

HST Appoints Harriman As Special Aide

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—President Truman today appointed Ambassador W. Averell Harriman to a new job as special assistant to the President.

Harriman is now United States special representative in Europe for the Economic Cooperation Administration, with the rank of ambassador.

To succeed him in that post the President nominated Milton Katz, of Massachusetts, now Harriman's assistant in Europe.

He, too, will have the rank of ambassador.

The White House said in a statement:

"The implementation of the decisions reached at the recent London meetings, and the integration of the various interests of the departments and agencies concerned with the development of government-wide policies related to our international responsibilities, require a large measure of presidential consideration and decision.

"The President believes that Mr. Harriman's long experience in international affairs will be of great value in helping him deal with these matters. Mr. Harriman will assume his new duties early in August."

White House Sec. Charles G. Ross said the appointment is to a new job which has the full approval of the State Department.

Katz is a native of New York and a lawyer. He was graduated from Harvard and practiced law in New York before assuming a long series of federal government legal jobs.

Grant Motion To Revoke Bridges' Citizenship

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16. (AP)—Federal court today granted the government's motion to revoke the citizenship of Harry Bridges, CIO longshore leader.

Federal Judge George B. Harris issued the ruling. The government demanded that the naturalization of Bridges, Australian-born, be revoked after he was convicted of perjury recently.

The perjury conviction was based on a sworn statement in his 1945 citizenship hearing that he wasn't a Communist.

Bridges is under sentence to five years in prison. He has appealed. In his memorandum opinion Judge Harris wrote:

"Bridges stands before this court as a convicted felon. When a defendant is convicted, the presumption of innocence vanishes and a heavy presumption of guilt supplants it.

Anti-Histamine Makers Agree To Advertising Change

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—The government announced today that five big makers of anti-histamine drugs have agreed not to advertise that their products will cure or prevent colds.

The firms had been accused of using "false and misleading" advertising in promoting the sale of the new preparations.

Under today's agreement the companies can continue to sell the drugs and advertise that they will ease or stop cold symptoms, such as sneezing and running noses.

They also can advertise that the products are safe if used according to directions on the labels.

The Federal Trade Commission said the action results from FTC complaints charging the firms with violation of federal fair trade laws.

The five are Bristol-Myers Co., Anablist Co. Inc., and Whitehall Pharmaceutical Co., all of New York; Union Pharmaceutical Co. Inc., Montclair, N. J.; and the Grove Laboratories Inc., St. Louis, Mo.

The products involved are sold under the trade names of roxistah, anaphist, kriptin, inhalon and antamine.

Police Answer Variety Of Calls

Police had an assortment of calls Thursday evening and Friday morning.

They accompanied firemen to a minor fire call at 788 1/2 Johnson.

A call on collision North East Second showed no serious property damage.

A station operator at 13th and Gregg complained that three boys in a car cut through his driveway at a rapid rate at 8:18 p.m., narrowly missing a child.

At midnight Brown's Cleaners complained someone had tossed rocks through windows at the plant.

TWO OTHERS AT-LARGE Nab 2 Escapees At La Grange Today

HUNTSVILLE, June 16. (AP)—Two of four prisoners who escaped from the Walker County jail here last night were arrested today in La Grange, 115 miles southwest of Huntsville.

Fayette County Sheriff Jim Flournoy said Monroe Bartfield, 19, Houston, and Howard Edwin Grymes, 19, Baltimore, Md., were arrested while in a pickup truck.

Still at large are Durant Day, 22, and Dick Broyles, 23, who were being held for transfer to the state prison here after being convicted at Comanche on burglary charges.

Walker County Sheriff Floyd Farris said the four men apparently picked a lock on a jail cell battered a 14-inch hole in a second story brick wall and dropped 20 feet to the ground.

Bartfield was awaiting trial for theft of an automobile stolen in Huntsville about two months ago, Farris said, and Grymes was arrested Tuesday in Houston, in connection with theft of a Huntsville automobile.

Day and Broyles, according to the penitentiary record bureau, were sentenced to penitentiary terms in Comanche, but yesterday were brought to Huntsville from Waco, in McLennan County, where they had additional charges against them dismissed.

Papers from Comanche County had not arrived, so they could not be admitted to the penitentiary.

Neither the penitentiary nor Sheriff Farris said the men were for what offenses the men were sent to the penitentiary.

Sheriff Farris said the men escaped between 9 o'clock and 11 last night, while he was away from the jail, and there was no jailer present; that it might have been possible for an instrument to be slipped through the barred window of the men's cell; that as far as he knows they had no money, and are broke.

He said no Huntsville car has been reported stolen since the escape; that unless someone was waiting for the men, or unless they forced their way into a car, they must still be afoot.

McCarthy Challenges Probers To Reveal Larsen Testimony

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON, June 16. — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today challenged Senate investigators to make public the secret testimony they have received from Emmanuel S. Larsen on the Amerasia case.

McCarthy told reporters that would show "who is telling the truth" in the dispute between him and Deputy Undersecretary of State John E. Peurifoy. Each has accused the other in effect of trying to influence Larsen's testimony.

In a speech last night, McCarthy said Peurifoy had promised free legal advice and loyalty clearance to Larsen, who was a defendant in the 1945 Amerasia stolen documents case, in return for favorable testimony on Capitol Hill.

Peurifoy and Larsen immediately issued denials.

Peurifoy said that furthermore he was informed that McCarthy had hinted he would go easy on Larsen "if he were to testify."

Larsen "if he were to testify, in a way satisfactory to Sen. McCarthy," Peurifoy said his information came from Larsen himself.

Larsen's testimony was taken behind closed doors last May 29 by a Senate foreign relations subcommittee. The group is looking into McCarthy's charges that the State Department is a haven for Communists and Red sympathizers.

McCarthy told reporters today: "This time we can very easily find out who is telling the truth by making the text of Larsen's testimony public."

"They (the committee) never thought it was going to come out. This is one time when there shouldn't be any question as to who is telling the truth."

"They've got the testimony and I invite them to make it public."

Sen. Tydings (D-Md.), the committee chairman, has steadfastly refused to make public most of the Amerasia inquiry testimony, all of which has been taken in closed meetings.

Officials of the Food and Drug administration are known to have told senators behind closed doors that substitution of the cheaper product for butter is very difficult to detect.

They added that past checks by federal and state inspectors indicate that at least 10,000 public eating places will try to sell oleomargarine as butter "in violation of the law."

The officials testified that they expect to uncover in the next year "at least one bootleg ring operating on a large scale and smaller rings delivering colored oleomargarine to the butter market."

Eating places which use oleo must post signs saying so, and each serving must be triangular in shape or labeled as margarine.

Similarly all manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers must identify colored margarine and package it so that it cannot be confused with butter.

Officials said the "expected bootlegging" will be tough to detect and prosecute successfully.

Sheriff's Posse Sets Meeting For Tuesday

A Sheriff's Posse membership meeting has been set for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, M. H. Bennett, president, has announced.

The session has been called to complete arrangements for a trip to Lubbock, Dutch lunch is to be served, the president said. The meeting is scheduled for the clubhouse at the Posse grounds.

FBI Arrests Three On Spying Charge

Further Seizures May Come Soon

By The Associated Press The FBI today arrested a third American accused of passing U. S. secrets to the Klaus Fuchs spy ring for Russia.

FBI agents also arrested a jet scientist an charged him with false swearing he was not a Communist.

Three was evidence in the nation's capital that other arrests were imminent.

Seized in New York City was David Greenglass, 28, a former U. S. Army non-commissioned officer at Albuquerque, N. Mex., where he allegedly filched wartime atomic secrets for Russia.

His arrest followed the FBI's seizure in Syracuse, N. Y., last night of Alfred Dean Slack, a 44-year-old chemist, also linked by the FBI with the Fuchs spy apparatus.

Both allegedly had passed secrets to Harry Gold, Philadelphia now awaiting trial on charges of serving as intermediary between Fuchs and Russian agents. Fuchs, a British atomic scientist, pleaded guilty to espionage and is imprisoned in England.

Almost simultaneously with Greenglass' arrest in New York, west coast FBI agents seized Dr. Sidney Weinbaum, 52, a California Institute of Technology scientist, charged with falsely swearing he had not been a Communist.

Weinbaum, arrested in Pasadena, formerly was with the Institute's jet-propulsion laboratory. The rapid-fire series of arrests came after FBI agents returned last week from London where they had questioned Fuchs.

Fuchs, while serving during the war in this country on the atomic bomb project, has named Gold as his contact with the Red espionage ring.

Greenglass, arrested here on a complaint filed in Albuquerque, N. M., cited this country's wartime alliance with Russia as the explanation for his actions, FBI agents said.

In explaining his purported contacts with Gold, FBI agents quoted Greenglass as saying: "I felt it was gross negligence on the part of the United States not to give Russia the information about the atom bomb because she was an ally."

Saturday Deadline For Filing For Political Office

Last go around for answering the call of the political bee this season turns up Saturday.

That, under the statutes, is the last day in which candidates for county and precinct offices may file with the county chairman for a place on the ballot.

So far there are 49 announced candidates for purely county and precinct offices and seven for district posts. Announcing in a newspaper, however, does not mean they have filed officially.

Before candidates are actually eligible for a place on the ballot, they must file with the county democratic chairman. This must be done not later than Saturday evening. After that time Chairman L. S. Patterson will be able to reveal the prospective list — subject to payment of ballot fees.

Tom Green County Population Rises By 50 Per Cent

SAN ANGELO, June 16. (SpI)—Tom Green County's population increased by approximately 50 per cent in the last 10 years to make the county West Texas' second most populous.

Census officials today announced a county population of 86,500, a gain of 19,268 over 1940 figures. Taylor County, with 63,977, retains its position as largest in West Texas.

Tom Green, however, out-gained Taylor by 358.

Rural population decreased as the overall county count increased. Rural figures now stand at 6,717 as compared to a rural population of 15,500 in 1940.

Other counties as reported by Ralph Trolinger, district census supervisor, were:

Nolan, 19,797, a gain of 2,488 over 17,309 in 1940.

Eastland, 23,754, loss of 6,591 from 30,345.

Jones, 22,072, loss of 1,366 from 23,438.

Fisher, 10,065, loss of 1,947 from 12,012.

HOW TO PUT OUT THE FIRE

Suggestions for extinguishing the oil field fire at the Pan American No. 1 Holly have been coming in from far and wide, an oil company official said this morning.

Little of the advice has been practical, he said. A letter from Camp White, Ore., this morning suggested that fire fighters fashion a block of concrete large enough and heavy enough to smother the blaze.

The letter was addressed to "Oil Well Fire, Big Spring."

That problem was left up to M.

LIFT CENSORSHIP

Troops Have Peru Revolt In Hand

AREQUIPA, Peru, June 16. (AP)—Isolated snipers continued to fire sporadically from rooftops today but Peru's government appeared to have broken the back of a short, bloody revolt.

Government troops were restoring order slowly and in general the situation approached normal. Though the government claimed to have complete control of the situation, the army remained on the alert throughout Peru.

Authorities announced the lifting of censorship, and communications with rest of the country were restored.

Francisco J. Mostajo, named by the government as the leader of the revolt estimated to have resulted in 30 deaths and the wounding of 150 since Wednesday, was released by the army.

Gen. Ernesto Montoza, earlier reported arrested, was said to be in Lima. His status was unclear.

Most other rebels had been released, though a few remained in custody.

(An army broadcast from Arequipa, also heard in a La Paz, said all rebels—including the leaders—would be freed and no reprisals would be made.)

Nearly all the city's businesses were closed by a general strike. Paving block barricades, thrown up during the fighting, still made many streets impassable.

Censorship, lifted for a time yesterday, was reimposed last night. (The army-controlled Radio Landa at Arequipa indicated that fighting still might be threatening or continuing. Broadcasts heard in La Paz said, "if the rebels insist on fighting, the army will pursue to the end.")

Red Ships Reported Ready For Invasion Of Formosa Island

HONG KONG, June 16. (AP)—An armada of Communist ships was reported anchored in the Whangpoo River today ready to sail on Formosa.

The Hong Kong Standard said the armed flotilla—10 tank-landing ships and nine motor landing ships—would hit Formosa quickly.

The newspaper said the armada was capable of conveying 20,000 trained troops. The assault troops were reported by the Standard as fanned out along the confluence of the Whangpoo and Yangtze Rivers.

ARMY TEAM ARRIVES Secret Weapon May Be Used On Blaze

A four-man team of Army Armored Infantrymen fired one round from a 75-millimeter recoilless rifle, one of this country's secret weapons, this morning in an attempt to determine if it could be used to quell the raging oil well fire 25 miles northeast of here.

Major Alexander B. Welcher, leader of the team, described the test as "a complete success." He asked that details of the experiment not be divulged as the recoilless rifle is classified as a secret military weapon.

No decision was reached immediately as to whether the gun would be used in an attempt to free well casing from the substructure of the burned out drilling rig.

That problem was left up to M.

M. Kinley, Houston, veteran oil field fire fighter, a spokesman who asked to remain unidentified, said.

If the rifle is used at all it will be Saturday or possibly Sunday before preparations for the actual firing can be completed, he stated.

Meanwhile, flames continued to roar up from the mouth of the Pan American No. 1 Holly which has been blazing since late last Saturday. No announcement was made as to what the next move would be.

Tired fire fighters knocked off this morning following the test. They were to report back to the well late today.

The brief respite apparently was caused by burning oil which may have been deflected to the windward side of the well when fire raged.

Red Cross Is Ready To Meet Disaster Needs

A clarification of Red Cross activities in time of public emergency was issued Friday by Chapter Chairman Jack Y. Smith.

This was in connection with activities at the burning Borden county oil well, and also in connection with a reference in the Herald Thursday that "such emergency work is usually the job of the American Red Cross."

"I am sure that most people are well aware of the promptness and thoroughness with which the Red Cross acts when there is disaster," Smith said. "This has been proven many times over.

"The fire at the Pan-American Holly well must be classified serious though it may be, as a private emergency. No deaths, injuries or property losses occurred which would necessitate the facilities of the Red Cross. Had such been the case, the Red Cross would have been on the job, both from a local standpoint and from a national standpoint if necessary.

"We feel that most people understand this, but in view of the Red Cross reference in the press, we wanted to make it clear that no situation is overlooked that requires the attention of this organization."

Spray Machines Try To Control Flies, Mosquitoes

Spray machines are being run daily, following a DDT mixture in an effort to control flies and mosquitoes.

City Manager, H. W. Whitney said that operations were being carried on at times of the day when wind velocity was the least. Force of the wind has held activity to a minimum on some days.

Other elements are being used in the DDT spray this year in an effort to get maximum kill in event flies may have built up straight DDT immunity. All garbage cans throughout the downtown and residential areas are being treated with hand spray equipment.

"We don't know what effect this will have," said the manager, "but we are trying. It is not a cure-all, because after all the individual resident plays the biggest role of all in effective control. It won't do us any good to spray if garbage is spilled outside cans or the cans are left open and unprotected."

They accompanied firemen to a minor fire call at 788 1/2 Johnson.

HST Map Fight For Hutchinson After Committee Turns Him Down

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP) — President Truman will have to decide whether he wants a Senate showdown vote on his nomination of Martin A. Hutchinson to be a federal trade commissioner. Sen. Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he will talk to Mr. Truman at the regular White House legislative conference Monday about the Senate Commerce Committee's rejection of Hutchinson's nomination. "I don't know what will happen to the nomination — we'll have to wait and see," Lucas said.

The committee voted 5 to 3 behind closed doors yesterday to recommend to the Senate that it reject the appointment of Hutchinson, who ran against Sen. Byrd (D-Va) for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Virginia in 1946. Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) refused to say how committee members voted. He announced, however, that five had voted to reject the nomination, three to approve it, two responded "present" and three were absent.

It was reported that Sens. Myers (D-Pa.), McFarland (D-Ariz.) and McMahon (D-Conn) supported the nominee, while Sens. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), Magnuson (D-Wash.) and O'Connor (D-Mid) were reported to have voted "present." On the basis of these reports the five "No" votes were cast by Chairman Johnson and four Republican senators, Tobey of New Hampshire, Brewster of Maine, Bricker of Ohio and Williams of Delaware. Byrd and Sen. Robertson (D-Va) have announced they will fight Hutchinson's confirmation, contending that he is not qualified for the post. Against such opposition — and likely Republican support for it — administration leaders admittedly face a tough Senate battle to get Hutchinson confirmed. Mr. Truman seldom gives up on a nominee until he is thoroughly convinced that he hasn't a chance for confirmation.

THE CHANGING SOUTH (5)

Negro Citizens Seize Chance To First Class Citizenship

(Fifth of 12 Articles on the Changing South) By ELM PRICE AP Newsfeatures . . . COLUMBIA, S.C. — The Negro in the south has his feet planted firmly on the political road from second to first class citizenship. Sometimes he takes a broad step, but mostly he just inches along. That he moves at all is a tribute not only to his own efforts, but to the changing attitude of many White southerners who feel the Negro should receive the ballot as a matter of simple justice. One by one, artificial barriers to enfranchisement are toppling. Gone is the discriminatory Bowwell amendment in Alabama which sought to bar the Negro from the polls by leaving it to the discretion of White registrars as to whether he could interpret the Constitution. Likewise, after a long bitter battle he won in federal court the right to participate in South Carolina's real election, the Democratic primary. He has advanced to the point where in every southern state except Mississippi, he votes in the tens of thousands, though there still are rear-guard actions against his mass participation. To the surprise of great many "traditional" southerners, there is a Negro alderman in Winston-Salem, N.C. Richmond, Va., has a Negro city councilman and a Negro state representative. Even here, headquarters for the States Rights Democrats, a Negro undertaker is in the race for city council. Another is running for the council in Chattanooga. Two reportedly may enter the race in Nashville. Here, too, is to be found an aggressive Negro political movement similar to those found in other large southern cities. This one is sparked by editor John McCray of the weekly newspaper, "The Lighthouse and Informer."

WANTS TO MARRY HER

Police Find Cook Under Girl's Bed

MUNICH, Germany, June 16. (AP) — Police caught Homer Cook today under the bed in his German girl friend's apartment, three days after the ex-soldier's third escape from a U. S. Army jail. "I broke out of jail to see my girl," the husky ex-pugilist from Muscogee, Okla., told his captors as he meekly surrendered. Two American military policemen and a German cop arrested the 26-year-old Cook in Munich after receiving a telephone tip. "You don't have to use your pistols on me, boys," the rangy fugitive from 16 Army charges said. His German girl, Anna Sporrer, was absent from the apartment as Cook was seized. His escapades had started when he re-entered Germany illegally, after a bad conduct discharge from the Army, to see her. "I want to marry her," he said after his first arrest. "I missed her again," he muttered today as his captors led him away this morning from the apartment of her aunt. Cook escaped from the library of the Dachau Army stockade last Tuesday while a guard went to look for his relief. For three days he had eluded 3,000 German police and about 30 armed American MPs. He said this morning he went first toward Nuremberg—100 miles south of here — but he refused to say how. Yesterday he was spotted in that area. Hundreds of police sped there. Cook eluded them and made his way back to Munich and to Miss Sporrer's apartment. Only a few hours before he was caught, Miss Sporrer in a broadcast over Radio Munich had urged him to surrender.

Hint Sabotage In Both Air France Crashes

BAHRAIN ISLAND, Persian Gulf, June 16. (AP) — A survivor of Wednesday night's second French airliner crash here says crew members told him the plane's instruments were faulty, showing the plane still 30 feet above the ground when it hit the water. The survivor, Jacques Sangnier, Paris, and his wife were among 13 persons saved from the crash. Thirty-nine persons died in Wednesday's crash. (There were five survivors and 46 persons killed in the mishap to the other Saigon-to-Paris airliner Tuesday.) (Air France officials in Paris and other sources hinted strongly that the two planes were sabotaged by Indochina's Communist-led native rebels.) Sangnier, son of Mrs. Harry Adler of New York, said last night that he and his wife clung to the plane's tail for several hours before they were picked up. About 25 others were clinging to the tail, but "people were washed away as they became exhausted and the waves increased. "Very few had lifebelts," he declared. Sangnier said the "night was clear" and stars could be seen. "The right wing gasoline tank burned fiercely for perhaps half an hour but fortunately it was separated from us." "The crew told us the altimeter was wrong and showed 30 feet when we crashed. We were only nine people left when the launch came and one of these died after supporting his wife for over four hours until rescue came." Sangnier said after the crash the passengers were told to keep their seats but "when the plane began to fill quickly, the rear door next to my wife and me was opened and we clung to the tail."

Sage Says Pacific Haze Only Goddess Of Fire Acting Up

KAHALUU, Hawaii, June 16. (AP) — There's no mystery about the Pacific haze to the sage of Kahaluu. It's just Pele, the Polynesian goddess of volcanoes and volcanic fire, acting up again, says 87-year-old Nahimie Kaeve Kaeumani. He has seen Mauna Loa erupt more times than he can remember. "Five big ones I remember," he said yesterday. "Each time she sent up a big cloud. This is the biggest." "The Goddess Pele is angry with her people for forsaking the old beliefs and slipping into bad modern ways. They make fun of her. They don't take her seriously. This is her way."

Good Way To Stay Out Of Jail Confine

PITTSBURGH, June 16. (AP) — Harold Gilbert, 42, pleaded guilty to stealing a few dollars from a container used to collect funds in the campaign against heart disease. Gilbert's attorney suggested to Judge Michael A. Musmanno that Gilbert be allowed to pay $30 each month to the Pennsylvania Heart Assn. for the next year instead of going to jail. Musmanno agreed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Malachi Pleads For Sincere Religion

Scripture—Malachi By NEWMAN CAMPBELL Malachi last of the minor prophets, and with whose short book the Old Testament closes, uses a different method of pleading with his people to return to Jehovah God of Hosts—than his predecessors—the question and answer system. The people ask questions — through the prophet's lips — then God answers them in the same manner. It is a later way of rationalizing, and of a different manner of presentation than that used in the other books of prophecy. It was characteristic of the day in which the prophecy was given—somewhere between 425 and 400 B. C. The word Malachi means "messenger," in this case, "messenger of the covenant." Some Bible students believe that there was no such prophet of that name, but that the book is a rabbinical message. This was a time of great suffering for the nation of Judah. They may well have questioned Jehovah's love. They had, for 70 years, been slaves of a cruel people—the Ammonites and Samaritans—and after that they were a feeble people. Their crops were carried away by armed marauders, or the seeds washed out by unseasonable rains, or made useless by mildew or drought. Their children were hungry and they had no food to give them. The book begins: "The burden (or subject) of the word of Jehovah to Israel by Malachi. I have loved you, saith Jehovah. Yet ye say, Wherein hast Thou loved us? "Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, profaning the covenant of our fathers?" Jehovah made us brothers—so why do we—today as well as in those ancient times—cheat and steal, deal in all manner of treachery against our brothers? Next Malachi turns to the priests who set a very poor example for the people: "From the days of your fathers ye have turned aside from Mine ordinances, and have not kept them. Return unto Me, and I will return unto you, saith Jehovah of hosts. But ye say, Wherein shall we return. "Will a man rob God? yet ye rob Me, even this whole nation." People were poor. The title of course meant one-tenth of their incomes. They had not been bringing the tenth of their goods to the large chamber where such goods were stored. Bring ye the whole tithing into the store-house," the Lord commanded, "that there may be food in My house, and prove Me now herewith, saith Jehovah of hosts. If I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. "And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground, neither shall your vine cast its fruit before the time in the field, saith Jehovah of hosts. "And all nations shall call you happy; for ye shall be a delightful some land, saith Jehovah of hosts. This time has never come, and all the world is waiting for it, and we hope working for it, in spite of "cold wars" and fears of active ones. At the end of the book of Malachi, God promises to send Elijah, the prophet to call to earth. Elijah was prophesying when his people were totally lacking in faith in God. You remember he was snatched up to heaven in a chariot of fire. The energy and power with which Elijah worked to lead that ungodly generation to the God of their fathers was again needed in Malachi's day. It is needed terribly in our own time to still the warning of war drums and lead us back to God; to insist that all men are brothers and should act as such and make

Oil Fire Shows Own Personality

By WAYLAND YATES
Watching the raging fire boil out of a wild oil well some 25 miles northeast of Big Spring you'd think it had a personality all its own.

As if issuing from the very heart of the earth, the flames leap and roll skyward seeming to enjoy a new-found freedom. You can almost feel their breath as heat from the fire beats down over a three or four hundred yard radius of the well.

The blaze, which billows above the well steadily for a time, occasionally roars up with renewed vigor as escaping oil and gas apparently head in greater volumes. Fanned by a brisk breeze, flames at first roll and twist, then leap upward in a column several hundred feet high.

The rolling fire boils out over the area surrounding the well, Pan American's No. 1 Holly, colored with black whirlpools of smoke as oil and gas burn upward.

Occasionally, puffs of dark gray smoke, actually clouds of vaporized crude oil, break out of the mass of flames only to burst into balls of fire as the wind fans more oxygen into the inferno. Often, the flames disappear inside the tall column of black smoke above the fire before bursting into the clear a hundred or more feet higher up.

The entire column of fire and smoke stands straight up, then mushrooms and bends over with the wind. As all available oxygen is consumed before the gas and oil spouting out of the earth is burned, clouds of fuel often escape to near the top of the column before whipping out of the smoke in flaming tongues.

A horde of small fires burn in the area surrounding the mouth of the well as the stream of oil is broken against the rotor table of the fall rig, spattering through the smoke to be consumed on the ground.

It is against these small blazes that fire fighters direct giant streams of water, pumped from reservoirs hastily dug in the area.

Quenching these small fires and cooling the base of the central blaze, they enable other workers, operating shielded bulldozers, to inch up to the well with grappling hooks to fish for and, if possible, drag out portions of the burned out rig and other equipment.

But the wild oil well fire, probably the biggest blaze of any kind in the area's history, roars on uncontrolled, consuming an unmeasured quantity of oil and gas per hour. Some have guessed 250 barrels of oil per hour—there is no way of knowing. Trained oil field fire fighters who have come up against some of the worst fires in the country wouldn't hazard a guess as to when the Borden well could be brought under control.

They simply worked on as the fire ate into its sixth day, doing what they could and hoping for the break that would enable them to cap the well.

Emergency Milk Deliveries Up In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, June 16. (AP)—Emergency milk deliveries were stepped up today as a strike of 3,250 AFL dairy workers went into their second week.

The strike over new contract demands has shut out all but emergency deliveries to the 2,300,000 residents of Pittsburgh and seven surrounding counties.

In Pittsburgh, about 25,000 emergency cases have been cleared with physicians. AFL Local 205 Milk and Ice Cream Salesmen and Dairy Employees is furnishing men to operate three dairies and about 400 drivers.

There is no sign of an early end to the strike, however, union and industry spokesmen scheduled another negotiating session today.

The industry is standing pat on its position the dispute be submitted to arbitration—without retrocession if pay boosts are granted. The union insists any increase be retroactive to last May 1 when the contract expired.

Only one company has agreed to union demands. It employs only 20 persons.

The union is asking that the work week of inside employees be cut from 48 to 40 hours, with no loss in pay. The industry is offering 48 hours' pay for 44 hours work now with 48 hours pay for 40 hours work effective May 1, 1951.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 16. (AP)—King Gustaf V was 92 today and flung a vial all over Stockholm to celebrate his birthday.

The king presided at the regular Friday cabinet council, but spent the rest of the day in privacy.

Gustaf succeeded to the Swedish throne in 1907 and has had a longer reign than any other Swedish ruler.

Burglar Is Active In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, June 16.—This city's humping burglar finally stumbled into something when he lifted Cecil W. Green's trousers the other night.

This, of course, is assuming that the character is the same. Picking up $1,900 in cash from the Green pants wasn't like the clumsy thief who had been hitting local establishments.

Last Saturday night someone broke in the backdoor of Mert's Grill, rifled the papers of Mert Busch without taking anything. Then the Fortune Curry place east of town was entered. The burglar spent an hour or so using Curry's own acetylene torch to cut out the combination and lock on the safe. He left before opening the strong box. Next morning, using a small prize bar, Fortune Curry employs quickly opened the safe and retrieved upwards of $700 in cash.

Monday night, two more tries were made. Blood was spilled over floors of Rockwell Lumber company as a window pane was smashed. An ancient and unlocked safe yielded $11. The Conoco office on First street was entered. Here the awkward burglar cut his hand again, leaving several pools of blood. He broke his electric grill, used some blasting powder, but to no avail. Frustrated, he tore up the floor, took stamps, check books. The unopened safe contained $360.

Moreover, he took a bonnet belonging to Mrs. Hervet Walden, who is operating the office in the absence of her husband who is in a Veterans Administration hospital. Punier than funnier, Mrs. Walden regarded this as the last straw.

Lodge To Carry GOP Banner In Governor Test Against Bowles

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 16. (AP)—Connecticut Republicans, seeking to oust the Democratic administration of Gov. Chester Bowles and wreck whatever political plans he may have for 1952, pinned their hopes for victory in November to today on a ticket headed by John Davis Lodge.

New York Paper Remains Struck

NEW YORK, June 16. (AP)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun, which suspended publication Tuesday after a strike of editorial and business workers, will not publish today or tomorrow.

Executive Editor Lee B. Wood of the big afternoon daily made the announcement.

Tomorrow will be the fifth day the World-Telegram and Sun has missed all its editions because of the walkout of some 40 CIO American Newspaper Guildmen and the refusal of AFL mechanical employees to cross guild picket lines.

The striking editorial and commercial employees seek increased wages and other contract benefits.

This refusal last night caused the Publishers Assn. of New York City to break off contract negotiations with the local AFL printers union. The association accused the union of a "deliberate violation" of its work contract by declining to walk through the picket lines.

Economy Group Raises Demand For More Cuts

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 16.—Warning that there are dangers of inflation, the Senate-Economic Committee has raised a demand for "relentless" cuts in the government's in-the-red spending.

The committee issued a report yesterday signed by its eight Democrats, while the six Republicans on the committee filed a separate finding of their own.

Even the Democrats failed to endorse President Truman's plea for a net increase in taxes. They did ask for some excise tax cuts, and said also:

"In years of such booming business as currently is causing prices to boil up in an inflationary manner throughout the country, this government should not be incurring deficits."

Mr. Truman asked last January for cuts in excise taxes, to be balanced by additional revenues from other sources—plus an additional billion dollars, mainly from higher corporation taxes, to help trim the federal deficit.

The congressional committee's report dealt with the President's annual economic message, which he also delivered to Congress in January.

Except possibly to boost the morale of the congressional economy bloc, the committee's report was expected to have little effect on legislation, for these reasons:

1. For the third straight year, the advisers of Congress on economic matters divided on strictly political lines.
2. The report was 3 1/2 months late; it was due on March 1. By this time it cannot sway many votes.
3. The Democratic majority took no flat stand for or against any of Mr. Truman's specific proposals, though Chairman O'Mahoney said its report, "broadly speaking, endorses the objectives of the President's message."

Sen. Taft, top-ranking GOP member, said Republicans could agree with most of the economic findings of the majority, but could not endorse a White House message "which is predominantly political."

East Germany Will Have Sea-Going 'People's Police'

BERLIN, June 16. (AP)—East Germany's Communist government is going to have a sea-going "people's police" force.

It will be part of the force which the West charges is an illegal army.

The Soviet-licensed ADN News Agency says the new navy police will operate in the Baltic to protect fishing fleets, mark channels for foreign ships, guard against smuggling—and "protect democratic achievements."

Police Seeking Top Opera Figure

LOS ANGELES, June 16. (AP)—Police have been called in to aid private detectives in the search for Opera Singer Anna Cuyler, 52.

Her mother, Mrs. Ella L. Thompson, 86, reported that her daughter, whose real name is Dorothy, was seen May 29 at a Pasadena hotel. She said her daughter told her she feared Communists and that she had been moving from one hotel to another in recent months to avoid unknown enemies.

LOS ANGELES, June 16. (AP)—Injuries sustained last week in an automobile accident have caused the death of Jake Katieman, 51-year-old Las Vegas, Nev., gambling figure.

Katieman succumbed Wednesday night in queen of Angels Hospital. He was principal stockholder in the El Rancho Vegas Hotel and maintained interests in Las Vegas gambling casinos. His widow, Libby, survives. Funeral services were scheduled today in the chapel at Hollywood Cemetery.

PAC Rally To Open Joint Union Voting

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 16.—The CIO's Political Action Committee whipped up a big pep rally for the approaching elections today.

Joseph D. Keenan, director of the AFL's Political League, was a major cheer leader in a day long schedule for 300 to 500 top officers and workers of the CIO-PAC.

It was the first time that CIO-PAC political co-operation has reached a point where a top figure in either of the big labor federations was invited to address a national meeting of a rival organization.

In this connection, the AFL and CIO are preparing to meet for merger talks, probably in July.

Concluding the day's rally, delegates were invited to a party on the south lawn of the White

ANTI-TRUST SUIT

Electrical Group Indicted By U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—An anti-trust indictment against a Texas AFL union and electrical contractor's association has been announced by Atty. Gen. McGrath. A federal grand jury at El Paso returned the indictment, McGrath said yesterday.

Named defendants were the West Texas-New Mexico Chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Assn., its assistant manager, seven members of the chapter, Local Union 460 of the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the local's business manager. The union has headquarters at Midland.

The specific charge against the group was conspiracy to restrain trade in the sale of electrical equipment. According to the indictment, the defendants agreed among themselves which electrical contractor would submit the low bid when bids were called for this type of work, and that higher, "dummy" bids were submitted by the other contractors.

The indictment also charged that the association expelled or forced to resign "any member who did not conform to the terms of the conspiracy," and that the local union would not furnish union labor to any electrical contractor in the Midland-Odessa area which did not belong to the association.

Business agent of the local was listed as Frank W. Robinson of Midland.

In addition to the West Texas-New Mexico chapter of the association, the local and Robinson, the department said the following were named in the indictment:

Edward Stout, assistant chapter manager, Lubbock, Southwest Electrical Service, Odessa.

Paul F. Busch of Paul F. Busch Electrical Construction and Engineering Co., Odessa.

Jack H. Childress of Permian Electric Co., Odessa.

Alton Cook of Cook Electric Co., Kermitt.

W. R. Fairbairn of City Electric Co., Odessa.

Louis H. Posey of Posey Electric Co., Odessa.

AT BIG SPRING CHURCHES

Worship Meetings Sunday Open New First Christian Church Building

A new chapter will be opened Sunday morning in the history of the First Christian church of Big Spring. Members will meet for worship services for the first time in the new building on the corner of Gollad and 10th streets. The meetings will be held in Fellowship Hall of the educational building since construction on the sanctuary has not been completed. The move was made from the building at 411 Scurry before the completion of the new building so that the YMCA might move into the former church. Plans now are for the entire church to be completed by early fall at which time dedication services will be held.

The new building will be the third structure to be occupied by the local First Christian church. Following organization in 1882 in the I. D. Eddins home with seven charter members, the group expanded and meetings were held in the school building that later became the Towler Hotel. In 1884 the group held a revival in the school building but this met with the ire of an unsympathetic official who nailed up the windows and doors. Evacuation from the building caused members to build the first church building at the corner of Fourth and Gregg streets. This building was outgrown in 1925 and a larger building was constructed at the corners of Scurry and Fifth streets. Expansion continued and the new chapter is begun with the moving to a new home on Gollad.

"God Has Set An Open Door Before Us" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Lloyd Thompson at the morning worship hour. The Rev. Thompson will tell how "with new facilities, we have greater opportunities for service." At the evening worship hour the pastor will speak on the subject, "Continuing Fellowship." Sunday school will be at 9:45, morning worship at 10:50 and the evening service at 8 p.m.

An open-air revival will begin Sunday evening at the Trinity Baptist church and continue until June 25. The Pastor Marvin Clark will speak at the services which will be held at the corner of 7th and Johnson streets. At the opening service of the revival, Pastor Clark will speak on the subject, "Things We May Expect To See From Now On Until Jesus Comes." All services will begin at 8 p.m.

At the 10 o'clock Sunday school hour the 7th and 8th chapters of the book of Joshua will be studied. The pastor will be heard on the subject, "The Shepherd Work of Christ" at the 11 o'clock worship hour.

"Unborn Man Forgotten" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. G. G. Lloyd at the 11 o'clock worship hour of the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Joe F. Brooks will sing "I Love Thy Presence Lord," by Beverly Shea.

At the evening worship hour, which begins at 8 p. m. the pastor will speak on the subject, "The Two Debtors."

"God Invites You, How Will You Answer?" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Ad H. Hoyer at the 11 o'clock worship hour of St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday morning. Sunday school will begin at 10 o'clock.

At 8:30 p.m. members of the Ladies' Aid will be hostesses at a social on the church grounds for their families and friends. Bible school exhibits will be on display at the church at this time.

Mrs. G. B. Walters will preach at the morning worship hour of the Main Street Church of God and Pete Hickson will serve as pulpit chairman. The Rev. John E. Kolar is attending the International Convention in Anderson, Ind.

Sunday school will be at 9:45 under the direction of Georgia Stroope and Youth Fellowship will start at 8:45 p.m.

Johnny Spears will be the speaker at the 7:45 o'clock evening worship hour.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist and in the local reading room at 217 1/2 Main Street, Sunday morning.

The Golden Text is: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was God... All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made" (John 1:1-9).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be still and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth" (Psalms 46:10).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Belief is changeable, but spiritual understanding is changeless (page 96)."

The Sunday service is at 11 a. m. and the Wednesday service begins at 8 p. m.

"What Manner Of Persons Ought We To Be" will be the sermon title of Dr. P. D. O'Brien at morning service of the First Baptist church Sunday. Scriptural references will be to II Peter 3:11.

A religious motion picture will be projected at the church at 4 p. m.

At the evening service the pastor will speak on the subject "They Have Taken Away My Lord" from John 20:13.

The Rev. Alsis Carleton will be heard on the subject, "Being A Good Father" at the morning worship hour of the First Methodist church. Special music will be rendered by the men of the choir.

"You Can't Get Rid Of God" will be the sermon topic of the pastor at the evening service. Special music will be by the junior high department. All MYF groups will convene at 7 p. m. to view a 45 minute film.

At the Wesley Methodist church, the Rev. C. C. Hardaway will speak on the subject, "The Christian Heart of Carle" at the morning worship hour.

MYF groups, young adults, seniors, intermediates and juniors, will meet at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. The evening service will begin at 7:45. "The Bonds of the Spirit" will be the sermon topic of the pastor at the evening worship hour.

The Rev. James S. Parks, pastor, will speak at the 11 o'clock worship hour and at the 8 o'clock evening service of the East Fourth Street Baptist church.

THROUGH A GLASS... DARKLY

She's frightened. She's seeing the world for the first time through dark glasses.

It's no wonder you and I are frightened. Ever since we were old enough to reason, we have been seeing the world through dark glasses. It's just as Paul said:

"Now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face."

We spend our years wondering why things happen as they do... why hatred flourishes and love withers... why sorrow seems inevitable and joy so rare. Apparently, we were not meant to understand... not here!

Some truths God has revealed to us; these our Churches teach. Other truths God will not reveal until another day; to prepare us for that day our Churches strive.

Until at length we gain that complete vision, we are happiest and strongest when we live faithfully in the truth already revealed. Even with dark glasses a man can see as long as he walks toward the Light.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship, strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his community and nation. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

First Baptist Berta Beckett Class Has Monthly Luncheon On Thursday

Berta Beckett Class of the First Baptist held their monthly luncheon at the church Thursday.

Mrs. Harry Billington of Stanton brought the devotional following the luncheon. She read her favorite chapter in the Bible, John 14, and then told the group how a person's favorite chapter "meets the special need in his or her life". Mrs. Billington read verses from the 15 and 16th chapters of John and concluded her talk with the reading of John 16:33. "These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace." Mrs. Vera Hubbell offered the prayer at the conclusion of the devotional. Mrs. Hubbell, mother of Mrs. J. B. Langston, was presented a gift by the class. She is leaving Big Spring, after a stay of several months, for Leon, Iowa. The members observed moments of silence in honor of Mrs. B. Reagan, departed member, and offered a special prayer for the B. Reagan family.

Mrs. L. S. Patterson offered the closing prayer.

The decorative theme of a "June Wedding" was used in the luncheon table decor. The two long tables were covered with white damask cloths with center runners of entwined ivy. Pink and white lighted tapers were placed alternately along the table centers. Between the candles were arrangements of baby breath and pink and white carnations in crystal containers. The crystal candle holders and crystal containers were placed on white dollys over pink. The head table featured small archways banked with greenery. The center archway was topped with a white wedding bell and figurines of a bride and groom stood underneath. Napkins were white with silver wedding bells and touches of the colors, pink and blue.

Mrs. W. R. Douglas was in charge of the decorations. Attending the luncheon were Mrs. J. F. Sellers, Mrs. W. R. Douglas, Mrs. L. M. Gary, Mrs. Tom Cantrell, Mrs. Inez Lewis, Mrs. C. C. Coffee, Mrs. J. G. Hull, Mrs. R. V. Jones, Mrs. J. H. Greene, Mrs. Harry Billington, Mrs. Sue Gibson, Mrs. Vera Hubbell, Mrs. L. S. Patterson, Mrs. Dollie Anderson, Mrs. J. P. Dodge and Mrs. Della K. Agnell.

Mrs. David Barlow Honored During Visit

Mrs. David Horton Barlow, the former Cornelia Frazier, was honored with a gift tea in the home of Mrs. T. A. Harris, 1819 Martha, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Anna Lee Sanders was co-hostess.

Guests were received by Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Sanders, the honoree and Mrs. Nell Frazier, mother of the honoree. Robbie Piner and Mrs. Jack McDaniel also assisted in receiving guests. Mrs. J. B. Frazier presided at the bride's book. Mrs. Gene Fletcher displayed the gifts.

Members of the house party wore corsages of white Marconi daisies. The refreshment table was laid with a handmade Irish linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli placed in a white container. A parasol of white ruffled maline shaded the center-piece.

Various arrangements of gladioli, stock and carnations were placed at vantage points throughout the receiving rooms.

Approximately 75 guests called during the evening.

Mrs. David Barlow was named honoree at a cake party and personal shower in the home of Mrs.

James Bruce Frazier, 901 E. 10th, Wednesday morning. Mrs. Jack McDaniel served as co-hostess.

The serving table was centered with an arrangement of pastel shades of daisies.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS By Mildred Young

This department is very interested in locating some of the people who are planning vacations within the next two or three weeks, especially those who are going out of state or out of the nation. Please call us Saturday or Monday morning if you're planning a trip.

All is beginning to be rather quiet on the Big Spring club scene. We did hear a telephone conversation yesterday, something about making program plans for the coming year. It's not too early to make those plans for fall. And it seems a good idea to make your plans with time and thought.

Incidentally, we still want to talk to all club reporters, and we still think that it's important.

Notice by the papers that within the next 30 years, all of our incomes will be doubled. We're rather skeptical of that idea, but if it does come true, we'll probably still be living beyond our means.

Bought your "Pop anything for Father's Day? It's getting a little late in the day, so you'd better start shopping. Funny, but when a lot of people, especially women start shopping for "Pop" they immediately think of ties. Don't know why except that men's ties like women's hats, seem to be rather fascinating.

Don't know about you, but we are finding it harder and harder to get up in the mornings. One doesn't seem to notice one's need for a vacation until the heat really arrives.

As President of the Women's Division, Charter 56, Mrs. Elliott has made an outstanding record, the Women's Division winning the International trophy for securing the most new members for the year 1948-50 and receiving recognition in several other fields.

A Bible Thought For Today -

Few mortals escape the fires of trial. It burns out impurities and dross. We will profit by these experiences if we are real men and women. "Thou O God, has proved us; thou hast tried us, as silver is tried."—Ps. 66:10.

Uncertainty Of Conditions Make Acreage Vital To This Region

A protest has been lodged with the House Agriculture subcommittee by Rep. George Mahon of the 19th Texas congressional district concerning a proposed cotton acreage bill.

Under terms of the measure before the committee headed by Rep. Pace of Georgia, Mahon said the 19th district—one of the major producing districts in the nation would be deprived of 355,000 acres next year.

The district now has an allotment of 1,300,000 acres. A 15 per cent plus cut off that would be "a drastic shock to the economy of the area," according to the congressman. Pace's answer this was that it had not been intended that Texas come under the California proviso of the law (for new producers); that Texas had received 355,000 more acres than the committee had intended.

We don't know what the Pace bill provides for the deep South and the delta areas. Heretofore, they have hardly been the ones to suffer most from acreage slashes. This is because it is possible in those areas to step up production by intensive farming and use of fertilizers.

Out here in West Texas we are dependent upon the weather and upon extensive cultivation for our yields. Another heavy rain right at this moment would mean that we wouldn't be able to use even a major portion of our currently allotted acreage. Were that the case, we would need every acre we could get allotted to cotton next year to make it up. Uncertainties of the seasons in this region make a robust acreage highly desirable as a long-range policy.

Bigotry Frequently Displayed In The Name Of Opposing It

Coals from the recent FEPC battle in the Senate still lie smoldering. Congress escaped a filibuster on the measure, perhaps for the session, but recent decisions of the Supreme Court, plus the political wampum back of the issue makes it probable it will be back for consideration in due time.

There are some very definite angles to the FEPC, even in its denatured form, which make it impractical and contributory to an effect opposite of that which it hopes to attain.

Supporters of it have sought to make it a criterion for liberalism. The fact that while it possesses idealism on one hand but strikes at freedom of enterprise on the other does not soften their wrath of those who might oppose. Nor does the record of anyone on other issues have any bearing. For instance, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who has opposed strongly the FEPC, has favored abolishing the poll tax. But because he bucks the FEPC, self-appointed liberals who sense in the issue a good Negro vote-getter have him on the black list. Thus, they display more bigotry and vindictiveness than exists in conditions they attack.

In a recent statement, Dr. Howard W. Odum, University of North Carolina pointed out that it is intellectual immaturity to assume that old ideas and even prejudices "have been put on purpose like a garment—and that a simple edict from Congress will cast off the garment and make the people over."

Girls Try Too Hard To Look Like A Photographer's Model

NEW YORK, N. Y.—THOUSANDS OF beautiful girls try each year to get a foothold in the glamorous business of modeling.

And you could flush Fifth Avenue with the tears of those who fail. What is the thing that defeats most of them?

"They come in wearing nice hats and three pairs of gloves," says Joan and Tony Webster, a young couple who operate the Society of Models, Inc., a talent agency.

THIS IS THEIR WAY OF SAYING THE girls set phony instead of acting themselves.

"They have stylized walks and stylized hair-styles that make them all look alike," said Tony, a former radio writer who flew an artillery C-47 scouting plane in Europe during the war.

"If Groucho Marx is making money, every comedian wants to grow a moustache. It's that way in this business. The girls try too hard trying to look the way they think a professional model ought to."

The result? They become stilted caricatures. They gain a fake poise—and lose their own real poise.

"THE PHOTOGRAPHERS ARE INUNDATED with pretty girls of this type," Tony continued. "When they see a girl with real individuality and charm, they pounce on her. It's her naturalness that pays off."

There's an old wisecrack that you can tell a man who's out of work because he dresses, so neatly. It's that way in modeling, too.

"One of the top girl models—she makes up to $500 a week—comes to work wearing glasses and with her hair in curlers," said Tony.

Russia Expected To Oppose U. S. Troops In Japan After Treaty

U. S. SECRETARY OF DEFENSE Johnson and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, are due to arrive in Tokyo in a few days for a conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and the red-hot question of an early Japanese peace treaty is expected to feature the discussions.

One uses the term "red-hot" advisedly. America's dominating influence in this island empire, and Washington's obvious determination to continue protection of U. S. interests, is a circumstance which has been causing bitterness in Soviet quarters.

The reason of course, is that Nippon is a key position in the Far East, both militarily and economically. At this writing there is small chance indeed that any treaty can be drawn up to suit both America and Russia. And the answer to that would seem to be that the U. S. A., and the other western allies will have to go ahead on their own.

MACARTHUR HAS BEEN INSISTING that an early treaty is essential. Not only is it necessary for the solving of economic problems, but the General maintains that military occupation loses its effectiveness in three to five years. This being so, American occupation is nearing the end of its full usefulness.

That doesn't mean MacArthur proposes the complete withdrawal of American troops. On the contrary it is understood he believes that the military defense of Japan calls for the presence of U. S. forces, and that they also are necessary to prevent the Communists from seizing power.

Moreover, MacArthur, and many other American military experts, maintain that Japanese bases are vital for the outer ring of defenses of the United States. This is a thesis which is giving rise to considerable argument pro and con, some experts maintaining that the Philippines provide sufficient protection.

IN THIS CONNECTION I BELIEVE IT was Gen. George Marshall, former U. S. chief of staff and later secretary of state, who once remarked that under modern conditions peak-war could be maintained in only five areas, and Japan was one of these. The others were the United States, Britain, Russia, and Germany. This estimate, of course, took into account industrial facilities and manpower, among other things.

Word from Tokyo is that the Japanese government is willing to have American troops stay on after the projected treaty is signed. Moreover, informed sources in the Japanese capital say the government would also agree to maintain bases required by American forces.

Naturally Russia can be expected to battle any such set-up to a finish. Just as America and the western allies need Japan for defense against the Communist offensive in Southeast Asia, so do the Muscovites need it if they are to succeed in their conquest of the Far East.

AMERICA IS HARDLY LIKELY TO surrender the advantage which she now holds in Japan in face of the Soviet's Asiatic drive which, if successful would be followed by an intensification of the cold war against the western world. As a matter of fact, the western authorities can maintain that the manner in which Japan was forced to surrender in the world war gives Russia no grounds for special privileges.

It will be recalled that Russia didn't enter the war against Japan until after America had dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima Aug. 6. The second bomb struck Nagasaki on Aug. 9, and it was on this day that Moscow decided to join in against Japan. On Aug. 14 the Nipponese agreed to surrender.

That is not to detract from the gallant services of Russia in other theatres of the world war. It merely means that the burden of the fight against Japan proper was carried by others who now feel that they have special claims.

U. S. Boosts Eating

NEW YORK—Americans have more than doubled their consumption of canned fruits and vegetables in the past 25 years, says the American Can Co. At the same time they have increased their use of fresh fruits and vegetables.

In 1923, the average American ate 39 pounds of canned fruits and vegetables. Last year the figure was 83 pounds. In 1923 the figure for the fresh variety was 236 pounds. Now it is 385 pounds.

Rhode Island Grand Jury Condemns Bielaski Telephone Wire Tapping

WASHINGTON—Discovery that GOP Senators Brewster of Maine and Ferguson of Michigan tapped the telephone wires of California airplane manufacturer Howard Hughes has had two interesting aftermaths.

1. Charles Dillon, who this column revealed had made a recording of his conversation with NBC Vice President Frank McCull, has now been asked to resign as head of the defense department's radio section. Apparently two Republican senators can get away with tapping telephones and planting dictaphones, but a bureaucrat can't.

2. The Senate has in its files an interesting report on Frank Bielaski, the wire-tapper in the Amerasia case in which a Rhode Island grand jury accuses him of practicing a "highly un-American action" and of "emulating the vicious gestapo of Germany and the abhorrent OGPU of Russia."

The full Senate report on Bielaski on the Rhode Island wire-tapping is signed by Republican Sen. Chan Gurney of South Dakota and Ex-Sen. Wallace White of Maine, along with three Democrats, and is dated 1949.

Yet now, a majority of Senate Republicans have been backing this same wire-tapper, and demanding that those involved in the Amerasia case be prosecuted—even though the evidence against them was obtained by wire-tapping methods and illegal search which would not stand up in court.

Here is what a Rhode Island Grand jury said about Bielaski when he was hired by Republican Gov. William H. Vanderbil of Rhode Island to tap the phones of another Republican, Attorney General Louis Jaskovny, and Mayor McCoy of Pawtucket:

"We condemn most emphatically the surreptitious practices, the unethical methods and highly un-American actions of Mr. Bielaski and others associated with him in wire-tapping in Rhode Island, who would emulate the vicious gestapo of Germany and the abhorrent OGPU of Russia."

"Mr. Bielaski and his associates have willfully and deliberately endeavored to arrogate to themselves the supreme power over the privacy of the homes and offices of law-abiding residents; and Mr. Bielaski has with-out shame or contrition boasted of wire-tapping—a course of conduct sufficiently reprehensible as to have been described by the late Judge Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States Supreme Court as 'dirty business.'"

"The Bielaski report recommended that the attorney general and this grand jury should use certain evidence in the possession of Mr. Bielaski, which evidence involved the personal lives of some public officials and of private individuals and which evidence is not in and of itself a violation of law, in a move calculated to force these individuals under threat of exposure to testify as to certain matters of which the agents hoped these witnesses had knowledge. Like the sword of Damocles, this threat was to be used as a club over the heads of these individuals to compel them by methods, most base and despicable, to give testimony of which they may not have the slightest knowledge or inkling, merely to satisfy the whims and capricious pleasures of these unprincipled plebeians."

"Such procedure would be repulsive and nauseating to us. In our opinion it would be worse than the third degree methods of unscrupulous police, a practice now happily discarded and removed from modern police activity. Intimidation and threats of exposure advocated by Mr. Bielaski may have been in vogue in Czaristic Russia and may still be employed by the secret police of dictator nations, but they have no place in this country; they are not consistent with American ideals and American spirit; they are not in accord with our sense of fairness and decency; and they do not conform with the functions of a grand jury, as we conceive them."

Last summer, with thousands of Americans going to Europe, alert Barry Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal on leave to help administer the Marshall Plan, inspired a booklet to American tourists reminding them that each of them was an individual ambassador of good will.

What most people don't realize is that the United States as a whole is judged by the behavior of American tourists abroad; therefore, the Marshall Plan administrators quite correctly reminded them of that fact.

This summer the tourist travel will be heavier than ever, and one group which is taking its unofficial diplomatic responsibilities seriously is the Newman Club Federation, composed of 3,000 Catholic college students.

Traveling not only to Rome, but through France, Switzerland and Germany, they will be in contact with student groups in those countries and will endeavor to organize friendship clubs for the exchange of letters, books, magazines.

This is a far more important service than most people realize. For merely dumping food in Europe, or sending material goods under the Marshall plan is chalked up by Europeans as a cold-blooded bid to win cannon-fodder against Russia. Personal contact, on the other hand, is genuinely appreciated and really wins friends for the future.

This was what the American Legion recognized when it started its tide of toys to Europe. For Europe's next generation can be our best friends or the enemy soldiers of tomorrow.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

When Mrs. Roosevelt and her party of five, now touring Europe, visit American Minister Perle Mesta in Luxembourg, Mrs. Mesta plans to move out. This is by no means a snub to the most famous American lady, but just because there aren't enough rooms in the legation. . . . Political scouts in Missouri during the President's visit didn't like to be too blunt about it, but they found that Truman's hand-picked candidate for the Senate, Emory Allison, is having a tough time. Former Congressman Tom Hennings, also a Democrat, has the edge. . . . Secretary of Defense Johnson and General Bradley will tour the North Atlantic Pact countries the last two weeks of September, then bring all the defense ministers back with them for a military orientation course in this country. . . . One reason for the Puerto Rican air tragedy in the charter plane off Miami was that none of the American crew could speak Spanish. When engine trouble developed, the Puerto Ricans became hysterical and the American crew could not quiet them.

Hollywood—Bob Thomas

TV Uses 60 Old Films Each Week

HOLLYWOOD. While the cinema side of Hollywood is turning out seven or eight crisp new pictures a week, television is sipping up 60 oldies.

The feature films you see at home have lost their box-office appeal. They're strictly for the archives. Otherwise TV wouldn't get 'em. And yet these venerable flickers are earning higher fees for third and fourth TV showings than they did for first video runs.

People will still look at them—if they don't have to buy tickets.

Such is the paradox that has developed from the refusal of major studios to provide television with reasonably recent pictures. But can you blame the movie producers? Film companies have fortunes invested in cinema houses. Are they going to dump these theaters in favor of the living room circuit? Not any sooner than they have to.

Even old films are in short supply. Heaviest user of pictures among the seven local TV stations is KECA, the ABC network outlet. George Boggs, ABC director of film programs, says he uses 50,000 feet of film a week—features, shorts, westerns, comedies, commercials.

None of the networks makes its own feature films for television. They may, later. A couple have acquired old movie studios. Independent TV movie producers can't begin to meet the demand, at prices today's sponsors will pay.

Altrusans Seek Good Through Leadership Among The Women

"Altrusa believes it is not enough to be good; Altrusans must be good for something. Each member must be doing the piece of work that is hers in a way that puts her in the front ranks of accomplishment."

That's one of the principles of the Altrusa club which will soon have an organization here. Though this principle is listed as number twelve, it is one which could well be first on the list. Too many people think they have something to brag about when they have succeeded only in doing nothing which is a discredit to their name. We don't seem to be stacking up accomplishments to our credit, but we're of the opinion that if we had a choice of doing nothing or placing a few blots near our name, we had just about as soon place the blots.

But back to the Altrusa organization, which happens to be a woman's service club, as you may know. One of the ways in which Altrusans are attempting to be good for something is through their leadership in attempting to secure worthwhile places for women in business and the professions. From reports we have received, they "believe that the way to progress lies not in emphasizing the faults of men and their failure to give proper recognition, at times, to women in business, but rather in arousing women to their responsibilities and their possibilities, so that their accomplishments will blaze the trail for greater things."

We think that's another good point in the Altrusa principles. Though we know that women are often placed on lower salary scales and not given some advantages sometimes which men are given in business and professions, we are also of the opinion that they are not always doing their part toward getting the advantages.

There's something in being good for something, regardless of who you are, MILDRED YOUNG

Senate Parliamentarian Must Have Impartiality Of Solomon

WASHINGTON, D. C.—CHARLES L. WATKINS is a thin, mild man who holds a job in which he's supposed to have the impartiality of Solomon.

He must be doing all right because he's had his job a long time in a place where tempers are short and suspicions sharp.

Watkins, who is 70, is the Senate parliamentarian. In fact, he's the only full time parliamentarian the Senate ever has had.

In this job he's supposed to walk down the middle, looking neither at the Democrats nor Republicans, while unscrambling the senators from their own red tape, of which there is plenty.

Until 1883 the Senate had 44 rules. In that year, in what must have been an economy wave, the Senate reduced its rules from 44 to 40.

IT STILL HAS THE SAME 40 AND IT does its business according to those rules. Any time a senator acts contrary to what another senator thinks one of the 40 rules means, his hand is called.

And, since Democrats and Republicans are always pulling the rule book on one another, there's work for Watkins.

In short, he's supposed to help straighten them out on what the rules mean. At this point maybe you're thinking:

"Well, if there are only 40 rules, don't they need Watkins?"

In the first place, the 40 rules cover about 30 pages in a booklet called the "Senate Manual."

All the senators know them all by heart? It's safe to say no senator knows the 40 rules by heart. Not even Watkins, who knows them inside out, can recite them word for word.

FURTHER, THERE'S A LITTLE thing, but a very important one, called "precedent," which concerns what previous Senates did about a certain rule.

Although all 40 rules have remained in force, down through the years the various Senates have modified most of them by deciding a rule really meant this or really meant that.

So, when the present Senate gets into a dispute about a rule, if it knows the precedents on that rule it can follow them. Or it can shoot off in another direction, set a new precedent.

The trouble is: Those precedents never have been gathered together except in Watkins' head and his own typewritten notes.

HE HAS GONE BACK TO 1883 IN THE Congressional Record — the daily journal of the Senate's doings — and read every page of every day the Senate has been in session since that time.

He had to do it that way because every dispute about a rule was buried between tons of oratory, copies of bills, and the other stuff that gets printed daily in the Journal.

Watkins took full notes on every dispute and now has 19 fat volumes of them in his office. Even so, his records go only from 1883 to 1932. He hopes to bring the precedents up to date.

Then, he expects the Senate will have this whole history of precedents printed by the government printer for the use of future Senates.

WATKINS, BORN IN ARKANSAS, GOT his first Senate job as a clerk on June 15, 1915. At that time the assistant secretary of the Senate was doubling as parliamentarian. For eight years Watkins sat beside him, listening to him discourse on rules.

Then in 1923 when this man became sick, Watkins was made acting parliamentarian. In 1925 the Senate made him "official" parliamentarian, the first time that had happened. His assistant is Edward Hickey, who may succeed him some day.

(The House parliamentarian is Lewis Descher. He's had that job since 1928. Being a much younger man than Watkins, he may wind up having been a parliamentarian longer.)

Senators Watch Own Interests In Battle Over Rent Control

WASHINGTON—Self-preservation is the first law of politics as well as nature. Rarely has this cardinal tenet of the politician's creed been better illustrated than in the present Senate fight over rent control.

Visions of committee chairmanships and the other juicy perquisites of congressional office danced in the heads of Democratic conservatives when they solidly backed Majority Leader Lucas against recommending the rent control bill.

Senator Lucas had put it to them bluntly. He and Whip Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, possibly others, stood to lose thousands of votes unless rent control is extended beyond the election. This off-year contest will be close all down the line; it represents the only real chance in four years that Republicans have to control the Senate and they are giving it their all. If Lucas, Myers and a few others bite the dust, Republicans will get the committee chairmanships, patronage, cozy hideaways within the capitol, and so on.

The bill itself is sufficiently cynical to induce cynicism. It extends federal control for six months—just beyond the election—with an optional six months for those cities which ask for it in December. If it were not for the election it would not stand a chance with the conservative coalition of Republicans and Southerners who control on controversial issues.

But Mister Rayburn of Texas likes being Speaker of the House. Those nine conservatives including seven Southerners who have important Senate committees enjoy power. So do the 13 conservatives including 12 Southerners who run 13 out of 19 House committees.

Senator Lucas cannot obtain in the final vote all the votes he got against recommending. About five to seven senators have previous pledges to vote no. But in this group, Senators George and Russell of Georgia, perhaps others, are hunting dead pairs in further obedience to the old school tie.

The six Republican votes against recommending also bear traces of what the politicians prefer to regard as enlightened self-interest. Candidates Donnell of Missouri and Millikin of Colorado, who normally bracket New Deal measures with original sin, said their noses loud and clear.

Under these circumstances the Cain filibuster is not popular. The theory of the others is that the Senator from Washington well understands that he is merely being obstructive with no chance of final success. Even defenders of the filibuster principle pronounce the deadly judgment that he is a bore.

A real question exists, of course, about whether this kind of thing is good politics. The problem of rent in crowded industrial areas is real enough even five years after the war, as some states like New York recognize by passing rent-control legislation of their own. But present maneuvers represent decidedly unsuitable gunfights to what is presumably an educated electorate.

Boy King Is Artist

LONDON—Faisal, 15-year-old king of Iraq, has been spotlighted in the role of artist. The King, a student at Harrow boys' school, had three pictures on view in an exhibit sponsored by the Anglo-Arab Association.

They were a landscape in chalk, another subject in water colors and an abstraction in oils.

fighters grappled in the flames in an attempt to remove more of the debris. The outer fringe of the fire was expected to burn itself out by late afternoon.

"We've been up against a tremendous task here, and have Kinley, the best in the business, to fight the blaze," a Pan-American official stated. "We have conferred with top military specialists to see if they could suggest some method that's never been tried before."

The Army team flew into Big Spring last night aboard a chartered plane from Camp Hood. They brought along a bazooka, two-man anti-tank rocket launcher, and the recollapsible rifle.

Members of the group, in addition to Maj. Welch, are Sgt. L. Fred McCutcheon, Sgt. Albert J. Gonsullivan, and Corp. S. C. Nicholson.

They arrived at the scene of the fire about 6 a. m. and set up the weapon near the flaming well for the test shot. The single round was fired about 9:30 a. m.

Cutting torch welding workmen destroyed all evidence of the projectile's effect as soon as Kinley and oil company representatives had inspected its target.

Appearance of the Army specialists on the scene apparently heightened interest in the southeastern Borden county fire. A television newscast cameraman from Fort Worth arrived this morning, as did cameramen from area newspapers. A Paramount news photographer has been at the well all week. There were reports that a Saturday Evening Post representative had been there.

Emergency food service continued and an ambulance was standing by constantly. Other than the fatal burning of Jack Morris Bristow, 28-year-old Monahan's geologist when the blaze was touched off Saturday night, no serious injuries have occurred.

McCluskey, Yater Draw Total Fines Of $250 Today

Fines totalling $250 and costs were meted out to two men, Aubrey McCluskey and Wesley Yater, in county and justice court this morning.

McCluskey and Yater were both charged with aggravated assault in connection with a fight with a city policeman, C. C. Arnold, which occurred at a local tavern last December. The officer was off duty at the time.

The two changed their plea to "guilty" and went before County Judge John L. Dibrell, Jr., for sentencing. Dibrell fined each $100 and costs.

McCluskey then appeared before justice of Peace W. O. Leonard and was fined $50 and expenses on a charge of disturbing the peace. Arnold suffered wounds in the fight that required medical attention.

Conway Unconscious At Sweatwater, But Condition Better

Aubrey Dale Conway, 21, critically injured in an automobile accident near Sweatwater that killed two of his companions June 4, was still unconscious in a Sweatwater hospital yesterday.

A slight improvement has been noticed in his condition, medical authorities have informed friends here.

Doctors will decide in the next day or two whether to decide to fly the victim to Dallas for a brain operation.

George H. Rizzan, 37 and Jack H. Pitts, 28, of Big Spring, participated in the mishap.

There was a desert windstorm in Southern California June 6. Simpson said, and computation by his Washington colleagues pointed to the possibility that winds had carried the sand over the Pacific.

The haze hung over more than 1 million square miles—from Wake Island eastward past Hawaii—for three days and nights. It began breaking up over Hawaii yesterday when a northeast trade wind ruffled an almost dead calm.

Before long things were looking up for the local chamber of commerce. Skies were blue again. Simpson said the haze cleared more rapidly than was expected—probably being wafted out laterally by the trade wind.

The Washington theory about Southern California tickled the coxies of the quipsters' bears. When the haze first appeared they cracked:

SOME FUNDS TACKED ON Drive To Cut Federal Costs Seems To Work In Reverse

WASHINGTON, June 15. A proposed economy drive in the Senate to cut government costs appeared yesterday to have backfired on its first test.

Reliable sources said that several million dollars had been tacked on to the funds previously voted by the House for the Agriculture Department.

The increase was said to have been voted by an appropriations subcommittee headed by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) but under an agreement among leaders of the full committee no reports are being made public now.

The House allowed $74,032,710 of new cash for the Agriculture Department but loans, customs receipts and other revenue sources would make a total of $1,432,000,000 available for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

The subcommittee under Russell, working behind closed doors, has upped these funds, it was learned, but Russell said he could not affirm or deny.

"Even if I were permitted to make them public, I could not tell you the totals because clerks are still calculating five days of detailed work by the committee," Russell told a reporter.

This year for the first time Congress is turning nearly all the annual money bills for regular government departments and agencies into a one-package measure.

This passed the House in May carrying about $20 billion cash plus contract authority, loans and similar funds amounting to another $9 billion.

Separate Senate subcommittees have been conducting detailed hearings on the various parts of this bill, which formerly were acted upon as separate measures.

Desert Sands May Be Reason For Pacific Haze

By The Associated Press HONOLULU, June 16.—The great Pacific haze may have come from the Southern California desert.

The U. S. Weather Bureau popped up with this new story just as meteorologists here had pretty well saddled the blame on Mauna Loa, Hawaii's erupting volcano.

The finger was put on Southern California by weathermen in Washington—not the Honolulu chamber of commerce which was a mite put out by three days of dismal, colorless skies.

Chief Meteorologist Robert H. Simpson of Honolulu's weather bureau said yesterday the Washington report indicated the smog-like pall contained sand from Southern California's desert.

There was a desert windstorm in Southern California June 6. Simpson said, and computation by his Washington colleagues pointed to the possibility that winds had carried the sand over the Pacific.

Mahon Says Papers Alerted For Grain Sorghum Loan Notice

All papers have been prepared for an announcement of the support price loan on grain sorghum, Rep. George Mahon said yesterday.

In a communication from Washington, he said that the announcement has been held up for weeks pending Senate passage of a bill increasing capital stock of the Commodity Credit Corporation. The Senate took favorable action June 6 on a bill passed in the House on March 23.

Presidential approval of the measure is expected soon, said Mahon. Within a matter of hours after the president signs the bill, the grain sorghum loan will be announced. This might happen before the end of the week, he said.

KVMC Today Opens Broadcasting At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, June 16.—KVMC, Colorado City's new radio station, was to begin regular broadcasting at 7 a. m. today, following go-ahead signal from the Federal Communications commission.

Known as the Voice of Mitchell County, the new radio station will broadcast from 6:15 a. m. to 7:45 p. m. daily on 1320 kilocycles. It is an Associated Press member station.

Program dedicating the station was scheduled for 12:30 today. Mayor Henry Billberry, Sen. Pat Bullock, and L. A. Chapman, chamber of commerce manager, were to take part on the program. Formal open house at the new station, located atop the hill west of Colorado City, is to be held June 25.

Clint Formby is KVMC manager, while Walter Grubbs is to serve as program director and commercial manager. Announcers are Paul Brown, Tommy Burger, and Al Gumbinger. Jeanine Martin is receptionist.

DWI Charge May Be Filed Here

A man, picked up in a car on a railroad track here last night, today may face a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Police took the man into custody after R. V. Jones, T&P locomotive engineer, had reported seeing a car on the railroad tracks as he arrived from the west. Police investigated and found an automobile on the main west switch west of the Gregg street overpass. The driver was transferred to the county for action. No charges had been filed at noon.

Brownwood Rector To Head Daniel Baker July 15

BROWNWOOD, June 16. (U)—The Rev. Richard A. Hayes, rector of St. John's Church here since 1945, becomes president of Daniel Baker College here July 15.

Bishop C. Avery Mason of the Dallas Diocese of the Episcopal Church, made the announcement yesterday.

Election of a president was the first official duty of a new board of trustees since the Episcopal church began operating of the college.

THROW BOOK AT DRIVER

CHICAGO, June 16, (AP) — Mrs. Violet Labash, 35, was charged with four traffic violations by Hyde Park police last night — but she insisted she doesn't know how to drive a car.

Police agreed she can't drive. But they accused her of being behind the wheel of a semi-trailer truck which collided with a car driven by William Kelly.

They charged her with making an improper turn, driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident, and not having a driver's license.

Plans Made For Children's Camp

LAREDO, June 16, (AP) — The Texas Lions League for Crippled Children made plans here yesterday for the Melvin Jones Camp about three miles from Kerrville.

The camp is planned on a 504-acre tract donated by the federal government.

Jack Wiech of Brownsville was re-elected president of the league's board of governors. Pat Jackson of Nacogdoches was named first vice president; Reagan Smith of Conroe, second vice president; George Brown of Kerrville, third vice president; James L. Daughterty of Midland, treasurer; J. I. Moore of Kerrville, finance secretary, and Jack Roe of Kerrville recording secretary.

U. S. Air Force Plane In Landing After Fire Reported

LONDON, June 16, (AP) — U. S. Air Force plane made an emergency landing at its Lakenheath, Suffolk, base this morning after fire started in one of its motors, a spokesman for the third U. S. Air Force bomber division announced.

Several of the crewmen were burned about the hands, he said. The fire apparently started in the plane's electric wiring, the spokesman added. He said he had no further details.

First reports said the plane had crashed.

Lustron Scrap Gets Hotter As Courts Issue Separate Orders

COLUMBUS, O., June 16, (AP) — Fate of the $37,500,000 Lustron Corp., maker of prefabricated steel houses, appeared headed for a U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today in the wake of conflicting lower court orders.

The giant concern, which borrowed millions from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. and then couldn't pay it back, was sold to the RFC at Columbus and thrown into bankruptcy by a Chicago judge.

Meanwhile, a sidelight to the main issue was the disclosure yesterday that Lustron paid U. S. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) $10,000 for writing a 37-page article on housing for a Lustron promotional booklet.

Nov. 12, 1948, was photographed and a copy asserted among the records of the firm filed by Receiver Clyde M. Fraker in federal court here.

McCarthy, in New London, Conn., admitted writing the article, but described its sale as an ordinary competitive matter.

"I just sold to the highest bidder," the Wisconsin Republican said, adding that the contract was based on a payment of 10 cents a copy for an edition of 100,000 booklets. Another housing firm, he said, offered him about seven and a half cents.

McCarthy said there was no "secret" about his authorship of the article, entitled "Wanted: A Dollar's Worth of Housing For Every Dollar Spent."

A foreword in the booklet said it was "based on information gathered by United States Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin in the course of his research and investigation as vice chairman of the joint (congressional) committee on housing."

McCarthy's connection with the Lustron firm was a minor thing, however, compared to the overall drama being enacted in the courts. It was Receiver Fraker, caught in the middle of the fuss, who had the most important decision of the moment to make. And apparently he intends to stay right there—in the middle.

Foraker, who was appointed by Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood of Columbus when Lustron was foreclosed upon last February, was under compulsion to obey two conflicting court orders.

One, issued by Judge Underwood, directed him to turn over assets of Lustron to the Reconstruction Finance Corp. The RFC had bought the assets for $6 million at an auction.

The other order, issued by U. S. District Judge Philip L. Sullivan in Chicago, forbade Foraker from turning over the assets to the government lending agency.

Relaxing Of Hatch Act Provisions Meets With Some Senate Opposition

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Strong Senate opposition developed today against a bill to relax some of the provisions of the Hatch act barring federal employes from partisan political activity.

Broadside against the measure came from such diverse political figures as Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn.), a southern Democrat, Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a "fair dealer."

Each has different reasons for his dislike of the bill.

The bill, produced by a Senate House conference from separate versions passed by the two houses, would do two principal things:

1. Amend the act to permit the civil service commission to penalize a violator with as little as a 30-day suspension from his job without pay. This would require a unanimous vote of the three-man commission. Dismissal is now provided by the law.
2. Permit government workers living in Maryland and Virginia in the immediate vicinity of Washington to take part in partisan politics at a local level.

The bill was called up yesterday with prospects of speedy approval. But McKellar and others objected and a vote was ordered put off until next Wednesday. The House approved it last May 4.

McKellar protested the lack of a provision to permit federal workers at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic plant to engage in local party politics.

Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) of the Senate Rules Committee replied that the matter should be handled by separate legislation because Oak Ridge is a government-owned community.

Humphrey blasted a section of the measure which he said would make all civil service records, including confidential files, available to Congress when a Hatch Act violation was involved.

He said it would provide an important precedent for similar legislation giving congressional committees a statutory right to obtain records pertaining to loyalty cases.

Congress has feuded with the administration many times over such records. The latest involves the loyalty files of persons named by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) in his Communist-in-government charges.

President Truman has permitted a Senate foreign relations subcommittee inquiring into the charges to look at State Department loyalty files but has denied the senators civil service and FBI records.
