BERLIN UNDER SIEGE BECAUSE OF LABOR RIOT

At Least Ten Persons Are Dead—Many Injured

MOSCOW BLAMED FOR OCCURENCE

Cabinet Members Insulted by Posters on New Cruiser

BERLIN, May 3. (P)—Two sections of Berlin were declared in a state of siege today after a new outbreak of street fighting between midnight and dawn in which at least one person was killed, eighteen seriously injured and numerous further arrests were made.

The German foreign office today started diplomatic proceedings with the government at Moscow in connection with the Bolshevik May Day demonstrations at which a number of members of the cabinet were insulted by posters. One poster was particularly resented, displaying the much-discussed new German battle cruiser with the inscription: "Eighty million marks for a cruiser, but not a penny for feeding children; and bullets for the unemployed."

The total of dead in the disorders which began May Day was at least ten today with the likelihood that twelve, or even more may have been killed. Seven were killed during May Day disturbances and two of those wounded on that day died in hospitals this afternoon.

LONDON, May 3. (P)—An exchange telegraph message from Berlin states three women and one man were shot dead this afternoon in the streets of Berlin while they were watching street manifestations. The women were on the balcony of a house and the man was passing by the street.

By 2 p. m. the fighting was in full blast with incessant firing by both sides to the accompaniment of yells and shrieks of the wounded.

Two women who inquisitively stepped out on a balcony were shot.

The police passed word strictly prohibiting showing oneself at windows or roofs.

ESSEN, Germany, May 3. (P)—Thirteen hundred miners responded today to a call to strike out of sympathy for the Berlin Communist rioters.

HAMBURG, Germany, May 3. (P)—Gangs of dock workers crying "down with Zoergel" marched through the streets today until they encountered socialist groups, when a free for all fight ensued. The demonstration was staged as a mark of sympathy for the Berlin rioters.

LEIPZIG, Germany, May 3. (P)—Communist demonstrations here, intended as a mark of sympathy with their Berlin political brethren, ended in a slugging match between extremists of the right and left wings.

Very little improvement is reported in the condition of D. J. Bronniger, who was badly burned a week ago. He is in the McKean & Connor hospital.

NEGRO HELD IN BURNING OF FARM HOUSE

Oil Cans Found in Ruins Near Cooledge, Texas

BODIES FOUND NEAR THE BED

No Evidence of Foul Play Discovered by Officers

COOLEIDGE, May 3. (P)—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davidson, about 60, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their farm home three miles northeast of Cooledge today. A negro tenant on the farm was held for investigation.

In the ruins of the dwelling, were found two oil cans, one of which usually was kept in the yard and another which had contained fuel for an oil stove.

The negro told Sheriff A. M. McKenzie that about midnight he heard a scream and saw a flash in the Davidson home, became frightened and locked himself into his cabin. At 5 p. m. he notified the neighbor farmer, Aubrey Vinson, who lived about a mile away, that the home had been burned.

A search of the ruins revealed the body of Davidson by his bed and that Mrs. Davidson near a trunk. The bodies were so badly burned it was impossible, at first, to tell whether either had been wounded or hurt before the fire.

A daughter of the Davidson's, Mrs. G. C. Hutson of Fort Worth, who was visiting her parents, was not at home last night. She was visiting other relatives nearby.

Hayward, Oklahoma Bank Is Robbed of About $300 Today

ENID, Okla., May 3. (P)—A robber held up the Bank of Hayward shortly after 11 a. m. today, escaping with about $300. No details of the robbery were learned immediately.

C. W. Burton, cashier, notified officers from a telephone in the vault in which he was locked by the robber. At 11:30 a. m. Burton was still a prisoner.

Burton gave the Enid Eagle a story of the hold-up while locked in the vault. He said he was alone in the bank at 11:15 a. m., when a young man entered, drew a revolver and forced him to open a rear door, through which the robber presumably escaped. The robber scooped up about $300 in currency and then ordered him into the vault.

No one could be found who saw the hold-up man enter or leave the bank and officers had no information as to the direction in which he fled.

McConnell Well Now Spraying Oil

Cockrell-McIlroy and Shamrock Oil company's No. 1 McConnell, in the northeast corner of the west half of the southwest corner of section 174, block 3, I. & G. N. survey, encountered pay yesterday while drilling at 3,197 feet. The test was shut down but is spraying oil.

Storage is being erected and the 6-inch casing is being set today at 3,167 feet. The test will be drilled within the next few days.

The new well is located in the McConnell pool and is an offset to the Southern Petroleum Exploration company's well which came in last week for 1,200 barrels. It is five miles west of Pampa and near the Carson county line.

In the new Finley-Brown pool the Phillips Petroleum company's No. 1 Palmer, in section 31, block B-2, has been trying to drill in with a dull bit while fighting gas. The attempt was unsuccessful and the pools were pulled from the hole this morning and a new bit attached. Drilling was expected to be resumed this afternoon. There is 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas, flowing from 2,775 feet.

In the same territory the Operators Oil company's No. 1 Faulkner is getting ready to drill in after setting pipe

Next week will be devoted to civil suits and the following week, the last of this term, will be devoted to criminal trials.

LITTLE FIRE DAMAGE

Very little damage was done when fire broke out in the living room of a house at 721 North Banks street this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The fire department responded to the call and with the use of chemicals soon had the fire out. The blaze was started by a stove igniting the wall.

J. M. McDonald left yesterday afternoon for Austin to attend a meeting of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission. Mr. McDonald is deputy supervisor of this territory, with office here.

AUSTIN, May 3. (P)—Predicting that "the highway department and all its gang around here" will not let legislature reduce the automobile fees, Julius Germany of Dallas pleaded for a lower than four cents gasoline tax before the house committee on revenue and taxation last night.

He said no three men in the world "have sense enough to spend wisely" as much money as the highway commissioners are handling.

"They want to have three men spend three-fourths of all the money that comes into the treasury," he said. Exhibiting the department's annual report he said:

"You cannot figure out how much money they got last year in three hours. With eight months gone they still have $16,000,000 in the treasury."

Asserting that the average price of gasoline in the state is 16.45 cents per gallon, he declared there are 33,500,000 gallons being taxed which are never used on the highways.

He said that 17 counties were paying 36 per cent of the tax.

Other speakers included Clarence Outley of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, who favored the bill levying a 4-cent tax.

Thirty-Four Lives Are Lost in Two Days of Storms

(By the Associated Press.) Thirty-four lives were lost yesterday and Wednesday in storms that struck seven southern states and sections of the midwest.

Virginia's death list of 17 was the largest. A teacher and 13 children were killed in a school building collapse in that state. Other southern states suffering loss of life from the storms were Arkansas, Tennessee, Maryland, Florida, Alabama, and Kentucky. At least 100 persons were injured, many seriously, throughout the South.

WASHINGTON, May 3. (P)—Telephone reports to the Associated Press today placed the number killed by tornadoes in nearby sections of Virginia and Maryland at nine. Five were reported dead at Catlett and Woodville, Va., three near Laytonsville, Md., and one at Unity, Md.

RYE COVE, Va., May 3. (P)—Grief-stricken parents searched the debris of the Rye Cove consolidated school today, fearful of finding additional victims of the tornado that yesterday claimed the lives of 13 children and one teacher in the greatest disaster ever known to this western Virginia village. Several children were reported missing.

MEXICO CITY, May 3. (P)—A hurricane swept the Gulf coast of Mexico last night, wrecking buildings and plantations and leaving a ruin from Tampico south to Vera Cruz. One American, Victor Carlie, member of the crew of the American steamer, San Jacinto, at Tampico, was killed.

MANGUM FIRE VERY DAMAGING; 3 PERSONS HURT

MANGUM, Okla., May 3. (P)—Three persons were injured today in a disastrous fire in the business district of Mangum in which five buildings were destroyed and three more ignited.

Firemen from Hobart and Altus assisted the local department in fighting the blaze.

All of the injured were volunteer firemen. Owen Guernsey, overcome by smoke, was believed to be in a critical condition. Richard Smith and Tod Thompson were hurt by falling walls.

The post office, the Elks club, a hardware store, a music store, a dry goods store and a funeral home were destroyed. Property damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

Lester Fowler is undergoing treatment in the McKean & Connor hospital.

Mrs. A. G. Post and young son left the McKean & Connor hospital yesterday.

FORMER CHIEF OF POLICE IS FOUND GUILTY

Took Protection Money From Rum Gang, Charge

PAY OFF MAN MAIN WITNESS

Jury Reached Verdict Quickly in Federal Court

SAN ANGELO, May 3. (P)—A former San Angelo police chief, Carroll Bates, and 19 other persons today were convicted in federal court here of conspiring to defeat the national prohibition act.

The verdict was reached on the second ballot. Sentences were to be pronounced this afternoon.

A. W. Brown, a former night police sergeant, was among the 19 others convicted.

The principal witness for the prosecution was W. H. Hutchison, who declared that as pay-off man for a rum ring he gave money to Bates regularly. That charge Bates denied, explaining his bank deposits of $54,000 in the last three years were proceeds from the sale of a farm, election and baseball bets, and lucky gambling.

Pampa Man Gets Big Offer for Safety Device

Several years of effort inventing and patenting a device to make railroad crossings less dangerous came to a conclusion for George H. Green, Pampa man, on April 16, when he received final papers on his apparatus.

Mr. Green today displayed an offer of $50,000 for his device, with the alternative of taking $10,000 in cash and 3 per cent of the sales income of the finished product.

The invention includes an electric magnet buried in the highway on each side of a crossing. The magnet is energized by contact made when a train is within a given distance from the crossing. On the frame of cars would be placed a small magnet which, on coming near a sensitized magnet in the highway, would cut off the ignition of the car.

Mr. Green has not yet accepted an offer for his device, although he is considering more than half a dozen propositions. He has been working in Pampa about three years as a painter.

Revolt Ends But Guerilla Bands Give Trouble

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mexico, May 3. (P)—Gen. Juan Andres Almazan, whose entry into Agua Prieta with his army of 9,500 men proclaimed the end of the Mexican revolution indicated today he would remain here to stamp out guerilla bands.

Coincident with the arrival here yesterday of Almazan and his cavalry and infantry, federal general, Augustino Olachea marched into Nogales, Sonora, with additional troops from Naco.

Within two months almost to a day the revolt had been crushed, but several guerilla bands were still to be dealt with. Gen. Marcelo Caraveo, Indian chief, who had opposed General Almazan's advance through Pulpito Pass from Chihuahua, was believed to be heading one of the bands.

Business along the border was fast returning to a pre-revolt basis.

INJURED MAN DIES LONGVIEW, May 3. (P)—A roll of roofing which fell from the top of a house from which E. F. Williams, 56, had fallen here struck him in the abdomen and injured him fatally. He died today.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

C. C. Merritt, local minister, is now located in the manse. This property was recently purchased by the church. It is next to the meeting house on the south side, 217 North Warren. The phone is 125-J.

This is a valuable piece of property and the church is to be commended for its wisdom and willingness for things that make for advancement of the work of the church.

There were special meetings at both services last Sunday. People are looking forward and expecting better and greater things. The song drills are yielding fruit and the song worship is improving. We should expect the very best of song services during our revival, which is to begin on the nineteenth and continue until June 2. Bros. Rice and Taylor are experienced men who get results in their work. When God is for us and blessing us in sending such godly workers to us, should we not expect the very best during our revival?

Brother Merritt's subjects for next Sunday are: "The Cost of Forsaking God" and "The Parable of the Talents."

The largest number of communicants were in our meetings last Sunday. Why not make next Sunday still the best? You can bring this about by being present. Come!

All are given a cordial welcome at any and all meetings.

"Marquette" Will Be New Buick Product's Name

Marquette will be the name of the new six-cylinder motor car which the Buick Motor company is to introduce into the lower priced field early in the summer, according to an announcement made yesterday by E. T. Strong, president and general manager.

Built by Buick, the Marquette will have the tremendous production and sales facilities of that organization at its command, a distinct advantage to both the factory and the purchaser. Twenty-five years experience in the building of fine motor cars has placed Buick in a position to manufacture a car of unusual appeal in the lower priced field.

Thousands upon thousands of craftsmen, schooled over a long period of years in the art of quality car manufacturing, have been assigned the task of producing the Marquette.

In addition, the facilities of General Motors, including the research laboratories and proving ground, have been brought into play in planning the new six.

The greatest resources of the Fisher Body Corporation also have been utilized in the development of bodies for the new car.

The intricacies of automotive engineering were given careful study in developing its mechanical parts at both the General Motors research laboratories and in the Buick engineering division. The cars, in various stages of progress, were put through thousands and thousands of miles of grueling grinds at the General Motors proving grounds in order that a proven product should be offered.

Distribution of the new Marquette through the sales channels already established by Buick makes it unnecessary to pioneer in the matter of delivering the new product to purchasers.

With all of these phases of manufacture, sale and delivery already firmly established, the Buick Motor company will be able to offer service unparalleled in the introduction of a new car to the motoring public.

"WHERE VALUES ARE REAL"

Evangelist Tells How Bible Ought to Be Studied

The singing at the evangelistic meeting at the First Christian church last night under the leadership of O. Fred Hanna was a source of inspiration to all who attended the service. The number of men in choir was the largest since the beginning of the meeting and the men's voices added much to the song service.

The songs sung were "There is Power in the Blood of the Lamb," "Since His Love Came Shining Through," the increasingly popular song, "He Lives On High," arranged from the Hawaiian folk song, "On Jordan's Stormy Banks," "He Keeps Me Singing." Just before the sermon Mr. Hanna led the large chorus choir in singing as a special number the "Awakening Chorus."

Evangelist A. G. Smith very ably presented the second part of his sermon on "How to Study the Bible," again taking as his text those of the previous evening and briefly explained the large chart used in detail in the sermon the evening before. This chart shows the books of the Bible in the order in which they are as "The Great Library," other respective divisions, and the three great dispensations the Bible covers.

Mr. Smith then made the rather startling statement "There is no seeming contradiction in the Bible which cannot be explained." He then said that common sense methods must be followed, such as keeping in mind who was speaking, to whom written or spoken, what was in the mind of the writer, and the conditions under which written or spoken.

Several difficult passages of scripture were taken up for discussion by the evangelist. In speaking of the statement of the Apostle Paul that it was shameful for a woman to speak in church, and if they would learn anything, to ask their husbands at home, he spoke of an experience of one of the outstanding Biblical lecturers of the United States speaking not long ago in Palestine. The women of a group were speaking out and asking questions, that soon became annoying to the speaker and the audience, and he asked them to refrain from asking questions while he was speaking, and that if they did not understand to wait until he was through speaking and to ask their husbands. The women of Palestine and all Bible lands are very much today as they were then, uneducated and treated little better than beasts, and this statement of Paul is clearly understood when conditions are taken into consideration.

Another statement Evangelist Smith made that at first appeared to be startling was "Not every statement in the Bible is true." He then warned that he would not be taken as a "higher critic," and explained, "The statement, one made may not be true, but what another said the other said was true."

He then referred to what seemed to be "one of the most troublesome passages in the Bible," the statement in the book of Ecclesiastes that as the beast died so did man. He said that in order that this passage be clearly understood one must keep in mind that this statement was made by Solomon, the man of wisdom, who was interested in the question of finding human happiness, and that he first considered the question of finding it in wealth, and after due deliberation he said that all was vanity and the vexation of the spirit. The evangelist said he then deliberated on finding human happiness in the things of beauty, and that he then concluded as he wrote again that all was vanity and vexation of the spirit. He then tried to find human happiness in seven hundred wives and three hundred concubines and finally arrived at the same conclusion, also in wisdom. Evangelist Smith said "He made this statement in the weighing of things of this earth. Now, let us see his conclusion. 'Fear God, and keep his commandments.'"

Another typical illustration was the explanation of the passage in which God said that David was a man after his own heart. Evangelist Smith said that some could not understand this and asked about the wicked life of David while he was king of Israel, how he could be a man after God's own heart. By reading the statement in the thirteenth chapter of First Samuel it would be found that this statement was made concerning David when he was a shepherd boy caring for his father's sheep on the hills about Bethlehem.

Another passage considered by the evangelist was the question of the dying thief being saved on the cross. He spoke of the fact that Jesus had the right to forgive sins during his life time, and also that at this time no church had been established, because the gospel had not as yet been preached as commanded after His death and resurrection by the Christ.

Evangelist Smith speaks tonight on "The Change of Heart." There will be special music by Mr. and Mrs. O. Fred Hanna, who are in charge of the music. There will be no service on Saturday night, as plans are being made for a big Sunday service.

"My blood became impoverished my color was sallow, my circulation was poor and the sight of food almost sickened me. My nights were restless and my days misery. I lost weight rapidly. I tried medicines, and took several treatments from the best specialists. They did me practically no good. I heard of the Sargon treatment through some friends of mine in Houston. I lost no time in giving it a trial. In just a few days I felt better than in years. And now, the neuritis and malaria have left me, my digestion is perfect, I have a wonderful appetite, my complexion is clear and healthy, and I feel like I have been made all over again. I am full of new strength, energy and vitality, and my sleep is sound, restful and health building. I have regained my lost weight."

HORSEMEN'S STRIKE NEAR END, BELIEVED TODAY

AURORA, Ill., May 3. (AP)—The horsemens' strike which has delayed the opening of Chicago's racing season at Aurora track for three days, ended today. It was virtually certain the track would open tomorrow with the strikers running their horses.

Although no compromise has been expected, the strikers believe they have found a new method to collect 1 per cent of all winning moneys for the support of their organization, the Thoroughbred Horse association.

WASHINGTON, May 3. An interior department committee, appointed to carry out President Hoover's oil conservation program, in a report to the secretary declared that where such geological surveys had been made in its opinion such a survey should be regarded as an equity.

Only One Game Goes to Finish in Big Circuits

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rain, hail and high water so swept the big league trail yesterday that only one game survived to its normal finish, and if the Boston Red Sox had gained their wish, this one also might have been tossed overboard. There was insufficient rain at Fenway park to save the hub hose from the Athletics, who won by a score of 5 to 1 to make it three out of four in the series.

Connie Mack surprised rail birds by tossing Bob Grove back at the Red Sox after having withdrawn the tall south-paw from the 24 to 6 massacre of the previous day as the Athletic 3-10 mounted beyond the danger of overhauling. It was supposed the American league dean was saving his great pitcher for a tougher spot, but back came Grove to win his second victory in two days and his third of the season.

As the Browns lay idle in Cleveland, the victory of the Mackmen cut half a game from the St. Louis lead. Dan Howley will have a chance to put on another scalping expedition today, now ever, as the Athletics make their way westward. Sportsman's park still looms as the most important stop for the A's and the Yanks in the west country.

Herb Pennock made his second start of the season at the Yankee stadium, but hostilities were drowned out before the first half of the third inning when the Harlem lapped over its banks to greet the Athletics. The Senators picked up one run against Pennock in the first on Gehrig's error, and there the scoring stopped for both teams. Sad Sam Jones pitched the two rounds for Washington.

Detroit and Chicago also found rain, snow and other inconveniences scattered over the premises of Charles Comiskey, and made another entry in the doubleheader book. They will try their hand at a single game today as the eastern invasion moves toward the west. The only eastern American league team scheduled to play today is the New York troupe of Miller Huggins, booked for an interleague exhibition at Pittsburgh.

The only attempt to unlimber a bat in the national league yesterday occurred at Ebbets field, where the Giants punched out two runs behind Larry Benton in the opener, only to have rain to descend at the end of the third. The default of the weather left the Giants with only an even break against the so-called effete east in the first round of intra-sectional effort, and the western clubs headed for the polo grounds in great glee.

Whittington Is Winner by Foul in Third Round

Last night's fights at the Pla-Mor auditorium ended suddenly. Fred Whittington of Oklahoma City won the main event from Walter Varner of Roxana, in the third round. In the semi-final, Young Kid Granite won on a technical knockout from Pee Wee Roberts in the fifth round.

Whittington started forcing the fight at the opening gong but the dodging Varner managed to elude Whittington's jabs and land a few for himself. Toward the end of the round, the visiting boxer landed a few. The second round was all Whittington's. He knocked Varner down for a count of nine and had him staggering at the gong.

Varner came out in the third swinging wild and hoping to land a knockout blow. Early in the round he landed two low blows, but Whittington gamely continued the fight. After two minutes of fighting Varner again landed a low blow and Whittington dropped to the floor and was unable to continue the fight.

Fighting cautiously until he had solved his opponents' style of boxing, the veteran kept on pitching until

Ohio Field Is Snow Covered for The Annual Games

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 3. (AP)—Snow gave the Ohio State university track field a gummy surface for the opening of the sixth annual Ohio relay games today.

Events scheduled today were the 100-yard dash and sprint medley relay for Ohio colleges; shotput, pole vault and high jump for high schools; elementary school 440-yard relay, junior high school 800-yard relay, class B, class A, and preparatory school mile relays, preliminaries in the 100-yard dash, low hurdles and 800-yard relay for class A, high schools, and a special invitation race between Joe Sivak of Butler and Orval Martin of Purdue at 800 yards.

Teams from Illinois, Notre Dame, Chicago, Indiana, and Ohio State appeared strongest in the seven university relays tomorrow.

rain halted hostilities in the third inning, but a half hour later the arm began to stiffen. Whether the injury is serious or not has not yet been determined.

Pennock Suffers Another Injury

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Herb Pennock, star left-hander of the New York Yankees, can't seem to escape the jinx that struck him down last summer. Out of the game after August 12 last season, Pennock has been essaying a comeback this year with fairly creditable results. But his salary wing, just about free from the neuritis that kept him out last season, has suffered another misfortune.

A line-drive off Sammy West's bat yesterday hit Pennock on the left arm. The veteran kept on pitching until

Northern Clubs Have Poor Luck on Tour South

By The Associated Press
Invasion of South Texas by the northern clubs, which a lot of people seemed to think would demonstrate a marked superiority on the part of the northern clan, so far has proved an enormous flop.

The first round of the swing through the southern end of the state closed yesterday, and of the 12 games played in the last three days Fort Worth, Shreveport, Dallas and Wichita Falls managed to win between them exactly four. The Fort Worth Cats were the only invaders to break even, taking two out of three from Beaumont. Wichita Falls to win one of three from Houston. Shreveport nicked the rambling Waco Cubs for one of their three, and Dallas dropped three straight to the revamped San Antonio Indians.

The showing of Dallas, accounted one of the strongest of the northern branch of the Texas league family, easily has been the most disappointing feature of the inter-sectional combat. Yesterday's 1 to 7 loss to the Indians was the Herd's sixth straight and dropped them with a dull thud into sixth place.

Manager Milton Stock took Morse's place in the Dallas infield in a desperate attempt to pull the Steers out of their slump, but his employees failed to react to his presence sufficiently and lost, 1 to 7.

Six Local Boys Competing Today in State Meet

Six local high school athletes are in Austin today competing in track and field events at the state meet. Coach Odus Mitchell and the Pampa team left here Wednesday morning.

The Harvester athletes won many places at the first district meet in Canyon, defeating Amarillo Golden Sandstorm for the first time since the district was organized. The local boys showed up well in both track and field events to pile up 46 points.

Archie Walstad will represent Pampa in the 220-yard low hurdles, 120-yard high hurdles, broad jump, and the relay. Perry Morgan will run the quarter mile. Troy Stalls, weight man, will represent Pampa in the discus and the pole vault. Bob Kahl will run in the 120-yard high hurdles and hurl the discus. The relay team is composed of Albert Lard, Skeet Roberts, Perry Morgan, and Archie Walstad.

Punchers to Be Seen Tonight in Garden Fights

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—The old "sock" should be on parade at Madison Square Garden tonight when Al Mello and Gorilla Jones tangle in the ten-round feature bout.

Mello, a southpaw with a punch, is the latest addition to the already rather long list of welterweights who have beaten champion Joe Dundee in non-title engagements. Al trimmed the title holder twice at Boston in recent months.

Jones, an Akron, Ohio, negro, has won about half his bouts by knockouts. Available boxing statistics show him on the losing end in only two matches. He dropped decisions to Sergeant Sammy Baker and Bobby Brown but later knocked out Brown in two rounds.

LOTT LOSES PLACE
CHICAGO, May 2. (AP)—Because of his studies at the University of Chicago, George Lott will lose his place on the American Davis cup tennis team this year.

Lott is third ranking player of the United States.

Barnard Declares Philadelphia Is Team to Watch

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP)—After a swing around the circuit, President E. S. Barnard is more convinced than ever that the Yankees have a real fight on their hands in the American league pennant race this season.

"Just keep your eyes on Philadelphia," Barnard hinted. "They are going to surprise everybody. They are dangerous from the top of the batting order down to the eighth man and I believe they have shaken off their old jinx of failing in the pinch."

"The Yankees so far have shown they do not have the steadiness of recent champions. This is indicated by their record of this spring as compared to last. At this time in 1928, they had rolled up a record of 11 victories against three defeats and were well out in front. Today, their mark is six victories and four defeats. The difference may be attributed to a weakening of their pitching."

"Who's Who" Woman Jailed in Amarillo

AMARILLO, May 3. (AP)—Miss Elizabeth Murray, listed in "Who's Who" as a writer and lecturer, was brought to the Potter county jail here today to await trial in federal court on charges of using the mails to defraud.

Miss Murray was arrested in San Francisco two weeks ago on the complaint of Mrs. Lela Mae Barnum of Amarillo.

"I think the matter is a trifle that will be easily settled," Miss Murray said today. "I am sure that Mrs. Barnum is a fine woman, and that there has merely been a misunderstanding."

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The ingenious masters of movie make-up will have to learn some new tricks.

Wits which have been pitted successfully against frailties in human appearance as recorded by the camera are being put to a new test with the increasing popularity of color sequences in black-and-white films and of all-color talkies.

The color camera, it seems, cannot be fooled. When they wanted to make Richard Dix look like an Indian for "Redskin," a recent all-color movie, 13 varieties of skin-shading were tried by color camera experts without satisfactory results.

Oddly enough, the one finally adopted, on the fourteenth test, was that originally suggested by Jim Collins, for the last six years make-up artist for Paramount, who was not supposed to know anything about color camera work.

Collins was able to demonstrate otherwise for the reason that he believes in looking to the future in his art. He predicts a near day when all pictures will be in color, and that day, he says, will bring added demands on the make-up man's skill.

NOT SO SIMPLE

Color camera make-up must strive for like-life effects, and to that extent differs little from the flapper's vanity case art. But altering the actor's appearance, as for character parts, or "restoring youth" to an aging actress who must look like a girl of 20 or thereabouts for the screen, will bring up the proverbial rub.

"The color camera picks up everything," says Collins. "The tiniest speck on a face stands out as though painted there. I believe character parts in color will have to be played by men and women who somewhat resemble the character to begin with, instead of by players who rely on make-up to transform them.

ZEBRA BUSINESS

"For black-and-white pictures we can shade a man's face with dozens of colors to get a desired effect—but the same treatment for a color picture would make him look like a zebra. For instance, we can 'cut away' a double chin by brownish-red coloring; photographed in color you can imagine how that would look!"

And the fading actress who would look youthful—she may pass muster fairly easily in the black-and-white, but in color, says Collins, wrinkles are "just too bad."

DEDICATING HOUSTON SHRINE HUNTSVILLE, May 3. (AP)—This historical Texas city was in its glory again today.

The occasion was the formal dedication as a state shrine of the home of Sam Houston, first president of the Republic of Texas, and semi-centennial observance of Sam Houston Teachers college.

WHEAT PRICES ERRATIC

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP)—Wheat prices scored early upturns but afterward underwent a setback. Initial strength was ascribed to announcement that eastern railroads would reduce export rates on grain, but in some quarters the announcement was construed as bearish.

Opening unchanged to 1-4c higher, wheat later showed a general sag. Corn also tended downward, starting at 1-4c off to 1-8c up, and subsequently receding all around. Oats were firm. Provisions likewise tended to advance.

"It's Like This—"

"TWO THINGS I HAVE NOTICED about most of our really big men," wrote B. C. Forbes, columnist, recently. "They remain boys at heart; and the place of their birth, usually humble, retains the warmest spot in their hearts."

One of the best examples of this is that of Arthur W. Cutten, who is spending millions at Guelph, Ontario, for a modern hotel, an 18-hole golf course, a baseball diamond, football field, tennis courts, playground, and clubhouse.

"MAYOR MURRAY SEASONGOOD of Cincinnati: 'The idea of government was administration by reward and punishment. Our idea has been: Government by merit.' And Cincinnati is an outstanding example, so recognized, of a city run according to strict business principles."

Governor Moody wants to apply this theory to state business, but the legislature says "No." The city manager plan ought to spread to include counties under a similar system.

SEX STUFF is much more likely to get "by" in the theatre and even in print if it is risqué than if it is sincerely written information intended to impart knowledge which should be common understanding.

The films recently shown here had a purpose, and insofar as the government charts were concerned there was invaluable information for those whose previous training had not included such knowledge.

The manner in which the lecture was delivered to the men, however, was of doubtful legitimacy. True, the dangers of venereal diseases were made plain, but the flippancy toward the whole subject of sex was not calculated to restrain conduct of which most contagion arises.

after the lecture. Nine-tenths of such efforts capitalize on the subject for other than true scientific reasons—to make money. And yet the persons from which legitimate information should come—with all the comment and warning that should accompany it—are so bound by restrictions that they dare not attempt to combat spurious and truly obscene propaganda.

THE MOST PROLIFIC editorial writer of the Panhandle has retired. Jas. L. Dow, who for a score of years made a practice of writing two columns of comment every time he had an editorial column to fill, has retired from the Lubbock Avalanche, but will devote a part of his time to the Rails Banner.

For nearly 24 years Mr. Dow's name was at the head of the editorial column of the Avalanche. He saw Lubbock grow from a hamlet to the modern city it has become. No more kindly and sincere writer has worked in this section, nor one who found so much to commend and so little to criticize.

"We have written some things that should not have been written, and we are quite sure that we have left unsaid many things that we should have said. We have, however, no regrets, and we quit the job with a consciousness that we have done what we believe was the best thing to do."

"We have seen the 'Avalanche' grow from the small weekly publication that we took charge of on the first day of January, 1906, to its present size and importance, and as the growth of a newspaper comes, also does the growth of the town in which it is printed."

FOR TEN YEARS WE'VE BEEN SAVING TO BUY A HOME AND YOU TAKE THE $5000 AND THROW IT AWAY IN A COPPER PIPE THAT YOU'VE NEVER EVEN SEEN.

WELL BRAGG KNOWS THE PROPERTY AND HE WENT INTO THE THING TOO AND THE U.S. GOVERNMENT HAS SHOWN THAT THERE'S COPPER THROUGH THAT SECTION.

YOU HEARD HIM SAY THERE WAS A MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF COPPER IN MY CLAIM.

WHAT MAKES YOU THINK BRAGG BOUGHT A CLAIM? DO YOU THINK FOR ONE INSTANT IF A THING WAS WORTH A MILLION, BRAGG WOULD SELL IT FOR $5000? WHAT A SAD!

I'M A SAD? THEN THE GUGENHEIMS AND MORGAN'S AND ALL THE REST OF THEM THAT'VE BEEN AFTER THESE CLAIMS—AND HAWK TOO—ARE BOOBS.

AND YOU BELIEVE THAT STORY? BRAGG AND HAWK ARE IN THIS THING, ALL RIGHT—BUT TO GET YOU! $5000 FOR A CHANCE IN A GRAB-BAG. OUR EVERY CENT IN THE WORLD! WHY, OH WHY, DID YOU DO IT?

WHY? I'LL TELL YOU WHY. I DID IT FOR YOU! MOM, YOU'VE BEEN AFTER ME FOR WEEKS TO MAKE MORE MONEY TO BE SOMEONE, DO SOMETHING BIG LIKE BRAGG DOES, SO WE COULD HAVE A YARD AND TRAVEL AND HAVE NICE THINGS LIKE THE BRAGGS, AND NOW WHEN I GOT A CHANCE TO MAKE A KILLING YOU JUMP ALL OVER ME.

ACCIDENTS CONTINUE to take scores of lives every month. We blame the airplane, but have you noticed the prevalence of the ordinary, garden variety of crossing accidents?

Trains cannot stray off their tracks and kill people, and it requires but a second of time to cross the rails, yet dozens insist upon taking a chance with that important interval of time.

Millions of dollars is being spent to make traffic lanes fool-proof—to protect persons from their own carelessness. The world makes progress in taking dangers out of the way of its human population, but it makes little in training persons to avoid dangers through intelligence.

TWINKLES

We do not wish other parts of the Southwest any hard luck, but if it is necessary for them to have storms that we may have rains, we will not join their petition to restrain the weather men.

Aviation is a great thing, but we need more railroads—and roads.

Democracy will be on the job 365 days a year. Maybe the boys who wrote "The Side-walks of New York" as the theme song for 1928 will have time to do something heavier than a comedy under the new arrangement.

Lots of the Texas politicians who will mount the water wagon are riled over the suggestion that they be weaned.

A Lubbock man had to write to The Avalanche to protest that rumors of his death were exaggerated. Moral: The persistent advertisers are never reported to be dead.

Down at Greenville the other day a jailer lost his keys and prisoners could not be taken into court for trial. Up here all that would be necessary would be to turn the matter over to the boys inside.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:—The Bible in National Life.

Scripture Lesson:—2 Chronicles 34: 14-18, 29-33.

14. And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of Jehovah, Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of Jehovah given by Moses.

15. And Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe, 'I have found the book of the law of the house of Jehovah. And Hilkiah delivered the book to Shaphan.'

16. Then the king sent and gathered together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

17. And the king went up to the house of Jehovah, and all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests, and the Levites, and all the people, both great and small; and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that was found in the house of Jehovah.

18. And the king stood in his place, and made a covenant before Jehovah, to walk after Jehovah, and to keep His commandments, and His testimonies, and His statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soul, to perform the words of the covenant that were written in this book.

19. And he caused all that were found in Jerusalem and Benjamin to stand to it. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers.

20. And Josiah took away all the abominations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Israel, and made all that were found in Israel to serve, even to serve Jehovah, their God. All his days they departed not from following Jehovah, the God of their fathers.

Time:—Josiah born (Beecher), B. C. 640. Becomes king, B. C. 638. Begins his reforms B. C. 627. His great reformation, B. C. 622.

Place:—Jerusalem.
Golden Text:—Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and light unto my path.—Ps. 119:105.

Introduction
"It is dreary reading about most of these later kings of Israel. Four-fifths of them were equally deficient in brains and moral—a combination of wickedness and folly, with nothing of the king about them but the name. But here and there you come upon a man amidst these royal puppets. It is like finding a garden in a Sahara, or a jewel in a heap of sham trinkets, and dirty stage thery. Josiah breaks a long series of absolutely worthless monarchs. Before and behind him are moral waste and darkness. He stands out, a figure worth looking at and loving."

Hesekiah's Wicked Son
Following the good King Hezekiah, Josiah's sovereign, came his son, Manasseh, who had the long reign of fifty-five years. Manasseh was one of the worst kings of Judah. He went so far in idolatry as to sacrifice his own children on the blazing altar of Molech, set up in the Valley of Hinnom, southwest of Jerusalem. Because of all this wickedness, and the large number of innocent persons that he slew, the Lord sent the Assyrian hosts upon Judah. Manasseh was captured, bound in chains, and fetters, and carried to Babylon. There he repented of his many sins, humbled himself before God, prayed earnestly to Jehovah, and was forgiven and restored to his throne. "Then," says the chronicler, "Manasseh knew that the Lord He was God."

The Mother of Josiah.
When he came to the throne, but it Josiah was only eight years old, he was fortunate for him and for the country that he was not old enough to fall under the base influence of his father. We may conjecture that the boy's fine character was due to the training he received from his mother. Her name was Jedidah, which means "Beloved," and she must have been a woman of piety and of rare ability.

Josiah's Early Piety.
The chronicler records the date of personal piety; in the eighth year of his reign, when he was sixteen years old; and in the twelfth year of his reign, when he was twenty years old, and able to take active direction of affairs, his personal religion began to exercise itself in a national reformation.

The young reformer smashed the heathen gods. Those that were of wood he burned, and strewed the ashes on the graves of their worshippers. Nor was his reforming zeal confined to Judah, but it ranged northward into Israel to the most northern tribes. The Northern Kingdom had fallen a century before, many of its people were in exile, and there was no one to oppose him.

Josiah Repairs the Temple.
Six years later than this bold reformation, when Josiah was twenty-six years old, he set himself to repairing the temple; for during the reign of idolatry Solomon's magnificent edifice, one of the wonders of the world, had been allowed to fall into sad decay. The walls and floors were broken down in many places, beams were sagging, curtains and furniture were in disreputable condition.

The Levites, who had charge of the temple property, were sent out over the whole country to collect money for these repairs, going to the extreme north, and visiting thoroughly all parts of Israel and Judah. The funds as collected were placed in the honest hands of Hilkiah the high priest, and by him passed over to the superintendents of the work, who in turn paid the laborers their wages.

"The Book of the Law."
"Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of Jehovah given by Moses." It was the tradition of the rabbis that the precious manuscript was found under a heap of stones where it had been placed to keep it from being burned up by the wicked king Ahas. Just what "this book of the law" was, has been a matter of keen controversy. Many Bible scholars believe that it was the Book of Deuteronomy, though hardly the whole of it; perhaps Deut. 5-26, with chapter 28, according to the Cambridge Bible. We may conclude that this "book of the law" was the entire Pentateuch. "The words," the book of the law, are really sufficient to decide the point; since, as Keil says, they "cannot mean anything else, either grammatically or historically, than the Mosaic book of the Law (the Pentateuch), which is so designated, as is generally admitted in the Chronicles and the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah."—Rawlinson in the Pulpit Commentary.

Effect of Bible Reading
The effect of this reading was instantaneous and startling. The law of God came to Josiah, as it always comes to any honest heart, with deep impressiveness. He saw as by a lightning flash the depths of iniquity into which his people had plunged. Over against the horrible sins which idolatry always brings in its train, Josiah now perceived the pure and majestic standard of the holy life ordained by God for His creatures. In awe and terror the king rent his garments, and at once commanded Hilkiah and Shaphan and other upright men to

LESSON

Huldah, the Prophetess. In obedience to the king's command, messengers sought out Huldah the prophetess. It is strange that they should have sought a woman and not Jeremiah or Zephaniah, but the former lived at Anathoth and Zephaniah may have been in the city. Neither of them could have done better, however, than Huldah, whose earnest words confirmed the solemn curses of Deut. 27:11-26; 28:15-68; but the close of her prophecy was a tender message to the young and pious king, informing him that, because he had humbled himself before God, these curses would not fall upon him or in his day, but he should be gathered to his grave in peace.

Huldah is the type of the stern, uncompromising and conscientious woman who in every age has foretold the doom of transgressors. Such women as she may have lived among the Covenanters of Scotland and the Huguenots of France: such a woman may have inspired the Roundheads when they fought the Cavaliers in the days of Charles Stuart and Cromwell.

Luther, Wyclif, Tyndale "The old picture of Martin Luther standing before a copy of the scriptures carefully chained to a wall in a crypt is suggestive. The gospel then did not have free course. It was not only bound by iron, but it was su- pered from the eyes of the common people in the inexplorable depths of the dead languages. Wyclif, Tyndale, Erasmus, Beuchlin, Luther, Melan- chon found the 'old Book' in the temple, rescued it from an enormous heap of traditions and decrees, and restored it to the world through the magnificent translations which they made. Then modern history begins. With the begin- ning of the Sunday School, the church entered on another era of Bible recovery. Societies were formed for its multiplication and distribution. Within one hundred years the British and Foreign Bible society has issued a hundred and seventy-five million copies; and the American Society has issued a million a year for seventy-five years.

If Bible Were Lost Imagine that the world had lost the 'Book' and had lost with it all that it has given to mankind. In the loss of the Bible and its fruit we should lose the knowledge of the true God. Blot out the Bible from the world's history, and we fall back by slow but sure gradations into the conditions of the most debased of African tribes. Serpents and monkeys become our deities. By the loss of the Scriptures we should lose, sooner or later, our institutions of benevolence, hospitals, asylums for the insane, reforms in which charity to the unfortunate and the poor has expressed itself in Christian lands, are among the trophies of the Christian Scriptures. In the loss of the Bible we should suffer the loss of our institutions for popular education, a free press, free schools, public libraries, and free speech. By the loss of the Scriptures and their creations we should sooner or later part with our institutions of civil liberty, and become a land of slaves and tyrants; without courts or tribunals organized and managed in the interest of equal justice. The loss of the Bible and its fruit from the world would involve the destruction of peace and its attendant blessings; that war could become ultimately the chronic condition of society; that the modern idea of the family would be lost; that the institution of marriage, as we understand it, would cease to be; that woman would be reduced to servitude; that home would lose its holy meaning; and, in a word, that the tendencies of the human race to barbarism in its most brutal forms would be revived, and that its natural career would be toward its own extinction on the globe."—Condensed from Austin Phelps.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

But when the paroxysm was over and he became quieter, he also became afraid.

with Huck for a loan was like the sight of his drug to an addict? "I'll get the money," he had screamed, and dashed from the room to return in a few moments with the check that now hung over his head like a sword.

Huck too, had gone to see someone. His destination was the secret poolroom and speakeasy where he'd taken Harold when he "introduced" the boy to the gee-gaws, as race horses are called in the underworld.

suggestion. Then he shook his head. "Motive," he said crisply, "too easily discovered. There is a girl; he's engaged to her, and to my knowledge several persons know that. I intend to have-hey!" Duke regarded him in astonishment. "What do you care?" he asked. "Losing your nerve? There'd be no evidence."

"I can't afford to have suspicion directed toward me," he explained. "Some stool would be sure to peach that I had a motive and I wouldn't care to be talked when I was after the girl. Besides, it isn't necessary to remove him permanently. I'll make the girl before long."

Duke grinned. "Not so strong for the other guy, huh? But I guess you're right. If we bumped him off and the dicks got tailin' you someone might send a varmint to her old man. It's that Judson dame, ain't it?"

Duke shifted the cigar between his roughened lips, clamped his teeth down on it again, and nodded. "You'll need Lefty Flint," he said when he saw that Huck was waiting for him to offer a suggestion. "Where is he? In New York?"

Press Poem Written by Panhandle Editor

Printed below is the poem by Archer Pulling, editor of the Panhandle Herald, which was read at the Panhandle Press association meeting here. Mr. Pulling was elected poet of the association for this year.

IN TEXAS
Red rushes the water in the sand waste rivers
In Texas,
High blows the west wind,
Over the Llano Estacado,
Over the black land prairies,
Over the cross timbers,
Over the wispy mesquites,
Over mesquites,
Waving like huge green ostrich feathers,
Sand laden west wind blowing over black-jacks,
Black-jacks with mistle-toe bunched on the branches.

Fresh moves the Gulf breeze,
Over South Texas,
Over Buffalo grass and cactus,
Over orange trees and loco,
Over rice fields and blue-bonnets,
Over the Edwards plateau and the Rio Grande,
Over the cattle, the goat and the sheep country,
Howling through a patterned tube,
White galloping Gulf clouds,
Hurrying and sliding,
Over the fresh, rain laundered sky,
Like great puffs of perfumed smoke,
Blown as a bubble by the Old Man of the tropical sea.

Smoky-green are the piney woods along the bayous
In Texas,
Ancient oaks drape themselves in Spanish moss,
That dips in the still, brackish marshes,
Blue herons and cranes,
On one foot in the swamp,
Sleep lotus-drugged all through the day time.

The low orange moon is latticed,
To the wild duck in the canebreak;
To the man on the Frio,
Herdling sheep from the bush and the lobe,
The moon is a pitch-ball game between the Christ and the Devil,
Spanish whippoorwill cry out in monotonous precision,
"Chip fell off the white oak!"
"Dick married the widow!"

The Gulf stream laps on a million sandbars
In Texas,
A thousand rivers run,
Guarded by bow-siders and bur-oaks,
Marked by cotton-woods and cedars,
Sand-waste rivers rush by with red water,
Red-bud shows lip-pink in April among the best-elders,
The sunlight whitens the sea-waved wheat on the plains and the prairies,
On the black land prairies and Panhandle,
In Texas.

Ancient cattle ranches,
Marked off by blood-red and purple veined and paint mixed canyons,
Fragments of asphalt, turquoise, garnet and yellow,
That even the Painter himself could only imagine the names of the colors,
Yellow-House and Pale Duro,
Concho and Frio,
Canyons,
In Texas!
In Texas!

David Crockett,
High on the walls of the Alamo,
James Bowie sick on a cot within the walls of the Alamo,
Holding the cot with one hand and a knife in the other,
Panith at Goliad,
All dying for Texas,
Sam Houston at San Jacinto:
"Remember the Alamo,
Remember Goliad!"
"The bridge on the bayou was burned,"
Writes the chronicler,
"Before them lay the turbid waters,
Behind them came the dreaded Texas!"
"Remember the Alamo!
Remember Goliad!"
The seven golden cities of Coronado,
Are multi-colored shimmering mirages
In Texas,
A white rock becomes a mountain,
A mesquite bush becomes a forest,
Lakes appear out of thin air.

Robert Cavalier de La Salle
Lies buried in the woods of East Texas;
Jean Lafitte, privateer,
Made Galveston a Spanish main,
Negroes picking cotton
In Texas,
Singing, gambling, rowdy,
Picking cotton from the Red to the Rio Grande,
In the bottoms of the Brazos,
In the gummy bottoms of the Trinity,
On the black waxy prairies of the cross-timbers.

Mexican women combing long black hair,
Glistening and straight,
Combing it over the shoulder,
With movements slow and monotonous.
A decaying lumber camp he hidden in the yellow pine forests,
In Texas,
The long leafed pine forests,
The oak and walnut forests,
The green-black hills of the earth,
Shoots from a million derrick,

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT C. FLUMMER

WASHINGTON. — Roosevelt was president when Pat McKenna took up his duties as official doorkeeper to the executive offices of the White House.

That was 26 years ago. He has been at his post ever since, serving under Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and now Hoover. His post is within the shadow of the door leading to the president's office, and no one sees the chief executive without first passing McKenna. Cabinet members, diplomats, members of congress and plain citizens—each is eyed by the veteran doorkeeper before being ushered into the presence of the president.

McKenna's job is to see that the president's daily visitors are presented to him in their order and with the least possible confusion and loss of time. He must also make sure that no one gets into the offices of the chief executive who has no business there. He will tell you that this is quite a job. Many of the first visitors to the White House have an idea that the door to the president's office swings both ways, and that all they have to do is to walk right in. It is McKenna who stops these democratic souls and advises them as to what they must do in order to get within the inner sanctum.

McKenna also holds the keys to the White House proper, insofar as visitors are concerned. To get a glimpse of the president's home one must first have a card signed by the doorkeeper, to be presented at the door of the executive mansion.

During the 26 years he has been doorkeeper, McKenna perhaps has come in contact with as many important people as any other one person in the world. Also, must he act as the go-between for the thousands who come from everywhere to shake the hand of the president.

It is the latter class that make his job anything but the most pleasant. They are always making some absurd request, and some seem wholly unable to understand why they can't be granted.

While we were talking to McKenna a visitor rushed up with the request that President Hoover place his signature in an autograph book.

"But the president is not receiving today," the doorkeeper informed her. The visitor insisted that the signature must be had. There was no way out. McKenna took the book and said he would try and get the president to sign. The visitor could return later in the day and get it. He was shown where the signature was wanted, marked the place, and put it on his desk to await opportunity to slip into the president's office and ask him to write his name.

"I get this every day," he said. "But I am accustomed to it. And after all, it's in the day's job."

McKenna refers to the president as "that feller in there," and he always accompanies his statement with a wave of the hand towards the executive offices.

It is never President Hoover this or that—always "that feller in there."

Talks To Parents

When Frances and Mary were little they used to hold each other's hands to keep from being afraid of the terrifying noises made by the water as it ran out of the old-fashioned bath tub and down the pipes. The roarings, suckings, gurglings of that noise were to them the horrid cries of subterranean dragons and blood-thirsty vampires. At any moment they might have risen through the pipes and spread in horrid shapes through bath room and nursery.

They told nurse about it but she said they were a pair of sillies. So they used to hold each other's hands and whisper in unison a magic formula of their own invention, "You can't come up! You can't come up!"

Grown women now, they still remember that terror of their childhood which only their mutual reassurance and the power of their magic held in abeyance.

Many of the fears from which children suffer seem as irrational and unfounded as this and they are quite as real. It is easy to understand why a child is afraid of a barking dog or a roaring engine or even of a thunderstorm—to these we lend our sympathy and the help of our own courage. But the fear which springs from the imagination, which has no basis in fact is dismissed as foolish and its reality denied.

Yet to the imaginative child the creatures of his fancy may be more terrifying than any barking dog. The fears of the mind are not less actual because they are invisible. If we would help the child to overcome his fear we ourselves first must admit its reality and its power. We may tell him that long ago people used to have such fears as his, that from them have been woven the myths and legends he enjoys so much. Gradually he will grow to see that his fears too are make believe, just like the ones in story books.
