Big Territory Given Rail Advantage at Last

On time to inaugurate the new service from the Pampa terminus, train No. 44 left for the Pampa...

The train crew arrived at 6 a. m. from Amarillo and appeared in a happy mood while waiting for the minute of departure to arrive.

Trainsmaster Along R. W. Prentiss of Amarillo, trainsmaster, and E. A. Ford, route agent for the Railway Express Agency, Inc., were with the train, and W. H. Rochester, construction engineer on the new line, was to make part of the trip.

F. P. Reid, Pampa highway and railroad enthusiast, went as far as Mobeetie as the guest of honor of Mr. Rochester, who purchased ticket No. 8 and gave it to the former in appreciation of the interest the Pampa man has always shown in transportation matters.

For the present, the mail and express will be handled by the conductor. Only pouch mail is accepted, no loose mail being permitted.

Railway officials said that the light equipment would be run for a few days until the bridges are thoroughly tested. It will be but a short time, however, until the heavy type engines and long freight trains will be sent over the road as demands arise.

Ten Tickets Sold Ten tickets were sold this morning. Nine were to Mobeetie and one to Hampton. About fifteen Santa Fe employees with passes also boarded the train to give a capacity load.

The coach is divided into main section, smoker, and negro compartment, besides the baggage division. The initial test is an experiment, and no effort was made to assemble a large volume of business. The condition of the roadbed is such, however, that heavy traffic may be handled. The road is of standard gauge, and well constructed.

Clinton, Okla., citizens have written the Board of City Development that they will come to Pampa early in June, and a celebration will be held at that time. The visit will probably be returned by Pampans later.

She May Be Schmeling's Bride

It took a 19-year-old Czech-American girl to knock Max Schmeling, German heavyweight fighter, head-over-heels—in love. Miss Jarmila Vackova, above, now is in Prague starring in a movie, but she'll have to hurry back or lose her American citizenship. Then she expects to see Herr Schmeling, shown in inset, who has returned to this country to continue his campaign for the championship.

JUNIOR HIGH GRADUATES WILL BE JOINED BY COUNTY SCHOOL PUPILS IN PROGRAM TONIGHT

New road are Pampa, Heaton, Laketon, Thorndike, Mobeetie, Conrad, Allison, Reydon, Redmoon, Cheyenne, Strong City, Herring, Hammon Junction, City Junction, Hammon, McClure, Butler, Stafford, Ralph, West Junction, and Clinton. The C. & O. W. line, originally started by Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, was taken over by the Santa Fe and built to Cheyenne. Pampa citizens contributed $5,000 in money and about $45,000 worth of right-of-way and terminal grounds before Mr. Kell sold his interest to the Santa Fe system.

Five townsites have been designated, and sales will begin as follows: Mobeetie, May 15; Allison, May 22; Conrad, May 29; Reydon, June 3; Laketon, June 10. D. O. Breene, general agent, is handling sales for all the townsites. He is now located at Mobeetie, where the first sale will be held today.

Mobeetie, first Panhandle town, has a new site 1 1/2 miles north of the old pioneer town and a mile east of the Fort Elliott military reservation which back in 1874 brought security to plains citizens. Mr. Kell had hoped to save the original townsite because of its historical interest, but the lay of the land was such as to make this impossible.

B. Kersey of Amarillo transacted business here today.

One hundred and twenty-three Pampa students, joined by pupils from the county schools of Pampa Independent School district, will make their formal entry into high school when commencement exercises for the Junior high school are held this evening at the First Baptist church. The diplomas will be presented by C. P. Buckler, member of the board of trustees, and medals will be awarded by T. D. Hobart.

An attractive program has been arranged for the occasion with Boyce Smith, principal, and Miss Josephine Cariker in charge. It will be opened at 8:30 o'clock as the seventh grade pupils enter to the processional. As the first number, the Junior high chorus will sing the ever popular "Voices of Spring." Loretta Fletcher will play the piano accompaniment and Eleanor Frey, the violin obligato. The class song will be sung by the entire Junior high school.

The class prophecy will be made by Yedda Stein and Vondell Kees. Milton McKinney is to be class gitorian. The Rev. D. H. Truhitte, pastor of the Baptist church will ask a benediction at the close of the program.

I. B. Hughey is seriously ill at his home here.

SENIOR CLASS NIGHT IS HELD LAST EVENING

Melba Graham is Given American Legion Medal

CLASS GIFTS TO SCHOOL MADE

Excellent Program Is Presented by Students

Many seniors thought "I wish that my tongue could utter" last night as they tried to express their love for alma mater, but all of them found means to tell by word or music or picture what their hearts felt. It was senior class night, with a program arranged under the direction of Miss VeLora Reed, sponsor of the Class of 1929.

In announcing the awards, Principal R. B. Fisher first presented the American Legion medal, offered this year for the first time to the senior having shown the greatest all-around ability, including scholarship and capacity for leadership. This went to Miss Melba Graham, who was selected for the honor by the faculty.

Scholarships Awarded Miss Claudine Pope, as valedictorian, received the Texas university scholarship, and Warren Richeson, salutatorian, the A and M scholarship. Besides these scholars, Prof. Fisher announced that Louise Glover, Oak Allee Roberts, Melba Graham, Claudia Brandon, Virginia Faulkner, and Cora Boney had made averages of more than 89 per cent.

Miss VeLora Reed gave prizes in Spanish work. LeFors Doucette took first with an average of 96, and Miss Louise Smith was second with 95.

Prof. Fisher accepted a beautiful painting by Chester Carson, a member of the senior class, depicting the spirit of a true Harvester. President Donald Zimmermann of the seniors also said that the class was giving the school a trophy case, which will be placed in the main building hall.

Juniors Assume Role In the course of an interesting senior class night program, LeRoy Price, president of the juniors, received the cap and gown of President Zimmermann of the seniors, together with flowers donating the class colors of maroon and white.

The program opened with the salutatory address by Warren Richeson, who also welcomed the audience in behalf of the graduating class.

This was followed by a cornet solo by Donald Zimmerman, who also led the seniors in the singing of "Dear Old Pampa High School."

Miss Oak Allee Roberts in the class history gave many clever take-offs on class members, with humorous jabs concerning their chief traits.

Noel Thomas, who has a clear tenor voice, sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Martha Fannell, with Mrs. Dorothy Ives playing the violin obligato. Miss Catherine Vincent caused much amusement with her class prophecy. She told of foreseeing the destinies of members of her class, and revealed highly amusing situations. The always popular boy's quartet sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Fannell.

Class Will Read One of the features of the evening was the class will by Miss Betty Louise Glover, whose eloquence and sincerity touched the deep feeling of the class of '29.

OLDEST OF LIVING EX-GOVERNORS IS DEAD

AUSTIN, May 15. (AP)—Former Governor Joseph D. Sayers, 89, died at his home here this morning.

He was governor of Texas from 1895 to 1903 and was the oldest living former chief executive.

At the time of his death he was serving on the board of pardons as an appointee of Governor Dan Moody, Texas' youngest governor.

In spite of his years he was active coming to the capitol daily to pursue his duties. He became ill a few weeks ago and had not left his home since.

Man of Courage

A man on crutches in the thick of battle, twice wounded and twice returning to the fray on crutches, gives a key to the indomitable character of Governor Sayers. His long life spanned a period reaching from ox carts to airplanes, and in all that time he was and active figure in the most active moments of state and nation.

The incident of the crutches occurred after the battle in 1863 when Governor Sayers was a captain of artillery. His battery was the center of the fiercest fighting and the young captain, then only 22, was severely wounded. While convalescing, he was made a major and assigned to duty as chief of staff for Brig. Gen. Thomas Green. Major Sayers rejoined the army on crutches. At the battle of Mansfield, La., in 1864 he was again wounded, and again returned to the army on crutches. This time he was assigned to duty on the staff of Lieut. Gen. Richard Taylor.

Opened School Governor Sayers was born Sept. 25, 1841 at Genada, Miss.

After the war, Major Sayers returned to Bastrop, Texas, his home, to open a school, studying law at night. He was elected to the state senate by Bastrop and Fayette counties, serving in the thirteenth legislature in 1873.

Senator Sayers moved at once to the front ranks of those chosen to lift Texas out of the agonies of reconstruction. He was instrumental in the repeal of all obnoxious measures enacted by the twelfth legislature.

From 1875 to 1878 he was chairman of the state Democratic executive committee. As such, he called to order the state Democratic convention which met in Galveston in January, 1876, and re-nominated Coke and Hubbard for Governor and Lieutenant-governor, and the convention at Austin in July, 1878 after a prolonged and exciting contest, nominated O. M. Roberts for governor and Senator Sayers for lieutenant-governor, the nomination of Senator Sayers being accomplished by acclamation and without opposition. Roberts and Sayers were inaugurated Jan. 21, 1879.

J. B. Rose was able to leave Pampa hospital yesterday after undergoing a minor operation.

tribution of Mrs. Mildred Faby Patton.

Donald Zimmerman added another solo to the program by singing two solos, the last a parody on "Collegiate", using the name of the class. Hugh McSkimming accompanied him at the piano.

Valedictorian, Miss Claudine Pope expressed the aspiration of the near graduates. She pointed out that there is still need for reconstruction, still much to destroy and to rebuild, and that the class would take its place in the world in the hope of being of real services. She expressed the hope that Waco's premier righthander, nourished school would always be remembered, and that the individuals would accomplish things to make their teachers proud of them.

POISON GAS AT CLEVELAND ADDS TO TOLL

CLEVELAND, O., May 15—(AP)—At least 89 lives are known to have been lost and scores of persons injured in a deadly explosion and fire at Cleveland clinic hospital here today. Many of the dead were victims of poisonous gases and suffocated in agony. Others died from burns. Most of the victims were patients powerless to escape death.

The hospital was filled with patients and prominent physicians at the time of the explosion.

Scores of patients were taken from the wards and clinic rooms and rushed in ambulances to nearby hospitals. It was difficult to determine whether some of them were dead or alive.

In a short time the building was a mass of flames. Firemen braved death to rescue helpless patients, taking them out through windows.

Many of the patients were unconscious when removed. Some were burned and others were suffering from the poison gases.

Two blasts occurred on the second floor, one in the x-ray room. The flames shot out the second floor window and patients on that floor were helpless.

Some of the victims were lying on the lawn of the hospital because there were not enough ambulances to rush them to other hospitals.

Observers at the fire said some of the victims on the lawn turned a deep green in color and that they seemed dead.

There were no patients on the first floor. Firemen who rushed from all parts of the city concentrated their efforts on rescue work.

All physicians available were summoned. Automobiles and trucks parked and in traffic were commandeered and rushed to the scene.

Four were reported dead at the Huron Road hospital, and one dying. Three prominent Cleveland physicians were trapped in the x-ray room.

The injured and dying were rushed to the Mount Sinai and Huron Road hospital and the hospital clinic. Among the twenty at Mount Sinai one died.

W. H. Spillman, of Forest, Ohio died at the Huron Road hospital.

Three women in the crowd that watched firemen faint as they saw the scenes of death.

Citizens Volunteer for Rescue Work Hundreds of citizens volunteered their services to aid policemen and firemen in the rescue work.

Fourteen of the people in the building were dragged to the roof, where physicians and nurses gave them aid.

Noise made it impossible to communicate with those on the roof, to learn how they got there or how badly they were hurt, but it was believed most of them were burned and overcome with gas, and that they were rescued by doctors who took them to the roof through a skylight.

All available wards and rooms were commandeered into service. Nurses, doctors and internes all worked feverishly applying first aid and artificial respiration. Even scrubwomen and janitors were pressed into service.

Clocks in the building were stopped at 11:35 a. m., indicating the two explosions occurred at that time.

Hospital Was Nationally Known The hospital was built in 1924. Dr. George W. Orle, its proprietor, is nationally known. He gained a wide repute for relief of gutters.

Jack Sutherland, a truck driver, passing the building, grabbed a gas mask from a fireman, rushed into the building and succeeded in rescuing 30 before he himself was overcome. He was later revived.

Louis Issabucca, a taxi driver aided in the rescue of thirty.

Battalion Chief James P. Flynn with firemen Louis Hillenbrand and Walter Kress were the first to arrive. They found twenty persons overcome in the front hallway, made helpless in their attempt to escape the gas.

A woman jumped from the third floor, suffering a broken leg.

The Rev. E. A. Harby of St. Cecilia Catholic church and Rev. J. M. Traps, of Holy Trinity passed in and out among the dying on the lawn at the clinic giving aid and administering extreme unction.

X-Ray Films Explode

Check by firement revealed that the explosions occurred in x-ray films stored in the basement. Several tanks of oxygen, compressed by the heat, let go, adding to the intensity of the flames.

Upon the explosion bromine gas, compounded in the films, was released in dense brown clouds, according to a pharmacist.

The deadly bromine, which burns out the sensitive tissues of the mouth, nose and lungs, caused the victims to bleed profusely at the eyes, nose and mouth.

A call was sent out over the city and state to rush all available oxygen this, it was said, was the only thing that would save the victims.

The x-ray room was located in the basement of the building. The hospital was a four story brick structure, rafter semi-fireproof.

It was built in 1924, by Dr. Orle, Dr. (See DISASTER, Page 5)

"It's Like This—"

THE NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL association is urging the press to interpret the schools to the public, and is sending out much literature on the subject.

It may be of value to quote Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin and former editor of Century, on this topic: "Before we can think straight about the relation of the press to the school, we must recognize two very plain facts about the press: 1. It is the function of a newspaper to handle news, not to convert itself into a preaching agency in behalf of ever the best cause, and (2) a newspaper and the press in general is a business institution with a legitimate desire to show a handsome profit at the end of the year..."

The News has a very definite policy of giving full publicity to every phase of school life in which the cooperation of pupils and faculty open channels of information. School activities are fully supported as a matter of course, because members of The News staff are genuinely interested in them for their own sake.

Many attacks are being made upon the schools. The cost of education is increasing. It can hardly be otherwise when enrollments are breaking all records and standards of teachings are steadily mounting. The chief extravagance, in most instances, is in employing teachers who are inferior whereas, for a slightly greater expense, much better instructors could be procured.

Teachers are held back too much in community affairs. They should not be looked upon as of profession apart, but should have the same recognition that other professional young people enjoy.

Too much is not being spent on the schools. "Our yearly income" says the N. E. A. research bulletin, "approached ninety million dollars in 1926. That this income is ninety billions, instead of fifty or sixty billions, is very largely due to human factors, special capabilities possessed by the nation's citizenry, which are the result of such agencies as good schools. These qualities have not been developed in a day or a year."

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER. WASHINGTON — Congress, acting in its wisdom in special session, is now worrying about tomatoes, grapefruit, lemons, apples, lettuce, asparagus, kohlrabi, turnips, avocados, olives, peppers, strawberries and other miscellaneous fruits and vegetables.

The special session was called to enact farm-relief and to change the tariff, principally with a view to farm relief. Fruits and vegetables are mixed up in all of that.

Fruits and vegetables are grown in profusion in Mr. Hoover's home state of California and elsewhere. The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill provides higher duties on imported cherries, grapefruit, peanuts, beans, onions, mushrooms, almonds, tomatoes, pineapples, ripe olives, turnips, rutabagas and other items, but there are no changes in rates on various others, including lemons, potatoes, oranges, raisins, peaches and peas.

Tossed on the Floor

Thus were fruits and vegetables thrown onto the floor of the House. In the Senate the same thing had already been done by Senator Copeland of New York, who introduced an amendment to the farm relief bill which would exempt fruits and vegetables from the relief program.

Both houses of the California legislature have protested, at the instance of the large California cooperatives.

But the fruit and vegetable interests appear to be seriously divided over the question whether or not they want to share in the benefits of the farm relief bill—divided, in fact, over the question whether their inclusion under the bill's provisions would do the farmer more harm or good.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi has a half dozen telegrams from growers and growers' associations in his state, demanding full and equal privileges with other crops. The National Horticultural Council has lodged protest with various senators at the proposed elimination, asserting that the fruit and vegetable industries are in a bad way.

Numerous growers of North Carolina have similarly wired Senators Simmons and Overman and the chairman of the Ohio Farm Bureau has wired Senator Fess urging defeat of the amendment. A dozen citrus-fruit organizations and chambers of commerce in Florida have protested to Senator Fletcher.

On the other hand the American Fruit Growers, Inc., has wired Senator Jones from Yakima, Wash., urging exclusion of perishables on the ground that their marketing is a highly organized and efficiently functioning industry which would be seriously disturbed if the farm bill were applied to it.

Embarrassing Facts

Second, although his enemies probably will not find out enough about Uncle Andy to force a majority of senators to vote that he hasn't any business to hold his beloved post any longer, they have nevertheless found out enough to make a distinguished gentleman of Uncle Andy's sensitive temperament feel somewhat embarrassed.

One notes all this with a slight pang of sorrow, for Uncle Andy's personality is in many ways so appealing and gives off such an atmosphere of ethereality that some of those who admire neither his abilities nor his policies are often inclined to regard him unconsciously as a kind and adored uncle in fact.

In all of Washington, there is no one who, under fire, can carry such a perfect air of injured innocence as this mild and aged man. And the impressive thing about that air of injured innocence is that it is almost certainly quite sincere. One calls him aged, of course, because he is well over 70. But no one knows just how old he really is because the authorities differ.

TWINKLES

Mother's day comes just before commencement and soon thereafter it's Dad's day to pay off for the graduation finery.

They will never do much for the farmer until they have to do something with him.

Through the irony of big business, Silent Cal was called upon for a speech at the first directors' meeting of his insurance company he has attended.

Pampa probably has more golfers and fewer caddies than most cities of its size, whatever that implies.

Corruption in vote counting has reached such perfection that rival cities may demand recounts when the returns on the 1930 census come in.

Alimony is a big racket in some states, and it usually starts when marriage ceases to be a profitable one.

Mathematical problem: To discover how much more important seniors feel than juniors, if any.

Commencement speakers have a hard time deciding how near the truth they should come in telling the grades about life in order to do justice to the subject without too greatly discouraging the "commencers."

They are doing a lot these days to take the drudgery out of the kitchen—and out of eating what comes out of the kitchen.

Twentieth Century Club Holds Last Business Session

Twentieth Century club closed its business for the year at a regular meeting yesterday afternoon when the members heard the report of the president, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, on the recent convention of the district federation in Snyder, accepted a program for next year as outlined by the year-book committee; and discussed plans for an open meeting and book shower for the public library, to be held on the evening of May 24. Mrs. Tom E. Rose was club hostess.

The program of the afternoon was on "Better Homes." Mrs. R. W. Sawyer gave an excellent talk on the needs for raising and maintaining the standards for home life and the necessity of creating a fine and inspiring home environment. Mrs. Floyd A. Smith, program leader, directed a round-table discussion of unusual interest. Fourteen club members were present.

Revival to Close at Christian Church in Sermon Tonight

The opening of the services last night at the First Christian church revival was in charge of Mrs. O. Fred Hanna and her Booster chorus.

The program began with the lights in the auditorium turned off. As Mrs. Hanna took up the strains of a march a rear door to the platform opened and in single file came first the little tots, followed by the older boys and girls, all carrying lighted candles and taking their places on the platform. In the background was a large imitation of the Holy Bible partially opened the covering of which was made of metallic cloth. When a spot light was thrown upon it from the rear of the auditorium, a little girl was seen within the open book. She announced that they were members of the Booster chorus and invited fathers and mothers to give attentive ear to their program.

The program consisted of a number of songs followed by a well outlined Bible and study covering a general knowledge of the Bible and the life of Christ and His teachings. A number of statements were made by individual members of the chorus. The program was rendered in a very impressive manner, and portrayed many hours of patient hard work on the part of both Mrs. Hanna and the members of the chorus. Many were heard to say that it was the best program of the kind that has been presented here.

Evangelist A. G. Smith spoke on the subject "Good-bye to God," reading from the twenty-fourth chapter of the book of Acts. "The book of Acts is called the record of conversions, and while this is true it is also found to be a book of the cases of both conversion and non-conversion." He then took up the discussion of the non-conversion of Felix and his wife Drusilla and brought to the attention of hearers the factors involved in the life and mind of Felix that made the records of his non-conversion possible.

He made an earnest appeal that these same things be guarded against in the minds and lives of his hearers, saying that as these things prevented the conversion of this official in the Roman Empire two thousand years ago so they would affect the lives of men today.

The meeting closes tonight with the

DWIGHT DAVIS TALKED FOR PHILIPPINE POST

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—D. F. Davis, secretary of war in the Coolidge cabinet, is the most likely choice for governor general of the Philippines and announcement of his selection apparently awaits information as to whether he would accept the post.

Mr. Davis' name has been suggested in connection with an ambassadorial appointment to one of major European countries and there had been little conjecture connecting his name with that of a successor to Henry L. Stimson, now secretary of state.

Fair Association at Amarillo Will Hold Rodeo July 4

AMARILLO, May 15. (Special)—early days in the Panhandle will be recalled vividly here on July 4 when an old-time rodeo, of the kind now nearly extinct, will be staged here under the auspices of the Tri-State Fair association. It was announced last night by Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the Fair.

Under the management of Cliff King and Clyde Miller of Holly, Colo., both among the Southwest's leading rodeo performers, the event promises to be the greatest single pre-Fair attraction brought to the Panhandle this year. Mr. Hawk declared.

More than $7,500 in premiums will be awarded winners in the different rodeo competitions. These contests, which include roping, bull-dogging and similar features, are open to anyone in the Panhandle. A milking contest will be among the attractions.

Two performances, afternoon and night will be given on July 3, 4 and 5 at Texan hall park. Special giant floodlights will illuminate the grandstand for the evening shows. Additional information on the rodeo and entry blanks for the contests may be obtained by writing to Clyde Miller, Holly Colorado.

Talks To Parents

A PLACE TO DIG

Every small child needs a place in which to dig. The city bred child who never sees the earth save in the iron railed sections of the park suffers a real deprivation. Equally unfortunate is the child who grows up in a suburb which is so filled with pride in its front lawns and back yards and hedges that it will tolerate no blemish in its well-groomed midst.

I remember last year seeing one poor little fellow repeatedly switched across the legs for sinfully employing his shovel in the vicinity of the young privet hedge, for trailing his express wagon over the newly seeded lawn, and for running his tricycle over the edge of the pansy bed.

His front yard was for looks and his back yard had been paved with cement. It was no good even for tricycle riding because it generally was monopolized by his baby sister's laundry. There literally was no place in which the child could play except the public street, where he was forbidden to go, and the single narrow walk that led up to the front porch.

Fine hedges, smooth lawns, blooming gardens are a part of every home outside the city, but they have no right to exist until the little child has been provided ample space in which to run and play and dig.

At the risk of incurring the neighbor's displeasure let us see that our toddler has a fine digging ground, if not in the back yard, then by all means in the front yard. His play may be an eyesore to the uninformed, but to those who respect children as people, it is not half so distressing as the sight of a small child subjected to a kind of animal training.

PEPSIN WINS! BEST FOR INDIGESTION

Here's a delightful elixir with plenty of real pepsin, some Menthol and just enough of several other stomach correctives to make it capable of putting almost any weak, rundown, abused stomach in first class shape in three weeks—and it tastes like the most palatable nectar.

The men who created this supremely good formula know their business—they don't believe in nasty tasting medicine and the people are with them for Dare's Mentha Pepsin—that's the name—is having such a tremendous sale all over the country that many druggists are astonished.

Stubborn indigestion years standing is hard to get rid of, but Dare's Mentha Pepsin is the discovery that will do it; one enthusiastic druggist asserts: You can get it at any real drug store in America and thousands are taking advantage of the generous moneyback guarantee every day. Fatheree Drug Co. always has a big supply.

Waco Ace Is Finally Beaten—Spudders Win, 9-5

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.

Another good pitcher went to the well once too often yesterday. The imposing record which Earl Caldwell, Waco's premier righthander, nursed through the first month of the Texas league campaign was snapped off at six straight when the Wichita Falls Spudders forgot their ailments long enough to swat the Cubs, 9 to 5, in the first game of their series in Spuderville.

Caldwell's lapse came on the day when Big Jim Lindsey was turning in another corker for Houston and threw the two into a deadlock for league hurling honors, each with six wins and one loss. Lindsey barely missed scoring another shutout in defeating Shreveport 4 to 1.

While the race was drawing tighter around the top of the ladder, the roaring Redskins from San Antonio continued to pound their way steadily up into the thick of the going by taking their second straight at Fort Worth, 7 to 0. The win gave Pat Newman's rejuvenated team undisputed possession of fourth place, only a half-game behind the Sports in third.

Fort Worth, after dueling in the rarified atmosphere of the first division for several days, tumbled back into a tie with Wichita Falls for sixth position. The Dallas Steers' second straight victory over the visiting Beaumont Exporters, 5 to 2, enabled the Herd to climb up a notch into fifth place.

If yesterday's games are a criterion, the pitchers of the circuit are beginning to get limbered up. Lefty clubbing averages which have characterized the race so far are apt to come tumbling down.

Lindsey's fine game against Shreveport, in which he allowed but five hits, was matched by Andy Messenger, the Indians' subway artist, at Fort Worth. Walter Tauscher, youngster obtained by Dallas from Pittsburgh, held Beaumont's sluggers to six scattered blows and two earned runs and himself drove across the winning runs with a double in the fifth.

Half of Baseball Schedule Rained Out on Tuesday

By WILLIAM J. CHIFFMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Major league baseball lost another decision to the weather man yesterday but on a decision rather than by a knock-out. Exactly one half of the schedule was saved.

The Athletics pulled into first place half a game ahead of the idle Yankees by defeating the Tigers at Detroit, 10 to 8, in a game which left eight pitchers draped upon the ropes, while the Braves shoved the Cubs into a deadlock with the St. Louis in the National league by shading the McCarthymen in twelve innings, 6 to 5.

The Cardinals, moving into a tie for the lead on John Heydler's circuit without so much as unlimbering a bat thus profited from idleness at a moment when the Yankees found it costly. This is the first time in four years that the Yanks have been anywhere but first place at this particular stage of the month of May.

The Athletics not only drew slightly away from the Yankees yesterday, but also registered a neat gain over the Browns, who persist in threatening from the third rung of the American league ladder. The Senators stopped the Browns in another knock-down-and-drag-out affair by a score of 9 to 7, aiding both the A's and the Yankees. The Chicago White Sox evened their series against Boston by winning, 6 to 2. Bob Weiland pitched a smart game for the Blackbears host, and received the aid of a home run contribution from the bat of Chalmer Clissell.

Glenn Collett and Marion Hollins, two of America's most noted women golfers, are in England now, practicing for the coming British women's championship. Southwestern Is Full of Baseball Talent of Note

DALLAS, May 14. (AP)—Selecting an All-Southwestern conference baseball team this season promises to be difficult for sport scribes. Usually the Texas Longhorns boast such a preponderance of talent it is comparatively simple to pick an all star aggregation, but this year the Aggies, Baylor, Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian all have outstanding performers to merit consideration.

Fallout of Texas and Douglas of Baylor, unanimous choices for the hurling staff last year, have not shown to as great advantages this season, and either of them might be shoved out of the select circles by such stars as Wilker of T. C. U., Lyle of S. M. U., and Keith of Rice.

Several schools are strong behind the bat, but Alnoch of Rice generally is regarded as the conference's leading backstop. Drye of S. M. U., and Lackey of the Aggies are other possibilities for the mythical team.

At first base the choice probably will lie between Walker of Texas, Wallin of T. C. U., and Potter of Baylor. Walker is said to be the best fielding first sacker of the three, but the other two have hit harder in conference games.

A battle royal probably will be staged for second base and shortstop positions on the select nine, with Meredith Hopkins a strong contender at the key-stone bag. Pinky Higgins of Texas generally is regarded as the leading third baseman of the circuit.

Brooks Conover of the Aggies and Tommy Hughes of the Longhorns have been the conference's two outstanding outfielders and both are almost certain of berths on any all-star team selected. There are half a dozen to vie for third position.

New Oil Pact Is Revealed by Tulsa Newspaper Today

TULSA, Okla., May 15. (AP)—The Tulsa World today made public the proposed oil states pact providing for the regulation of drilling, production, refining and distribution of all oil as drafted by Secretary Wilbur of the department of interior.

The newspaper said Secretary Wilbur's proposal called for a conference of representatives of three or more oil states participating, with members of the federal petroleum conservation board, at which tentative legislation would be drawn for submission to legislatures of the oil states.

The document also provides, according to the newspaper, that "production and distribution by any method whereby the maximum feasible recovery of gasoline is not affected are declared to be opposed to public interest."

The interstate board would have power to supervise regulations, supervise drilling, production and refining, restrain operations declared opposed to public interest, and to appoint and authorize agents to carry out its orders.

The proposed pact would become binding and obligatory when approved by congress and legislatures of signatory states.

Graf Zeppelin Ready for Trip

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 15.—(P)—Rain or shine, the trans-Atlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin, already delayed a day, was expected to start from Friedrichshafen for the United States at 6 a. m. tomorrow (12:00 midnight eastern standard time.)

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, assembled his eighteen passengers at the Kurgarten hotel about noon and told them he planned to leave at that hour. Weather conditions, he said, were so favorable he expected to make Lakehurst by Saturday night after a flight of from 65 to 70 hours.

His probable route will be by way of Besancon to the mouth of the Loire, or, if necessary, by way of Cape Finistère, then straight westward north of the Azores reaching the American coast in the neighborhood of Virginia or the District of Columbia.

The departure of the Graf Zeppelin, originally scheduled for this morning, was delayed because of the late hour Dr. Eckener received permission from the French authorities to fly over France. The permit, however, restricted him to the hours from seven to nine. This coupled with the shortness of time he had left caused him to put the flight off twenty-four hours.

There was much mystery as to the plans of Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York City, who had taken passage aboard the ship much to the distress of her relatives. Mrs. Pierce, through John E. Kehl, American consul at Stuttgart, received an urgent request from the secretary of state suggesting she refrain from taking the trip. She promised Mr. Kehl she would not, but there was reason to believe her promise had been made chiefly to keep her relatives from worrying and she still was planning to make the trip.

These cup-hunting golfers who are always winning low net trophies with the aid of an over-sized handicap have the wrong idea.

You'll find one, or more, in every club. They think they are smart golfers. They turn in cards at the professional shop on their bad days, but when they shoot their good scores they keep that to themselves and so far as the handicap committee is concerned they have high handicaps. Then along comes a tournament and watch them go!

It should be a part of a golfer's creed to have his handicap right. The golfer knows his scores and should be able to keep his own handicap. You'll find the handicap table used by several state golf associations about right. Establish your own handicap by this table and you won't be far wrong.

Average score is arrived at by the three lowest scores made over a three-month period.

Hot Action!—And a Study of Faces

Remarkable action pictures, taken at the recent Drake and Penn Relays and other collegiate events, offer an interesting study of men's faces under the stress and strain of strenuous competition.

No. 1 shows Eric Kronz, discus hurling champion of Stanford, as he heaved the Grecian platter 161 feet 77-8 inches, a new record.

No. 3 is Dave Adelman of Georgetown, pictured heaving the shot 47 feet 41-4 inches to win that event at the Penn Relays.

No. 2 shows the phenomenal Claude Bracey of Rice Institute, catching his breath after he beat a field of crack 100-yard-dash men in 9.4-5 at the Drake Relays. Bracey violates sprinting traditions as he is nearly six feet tall and weighs 175 pounds.

No. 4 shows Beall of Oklahoma Baptist finishing first in the mile relay at Drake. Not another runner was anywhere near when Beall finished.

No. 5 is one of the most unusual action pictures ever taken, showing as it does the length of a hurdler's jump as well as offering a study of form. Left to right are Everett Utterback of Pittsburgh, Tom Churchill of Oklahoma and Alden Holsinger of Juniata.

No. 6 is an interesting study of starting form as displayed by Barney Berlinger of Pennsylvania. Notice the contraction of face and shoulder muscles as Berlinger prepares for a mighty effort. Churchill is shown again in a remarkable instant of action in No. 7, just after taking off in the broad jump.

Stories from a War Correspondent's Notebook

THE TANGLED SKIN
By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The world war gave the Fates an opportunity of exercising to the full their penchant for the eccentric.

Take, for example, the queer cases of those world-famous air-fighters—Capt. Georges Guynemer, the Frenchman, and Capt. Manfred von Richthofen, the German.

The three Goddesses of Destiny had interwoven the life threads of these heroes until there was a tangled skein. Then, suddenly, the cords were torn asunder to give one of those unexpected denouements which the Fates love so well.

These two men probably were the most romantic figures of the bitter war of the air. Each had exacted a terrible toll from the enemy aviation force, and young fliers spoke of them with bated breath, like children whispering of the bogey-man. But each of these great bird-men was more than a fighter—he was a cavalier of the air.

Young Baron von Richthofen—he of the crimson colored airplane, who commanded the famous air squadron known as Richthofen's circus because of the variegated planes—was one of the few Germans for whom the allies had a real regard during those years of hatred and bloodshed.

Richthofen was over No-Man's Land half way between his own line and the British, when a bullet reached him.

Richthofen, the Daubitz—probably shot down by a mere infantryman from the ground!

Perhaps I am over-imaginative but as I turned away from Von Richthofen's funeral I couldn't help thinking of Guynemer, of how these two had sought each other for long months, and of what a sorry ending the Fates had given to the story—Guynemer shot down by a "rabbit," and Richthofen laid low by the bullet of a rifleman in the trenches.

And Jack King, who made his debut as a concert pianist at 8, who has toured America, Europe and the Orient playing the classics, now under contract to theme-song for the talkies, and enjoying it greatly; Mary Dora, unrecognizable in her Topsy make-up for "Eva the Fifth," and not so comfortable in the black woollen she wears in place of dark skin under the too genial incense when they were doing exteriors, she was in a light flimsy dress and "nearly friz," she says.

Nick Stuart, reminiscing about his "Glasgow through Europe" tour, and hoping to do it again sometime; Merna Kennedy in golden evening gown, dancing before the camera in scarlet "corny" slippers; they don't show in the picture and Merna believes in comfort.

TRUCK IS DAMAGED

A large truck owned by H. A. Bly-miller was badly damaged by fire at noon. The truck had just been driven from a local garage where repairs had been made, and had proceeded as far as Craven avenue a half block east of Cuyler street when fire broke out under the hood.

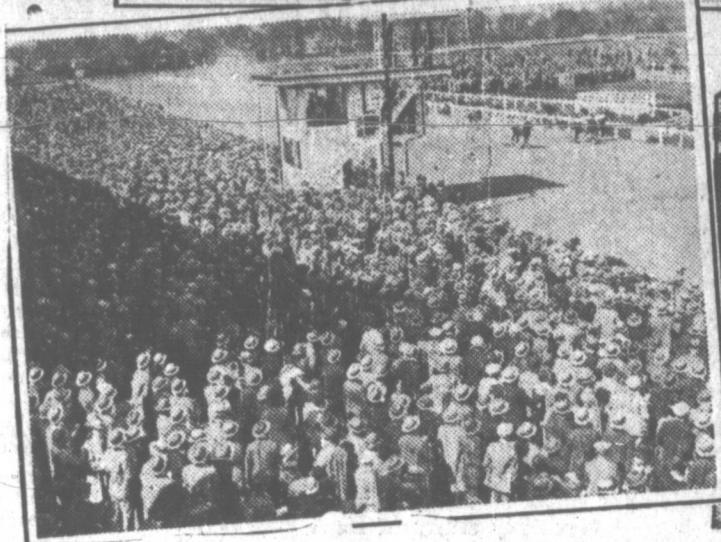

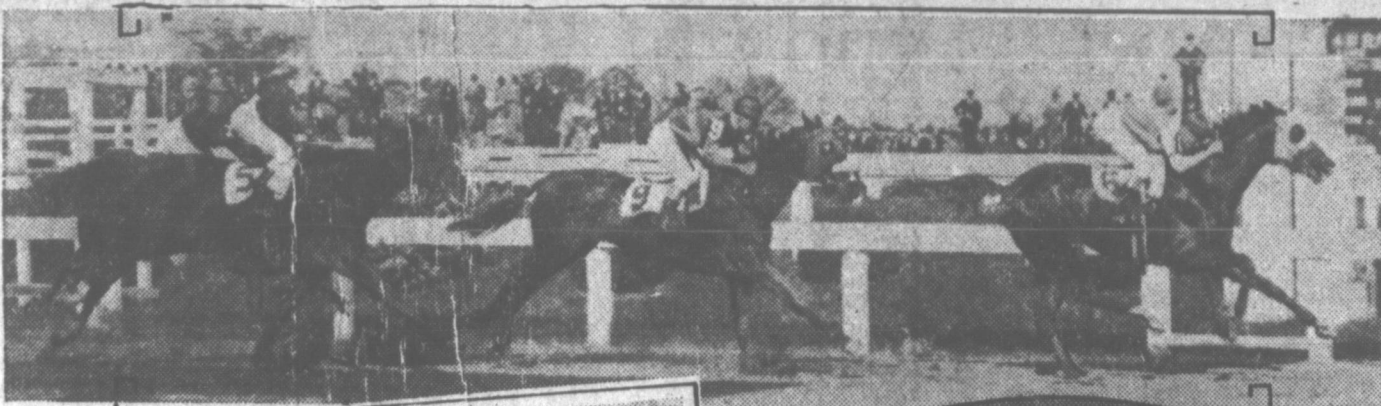

The fire department was called and by using chemical the blaze was extinguished before the body had caught fire. The fire was believed to have started under the floorboards where gas was found to be leaking.

MRS. WADDELL WINS

Mrs. Hampton Waddell was winner of a trip to California with all expenses paid, the first prize in a trades promotion contest sponsored by eleven Pampa merchants. The trip is to be made in June, a company with winners of similar contests in other towns.

Miss Louise Miller won second prize a watch. Mrs. W. M. Stone, who won third prize, also received a wrist watch. There were 26 contestants in the race at the close of the contest.

When $50,000 Preakness Purse Was Won

More than 40,000 wildly cheering race fans saw the Preakness Day handicap run at Pimlico, Maryland, the other day. Above is shown the thrilling finish, with Dr. Free-laud, Jockey Schafer up, winning by a length over Mino-taur which, just before the race, was reported sold of J. R. Rhompson Jr., of Chicago, for a price the size of the coveted $50,000 purse. Third place went to African, at the left in this picture. Below, left, you see a section of the vast crowd while the race was being run, and right, the much discussed Ganns, of Washington, with Vice Pre-sident Curtis. There seems to have been no argument over the seating arrangements of the grand stand box.

DISASTER—

John Phillips, Dr. William E. Lower and the late Dr. Frank E. Butts. In addition to the founders, Charles F. Thwing, President Emeritus of Western Reserve university, and Edward C. Daoust, attorney, were members of the board of trustees.

Most of those killed were patients of the hospital. A few were believed to have been nurses and doctors.

Two hours after the building took fire, all of its occupants had been removed, and the fire had been extinguished.

Scores of firemen battled scorching flames while others donned gas masks and risked their lives inside the building, in rescue work. Some of the patients were removed through windows. Some of the victims tain etasohrdl. Some of the victims were burned horribly. Others were unconscious. Many were crying out in fright and bewilderment. They were rushed as fast as possible to hospitals.

Scores of bodies were brought out of the building with firemen unknowing whether the bodies were dead or alive. The majority were dead.

Some who were rescued broke into hysterical tears as they were carried from the building, but many screamed with the pain of awful burns.

The agony of those stricken by the fire vied in aspect of horror with the convulsions of other patients and nurses who clutched at their throats and gasped for breath as they suffered the torments of poison gas.

Attendants at Mt. Sinai hospital said Dr. Carl Helwig, treating the injured there, found the body of his wife among the dead. She was a technician at the clinic.
