Leaders in Canon City, Colorado, Prison Mutiny Kill Themselves

UPRISING ENDS QUICKLY EARLY THIS MORNING

About Thirteen Lives Are Lost in Bloody Rebellion

GUARDS ARE SHOT TO DEATH

Dynamite and Tear Gas Failed to Move Inmates

CANON CITY, Colo., Oct. 4. — A definite end of the sensational riot at the Colorado state penitentiary came today just after a crisp gray dawn broke over the mutiny-racked institution. The besieged convicts, more than 150 of them, walked from cell house No. 2 in orderly fashion, their hands high over their heads.

Exodus of the convicts followed immediately on receipt of news that the ringleaders of the rebellion which took the lives of about thirteen men had shot themselves during the early hours of the morning.

Without opposition, the guards swarmed into the enclosure about the cell house and surrounded the convicts. One of the guards who came out with the convicts said Danny Daniels, Major Davis and "Red" Riley, three of the known instigators of the riot, had committed suicide.

Prisoners Stabbed
The end of the riot came after half a day and a night of furious fighting during which guards, held hostage by the desperate prisoners, were murdered when their demands to Warden Francis E. Crawford for safe conduct from the prison were refused. Dynamite, barrages of machine gun and rifle bullets and tear gas bombs failed to vanquish the prisoners.

Guards rushing into the cell house today found the bodies of the ringleaders, dead apparently about two hours. It was noted the rebellion had calmed about two hours before the prisoners marched from their stronghold. Fifteen feet inside the door lay the body of one of the guards, killed last night by Daniels, the convicts said. A few feet further along lay the body of Daniels himself, leader of the riot and known executioner of at least three defenseless guards.

The entering men came also upon the bodies of James Pardue and Major Davis, other ringleaders. It was evident they had shot themselves, the shots that killed them having been fired at close range. Features of the dead mutineers were mutilated.

Prepared for Siege
The convicts had made provisions for a long siege. In one of the cells they had stacked 25 loaves of prison bread. Two long butcher knives that might have been used as weapons were found nearby.

Marvin Duncan still was alive when taken from his cell. He was removed to Holmes hospital. Previously Duncan had been numbered among the dead. Inside the building, the bodies of Charles Shepard and McClelland, guards held hostage, also were found. These two guards, it appeared, had been murdered when the rioting was at its height last night.

CANON CITY, Colo., Oct. 4. (P)—Following is the death list in the prison riot here. Total deaths this morning were set at 13:

Guards:
J. G. Irwin, C. W. Rinker, R. P. Brown, John Ellis, Abe Wiggins.

THE WEATHER VANE

WEST TEXAS: Fair tonight, cooler in north and west portions; Saturday fair.

—AND A FROWN
LOUISVILLE. (P)—There's a big guessing contest as to what the "O" means in the name of O. L. Bodenbamer, new commander of the American Legion. Buddies who have known him at Eldorado, Ark., and as private and major in the A. E. F. have been unable in years to find out.

Chief Downs Wins Wrestling Match With Challenger

A strapping young man, who was later charged with intoxication, was the loser in a hand-to-hand encounter late yesterday afternoon with Chief of Police J. I. Downs, whom he challenged: "Come on out and get me. You can't put me in jail."

The youth came to the city jail to see a pal who was also charged with drunkenness. He wanted to argue with the chief. Downs told him he'd better go on home. "I'll go home and tank up, then I'll come back and clean up this joint!" the boy warned, but when he got on the sidewalk he issued the challenge.

Downs removed his gun and coat. In a minute and a half, he had a strangling head-lock on the youth and in another half-minute the challenger was in jail. In the cell the two pals began fighting. But in the end, they were taunting each other from opposite cells.

City Manager F. M. Gwin who was an interested on-looker says it's a hard matter to take a man through a door "without knocking him cold." Police Judge Busby bought the chief a cold drink—at a soda fountain.

Borger Justice of Peace Quits After Guard Quiz

BORGER, Oct. 4. (P)—Justice of the Peace Walter Broomhall of Borger has resigned, Clem Cathoun, district attorney, announced as he emerged from a session of the Court of Inquiry shortly before noon today.

Broomhall was relieved of all but civil duties with the advent of martial law Monday, jailed Thursday for investigation, and released later in the day. He testified before the court of inquiry this morning.

"I have talked to many of my friends in Hutchinson county with regard to the present martial law with respect to the office of justice of the peace, and they have concurred with me that I would be doing justice to myself and to those who are conducting the investigation of Hutchinson county affairs and to the benefit of the county at large to resign.

"Inasmuch as penal powers have already been taken away from the office, and since it is supported entirely by the fee system, there is not enough revenue to support my family.

"During my period of office I have always represented my people to the best of my ability in every way, and have conducted the office without favoritism to any person or persons, and am resigning only so that I may better be able to make a living for my family."

The resignation was addressed to the commissioners' court at Stinnett.

BORGER, Oct. 4. (P)—Brigadier General Jacob Wolters today issued a general order in which he said "all persons who are part of the organized and entrenched criminal ring" will be detained until the ring has been suppressed and obedience to law restored.

That order will apply to Lewis Crim, John Ware, Don McCombs, LeRoy Dempsey and John Mackness, already in the county jail at Stinnett, the general said. The booking against them at present is "hold for investigation," but General Wolters instructed the charge to be changed to read, "held under general order number six," the number of the order issued today.

General Wolters, Governor Dan Moody and Ranger Captain Frank Hamer have charged a criminal conspiracy existed before the assassination of District Attorney John A. Holmes Sept. 13. Captain Hamer added he had affidavits implicating city and county officials in the conspiracy.

The general order read: "Persons who are part of the organized and entrenched criminal ring declared by the governor of Texas in his proclamation of Sept. 28, 1929, to exist in the city of Borger and in Hutchinson county, who are arrested on charges filed in the civil courts for the vio-

LOCAL CHURCH TO ENTERTAIN BIG MEETING

Methodist Conference to Convene Here November 13

300 DELEGATES ARE EXPECTED

Committees Named to Care for Large Convention

Extensive plans for entertaining 300 delegates expected to attend the Northwest Texas Methodist conference beginning here Nov. 13 have been started by the local congregation of the denomination.

The entire Panhandle, extending to Vernon on the east, Big Spring and the New Mexico line on the southwest, will be represented. The 221 pastoral charges will send delegates, and there will be in addition 80 laymen from the eight districts.

Entertainment will be on the Harvard plan, according to the Rev. Tom W. Brabham. That is, the city will furnish free lodging and breakfasts. The meeting will open on Wednesday and extend through Sunday night.

Board representatives will include Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas, who will preside; Dr. C. E. Cram, Nashville, mission board; Dr. C. C. Selman of Dallas, education board; Dr. Luther E. Todd, Louisville, Ky., finance board; and Dr. Forney Hutchison, Oklahoma City, Epworth league. Most of these men are candidates for bishop, and a hot race to obtain the support of the general conference delegates to be elected here is expected.

The local church will make an exceptional report, telling of the raising of $22,000 for all purposes this year. J. M. Dodson is chairman of the entertainment committee for the convention; W. R. Campbell is chairman of the transportation committee, and the W. M. U. and Friendship class will jointly care for housing of delegates.

Funeral for Plane Victim to be Held Here Sunday at 2

Funeral services for George B. Rafferty, 45, who was crushed to death under a big Spartan airplane, piloted by Bill Morris, when it fell a mile north of Pampa Wednesday night, will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Holy Souls Catholic church with the Rev. Edward Clinton in charge.

G. C. Malone funeral home has charge of the funeral arrangements. Rafferty is survived by his wife and 8-year-old son, and two brothers. One of his brothers is G. F. Rafferty, well-known millionaire of Pittsburgh, Pa. His other brother, C. E., lives in New York City. Rafferty was engineer for the Magnolia Pipeline company at Kingsmill.

Rafferty was a passenger in the plane in which he met instant death.

W. E. Stockstill Home
W. E. Stockstill has returned from St. Joe, Texas, where he had spent three months transacting business in connection with oil leases.

Miss Mossilean Smith, Victim of Automobile Accident, Dies Today

After lying unconscious for 36 hours with a virtually crushed skull, Mossilean Smith, 16-year-old victim of an automobile wreck Wednesday evening, died at 10 o'clock this morning at McKeen & Connor hospital.

Earl Willard, who was driving the car from which Miss Smith was hurled to the pavement when it turned over and rolled into the barbit on North Ballard street, left Pampa hospital yesterday afternoon. Willard suffered slight injuries in the accident which was fatal to Miss Smith.

Funeral services for Miss Smith will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow at the First Baptist church with the Rev. D. H. Truhitte in charge. Miss Smith is survived by her mother

Planes Seek Explorers Lost in Canadian Northwest

Two planes bearing eight Canadian airmen on an exploring trip over the desolate northern part of MacKenzie territory, near the Arctic circle, have been missing since Sept. 8, and other airplanes are battling snow, and bitter cold in an effort to find them.

Barcus to Head Red Cross Drive Here in November

Appointment of Scott Barcus, local insurance and loan agent, to direct the Red Cross roll call here in November was announced today by the Rev. Tom W. Brabham, chairman of the Pampa chapter.

The roll call will begin on November 11 and continue until Pampa's quota, $1,000, is raised, it was stated. Last year the city raised more than $900.

Details concerning the roll call will be announced soon.

Federal Inspector Probes Plane Wreck

R. W. Le Laney, aeronautical inspector of the U. S. department of commerce was here this afternoon making an investigation of the airplane crash here last Wednesday when one man was killed and another seriously injured.

The inspector said he did not have any report to make here but would send it to the federal government. He released the plane to its owners and left for Amarillo about 3 o'clock. DeLaney interviewed a number of persons who saw the aviator and his passenger take-off.

SENATOR SMALL DECLARES LAWS PROTECTING LAND OWNERS MUST BE FURTHER STRENGTHENED SOON

Pampa was well represented at the Shamrock district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, although not all the persons who had signed up to attend did so.

George Briggs served on the resolutions committee. Hereford was given the next year's meeting.

Among those attending from Pampa were Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Reid, O. W. Ferguson, J. S. Wynne, R. R. Park, C. H. Walker, R. B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs, H. C. Chandler, A. A. Hyde, and Roy McMullen.

One of the high points of the convention was the address of Senator Clint C. Small, author of the Small land bills. Pleading for a united West Texas, he declared that the fight to protect land owners was just well started, and that considerable additional legislation will be necessary. He asked for full support in the next legislative session. The bill intended to halt land grabbing through the "navigable stream" law is being contested in the courts, and might be overturned, he warned.

Senator Small wishes passed a bill requiring land title suits to be tried in the county of origin, instead of at Austin. He criticized Governor Moody's opposition to the proposal.

The convention endorsed the work of President Bourland and urged a large attendance at the coming El Paso convention. Mr. Bourland, in stirring speeches told of the activities of the Chamber and said that a comprehensive West Texas program would be outlined at El Paso.

Shamrock served seven beeves to the 400 delegates and many others present at the meeting. S. R. Pinkston of Wellington presided at the meeting. Bands from Wellington, McLean and Shamrock furnished music.

21 PERSONS INJURED

STANFORD, Ky., Oct. 4. (P)—Twenty-one persons were injured, one seriously, in a train wreck on the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Cedar creek hill, eight miles from here today.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail, Russell Thompson, Louisville, conductor, was seriously injured.

NEGLIGENCE IS FOUND IN JURY VERDICT HERE

Award of $3,500 Given Father of Girl Killed

OPEN TRENCH CAUSED WRECK

Rehearing or Appeal to be Move by City Attorneys

Returning a verdict which stated that negligence of the City of Pampa was the proximate cause of the accident and death of Mickey Todd, a jury awarded damages of $3,500 to the plaintiff, F. P. Todd after being out about five hours yesterday afternoon.

The city will file motion for a rehearing of the case, it is understood. The judgment is being filed today and the city's attorneys have two days in which to file an appeal motion.

Fourteen questions in the charge were answered in favor of the plaintiff by the jury. The twelve men, in their verdict, stated that "the City of Pampa through agents and officers was negligent in the manner in which it removed the culvert and left the ditch across the street," where Miss Todd was killed May 25, 1927.

The jury also found the "city negligent in failing to place lights or warning signals at or near the said ditch and that negligence of the city was the proximate cause of the accident and death of Mickey Todd."

The jury decided that the driver of the car, C. G. Lunsford, in which Miss Todd was riding when the accident occurred, "exercised proper care to keep a proper lookout for the ditch caused by city having removed said ditch." The accident occurred at the intersection of Cuyler and Barnes street.

Todd was awarded a previous judgment of $5,000, which was reversed and remanded on appeal.

In the accident, Miss Todd's sister was injured and two young men were less seriously hurt. In a suit, Miss Della Todd was awarded damages of $500.

In the present suit, W. M. Lewright, Baldwin and Alexander represented the plaintiff and Cook, Teed and Smith the defendant.

Russian Aviators Down Somewhere on Bleak Coast

SEATTLE, Oct. 4. (P)—The sparsely inhabited coast line of British Columbia continued today to hold secret of the whereabouts of the Russian aviators who are piloting the monoplane, "Land of the Soviets," from Moscow, to New York.

They departed into the mist-enshrouded atmosphere at 6:42 a. m., Pacific time, yesterday, from Sitka, Alaska, on a flight of 800 miles, to Seattle, and nothing has been heard from them.

There was no great fear for the safety of the crew of four, however, as they were to take the outside passage, which is to the westward of the islands skirting the shore, including Vancouver island, a large body of land. Those familiar with the west shores of the islands said the Russians might easily come down with safety in their seaplane at any one of several safe harbors and yet be out of communication with the outside world for many hours, or even days.

Guardman's Gun Wounds Borger Man

BORGER, Oct. 4. (P)—C. C. Horton, garage owner, was wounded in both legs today when a pistol fell from a holster worn by Private J. B. Pinpanny of Fort Worth, while the soldier was in Horton's garage and was discharged accidentally.

Horton was taken to a hospital where his condition was said not to be serious. Executive officer Captain John Naylor immediately called a committee of investigation.

PAMPA'S FOOTBALL TEAM, PLAYING AT CANYON TODAY. PROBABLY WILL HAVE THE BEST SIDELINE SUPPORT A LOCAL ELEVEN HAS HAD AWAY FROM HOME IN SOMETIME. WEATHER PERMITTING, MANY INTENDED TO MAKE THE TRIP TO BACK THE BOYS.

Football, or any other high school sport, should be backed because of what it means to the students, and not for ulterior motives. The team's fortunes may rise or fall, but the value of the sport does not vary with the scores. If good advertising comes with victory, that is fine. If the best efforts of the youths are not as good as the opposition, the fact must be accepted as such. Someone must lose. In this day of good coaching, few teams go through a season without bowing to another squad "pointed" for them.

When the Harvesters go into Class A next year, they will have to learn the faster football and strive for the heavier pace. Competition begets ability to compete. A few seasons of apprenticeship will do no harm, and the better games will result in more local interest in the sport itself. Victory is far from everything.

IT IS THE FAILING OF THOUGHTLESS MEN TO BELIEVE THAT IF A LITTLE OF A THING WORKS, A WHOLE LOT OF IT WOULD BE INVINCIBLE.

Violence of the racketeer for a time brings him in money that his victims are afraid not to give. Yet when he carries the idea too far his community rises to break up his system. In the case of Borger, it took extreme violence and a blow at organized government itself to provoke the governor to declare martial law. The threat just sent Governor Moody is calculated to dull his attack on crime, but the effect will be just the opposite. Entrenched crime uproots itself by its very boldness.

Scattering of Borger undesirable has resulted in telling of many tales and starting of many rumors. For instance, persons coming to Borger have stopped at The News and inquired if reports were true concerning Pampa's being a haven for the fugitives fleeing before martial law. The rumor has been vehemently denied by every official consulted, and no outbreak of crime has been of record. Hutchinson county may be minus a large number of undesirables, but Gray county does not acknowledge receipt of them. Any community in the Panhandle is apt to be unwelcome, and even unknowing host, to some of them, but no county can afford to let them take root for even a week.

Oil Revolutionized

With the exception of the art of printing, it may well be doubted if any single industry has brought so many and sweeping changes to the world as has the modern production and use of petroleum.

None, perhaps, has wrought its revolution in manners, customs, modes of life, relations of the individual to the social establishment, in so short a period of time as has the oil industry along with those others that are collateral to and dependent upon it.

Our present age of machinery would have been impossible but for the petroleum to lubricate the wheels and gears, the flying spindles, the steam-driven Titans of power—the railroad's locomotive and the giant power plants of our ocean-going ships.

Petroleum has made the motor car possible, revolutionized life in the country, affording quick and inexpensive transportation to the people everywhere, eliminating distance as a factor in social and business relations. A vast continent has virtually been converted into a neighborhood by the multiplication of petroleum-driven vehicles and the construction of good roads.

If petroleum and its products should suddenly be banished from the earth, modern-day civilization would instantly come to an end.—Memptham Democrat.

Legion to Carry Out Program for Sick Comrades

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 4 (AP)—Turning homeward after the national convention, members of the American Legion today had before them an ambitious program of activities before gathering in Boston next autumn.

The veterans had placed direction of their organization in the hands of O. L. Boden, first national commander to be elected without opposition. Boden, himself today was headed for a reception at his hometown of E. Dorado, Ark.

An extensive program of work in behalf of veterans and their families was outlined in resolutions adopted by the convention, outstanding features including proposals for material increases in hospital facilities for disabled men and an urgent request that the government provide funds for families of men in hospitals. During the next year the Legion also expects to make progress toward passage of a law providing for universal conscription of capital, labor, industry and transportation in case of war. The immediate objective is adoption by congress of the Reed-Wainwright resolution calling for a commission to draft a suitable law.

The auxiliary, also under new officers, headed by Mrs. Donald Macrea of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was reinspired to carry on its work of rehabilitation, Americanism and child welfare.

Lots of folks are said to spend half their incomes on clothes. And many more probably spend one-half of some other person's income—dad's or husband's, for instance.

as decided by The Pathfinder: "Do my eyes deceive me?" said the senator as those who had pledged to support him voted against him.

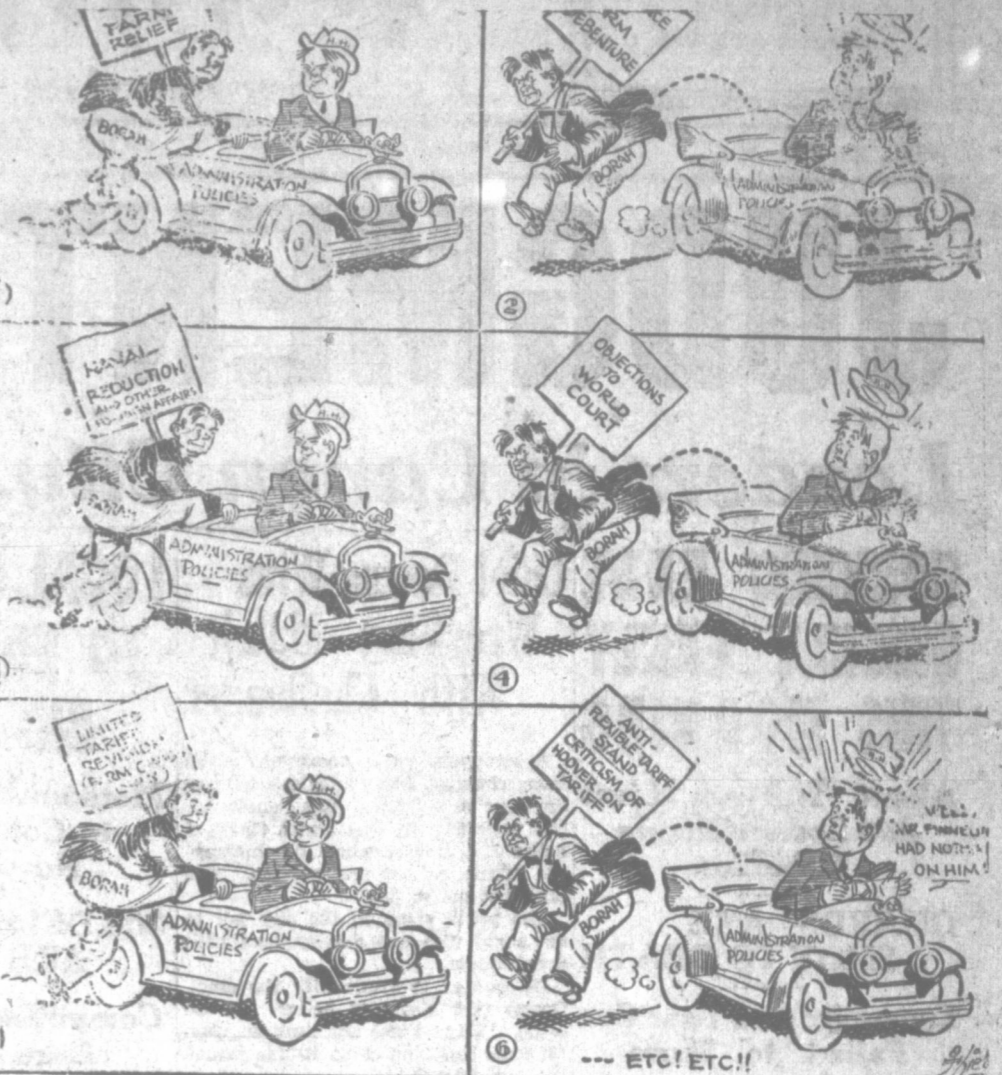

Well, since we do not have many cooperatives in this part of the country, we suppose our farmers will not get much of that easy money. But maybe we don't have many cooperative associations because we do not need much aid. Better and surer markets, however, would help us all.

Quite a number of Pampa folk who tried to find the crashed plane after nightfall can now understand why it took so long to find that T. A. T. plane. The writer circled the wreckage twice before finding it.

Social Calendar

Announcements which are to be published in the week's social calendar should be placed, when possible, to appear in the Sunday morning issue, thus insuring them of the longest possible appearance before the event scheduled. Sunday calendar notices must be in the office of The News before 6 o'clock on Saturday evening.

Reporters and others who find it impossible to place their announcements in the Sunday issue should telephone their reports to the society editor before 11 o'clock on week days.

FRIDAY Club Mayfair members and their husbands will be entertained by Mrs. and Mrs. Clyde Fatheree. The game announced for 8:15 o'clock.

Mrs. J. H. Hulme will entertain Just a Bridge club at her home at 2:30 o'clock.

The Azar class of the Baptist Sunday school will meet at the home of Mrs. Walter Butler, 617 North Gray, for a social, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

The Central P.-T.-A., including the patrons and teachers of Lamar and the high school, will meet in room 12 of central high school at 4 o'clock. A regular meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star will be held at 8:15 o'clock.

SATURDAY A regular monthly luncheon of the A. A. U. W. and College club will be held at the Schneider hotel. Arrangements have been made for the guests to be seated promptly at 12:15 o'clock. Inactive members desiring reservations will call Mrs. Robert Chafin, telephone 7177, before 9 o'clock Thursday evening. Likewise, active members wishing to cancel their standing reservations will call Mrs. Chafin before that hour.

Eastern Star Chapter Gives Benefit Party

A "measuring party," benefitting the Eastern Star chapter, was given last evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Sewell, with 34 members of the order, including a number of visitors from other chapters, enjoying cleverly planned games, and socials. Donations to the chapter fund were made according to the measurement of each member's apron strings. A refreshment course was served.

Dallas and Fort Worth Men Aid in Rail Request

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 4. (AP)—The contested Abilene and Southern railway application for permission to extend from Ballinger to San Angelo, being heard before an interstate commerce commission examiner here, had found two new friends today.

H. B. Lockett, Dallas chamber of commerce transportation committee chairman, and Ed P. Byers, traffic manager of the Fort Worth transportation bureau, told Examiner H. C. Davis yesterday their respective cities would be aided by the project. Each said, however, on cross examination by attorneys for the Santa Fe system, opposing the application, the present Santa Fe and Orient service from Dallas and Fort Worth by way of Sweetwater is "reasonably adequate."

E. T. Broughton, who was local store manager of the Frick-Reid Supply company for two years and who recently was made district salesman for the Pampa territory, has been transferred to the Seminole, Okla., district, where he will be district salesman. The transfer is to become effective immediately. Mr. and Mrs. Broughton are moving to the town of Seminole to make their home. They will leave Pampa tomorrow, they said.

Two P.-T. A. Groups Hold Meetings of Unusual Interest

Two interesting, instructive, and altogether profitable Parent-Teacher association meetings were held yesterday afternoon—one at the East Ward school, and the other at the West Ward school. Programs were given at both meetings, each featuring a short address by Supt. R. B. Fisher, on the value of cooperation between parents and teachers through a well organized association.

The East Ward P.-T.-A. meeting opened with a program in which pupils of the school had a prominent part. Two demonstrations in public school music instruction were particularly interesting. Exercises in toning and rhythm were given by the high first grade pupils, who later sang a song. Note reading, scale reading, and memory singing were demonstrated by fifth grade pupils. Readings by little Dorothy Jo Moore and Glen Twiford were enjoyed.

Final provisions were made in the business session for the purchase of six swings and six see-saws for the playground. The finance and social committees were authorized to hold a benefit social during the Halloween season to raise funds for carrying on the P.-T.-A. work. A portable phonograph with records for primary physical training and music memory work previously purchased by the association, was delivered yesterday to the school.

Memberships acquired yesterday brought the East Ward P.-T.-A. membership to 53. Room sponsors were appointed.

The program at the West Ward meeting included a discussion of the various phases of Parent-Teacher endeavor by Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, who has been a leader in the work in this city for many years. A chorus was sung by pupils of the fifth grade, and a reading was given by Mary Virginia Glover.

Funds were voted for the purchase of swings and see-saws for the playground. Miss Josephine Thomas, principal of the school, announced that Mrs. W. Purviance, president of the P.-T. A. had presented the school, as her personal gift, a large Victrola for use in public school music instruction. Mrs. J. S. Strout, a parent, and Mrs. T. A. Cox, a teacher, were elected as the association representatives on the City Council of Parent-Teacher associations. Fifty-four members and visitors were present. Mrs. Roland McSkimming's third-grade room had the largest re-

Pythian Sisters To Organize Lodge Here Tomorrow

A meeting of the mothers, sisters, and wives of Knights of Pythias has been called for 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Odd Fellows hall for the purpose of organizing a Pythian Sisters lodge. The committee in charge of arrangements has announced that all such relatives of Knights of Pythias are eligible for the lodge, and are cordially invited to attend the meeting. Twenty members are requisite to obtaining a charter, they said.

The committee appointed at a recent preliminary meeting to take charge of the organization meeting includes: Mrs. R. K. Douglass, Mrs. Mary Ellis, Mrs. Roy Sullivan, Mrs. John Shannon, Mrs. S. J. Rice, Mrs. Scott Rheudisal, and Mrs. Ernest Gee.

Catherine Vincent Achieves Freshman Honors at College

Miss Catherine Vincent, daughter of Mrs. W. P. Vincent of this city, and a student in Texas Woman's college at Fort Worth, recently was chosen from the freshman class to be a bridesmaid in the wedding of Miss Newgirl and Oldgirl, the stunt with which the school annually welcomes its new arrivals into the big student family. Friends of the popular Pampa girl will be interested to learn also that in the entrance examinations she was given "high class" rating in English.

Has Social and Business Meeting

A combined social and business meeting of the American Legion auxiliary was held last evening at the Legion hall, with a short program as an enjoyable feature of the occasion. Mrs. Otto Patton and Mrs. George Carson Loftus gave readings. Musical entertainment included piano selections by Mrs. I. E. Bradley and Miss Avis Heiskell and a vocal solo by Mrs. Harry Marbaugh. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Willard E. Taylor, president, conducted the business session. She appointed as group captains for the membership campaign which is to be held, Mrs. J. E. Neely, Mrs. S. E. Hurt, Mrs. John Burnell, and Mrs. H. H. Heiskell.

Popular Pampa Couple Moving to Seminole, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Broughton, popular members of Pampa social circles during a residence of more than two years in the city, will leave tomorrow to make their home in Seminole, Okla.

They announced their plans yesterday, upon their return from a business trip to Seminole, Oklahoma City, and Tulsa, during which Mr. Broughton was transferred by the Frick-Reid Supply company as district salesman to the Seminole field.

Before going to Seminole to live, Mr. and Mrs. Broughton will attend the annual world's fair of the petroleum industry at Tulsa. Mrs. Broughton was a member of three bridge clubs here.

NEW YORK—One of the few unexaggerated characteristics of New York is its non-native populace.

One that may perhaps be exaggerated is its cold-bloodedness. Miss Lillian Symes, a former Californian writing in Harper's magazine, believes that between the two there is a very definite connection.

"The very careerist," he says, "has made, and is making, sacrifices to be in line for opportunity when it comes. It is only human that he does not want these sacrifices to be in vain—He is out after the 'right contracts' and he seeks them in his social as well as his business connections."

He is enabled to make these concessions, too, by those who have preceded him along the same lonely route. Out of this arise obligations which Miss Symes thinks are the origin of the notorious "log-rolling" of New York cliques.

"The New Yorker's greatest sin is disloyalty to his circle."

Hoarding Country's Culture

Those with artistic, literary and intellectual aspirations are the more significant, Miss Symes believes, both as regards their acquisition by New York and their alienation from their native hearth. New York's harvest of "intellectual buoyancy" from this group is reaped at the cost of a cultural famine in the hinterland.

Not all of those who tackle the metropolitan oyster, of course, are strong enough to claim it as their own. This reporter has met a number in the past several years who are little, if any, nearer the clutching. Just the other day a Virginia lad started on his fourth annual round of the newspaper offices in search of congenial employment. Four years of literary effort have netted him nothing better than a district reporter's job, a lowly assignment.

A graduate of Vassar, giving up hope that her talents would ever shine through the bushel of publicity she wrote at $35 a week for a publishing house, abandoned her "career" before she lost the school-girl complexion and now is wrapped away in the less uncertain security of matrimony.

Another, who may be "the girl who always loved books and wants a job in a publishing house where she can commune with kindred spirits"—this girl has been calling on the book publishers for more than a year, manfully maintaining a precarious "individual freedom" on a $25 a week clerical job.

The point is that after they once align within the Great Stone Desert, the young careerists stay here, "on the make." Miss Symes calls this lodestone of ambitious youth "our last frontier."

It may not be amiss here to report the achievement of one who was not only a non-native, but an alien.

Alexander Archipenko, Ukrainian sculptor, has turned out several hundred pieces in the past 25 years, the last 15 years of which he has passed in America. But now only 22 pieces of sculpture are still in his possession.

He works 15 hours a day, which may be a hint to yearning Americans.

MacDonald Happy as Great Throgs Welcome Party

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (AP)—J. Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, en route to Washington to visit President Hoover on a good will mission, was enthusiastically acclaimed today as he set foot on American soil.

While her father was being interviewed in the main cabin, Miss Ishbel was in another cabin with women reporters. She was smiling, but rather hesitant to answer questions regarding her impressions of America.

Finally she said, "Oh my goodness, I'm missing the skyline," and, asking to be excused, went out on the deck as the Macon steamed slowly through the harbor.

Twelve army planes soared overhead as the marine parade moved up the

Masonic Hall Is

Dream of Members

A new Masonic hall in Pampa, an ambition which local Masons have been working to see realized for several years, is now being planned, according to an announcement made this week at the meeting of the local lodge.

At the next meeting the Masons will take up buying a lot, and when this has been done, plans will be made to erect a Masonic temple here. The local lodge now has about 175 members but possibly 200 from other lodges are now living here and have attended the Pampa lodge.

In city hall park a greater crowd even was waiting, packed in until it seemed there was hardly room for another person. It broke into a wild applause as the premier's car rolled through the lane held open by police and stopped at city hall steps.

"Hello, Mac," several shouted, taking up British labor's usual greeting to the premier.

The premier seemed in high good humor as he bowed and smiled.

GOOD BASE HIT RUINS WORLDS OF STRATEGY

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (AP)—If the tactics of a baseball sage and master craftsman, guiding the play of his youthful talent by the wig-wags of a score card, if strategy, in other words, develops as a vital factor in the forthcoming world's series, the Athletics seem likely to have the advantage of the Cubs.

It may contribute nothing to the advancement of science for brute force to triumph, yet it is a well known baseball fact that a few solid bassets can overthrow the most cunning strategy. For that reason the clouting Cub circus probably is not worried by the threat of being outsmarted by Connie Mack and a strategic board of sages that numbers Kid Gleason, Eddie Collins, and Ira Thomas. The Yankees have given ample proof the home run represents one of the cleverest methods of offsetting enemy maneuvers.

Nevertheless, the A's start with the benefit of Mack's long experience, his skillful player-manipulation, in a short series where every move counts, where the slightest tactical mistake may mean the difference between the winner's and loser's end of the pot.

For that matter, the Cubs can do plenty of heavy thinking, or contribute any amount of inside stuff on their own account with Joe McCarthy in command, Jimmy Burke nearby for advice and Rogers Hornsby on the field to toss his experience in with that of field Capt. Charley Grimm. Yet there is no doubt the master-minding honors, on the whole, belong to the A's. McCarthy was a school kid, playing on the sandlots of Philadelphia, when Connie Mack managed his first championship club in 1902.

Even McGraw yields in technique to Mack, who controls the moves of every player with his famous score card although he has denied the legend he directs every pitch. No manager so assiduously studies or so carefully remembers the strength and weakness of opposing players as Mack. From the reports of Chief Scout Ira Thomas, who has been trailing the Cubs, the lean leader probably has indexed all offensive and defensive habits of the National league champions.

The pitching strategy is much more complicated for Mack than it is for McCarthy. The A's may defy the Cub murderers of wof right-handed batsmen with their star left-hander, Grove, at the outset, or they may rely on the big right-hander speeder, Earnshaw, depending on success or failure of the opening engagement. Mack has a southpaw mate for Grove in Rube Walberly on right handed, spitballs, tossed by Old Jack Quinn, to back up Earnshaw's efforts.

It is all much simpler to McCarthy, who has a logical starter in Pat Malone, iron man member of an almost exclusively right-handed curving corps. Guy Bush and Charley Root to fill Malone, in fact, can pitch every other game until the series is decided, with in the gaps. This would reduce the Cub pitching strategy to a minimum.

Mack juggles his reserves and batting order as rapidly as the shifts the players on the field. He has already considered some changes, and if the A's happen to get off badly it would not be surprising to see the old master make wholesale re-arrangements on short notice. McCarthy will have few problems of this kind, unless such injured regulars as Taylor, English, or Grimm, meet with further mishaps. General Joe, after all, will depend largely on the strategic base-hit.

Attacks Being Polished Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (AP)—Bob Zuppke, maestro of University of Illinois football, marked today on attack formations with which to confound the University of Kansas Saturday in the initial game on the Illinois schedule.

At Northwestern, Coach Hansley stuck to his promise to order scrimmage until the eve of the wildest opening card with Butler and Cornell college of Iowa.

Coach Harry Kipke at Michigan planned no more scrimmage but was not yet settled on his starting backfield lineup for the Michigan State college game.

Wisconsin and Indiana, down for unusually tough early season opposition in Colgate and Notre Dame, continued to work at top speed, with improvement of their attacks being stressed.

Local Entries Numerous in Golf Tournament Starting on Saturday

Plenty of local competition will be seen in the open golf tournament which will begin here tomorrow and continue through Friday and Saturday, according to the list of local entries which were announced today by DeLea Vicars and W. H. Curry who are in charge of registration.

A half-dozen local golfers were playing their qualifying rounds on the course this morning. They will make nine holes today and nine tomorrow. Amateurs are requested to remember that the money prizes are for professionals only, as amateurs are not allowed to accept cash prizes. A dozen or more professionals from Amarillo have registered to play in the tournament.

Local entries include the following: Lewis Robinson, Bryant Caraway, Ed Gofer, M. K. Brown Ed Vicars, Dr. H. H. Hicks, Dr. R. A. Webb, Otto Studer, Buster Kaufman, Clarence Barrett, Phil Carlson, C. B. Akers, Sam Fenberg, C. P. Buckler, Lynn Boyd, W. H. Curry, Frank Perry, Neil McCullough, A. J. McAllister, Bert Howell, Dick Hughes, Dr. Earl Thomason, F. W. Byrd, Floyd Byrd, Judge Ivy E. Duncan, Olin E. Hinkle, Bill Fraser, Horace Park, Lee McConnell, Hershel Boone and Floyd Ward.

Prizes valued at $350 and $125 in money will be awarded to winners in the tournament.

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Rudy Vallee, that softly crooning favorite child of fortune really works for a living, believe it or not.

He considers his Hollywood sojourn, to make his first talkie, something like a vacation, while most of Broadway's pets who tie themselves hither for that purpose are appalled at first by the rather strenuous exactions of studio production schedules.

But Rudy has something worse to anticipate when he returns east after completing "The Vagabond Lover." Here is a fair approximation of his schedule then:

He is to play four shows a day at the Paramount, New York, with five on Sundays. After that he and the "Connecticut Yankees" chase over to a night club to play more, giving the flappers who haven't the price of cover charge a chance to listen in by the radio which made Rudy famous.

The mornings (if any) they spend rehearsing, figuring out new song arrangements, and Rudy himself confers with music publishers about new tunes. Once a week they all traipse over to make phonograph recordings. In-between-times Rudy must take care of small and other personal and business matters, the aid of his secretary. Fan mail from New York's flapper keeps mounting—and Rudy, who seemingly has a practical and not badly turned head in spite of his popularity, is reaping his hay before the sun wanes.

IS HE "ROMANTIC"?

Vallee, by the way, presents a peculiar paradox. He is, in most feminine minds among his fans, romance personified, yet he does not look the part, and knows he doesn't. Looking squarely in the camera, he can never worry John Gilbert. His profile is better, but even so Barrymore need feel no alarm. Rudy will never look the part of a "romantic lover." Rudy, he confesses, would very much like to look the part.

What Vallee is a very clean-cut, confident young fellow, not unaware that, however it came to pass, he possesses great charm for an important half of the theater-going population, and determined to capitalize on that good fortune while it lasts.

And even the most spiteful men hereabouts, whether they like Rudy personally, have been heard to admit that they enjoy his singing and the unraucous jazz of his orchestra.

around, and then scored gains. Corn displayed an independent upward trend, starting unchanged to 3-8c higher and subsequently keeping near the initial figures. Oats were easy. Provisions pointed higher.

PONIES NEED INSPIRED PLAY FOR NEBRASKA

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chances are good for the Southwest conference to break even in its two inter-sectional games tomorrow despite the fact both are played away from home. The consensus is Southern Methodist will be lucky to hold the powerful Nebraska Cornhuskers to a two or three touchdown margin at Lincoln, but there is a feeling the Aggies will prove at least a match for Tulane at New Orleans.

The farmers believe they have a pair of wings who can put a quietus on Tulane's running attack. Pinky Alsbrook and Rube Tracy are 175-pound veterans, one of the best end combinations in the conference. Captain Tommie Mills, triple-threat quarterback, and Zaratofnetis, shifty fullback and punter, are expected to comprise the backbone of the Aggie attack.

It is possible the Mustangs will give Nebraska a stiffer battle than their play against the Denton Teachers and Howard Payne would indicate. It is recalled the Ponies looked muscle-bound a week before they tackled the Army last year and then had an awful time nosing out Simmons the week after. The Cadets, however, thought Morrison had a pretty fair ball team. For several years the Ponies have been the champion in-and-outers of the Southwest. They might have one of those inspired games stored up for Nebraska.

Aside from engagements at Lincoln and New Orleans, the most excitement appears pending at Austin, where the Texas Longhorns and Centenary Gentlemen will meet. The Gents are regarded almost as a conference rival, and the game will attract spectators for hundreds of miles. The Louisiana eleven is said to be as strong as last year, when it defeated the Aggies at College Station.

Baylor's veteran backfield stars are hard pressed to hold their own against the brilliant collection of sophomore ball carriers. It is a difficult problem for Coach Morley Jennings, what with four or five extra men on hand who could step into a regular berth on almost any other conference team. It is doubtful that Jake Wilson, Ernest McElreath or Vergil Gilliland can be beaten out, but Kitty Kathcart, regular fullback last year, is in a tight spot. Dutch Furl, Temple high school star of two years ago, has shown such class in practice sessions he probably will work with the first string combination tomorrow against Trinity.

Six hundred fans, including the famous Simmons university Cowboy band, will be at Breckenridge tomorrow for the bout with Texas Centenary university. The Bridges eleven held the Frogs to a 19 to 3 decision last year and is steamed up for the battle. Simmons, like Centenary, wants a berth in the Southwest conference, and figures the best way to get in is to whip a few conference teams.

The Rice Owls will have their eyes peeled for one Doyle Coe when they tackle the Sam Houston State Teachers tomorrow at Rice field. The Bearkat backfield flash took the opening kickoff against Lon Morris last week and romped 89 yards for a touchdown. A little later on he scampered 45 yards for another. He scored all three Bearkat touchdowns.

Largin Will Be In Line-Up Today

When the Pampa Harvesters take the field in Canyon this afternoon Louis Largin will be in the line-up. Looking flash took the opening kickoff against Lon Morris last week and romped 89 yards for a touchdown. A little later on he scampered 45 yards for another. He scored all three Bearkat touchdowns.

This morning, before the team left for Canyon, a transcript from Wink was received by Principal L. L. Sone stating that Largin was eligible to play football. Joyously the high school football team under Coaches Mitchell and Fox left for Canyon declaring that all the Eagles in the Panhandle could not stop them.

The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. At the close of each quarter the score will be telephoned to the News office by a staff reporter who is attending the game.

Poor boy! Now he's back again to the unfair struggle! Will YOUR boy have the wearisome prospect of doing last year's work all over? Or will he just barely "get by" with the constant threat of failure to harass him in his studies?

Is he naturally dull? No, not necessarily. Three out of every four children who are "slow" in school need glasses. That's all. If he fails, the chances are three to one that it's because you have failed him.

NOTED ACTRESS DIES SUDDENLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (P)—The theatrical world was shocked today by the sudden death of Jeanne Eagles, actress, who created the character of Sadie
Thompson in "Rain." She was 35 years old.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, assistant chief medical examiner, said death was caused by alcoholic psychosis. He said a chemical analysis of the vital organs would be made.

"It's the same old story, nothing unusual," Dr. Gonzales said. "Miss Eagles died of alcoholism, not from acute alcoholism, but from alcoholic psychosis. She had been acting strangely for three or four days, but had not taken a drink in two days."

MUTINY—

Charles Shepard, McClelland.
Convicts:
Danny Daniels, James Pardue, Red Riley, A. H. Davis, Davis, a brother, an unidentified Mexican.
In addition, three other guards and two members of the attacking forces were wounded. The more seriously wounded guards were Marvin Duncan, Robert Goodwin.

Buildings Fired

Throughout last night, flames flickered and smoke rolled from the buildings fired by the prisoners. From every vantage point, the besiegers, hastily called from nearby cities, poured bullets into the last stronghold of the mutineers. But the 150 desperate men, deserted by 200 other mutineers yesterday afternoon, battled on, issuing demand after demand and making good their threat to murder their guard hostages if they were not allowed freedom.

It was conservatively estimated the attackers, composed of prison guards, police officers hastily summoned from other cities, volunteers and National Guardsmen, numbered about 500 men. Within cell house No. 3 were about 150 mutineers, desperately holding out against the besieging force.

Starts at Noon

The unprecedented mutiny broke out at noon when Jimmy Pardue, convicted bandit, shot J. G. Irwin, a guard, seized his gun and keys, and, assisted by Danny Daniels, unlocked the doors of the cell houses.

By midday the riot was in full swing. Prisoners took possession of the arsenal and gained control of the prison. Three guards were killed outright in the beginning of the mutiny. Buildings were set afire as the riot progressed.

Late in the afternoon a counter attack by massed guards resulted in the surrender of 200 prisoners who refused to continue the battle. These were herded into the "bull pen," while at least 150 of the convicts took refuge in cell house No. 3, from which they directed the fight.

CANON CITY, Colo., Oct. 4. (AP)—Warden F. E. Crawford, of the Colorado state penitentiary today gave the reasons which led him to accept what was an apparent sacrifice of the lives of prison guards in preference to capitulation to demands of the mutinous convicts.

"We adopted the only course open," he said. "Any other course would have only made for further mutiny and insurrection."

His statement follows:
"We need not say that the riot at the Colorado state penitentiary is more than a regrettable incident. It was tragic in its conception and tragic in its consequences. The full import of the affair is yet to be realized.

"We feel, of course, that we adopted the only policy open to us under the circumstances. Out of hand, a half dozen desperate criminals cowed and terrorized the rest and delivered to the prison authorities successive ultimatums threatening the murder of valued guards. To have capitulated to the demands would have been to have followed in the prison riot here yesterday and today.

Myron H. Goodwin, shot through kidney.
E. J. Hollister, guard, shot in jaw.
E. F. Osborn, guard, shot in jaw.
Warden Eugene Crawford, head grazed and struck over heart by stray bullets. Not serious.

Ergent E. C. Young of Denver police, shot through right hip.
John M. Hickman, convict, shot through right arm.

Detective Robert Wrath, Colorado Springs, shot in leg.
Albert B. Outkatcher, Pueblo, National Guardsman, shot in neck.
John Allan, chief clerk at prison, shot in right hand.

Pilot's Condition Much Improved

A marked improvement in Bill Morris, airland pilot, was reported this morning by physicians at McKean & Connor hospital. Morris suffered a slight brain concussion, broken ribs, many bruises when the plane he was piloting crashed here Wednesday night killing George B. Rafferty, 45.

I. T. Taylor who was injured in an automobile collision Wednesday night may prove to be more seriously injured than was first believed, physicians say. No improvement in his condition was reported this morning. Internal injuries may prove critical. He also suffered a broken collar bone and a crushed hip.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—Illness may again bring a postponement in the trial of former secretary Albert B. Fall on charges of accepting a bribe for leasing the Elk Hills, Calif., naval oil reserve to Edward L. Doheny.

He is afflicted with one of the proudest attacks to which he is subject, and the attendant weakness, in view of his 68 years and the frail condition of his health, is causing apprehension by his family.

BORGER—

At court this morning several fines totalling $88 were levied. Two women were given until sunset to leave Borger. The docket showed after their names, "sundown clearance."

The First National Bank of Borger today filed suit for $1,000 against J. C. Thomas and others, being second and third signers of a $1,000 note, Sheriff Joe Ownbey and Deputy B. L. Millhollon.

Warden Eugene Crawford, head grazed and struck over heart by stray bullets. Not serious.

Ergent E. C. Young of Denver police, shot through right hip.

John M. Hickman, convict, shot through right arm.

Detective Robert Wrath, Colorado Springs, shot in leg.

Albert B. Outkatcher, Pueblo, National Guardsman, shot in neck.

John Allan, chief clerk at prison, shot in right hand.

George Burger, Pueblo, nicked on scalp by bullet.

City Cemetery to Be Improved Soon

City water will be available at the city cemetery by spring, according to a recent announcement of the Cemetery association. Those who want to sod their lots next spring are urged to have the plots spaded this fall.

The association also announced that a keeper has been hired and will take care of lots, flowers, shrubbery and grass. It is hoped that lot-owners will cooperate with the association in its attempt to beautify the cemetery. This can be more easily accomplished than previously, since water and a keeper will be available.

Those who want their lots looked after by the keeper are requested to see G. C. Malone.

DANCER—

The girl testified, "and said: 'let's go to my private office—I want to talk to you.' We walked down some stairs into a little room, and he unlocked the door and we went in."

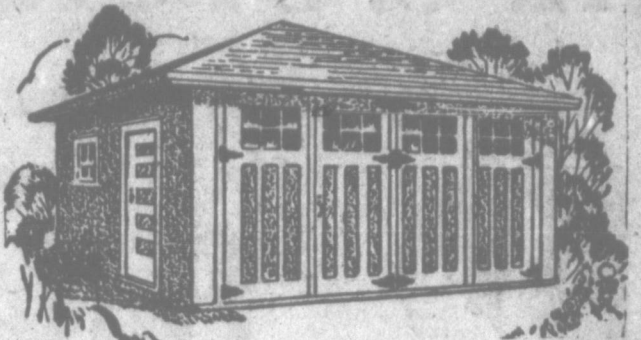

The witness blanched as Pitts led her into details of the attack. She bowed her head in her hands and began crying. Pantages was extremely nervous.

The girl said she pleaded with Pantages to release her, but he clapped his hand over her mouth.

Then she began kicking him, she said, "and I tried in every way to escape, but I couldn't."

New Traffic Sign Is Being Placed

"No left turn" is the new regulation which motorists must observe at the traffic signal, corner of Cuyler and Foster streets. The order was placed on the signal lights this morning. City Traffic Officer Hamilton says he is having quite a time breaking drivers of their long-established habit of making a left turn, but that they'll gradually remember to observe the new signal. The new regulation will further insure the safety of pedestrians and help avoid accidents, city officials believe.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic—Recognizing our Debt to Others.
Scripture Lesson—Mark 12:28-34; James 2:14-17.

Mark 12:28. And one of the scribes came, and heard them questioning together, and knowing that He had answered them well, asked Him, what commandment is the first of all?

29. Jesus answered, The first is, Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, the Lord is one:

30. And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength.

31. The second is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these.

32. And the scribe said unto Him, Of a truth, Teacher, thou hast well said that He is one; and there is none other but He:

33. And to love Him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbor as himself, is much more than all whole burnt-offerings and sacrifices.

34. And when Jesus saw that he answered directly, He said unto him, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God. And no man after that durst ask Him any question.

James 2:14. What doth it profit, my brethren, if a man say he hath faith but have not works? can that faith save him?

15. If a brother or sister be naked and in lack of daily food.

16. And one of you say unto them, Go in peace, be ye warmed and filled; and yet ye give them not the things needful to the body, what doth it profit?

17. Even so faith, if it have not work is dead in itself.

Golden Text—Not looking each of you to his own things but each of you also to the things of others.—Phil. 2:4. Time and place—Christ's conversation with the lawyer took place in the temple Tuesday, April 4, A. D. 30, in the last week before the crucifixion. Some think the Epistle of James was the earliest of the Epistles, and others that it was written late, in the life of the Lord's brother. He was probably martyred about A. D. 63 or 63 (not to be confused with the martyrdom of James the apostle, the brother of John in A. D. 44.)

INTRODUCTION

Recognizing our debt to others is our social obligation. Man is a social being. That "no man liveth unto himself" is a well known social axiom. We are dependent on others from birth to death. For the food we eat, the clothes we wear, the books we read, the music we hear, the hundreds of good things we enjoy, we are deeply indebted to others. It follows, then, that selfishness is man's greatest social sin. He who withdraws from society, lives within the narrow walls of his own little self, no interest in the great outside world with its heartaches, its needs, its aspirations,—such a one has not the spirit of Christ. Unselfish service is the law of the Christian in society, for "whoever would become great among you shall be your ministers; and whoever would be first among you, shall be servant of all."

Working Together

Sir John Lubbock, the great student of ants, noticed one day that all his ants were in their nests except one, which was out hunting alone, about six feet from home. So he took a dead blue-bottle fly and pinned it to a piece of cork, putting it down right in front of her. She tried at once to carry off the fly, but found it immovable. She tugged and tugged, but in vain. Then she went straight home and into her nest, where she remained less than half a minute, coming out with twelve friends who trooped after her to the food she had discovered. All working together, they tore up the fly and carried it off in triumph.

Now if even those tiny insects learn the advantage of working together, surely we human beings should make the same lesson ours. That is what is taught us by the story of Nehemiah and his wall-building, Neh. 4:15-21. We studied the event fully in the lesson for September 8.

No Self-Made Man

"Now there is no self-made man. Every successful life is the product in large part of what others have been and what others have done. Edison works his triumph through his ability to set others to investigating for him. Professor L. of Harvard has written a wonderful book, "The Road to Xanadu," showing how Coleridge, in the alertness of his marvellous memory built up those works of genius, "Kubla Khan" and "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner," out of his omnivorous reading. Every merchant prince has been able to organize an army of eager followers. Christ is the best model of success, and He trained His disciples to work with Him and carry on His work after Him. Paul, the most remarkable of His apostles had a host of co-workers. We are in debt to those who work with us and for us, and we in turn must cooperate with them. Thus we shall go onward together."

Debt of the Strong

"We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves." In one of the tenderest chapters of the Bible, Paul, the strong man, says that the strong should bear the infirmities of the weak. We are not under obligation to please ourselves, but to please our neighbors; and not to please them in any way that will weaken them, but to please them "unto edifying," that is, unto their upbuilding. And for this work we have the best of all examples, "For Christ also pleased not Himself."

The duty of caring for the weak is at the base of all such laws as the Eighteenth Amendment. Some may be strong enough to avoid the temptation of strong drink, but many—the great majority—are not strong enough, and the strong must look out for the weak, and not selfishly seek to please themselves.

The Debt of Service

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." Perhaps, if Paul could be said to have a favorite among all the churches he established, it would be the First Church of Europe, that in Philippi. Among its members were Lydia and the jailer and probably Luke. The Philippian Christians were always sympathetic with Paul's purpose and loyal in advancing his plans. The apostle's letter to them is "the Epistle of Joy."

Our extract from this lovely piece of writing is an exhortation to continuance in the same Christian fellowship which they had enjoyed from the beginning, "being of one accord, of one mind, in lowliness of mind each counting the other better than himself, not looking each of you to his own things, but each of you also to the things of the other." Paul especially commended this attitude because it was Christ's, who descended from his divine estate into the lowly hut of man, who took the form of a servant and suffered for our sake the terrible death of the cross. That is the kind of service which we are to render, in his spirit and with his strength.

The Debt of Justice

Paul once more, writing to the members of the church which he founded in Colossae, in Asia Minor—Christians who were "God's elect, holy and beloved"—bade each one of them "put on a heart of compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, long suffering." He went on to illustrate this Christian attitude in the cases of wives and husbands, fathers and servants, with relation to their husbands and wives, their children and their masters.

"Slowly the general conscience is coming to recognize our duty to others more and more clearly, and its application is becoming more decisive with each generation. All masters and employers of labor, in their mills and warehouses, are bid to base their relation to 'hands' and servants on the one firm foundation of 'justice.' Paul does not say, 'Give your servants what is kind and patronizing.' He wants a great deal more than that. Charity likes to come in and supply the wants which would never have been felt had there been equity. An ounce of justice is sometimes more than a ton of charity."—Alexander MacLaren, James the Just—not the first martyr.

of the apostles, the brother of John, but James the oldest brother of our Lord, the head of the church in Jerusalem. (See LESSON, Page 12)

San Marcial Loses Fight With Water

SAN MARCIAL, N. M., Oct. 4. (AP)—San Marcial, ancient village of the Spanish Conquistadores, has lost its centuries-old battle with flood waters of the Rio Grande. The town is rapidly being reduced to a mere flag stop on the Santa Fe railroad.

Once San Marcial was the headquarters for Spanish cavaliers who rode their Castilian horses about the country hereabouts, then cantered to town on moonlit nights to strum a guitar or croon a love song beneath windows of señoritas. Later it was a meeting place of pastoral Pueblo Indians who lived their quiet lives on tiny irrigated farms.

Today the little town where villagers for generations fought the Rio Grande is without permanent inhabitants. A few adobe dwellings that have withstood the August and September floods are buried in silt, so the few relief workers there walk without difficulty into the second stories of the houses. In general, the layer of silt has raised the town level eight or ten feet. The streets are dry and choked with sun-baked sand.

Van Goverdan, for years manager of the Harvey house, returned today to salvage whatever equipment was usable. The old picturesque building, from which 54 persons were rescued in boats at the peak of last month's flood, will be abandoned, Goverdan said. Although no official announcement was received from Santa Fe officials, it is generally understood the railroad plans to reconstruct one main line of tracks through the town, build one spur and use the second floor of the Harvey house for a waiting room.

End of Rainbow Found by Ditch Digger in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (AP)—The end of the rainbow was located yesterday at East 84th street and Prairie avenue by Joe Dowery, who digs ditches. The pot of gold was there all right, just like the story says, only it was all in $1 bills, 10,000 of them. Dowery, whose very name suggests getting something for nothing, immediately resigned as a ditch digger.

The 10,000 one dollar bills were in a tin box. Joe took them down to the federal building; for the bills were old, and he wanted new ones of larger denominations.

A little later he was back at the end of the rainbow asking for his job. "The money," he said sadly plunging the blade of his shovel viciously into the innocent silt, "was counterfeit."

Mrs. Roy Baze and little daughter, Mary Jack, of Oklahoma City are guests in the home of Mrs. Baze's sister, Mrs. Floyd A. Hollenbeck. They arrived a few days ago, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Hollenbeck home from a trip to El Paso, the mountains of New Mexico, and Oklahoma City.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—The diplomatic bachelor in Washington—life for him is a continuous cocktail, song and dance. That is, if he wants it to be. But whether he desires it or not, it more than likely is, just the same. Highly desirable and in constant demand are these men. The rising bond salesman, the ingratiating broker or the social-minded realtor must be constantly on guard to say the right thing to the right person at the right time to secure invitations to the right places. But not the diplomatic bachelor. He need have no concern as to his social future in Washington. His position speaks for him. His name appears on the first list of eligible bachelors. All the social bureaus keep him on file.

CUPID WINS
 For many years the British embassy has led in the number of bachelors on its staff. Matrimony, however, has made deep inroads of late, and the embassy now is noted especially for its attractive young married couples. The bachelor quota has been reduced to five. The Italian embassy at the present is in the ascendancy in this respect. It has gone into a tie with the French embassy—each having six. Just a day or two ago there arrived at the Italian embassy a young married man who is to be the successor of the popular Nobile Pio Macchi del Conti di Cellere—more briefly Count di Cellere, who is a bachelor. The newcomer's name is Carlo Andrea Scardi. The social bureaus are passing out the information to those interested that he is: "A dashing blond—tall and blue-eyed. Evidently from the north of Italy—the same section which fair-haired, blue-eyed Mme. de Martino, wife of the Italian ambassador, calls her native heath. He is only 35 years old and is just starting out in his career of diplomacy. He came from Rome where he has been on duty, and has taken an apartment at the Wardman Park hotel.

A sufficient description to make the heart of any debutante flutter. And if M. Scardi so chooses he is in for a busy winter.

OVER AND OVER
 Patience—that one indispensable virtue of the man who figures in public life. Take for example, the occasion when Newton D. Baker, secretary of war during Wilson's administration, was awarded the distinguished service medal in Washington recently. He had to go through the ceremony four times. The first time it was strictly private affair.

The second time it was for the benefit of the press photographers. The third time it was for the news reel photographers. The fourth time (and over much protest) it was for the talkies.

There is at least one member of the United States senate who advertises the fact that he is a member of that body. In front of the residence of Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, on Ridge road in Washington, there are two illuminated gate post globes announcing: SENATOR PITTMAN.

A transaction in which J. M. Dodson, former vice-president, became head of the Pampa National bank, replacing C. L. Thomas, who has retired, has been completed. Mr. Thomas, prominent business man and farmer, had been president of the bank for ten years. Mr. Dodson came here from Ranger three years ago. He was active vice-president before taking up his new duties. Roger McConnell is a new director.

Murder Theory in Holmes Case Appears Logical

BORGER, Oct. 4. (AP)—The preconceived theory of the murder of District Attorney John A. Holmes held by the military occupying this town was strengthened today, by the testimony of Holmes' widow, who saw her husband fall, before General Wolters' court of inquiry. The general was one of the special investigators whose assertions that only martial law could purge the town and county of an alliance between peace officers and criminals led Governor Moody to send National Guardsmen here.

In addition to Mrs. Holmes, the prosecutor's mother-in-law, Mrs. Donna Greene, and Joseph Ainsworth, a lawyer who had aided Holmes in some of his work, appeared last night before the military court. General Wolters would not divulge the nature of their statements other than to say "they followed the preconceived lines" of the inquiry.

Mrs. Holmes and her mother just had started to enter their home on the night of Sept. 13 when they heard pistol shots and turned to see the district attorney sink to the ground, dead. The general also took occasion to reassure some of the "better citizens" who, he said, were apprehensive about telling what they knew because of fear the troops would not stay here "long enough." "Borger," he announced, "will be a model city when we leave," adding the timid need have no doubt they would be protected.

Meanwhile, the "death threat" sent indirectly to Governor Moody yesterday was not taken seriously in official quarters. The governor's confidential secretary, Pat Daugherty, at Austin felt no alarm. "The governor," Daugherty said, "receives many letters from cranks." Mr. Moody himself dismissed it with a grin and the announcement he would pay no attention to it. The letter, mailed from New York to Police Chief R. D. Thorpe at Austin, said the governor would be slain unless he ceased directing the attempt to clean up Borger.

THIS HAS HAPPENED HELEN BRENT feels unhappy when the girls at the Spania boarding school tease her about being Miss Simplicity just to please her handsome guardian, LEONARD BRENT, who supplies her with ample funds and smart frocks which are brought from Paris for her by a woman friend whom Helen has never met.

mel's temperament much longer. Presently she came in, a stunorous, exotic woman. Brent rose to greet her, his distaste for the scene he anticipated mixed with admiration for her.

CHAPTER V

"I've fixed it! I've fixed it! I've taken care that he'll never have a chance to ruin the little girl's life!" The pauper, Nellin, shaken with his dim memories, crashed his fist down upon the table with a burst of energy that seemed to desert him the next instant.

"You look older," he said quickly. "It ages you to lose your temper, Carmel."

"You are a fool!" Carmel returned spitefully. "If you weren't such a fool I could love you. You know how I hate to be reminded of that East Side and yet you never forget it. You are a fool."

REAL TEST OF HOUSEWIFE IS EMERGENCY MEAL, SAYS EXPERT

"The test of a housewife, as of a business man, lies in her capacity to meet an emergency," states Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig in one of her famous cooking lectures, which will be delivered at the Pla-Mor auditorium during the Pampa Daily News cooking school, Oct. 14-19.

"The oft quoted couplet—'Tis easy to be pleasant when life flows along like a song'—applies particularly to the housewife with her multitude of interests," says Mrs. Ihrig. "The real test of the housewife appears when her husband calls in from the office, thirty minutes before meal time, to inform her that he is bringing guests to dinner whom he wishes to impress with his wife's cooking. It is not characteristic of the masculine mind to remember that on that particular afternoon his wife had been in the hands of the dressmaker, or that it was the afternoon for the bridge club luncheon. Perhaps even were he to know in advance, such data, it could not alter the advisability of inviting that particular guest. Business manifestations work in peculiar ways, and your husband may be inspired by the very best of motives when he feels that in the intimacy of his own home, he may be able to conclude business arrangements that otherwise would be impossible.

"Pity the poor husband, who is greeted by a tirade of abuse, based on imagined indignities from the wife who has chosen as a partner and a helpmate, when he requests the privilege of presenting an unexpected guest! Pity more the poor housewife whose limitations are such that under the circumstances she feels that a fit of hysterics and a good cry will offer the best prelude toward creating a favorable impression at the dinner table a short time later! Her usual reaction is to serve a meal with the aid of the can opener and a visit to the delicatessen store, if there be one adjacent. Men are noted epicureans and in few instances can be fooled to such an extent that they cannot realize they have intruded roughly and unintentionally into the family circle, and that there are storm clouds lowering over what might have been an otherwise delightful dinner. The guest leaves, conscious of the fact that ere he is out of earshot, the opening guns of a well-known domestic spat will be well under way.

This intimate knowledge of a housewife's problems—which as a housewife herself, Mrs. Ihrig first became acquainted with—has made doubly valuable the information which she extends in her lectures, and she has been greeted with a tremendous wave of popularity in every city in which she appears. Unfortunately, Mrs. Ihrig's overwhelming itinerary does not permit more than one annual appearance in each city, and it will be essential that every Pampa housewife that desires to learn the marvelous secrets of this great woman, whose reputation has spread from coast to coast, attend the lectures which begin next week. A complete symposium of Mrs. Ihrig's programs will be submitted through the columns of The News next week, in answer to the great number of inquiries which have come to The News office regarding Mrs. Ihrig's work. Admission to the cooking school will be absolutely free. All lectures will be given in the Pla-Mor auditorium starting promptly each day at 2:30 p. m.

House Is Hoover Refuge in Fight Over the Tariff

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—President Hoover again must look to the house for support in obtaining legislative tariff issue.

Having overridden the president's desire for a continuance of the flexible tariff policy virtually as it is now, 47 to 42, leaders of the Democratic-Republican independent coalition in the senate, meanwhile, felt sure they had, and could retain, control of the chamber and write a tariff bill to their liking.

The vote, they recalled, was virtually the same as that by which they twice wrote the export Debutenture plan into the farm deal over the president's objections, and they expressed confidence they could sustain their determination to confine the tariff revision to agricultural commodities and not permit the numerous rate increases proposed in the industrial schedules.

Republican regulars, however, were equally confident the line-up which voted to take from the chief executive his power to change tariff rates after investigation by the tariff commission would be broken as various rate sections of the bill come to vote. Many members of the group have reserved the right to vote as they please on proposed rate changes, and the regulars believe a number will vote for industrial rate increases affecting the interests of their own constituencies.

Under the flexible provisions written into the bill by the senate coalition, congress would be given sole power to act upon the recommendations of the tariff commission, but would be restricted on such occasions to consideration of the rate or rates specified so as to prevent frequent attempts at general revision.

The bill was taken at the end of seven days of debate and after President Hoover in a public statement declared in favor of retention of this authority in the hands of the chief executive.

Hardly had the senate time to catch its breath before it was confronted with another highly controversial proposal affecting the administrative sections of the bill.

Chairman Smoot announced he would bring up the committee amendments proposing the conversion within two years of all the ad valorem duties in the bill to a basis of United States value—the value of imported goods when offered for sale in principal domestic markets in wholesale lots—to supplant the present basis of foreign value.

Despite the senate vote on the flexible tariff issue, President Hoover's friends in congress were confident the house, which passed the bill 264 to 147, would insist upon continuance of the flexible policy. Democratic leaders, on the other hand, predicted their substitute would win strong if not majority support in that chamber. Few members of the house were on hand to substantiate or deny either opinion.

LESSON

saalem who presided over the first church council—wrote a keen and sagacious Epistle which has been called "the Gospel of Common Sense." Hear him urge the duty of charitable giving.

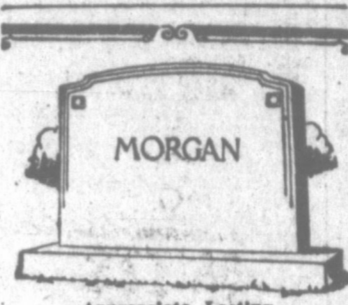

"What doth it profit, my brethren, if a man say he hath faith, but have not the works? It is useless for a man to claim that he has Christian faith, if his life does not prove it. Saying that a man has a thing does not give it to him. Can that faith save him? Faith such as that? More theoretical faith apart from life? James never questions that faith is the instrument of salvation, but he insists that if faith is real it will manifest itself in works. Faith is trust and devotion and obedience and love; a 'faith' which is mere assent to a creed and is not worthy the name. A faith which does not produce works cannot save. It is 'dead,' it is 'barren'—this is the truth which James seeks to establish in this famous section of his Epistle."—Prof. Charles R. Erdman.

Faith Without Works
"If a brother or sister be naked (poorly clothed) and in lack of daily food." "What was the faith worth which could witness suffering and not be stirred to help. The Gentile disciples had, we read, done their best to alleviate the distress of the churches of Judaea. St. James's language, addressed to the Jews and Jewish Christians of the dispersion, would seem to imply that they had shown less forwardness, and had wrapt themselves up in self-satisfaction of professing the orthodox faith of the sons of Abraham, while the Gentile converts whom they despised were setting an example of self-denial and charity."—Dean E. H. Plumpire. And their leader in this charity, we must not forget, was Paul, who emphasized the doctrine of justification by faith. "Even so faith, if it have not works, is dead in itself." "It is as a body without a soul. It is not only dead as regards the effects which it produces on others; it is dead in itself. How can such faith save?"—Principal William Patrick, D. D. Over; against this "dead faith" we have to set the "dead works" named in Heb. 6:1; 9:14. Either is dead without the other. "Archbishop Whately illustrated this by saying that faith and works are like the two oars of a boat; pull either one alone and the boat circles about and makes no progress; pull both together, and the haven of eternal rest is to be reached."—Charles F. Deems.

OTHERS

Lord, help me live from day to day in such a self-forgetful way. That even when I kneel to pray, My prayer shall be for others. OTHERS, Lord, yes others. Let this my motto be. Help me to live for others. That I may live like thee.
