First Christian Church Will Dedicate New Organ Sunday

A new Hammond electric organ will be dedicated by the First Christian Church here Sunday night at 8 o'clock, according to announcement made today by the minister, John S. Mullen.

The purchase of the organ was made possible by gifts from members of the church and from several generous friends of the church outside of its membership.

Marvin Lucke of Amarillo will be the guest organist at the dedication service. He was several years organist in a large church in Chicago. He also played for organ programs from various radio stations.

The choir of the church under the direction of B. L. Alston will sing two special numbers with both organ and piano accompaniment. Mrs. Mel Davis will be the regular organist. She will be assisted by Mrs. R. C. Wilson and Howard House.

The Hammond organ has virtually no resemblance to any musical instruments of the past except for its keyboards and for the sounds produced by it. It has no pipes but it can match in delicacy, beauty and volume the sound of the greatest pipe organs. Mr. Mullen said.

The sound is produced, varied, swelled and modified electrically. The heart of the organ is the tone wheel. This is a metallic disc about the size of a silver dollar that turns rapidly on a constant-speed shaft driven by a synchronous motor. Next to this tone wheel is a permanent magnet, about the end of which a coil is wound.

The tone wheel has a number of humps or high spots placed at equal intervals around its outside rim, and as it turns these high spots vary the field of the magnet and thus induce a tiny current in the coil. When the disk turns at such a speed that 440 high spots pass the magnet each second, a small alternating current of a frequency of 440 is generated.

WORLEY TO SPEAK AT HONOR COURT MONDAY

Rep. Gene Worley of Shamrock, young and popular representative in the state legislature, will be the principal speaker at the Eagle Scout Court of Honor Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the district courtroom at the courthouse.

Rep. Worley will replace the Rev. Bryan H. Keathley of Mineral Wells, national chaplain of the American Legion, on the program. Mr. Keathley will preside, and "doctors advise me to go home and rest or suffer the consequences. His telegram from Colorado Springs stated that he was "utterly unable to speak any more soon." He was unable to attend the Colorado state legion convention at Alamosa, beginning today.

The four Scouts who will receive Eagle badges are Jack Crockett, Jack Smith, James Archer from Troop 80 and Joe Cargile from Troop 14. The program will end in time for attendance at the Farr-Louis prizefight.

PUBLIC DEBT PASSES $37,000,000 FIGURE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The public debt rolled over the $37,000,000 mark on August 25. A treasury report today showed the debt climbed to $37,134,110 on that date to $37,021,303,409.

The increase resulted largely from a $50,000,000 issue of discount bills to bolster the treasury's supply of ready cash.

The debt will climb another $150,000,000 during the next three weeks as the treasury issues weekly offerings of bills under its September financing plans.

The August 25 debt was $3,629,522,553 over that on the same date a year ago.

JAP PLANES KILL 150 COOLIES IN AIR RAIDS

NANKING, CHINA, Aug. 27 (AP)—Japanese airplanes killed nearly 150 civilians, most of them coolies, in a daylight air raid today and swooped down again on this Chinese capital tonight while the diplomatic corps was giving a banquet to Nelson T. Johnson, the American ambassador. The screech of air defense sirens failed to stop the banquet, marking Johnson's 30th anniversary of entrance into the diplomatic service.

TROPHY TO BE WON AT GAME HERE TONIGHT

In addition to the honor of acquiring the Panhandle baseball championship, Pampa Oilers and Borger's Huber Blackfaces will be battling at Road Runner park tonight for a trophy, donated by the Chambers of Commerce of the two cities.

The trophy will be presented immediately after the game at a ceremony to be participated in by representatives of both Chambers. It was announced today by J. M. Collins, president of the Pampa C of C.

The trophy stands 18 1/2 inches high and is topped with a statue of the Goddess of Victory. Beneath the figure on a lower base are reproductions of two ball players, one on each side of the face of the trophy. The memorial is of silver, with the base of the statue in contrasting black. The trophy will be on display in the McCarty Jewelry store this evening.

Tonight's game will be the final clash of the two teams in the championship series. The count now stands at two-all. A large crowd is expected to turn out to the grand finale of the baseball season in Pampa. Additional details of tonight's game will be found on the sport page today.

THREE-YEAR OLD SEES SIGHTS, THEN EATS

DALLAS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Three-year-old Charlie Garrison of Jackson, Miss., decided today to see the sights of a big city by himself, so he ventured forth, first, in the downtown section.

The whirl of traffic greatly fascinated the lad as he stood on one of the busiest corners. Neither was he afraid as a traffic officer approached.

"My name's Charlie,—nd I'm hungry," he told the officer.

Unable to direct traffic and take care of Charlie too, the officer sent the small visitor to police headquarters where he captivated the entire detail on duty.

Charlie kept insisting that he was hungry, however, and after his benefactors bought him two glasses of milk and some doughnuts, he was returned to his mother, Mrs. Charles Garrison, from whom he wandered away while she was eating breakfast in a downtown hotel.

'JESSE JAMES' FLEES FROM KENTUCKY TOWN

COLUMBIA, Ky., Aug. 27 (AP)—"Jesse James" second visit to this little South Kentucky town left a trail of chukles today instead of blood produced by the first purported call of America's early public enemy No. 1 and his band 65 years ago.

The 20th century "Jesse" was driving an automobile-trailer. The 80-year old showman fled last night after being informed if he was Jesse James as he claimed to be, he was wanted by the law for questioning in connection with a series of bank and train robberies and killings.

Advance notices of a scheduled theater performance offered $5,000 to anyone proving the itinerant showman was not Jesse James.

KIWANIS DELEGATES TO CONVENTION NAMED

Delegates and alternates to the annual Texas-Oklahoma district convention of Kiwanis International in Fort Worth Oct. 10, 11 and 12, were named at the club's regular noon luncheon today.

President Chris Martin, John R. Eoby, and Lee Waggoner were chosen as delegates and W. B. Weathered, Raymond Harrah, and Laughton Nicholson were selected as alternates.

BUSY TEACHERS FINISH PLANS FOR ENROLLMENT

By THE ROVING REPORTER. With the end of vacation only ten days away, offices in the Junior and Senior high schools are bustling with activity. And the homes of students are also full of preparations for the opening September 7.

In the office of the high school, Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar, and Doyle Osborne, assistant principal, are pinch-hitting for Principal L. L. Some, who will return here only two days before the fall term begins. Teachers, coming back from summers spent in training and vacation, are looking over their rooms in the building perhaps with anticipation, perhaps not, but the roving reporter thought he detected a gleam in their eyes that wasn't there just because the pay checks will soon be rolling in.

Principal R. A. Selby of Pampa Junior High school was deeply engaged in arranging the schedule of his division, and in answering queries as to where and when enrollment would begin. So, for the benefit of anxious parents and not-so-anxious pupils, the following schedule has been adopted, with other announcements later.

High school will begin enrollment on the morning of September 7, with seniors registering from 9 until 12 o'clock. That afternoon, juniors will sign up for fall classes from 1 until 4 o'clock, and lower sophomores, who have taken the place of the freshmen, will enter the bewildering halls of the Harvester home Wednesday morning from 9 until 12 noon. Afternoon of the 8th will be spent finishing all enrollment of those who manage to be out-of-town on their respective days.

Junior High classes will begin September 7 with no preliminary enrollment.

INCOME TAX RETURN FORMS NOW SIMPLIFIED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The treasury approved today simplified income tax return forms designed to make it easier for the rich, the poor and the in-betweeners to pay Uncle Sam what they owe him.

The new form for individuals is dressed up in larger, clearer type. It has more and bigger white spaces.

Drafted after months of consultation by treasury experts, the new forms will be distributed early in January.

Sixty per cent of taxpayers have incomes of less than $5,000. This group will be spared some of the questions which may have confused them in previous years.

Formerly asked, "Are you a citizen or resident alien of the United States?" The taxpayer will not have to bother to write "yes" or "no." He will merely check one of two little white squares.

Many of the simplifications for the less than $5,000 returns also have been included in the forms for individual incomes over $5,000.

Some changes have been effected as well in corporation returns. The treasury experts, however, centered their efforts on easing problems of the "little fellow."

SHERIFF WILL TRY FOR RIFLE RANGE TITLE

City and county police officers today began worrying about their rifle range records as Sheriff Earl Talley received shipment of a new and shiny pistol.

The sheriff has been keeping no official records of his range progress, but now that his new gun is here, he was planning to go out for the local marksmanship title this afternoon.

"I'll show 'em a thing or two, now," the sheriff said as he unwrapped the package and leveled off sight on an imaginary target across the street from his office.

Deputy Sheriff O. T. Lindsey went out to the range yesterday afternoon and turned in a score of 362 out of a possible 400.

Local city and county officers are getting their shooting eye in trim for the convention of the North Texas and South Oklahoma Peace Officers' Association in Pampa Oct. 7 and 8.

EMIGRANT AGENT LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

AUSTIN, Aug. 27 (AP)—Fred Nichols, commissioner of labor, today promised strict enforcement of the law prohibiting unlicensed persons from removing laborers from Texas.

The law requires emigrant agents to pay a $10 annual license, file a $5,000 bond and make monthly reports. They are subjected to heavy taxes if they maintain offices. An Agent is defined as any person hiring more than ten persons.

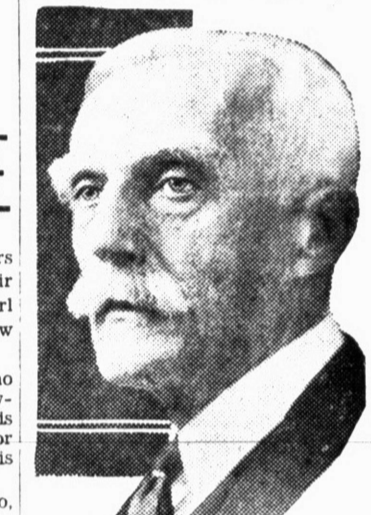

"This statute was enacted to protect laborers," Nichols said, "and will not tolerate any violations. Its main purpose was to keep irresponsible persons from transporting laborers to other states, then leaving them" stranded.

RICHARD KING MELLON MAY INHERIT POWER

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27 (AP)—Financial circles predicted today the mantle of financial power which fell from Andrew W. Mellon would descend upon the broad shoulders of 38-year old Richard King Mellon.

The younger Mellon is a son of Richard Beatty Mellon, Andrews' brother and life-long partner. He has held for years the reins of some of the chief Mellon enterprises.

Mellon Dies

Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury under Presidents Harding and Coolidge is dead. During his official life-time he was the target of Democrats who sought unsuccessfully to oust him.

During the present administration he was accused of tax-dodging. He left a fortune in oil, aluminum and other properties, including the Gulf Petroleum company, valued at a half-billion. Republicans insisted he was the "greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton."

FREE PICNIC RIDES OFFERED

Free transportation to the community picnic on the Saunders ranch near LeFors, Labor day, will be furnished all persons who do not have rides by the Cullum and Son motor company.

Two large buses formerly used in the street transit system will be used to transport picnickers to the grounds. Two buses will leave every hour in the morning beginning at 9 o'clock. The last buses will leave at 12 o'clock noon. The buses will return the passengers to Pampa in the evening after the picnic. The Legion will assume no liability for accidents.

Harvesters Eat 150 Eggs for Breakfast; To Scrimmage Today

The Harvesters in training at Mountain Lake, near Trinidad, Colo., eat 150 eggs every morning for breakfast. Today they will go to Trinidad to scrimmage Perryton. There are 35 boys in the Harvester camp and each one of them thinks he is Tarzan and you can imagine what takes place in the morning.

Those are choice news items gleaned from a letter to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith from sons Don and C. W. The black-thatched Don hopes to shine in the Harvester backfield this fall.

Don wrote an informative and interesting letter as follows: "Dear Mom and all: We arrived in Colorado Monday night about 10:30. We liked to have frozen that night but have slept pretty well after we got to bed. Tuesday morning we went to Trinidad and bought $30 worth of grub. We have a nice

Gigantic TVA Dam To Be Dedicated Soon

The huge turbines of the General Joe Wheeler Dam, shown above, across the Tennessee river near Athens, in northern Alabama, will be put into operation September 10, when President Roosevelt presses a starting button in Washington. Speaker William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, will make the principal address, dedicating the second of the Tennessee Valley Authority's power-navigation-flood control projects. The huge dam, 6500 feet long and 72 feet high, which impounds a lake 84 miles long, cost approximately $33,800,000. Generators of the outdoor type, indicated by arrows, will send power over the vast system of TVA lines, supplementing that generated at the Wilson dam, 15 1/2 miles downstream.

BRITAIN ASKS 'SATISFACTION' FOR SHOOTING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP) Secretary Hull said today this government had served notice on Japan and China that it would demand respect of all of its rights and interests in the far east.

The secretary added that the governments of Japan and China were requested to observe these rights to the extent that they would be responsible for damages to this government, or its citizens, as a result of hostile operations.

Although Hull did not directly connect this notice to the conflicting powers with a reported threat by Japan to blockade Chinese ports, Hull said American consular officials had confirmed an announcement that Japan intended to enforce a blockade.

The blockade plans announced by Japan through press dispatches yesterday have been confirmed by American diplomats in the far east who said Japan intended to enforce "a peaceful blockade."

The government, Hull said, is continuing to assemble "full facts" as to the effects of the operation of such a blockade.

LONDON, Aug. 27. (AP)—Authoritative quarters said the British government's demand for "full satisfaction" for the wounding of its ambassador to China was presented today to the Japanese ambassador to London.

The demand was understood to have been made by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to Shigeru Yoshida, the Japanese envoy, when the latter called at the foreign office to tender officially Japan's regrets.

Sir Hugh Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen, Britain's ambassador, was gravely wounded Thursday when shot by Japanese airmen on the water between Nanking and Shanghai.

Ambassador Yoshida spent half an hour with the foreign secretary. Earlier in the day Qiu Tai-Chi, the Chinese ambassador, had visited Mr. Eden.

Informal sources said the British attitude was one of "exasperation and indignation."

May Withdraw Envoy Persons close to the government emphasized that the possibilities of obtaining "full satisfaction" was

Mrs. Lewis, Recent Bride, Shower Honoree Thursday

Complimenting Mrs. Clifford Lewis, recent bride, Mrs. Leo Smith and Miss Virginia Mason entertained with a shower yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Roy Tinsley.

A musical program, including accordion solos by Mary Jo Shellabarger, a Hawaiian song and dance by Marion Hoover who was accompanied by Jean Lively, and piano selections by Mrs. Irvin Cole, was presented.

The chosen color scheme of pink and white was used in the flowers and candies decorating the lace covered table. A corsage of pink and white flowers was presented to the honoree by the hostesses.

Pink and white ice cream, cake, and mints in small nut cups were served.

Guests who registered at a table covered with pink and white were Mrs. Earl Lewis, Mary Williams, W. J. Nevee, Joe Lewis, John Lawler, Cole, W. S. Kaiser, Robert Shell, A. L. Peacock, J. E. Pittman, Bill Fanning, Tinsley, Arthur Walberg, Norman Walberg, and Bill Tinsley.

Misses Barbara Grant, Hoover, Shellabarger, Madge Tiemann, Lively, Francis Hampton, Louise Collins, One Beryl Brandon, Margaret Stockstill, Johnnie Davis, the honoree and hostess.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. D. J. Brandon, K. E. Mason, Roy Eaton, W. M. Craven, Mary Anderson, Misses Rowena Wasson, Hadda Moore, Leona Lewis, and Doris Hall.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage on answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a person who goes into a ready-to-wear department store tell the clerk what size he or she wears?
2. Need there be anything doubtful about a personal shopper who advertises that her service is free to customers?
3. Does it show consideration to a salesperson to ask to see goods when the person looking has no intention of buying?
4. Is a person well-bred who abuses a store's approval privilege?
5. Is it thoughtful of a housewife consistently to choose the noon hour or late afternoon for her shopping?

What would you do if—

You think you have been treated discourteously by a salesperson—

- (a) Go straight to the management and report the matter?
- (b) Avoid having that person wait on you in the future?
- (c) Go home and write a letter to the store reporting the incident.

Answers

1. Yes, it is often embarrassing for the clerk to have to guess, particularly when the customer is a "perfect 46."
2. No, for she receives a sales commission from the merchant.
3. No.
4. No, because this is the only time when most business people can shop.
5. Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

This fall's shorter daytime coiffures and elaborate piled-high evening styles call for healthy, gleamingly lustrous hair. You cannot expect a new permanent or a new arrangement of curls and swirls to be satisfactory if your hair is too dry, too oily or too dull and lifeless to hold a wave.

After a summer in the sunshine, hot oil treatments are in order. If your budget does not allow for professional ones, simply apply the warm oil at home the night before your appointment in the beauty shop. Massage scalp, brush hair, and part it in small sections. Then put very warm olive oil on every inch of scalp and massage again. Wrap a clean towel around your head and leave the oil on all night. Next day, have a regular shampoo.

Persistent brushing really is the cure-all for practically every hair problem. However, although reputable hairdressers and cosmetics experts agree with this and advise their customers and readers to brush their hair each and every night, the fact remains that all too few women really do it. The majority own hairbrushes, but they don't use them—at least not correctly and regularly enough to derive real benefit. Yet, if they would, less would be heard about dandruff, excessive oiliness, dry conditions, falling hair and such.

If your hair is fairly coarse or inclined to be dry, by all means try a lemon or vinegar rinse after each shampoo. Wash, rinse, wash again, rinse twice, then rinse with three quarts lukewarm water mixed with the juice of two fresh lemons or half a cup of white vinegar (not both). Always finish with a clear water rinse.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Labor day usually ends up in a picnic, a get-together of some kind, and complete exhaustion for the women of the party. Confusion often comes from guess work. Women who are used to cooking for small families lose their bearings when a crowd appears. How many pounds of coffee are needed for 50 people?

The answers—1-4 pounds coffee, 1-4 quarts coffee cream and 1-2 pounds cut sugar. Simple when you know.

The following quantities are for 50 people, and if more are to be fed at the picnic or club gathering, multiply accordingly; or if less than fifty, divide the amount given here. Ice cream, of course, is part of every American gala menu. For fifty people get about 7 quarts. Eight would be more generous and six would get by, so compromise with seven.

Pie and Cake Needs

Pie, too, is a member of the national color guard. Use 8 10-inch pies. Cake, one of the refrains of our national anthem, must go to the picnic, too. Four large ones will do the work for fifty.

Sandwiches always appear in profusion. For 50 sandwiches, make 1 quart sandwich spread, use 2-1/2 pounds of butter, and 100 slices of bread or 100 rolls.

If you are taking along macaroni and cheese, kept warm, wrapped in cloths, for 50 people, you will need 1-1/2 pounds macaroni broken in small pieces, 4 quarts cream sauce, 3 pounds cheese. If baked beans are used, you will need 4 quarts of beans before they are baked. Ten quarts of potato salad is the right amount, 20 bunches celery and 3 quarts olives. This menu is suggested for the Labor day picnic, when you plan to make a fire; Frankfurters roasted on sticks, special frankfurter rolls which may be toasted, potatoes baked in their jackets in live coals, Mexican cole slaw, individual green apple pies, cheese, coffee and lemonade.

Keep your picnic and large crowd menus simple. Don't try to impress your guests with your originality but with the perfection of your outdoor menu. Keep calm. Nature is on your side, providing the mosquitoes and flies don't interfere.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF TWINS TO BE LARGEST

PORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 27 (AP)—This city will "see double" literally this week-end when approximately 3,000 twins—ranging from squealing baby "look-alikes" to those with white hair, or bald heads—come here from at least 13 states for the sixth annual convention of the National Twins' Association.

Edward M. Clink of Silver Lake, Ind., president, predicted this year's festival of fun would draw "the largest number of twins ever to assemble at one time."

Fort Wayne alone will have 600 twins on hand to be hosts and hostesses.

ECENTRIC TALKED OF KING, SMOKED CIGARS

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—It was on the record in Surrogate's court today that Mrs. Ida B. Wood, eccentric 83-year old recluse of the old Herald Square hotel, liked to settle back in an easy chair among her lavender and lace, light a cigar, and talk of Edward VII and Abraham Lincoln.

It was also on record that the wizened little old lady, with astonishing agility for one of her years and declining health, would frequently hop to a window and shrilly demand that a policeman be called—"Democratic or Republican, I don't care which because they're all the same."

Then it was necessary to quiet her, Miss Isabelle Johnstone, one of the three nurses who attended her before her death in 1932, testified yesterday. They would assure her, Miss Johnstone said, that her money—about $877,500—was safe. The money gave her a deal of worry and at one time she carried around about $900,000 in a bag hidden under her dress.

Surrogate Foley has already established five blood relatives of Mrs. Wood's husband as "next of kin," but there are more than 500 other claimants to the fortune. Lawyers for some of these are trying to prove to a window and shrilly demand that a policeman be called—"Democratic or Republican, I don't care which because they're all the same."

Bride-Elect Complimented At Tea Tuesday Afternoon

Miss Marjorie Tucker, bride-elect of Zeke Gaut, was honored by Mes. Bass Clay, Dan Gloxner, D. R. Coffey, Joe E. Foster, R. L. Edmondson, and R. E. Gatlin with a miscellaneous shower and tea Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clay, 1114 Mary Ellen street.

The receiving line was formed by the hostesses who wore dinner dresses and corsages of roses. The honoree and her mother, Mrs. R. W. Tucker, were presented with corsages.

Pink gladiolas, sweet peas, and asters decorated the house. The table, which was laid with a lace cover over blue satin, was centered with tall pink tapers in crystal candelabra, and a punch bowl, circled with gladiolas, sweet peas, and fern.

Misses Eloise Lane and Mattie Lee Clay entertained with piano and violin selections while Miss Tucker opened her gifts. Mrs. Gatlin sang "The Boy Who Stuttered and the Girl Who Lapsed."

Refreshments of chicken salad sandwiches, wafers, and oriental tea were served. Plate favors were small wedding rings, tied to silver bells with pink ribbon, bearing the announcement, "Marjorie and Perry, August 28, 1937."

Mrs. Coffee presided at the guest table. Those who registered were Mes. W. M. Moore, W. K. Hammark, Hugh Ellis, Walter Ririe, R. T. May, J. H. Lamb, E. A. Davis, C. E. Chatham, E. M. Dean, H. E. ## PICNIC PLANNED AT MEETING OF CLUB MEMBERS

Jon Mozetta was congratulated on having the best casserole or one-dish meal at the home of Mrs. H. H. Keahy when members of the Hopkins Home Demonstration club were guests of the Bell club Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Mozetta gave her recipe to those who wished to use it. It is as follows: 1 cup or 1 pint of fresh tomatoes, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 lb. hamburger meat, fried until brown; 5 medium onions, chopped; 3 tablespoons bacon fat or butter; 1 6 oz. package noodles, cooked 20 minutes in boiling salt water, and 1-2 lb. grated cheese.

Mix all of these ingredients together and bake for one hour with half of the cheese on top.

In a short business session, Mrs. L. C. O'Neal was elected council representative to take the place of Mrs. G. F. Bradbury who resigned recently.

A picnic at the Miami park was planned for Sunday afternoon instead of the regular monthly party. Those who plan to go to the picnic should meet at the Bell club house or the Jones-Everett Machine shop by 4 o'clock.

The casserole dishes were served with hot rolls and punch to eight club members and nine visitors.

Mrs. Laddie Korara will be hostess to the Bell club next Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

changed from this week-end to September 4. On that day the Order of Rainbow Girls from Pampa and Borger will meet in Panhandle at 7 o'clock and go to the canyon in a group.

Andrew Mellon Dies, Leaving About Half Billion

SECRETARY OF TREASURY FOR ELEVEN YEARS

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, who built one of the world's greatest fortunes out of banking, oil and aluminum and who spent his late years in the nation's service as secretary of the treasury and as ambassador to Great Britain, has passed from the American scene.

The shy, diffident, white-haired financier died peacefully last night in his 83rd year.

He died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. David K. E. Bruce after a month's illness from uremia and bronchial pneumonia. At his bedside as life ebbed away were his son-in-law and his son, Paul, and his daughter, Ailsa, Mrs. Bruce.

Mellon made no last statement or request as he passed away.

While men who had been associated with Mellon in his many and varied activities paid him tribute, plans were made for funeral services in Pittsburgh, where he was born and spent his life with the exception of his years in Washington and London.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at the East Liberty Presbyterian church, a magnificent edifice which Mellon and his brother, the late R. B. Mellon, made possible by their benefactions. The body will be taken to Pittsburgh late today.

Mellon was fabulously wealthy but the extent of his personal fortune was in the realm of speculation when he died. The only official estimate made public was $205,000,000, given by Mellon's secretary during hearing of the financier and his tax appeal in 1931. Friends said, however, they believed the combined fortune of the financier and his two children would amount to approximately $500,000,000.

Like John D. Rockefeller Sr. and other contemporaries, Mellon's personal fortune had been partly dissipated by the lavishness of his philanthropies.

Mellon's vast enterprises reached around the earth and gave employment to thousands. Banking, oil and aluminum were his principal interests and their corporate names were the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh, one of the nation's largest, the Gulf Oil Company, and the Aluminum Company of America, dominant in its field.

Only a few weeks before his last illness he visited President Roosevelt and made final arrangements for his last great public benefaction—establishment of a national gallery of art in the national capital with his $50,000,000 art collection, one of the finest extant, as the nucleus.

One of the last great statesmen-financiers of the nation, Andrew William Mellon successfully shunned the limelight and was little known to his countrymen until he became secretary of the treasury under President Warren G. Harding in 1921.

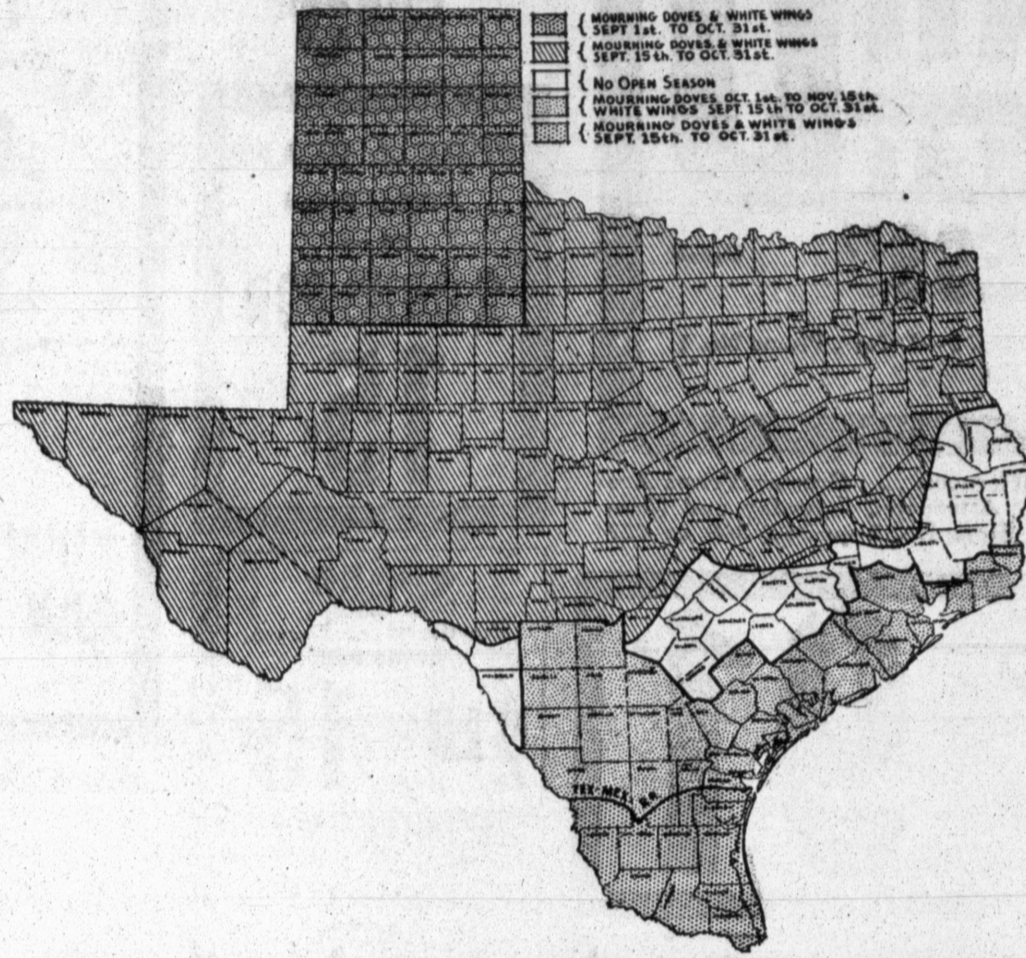

He remained on the job until 1932 when he retired to become ambassador to Great Britain.

Target of Demos. Fellow Republicans hailed him as "the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton," but he was the target of sharp attack by the Democrats who unsuccessfully attempted to drive him from office in 1924.

He was proud of his record as a cabinet officer and his party cited the reduction in the public debt from $23,737,000,000 in 1921 to $17,820,000,000 during his service. He met the criticism that the public debt had been reduced too rapidly with the statement that "far from hurting the country, it has been a great benefit to all those who needed capital."

Mellon retired to private life in 1933 when he resigned as ambassa-

Map Shows Limited Doved Season

The above map shows the seasons for mourning doves and white winged doves permitted under both State law and Federal regulations. Because the Federal regulation fixes an open season for both mourning doves and white-winged doves during the period September 15th to November 15th and the State law provides an open season December 1st to January 16th in eighteen counties and portions of fifteen other counties, the above map reveals that there will be no open season in those counties and a more limited season than provided by Federal regulations in most of the other counties of the state.

PROPOSED RAIL STRIKE ENDS IN COMPROMISE

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—A threatened strike of 360,000 workers who operate the nation's trains faded today as federal mediators tackled the job of settling a wage dispute. The strike threat was precipitated when representatives of 86 major railroads rejected the demands of the "big five" railroad brotherhoods for a 20 per cent wage increase. An offer by the national mediation board to seek a compromise was accepted by both sides yesterday, thus forestalling a strike in the immediate future.

A nation-wide walkout of conductors, engineers, switchmen, trainmen, and firemen was still a possibility although the agreement to accept federal mediation precluded such action for 30 days or more. Dr. William M. Leiserson, member of the board, was assigned to start hearings here tomorrow. Should the board fail to adjust the differences it was held likely the dispute would be placed before President Roosevelt. Officers for the United States coast guard are trained in a four-year course conducted at New London, Conn.

Decision Edison Made Before Death 5 Years Ago Saves Plant's Shutdown

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor
WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP)—Thomas A. Edison, five years after his death, outdid the spirits two weeks ago and made a decision which kept one of his largest manufacturing plants from shutting down.

The plant was the battery division of Thomas A. Edison, Inc. Nickel had been discovered in $40,000 worth of Swedish iron, used to make the negative "active materials" for alkaline batteries. This is an unusually pure form of iron and no more was available at the time in this country.

A staff conference was called to consider whether the nickel impurity ruined the iron for battery manufacture.

"How would you like to have Thomas A. Edison make the decision?" asked one of the conferees, George E. Stringfellow, vice president and general manager of the battery division.

Then he told them this story. In 1926, while Edison was the active consultant for the battery company, Stringfellow proposed:

"Mr. Edison, would you be willing to arrange to continue as consultant after you have passed on?"

"You are crazy," said Edison. "It might work," Stringfellow replied. "You invented the battery. In your mind there is information about it that no one else has. Will you let the staff give you written questions about the battery, every Saturday afternoon before you go home? You could bring the answers in writing to work on Monday morning."

Edison agreed. Eighty-seven questions were asked and answered in two years.

They were filed away in a black, loose-leaf book. It was forgotten by nearly everyone except Mr. Stringfellow. He brought it out for the staff conference two weeks ago.

No one knew whether it would contain the nickel question; ut it did.

"If there is nickel in iron," Stringfellow had written, "does it adversely affect the life of the cell?"

The cell is part of a battery. "No harm," Edison wrote. The conference accepted this decision. It turned out to be the correct one. Subsequent investigation showed that improved methods of chemical analysis had probably detected the present iron of small amounts of nickel that had previously escaped notice.

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The second Baron Rothschild, a member of the famous banking family, died early today at his home at Tring, Hertfordshire, after a long illness. He was 69 years old.

The baron, Lionel Walter Rothschild, was not a banker himself. He was deeply interested in zoology and was author of many writings in that field. His recreations included shooting and hunting.

Mother Slain

Husky, neatly dressed Weldon Edward Randall, shown above smiling as though he hadn't a care in the world as he plays at his home with relatives in Fort Wayne, Ind., doesn't yet know the circumstances under which he was born. Weldon was delivered eight months ago by Caesarian operation in Oakland, Calif., just 10 minutes before his mother died from a bullet wound in her temple, inflicted by her estranged husband.

WICHITA FALLS BOY FLOWN TO 'IRON LUNG'

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 27 (AP)—For the second time in less than a week the "iron lung" at St. John's hospital was held in readiness today to receive a young Texan stricken with infantile paralysis and flown here to be near the respirator.

Jimmy Montgomery, 10, was brought here from Wichita Falls last night in a serious condition. Today his physician, Dr. F. K. Smith, said the patient was "no better" though he had stood the trip well. The artificial respirator likely would be necessary to treat him, the doctor said.

The youth's parents, Judge and Mrs. Allen D. Montgomery, came here by chartered airplane early today. Pilot Fred Ridenour having made a second flight from Wichita Falls to bring them.

The boy was stricken ill Monday while he with his parents at their cabin on Lake Kemp near Wichita Falls. He is a member of a pioneer Wichita Falls family, the grandson of former Judge and Mrs. J. T. Montgomery.

Meantime, Paul Tapp, 22, University of Illinois senior flown here from Fort Worth Monday to be near the "iron lung," continued to improve. Although he still was regarded as virtually out of danger, it had not been necessary to place him in the respirator.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR CLAUDE

DALLAS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Three prominent Dallasites were injured in an automobile accident early today near Claude, Texas, according to information received here by relatives.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Lucas and Mrs. W. R. Ellis, wife of a Dallas insurance agent. Lucas, reported in a serious condition, was loan officer of the Southwestern Life Insurance company.

Mrs. Lucas, who was driving, was said to have suffered a fractured leg. Mrs. Ellis was injured only slightly. The party was returning from a vacation trip to Colorado Springs.

SOVIET FLIERS SEARCH GOES INTO THIRD WEEK

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 27 (AP)—Five of the missing Soviet transport fliers remained unknown today, two weeks after they were last heard from somewhere in the White Arctic. Pacific Alaska Airways pilots said they were convinced they never reached Alaska.

Sir George Hubert Wilkins, noted explorer carrying on the search in a Russian-owned 37-ton flying boat refueled at Coppermine, N. W. T., and prepared for a third long-distance flight.

Jimmie Mattern who withdrew from the search planned to remain

ITALIAN PREMIER GLAD OF SANTANDER VICTORY

ROME, Aug. 27 (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini jubilantly acclaimed the Spanish insurgents' capture of Santander today, a victory that cost Italy 341 soldiers killed and 1,676 wounded.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco telegraphed the Duce of his "pride in having your valorous legionnaires at my orders, together with sincere admiration for the daring and skill with which they carried out so rapid an advance."

Mussolini answered: "I am particularly happy that Italian legionnaires gave, during the ten days of sharp battle, a powerful contribution to the splendid victory of Santander. . . . This, now intimate, fraternity of our arms is a guarantee of the final victory which will liberate Spain and the Mediterranean from very threat to our common civilization."

Edinburgh booksellers say production of Sir James Barrie's scriptural play, "The Boy David" (with Elisabeth Bergner in the leading role) has led to an increase in sales of the Bible there.

The Continental divide runs thru New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana.

In Alaska for duration of the hunt. He said he would join the search again if conditions allowed use of his land plane.

FUNDS FOR GRAY COUNTY LAKE

You read yesterday that Gray county now has a wonderful opportunity to realize the dream of a lake and park site for all the people of the county with no cost to them.

The reference, of course, is to Uncle Sam's decision to spend $40,000,000 on lakes and ponds in the dust bowl area, with an estimated $4,750,000 of it coming into the Panhandle of Texas.

Gray county should be entitled to at least $200,000 of the amount to properly go through with its lake project out on McClellan Creek. And Gray county will have to go after it.

The campaign isn't won yet. It needs the hearty cooperation of every last official and citizen interested in the matter.

The federal government, it is understood, will buy the site, build the dam and create the lake. Then it will be through with its job. It is, of course, necessary to have the park site beautified. And that's where the state park board comes in. It is now being interested in the plan to make the Beaver Dam site a state park. The state will be asked to beautify it.

Nowhere in the Panhandle is there any greater need for a public recreation spot and a lake site than in Gray county where thousands of people must drive for hundreds and hundreds of miles if they are to find a public playground.

The whole plan is going to be talked about and hashed over at a meeting in Amarillo on Sept. 8 when the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority is sponsoring a five-state meeting to be attended by representatives from the entire dust bowl area affected by the huge government fund allocation.

Pampa should begin organizing now to send a huge delegation to this meeting to let the directors of the PWCA and the government authorities who will dispense the fund know just how great the interest really is in getting a Gray county lake.

It looks pretty good for all of the Panhandle right now. The horizon is rosy for the other lake site projects in other counties. Gray county wants to see the others get their just share of the government funds, but Gray county must be sure that she gets her just share, too.

Not the smallest detail should be overlooked. Gray county should learn all of the rules and regulations necessary to get the job done, and then live up to them to the letter.

The iron is hotter than hot and right now is the time to strike—if anything is to be accomplished.

Washington Letter

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—His Excellency, Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama, must have had a dark hour when the first rumor-monger suggested to him that he could appoint his wife to the senate post left vacant when Hugo L. Black was elevated to the Supreme Court.

The Graveses have been such pals. The governor must have thought of Mrs. Graves packing her bags and setting off for her lonesome vigil in the United States senate where, as a good Democrat, she would have to stand up under the stinging speeches of such active Republicans as Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Last Christmas the two of them went on a hunt with several friends. And who brought down the first buck against the whole field? None but Mrs. Dixie Graves. Stories from the South describe her as "at home with deep sea fishing tackle, shotgun, garden spade or silver lads" at a banquet table. That's a formidable set of accomplishments with which to enter the senate. Of course, it's a little confusing at first to know when to use fishing tackle, shotguns, garden spades or silver ladies in the senate. But the new senators seem to catch on right quickly.

Things you might like to know: Salary of legislators in the U. S. Island of Guam is $2 a year, which they lose if they are absent three sessions. Representative Wearin of Iowa received a gift of a red tie as indicative of his liberal views and he wore red ties thereafter every day—until it wasn't funny any more. Cockroaches are a pest in the handsome national capitol building, at times galloping across senators' desks and generally playing hob with documents filed in the basement. There is a campaign in Washington against raising the gasoline tax here above 2 cents. What's the level in your state?

Washington customers of a local store stand in droves to see a photographic reproduction of the constitution in a case similar to the one in which the original is kept. Yet up the street a short distance is the original in the Congressional library. It is open to the inspection of all, close up. You could count on your fingers the number who see it in an hour. But that's nothing. We know several natives of this political city who never have seen congress in session.

Tex's Topics

Everybody seems to be pretty well hopped up over prospects for that Gray county lake. . . And, that is just as it should be. . . Uncle Sam has the money ready, and there's no reason why we shouldn't get our share for a much-needed project. . . Buford Reed, the deputy sheriff, is wearing colored glasses, a la Hollywood, so he can't be so easily recognized. . . Joe Gordon, the county attorney, is plotting a trip down Odessa way to see about the Gray county school lands down around that region. . . The county, you know, is trying to get straightened out on the school lands, either by getting the money for them or getting the land back.

Charlie Maisel just phoned to say that he is writing Prof. Olin E. Hinkle, the new journalism instructor at Canyon, inviting him to come back and be one of the dignitaries at the Pampa Community picnic on Labor Day. . . The professor, no doubt, will be asked to discuss Kentucky and Kentuckians and say a word or two about how swell it is to be back in the Panhandle with home folks. . . A very close friend of the professor's reports that he had some difficulty mastering Kentucky English and no desire at all to speak it. . . We have just accepted two invitations to attend the "Alley Oop" trial at the meeting of the Lions club next week.

Nothing shows more clearly how the people of the United States have changed in a generation than a few melancholy reflections on the death of James McIntyre. As a member of the team of McIntyre and Heath he was known to everyone when father and grandfather was a boy. . . Back in the minstrel show days from the 1870's to 1900, the inimitable Mr. McIntyre played in shows that wowed 'em with "What Are the Wild Waves Saying" and "Hanna's at the Window Binding Shoes."

McIntyre was doing his famous soft-shoe dance when the traveling minstrel shows were burning deep into the American consciousness the song of Stephen C. Foster, "Way Down Upon the Swannee River," and the others. . . Into the sparsely settled towns of the new west went the "wagon shows" with their minstrel choruses, and men, and the wheezy jokes hurled at "Mistah Bones." . . But the proof of the popularity of this stage team of McIntyre and Heath lies in the fact that their show, "The Ham Tree," played seven or eight consecutive years, and was revived in whole or in part up to 1919. . . Only five years ago the aging team appeared with Rudy Callee on the radio.

We know what kind of songs made the tears run down into grandpa's bushy mustache. But what kind of gags rolled 'em in the aisles when "The Ham Tree" was the "Able's Irish Rose" of its day? . . . Heath would chide McIntyre (both in blackface) for discontent, and ask "Didn't I take you out of a livery stable where you were only getting $2 a week and put you on a salary of $20?" . . . "Shot Shot!" McIntyre would reply. "But ah used to GET the $2 from the livery stable." Whereupon the audience would fall out of the seats and roll convulsively in the aisles.

Try it on your youngest son and watch the blank stare, succeeded by incredulity that anyone could ever have thought THAT funny. . . Yet he will laugh himself hoarse when W. C. Fields asks Charlie McCarthy why he doesn't marry a cigar-store Indian and raise a lot of clothes-pins. . . Humor is about the most perishable stuff in life, and fashions in humor change more often and more sternly than fashions in hats. . . Many a father sits pretty blankly in company of his children and their friends trying hopelessly to join in the gaiety of "Be secin' yuh, toots!" or "How ya doin', fella!" . . . And yet, perhaps, it is a change of manner rather than of matter, and the witty Frenchman was right when he sighed, "The more it changes, the more it is the same thing."

Mrs. Frank Allison left three weeks ago to spend a week in Denver and hasn't returned yet. . . However, her son, Jack, writes back to Pop Allison that he's ready to come home, having been in Colorado for almost five weeks now. . . C. L. Stine, the city manager, recently returned from a week in Carolina, reports that part of the country is dust bowl territory, too. . . The difference is that the dust there is black, caused from coal. . . We've always said—no matter where you go you'll find something wrong with the country, so quick kicking, because you're pretty well off right here in the Panhandle.

I WONDER: Why Charlie Maisel doesn't invite Senator Black to speak at the Pampa community picnic on Labor Day. . . That's one sure way of keeping it out of the red, if there is any doubt about it.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO
An urgent request for people of Gray county to save their best farm products for the exhibit to be shown at the Amarillo Tri-State Exposition was made by J. L. Lester, chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

FIVE YEARS AGO
Returns from the primary elections showed that Elmer Cary, C. E. Pipes, Frank Hill, and John Haggard defeated their opponents.

Oil production in the Panhandle increased 456 barrels during the week. Gray county's petroleum yield was off 743 barrels, the production being 33,059 barrels from 797 wells as compared with 33,877 barrels during the previous week.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — If you are one of a dozen or so newspaper scribes who attended a certain sailing one night last February, you will be familiar with the Mildew club.

On the off chance that most of you weren't there, however, it may amuse you to know that there is such a club—and it came about in this manner:

On a damply chill night, so nastily unseasonable that only the very foolish or the very brave would think of leaving their firesides, a dozen of us piled into a hack and were driven down town to a certain pier. One of the big de luxe liners was sailing.

Hurrying up the gangplank, dripping wet, we spied the figure of a well-known producer at being hailed by the press, a unique circumstance in this publicity-seeking village.

Well? His daughter was sailing incognito in hope that she might quietly "forget" an impertinent young fortune-hunter whose ardent wooing had been abruptly terminated by papa himself. Papa, at this moment, was a much annoyed hombre, and while he said nothing on this score, he visibly winced every time he thought of the burbs that would appear in the newspapers the next day.

Such a one was this, and it wasn't a week or two before the producer dropped each of the scribes a lilt-onic note, expressing his thanks.

He wanted, he said, to show his sincere gratification for the favor that had been extended, and so he had formed a little club. The Mildew club—because it had happened on such a damp night.

Its workings were simple. The members simply were armed with a secret pass-word. This password, discreetly whispered into the ear of the doorman of any of his theaters, brings immediate admittance.

This producer, it is probable, a dozen dramatic attractions on the boards each season.

But members of the Mildew club never have to worry about tickets. They merely saunter to the door and do their stuff!

Somebody should compile an anthology of forgettable names that have appeared in dramas, past and current. . . A starter would be, 1) the defunct who played Slug-Eye in "Singapore Joe," 2) the kid who played Spit in "Dead End," and 3), Mother Goddam in "Shanghai Gesture."

People You Know

Here's a grateful, friendly salute of the old-time, informal Western variety in the song of leaving their firesides, a dozen of us piled into a hack and were driven down town to a certain pier. One of the big de luxe liners was sailing.

Hurrying up the gangplank, dripping wet, we spied the figure of a well-known producer at being hailed by the press, a unique circumstance in this publicity-seeking village.

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Unreel parade: Virginia Grey has Wallace Beery's old dressing room at Metro. . . As a child Virginia was given candy by Wally. . . She was the daughter of Ray Grey, late comedy director, and next-door-neighbor to Wally when Gloria Swanson was Missus Beery. . . She knew all the movie people then. . . but when Virginia got a bit in "Old Hutch" with Beery she didn't remind him of their acquaintance. . . Thought it would be coasting on dad's fame.

When Grey died, Virginia's mother went to work as a cutter. . . The daughter got parts in pictures occasionally, but had given up when Billy Grady, the caster, saw her. . . She danced in "The Great Ziegfeld" later stood in for Madge Evans and Florence Rice, but the lead opposite George Murphy in a musical miniature stepped up her career. . . Now she has her first featured lead, in "Bad Guy."

Personal Service
The clamp-down on visitors at the studios has boomed the movie home guide business. . . The other day you could count nine guide cars in a two-and-a-half mile stretch along Sunset boulevard. . . The boys in an office at Paramount were startled by the reverberations of pistol fire outside their windows. . . DeMille's casting his guns personally. . . cracked one. . . But funnier than that, DeMille was casting his guns personally. . . He insisted that each weapon be fired—tested for sound—before it won a part in "The Buccaneer."

Personal Impression: Adolph Zukor is best liked by the rank and file of his employes, among all the studio big-wigs. . . Probably because he is as unassuming as the least of them.

Famous Last Line
Related publicity item arrives heralding June Lang's intention to learn cooking (for husband Victor Orsatti) as soon as she finishes her current picture. . . Item is dated a week or two before the Orsattis took it to court. . . But maybe that's one big trouble with Hollywood marriages: they don't last long enough for the bride to try her first biscuits.

It can't be money that's keeping Katharine Cornell out of pictures. . . One of the offers she's had and turned down was for a million dollars (for two pictures) and the right to put both of them on the shelf if she didn't like the finished product. . . The producer who made this unparalleled bid was the late Thalberg.

In "Easy Living," a Paramount picture, Jean Arthur has the fade-out line: "This is where we came in." . . It was funny the first time, and the second, too, if you hadn't seen "Easy Living" already. . . The strange thing is that the "Artists and Models" staff knew the other picture had used it already. . . But maybe that's going to be the new Paramount slogan.

Castle Mains, on the outskirts of Glasgow, with its 14th century keep, six-foot walls and dungeon, is being prepared as a holiday camp for the city's Boy Scouts.

likely to die of other diseases at a younger age." Or again, "We live long enough to die of heart disease." There is no real rising tide of heart disease. The gross figures on heart disease deaths require nothing short of clairvoyance for correct interpretation. The best controlled studies seem to reveal a substantial reduction in the prevalence of heart disease during the last quarter of a century in practically all age groups, save the advance. In the latter there are no doubt quite a number who in times past would have died at an earlier age of other diseases.

HUNDREDS KILLED FROM JAPANESE AIR ATTACKS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27 (AP)—Japanese morning air raids on Nanking were reported today to have killed or wounded hundreds of civilians.

They prompted the American ambassador and other foreign envoys in Nanking to ask Japan to promise to confine the bombing of the Chinese capital to military objectives.

Dispatches from Nanking were delayed and fragmentary—presumably due to censorship. Reports were sufficient, however, to indicate the latest raids were the most destructive suffered by the capital since warfare began in the Yangtze valley two weeks ago.

Answers To Questions

By FREDERICK HASKINS

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. How many days in the year are there which are not holidays in some country? L. D.
A. Counting Saturdays as holidays, there are only 57 days in the present year which are not holidays somewhere.

Q. What are the specifications for a bat used in organized baseball? R. W. C.
A. The bat must be round, not over two and three-fourths inches in diameter at the thickest part, nor more than 42 inches in length, and entirely of hard wood. Twine may be around it or a granulated substance applied to it for a distance of 18 inches from the end of the handle, but not elsewhere. A bat loaded with a metal filling is not legal. In junior games lighter and shorter bats are permissible.

Q. Who characterized Al Smith as the best informed man on the business of the State of New York? H. G.
A. Elihu Root described him as such.

Q. How many play parks are there in New York City? A. P.
A. There are now 313 in active operation. Almost 200 of these have been conditioned in the past two years. Most of them are in underprivileged areas. Their use has resulted in a reduction in juvenile delinquency and accidents to children.

Q. How many members has the Order of the Eastern Star? W. C. B.
A. There are now 11,235 chapters with a membership of approximately 1,600,000.

Q. Where can I find a short story by William Allen White called "The King of Boyville"? W. T.
A. It is in a collection of Kansas short stories called, "The Real Issue."

Q. In what picture did Frederic March play his first screen part? E. J.
A. His first part was as a member of the mob in a picture called "Pickering" starring Dorothy Dickson.

Book A Day

By BRUCE CATTON

Many people opine that the art of the essay, like the art of conversation, is lost. An able refutation of this contention is Small Talk by Harold Nicolson (Harcourt, Brace, $2) in which the author merges the best features of both essay and conversation in a wholly delightful, thought-provoking volume.

The reader will find the high point of the book in an interview with a young Nazi, which took place beside a bathing pool at Osterwitz. It is noteworthy for its penetration and great suggestiveness.

Another picture, not soon to be forgotten, is that of Arthur James Balfour in the essay "Cure for Overwork," in which the great statesman handed his weary subordinate a sheaf of detective stories to distract his mind during the hectic days of the Paris Peace Conference.

There are as well a number of interesting and amusing essays on America, namely "American and English Humor," "Vision of America," "What Struck Me Most in America," and "A Defense of the American Man." They are humorous, analytical and provocative.—E. M. T.

FARMERS TO CONSIDER VARIOUS RESOLUTIONS

DALLAS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Members of the Texas grange, in convention here, will consider today resolutions applying to farmers and state and federal governments.

Included were resolutions: Favoring a 20 cent state ad valorem school tax; setting per capita apportionment at $22 for five years, starting next year; improvement of rural roads; additional funds for transportation of rural school children; a farm-tenancy bill similar to the defeated Bankhead-Jones act.

Ralph W. Moore of Granger, state president, said last night he expected another legislative attempt to abolish the state department of agriculture in the next session and termed the department the only one "that really represents the farmer" in the state government.

Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul spoke on the necessity of soil conservation, organization and diversified farming.

American Educated Woman Moulds Destinies of East

By NEA Service.

The most powerful woman in the world at the moment is a fragile, black-eyed, black-haired figure who looks exactly like a painting on a Chinese screen.

She is Madame Chiang Kai-shek, who before she married the man who holds China's future and the history of the east in his hand, was Mei-ling Soong, one of the many Chinese girls who come to America to study at college.

True, Mei-ling was distinguished at Wesleyan College at Macon, Ga., and later at Wellesley, where she was graduated in 1917, for her social grace, her scholarship, and for the fact that she represented the most distinguished family in China. But none of her fellow students foresaw for her a career so wildly melodramatic, so exacting in the immediacy of its problems, as Madame Chiang has passed through during the past 10 years, and is living hourly today.

Carries Heavy Burden

Wife of the Chinese general who also heads the country's government, Madame Chiang has seen the western world he has never seen, tireless worker in movements aimed at modernizing in desperate haste a backward country, truster private secretary and constant companion in a hectic whirl of politics and strife, the little Mei-ling who drank tea with such grace in the square at Wellesley 20 years ago is a story-book character. In the mad vortex that is China today, this tiny woman who is not yet quite 40 carries an unbelievable burden, and her quiet tongue speaks with the voice of history.

All three of the daughters of Charles Soong, Vanderbilt graduate, came to Wesleyan to study, because Soong was a devout Southern Methodist, a founder of the Y. M. C. A. in China, and a Bible publisher. He was also a revolutionist and the secretary-treasurer to Dr. Sun Yat Sen, "China's George Washington." All the Soongs think like Americans.

Has Distinguished Connections

The eldest daughter, Ai-ling, married Dr. H. H. King, wealthy finance minister of the present Nanking government, who has been recently in Europe and America raising huge loans for China. The second sister, Ching-ling, married Dr. Sun Yat Sen himself in his old age, an act of devotion to his revolutionary career, whose hardships and dangers she shared with him. She is much beloved in China, and now somewhat estranged from the Nanking government, over policy.

The eldest daughter of these sisters, T. V. Soong, former cabinet minister of the revolutionary government and a most able administrator.

The Soongs didn't like it much when Mei-ling, the "spotted darling" of the family, was married to the rising militarist of humble ancestry who was then only another Chinese war lord, Mei-ling could have married practically any man in China, and Chiang had already divorced one wife and had five other concubines after Mei-ling's American ideas rebelled against them.

Saw Poet in Chiang

But Mei-ling really loved Chiang. She saw in him things others had not seen, as on the day when she stood walking in the garden of white plum blossoms in full flower. He picked some of the good-luck omens and gave them to Mei-ling in a bamboo basket. "He has the courage of the soldier," she wrote later, "and the sensitive soul of the poet."

In 1927, family objections having been largely overcome, Mei-ling and Chiang were married in Shanghai, first in a private Methodist service at home, then again in a magnificent ceremony at the Majestic Hotel in the International Settlement before 3,000 guests. That very hotel today is under the fire of opposing Japanese and Chinese troops.

Close to Chiang's side through the turbulent years that followed Mei-ling has remained, and identified with him to obscure and pestilential Chinese towns in his campaigns against the Communist armies. She served tirelessly as a trusted secretary in a country where secretaries too often betray. She founded schools for children orphaned by China's civil wars. She looked after Chiang's health, made him take care of himself. She converted him to Christianity, which he avowed in 1930.

It was Mei-ling who pushed Chinese aviation to the forefront. She was the one who had the best available American plane for his rush trips about the vast country. She has been active in the development of China's military air force, and in civil aviation, flying fearlessly at all hours and under all conditions.

In 1935, with part of the army in revolt in Fukien, Madame Chiang flew over desperate mountain territory by night when Chiang went to suppress the revolt. She personally negotiated the surrender of some of the mutineers. In Kiang once, she was at field headquarters with the general when sudden rifle fire rang out in the night. By feeble candlelight she quickly dressed and sorted out valuable papers and prepared to burn them if their camp should be captured. The hardships of a life of this kind are hard to associate with the picture book fragility of Madame Chiang.

Only last year came the scarcely believable episode of the kidnaping of Chiang, in which his wife probably saved his life, and very possibly saved China from another disastrous civil war, paving the way for the present near unity in the face of Japan.

Breaks Kidnap Plot

In December of 1936, Chiang was seized and kidnaped by Chang Hsueh-liang, notorious provincial general. Within the walls of Sianfu, Chiang lay captive, smoldering and refusing to listen to Chang's demands. Nanking was terrified with its "strong man" a captive, and an attack was about to be launched on Sianfu, which would probably have brought death to Madame Chiang's husband, and launched China into another decade of civil war.

With a pilot and one trusted adviser, Madame Chiang flew 700 miles from Nanking to Sianfu, and took her life in her hands to make a personal appeal to Chang. Several days were passed in tense negotiations, after which Chiang's release was obtained free of obligation and Chang actually returned to Nanking with him as a "prisoner." It may well be that the new Chinese unity dates from that incident.

Madame Chiang is in the midst of the rising Chinese resistance in the present crisis, and whatever Chinese policy and actions arise from it will be in large part her doing. "I feel that God has given me a work to do for China," she wrote not long ago. Once a peasant girl in the French village of Domremy, talked like that. They called her Joan of Arc.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, August 29.
The Golden Text is: "The Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son; that all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father" (John 5:22, 23).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world" (1 John 4:14).

The Lesson-sermon includes also the Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "All must sooner or later plant themselves in Christ, the true idea of God" (page 54).

Sunday, 11 a. m.
Sunday school, 9:30.
Wednesday, 8 p. m.
The reading room in the church edifice is open Tuesday and Friday from 2 to 4 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend our services and use the reading room.

On Capital Hill

By HARRELL E. LEE

AUSTIN, Aug. 27 (AP)—Members of the Texas Legislature eagerly await the announcement of the number of old age pensioners on the September rolls.

The list started dwindling in June and has been on the downgrade since. Some believe the bottom virtually has been reached while others feel about 17,000 more will be cut off.

Many in the legislature, especially the House, oppose further curtailment. They feel that the 117,665 persons who received aid this month deserve it and that average grants are too low.

The trimming program this summer has given the lawgivers a collective headache. Constituents dropped from the lists have implored the legislators to find out why and try to get them restored.

It will be interesting to note whether the rolls are slashed further in the face of the impending special session, or sessions, of the legislature.

When the lawmakers convened in regular session last January, the rolls contained 93,129 names. By May, the last month of the session, they had swelled to 129,805 and then started declining.

One reason for the large increase in the spring, however, was that the pension organization previously had been far behind in investigating applications.

The House held a special inquiry near the close of the anti-gambling session in an effort to get to the bottom of reports that 30,000 persons would be taken from the rolls over a six-months period.

Pension authorities insisted then they had no certain figure in mind but were re-examining all recipients to determine whether they were eligible under the delimitation law enacted last fall.

In three months, a total of 12,140 persons was dropped.

Opinions differ as to the amount of additional taxes the legislature should impose this fall for support of the pension program. There must be some additional revenue if the rolls are to continue above 100,000.

Gov. L. A. Austin, auditor for the pension organization, said if the average number of recipients and size of grants was about the same as in July an extra $150,000 per month would be needed.

AUSTIN, Aug. 27 (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred said a day after returning from a two-weeks vacation in Mexico he had selected tentatively the week of Sept. 20 for calling the Texas Legislature into extraordinary session to raise new revenue for social activities and other governmental requirements.

The August Texas heat perhaps had much to do with delaying the call until early fall. Although he had found a top coat comfortable in the late afternoon and evening in the high altitude of the Mexican capital, the governor said he did not want a session while it was "so hot."

Presiding officers of the House and Senate probably will have to spend much time in the tax session ruling on points of order.

Some members take the position submission of taxes will open the way to consideration of appropriations and governmental consolidation. Sponsors of the proposal to re-allocate the state ad valorem tax to the counties where it is collected may endeavor to obtain action on that subject. It will be up to Lieut. Gov. Woodul and Speaker Calvert to determine whether these matters may be considered.

It is highly doubtful, however, that more points of order will be advanced than during the anti-gambling session in June. Several veteran legislators said that was the worst "point-of-order" session in their experience.

Gov. Allred probably could have done quite a bit of campaigning for a third term while in Mexico if he had so desired and could have found the time.

The hotels at Monterrey, Mexico City and points between and nearby have been the vacation homes of thousands of Texans this summer. Texas automobile license plates have attracted little more attention on the other side of the Rio Grande than on this side.

One Texas vacationist jokingly remarked that the two things he most missed in the Southern Republic were Mexican food and Mexicans.

3 DALLAS RESIDENTS INJURED IN CAR CRASH

AMARILLO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Three prominent Dallas residents, injured seriously in a car accident Thursday morning near Claude...

The trio, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Lucas and Mrs. Lucas' sister, Mrs. W. R. Ellis, were injured when a fire on their car blew out and the vehicle careened into the narrow ditch and overturned.

Mr. Lucas, loan officer of the Southwestern Life Insurance company, suffered a broken vertebra in his neck. A fracture specialist (Dr. Sim Driver) was rushed here by plane Thursday evening to treat him.

Mrs. Lucas suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and severe bruises.

Mrs. Ellis suffered severe bruises. The accident took a peculiar twist as two quirks of fate prevented the incident from being more serious.

But for an earlier accident to the maid with the family on their vacation trip to Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Lucas' daughter, Mrs. W. W. Overton, and her two children would have been in the demolished car.

The maid roke her ankle in Colorado, so Mrs. Overton and the children accompanied her home on the train.

One of the first persons to the scene of the accident was a Dr. Ellis of Clarendon, who found Mrs. Lucas in serious condition, bleeding profusely from the broken bone protruding from her skull.

He stopped the bleeding and made Mrs. Lucas as comfortable as possible, then administered first aid to the other victims.

600,000 BARRELS SET AS DAILY ALLOWABLE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 27 (AP)—Oklahoma's September oil allowance was set at 600,000 barrels daily by the Corporation Commission today...

The August allowable was 633,400 barrels daily. The Oklahoma City-Wilcox zone, the only class A pool in the state, was trimmed from 128,000 barrels daily for August to 113,516 for September.

Class B pools were reduced from 137,100 barrels daily to 134,707; class C from 144,000 to 128,681; unclassified prorated areas from 45,500 to 42,021. Class D pools were raised from 15,800 barrels daily to 18,075 in September.

Unprorated areas composed of over 50,000 wells producing on to three or four barrels a day, were left unchanged at 163,000 barrels.

"very limited." This strengthened a widespread belief that Britain might be compelled to withdraw its ambassador, Sir Robert L. Craigie, from Tokyo.

Sir Hugh Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen, his back broken by a Japanese machine gun bullet, was in a critical condition in a Shanghai hospital. Indignant foreign officials were said to take a grave view of the attack made on the envoy's car by Japanese bombers in the Shanghai area of undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

Explanations from the Japanese government were awaited momentarily before a fateful decision was made on just what would constitute the "appropriate action" the government has pledged itself to take.

Virtual Ultimatum Britain was understood to be considering a three-point demand for satisfaction that would amount to a virtual ultimatum to Japan. These were:

1. Drastic punishment of the airmen involved in the attack.

2. Guarantee from Tokyo that steps would be taken at once to prevent any possibility of recurrence of such an incident.

3. Full compensation for the victim.

Should the Japanese government not give full satisfaction, it was suggested in some quarters that Britain might withdraw Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador to Japan, from Tokyo temporarily, in effect severing diplomatic relations.

Japs Deny Casualties SHANGHAI, Aug. 27 (AP)—Three divisions of China's finest rushed tonight to a smoking, thundering battleground northwest of Shanghai, where Chinese fought desperately to stem a Japanese charge against the back door to this city of undeclared war.

Bombs, shells and machine gun fire turned Lotien, 12 miles northwest of Shanghai, into a smoking heap of ashes.

Near the town, waves of Japanese infantrymen met a sheet of machine gun fire in a bayonet charge through shimmering rice fields.

While the battle of Lotien raged to the northwest, Sir Hugh Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen, Britain's ambassador to China, wounded yesterday by Japanese machine gun bullets, rallied slightly after a blood transfusion from a United States seaman.

His life still was in danger, but physicians said his general condition was improved.

The tide of battle swung from side to side, thousands were killed or wounded.

Japanese, late today, claimed occupation of Lotien, foothold for an advance on Kiangwan, just northwest of Shanghai proper. But the town, as such, was no more.

The thirty-hour battle of Lotien opened with heavy artillery bombardment. Two Chinese divisions held a thin line. From positions in the rear, machine guns were trained on their backs to force them to stand fast.

After continuous shelling, Japanese infantrymen fixed bayonets and went over the top. Storming through machine gun and rifle fire they met Chinese forces hand-to-hand, a Japanese company commander, leading the charge, either was killed or wounded. Another Japanese officer was seriously wounded.

The thunder of exploding shells and bombs echoed in Shanghai. Caravans of Chinese motor trucks, loaded with arms and munitions, trudged toward the new front, thousands of Chinese troops rushed to the lines under a Japanese air bombardment.

Today's battle carried destruction well away from the closer-in scenes of two weeks of Shanghai war. Chinese said three thousand

WOOL

BOSTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: "The wool market is stagnant. Here and there a small lot of wool moved for some necessity but the mills are showing the utmost indifference to offerings and in the west, there is very little interest being shown and some growers have offered to sell at half-cent decline but with no success."

The piece goods markets are affording no encouragement to the trade. Both in men's and women's wear lines, there is little business being done and not much is expected until after the Jewish holidays.

Mohair demand is light with prices steady. The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Domestic: Scoured basis: Texas: Fine 12 months selected 97-98; fine comb 10 months 94-96; fine 8 months 92-93; fall 90-92.

Mohair: Domestic, good residual bag, Texas: Arizona and New Mexican, 63-65; Oregon 63-67.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON The market made new lows for the season after mid-session under hedge selling and a moderate amount of new selling which was induced by favorable weather in the west, there is very little interest being shown and some growers have offered to sell at half-cent decline but with no success.

Cattle 800; calves 300; no beef steers or yearlings of consequence offered; small lot grass slaughter heifers down from 7.50; most grass fat cows 4.75-6.75; grade to top vealers 10.00; most killing calves down from 8.00; few fat heavy calves 9.00-10.00.

Sheep 3,000; lambs and yearlings strong to 25 higher; odd lots sheep steady; top native lambs 10.50; others down from 10.25; Colorado yearlings 8.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—A four cents drop in September corn, the limit in one session, unsettled prices of all grains today. Wheat led, all of early grain of almost two cents abashed.

Higher wheat prices abroad, drought in Argentina, rumors of German and wheat an international complications in the Far East were factors behind the grain early in the session. Corn's break accompanied a fall of four cents a bushel in prices of the cereal for immediate delivery. Corn receipts here were higher.

Wheat closed 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher compared with yesterday's final. September 1.06 1/2, December 1.08 1/2, and corn was 2 1/2 to 4 cents down, September 90 1/2, December 84 1/2. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 higher.

WOMAN PHOTOGRAPHER RETURNS FROM BATTLES

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27 (AP)—Lipstick and revolver side-by-side, wearing shorts and tramping through China's war-torn mud in high heels, Joy Lacks, special Associated Press photographer, returned here from the North China battle fronts.

Pretty and 23, she amazed Chinese, English and American news-papers with her daring. She shot with the camera while soldiers beside her used guns.

One of her narrow escapes came during the desperate battle of Nanyuan where, she said, Japanese forces, after inviting the Chinese for a conference, slaughtered unarmed Chinese soldiers in their barracks.

Long illness takes Clarence Basil Morse.

Clarence Basil Morse, 38-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morse, died at the home of his parents at 10 o'clock this morning. He had been in ill health for the past six months.

He is survived by his mother and father, his brothers, E. A. Morse, J. G. Morse, and Bill Morse of Pampa and J. A. Morse of Corsicana; two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Hopper of Mexico and Lillian Morse of Pampa.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home and are awaiting word from relatives in other cities. Services will probably be tomorrow.

EWELL TURNER KILLED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

LAREDO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Ewell Norman Turner, 47, a Corpus Christi cafe employee, was killed on the highway east of here today when the automobile in which he was riding overturned.

Miss Minnie Pearl Atchley and Miss Lettie May Floyd, who were in the automobile, were injured, neither seriously. Turner died in an ambulance en route to Laredo. The trio was en route to Laredo from Corpus Christi.

Auto Union Head Gets Ovation at Convention

Wildly cheered for 53 minutes and carried on the shoulders of his enthusiastic supporters, President Homer Martin opened the annual convention of the United Auto Workers, at Milwaukee. Martin's re-election is uncontested, but there is a bitter factional fight over election of vice presidents and over centralized control within the union. The smiling ex-minister who heads the auto workers is shown above on the shoulders of his supporters as banner-carrying delegates milled about the hall in true national political convention style.

With Miss Traung is Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., Pacific coast titleholder and one of the tournament favorites.

He's Gathering Broadway Items Illinois Climate Grows 'Em Tall

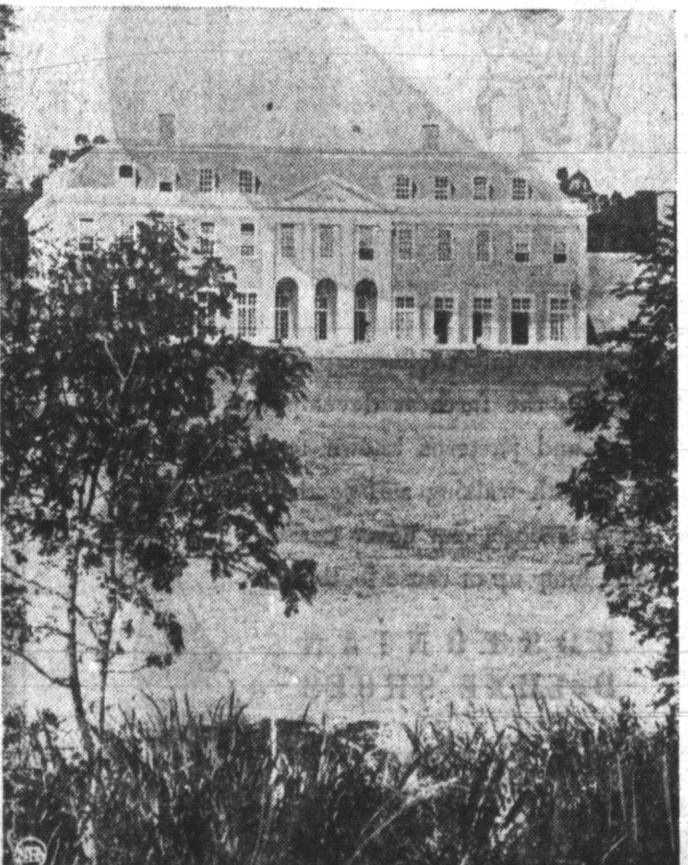

Finlay Petrie of Opal, Wyo., is missing from his usual haunts, but it's nothing to worry about. He's just gone east to collect on that prize he won for being the best rural correspondent. He's the blue ribbon reporter out of 3500 entrants in the contest. Finlay looks quite happy above, sight-seeing in New York. Watch out, Finlay, and don't let those chorus girls vamp you.

There must be something about the Illinois climate that produces proportions in both man and corn, such as shown above. Robert Wadlow, right, of Alton, 8 feet 7 inches tall, is shown as he admires a prize-winning stalk of corn standing 16 feet 2 inches, at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield. If you don't think Robert or the corn is tall, compare them with the average-sized man standing at the left.

Owner Claims World's Largest Porker

Pork is headed upward but this ponderous paradox of porcine pulchritude is staying down, declares Matt Shibles, of Newburg, Me., owner of the living mass of 1600 pounds of fresh pork, on the hoof. Ten feet long, and nine feet in circumference at the shoulder, the hog, and he really is a hog, requires 10 quarts of milk twice daily, with four or five dozen eggs tossed in occasionally as a tonic. A pulley and sling are used to lift and hold him on his feet. # UPSTART WILL PLAY GOODMAN IN GOLF MEET

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 27 (AP)—A young upstart from the Pacific northwest who has never won a title of any kind—Marvin (Bud) Ward—caused a lot of commotion in the National Amateur Golf tournament here today when he joined three big-shots in the 36-hole semi-finals. Champion Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, Johnny Goodman of Omaha and Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., were the other survivors.

Goodman was to find out first just how tough this Ward fellow might be in the lower-bracket battle today.

Fischer, only two matches away from successfully defending the crown he won last year took on Billows, New York state champion, in the other long-distance battle.

Ward beat Fred Haas of Baton Rouge, La., national intercollegiate champion, at the 21st hole and Winfield Day, of San Gabriel, Calif., at the 19th.

Fischer, seeking the distinction of being the seventh man to win the title two years in succession, eliminated Bill Holt of Syracuse, N. Y., 5 and 4, and 47-year-old Chick Evans of Chicago, 1 up yesterday.

Goodman, playing steadily was three over par in defeating Lieut. Ken Rogers of Honolulu, 3 and 1, in the morning, and was one over when he eliminated Don Moe, the Portland pride, 2 and 1 in the afternoon.

Billows became a strong threat when he disposed of two strong contenders, Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., 3 and 2, and then Reynolds Smith of Dallas, Texas, a former Walker cup player, 2 up.

Five Countries Represented in Doubles Matches

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 27 (AP)—Players representing five countries competed in as many quarter-final matches in the men's and women's divisions of the material doubles tournament today.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Henner Henkel of Germany, favored to oppose defending champions Don Budge and Gene Mako in Sunday's final, were to meet Martin Buxby, Miami, and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore.

Johnny Van Ryn and Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, were slated against Jacques Brugnon and Yvon Petra of France.

Six feminine teams battle for three semi-final brackets. The defending titlist, Miss Carolyn Babcock and Mrs. Van Ryn will oppose Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., and the Polish girl, Jadwiga Jedzejewska.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of New York and Mme. Sylvia Henortin of France meet Kay Stammers and Freda Jam of England.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry and Alice Marble gained the semi-finals yesterday by defeating Anita Lizana, Chile, and Marie Horn, Germany, 6-3, 6-3.

Helene Jacobs, and Gracy Wheeler will engage the second ranking British forces, Evelyn Dearman and Joan Ingram today.

Budge and Mako yesterday gained a 5-10-3, 6-2 victory over Bobby Riggs and Bernie Coghlan.

Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, Atlanta, and Wayne Sabin, Los Angeles, became the defending champions' semi-final rivals when they out-steadied Gregory Mangin, New York, and Jiro Yamaguchi, the Japanese titlist, for a 7-5, 7-10, 9-7, 6-6, 6-4 victory.

That's perfectly all right, officers said, except that Lodge Pole has no jail.

Chapter II
 Dinner was forgotten in their excitement. The letter from Uncle Ben's attorney gave the address of the marina where the boat was in storage, and Priscilla was all for having a look at Kay's new possession immediately. Kay and Melita were not far behind in enthusiasm, and it was agreed they should visit the boat moorage before dining out. The three slipped into beach clothes first.

A 20-minute ride in Kay's car brought them to within a block of that section of the bay shore where Uncle Ben's boat had long been idle. "There's the place!" Kay said. "West Shore Boat Moorage." Eagerly they started toward the huge black and white sign which marked the place. Soon they got a glimpse of the boats moored there, some still canvas covered and a few uncovered and outfitted for the new season. There were small outboard powered runabouts and two or three good-sized yachts—and every type and size of pleasure craft in between. The girls found themselves wondering which was Kay Dearborn's.

Ways to Close Crime Corridor in Texas Urged

AUSTIN, Aug. 27 (AP)—A statewide communication system linking detective and identification bureaus of all major cities was recommended today as one means of closing Texas' "crime corridor."

The suggestion came from V. A. Leonard of Fort Worth president of the Texas division, International Association for Identification, in convention here.

Leonard, who told the convention the crime rate of each community is a by-product of general conditions in surrounding territory, deplored the lack of police communication on a territorial basis.

He said city police departments at large were approaching crime in a comparative state of isolation.

"Down through the crime corridor of Texas, embracing Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Houston, San Antonio, Beaumont, Galveston and Port Arthur the criminal element disperses at random on a network of speedy highways," Leonard said.

"An examination reveals there is little significant difference between the crime rates of these communities. Yet in spite of developments of recent years there has been no attempt worthy of the name to establish police communications on a territorial basis."

He said the rapid dissemination of crime information ultimately would result in large savings, and pointed to an expense of $3,500 in solving an average robbery which required the work of investigators in five cities, clerical work, telegrams and other expenses, although only two weeks elapsed between commission of the crime and arrest.

Argentina is primarily an agricultural country, importing 75 per cent of the manufactured products it uses.

RACE WRITER WANTS HIS ASHES SCATTERED

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Even in death William F. (Bill) Sturm, nationally known automobile race writer and participant, wanted to be a part of the Indianapolis Speedway.

Before he died yesterday he told

W. F. Cox, Jr., fellow worker on the Indianapolis News, he wanted to be cremated. He asked that half of his ashes be scattered over the grave of his mother at Columbus, Ind., and the other half to be held until next May 30, then turned over to race drivers to be scattered on the south-west curve at the Indianapolis track during the running of the 500 mile race.

the funeral would be held at 4 p. m. tomorrow, with burial in Memorial Park cemetery in Indianapolis.

GERMANY CLAIMS HELICOPTER RECORD

BERLIN (AP)—Army experts are making no secret of the fact that a new German helicopter demonstrated recently at Berlin is an effective substitute for the captive balloon for artillery observation work.

The device, built by Professor Heinrich Focke, attained an altitude of 2,500 meters (8,200 feet) and hovered without noticeable backward or forward motion. It traveled from point to point at a speed of 122.5 kilometers (76 miles) an hour and remained in the air one hour, 20 minutes, 49 seconds. All these are claimed as world records for a helicopter.

MUSIC IN THE FIRE.

POLLOCKSVILLE, N. C.—The flames of the burning filling station crackled and danced. From within came the raucous strains of a mechanical piano, grinding out tune after tune.

The fire had done something to the mechanism to set the piano playing without benefit of nickels. Just as the roof collapsed came the strains of "I'll be glad when you're dead, you rascal, you." And then the piano "died."

International Sunday School Lesson

GOD CONDEMNS INTEMPERANCE
Text: Leviticus 10:1-2, 8-11; Proverbs 31:4-5; Isaiah 28:18; Romans 14:21.

By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D.
The age-long problem of intemperance is the theme of this lesson, and the ancient teachings concerning it are as true today as ever before. The familiar verse in Proverbs is reworked in the American Standard revised version of the Bible: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler; and whosoever erreth thereby is not wise."

The teachings of the ancient world concerning intemperance are even more strongly enforced in our day because the more potent and dangerous distilled liquors were not known in the ancient world.

There is a discouraging aspect of this problem of intemperance when one realizes for how many generations wise and good teachers have been battling against it, offering counsel concerning the wisdom of leaving the wine cup alone.

All the testimony of experience, past and present, justifies the belief that nobody has ever suffered through total abstinence, while the experience of mankind, reaching its very climax in the life of today reveals how terrible have been the sufferings and loss because men have turned from sane and safe and healthy habits to indulgence in strong drink.

At present in our American life the tide has turned against temperance and temperance teaching. It is not too much to say that it is not merely that the tide has turned against prohibition and the teaching of total abstinence.

There is a widely prevalent notion that indulgence in liquor is somehow a good thing, and that liquor, instead of being a social evil, may be in some ways of social value.

One can already foresee the time when such notions will have their proper rebuke. The pendulum is bound to swing back toward better habits and better ways. Meanwhile, it is important that in churches and church schools, the constant teaching of the Bible should be continued, especially the full verdict of experience against the use of strong drink.

No better material for a lesson could be found than in these words drawn from four books of the Bible, from Leviticus, from Proverbs, from Isaiah and from Romans.

Perhaps the most intense and striking of these pages is that quoted from the 28th chapter of Isaiah. The words are colorful with, interestingly: "Woe to the crown of pride of the drunkards of Ephraim. The crown of pride of the drunkards of Ephraim shall be trodden under foot."

We have the picture of those who are reeling with wine and staggering with strong drink; of the priest and the prophet alike cursed as they have come under its sway. Is not that true of life? Strong drink has destroyed the strong along with the weak; the high and mighty have been thrown down from their high place by indulging in it.

When will humanity learn from its own experience and from its great and wise teachers?

1200 RAILROAD OFFICE EMPLOYEES GET RAISE

HOUSTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Twelve hundred Southern Pacific railroad workers, most of whom live in Houston, got a raise of five cents an hour today.

The salary raise, which will amount to $10.20 a month for each worker affected was part of an agreement reached between railroad officials and the General Office Workers' association.

The annual total increase will amount to at least $120,000. Most of the 1,200 office workers live in Houston, and about 200 in New Orleans.

TEXAS TEAM DEFEATS PENNSYLVANIA 9 TO 4

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 27 (AP)—Mount Pleasant, Texas, won its way into the semi-finals of the 1937 National Semi-Pro Baseball tournament here this morning by eliminating Dormont, Pa., 9 to 4.

The Texans will play Buford, Ga., next, and the winner of that game will meet Enid, Okla., for the championship Sunday night.

Buford defeated the defending champion, Duncan, Okla., 2 to 1, in an exciting 11-inning battle last night. Duncan won from Buford in the finals of last year's tournament.

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred has a positive opinion upon what the legislature should do in the special session beginning in September, but what it will do, he thinks, is in the realm of speculation. He said he thought the job could be achieved in one session of 30 days but didn't have much hope it would. Most observers think there will be two sessions, with the second terminating in time for members to see the Thanksgiving day football game at the University of Texas.

The governor said recently providing additional revenue would be the chief business of the session, while enactment of utility regulation legislation would crowd solution of the problem of taxation for importance.

The opinion also is heard generally that the principal accomplishment will be passage of an omnibus tax bill which will raise only a few million dollars.

Plenty of folks are willing to argue the state wouldn't suffer if no tax increases were voted. They believe things should be allowed to rock along until times are better when existing levies will yield larger returns.

"Why get excited over the deficit?" suggested one member of the legislature. "It isn't so large considering Texas' wealth, and if it was wiped out appropriations to build another one would be voted almost overnight."

"A deficit is the best talking point against extravagance in appropriations."

The most recent report of the treasury department showed a deficit in the general revenue fund of a little more than $9,000,000. It has been estimated, however, the deficit is bound to increase largely next year because of appropriations by the last session of the legislature, and may reach $17,000,000 unless steps to hold it down are taken.

Governor Allred has become somewhat cynical on the feasibility of consolidating state departments in the interest of economy or for any other reasons.

Asked whether he intended to recommend consolidations to the legislature, the governor said a little sourly a step he had taken in that direction last year had gotten nowhere and he rather thought fresh one at this time would meet the same fate.

"Experience in other states has shown consolidation was accomplished only after conditions became so desperate something had to be done," he said.

The governor's recommendation to the last legislature was for consolidation of the state bankers, embalmers and cosmetology boards under the department of health. Bills to make it effective were killed.

The Texas Rangers must feel terribly "let down," especially the older ones, who have looked to the days when the legend, "one Ranger is equal to one mob," was born.

Governor Allred, angered at violence in labor troubles at Dallas, sent 25 representatives of the public safety department, including some Rangers, there with orders to enforce the law and protect everyone.

"Why 25 Rangers?" queried a wag. "There is only one situation."

Mayfair, London's fashionable section, derives its name from a fair formerly held in the locality during May.

UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS WILL CREATE JOBS FOR DEMOCRATS

By RODNEY DUTCHER Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—Jobs ruled Congress to the last, even in such a vital national problem as that of unemployment relief.

As a result, taxpayers will contribute some $5,000,000 for an unemployment census which appears to be little more than a device for seeing to it that Democratic congressmen will have a few temporary jobs to hand out around primary time next year.

Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas had a bill, which was supported by both conservatives and liberals. It carried precious little patronage and was planned to cost only $75,000. It called for creation of a high-grade unemployment commission which would have studied unemployment and relief programs and recommended a long program to Congress. Maverick proposed that the question be answered: "How are we going to make a living?" The President himself thought it was a good idea—at least for a while.

SUGAR COATED Vice President Jack Garner and Senator Pat Harrison were having a conversation in the Democratic cloakroom. As a senator's secretary passed he overheard them talking about the last baseball game. But as soon as they supposed he had passed out of earshot the conversation changed. "I think the President would be a fool to veto this sugar bill," said Pat. "You bet!" exclaimed the vice president.

But the word got around that the proposal for a $5,000,000 census would mean about 20 jobs for every congressman. The President for some unknown reason decided he would like a "voluntary census." So the House leaders, when Maverick wasn't looking, quietly slipped through a Senate bill providing for a census to be taken on or before April 1. It was a small but welcome last-day gravy-bait. The $5,000,000 will come from WPA funds. Provision for such a census already is in the law covering the U. S. Employment service. No one appears to be on the record for a "voluntary" census except Roosevelt, since there are numerous reasons why such a count can be depended upon to be far from accurate. A genuine census of the unemployed it is conceded, would cost about $65,000,000.

The census as authorized is so stiff as to warrant a wager that the act providing it will be repealed or altered before the date on which it is scheduled to go into effect.

Henry Cabot Lodge, the 35-year-old Senator from Massachusetts, was the only Republican member to vote consistently for the wage-hour bill. Senator Jim Davis of Pennsylvania voted for passage but marred his record on organized labor's standpoint by voting to recommit the bill at a time when recommitment would have meant the measure's death for the session.

Wage-Hour Backfire Well, of course, said most accounts of this unusual incident, that meant that Massachusetts mill owners and other manufacturers wanted higher wages paid in the south so they could compete easier and Henry Cabot was only following the dictates of industrialists in his home state.

The fact is that hardly any New England manufacturers were in favor of the wage-hour bill (although the administration had expected nearly all of them to applaud) and that Lodge has been receiving a pile of letters from Massachusetts industrialists who call him everything from a soft-head to a "bolshhevik."

There'd be little cause for concern for Lodge in this if it weren't that voters in Massachusetts Republican primaries are nearly all conservatives, whereas the labor vote is mostly in the Democratic primary. Lodge has shown courage before, however. As chairman of the House Labor committee in the state legislature he was one of the five House members who voted for ratification of the Child Labor amendment in the face of heavy opposition from Cardinal

CORRECT NAME FOR SPLITTING DEMOS SOUGHT

EDITOR'S NOTE: The chief of the Washington National Press Bureau listens to a Washington medley of tunes on the theme of a split in the Democratic party.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)-National officials, party leaders and political commentators intrigued immensely by speculation concerning whether or not the Democratic party are demonstrating these days their need of a master philologist.

They do not find words to express with sufficient clearness the nature of the phenomenon being called a cleavage in majority party ranks.

They are finding such trite designations as "liberal" and "conservative" have become distorted, misapplied and weighted down with wrong connotations.

Few seem to be taking seriously the insistence of the Barkleys and Farleys that there is nothing foreboding or based on fact in current talk of a lasting disagreement between factions in Democratic ranks.

The truth is that Democratic disension is widely recognized. What is not conceded is its nature, its permanence and the validity of Tom's, Dick's and Harry's varying opinions as to which are the sheep and which the goats in the party.

Congressional decisions indicated the split. Subsequent protesting about its "unreality" emphasized it.

But when one inquires here and there into what it means, one encounters the same old speculation.

The upshot might be new parties; it might also be a purge which reduces the majority party strength but paradoxically increases its ineffectiveness.

Since there is some apprehension that the Democratic party has reached a crossroad and that many things might happen, it would help those who grope for certainty in the matter if they could find effective labels for the divergent Democratic viewpoints.

The "liberal" label does not help much because every official and every member of Congress can be counted upon to insist he is in some respects liberal. The feeling persists here that those who borrow the liberal phrase have all the advantage because liberal has come to be associated with progressiveness.

It is equally difficult for them to separate the sheep from the goats on a "for the President" basis. The Democrats in Congress who have said openly they think the President has gone too far in some of his proposals, such as the Supreme Court proposal have usually pointed out that they are not deserting the party or a legitimate party program.

And many of them have been more enthusiastic than ever in support of other Roosevelt measures to prove the point.

The whisperers of Washington are playing a game of "split, split, split, split" to the tune of "button, button, who's got the button." What makes it the more confusing is the fact that they generally agree there is a real break and that it might portend no good to the party, but somehow they have mislaid its character and its dimensions.

Those who want to draw sharp lines of division cannot divide the Democrats on the basis of their inactivity, their somnolence and their refusal to look forward.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

A BIRD THAT TURNS WHITE IN WINTER. BLENDS SO PERFECTLY WITH THE SNOW THAT ITS SHADOW IS VISIBLE AT A GREATER DISTANCE THAN THE BIRD ITSELF!

THE SUN'S DISTANCE FROM THE EARTH HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH THE SEASONS! THESE ARE CAUSED BY VARIATION IN THE ANGLE AT WHICH THE SUN'S RAYS STRIKE THE EARTH.

SINCE the orbit of the earth is not a circle, the sun is not always the same distance from us, but this has no effect on the seasons, as can be seen from the fact that the northern hemisphere is closest to the sun when it is having its winter. The distance varies from about 91.5 million miles in January to 94.5 million in July.
