Butte, Mont. Reports Her Cold Goes to 55 Below

The lowest temperatures of the year was recorded at the Santa Fe station this morning at 8:30 o'clock when the thermometer dropped to 12 degrees above zero. In other parts of the city residents reported a 10-degree reading at 8 a. m. The Santa Fe reading was 22 degrees above.

The cold snap was accompanied by a northeast wind bringing snow flurries which made driving dangerous. A heavy fog and mist arose during the night, but no accidents were reported this morning.

At Canadian, the thermometer was at 12 degrees, while LeFors reported a temperature of 16 degrees. The same conditions existed up and down the Santa Fe, it was announced this morning.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24. (P)—Warm north east winds, which will blow away the severe cold that has cost 11 lives in the middle west, was today's promise to storm bound states suffering the worst rigors of the winter.

Absence of snow here was in contrast to the intense cold and heavy snow that paralyzed traffic in parts of Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. Trains were delayed and highways were blocked.

The storm approached blizzard proportions in Michigan, where the cold accounted for five lives. Minnesota had four dead and two deaths were attributed to the weather.

The coldest temperature of the day yesterday was registered at Butte, Mont., where the mercury recorded 55 degrees below.

PLAINS TEST AT LEFORS IS GOING STRONG

Hits Production Level at 2,558 Feet—Flow Is 2,400 Barrels

NO. 2 SAUNDERS OFFSETS TEXAS

Water Encroachment Not Bothering at New Depth

Another good producer in the LeFors pool yesterday was added to those already drilled in this month. The Plains Drilling company's No. 2 Saunders, in the southeast corner of the east half of the southeast quarter of section 4, block 1, A. C. H. & B. survey, picked up the big pay early yesterday morning and a pipe line test the first 24 hours showed 2,400 barrels. Production is free from water so common in the LeFors pool.

The big pay was encountered at 2,558 feet in the high pay encountered in three previous wells in the LeFors pool. Wells at a deeper pay are fighting water encroachment, but the new high pay has thus far been free from water.

The Plains well is a west offset to the Texas company's big low pay well brought in last week, which has been cut down by water encroachment. The Plains company has another well in the same section making 122 barrels an hour. The test was drilled in last week from the high pay.

Plains Drilling company's No. 2 was drilled to top pay, but the hole was lost and the derrick was skidded 60 feet north, where the new producer was brought in.

The Texas company is taking the oil from the new producer.

New City Water Well Is Being Drilled Now

After shifting his derrick 50 feet east, D. L. McDonald has begun operations on the new city water well. The 14-inch hole has been sunk 600 feet and work begun yesterday drilling the 32-inch hole.

The first well was drilled to total depth and almost completed when a string of pipe was lost and the hole had to be abandoned, after a two-month fishing job. Water is encountered here at about 400 feet.

When completed the new well, to be operated by a turbine pump, will end the critical water situation. The new well will have a capacity of 750 gallons a minute. A 500-gallon pump will be installed, according to Andy Trocker, water superintendent.

APPEALS FILED IN ABDUCTION CASES

Electric Chair Awaits Two Men After Short Trials

DALLAS, Jan. 24. (P)—The electric chair confronted two men today, six weeks after they abducted three 17-year-old girls from their escorts and assaulted them near Dallas.

Lee Roy Merriman was given death yesterday. He pleaded insanity. Benjie Aldridge, his companion in the attacks, drew a similar penalty last week. Aldridge pleaded guilty.

Attorneys have filed notice of appeal. They are doing it "on their own," however, as neither of the convicted men has displayed any interest in his case. Merriman sat sullenly through the three days of his trial, refusing contact with his counsel, appointed by the court.

"It's Like This—"
 PAMPA'S LIBRARY association has reached a point where community cooperation is necessary to bring about a workable program.

The association needed a room, and that has been provided by the Methodist church. It needed funds, and Godfrey Cabot of Boston donated a substantial sum. It needs and will always need books. About $1,000 worth of standard reference works are on the shelves, forming a good start in this line.

It will be necessary to add many books and periodicals from time to time. There must be a librarian in charge. It will take the interest of the entire community over a considerable period of time to build a library such as Pampa needs.

Nearly every household boasts volumes hardly ever used. These could be given to the library without sacrifice since the books would still be available. If every household in the city would furnish half a dozen books, the result would be astounding.

With the oil riches pouring into local bank accounts, it would seem that some of the fortunate citizens would consider the library as a sound object for philanthropy. We know of an instance in a city similar to Pampa where an oil man purchased a modern bungalow for a library building—and an ideal arrangement it was.

The Library association solicits the interest and support of the community. There is no more constructive cause.

CATTLE MARKETING is not an exact science; indeed, progress of the steps in the process reveals much to be desired. The subject is developed by George M. Lewis, Texas university livestock specialist, as follows:

"Producers raise the cattle, railroads transport them, feeders fatten them, commission agents sell them, financial agencies finance them, packers process and distribute them, and meat retailers sell the edible products to consumers.

"Ordinarily producers consider the sale of their cattle complete when they sell them to some buyer, but the marketing process is not ended until the beef reaches the final buyers—the consumers. The desire and the ability of consumers to buy beef largely determines the prices. If the quality or price does not suit them, they will eat less beef or change to some beef substitute. The actual operation of this principle may be illustrated by the prices of beef and pork during 1927; with relatively high beef prices and correspondingly low pork prices, the per capita consumption of beef decreased while that of pork increased. It is important, therefore, that marketing agencies attempt to offer beef that will meet the desires of the consumers and their ability to buy.

"In addition to producing the best type of cattle and of adjusting the supply to the demand, producers should select the most advantageous market outlet. The different channels through which Texas producers dispose of their cattle are: Farm slaughtering, local sales to butchers, local sales to other buyers, direct shipments to primary markets, sales to stocker and feeder buyers, whether direct, through co-operative pools or through private organizations."

Marketing cattle is more competitive than usually considered. Proper marketing is more competitive than usually considered. Proper marketing no doubt offers to the cattlemen some of the same advantages that it does to the wheat farmers or producers of any other commodity.

REBECCA ROGERS probably will go free under suspended sentence or draw a lighter sentence as the result of her case being remanded by the Court of Criminal Appeals. The sentiment against bank robbery was especially strong at the time she was convicted.

Disregarding the merits of the case, the technicality under which the case was reversed is of interest. The court held that the district attorney was over zealous in his prosecution in asking why the defense had not taken the girl into probate court for sending to an insane asylum if they really believed her insane as they argued. Although the judge asked the jury to disregard this question, the Appeals court found the remark too "insidious and prejudicial" to be cured by such instruction.

"It amounted in effect to an appeal to convict, if she robbed the bank, even though she was insane at the time, because her counsel had not instituted insanity proceedings in probate court", the opinion held. Put another way, prosecution was sought on a technicality, or at least much of the argument for conviction was rather absurd in final analysis.

The conclusion of the opinion states rather clearly the line of reasoning out of which many reversals grow:

"Insanity is recognized in all civilized countries as a disease, and not a crime. The right to an acquittal upon the grounds of insanity is one given and guaranteed by direct legislative enactment and it cannot be taken from her or abridged by the failure of her counsel to institute proceedings in county court for her confinement in a lunatic asylum. No such duty involved upon them or her."

While Texas recognizes insanity as a disease to be rated as a defense in trials, the penal system has no acceptable remedial procedure. It is like recognizing an evil while at the moment acknowledging inability to do anything about it.

Along Hoover's Trail
SOUTH AMERICA

HARRY DUTCHER
 WASHINGTON — Buenos Aires is as European as any city of the old world and no more Americanized, from our point of view, than the South Sea islands.

This third largest city in the western hemisphere is willing to accept North American innovations making for more comfort, convenience or efficiency but that's all. The people have the American brand of progressiveness, but they hang on proudly to their European habits and culture.

Americans assured your correspondent that Buenos Aires was becoming "Americanized", but your correspondent couldn't see it. It is true that Argentine business men are adopting our methods of efficiency and that American types of architecture are being copied for big new office buildings, but that only proves that Argentine business men are smart.

Everyone drives an American automobile, but this is not the case in South America city where traffic keeps to the left instead of to the right as in the United States. And instead of trying to change the local custom our automobile firms manufacture cars with right-drives to meet it.

Psychologically and mentally, Buenos Aires is across to Madrid, Rome, and even London, rather than New York and Washington. Some two million Italian immigrants said to have emigrated from this country and lesser numbers from other European nations. Your correspondent's investigations convinced him that all its large foreign colonies in Buenos Aires is far more "melting pot" than New York.

As colonists, we Yankees are far down on the list locally. There are more than 4000 Americans compared to between 80,000 and 80,000 British or Argentines. The British relation thus supports two newspapers printed in English which are altogether newspapers, whereas Americans have only weekly.

The big British volume the little American colony along fairly well together although the former adopt a supercilious attitude toward us they buy our goods as often as we buy theirs cheaper and better imports from Britain.

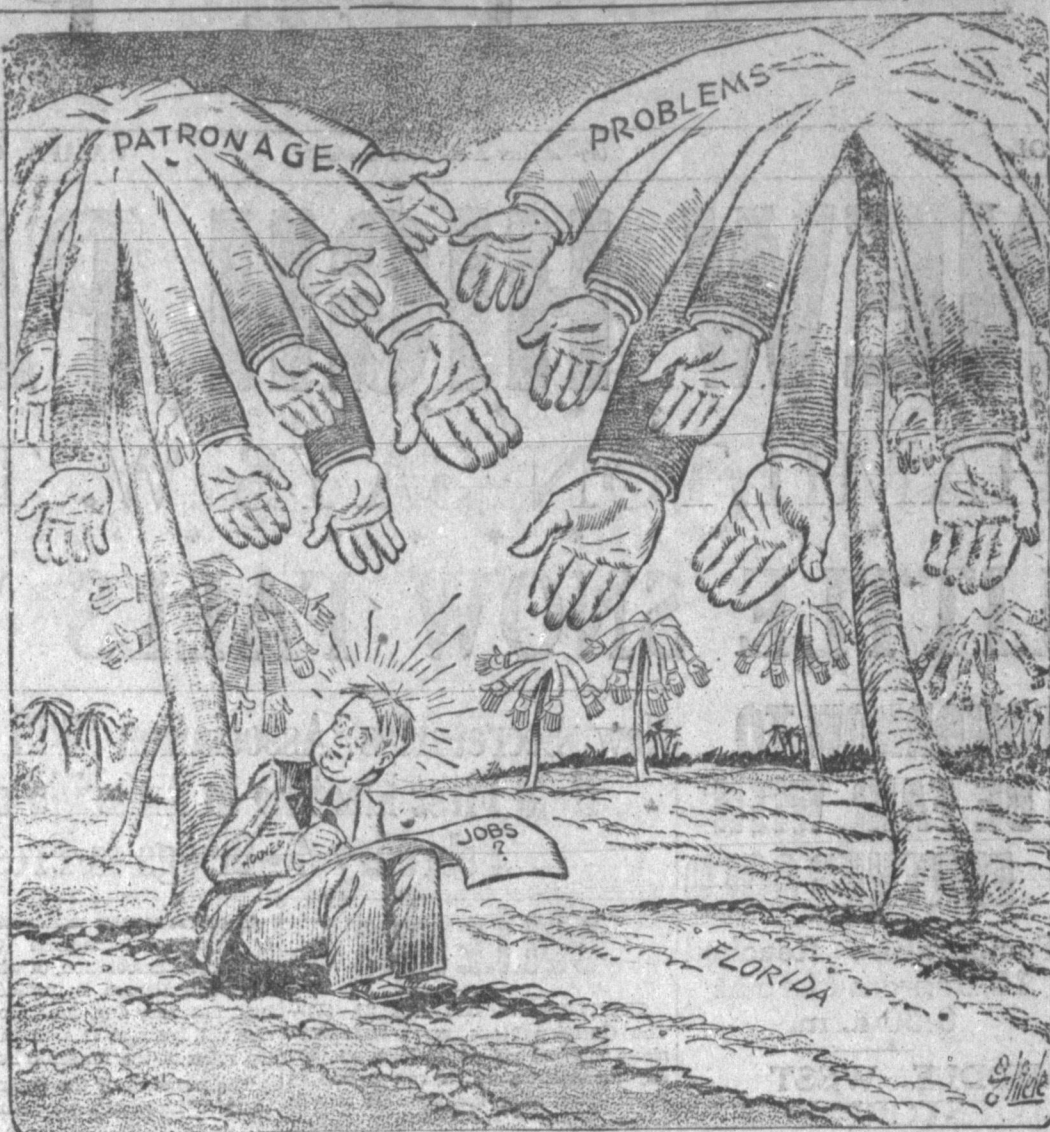

The British are so numerous as to have divided into groups, which high-hat other. There's the Hamlet set, with its Oxford accent, which causes other folks to say that one has learned the language to look that suburb, and the subgroups at Lomas and Belgrano.

The fourth group contains the "town English" within the city, who aren't regarded as socially important.

The Irish have fraternized with the Argentines more than any other nationalities. They came early and some became rich through ranching or marriage. There are native families with Irish surnames who can't speak a word of English. Lacy and Kenney, the polo players, are Argentines, and there's a prominent Argentine family named Cavanaugh, for instance.

The American colony is on the increase, but sticks pretty well together now because of its minority. The American Club is a social center and there's an American Legion

A. A. HYDE. SHERMAN PREACHER TO GET BRAVERY AWARD

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24. (AP)—Bravery shown by the Rev. Grover C. Brewer of Sherman, Texas, in grabbing a rabid dog as it was approaching three children has won for him a bronze medal awarded by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The Rev. Brewer, according to the citation, first saw the dog snap at a child and pursued it until a policeman took up the chase. A while later he again saw the animal as it was approaching three children playing in an alley and at once attacked it. The dog sprang on him and snapped his left wrist, but the pastor managed to hold the dog by the throat until a man arrived and shot it. The event occurred on January 22, 1926, the citation said.

ANTI-EVOLUTION BILL LOSES IN COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, Jan. 24. (AP)—Fundamentalists seeking an anti-evolution bill stood beaten today in the first move of the legislative session in this direction. The Harper-Graves measure making the teaching of facts contrary to the book of Genesis a misdemeanor, was reported unfavorably by the house committee on criminal jurisprudence last night.

The vote, taken at an executive session, was eight to three against the bill. Proponents of the measure are undecided whether it would be brought to the floor on a minority report.

TWO MEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF BOILER

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 24. (AP)—Seeking warmth of the engine room to eat their lunch, C. E. Allen, about 50, and Leroy Martin, 26, were killed yesterday when a cylinder-head in a steam engine was blown out by an explosion at the Ryan cotton oil mill at Ryan, Okla.

H. R. Carver, another employe, suffered a broken rib and other injuries.

Dr. W. C. Mitchell of Mitchell's store left Wednesday for Chicago to attend the spring opening of the markets. On his way, he will stop over at Oregon, Mo., for a visit with his mother, and will be joined later in Chicago by Mrs. Mitchell.

About New York

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK NEW YORK.—If you happen to be a young woman who wishes to go to the Beaux Arts ball as a lady at the court of Empress Jane Cowi-Josephine, it is not too late.

For $500 or more you can buy a suitable dress of real old lace with a velvet train, or a hand-bred gown the material of which the maker says cannot be duplicated anywhere. Some creations, designed by foremost costume artists and executed by exclusive society dressmakers, cost several thousand dollars, but they are not "carried in stock," as are peasant dresses, which sell for $75.

ULTRA-EXCLUSIVE Even if you live in California and have to fly to the ball, which will be given at the Astor hotel the night of January 25, you may rent, for as little as $10, a costume at the door.

But, however, you come, your gown must be from the Napoleonic period in France. Modern dress, and smocks like Robes, dominoes, decorations or ribbons worn over modern clothes, are barred, however expensive they may be. So, too, are the modern uniforms of the military, convicts, sailors, huntmen and chefs.

For the annual party given by the Society of Beaux-Arts Architects is one of the swankiest of the season, it being estimated that $400,000 worth of costumes are worn by the society folk who attend. It's an invitation affair, and tickets no longer are sold at the door, although, like night club cards, they may be obtained if you know someone who knows where to get them.

CIRCUS BALL Another notable event took place recently when Mr. and Mrs. William May Wright gave their annual circus ball. Four rooms in a hotel were taken over for the occasion, which is reported to have cost the host at least $10,000, and there were horses and dogs and sideshow acts to lend the proper atmosphere.

The guests of honor were Arthur Honegger, the modern Swiss composer, and his wife. The hostess, who is Cobiha Wright, soprano, will be their soloist on tour.

HATLESS HONEGGER Honegger, 37-year-old sports fan that he is, will make probably the first bareheaded musical tour in this country. He never wears hats; he does not even own a headpiece. He and his wife do own, however, a trunk full of fine furs. Honegger recently was in Russia, and, thinking it advisable to make a good, will investment, he spent some of his box office money for mink coats and sables.

After directing the Philharmonic-Symphonic orchestra here in the playing of his "Pacific 231," which glorifies the locomotive, and the American premiere of his "Rugby," which glorifies football, he will go as far as Seattle, and Portland, and Houston, Texas, under the auspices of the Pro-Musica society. Among his selections will be "Pavetta," a suite for two pianos, written especially for the tour. His wife, Andree Vaurabourg Honegger, will play the other piano.

Golf Has Some Spartans, Too

who won the British amateur championship 1926 - a fine example of grim, stubborn courage while forcing a disabled body to do its best

By O. B. KEELER

They were talking about feats of courage and endurance, and play on the gridiron after ribs had been broken—the gainst tales of derring-do in football. And somebody asked me if I knew any instances of such things in golf, adding that, of course, it was unlikely that the golfer's stoicism would be called on, as in football and other games of personal contact.

Well, I shouldn't say that. My mind slipped back to Jess Sweetser in 1926; winning the British amateur championship at Muirfield; playing gamely through the international match next week at St. Andrews; sickening all the time with a malady that scarcely six hours after the final round of international match cost him two hemorrhages in my room at the Grand hotel. . . . I know of nothing in sport that is a finer example of grim, stubborn courage and Spartan endurance of suffering and illness, while forcing a disabled body to do its best.

And there was a memory, too, of Bobby Jones, back in his younger days of 1922. Bobby had been suffering from varicose veins in his left leg, and finally went to a hospital and had them operated on and removed. Four incisions, each four inches long, were made. Bobby was in the hospital two weeks. A week after he left the hospital he started in the 1922 southern amateur championship at East Lake. His practice for that event consisted of 9 holes of play and about an hour in short spells on the practice tee. His left leg was swathed in bandages. The wounds were by no means healed. Between rounds in the final match a physician had to re-dress the incisions, two of which were discharging. And he had been out of bed only a week.

Yet I venture to say that not a dozen people outside Bobby's more intimate friends knew that the boy was suffering, or was playing under any handicap at all. There was nothing about it in the papers. As to the outcome, Bobby won. His aggregate score for the qualifying round and five matches was 10 strokes below 4's. It was the last southern amateur he has played in.

Phillies Feeling Optimistic as Weak Gaps Are Closed

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24. (AP)—With new and sparkling material and most of the weak gaps apparently plugged up, the Phillies look toward the 1929 National league pennant race through rose-tinted glasses.

New blood has been brought into nearly every position. The pitching staff has been strengthened and the Phillies have a great short stop in Tommy Thevenow. One of Manager Burt Shotton's moves was to cast aside two veterans, Jimmy Ring, pitcher, and John Schulte.

Don Hurst, who hit 18 home runs last season, will be on first base and Fresno Thompson on second, with Thevenow at short stop. Pinkey Whitney, who batted over .300 last year, will be at third. As infield re-arrangements Shotton has Terry Lyons, from the sandlots of St. Louis; Friberg, and Joe O'Rourke, son of the Phillies' chief scout.

The outfield will be composed of Lefty O'Doul, obtained from the New York Giants; Danny Southern, a youngster; Homer Peel, from Houston Texas, and Chuck Klein, with Cy Williams, home run slugger, as the leading re-arranger.

Lerian, Davis, and Susce will be in charge of the catching department. Susce is a youngster from the University of Pittsburgh.

Should he be able to obtain an experienced relief pitcher, Manager Shotton said he would not hesitate to predict the Phillies would finish among the leaders.

The regular staff of Benge, Milligan, Ferguson, Baecht, Sweetland, McGraw, Ulrich and Willoughby has been augmented by five youngsters. Caldwell, from Waco; Phil Collins, from New Orleans, and Luther Roy, from Birmingham, are considered the most promising of the younger pitchers. Then, there are Walker, a Philadelphia boy, and Derhan, a product of the Virginia league.

The Phillies will start spring training at Winter Haven, Fla.

Raving Grapplers May Yet Get to Mat in Argument

With McKee and Detson, unfriendly ear-pullers, hurling written and verbal challenges and insinuations at one another, it is likely that the two maulers will be matched in the near future. Both claim to be able to beat anything that comes along and if they are successfully matched the winner will likely meet Leo Chase, the Hoxana Petroleum company's wrestler.

Leo says he could almost beat the two together, so now it is a three-cornered proposition with McKee as starter of the little world war of the mat. McKee, ugly, red-headed and confident, says that he has been trying to get a match with Oscar Dotson, local blacksmith, but has been unsuccessful. The Pampa man says that Red is crazy and that he will meet him at any time.

After a few more verbal slams have been executed, the two will probably take the mat to try a series of slams.

Sharkey Must Beat Christner in Decisive Fashion

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—There was an abundance of confidence today at the training quarters of Jack Sharkey of Boston and K. O. Christner, graduate of the Akron rubber plants, who meet in a 10-round clash in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The gob can see nothing in the scrap but a good warm-up for his battle with Young Stripling at Miami Beach, while the 34-year-old Oklacon, who sprang into prominence of punching Knute Hansen out of the heavyweight picture a couple of months ago, has told the world he expects to tag Sharkey with the same wallop he used on the melancholy Dane.

Realizing he must make a better than ordinary showing tomorrow if the Stripling fight is to meet with any financial success, Sharkey says he will end the affair in short order.

LAZZERI THINKS SURE WING IS RECOVERED

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—Tony Lazzari reports through Manager Miller Huggins that he no longer is bothered by a lame salary wing. A letter from Huggins yesterday said he had received word from the Yankees' second baseman that the arm no longer bothered him, even when he subjected it to the severe test of playing a game a short time ago.

Miami Invasion Tomorrow Night Is Crucial One

Eager to take the scalp from the Harvesters, the Miami Warriors will invade Pampa tomorrow night, both boys and girls. The local boys won their first conference game of the season from the Warriors in the Miami gymnasium last Tuesday night. In the past the Warriors have usually had everything their own way on the courts.

But with Coach Odus Mitchell expounding his knowledge of the game, and he was one of the best in the Southwest in his college days, the Harvesters have snapped out of it and have been playing stellar basketball all this season. Tomorrow night's battle will be the first for the Miami boys on the local gymnasium.

The two girls' teams have met twice with the Miami sextet coming out on top both times. The local girls have won their last two games and are confident they will break the Miami jinx tomorrow night.

“I light a Lucky and go light on the sweets

That's how I keep in good shape and always feel peppy.”

Al Jolson
Famous comedian and star of song.

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

Al Jolson as he appears in Warner Bros. Vitaphone success, "The Singing Fool."

Something sensible. “Better to light a Lucky whenever you crave fattening sweets.” It brings to men the health and vigor that come with avoiding overweight. To women it offers a slender, fashionable figure.

20 679 physicians have stated that Lucky Strike is less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes. Very likely this is due to toasting which removes impurities. This same process, toasting, improves and develops the flavor of the world's finest tobaccos. This means that there is a flavor in Luckies which is a delightful alternative for the things that make you fat. That's why “It's Toasted” is your assurance that there's real health in Luckies—they're good for you!

Keep fit—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. That's what many men have been doing for years. They know the evidence of prominent athletes whose favorite cigarette is Lucky Strike and who say Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say—

“It's toasted”

Morrow Likely to Stay in Mexico

BELLE ISLE, Miami, Fla., Kan., Jan. 24. (AP)—A conference with Dwight V. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, and departure for a three-day deep sea fishing trip had been arranged for President-elect Hoover today.

While the Morrow visit has been described as a courtesy call, there seemed little doubt that Ambassador and Mr. Hoover would discuss relations with Mexico in detail.

While Mr. Morrow has been urged for appointment as secretary of state by Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, the president-elect has indicated he does not regard the cabinet post as important as the improvement in relations between the countries since the former banker undertook the delicate diplomatic mission below the Rio Grande.

Oil Exposition Opens in Good Weather Today

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 24. (P)—Inclement weather which delayed departure of some of the 100 airplanes expected here for the formal opening tomorrow of San Angelo's airport did not extend to West Texas, and the fourth annual West Texas oil exposition opened here today under sunny skies. Early registrations were heavy.

At the first business session, presided over by Levi Smith of Texon, Mayor W. D. Holcomb welcomed the visitors. Ford Turner, head of the land department of the Pure Oil company in West Texas, outlined "Scouting in West Texas," and Dr. F. B. Plummer of the bureau of economic geology at Austin discussed "New Light on Buried Structures in West Texas." J. T. Robison, land commissioner, was to speak.

Business sessions are being conducted only in the morning. This afternoon's entertainment included a golf tournament and trap shooting at the Country club, where a barbecue is to be served.

The former secretary said the incident occurred the second day after he had been employed by the highway commission. In describing it, he said he "ran afoul" of Mrs. Hammonds.

Hale Denies He Urged Convict to Make Getaway

PAWHUSKA, Okla., Jan. 24. (P)—Called back to the witness stand today, W. K. Hale, Osage county cattle king, on trial the third time on a charge of complicity in the killing of Henry Roan, Osage Indian, denied he suggested a jail break to Blackie Thompson or Hugh Washburn while the three were confined in the Osage county jail here last fall.

Washburn, a government witness, previously had testified Hale sought to have him and Thompson make their getaway so that they might get Ernest Burkhardt, Hale's nephew, "out of the country."

Burkhardt, under life sentence for the killing of W. E. Smith, who, with his Indian wife, Rita, and a servant girl, met death when their home at Fairfax was dynamited, at that time was here under guard of federal agents who had sought his aid in their investigation of Roan's death.
