It's Like This - THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

On July 16, the people of Texas will vote on a constitutional amendment. We are reproducing a careful analysis of the amendment made by the Texas Press association which recommends its passage.

In 1875 when the present State Constitution was framed Texas had perhaps a million inhabitants. The new constitution provided for a Supreme Court of three justices.

In 1928 Texas had five and a half times as many people as in 1875. In property values the increase in which naturally contribute to litigation—the growth has been even more remarkable. From the $249,000,000 assessed values in 1875, the total has steadily climbed until it is nearly $4,000,000,000 or sixteen fold.

But the number of Supreme court justices are still striving—just three. In other words with five and a half times the population and sixteen times the property values and with the increased likelihood of litigation that comes from the growth of such factors, three Supreme court justices are still striving to the best of their ability, it is only just to say—to dispose of the vitally important litigation that ultimately must reach them for final adjudication.

That in brief is the genesis of the pending constitutional amendment to be voted on July 16 next and back of which is the strength of the Texas Bar Association and the Texas Press Association membership together with the support of thousands of thoughtful citizens of Texas who believe in the axiom that justice delayed frequently means justice denied.

From the Texas of 1875 to the Texas of 1929 is a far cry. Today it is one of the greatest States in the Union in population and wealth—probably the greatest in its possibilities for future development. And the attainment of that development, very many well informed and thoughtful Texans believe, is being delayed and hindered by an unsatisfactory court system out of which has grown a very general demand for court reform. One of the first and most essential steps toward that reform, lawyers rather generally agree, is the adoption of the pending amendment which would increase the justices of the Supreme Court to nine, abolish the Commission on appeals with their six judges and require the Supreme Court to remain in session continuously twelve months in the year instead of nine months it is permitted to sit under the present constitutional provision.

Even in the constitutional convention of 1875 a strong minority, headed by John H. Reagan, was able to envisage the Texas of future years and insisted on a larger membership of the Supreme Court. But they were outvoted and ever since Texas has been trying by one means or another to meet a situation that has grown constantly worse. An amendment in 1892 created the Court of Civil Appeals, but left the membership of the Supreme Court unchanged. The make-shift of Commissions of Appeals has been tried in the meantime and found wanting, but the same attempted method of relief was resorted to in 1918 when the Supreme Court docket became so congested as to make emergency relief imperative. But opinions of these Commissions are not binding unless and until approved by the court itself, which thus misses the oral arguments brought out.

No permanent relief, lawyers generally contend, can come from any other means than a constitutional amendment under which nine judges, with co-equal authority, can handle the ever increasing litigation that must go eventually to the court of final resort.

Today there are eleven courts of civil appeals, whose decisions may be taken to the Supreme Court for review; these courts in turn are fed by 255 county and 106 district courts. And because of increased litigation there is constant effort to increase the number of civil appellate courts further to deluge the Supreme Court.

Confronted with a serious situation and impressed by the urgent need of action to protect the rights and properties of the citizens of Texas the Texas Press Association has gone, by resolution, on record as urging the people to vote on this amendment—an action taken only after scrutiny of the entire purpose and effect. Fearing that lack of interest or information might cause its defeat, the Press association decided to ask its members to make a special and diligent effort to advise their readers of the amendment and to urge their vote in line with the Association's earnest desire to further the cause of court reform in Texas.

There will be an election tomorrow—if the necessary polling places are ready in time.

PAMPA GRAYS BEAT TEXANS IN GAME HERE SUNDAY, 11 TO 5 WITH EVERY MAN SLUGGING

The Pampa Grays gave the Amarillo Tactless, Texas another triumph here yesterday afternoon by a score of 11 to 5. It was a free hitting affair with the Grays coming out on the long end of the number of base hits crashed out. The new diamond was slow and regular in many easy outs going for hits. More work, the new home of the Grays will be snappy. Bleacher seats will be erected this week and will be all ready for the Grays' next home game. The team will probably enter the Amarillo tournament starting next Sunday afternoon at Metro park, Amarillo.

Playing Manager Ed Gober was the big noise with his mighty bat yesterday afternoon. The veteran cracked out four singles in five times to bat. Johnnie Munds batted 1,000 per cent yesterday when he crashed three hits and two sacrifices in his five trips to the plate.

Every member of the Grays' nine hit safely during the game. Slim French, although hit rather freely, held the mighty Texans down throughout that game. The slim boy arrived Friday afternoon and asked for the chance to pitch against the Amarillo delegation. He had 12 strikeouts to his credit. The mighty Ravey went down via the strikeout route four times out of five. Home Run McCasland hit the empty air twice and Arnold hit nothing three times. Hayden, who always hits, was fanned in the ninth inning, but refused to leave the plate until Manager Sled Allen came upon the scene, and the big game proceeded.

Gibson Hits Well: Skeet Gibson, ex-big leaguer, was the heavy hitter for the Amarillo nine. He got three bingles out of five times up.

Hayden got two to be the only other Texan to get more than one bingle. The Grays hit Nicklaus and Maxwell freely. Munds, Reynolds, and Nell piling out three-baggers and Munds getting a double.

The Grays started out to win the game in the first inning when Munds singled and was scored on Reynolds' triple over the left fielder's head. Nell scored Reynolds.

Two more counters were registered in the third when Roberts singled, Munds sacrificed, and Munds and Nell scored on a hit-and-run play with Gober, who singled.

An additional two markers were hung up in the fourth inning on Horton's single, French's sacrifice bunt, a double by Munds, to score Horton, and a single by Reynolds to score Munds.

One score was made in the fifth. E. Gober singled and scored when J. Gober made two bases on an error. Amarillo pulled a double play, to put J. Gober and Horton out.

Big Sixth Inning: The score mounted to nine in the sixth inning. French singled, and was advanced when Roberts was safe on an error. Munds' sacrifice scored French.

Nell then scored Roberts with a long triple. Nell was left stranded when E. Gober flied out for the only time of the day.

The Grays got one in the seventh on three singles by Horton, French and Roberts.

In their last time at bat the Grays added another run, when Munds, Cahill and E. Gober cracked singles.

The Tactless Texans evened things up in the second inning when Hayden tripled and was scored by Arnold, who singled. Arnold scored on an out and a single.

One was added in the sixth. Oakes singled and was scored on Maxwell's two-base blow.

Hayden Objects: The Texans' last two runs came in the ninth inning with two out after some of the Grays had left the field when Hayden refused to accept a called third strike. Gibson hit safely and was followed by Arnold, who was safe on an error. Cal Farley scored both men, but was put out trying to make third on a play home.

A large crowd of Pampa fans witnessed the first home game, the newly organized Legion Grays have played this year. The American Legion band, in whose benefit the game was played, played throughout the game. The band gave color to the gathering and much enjoyment to the crowd.

Gober will have two more players here before he announces ready for the Amarillo tournament.

matter, as well he might have been, for he hardly expected the courier to get through to the camp alive. He left the scout to sleep two full hours. It was not until General Lawton offered the rider whatever horse he might wish to ride, regardless of whether it was the general's own or his wife's wonderful black mare, or some other, that Green fully appreciated the great importance that attached to the message he was to carry. Because the black mare was the fastest horse in the fort, Scout Green chose her. The general's wife, expecting never to see either her horse or the rider again, cried over both of them and kissed the horse as they prepared to leave. Solemn farewells were exchanged. Then the scout rode out into the night, supposed to be much the blacker because of the thousands of Indians ambushed there. He rode all night and came to Camp Beaver, without so much as the sight of an Indian.

The "Important" Message Lieutenant Bainbridge, the only white officer in a company of negro soldiers. What it contained, he had no slightest idea—only that it must be a matter of life and death. Two days later, as he and the lieutenant were preparing to set out for Fort Sill, the former said, "All, do you know what the message you carried to me?"

The scout informed the officer that he was not concerned with the content of the dispatches he carried; that it was his business to deliver them. He added that he certainly did not know the content of the last one he had carried. Bainbridge then confided that it was an invitation to an officers' ball at the fort. He swore the somewhat stunned Scout Green to secrecy, lest he lose his own precious position.

Lots of Indians The young officer was "boos" on the trip into the fort. Where Green alone had not seen an Indian, the two saw scores of them, and were forced to keep their mounts in a dead run the whole day. The Indians kept close to them until they were almost to Fort Sill, slipping away then to reach the reservation and lose themselves among the thousands of other Indians before they were reported and identified. (To Be Continued Tomorrow.)
