Scurry Concert Association

It's new! It's different! It's exciting! It's what everybody's been asking for! And, best of all, it's a bargain!

We're talking about the 1972-73 SCURRY CONCERT ASSOCIATION SERIES.

Look what's coming to Snyder. The New York Comarata on Tuesday, November 14; Hal Shane, guitarist, on February 27; and the Ronnie Kole Trio, "New Orleans' Newest Sound", on Friday, March 30.

The New York Comarata is made up of two guys and a gal, each of whom plays a variety of instruments, some of which are unusual, such as recorders, electric bass, harpsichord and tabla. The New York Comarata say about themselves, "A Concert offers the chance of unions between the performers and the audience.—Most concerts seems to us to formal. We try to help our concerts to be truly alive by creating contact with the audience. We play music we like, and we try to adapt our programs and approach to each concert situation."

The second attraction on the Scurry Concert Association roster is the fabulous Hal Shane, folk guitarist. Shane is already sky-rocketing to fame under major management in the concert field. He has received standing ovations from such sophisticated audiences as are in the east, Philadelphia, for instance. And the third concert will be the sparkling Ronnie Kole Trio who will make you feel great with their interpretations of Dixieland jazz and popular selections. "In the five years since they left the Al Hirt Club and opened their own club (in New Orleans), the Trio has gained such popularity that they are now known as one of the three great acts in the city, standing shoulder-to-shoulder with Pete Fountain and Al Hirt."

And, to top it all off, when each new member joins, he will enjoy a BONUS concert, the du-pianists, Yarbrough and Cowan on Tuesday, April 11.

All concerts for one low, bargain price of $9.00 per adult; $5.00 per student; and $23.00 per family membership. This is truly the biggest bargain in the entertainment world today; and it's coming right here to Snyder, Texas!! Campaign Headquarters is located in the Community Room of the West Texas State Bank. For further information, stop in from 9 to 5 daily or phone 573-8139. Your only opportunity to join is now through April 8th at noon.

Join in the excitement of the SCURRY CONCERT ASSOCIATION now! Next week will be too late!

Old Art Revived

While browsing around in a little antique shop on 306 E. 3rd in Big Spring, I saw a number of beautiful teffany lamps. After inquiring about the lamps, Mrs. Charley Creighton owner of the store told me the story of how they were designed and constructed in the basement of her nephews home in Big Spring.

Arnold Parmley, 1814 Settles, Big Spring has been designing and building the lamps in his work shop at home for the past two years, and currently has 16 lamps that is displayed at his aunts' shop. At the urging of Mrs. Creighton, he first began making the lamps as a hobby. Since he constructs such beautiful lamps it is naturally turning into a business.

Parmley has had a number of years experience working with glass, he is currently employed at Merchants optical Company in Big Spring. He can complete a small lamp in a couple of evenings, working in his spare time. It took him over 50 hours to complete a large lamp containing 322 pieces of hand cut opalescent glass cut into squares and rectangles to form the lamp, with pieces of opalescent and cathedral glass cut into various shapes to form the flowers and leaves on the lamp border. He used 72 yards of rolled copper to fit the pieces together.

Mrs. Creighton said her nephew stencils his own patterns from which he cuts the glass. He had no training in lamp designing. He just learned as he went along, and researched lamp-making through reference books.

He has made one soft, pinkish beige lamp in the shape of double Tulip, with the petals on the upper flower opening toward the ceiling, the larger and lower flower opening toward the floor. Parmley wired the lamp which swings on a chain suspended from the ceiling, so that both portions can be lighted at once or separately, using the upper portion as a night light.

Mr. Parmley and Mrs. Creighton decided to turn the hobby into a business after they learned of a man in Boston who makes handcrafted lamps and is two years behind with orders.

"Did you feel any moral conflict at all?"

This question was asked by a TV interviewer of a graduate student working on his Ph. D. This young man ran a thriving business on the side selling completed test papers to students at a prestigious Eastern college.

"No," he said, "none at all."

The interviewer then turned his attention to the students who had bought the papers and had used them to pass their tests without the usual toil and trouble. He asked a student, "Don't you feel there's anything dishonest about cheating?"

"No," he said, shaking his head slowly. "See, I feel the college is cheatin' me, forcin' things on me I don't want to do. So if they want these answers on their tests, why not buy 'em?"

The interviewer indicated that this practice was not only widespread but brisk, and that, although the faculty and administration knew that such a thing existed, there was little they could do about it because there was really no law against it.

It seemed to this socially retarded square, brought up with a passion for honesty, that this was no excuse whatsoever.

If both the buyer and seller could be identified, why could the teachers and administrators not expel these students for abuse of trust and wholly unethical behavior? Of what use was education if it could not even invest a student with conscience, with moral imperatives?

I can hear the young answer, loud and clear: If every institution in our society, from the government down, deceives us daily, why should a "moral conscience" be demanded of us?

Still no excuse, although it has become one for far more people than ever sanctioned dishonesty before: from the guardians of our laws to the screamers of radical rhetoric (right or left), from the oppressors to the oppressed, from heads of corporations to hard-hats.

"If you can get away with it, what's wrong with it?" "Hell, everybody does it." "It's like any other business, isn't it? People want something, you sell it to 'em." Or, fight fire with fire. I can lie louder than you can.

Students have forgotten that the people they're cheating are not the college authorities but themselves. If you pay for answers, you'll never learn how to find them.

Their argument goes: "So anybody can spend five hours in a library looking up dull facts. Why not have somebody else do it for you and save time?"

Why? Because in the process of looking up "dull" facts, you may stumble across fascinating ones. New worlds and ideas may crowd in on you which no test might require, but which may greatly expand your worth as a person.

The work-ethics is, of course, very unpopular these days. The idea that we have today is that work must have other dimensions to fulfill the worker.

On the other hand, everything valuable in this life must be worked for: love, a good marriage, stature, skill, creativity—learning. The idea that education must be largely "fun" is a fallacy. To learn to think clearly and to put thought to use is the hardest job in the world: sometimes boring, exhausting, or depressing.

The real test of education is to over-come these states and reach the peak of achievement. One then stands on a summit before a view much wider than ever before. And it can't be bought.

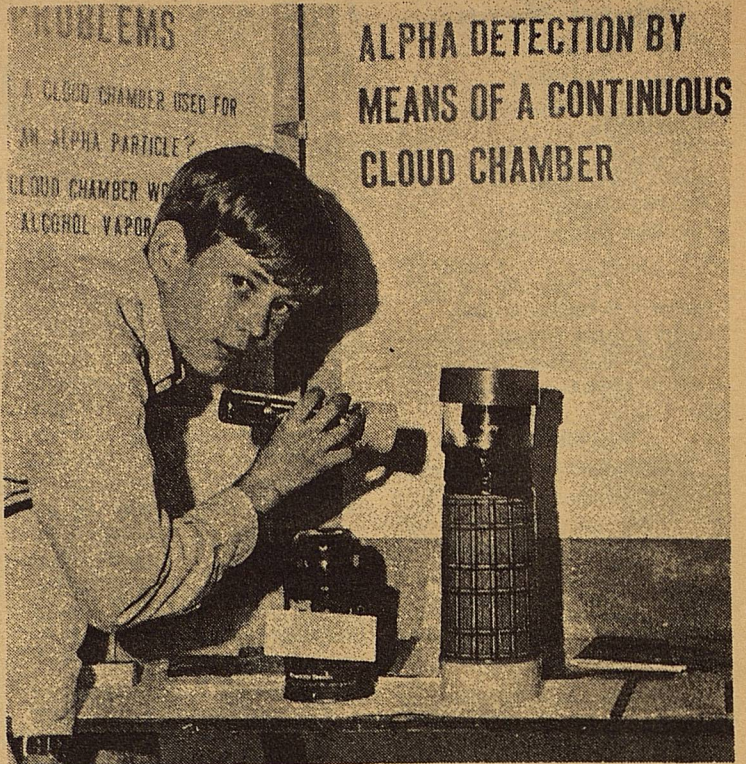

Mr. Levon Fitts, Pearsal, Texas, Mrs. Prentice Riley, Snyder and Mrs. Freida Murphy, Knapp, visited in Gail Wednesday with Doris Rudd and Lorene Jones. They were returning home after a vacation in New Mexico, where they visited the Bruce Murphys in Melrose and the Loyd Murphys in Grady. Levon is in Snyder for the Easter holidays. He is a teacher in the Pearsal school system.

Mr. & Mrs. Roy Reeder, Fluvanna and their son and family, Mr. & Mrs. Weldon Reeder and children Ronny and Connie, left March 30th and spent a few days in the Big Bend National Park. They returned home April 2, and reported a real nice trip.

Young Scientist

The following is an article written by Clint Scott on his trip to Texas Tech.

I am very interested in Atomic Energy and its workings. As my Science Fair entry this year, I made a "Continuous Cloud Chamber" and studied the rays of energy that is given off by a piece of gas lamp mantel. I did not have a Science teacher that could give me any assistance with my project, so they suggested that I go to Texas Tech and go through the Physics Department. My mother called the Department and made an appointment for me to talk with one of the professors. Dr. B. J. Sandlin talked with me about my project and went over to the Chemistry Department and met Dr. Shine, who is head of the Chemistry Department and talked with him about a chemical that I was in need of. We then made a quick tour in the Chemistry Department and went back to the Library in the Physics Department. While I was there, I met John Priest, who is doing graduate work on an accelerator. Just to give you some idea as to the power of the accelerator, it takes 2,000,000 volts of electricity to start it. He is also making a computer and programing it to do certain things. One of the things that he is trying to accomplish is: When the outside temperature is 90 degrees and the sky is clear and the mercury is at a given point, the front door will open. I enjoyed my visit with Mr. Priest most, because he is working on the things that interest me the most. As we were walking down a hall, I met Mr. Gott, who is building a telescope, that is to be doing and also interested in what I was doing. My trip to the campus was most exciting and I would like to go back and have more time to visit certain departments.

I met a number of people in the different parts of the department and talked with them only briefly.

We walked into a room where I met Mr. Thomas, who is head of the Physics Department, and he and another man were pouring liquid nitrogen into a cylinder that was being used to test the effect of cold on materials. The temperature of the liquid nitrogen is -458 degrees fahrenheit. I found everyone that I talked with to be very interested in what they were doing and also interested in what I was doing. My trip to the campus was most exciting and I would like to go back and have more time to visit certain departments.

Sewing For Men

COLLEGE STATION— Everything's just sew-sew this spring.

The modern woman is increasing the amount of sewing she does for the men in her life.

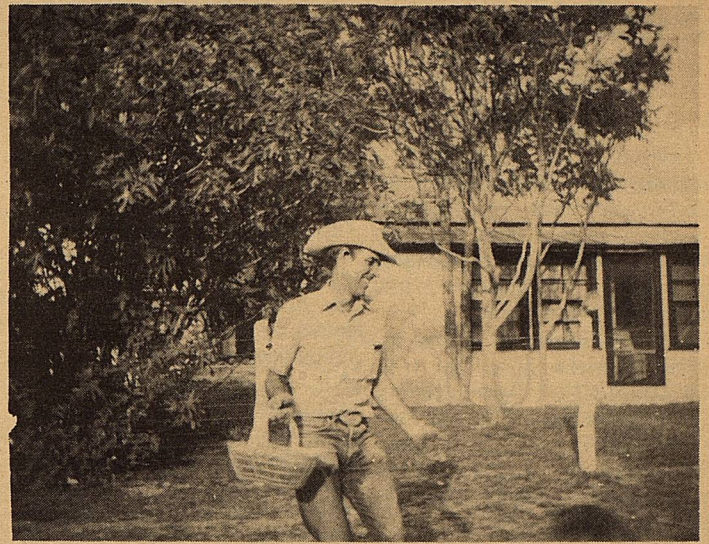

"Ties, shirts, pants and even dress jackets are being sewn," noted Roxanne Schnorr, clothing specialist at Texas A&M University. "The selection of just the right fabric is crucial for a successful garment to please men. Popular fabrics are as important as popular styles."

Whatever a man wears in 1972 needs texture. The fabric must have a sense of touch (in other words—feel appeal).

Select linen, corduroy and velvet in pale, neutral tones for the country homespun look. Fabrics with slubs and nubs add to the rugged effect.

Patterns are everywhere, but more subdued in spring fashion fabrics. Tiny geometrics, pattern on pattern and neat repeats come to the sewing counters. Twills, checks, herringbones and plaids provide suitable choices for jacket, sport pant and tailored slack patterns.

Cool, pale ice cream colors are the big scoop for dress shirts—pistachio, strawberry, butter pecan and boysenberry blue. Vanilla, too, looks fantastic in textured white on whites in subtle patterns.

"If you've decided on a sport shirt pattern, make it in the flora and fauna prints—bold in color and bold in pattern," the specialist suggested.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kingston and boys spent Friday, March 31 visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Doyle of the Plains Community. Then on Easter Sunday, they drove down the road to spend the day with Glenn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.S. Kingston.

Scabies Fought

A task force of 38 federal and state livestock inspectors is helping New Mexico cattlemen fight outbreaks of psoroptic cattle scabies in four federally quarantined counties—Harding, Torrance, Guadalupe and Lincoln.

Nearly two-thirds of the inspectors were hired by U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Service (APHIS), and all 38 have completed the USDA scabies eradication training school in Albuquerque.

The federal quarantine calls for inspection of all cattle in the affected counties and supervised treatment of infected and exposed herds. It also imposes shipping rules on interstate cattle movements to guard against spread of the disease. The state and federal livestock inspectors supervise the dipping of infected and exposed cattle and advise ranchers as to shipping rules.

Nationally, there have been 82 confirmed psoroptic cattle scabies outbreaks in the last five months. The quarantined New Mexico counties have had 10 outbreaks. Thirty-four quarantined Texas panhandle counties have had 45 outbreaks. A chain of 16 western Oklahoma counties under quarantine have had 9 outbreaks.

Outside of the quarantine areas there have been seven outbreaks in Kansas, two in Colorado, one in Iowa, four in Nebraska, two in New Mexico and two in Oklahoma. All of these outbreaks have been traced to the quarantined areas.

'Scribbles'

By Sibyl Gilmore

Since the beginning of time people of all creeds and colors have been trying to combat crime. Back in Biblical times, some of the most fearful punishment was put upon the criminal. We still had crime. In later years different methods were tried, researches were made into different factors, trying to come up with the answer to "Why people commit crime. We still had crime. Social groups, organizations. Investigations were formed blaming crime on everything from heredity and environment to divorce and even diet. We have always had crime, and we always will as long as this earth is covered with humans and there is a devil running loose among them. There are many ways to cut down on crime, and I think our law enforcement officials are doing a grand job. In my eyes and mind I will always think the cure begins at home. We always think we do a bang up job raising our children but when age catches up with us—we see many places we failed. The big trouble is the younger generations always think you are foolish if you try to point out these failures to them. All you can do is tell them and let them find out for themselves. They never fail to find out, and most of them the hard way. The only one who can overcome crime is God. The more of God we have in our homes, the less of the devil will show up later. You can combat crime by putting God in your life. God is love.

Cancer Crusade

The annual educational and fund-raising Crusade of the American Cancer Society opens April 1 against a background of the fight against cancer rating high national priority.

"We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime, is the motivating theme," explained Mrs. Barbara Anderson of the Borden American Cancer Society Unit. "We will be asking everyone to back up this goal with an annual health checkup and a generous check when our volunteer comes around."

Pointing out that there is more concern about cancer than ever before among Americans, Mrs. Anderson said the 1972 Crusade will seek to involve the many Americans who are careless or forgetful of the need for regular health checkups.

Plans for the 1972 Crusade, Mrs. Anderson explained include nationwide distribution of 45,000,000 leaflets urging women to go for Pap tests for uterine cancer.

"Although a nationwide Gallup study showed a gradual increase in the percentage of people who do get checkups from 57 percent in 1963 to 62 percent in 1970—there was a slowing down in the rate of increase of those who went for specific cancer tests," Mrs. Anderson said.

The fact that many cancers can be cured if detected early enough and treated promptly is the urgent message the Crusade will bring to the American people.

"Today we are saving one out of three cancer patients," Mrs. Anderson declared, "but with our present knowledge we could save one out of two if only people were alert to the warning signals, the safeguards against cancer and the need for the regular checkup." The safeguards, such as avoiding excessive sun, stopping cigarette smoking and others, will be stressed during the Crusade for year-round vigilance.

"We will use the Crusade this year to remind the public that there are 1,500,000 Americans today who are cured of cancer and that the number could be increased if everyone would try to protect themselves from cancer."

Carl and Vickie Crowder of Hobbs, New Mexico visited with Vickie's parents, the Page Cleavengers of Forsan.

Bridal Shower

Miss Carla Shoemaker, bride-elect of Mr. Kenny Hensley was honored with a Bridal shower Friday, March 31.

The shower was held at the Plains Community Center with over 40 guests attending.

Miss Shoemaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shoemaker of Ralls, Texas. She is a graduate of Borden County High School and attended South Plains Junior College.

Mr. Kenny Hensley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hensley of Gail, Texas.

He is also a graduate of Borden High School and is now a Senior at Texas A&M University.

A May wedding is planned. A lovely table arrangement featured blue and white with a centerpiece of small mums.

Cake, cookies, nuts, mints, and coffee and punch were served. Hostesses were Mmes. Oscar Telchik, E.S. Kingston, C.C. Nunnally, E.L. Farmer, Herman Ledbetter, Boyd Barnes, Frank Currey, Weldon Hancock, Bun Smith, Cecil Kizer, Dee Burrus and Jim Burkett.

Youth Center

Good luck to all of those who are working toward having a community center in O'Donnell. This is a very worthwhile project and will be greatly appreciated and used by our youth and adults.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Beraud and Wendy Michele, of Killeen, Texas, spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Kay of O'Donnell, Tex. Mike is a Lt. in the Army and is now stationed at Fort Hood, Tex.

Mrs. Kingston of the Plains Community had the following guests April 3 in her home to do Ceramic Painting. They were Mrs. Kent Holmes, Miss Maude Robinson and Miss Del Howell.

The American Cancer Society reports that one life in three is now being saved from cancer but it could be one in two without a single new research discovery if people understood the value of early detection and prompt treatment.

Weekly Marketing

Pork features are more numerous than beef this week. Smoked hams provide the main attraction in most markets, with the semi-boneless and boneless hams offered most often.

"Check to see if you are purchasing ham halves or portions," Mrs. Clyatt suggested. "The ham halves contain the choice center slices and should cost a few pennies more. Consider canned hams, bacon, one-half and one-fourth loins cut into chops, fresh picnics and roll sausage."

There's plenty of beef on the market with prices relatively high. This week, featured items most often include chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, ground beef and beef liver.

Fryer chickens and turkey supplies are large and specials are frequent. Eggs remain a bargain at current prices.

Prayer For The Week For Youth

The young need someone to listen to them
Lord.

Open my ears that much wider so that by talking to me they may be more willing to listen to You.
Grant them confidence and guidance where they have a right to expect it.

I really want their world to be better than mine.
Amen.

Artificial Sweetener

COLLEGE STATION—According to recent legislation, the use of the artificial sweetener, saccharin, will be limited under a new regulation of the Food and Drug Administration.

"This regulation took effect February 1," said foods and nutrition specialist Sally Springer. "Saccharin was then removed from the list of food additives that are generally recognized as safe."

The specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said that the use of saccharin has been limited to the following: 12 milligrams per fluid ounce of beverage in fruit drinks and other beverages, no more than 20 milligrams of saccharin per substitution for one teaspoon of sugar (when used as a sugar substitute) and 30 milligrams per serving in processed foods.

In addition to these, the Food and Drug Administration regulations require that labels of foods containing saccharin state what amounts of saccharin the product contains.

"This labeling will become effective for food sold after July 1, 1972," Miss Springer said.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ragan spent Easter Sunday with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gandy and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ragan of Odessa, Texas.
