who needed a reminder of their promise to come in and inspect the new models. Mr. Mettle came in late. He greeted Stephen with a sour face and a skippy nod. Stephen worked like a Trojan that morning, using his utmost selling powers on all potential buyers who came within sound of his voice. He saw Carl Short come in some time after 11 and go directly to Mr. Mettle's private office. The investigator was closeted there with the manager for about 15 minutes before Stephen was sent for. FRESH trouble was in the air. Stephen knew as soon as he opened the door and faced the two. On the desk between them lay a .32 caliber revolver, a large roll of bills and a bunch of keys in a leather key holder. Stephen did not at first see the keys or the money. His eyes were fastened upon the gun. "Ever see it before?" Short asked dryly. Mr. Mettle said nothing. His mouth was like a crack of ice, drawn sharply across his face as it was. Stephen shook his head. "No," he said. "Or this?" Short picked up the roll of bills. Stephen looked puzzled. Again he shook his head. "And I suppose you never see your eyes on these before, either?" Short rasped, taking the keys from the table and holding them out on the palm of his hand under Stephen's astonished gaze. "Why, they look like my keys?" he exclaimed unhesitatingly. "H'm." Mr. Mettle muttered; "guess you couldn't deny it, because I saw you when you snatched on the keys to the car you stole." Stephen whirled upon him. "Stole?" he repeated blankly. "That's right, Armitage." Short interjected crisply; "we've got the goods on you." "Like hell you have," Stephen retorted, losing control of his temper. "What kind of a setup is this? I never saw that gun or that roll before in my life. I don't know where you got the keys, unless you've caught the guy who stole..." "We have," Short assured him. "The keys were found in your room this morning. The gun and the money, too. That's enough to hold you." Stephen stared at him, pop-eyed. "Not in my room," he began but Short cut him off again. "There's no argument," he said curtly; "the hotel manager made the search with us. I guess you're through helping crooks to rob your firm. Better come along quietly before the men outside get wise." A SHIVER ran over Stephen's body as it was borne in upon him that he was under arrest. Under arrest! He, Stephen Armitage. He couldn't get it. Turning for aid to Mr. Mettle, he saw his employer wave his hand with an outward, finishing gesture that did not need words to convey its meaning. Nevertheless Mr. Mettle barked out an order to Short to "take him away. Get him out of here." And Stephen was "taken away." Later he found himself booked at the nearest police station on a double charge of possessing a firearm without a license and grand larceny. Being unable to provide bail, he was locked up. The help of professional bondsmen was not available; neither would he wire to his family in Indiana for aid. But a lawyer; he'd have to have a lawyer. Someone had to get him out of there. He paced up and down his cell, vainly figuring how and where he could raise the money for a lawyer's fee. And Pamela! God, how was he going to let her know about that! That was Stephen's darkest moment. The disgrace of his position swept over him like a crushing weight. He dropped to the cot and buried his face in his hands. It was some time before he was able to think rationally. Then it came to him that he could communicate with Harold, ask her brother to send Pamela to him. He'd have to see her, have to know that she'd believe in his innocence. He got up, pressed his face to the bars and called out loudly for the turnkey. (To Be Continued)

Sinclair May Have Sentence of Ninety Days

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, oil millionaire, race horse owner and registered pharmacist, is likely to know, before he completes the 90-day sentence he is now serving in the Washington asylum and jail, whether another, calling for six months, is to be enforced against him.

The term he is serving is punishment for refusal to answer certain questions asked him during the senate investigation of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease which he obtained from Albert B. Fall as secretary of the interior. The six-month sentence hanging over him was imposed for contempt of court for the shadowing of jurors selected for his conspiracy trial with Fall.

Locusts Soon to Emerge in Swarms

AMES, Iowa, May 9. (AP)—The plague of the 17-year locusts on its way, the entomology department of Iowa State college announces. The insect, a pest in the history of midwestern agriculture is due this month for its first appearance since 1912.

Already students of the school have come upon the little holes from which the locust, or cicadas, will emerge. The department predicts it will be only a short time until the insects are swarming.

The "plague" will not really be harmful, the experts say. The increase of the natural enemies of the cicadas—domestic animals, squirrels, fowls and birds—and the increase in cultivation of land all mean that slight damage is to be expected.

The life of the locust above the ground is only three or four weeks. In that time they will deposit their eggs in packets and twigs, then die. The eggs will hatch and the young locust will emerge after about seven weeks. They will bury themselves in the ground, there to remain until 1946.

Little harm results from the cicadas during the years they are underground. They subsist by sucking sap from the roots of trees. Orchards suffer worst.

WHEAT FALTERS

CHICAGO, May 9. (AP)—Wheat underwent a sharp early break in price here today despite upturns at the start. Liverpool wheat quotations were higher than expected, but the new buying support here was thin, and selling pressure broadened out, especially from sources east.

Starting at 1-8 to 1 1-8 advance, Chicago wheat later showed about 2 1-2 drop. Corn and oats also developed weakness, with corn opening unchanged to 3-8@1-2c up, and subsequently showing declines. Provisions were easy.

Baptist Pastor Freed in Killing

LAMESA, May 9. (AP)—The Rev. W. E. Duke, Baptist circuit preacher of Klondyke, near here, was acquitted of murder charges on the first ballot by a jury here last night. Rev. Duke was charged with shooting to death J. A. Cox, a neighbor, the night of Feb. 6, at Klondyke.

Members of the Duke family were in the crowd of 100 persons that heard the jury report "not guilty," but, in accordance with the judge's order, there was not demonstration.

As the trial ended, a court attaché handed to Elmo Duke, 17-year-old son of the preacher, the shot gun with which the preacher testified on the stand he had shot Cox. No explanation was made other than the gun was being returned to the family that owned it.

Mrs. Duke, the preacher's wife, testified she had been intimate with Cox for three years before the shooting and that she had no idea her husband suspected anything. She also said that a few minutes before the fatal shot was fired, Cox hugged her and kissed her and said:

"Well, here's where I leave you."

Civil Docket Is Opened by Ewing in District Court

A three-year sentence was returned at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the trial of W. A. Aggers by a jury in 31st district court. The jury took the case as 11:30 o'clock.

The case will be appealed. Mr. Aggers charged with theft, maintained that he was innocent, having agreed to purchase the property in controversy and having been promised a bill of sale when the equipment was paid for by him.

The jury in the case was composed of the following: Ed F. Elma, Jack Bailey, Luther Petty, J. K. Sweet, Edis Jones, J. W. Angee, Mason Davis, Floyd McLaughlin, L. C. Holland, F. W. Cobbs, T. J. May, and S. J. Spears.

This afternoon the civil docket was called. Cases for the rest of the week and next week were to be set this afternoon, Judge Ewing said. The last week of this term will start May 20 and will be devoted to criminal cases.

The grand jury reconvened this morning but at noon had not returned any indictments.

E. Brady was acquitted on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale. The jury was out one hour and returned a verdict of not guilty.

House to Alter Senate Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—The senate having voted 47 to 44 in favor of the export debenture plan opposed by President Hoover, congressional leaders looked upon the situation involving farm relief legislation today as being more complicated than at any time since the special session started.

Although the senate bill as a whole is still to be passed, the retention of the debenture provision has made it certain that many difficulties will be encountered in the effort that must follow to bring the two chambers of congress into agreement on the measure which finally will be sent to the president.

The house, in passing its farm bill, did not vote on the debenture proposal since it was ruled out on a point of order. Republican leaders in the house were confident they could have defeated it with their large majority if it had come to a vote, however, and senate administration leaders are counting on elimination of the debenture section of their bill at the insistence of the house committee when the two measures are submitted to a joint conference for adjustment of differences.

At the same time, they are concerned over the amount of time which probably will be required to bring about that result.
