

Oil Tank, Struck By Lightning, Blazes At Kingsmill

A $20,000 oil tank containing around 20,000 worth of fresh oil was blazing last night as company employees worked feverishly to pump crude worth $1.40 per barrel from a burning 55,000-barrel tank which was struck by lightning at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the Magnolia Pipe Line Company's storage tank farm at the edge of Kingsmill. Lightning struck the wooden roof, igniting gases above the oil level during an electric storm in mid-afternoon. The fire was raging under the roof at a late hour last night and there was not a chance, Magnolia officials said, of extinguishing the blaze. They expected, shortly after midnight to puncture the tank with a cannon shot, allowing the oil to drain into the levee surrounding the tank, as soon as the petroleum caught on fire. It was anticipated that the oil would burst into flames by 2 o'clock this morning. As soon as the wooden roof and the tar paper under it began going up in smoke, the company rushed pumps to the tank, and began withdrawing oil by suction and gravity at the rate of 2,000 barrels an hour. It was estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 barrels of oil would be pumped out of the tank before the blazing roof collapsed and ignited the oil. The oil, run into the tank a week ago, was being piped to three nearby empty tanks on the huge, wide-spreading tank farm. The blazing tank held about 48,000 barrels of oil when the bolt of lightning splintered the roof and shook the earth with metallic reverberations. The company planned to fire about 10 or 12 3-inch shells, each containing a steel ball and powder through a cannon into the steel walls of the tank as soon as the oil burst into flame. This would prevent the oil from boiling over and possibly setting fire to other tanks, also full of oil, on the farm. The oil would then burn in the levee, constructed to hold the capacity of the tank. At a late hour last night, the roof was burning slowly, the suction created by the pumps holding down the blaze. It was estimated that the oil would burn about 15 hours after it became ignited. If the company should save 20,000 barrels of the oil, damages could reach as high as $40,000.

THOUSANDS PLAN TO ATTEND PICNIC

250 Gray Citizens To Attend Amarillo Lake Meeting

MONEY NEEDED TO BUILD LAKE ON McCLELLAN

A delegation of 250 Pampa and Gray county citizens are expected to go to Amarillo next Wednesday morning to attend the five-state meeting of the state conservation committee which will gather to hear the report of activities in connection with the legislative program of the Panhandle Water Conservation Association. C. H. Walker, Pampa postmaster and Gray county director of the PWCA, stated last night that the huge Gray county delegation will meet at the Pampa City Hall and leave for Amarillo at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday. The Gray county delegation, interested in the entire Panhandle ponds and lakes program, made possible by the federal government's re-

School Rooms Due to Bulge with Record-Breaking Enrollment

School will open Tuesday for elementary, junior, and senior high school students for a 178-day year of education. Because of the Labor Day holiday and community picnic, Pampa schools are starting a day later than most Panhandle schools, but the time will be made up later. Record-breaking enrollment in all the schools is, of course, expected. Despite remodeling, renovating and new buildings, the familiar cry of "overcrowded" is expected to be heard again. All the school buildings in Pampa are expected to be literally bulging with pupils by Wednesday morning. An increase of several hundred in enrollment over last year, and such an increase is not unlikely, would shoot the total figure to 4,000. Unprecedented oil development in the county this summer has undoubtedly hiked the population of the independent school district, and this increase will in all probability send the school enrollment soaring to new and unexpected heights. Everything is in readiness at the four ward schools and junior high school to begin classes on that day. High school will start enrollment on that day and regular classwork will begin on Thursday. Blackboards grounds cleaned of trash and new chalk placed in the trays in final preparation for the coming of the thousands of children who will spend

One Lives, the Other Dies

"Which one must die?" was the question facing Denver physicians, who had only one "iron lung" available for two girl victims of infantile paralysis, both laboring for breath. Little Shirley Kraus, 2 1/2 left, had priority rights on the "lung," but Maybelle Outcalt, 15, above, could live outside the lung for only 20 minutes at a time. As one or the other faced certain death, a wooden "lung" arrived from Toronto by plane. A second 1,500-pound "iron lung," too heavy to go by air, was shipped from Chicago by train. The Outcalt girl later died.

UNIQUE AFFAIR ALMOST READY NEAR LEFORS

Thousands of persons from Pampa and scores of towns and communities in the northeast Panhandle are expected to attend the first annual community picnic to be held tomorrow on the Saunders ranch, three miles east of LeFors. Officials of the American Legion, sponsoring the event, announced late last night that they expected between 8,000 and 10,000 persons for the all-day program which will be jammed with races, contests, speeches and entertainment of all kinds. Members of the picnic committee spent Friday and Saturday cleaning up the grounds, erecting buildings and putting everything into ship-shape for the outing. A large open air dance hall is being built at the picnic site. The picnic will start promptly at 9 a. m. Labor day, and will be held on the Saunders ranch three miles east of LeFors. Road signs have been erected to direct visitors to the grounds. Roads have been put in excellent condi-

DELEGATION TO ATTEND BORGER RODEO TUESDAY

Pampa Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce officials will pay a return call to Borger Tuesday afternoon when a local delegation goes there to attend the Hutchinson county fair and the Borger Jaycee rodeo, both of which open tomorrow. The Pampa group will leave the City Hall at 1 p. m. Tuesday, immediately after the weekly Jaycee luncheon. Frank A. Culbertson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Goodwill committee, said last night: "We expect a good-sized delegation to go to Borger Tuesday to repay our neighboring city for its splendid turnout at the Pampa Jaycee rodeo and Top O'Texas Fiesta this summer." Similar sentiments were expressed by D. L. Parker, chairman of the goodwill committee of the Pampa Jaycees. Pampans also are showing added interest in the rodeo at Borger inasmuch as two Pampans, Lon Blansett and Vance Rhea, are staging that part of the Borger three-day program.

15 New Wells Hike Oil Potential 6,412 Barrels in Panhandle

Fifteen new oil wells added 6,412 barrels of oil to the Panhandle field potential last week. Six new gassers were tested and given an open flow potential of 299,522,000 cubic feet. After a summer of unusual activity, filling of new locations has shown a let down with only 13 being staked last week. There are still about 250 wells in process of drilling in the field, however. Gray county led in completions with eight wells being given an open flow potential of 3,429 barrels. Hutchinson county registered four new wells good for 1,320 barrels. The other tests were in Carson county where the best well of the week was the United Crude Oil company's No. 3-A, E. Cooper, in section 5, block 9, I&GN survey, was gauged at 763 barrels. Big gas play was in Moore county where five of the six wells were completed. Two huge gassers were brought in, one the Continental Oil company's No. 1 J. E. Wells, section 17B, block 3-T, T&NO survey, which gauged 81,107,000 cubic feet, and the Phillips Petroleum company's No. 1 Stigall, section 280, block 44.

JAP ATTACK FAILS AGAIN

SHANGHAI, Sept. 5 (Sunday) (AP)—Ten Japanese warplanes carried the undeciphered war with China into a crowded area of Shanghai today with a heavy bombardment of the western station of the Shanghai-Hankow railroad. The station is near the British defender sector of the international settlement. Three Japanese warships were believed to have been many. Earlier, Japan's bristling naval guns and bombing planes carried the battle for supremacy in China 600 miles into the southland—and lost the first major encounter. Three Japanese warships steamed into the southern port of Amoy Friday, above them several squadrons of warplanes, and began firing on Chinese forts. The defenders answered with artillery fire, and battle raged through the day. By nightfall, Chinese reports said, one Japanese warship was disabled and had to be towed.

Conference Table to Take Place of Strike Says FDR on Yacht

By D. HAROLD OLIVER. ABOARD YACHT INDIAN OFF RHODE ISLAND Sept. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt declared tonight that "both sides have made mistakes" in recent employer-worker conflicts and urged the use of "sanity and reason" in adjusting labor disputes. The conference table must eventually take the place of the strike," he said, in a Labor Day statement made public as he cruised aboard the yacht Potomac in Long Island sound. It was his first formal statement on the subject since the wave of strikes started sweeping the country nearly eight months ago, and the first comment of any kind he had made since his Washington press conference statement, at the peak of the steel strike, inferentially attacking extremists in industry and labor unions. It followed a radio speech last night by John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, caustically criticizing the President for his attitude in the steel

Editorial

The community picnic to be held Labor Day on the Saunders ranch three miles east of LeFors, is being sponsored by Kerley-Crossman Post of the American Legion and should receive the support of everyone. The purpose of this picnic is to raise sufficient funds from concessions on the picnic grounds to build a band stand in the central park. Pampa has four ward schools, Junior high school, and Senior high school. Each school has a band, and there is no place available for these bands to give public concerts except on the grass of Central park. If sufficient funds are raised at this picnic, this band stand will be one of the most beautiful in this section of the country. Everyone can assist the American Legion in this project by attending the community picnic and having more fun than they have had in years. tion and parking space is being provided for all cars just north of the picnic grounds. Thompson To Speak Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission will be the principal speaker at the morning session. Olin E. Hinkle, formerly editor of the Pampa News, will also be on the speakers' program. Hinkle sent a letter of acceptance Saturday. He is now in Canyon where he has taken up the duties of publicity head of the school and instructor of Journalism. Everything is set to make this one of the greatest picnics and get-togethers ever held in the Panhandle, sponsors said. There will be bicycle races for boys and girls under 12, 12 to 18 years, 18 to 50, and boys and girls 50 years and older. Tire rolling contests for all ages. The hog calling contest will be for the champion hog caller of the Panhandle. And girls who are husband-hunting and who will enter the husband-calling contest will provide one of the most comical features of the picnic. Sack races, fat and lean men's races, plump and slender women's races, potato races, peanut races, three-legged races for boys and girls, and a big relay race will be part of the racing contests. Softball will be available for all

Pampan Killed as Car Overtakes Near McLean

Pete Miller, local man about 30 years of age, died in a Shamrock hospital Friday afternoon from a fractured skull received two hours earlier when the car in which he and his wife and daughter were riding overturned about five miles east of McLean. Mrs. Miller suffered injuries, extent of which were not learned, but the daughter, about 10 years old, suffered a fractured left shoulder. Both are in the Shamrock hospital. Miller had gone to east Texas after Mrs. Miller and the child, and all were returning to his home here when the accident happened. Mrs. Miller was driving and was said to have turned out of a sideroad onto the highway when she lost control of the automobile. The Millers have resided here at 508 N. Russell street for the past two months, when they came to Pampa from Lubbock. Mr. Miller was employed as collector for the Collier's Magazine and was said to have just received an offer of a coaching position in Borger when he left Pampa to bring Mrs. Miller and the daughter home from the visit. He was coach at Brownfield a few years ago. Funeral arrangements have not been made yet, pending the arrival of relatives and condition of the widow and child in Shamrock.

LIGHT SHOWERS FALL IN PAMPA YESTERDAY

An electric storm that circled Pampa left only a light shower here yesterday afternoon, and then brought overcast skies to scotch the mercury down from a maximum of 87 degrees for the day. Some rain fell here around 4 o'clock but there was not enough to register in the government gauge. A heavy shower was reported at Kingsmill where it was accompanied by thunder and lightning. Other points to the north and west also reported rain.

MILES KNOWN WELL IN CITY

Lee Miles, entry in the Thompson trophy speed event, who was killed at the International Air Races in Cleveland, Ohio, Thursday night, was widely known in Pampa where he had many friends in aviation circles.

Miles was in Pampa only two weeks ago renewing friendships prior to his leaving for Wichita, Kas., his home, to enter the air races in Ohio. He flew a plane into the Pampa airport and left the following day.

Miles was Southwest representative for the Cessna Aircraft Corp., with headquarters at Wichita, Kan., and had several planes in operation in Pampa and the surrounding area.

Among those who knew him well here were Dee Graham, Russ Allen and Harry Hoare, who flew with Miles when he was here on his last visit.

Pampans will remember Miles best for his sensational flying during the Pampa air races at the 1936 Texas Centennial celebration a year ago last June. At that time Miles won most of the speed events.

Miles met his death in Cleveland Thursday evening while in the air. The trial flight of the course over which he was to race for the Thompson trophy, biggest racing event at the International Races.

He had already qualified his racer for the event at a speed of 197 miles an hour, but was dissatisfied with the showing and decided to make another test flight.

Flying at bullet speed, Miles banked his plane almost vertically around one of the course pylons. As he started to straighten out the ship, the right wing crumpled and pieces of the plane fluttered in the air.

The fuselage hurtled on for 500 yards, spinning like a top, and sheared off several small trees. The wreckage crashed in a nearby woods and wrapped itself around three more trees.

cent allocation of $40,000,000 to carry on the water conservation work in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado, also is particularly interested in the plan for a government-constructed Gray County lake at the Beaver Dam site on McClellan Creek.

Expect Big Delegation

Concerted efforts have been under way for the past week in all Gray county communities to have each of them send a big delegation to Pampa early Wednesday to join in the general motorcade to Amarillo.

C. O. Green, chairman of the Board of City Directors at McClellan, has reported to local Chamber of Commerce officials, that McClellan will have a good delegation for the meeting. The following persons are making arrangements to get delegates from other sections of the county:

W. E. James, at Almarred; Henry Breining, at LeFors; Walter Jones, at Laketon; J. M. Daugherty, at Hoover, and County Commissioner Thomas Kirby, in the southwest section of the county.

Letters were sent to these men last week by Mr. Walker, who reports have been coming back that each will send good representation for the Amarillo trip.

500 Letters Mailed

Five hundred letters were mailed out today to citizens over the entire county, urging their attendance at the water conservation meeting on Wednesday. However, any citizen in the county is welcome to attend, and everyone is urged to join in the caravan at Pampa early Wednesday morning.

Gray county badges which will be worn by each member of the local delegation also have been sent to the various communities. Pampans will be given their badges when they convene at City Hall Wednesday morning, according to Garnet Reeves, Chamber of Commerce manager.

In addition to hearing the report of Carl Hinton of Amarillo, who represented the PWCA at Washington this summer, Wednesday's meeting also will honor senators and congressmen from the five states to benefit from the huge government water conservation fund.

Urged to Register

John McCarty of Amarillo, president of the PWCA, has advised local officials that one of the largest crowds ever to attend a meeting of this kind is expected in Amarillo Wednesday. Headquarters will be at the Herring Hotel and every delegate is urged to go at once to the hotel and register upon his arrival there. The day's program is scheduled begin at 10 a. m.

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce county lake committee, of which Postmaster Walker is chairman, will meet here at 10 a. m. Tuesday to make final arrangements for the Amarillo trip. Other members of the committee are Judge Irv Duncan, City Manager C. L. Stine, Mayor W. A. Bratton, C. O. Drew, T. F. Smalling, and A. H. Doucette.

Judge Duncan, father of the Gray county lake plan, was enthusiastic Saturday over the prospects of a huge Gray county delegation going to Amarillo Wednesday.

"It is vital that Gray county send a big delegation over there," he said, "to show them that we are downright interested in this matter and that we will not be satisfied until we have at least $20,000,000 of the federal funds apportioned to Gray county for our lake project."

Fanhandle gets $4,750,000 out of the $40,000,000 fund for the five states, the Panhandle of Texas, it is estimated, will receive $4,750,000.

County Judge Sherman White, who will attend the meeting with members of the Gray county commissioners' court, reiterated the statement of Judge Duncan.

"We must have a big crowd at Amarillo Wednesday," he said, "and our county to be plan must not fail. In addition, I think Gray county also should be entitled to deep consideration for the location of some of the smaller ponds which this huge program calls for."

Mr. Walker called upon the entire citizenry of Gray county to take an interest in the plan for the lake which would provide the northeast Panhandle with a badly needed recreational center.

It is the plan of the local officials to have the government buy the land at the proposed lake site, construct the dam and create the lake.

County authorities already have contacted state officials with the view to making a state park out of the lake site, if and when it is completed.

away by her two companions; the aerial bombardment caused no serious damage and only one woman was injured.

A second aerial attack, on Saturday, apparently was more successful. Fifty bombs were dropped on Ningpo, south of Shanghai in Chekiang province, the United States consulate general here was advised.

Within Shanghai itself, Saturday was confined largely to reconsolidation of forces along the front 12 to 20 miles north and east from Lucho to Wooning; to the daily Japanese aerial bombardment and counter fire by Chinese anti-aircraft.

Each belligerent claimed advances, but it appeared to foreign observers that the Japanese army had encountered far more severe opposition than it expected.

Resistance Fierce

The resistance, in contrast to previous engagements with Chinese, is the fiercest since the Japanese fought Russia in 1904, foreign military observers believe.

The promised "big Japanese push" has not materialized, in fact, two weeks over due. Foreign military circles believe the reason is that the Japanese have appealed to Tokyo for more man power, and are awaiting it before launching any wholesale attack.

Japan has landed large forces of reinforcements along the Soconan front, and is estimated to have 60,000 men now available within striking distance of Shanghai—against an estimated 200,000 Chinese, many of them members of China's German-trained battalions.

While there was no major conflict through Saturday, the danger to Americans and foreigners in the international settlement and the French concession was ever present.

Japanese airmen continued bombardment of Chinese positions in Chapei, already devastated, and Yangtzeipo, Kinkwan, Taichong and Yanhong districts were blasted, and new fires sent up a pall of smoke and flames.

American, British and French consuls-general joined in a demand to both Chinese and Japanese to withdraw their forces from the vicinity of the international areas, splattered Friday by artillery shelling with an estimated 100 civilians killed.

ATTENDANCE AT PICNIC URGED BY SUPT. FISHER

Officials of the Labor Day Community picnic yesterday received a letter from Superintendent R. B. Fisher in which he commended the outing and urged parents of school children, particularly band mothers and fathers, to attend the picnic.

Mr. Fisher pointed out that the picnic will benefit the six city school bands especially. His letter is as follows:

"Band Mothers and Fathers: I wish to direct your attention to the fact that the American Legion Picnic day is highly important to all of our band people as well as to every citizen in Pampa. Your support to this picnic will give considerable aid to the Legion in placing a much needed band stand in your city park."

strike, but was not intended as a reply to Lewis since the statement was prepared several days before Lewis' address.

The President's statement was made public after another day of fishing in a small launch off Montauk Light, Long Island, and a run over choppy seas to anchor in Great Salt Pond off Block Island, R. I. He planned to spend the night there.

The Potomac, after tugging at her anchor in a brisk wind that swept Port Found Bay, L. I., last night, left on her second fishing expedition around noon.

Workmen's Role Emphasized.

The text of the President's statement follows:

"In a nation founded upon the honest toil of its pioneers, it is meet and fitting that a day should be set aside in special recognition of our debt to the untold millions whose labors have, in large measure, made this nation what it is today. In this year, which marks the fiftieth anniversary of Labor Day, it is especially fitting that the citizens be reminded of the importance of the workman's role in society. Then, too, Labor Day this year assumes an especial importance because of the struggle which we have been witnessing in recent months and the emphasis placed by law and public opinion on the rights of labor and the privilege of organization.

"As is usual in a controversy when opposing factors give way to basic passions, the age old contest between capital and labor has been complicated in recent months thru mutual distrust and bitter recrimination. Both sides have made mistakes. While we deplore these mistakes it is for all of us as true Americans to resolve on this day devoted to labor that we shall, by removing the cause, seek to prevent their repetition. Although ujan passions have been aroused during the past eight months, let us not forget that these difficulties were brought under control before they assumed more than local proportions.

Sanity, Reason Urged.

"Ours as a people is the duty to maintain an attitude based on sanity and reason—to work for that happy consummation when bitterness and distrust shall be replaced by mutual respect by workman and employer. The conference table must eventually take the place of the strike. There has been and continues to be urgent need to insure all able-bodied working men and women a living wage for a fair day's work. I repeat what I said in my message to the workers of the United States last year: 'The wage earners of America do not ask for more. They will not be satisfied with less.'

"Those who are in government and those whom government serves must all do their part by placing at the service of capital and labor the necessary machinery to facilitate the adjustment of disputes, and thereby eliminate the need for strikes and interference with the flow of wages and commerce. Such machinery must be perfected if we are to deal with this problem in a manner that is in keeping with our heritage of human reason and intelligence. On the exercise of that intelligence we must base our hopes for peace.

"The government has committed itself to a very definite program in the advancement of the economic, industrial and spiritual welfare of our people. Our aim has been the

The pistol range has acquired an added attraction. Tommy Templeton, champion tripe pistol shot, has assured Deputy Sheriff George Inman, chairman of this part of the program, that he will be here and take charge of the pistol shoot. The championship match for the prize money will start at 11 a. m., but target cards will be available to shooters all day, under the sponsorship of Mr. Templeton.

"What the country needed during the last four years was vision, sympathy with the underprivileged, idealism and a willingness to try any kind of an experiment that came to mind in order to alleviate suffering," Burke told reporters.

"What we need now is some one with very different qualities. We need some one with hard common sense rather than a sympathetic nature, particularly in financial matters."

'Good Earth' Called One of Best Pictures of Year

FAMOUS FILM WILL OPEN AT LANORA TODAY

Heralded as one of the best pictures of the year, "The Good Earth," starring Louise Rainer and Paul Muni, will open at the Lanora theater today. Based on the novel by Edith Huxter, the picture has already been hailed as the best picture of 1937.

At the Crown theater, "The Soldier and the Lady" will open with Anton Walbrook, Elizabeth Allen and Eric Blore in the principal roles.

A prison picture, "San Quentin," will be the feature at the Rex.

LANORA

Story "Good Earth." The story of "The Good Earth" deals with Wang Lung, a poor farmer who is given O-Lan, a slave girl, for wife. Her devotion and tireless effort help him to prosper. The famine destroys the farms and Wang and O-Lan go to the city. The Republican uprising makes the city a turmoil and during the mob hysteria O-Lan succeeds in getting jewels from a looted house. The jewels make them wealthy. They return to their village in which Wang becomes an overlord. Then he takes a second wife and she other tricks of the rich, to find, on the death of the faithful first wife, the estrangement of his son, and other evils, that his life as a farmer was all that counted.

The dramatic story of China's teeming millions, their struggles, their hardships, and the intensely human heartbeat of the great and little known nation, is transcribed from Pearl S. Buck's epic novel and the stage adaptation by Owen Davis and Donald Davis to the talking screen in "The Good Earth," starring Paul Muni and Louise Rainer, and opening at the Lanora theater Sunday.

Fruit of four years of research and preparation, work of a film expedition that passed a year in China filming exteriors, studying details and bringing back thousands of authentic properties—the picture in which thousands of Oriental players appear—is one of the most gigantic tasks ever undertaken by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

times in "The Soldier and the Lady," a picturization of the novel with the sensational Anton Walbrook in the hero role.

Dealing with the efforts of Strogoff, a courier of the Tsar to reach a besieged Russian army at Irkutsk during a sudden rebellion of the Tartar hordes, the picture abounds in breathless occurrences.

These include the shadowing of the courier by a woman spy; his rescue of the spy from the attack of an enraged bear; his meeting with the traitor commanding the Tartar rebel; his romance with the Russian girl who accompanies him on his perilous journey; his fight with Tartar pirates on a Siberian river; his capture by a Tartar patrol as he tries to reach the Russian lines; the intensely dramatic moments when he is condemned to be blinded by having a white-hot sword passed before his eyes; the death of the spy; and his triumphant revenge on the Tartar leader in the palace at Irkutsk.

As a counterpart to these gripping scenes, "The Soldier and the Lady" shows what has been claimed as two of the greatest battle sequences ever recorded by the camera; namely, the defeat of a Russian army by two Tartar cavalry regiments, and the final annihilation of the rebels as the courier leads the Grand Duke's forces on them from Irkutsk in a surprise sortie.

These sequences employ the services of 10,000 troops who represent the Russian and Tartar armies. Ten camera crews were necessary to record the various charges and retreats, so far-reaching were these maneuvers.

LA NORA

Gloria Stewart Starred Running away from love is all right if you're sure that you're being followed, and Gloria Stewart acts upon this sage advice as the lovely fugitive in "The Lady Escapes." Twentieth Century-Fox romantic comedy, opening Thursday at the Lanora theater, with Michael Whalen in what he thinks is the role of a pursuer.

When their marital life turns out to be a martial life, with the husband holding the wife in his arms only to prevent her from socking him, the charming couple agree to disagree, but soon find they can't escape from love.

Besides, the vase-throwing spouse finds that she has a naturally affectionate and gregarious disposition, and refuses to release her husband-target until he finds a second husband for her.

An insanely joyous search for a substitute ensues both in America and abroad, so that international complications of a hilarious nature, which involve George Sanders, Cora Witherspoon and Gerald Oliver-Smith, work up to a hair-trigger climax amidst a Gallic frenzy on the French Riviera.

LANORA

In what is described as the most elaborately staged, and most highly emotional picture of her brilliant career, Kay Francis comes to the Lanora theater next Friday.

It is the Warner Bros. drama "Confession," adapted from the famed European play "Mazurka," which had sensational runs in the Continental capitals. The story concerns a famous opera singer who kills her betrayer in order to save from ruination her young daughter whom he is leading toward the fate of the mother.

Basil Rathbone — suaveest of all villa men — plays the scoundrel whose life the bullet ends. Jane Bryan is the daughter, Ian Hunter is her husband, a war hero, who really loves the opera singer, but had been separated from her because of her brief affair with the betrayer.

REX

Those who like their movie-men rugged and strong—plenty good if they're good and plenty bad if they're so inclined—are due for a treat today, when the First National melodrama "San Quentin" opens at the Rex today.

On the good side the fans will see Pat O'Brien, which ought to be satisfactory enough. He's the Captain of the Yard in San Quentin. On the bad side they'll have Humphrey Bogart and Joseph Sawyer as a couple of tough prisoners, plus big Barton MacLane as a crooked jail official.

But the picture isn't altogether masculine. For sweetness and light there's that lovely red-headed leading woman, Ann Sheridan, as a San Francisco night-club singer with whom Pat falls in love.

REX

When Dad Jones turns high-pressure stock salesman and America's favorite folks dream of sudden wealth from a wildcat oil-well boom, there's a gusher of laughter for Jones family fans everywhere in the Twentieth-Century-Fox picture, "Big Business," fit in the famous series, which opens Wednesday at the Rex theater.

In the face of the family's get-rich-quick dream, the kids keep on dreaming of love and romance, and in the end it is the kids who save the family from losing all when the oil hoax is exposed.

Directed by Frank R. Strayer, with Max Golden as associate producer, the screen play by Robert Ellis and Helen Logan presents an always timely theme in which Dad Jones, duped by the smoothness of Allan Lane, big-city stock promoter, has all his friends invest in the company formed to develop a worthless oil well.

PAMPA TO GET 10 NYA PUPILS

Division of Gray county's quota of 10 pupils for NYA school aid this fall was announced yesterday as 10 from Pampa and three each for McLean and Lefors.

The Gray county allocation was forwarded to W. B. Weathered, Gray county school superintendent, by J. C. Kellam, Texas director of the National Youth Administration.

The total number of part-time NYA school aid jobs for Texas this fall is only 75 per cent of last year's quota, Mr. Kellam announced. Recommendations to the state director regarding the allocation of jobs to pupils will be made through a committee comprised of school heads in the three counties and laymen picked also from the eligible communities, Mr. Weathered stated.

Local school officials should communicate with the county superintendent to inform him and the county committee regarding the needs of their school for part-time NYA jobs, Mr. Kellam said.

Youths seeking NYA jobs should apply to the principal or superintendent of their school, since it is the function and responsibility of the local school officials to select those students who shall be given employment, according to Supt. Weathered.

TOMORROW'S PICNIC DAY

Thousands of persons today will be putting the final touches to their plans for attending the big Pampa Free community picnic tomorrow on the Saunders Ranch, three miles east of Lefors.

Mother will begin packing that big picnic basket tonight, and she'll get up early in the morning to put in all the good things to eat.

This American Legion-sponsored picnic is devoted to entertain all the people from the Northeastern Panhandle, and tomorrow's going to be a great day in Panhandle history.

All the old-fashioned picnic accountments will be there. Races, contests and amusements of all kinds will be on tap. There will be ball games, fat men's races, lean men's races, bicycle races for young and old.

And there'll be music and speakin' and singin' and everybody's assured of a good time. Special free features galore have been arranged by the picnic committee which has been working on the arrangements for more than a month.

Residents from scores of surrounding towns will get together in a spirit of good neighborliness. Business is being suspended for the day, to give everyone an opportunity to have an enjoyable time on this last big holiday of summer.

And it looks like almost everybody will be there.

HELMETS FOR SALE

News from China includes a little item to the effect that steel helmets are being sold in the bargain basements of downtown stores in Shanghai.

It won't be long now, you may suppose, until devices of defense from air raids, gas attacks and bombardments will be as common to everyday life as a jacket for a chilly day or a new spring hat.

A shopping tour will go something like this: "Have you those latest reinforced steel helmets with the attached neck protector? And you'd better put in a couple of gas masks for the baby. She chews the mouthpieces off as fast as I can buy them for her."

It's funny, or is it?

Washington Letter

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Commercial Washington is crying for a special session of congress.

You'd think the place had suffered enough, what with an eight-month session that left the political part of the city jumpy and shell-shocked. But 531 congressmen with $10,000-a-year incomes make a nice buying public. Take any city in the country and suddenly snatch out 531 of its $10,000-a-year men and you will understand better how Washington feels about it.

Moreover, the members of congress are not the only public spenders who desert Washington immediately after the gavel falls. Each house member is allowed $5,000 a year for clerical hire, which means at least two clerks each. Top pay is fixed by law at $3,900. Senators are allowed $12,100 a year for clerks, which must be split among five, with $3,900 to the head clerk.

Besides that, if a member is chairman of a committee, he usually is allowed one or more extra clerks. All in all, it runs up to about 1,500 clerks, male and female, and it is no secret that the female clerks are missed most sorely along the shopping front.

These little girls do take on a commercial glow when they hit the big city—and Washington shops fall on it. The unaffiliated tresses on capitol hill at any given moment could be wrapped around your finger. There are more waves there than on the Chesapeake, and they cost more.

That leads to something else. Not all the fancy hair waving and dyeing is confined to the female clerical help. Sitting in the senate gallery during a session, you couldn't count on your fingers the number of state heads of hair made gorgeous by the deft touch of the waving iron and the dye pot.

To a degree the house also dyes and crimps, but being a somewhat younger family, the men there find less need of it.

One beauty operator says the number of male customers has increased since President Roosevelt pointed a finger of suspicion at the abilities of gentlemen of 70 and up. Gray hair, by that edict, was made less popular, and the beauty shops helped make it less prevalent.

Men customers are pernickily as all get out, says this operator. Women take hair dyeing as a matter of course. They don't fuss about a minor imperfection or a trifling flaw that may or may not give away the dyeing job. But if a spot of dye or a tell-tale bluish shows up in the hair of a statesman, it takes on the proportions of an international incident.

Now don't write in for names of congressional dyed-heads. We won't give 'em. We value our own bristles too much.

Lynn Beutler, top man of the Beutler Bros. rodeo outfit, from Elk City, Okla., dropped around the other evening to say howdy and report that the rodeo business has been pretty swell this season, and the end is not yet in sight. . . . Beutler, who has some of the world's best rodeo stock, has been busy hitting top-spot attractions over the West this summer, and likes to tell best of his experience up in Bob Burns' Arkansas hill-billy country where the folk never had seen a Brahma steer nor a real rodeo before. . . . They'd like to have torn up the arena, they were so thrilled about the type of entertainment Beutler dished up for them.

Right now, Lynn, who is as personable a chap as you'll ever meet, is busy with preparations for the Borger Junior Chamber of Commerce rodeo which opens at Borger tomorrow and for the Amarillo Tri-State Fair later this month. . . . He is the same fellow who engineered the Pampa Jaycee Rodeo here last June. . . . Those of you who saw that one, are familiar with rodeo after the Beutler manner. . . . Success of the Beutler enterprises is founded solely upon the premise of giving the paying customers just a little bit more than they expect. . . . When you deal with the public and set up that kind of a goal, success is written on your ticket even before you begin. . . . Mr. Beutler's business philosophy holds good not only for the rodeo business, but it will click in any line of endeavor you may select.

When South Oklahoma and North Texas peace officers hold their convention in Pampa next month, Fred Hobart, of Canadian, crack pistol shot and coach of the Pampa pistol team, will be out trying to break a jinx that has been keeping him from winning permanent possession of the Walter Nelson, Jr., trophy, put up in 1929 by the then mayor of Wichita Falls. . . . The trophy cannot become the permanent possession of any contestant unless he wins it three times in succession. . . . During the years Hobart has won the trophy twice in succession on three different occasions, but never has been able to make it three in a row.

Hobart now is once more in position to become permanent owner of the trophy. . . . When the convention shooters step out on the range here on Oct. 8, Hobart will have two straight wins behind him and a mighty determination to break the old jinx by winning again at the Pampa meeting. . . . He has been out on the Pampa range almost daily for the past week turning in some mighty fine scores. . . . Last Thursday night he went out with officers of the organization who were here for a meeting to plan convention details, and scored a 99 out of a possible 100. . . . It was the second time he had turned in a 99 in two days, so Fred is pretty confident that things will be okkie dodie for him, even though he is scheduled to step out in some pretty fast competition next month.

Dr. V. E. von Brunow, of Pampa, clips a "filler" from the Pampa News and mails it back to the editorial office. It says: "Chives are gaining popularity for use in salads in place of onions. . . . And with it, he mails this comment: "Sure they are good and tasty, but where do you get them? There is probably one in a hundred who would know what chives are. . . . And, we think he's got something there. . . . Just for instance, can you tell us what a "chive" is without peeking into the dictionary? . . . Betty Blythe, plenty tanned, is back from a summer vacation around Long Beach, Calif., to report a splendid time.

Says Mr. Lewis to the south: "I'm going to organize you-all. . . . Those notices you didn't see about banquets for homecoming congressmen didn't get mislaid somewhere, either. . . . The Michigan lady who refused to put her age on a marriage license probably thought that love might be blind to some figures and not others. . . . A passport photographer of a million persons has no photograph of himself. A million passport pictures would sour anyone of portraiture. . . . Al Smith, it is rumored, will campaign for Copeland as mayor of New York. Let's see. The last person Al endorsed was Landon, wasn't it?"

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO

Heavy traffic was predicted for the Pampa to Cheyenne, Oklahoma railroad, which the Clinton and Oklahoma Western railroad was granted permission to build. The permit was granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Scott Barcus, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, returned from Evanston, Ill., where he attended the National school for commercial executives. He said that he found Pampa well-known in many places, and heard many expressions of faith in the good future of this community.

FIVE YEARS AGO

A hasty check of enrollment in schools of the Pampa Independent district showed 2,039 pupils registered, which with 400 more that were to be enrolled in the high school carried the total above the previous year's daily average attendance of 2,412.

J. Everts Haley, a member of the history department of the University of Texas, was here greeting friends. He was accompanied by Harold Bugbee of Clarendon, well known artist.

Attendance at the First Baptist church Sunday school was 800, and there were 187 persons at the training school.

SUFFERING IS ONLY RELATIVE

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the perils of being delinquent with the rent in New York, if you live in a Bowery or a Times Square hotel, is that sooner or later you run head on into the jigger. A jigger is a sawed-off key inserted in the lock so that one's own key will not fit. This necessitates an embarrassing (if you have any shame) interview with the manager, and that is exactly what he wants. In this way he is brought face to face with the lady payee and has a fighting chance to collect a part of the accumulated arrears, or at least of extracting a promise to pay.

We know an actor who remained five days in his room without once leaving so fearful was he of being jiggered out of the room. He didn't dare take a chance on being caught away from his belongings, so he sat pat, staving off starvation with several cans of beans which a confederate sneaked in to him.

Any mention of financial lapses always reminds us of the turf editor who visited the tracks and ran into a bookmaker who owed him some money.

"Don't you want to see me?" he inquired significantly.

"No, I don't," said the bookie candidly, "but I haven't forgotten that I owe you some scratch. Last night I made a list of my creditors in the order they are to be paid, and you are tenth. However, if you will lend me another $10 I'll move you up to third."

Cut-Throats Hideaway Minnetta Lane and Minnetta Brook are synonymous with an older New York which doesn't exist any more. They both still make furtive appearances and are indelibly woven into island legend, yet neither amounts to anything save as a curio or a bright publicity stunt.

Minnetta Lane is a gnarled, narrow thread only a block in length. It juts into the Village and is now a row of apartment houses for "artists" and students. At one end is a patio where the Italians eat spaghetti and talk of Joe DiMaggio.

But in the older days it was a hideaway for a band of cut-throats whose misdeeds were so violent and numerous that the older inhabitants still speak of them in alarm. The worst of the mob was Old Black Cat. Another was "Bloodthirsty" Guinea Johnson, third, regarded murder as a routine chore.

To Look At Only As for Minnetta Brook, that lovely, rippling stream with the Indian name, used to flow through the lower part of the island and quench the thirst of early Dutch inhabitants. But today it is in almost total eclipse, bobbing up furtively as part of a fountain in the lobby of a hotel. Ben Collada is the latest to bring Minnetta back. He has lured its crystal waters up through a pipe into a pool in the foyer of his Spanish night club, El Chiclo.

But, alas, Minnetta Brook is no longer good to drink. It is almost entirely filled with sand.

RAILROAD CAT KNOWS TIER SCHEDULES

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—She is a railroad cat and knows tier schedules. She gave birth to four kittens on top of a box car axle housing where no one could reach them.

Then she heard trainmen say they would have to move the car in two days. When the field was clear, she began moving her youngsters, one by one, down the side of the car and into a secluded corner of the repair shop.

Cat, kittens and car moved on schedule.

People You Know

By ARCHER FOLLENGIM

Zelma McFarlin grieves to see students out of high school who can't go to college, become demoralized and the victims of miserable complexes because they can't find a job or because they don't like the jobs they have. For years she has brooded over the situation, and when Pampa high school decided to sponsor a vocational course for employed persons, the school board thought of "Z," and she did not demur, although she will have to conduct the courses after part of the accumulated arrears. In the past, "Z" has spent many an hour worrying over the plight of graduates who were not equipped to make a living, who did not know what they wanted to do, who had never learned to do, and who were utterly inexperienced in the business of making a living. She believes that high school should help equip students to live in economic harmony, and should prepare them for making a living in the immediate future. So the young and old who attend "Z's" classes will find that their teacher is a keen analyst who can be trusted, who will make their job here, who will do her best to help them attain economic justice and security, who will help them find their place in the economic world. The unemployed who come to her classes will find a true friend who has their needs at heart, and so we recommend humane, charitable Zelma McFarlin, the new secretary of labor of Pampa high school.

How's Your Health?

THE PROBLEM OF PIMPLES

The common pimple or acne vulgaris is the condition is called is from the medical viewpoint one of the minor disabilities. But to the sufferer it is at best a plague and, to the sensitive young person, almost a tragedy. The pubescent individual is most likely to develop acne vulgaris.

Most cases of acne are found in skins that are greater than normal. Occasionally, however, individuals with a dry skin may also show what is termed superficial acne.

The forerunner of the pimple is the blackhead or comedone. The blackhead results from the blockage of the outlet of the oil secreting gland. This blockage is caused by an abnormality of horn formation in the outer layer of the skin. When the outlet of the sebaceous gland is blocked, the gland's secretion, instead of having free egress, becomes bottled up and in time forms a solid plug. Dirt may collect at the mouth of the oil gland forming what is called the "blackhead." The plugged up mass of sebum may soon act as an irritant within the skin, causing the collection around it of pus cells. At this stage the blackhead becomes converted into a pimple.

Since not all youngsters going through puberty suffer with acne vulgaris, it is reasonable to assume that certain constitutional factors must contribute to the development of this condition. Heredity seems to be one factor. The character of the individual's skin and the combination of glands of internal secretion peculiar to the individual are of course determinants.

Anemia, malnutrition and toxemias of various kinds lower constitutional vitality and reduce the resistance of the skin to infections. Constipation has an important effect on the condition. Bad personal hygiene, that is, irregular hours, lack of rest, overwork and anxiety, are contributing factors.

Every case of acne vulgaris calls for individual study. However, one general rule is to improve the health in every possible way. Since the skin in most cases of acne vulgaris is likely to be excessively oily, the liberal and frequent use of hot water and soap is indicated. The routine skin hygiene for acne vulgaris should be learned by demonstration and practice from the physician in charge of the case.

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — In Savannah, Tenn., there is a business firm whose letterhead proclaims the town as one-time headquarters of General Grant and "birthplace of Elizabeth Patterson." . . . If Savannah had seen "High Wide and Handsome" I wouldn't be surprised if, next printing the letterhead gives Elizabeth Patterson top billing over General Grant. . . . She played Granny, and she's an actress. . . .

An actress, in case the loose use of the term in Hollywood confuses, is one who can go into a picture and make you enjoy it so much you leave the theater thinking the star is an actress, which quite often is not the case.

Elizabeth Patterson learned the hard way. . . . Dramatic school, stock, three years in Ben Greck's Shakespearean outdoor, more stock with Stuart Walker in Cincinnati, Broadway, and then Hollywood. . . . So I was surprised to hear her say that Hollywood and movies are developing actresses. . . . She cited Jean Arthur, Myrna Loy, Bette Davis—and I had to agree with her.

Break for Bellamy Ralph Bellamy ought to go places in pictures now, if it never rains but it pours. . . . That oil well of his came in—the one into which he'd sunk his savings—and now that he can take it easy they say he has a good picture coming up. . . . Ralph's been out here six or seven years and what with one thing and another he's never had the chance at the acting he can do.

The trailer on "Broadway Melody of 1938" did better by Bob Taylor than the picture does. . . . One more role like this and Bob's beauty will belong to the ages. . . . William Gargan has a beef, which he calls his first at Universal. . . . He read the script on "A Young Man's Fancy" and picked out his role—but this was the one for which Universal borrowed George Murphy from Metro. . . . College Trouble

"Varsity Show" is intended to hit the opening-of-college trade and spirit, and its makers have one thing to worry about. . . . They couldn't include in Busby Berkeley's spectacular finale all the songs of ALL the colleges. . . . And in towns where there are two rival schools, says Los Angeles, what are they going to do to save the theaters?

Brian Donley one day jumped 18 feet for a fire scene of "In Old Chicago" and came up smiling. . . . But next day he had to jump six inches and land foot first on Don Ameche's face—and he twisted his knee. . . . Ameche must have a tough beard. . . . The picture is having more than its share of injury trouble.

ANY SPRAINED BACKS? CANTON, O. (AP)—Police are looking for a muscular man, or somebody with a sprained back, as the thief who stole 5,000 pounds of waste paper. William Bennett, the dealer who reported the theft, said that even at top prices the loot was worth no more than $15.

FOR THIRSTY LAWNES SPALDING, Neb. (AP)—The village board thought something ought to be done about the condition of lawns and gardens in this town. So the board voted to allow each customer 10,000 gallons of water free above the minimum charge during the hot weather.

Book A Day

By BRUCE CATTON

English justice may have its points, but conditions within some of its prisons are just as unsavory as those that flaunt man's inhumanity in other parts of the world, if James L. Phelan's "Museum" (Morrow; $2.50) has a background of fact.

Born Seumas Ua Faolain (cousin of Author Sean O'Faolain), Phelan was an Irish agitator who took part in the bloody Easter Rebellion, was twice sentenced to death, and spent 14 years in Dartmoor and Parkhurst prisons.

Since "Museum" chronicles the 15 wretched years that a lifer spent in "Bleakmore" and "Parkmoor" prisons to provide an authentic frame for his plot. In fact, "Museum" was written within prison walls, while the author was yet surrounded by the squalor and brutality of prison life, and the manuscript was smuggled outside the walls by friends.

In fortnight, vitriolic vein, Phelan describes how the mental and moral fiber of Arthur William Mansell, who enters Bleakmore hardly out of his teens, disintegrates during his "stretch." In a style that is descriptive and harsh, that at times seems like something out of "Ullysses," Phelan tries, and often succeeds, in imparting to the reader some of the convict's agony over his imprisonment.

In all, Phelan provides a stirring, vivid picture of the Gethsemane of a lifer. In his recollections of the brutal tyranny of moronic warders, of the equally vicious domination of hardened inmates, of degenerate cliques, Phelan paints a picture of English prison conditions that one long remembers. Here is fiction, but fiction so powerful that its characters never really die.—J. D.

So They Say

From what I observed in China, I believe this war will last as long as there is a man in China to bear arms.

WILLIAM BENTON, vice president of the University of Chicago, returning from the Orient.

She is the apple of my eye. If anything should happen to her I guess I'd die.

WALLACE BERRY, movie actor whose adopted daughter was threatened by kidnappers.

It was too perfect. We were so polite and considerate that we got on each other's nerves.

ELEANOR BAILEY, movie chorus girl, explaining plan for a divorce from Director Eddie Foy.

We play for keeps and if you git beat don't squawk. We won't have much time for squawkers.

Amarillo Banker, B. T. Ware, Dies

AMARILLO, Sept. 4 (AP)—B. T. Ware, president of the Amarillo National Bank and a resident of West Texas for 62 years, died at his home here Friday. His death followed a sudden attack of indigestion.

He was 83 years old. Mr. Ware came here from Brown County in 1889, first becoming known in this section as a merchant and ranch operator. He had moved to Texas from Georgia when he was 18 years old. He moved to Fort Worth in 1899 to oversee his ranching operations, but returned to Amarillo in 1900 to buy the Amarillo National Bank.

His sons, Charles, Arthur and Richard Ware, and his daughter, Mrs. Sam Vaughn, all are directors in the bank. His widow is the only other immediate relative surviving. Funeral services were held here today at 4 p. m.

BIOGRAPHY OF BEDBUG GIVES BITING FACTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP)—This is a book review of the government's newest publication—a biography of the bedbug.

Written by Maurice C. Hall, of the public health service, it traces the domestic prowler from early nights on a Roman couch to the twin bed era of 1937.

Americans—the author intimates—have been the only people to get anything from the parasite besides annoyance. Long ago it began to serve the United States as a source of jokes.

The Romans called it the clum and the English the wall louse and the chinch, but in the United States the biography explains, its common names are often facetious.

Here bedbugs won such names as chintzes, mahogany flats, red coats and crimson ramblers.

"Its presence in the household," the biography continues, "is not necessarily indicative of neglect or carelessness."

Then followed several passages that establish the author as a realist. He says, for instance, that the red ramblers of the bed chamber are carried in by guests.

And—"the bedbug is normally nocturnal, but under the impulse of hunger it will attack persons in daylight and in well-lighted rooms. And still more realistic."

"The biting organ consists of the heavy, fleshy underlip."

There is just one criticism. "The most effective method for control of bedbugs," he says, "is fumigation with hydrocyanic-acid gas."

Fumigate which, Mr. Hall, the room or the guests?

HARVESTER FOOTBALL SEASON WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 17 AT CHILDRESS

DISTRICT HAS NO FAVORITE FOR TITLE YET

By HARRY E. HOARE
Sports Editor, The News

The 1937 football season will be opened by the Pampa Harvesters on the night of Sept. 17 when they go to Childress for another tussle with the Bobcats, District 5 champions last year. On the same night, Cisco will be the opponent of the Borger Bulldogs who will be at home to Electric and the Plainview Bulldogs will go to Quanah. On the following afternoon the Amarillo Sandies will meet the powerful Clovis Wildcats on Butler field.

Thirty-three Harvesters have just returned from the Plainsview, Lake, Colo., where they spent two weeks in training and conditioning. Practice on Harvester field will continue each afternoon until opening game.

Coaches Oduis Mitchell and J. C. Prejean have not yet decided on their starting lineup. Most positions are still wide open and the closing arguments are not expected for at least a week. The mentors have little to say about their squad excepting that the boys are willing and learning fast.

For the first time in several years the district has no real favorite. The Amarillo Sandies, 1936 state champions, of course, have the inside track despite the loss of Coach Blair Cherry and the full starting lineup. Lubbock's Westerners are the mightiest team in the district, not paper, with the Plainsview Bulldogs the prospective dark horse. Then comes the Pampa Harvesters and Borger Bulldogs.

The Harvesters face a tough schedule of 10 games with a light green team. Only three members of last year's starting eleven return for another year and one of them, Captain J. W. Graham, little quarterback, passer and punter, may watch the games from the bench because of an injury received in the Borger game last year. Norman Cox, substitute end last year and a good prospect for this season, may also be missing because of a bad knee injury received in spring training.

Coaches Oduis Mitchell and J. C. Prejean will send a team to the wars with about the same weight as last season, 163 pounds, but with less experience. Come with Noblitt, all district center; the Jones boys, tackle; Showers, sensational passing and punting fullback; Enloe and Woodruff, small but mighty half and others.

Feature games in the district, as usual, will be the meeting of the Amarillo Sandies and Pampa Harvesters to be played at Pampa on Armistice Day, and the meeting of the Sandies and Lubbock Westerners in Amarillo Thanksgiving Day.

Lubbock will field several veterans including Webster, 10-second backfield man, and Babe Ritchie, giant tackle, around which Coach Weldon Chapman will build his eleven.

The Plainsview Bulldogs, with a new coach, will also have a flock of lettermen back and on top of that several prospective stars who were ineligible last season, which puts the Bulldogs in the front three.

Coach Howard Lynch at Amarillo will have a number of reserves and promising new material. His line will again be potent, although smaller than usual, with a smaller backfield. Looking back, it has always been the Lynch line that stood out for the Sandies and this season's looks like no exception.

Like the Harvesters, Borger's Bulldogs will be small. Coach Carl Mauldin, however, will have a few additional lettermen from which to select his starting eleven.

Sammy Baugh to Pass Fadeout Against Bears

Local Boy Makes Good

DALLAS, Sept. 4 (AP)—Raw-boned Samuel Adrian Baugh, the West Texas plainsman who came to college and pegged a football better than two miles, does his football fadeout before the homefolk Monday night.

Slingin' Sam wears the ivory of the College All-Stars against the professional Chicago Bears in a Cotton Bowl game advance ticket sales indicate will draw 35,000 spectators.

Baugh, the gent who settled one of his scoring pegs into All-America Gaynell Tinsley's arms for the touchdown that whipped the Green Bay Packers at Chicago Wednesday night, has hurled exactly 40 of those touchdown-labeled passes since he started as a varsity player at Texas Christian in '34.

Better than 600 times, the research department, reveals, he has loosed passes of varying lengths that picked up about 3,700 yards.

Coaches Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist won't change things tomorrow night. It will be Baugh's good right arm they'll trust against the Chicago pros.

Tinsley won't be there but the toughest collection of ends Meyer and Bell could locate will be available. Most familiar of all with Baugh's passing will be Walter Roach of Texas Christian, while others include Buck McCarr, North Carolina; Charles Caldwell, Mississippi State; Leo Deutch of Little St. Benedict's college, a star of the '36 East-West game; Joe O'Neill, Notre Dame; Bill Stages, Texas A. and M., and Charles Needham, Texas Christian.

It won't be all Baugh, however, for three backfields, all equipped with blocking, passing, running and kicking artists, will play. When Baugh isn't chucking, Ray (Buzz) Bulvid, Marquette's All-America halfback and the middle west's top hurler, will take over the chores.

Other backs include Art Guepe, Marquette's cooly broken field expert; Bud Wilkinson, Minnesota's giant blocker and defensive bulwark who starred in the Chicago game; Don Geyer and Steve Toth of Northwestern; Sam Agee of Vanderbilt; Al Loude, Missouri; Bob Finley, Southern Methodist; Roy Sheridan, Texas; and little Johnny Stovall, North Texas Teachers College will o'ne the wisp.

Minus Bronko Nagurski, who turned to professional wrestling, but still carrying scoring threats in Beattie Feathers, the old Tennessee dynamiter; Gene Rozani, Jack Manders and Sam Francis, the Nebraska All-American who just joined the Bruins, the salaried boys are expecting to turn loose a little aerial display of their own.

Red Michael, the capable looking gent above, will come back to the Pampa mat for the first time in three years Monday night to shake and break Buck Lipscomb in the semi-final bout. Michael has gained a reputation as a wrestler of good standing and as being plenty tough. In the main event Frank Wolff and John Nemanic will meet, and Uno Kiyoshi, Japanese grappler, and Bill Cazell, Indian mauler, will clash in the prelim.

COACH DOUGAL DRILLS BUFF GRID PLAYERS

CANYON, Sept. 4.—Football has been flying at Buffalo stadium for several days as West Texas State gridgers arrived and limbered up the thick turf, but Head Coach Al Baggett will give first attention to the boys Monday when the training season officially opens.

Coach Baggett and Line Coach Tony Dougal will "discover" the presence of one of the finest aggregations in local football history. Freshman Coach Bob Cox will take over the youngsters who arrive later.

The more than two dozen sun-tanned huskies who have arrived have been working a bit under the direction of Captain St. Marchbanks, the Childress boy who made such a fine start last season in two games only to be shelved by injuries. He has fully recovered and will lead down the center position. Of the nearly 40 players expected to be present by Monday, there will be 19 lettermen from the 1936 squad. Last year's starters who will be back will include Wood Dow of Littlefield, fullback; Tom Slack of Canyon, right halfback; Foster Watkins of Dumas, quarterback; F. A. Thomas of Canyon, left halfback; William Harp of Sherman, right tackle; Monroe Horton of Pampa, right guard; Oscar Hinger of Ende, N. M., right guard, and Craig Walling of Parwell, last year's tackle who is being moved to left end.

Year's Best Matchés In Store Monday Night

TRACK FANS TO GET TREAT AT CAR RACES HERE TODAY

Fans will be presented with one of the best wrestling cards of the season tomorrow night when Frank Wolff, John Nemanic, Red Michael, Buck Lipscomb, Bill Cazell, and Uno Kiyoshi, all top grapplers, will meet at the Pampa Athletic arena. Reserved seat tickets are on sale at Pampa Drug Store for 77 cents, general admission is 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. The arena is located one block south and four blocks east of the post office.

Most interesting feature of the evening will be the appearance of Red Michael, former Pampa youth, in the semi-final event with the Hooster Hotshot, Buck Lipscomb. Michael fought his first bout here several years ago as a high school student and since then has entered the mat profession in a big way. A personable, likeable chap, he is known as one of the toughest wrestlers in the game, combining ring technique with amazing speed. Red has been in town for a few days, and was told that Lipscomb was plenty mean. "Is he?" he asked. "Well, I can get rough, too, if it's necessary. I always let the other guy start it like he wants it, then I finish it." And in spite of the engaging grin on his face when he said it, those nearby believed every word of it. In all events, the match will be an exceptionally good one.

As Buck Lipscomb is himself the roughest to wrestle here this year. As an added attraction that fans have come to admire and enjoy, the usual referee, Ray Clemens of Lubbock, will be on hand at his post. Clemens has proved that he is not only on the square but also capable of handling bruisers, even though he is knocked out doing it.

The main event will be a thriller with Frank Wolff, ugly veteran, matched against John Nemanic. Wolff threw Tex Hager in eight minutes last Monday and is always out to beat his man in the shortest time possible. Nemanic, on the other hand, is much the same way as far as etiquette in the ring goes, and showed as much in his bout with Sheik Mar-Allah last week. This match will give fans more of the rearing and tearing they like so well.

The preliminary will be unusual in that representatives from two races other than the white will fight it out. Bill, "Indian Ike" Cazell, will meet Uno Kiyoshi of San Francisco. Both the Indian and the Japanese are lightning fast and possess good mat knowledge as well. All in all, the main, semi-final, and preliminary events are expected to even exceed last week's romp and stomp, which is going some. Matches begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock, and fans are promised a good evening.

Guests of Manager Cliff Chambers for the bouts will be members in good standing of Boy Scout troop 80. Mr. Chambers is beginning a series of free nights for Boy Scouts in Pampa who regularly attend meetings and who attend the meeting held the week before the free matches. The troop will not know until after their meeting that they are the troop who will be guests of Chambers for the coming bouts. In that way, the generous offer by the manager of the arena will aid in increasing regular attendance for the Scouts. Scouts of troop 80 were notified after meeting Thursday night that those present would be admitted to the matches free of charge. Guests for next week will be announced after the chosen group has held their session.

Skeet Tourney Champ Hits 248

DETROIT, Sept. 4 (AP)—Odis Walding, 88-year-old Los Angeles dry cleaning plant operator, today won the premier title of American skeet shooting—the 250-largest all-gauge championship.

Walding finished with 50 straight to snuff out the chances of four gunners who were right on his heels. He broke 248 out of 250 targets in the three-day event.

Tied for second place, a target behind Walding, were Frank Kelly, West Orange, N. J., the new 20-gauge champion; Bobby Stack, Los Angeles, 20-gauge winner a year ago, and two gunners new to big time skeet—Dave Sklar, Brooklyn, N. Y., and P. J. Osterbeck, Saginaw, Mich. Each broke 50 straight today in a vain effort to overtake Walding.

In a shoot off Stack won second place, with Osterbeck third, Sklar fourth, and Kelly fifth.

The Los Angeles Kerr team finished two shots back.

Market Briets

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (AP)—Financial markets merely dozed today and price changes in virtually all departments were unimportant.

Stocks limped ahead with a few steels, rails and specialties getting up a point or so. Many issues were at a standstill and moderate losses were plentiful at the close.

Transfers of 229,359 shares were the smallest for any day since June 19. The turnover of about 2,000,000 in bonds established a low mark for the past seven years or longer. Prices in the loans divisions were uneven.

SOONER GIVES GERMAN STAR HARD BATTLE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)

—They threw two American youngsters to the foreign lions of the men's national singles championships today, and the lion found them hard to digest.

While form held true through the third afternoon of competition that saw lower half brackets filled in by the highest ranking overseas threats for the title Don Budge hopes to add to his collection stubbed their toes severely.

One was Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, Budge's chief rival for the crown and his only rival for the honor of being the world's best amateur. The other was Charles Edgar Hare, southpaw slugger from England.

They, together with Fumituru Nakano of Japan and three of the four seeded Americans who saw action came out on top, but not until a stadium crowd that varied between 5,000 and 8,000 spectators had been thrilled by the game stands of their unseeded rivals.

Von Cramm had to go four sets to subdue Don McNeill, brilliant young Kenyon college student from Oklahoma City, 6-2, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4. Hare rallied beautifully to put out Henry Grulley, Californian known chiefly for his doubles skill, 4-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-0.

Bobby Riggs, Blitsy Grant and Hal Surface, Americans seeded second, fourth and sixth, gained 19 round berths while seventh-seeded John McDiarmid, Princeton University professor, leading Merimont Cunningham of Nashville, Tenn., at 3-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, 5-1, was forced to default at that period. He had received word that his father was gravely ill in Chicago.

Riggs and Grant advanced with ease into fourth round pairings with Nakano and Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, respectively. The little Los Angeles youngster scored at 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, over William Robertson, a fellow townsman, while Grant eliminated Chauncey D. Steele, Jr., of New York, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Surface, who had drawn a first round bye and a second round default, got another of the latter in his match with Bob Kamrath of Austin, Tex., when they adjourned to the clubhouse with Surface leading at 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. Kamrath was on the verge of a collapse and on the urgent advice of a physician, defaulted.

Nakano, sixth and lowest ranking survivor of an original foreign seeded list of ten, had his hands full with Charles E. Swanson, Pawtucket, R. I., but won, at last, by 10-8, 4-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

40,000 BARRELS OIL FLOAT DOWN STREAMS

GLADEWATER, Sept. 4 (AP)—Approximately 40,000 barrels of oil floated down the Sabine river today when a dam restraining the fluid burst and allowed it to rush into the Glade creek, Sabine tributary, about a mile and a half from Gladewater.

Residents feared inflammation of the oil, with a possible serious loss of property.

Fishermen said thousands of fish were killed.

Fifty thousand barrels of oil had been confiscated by the state from the Culver Refining company. Last Saturday the pit broke and about 40,000 barrels went into Glade creek.

H. D. Club Cooks Main Dish Meals

Mrs. Skaggs, home industry demonstrator, combined meat and vegetables, making a shepherd's pie, stuffed onions, fixed a casserole of spinach, and a casserole of vegetables. These were served with a gelatin salad, ice cream and cookies at a buffet luncheon.

In the business meeting Mrs. Norman Wallberg, president, announced that the next meeting, Sept. 20, would be in her home, at which time Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county home demonstration agent, will give a demonstration on salads.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
The Rev. Will C. House, pastor of the First Methodist church, who recently returned from his vacation, will speak at 8 o'clock this evening on the subject "Open Road—Go Ahead." Many lessons may be learned from the highways and from traveling. Some of these things will be pointed out in Rev. House's message.

This will be especially appropriate in view of the opening of our city schools and the beginning of the fall program of the church.

At 11 o'clock service young men and women who have been attending college and those who will soon leave for the first time will be honored guests. At this service the pastor's sermon subject will be "How Big Is Your Earth?"

The church extends a cordial invitation to all members and friends.

Gadgety Trimming Bows to Simplicity

Slim below the waistline, draped and shirred above, here are two frocks for luncheon, afternoon bridge or tea and informal dinner. The black silk model (left) has self ruffles from shoulders to cuffs, a flowing sash and subtle drapery on sleeves and across the chest. Worn with a black felt hat, faced with pleated silk jersey, and chunky gold jewelry. The other (right), of forest green silk, empresses the molded waistline and draped bosom. The beret is of apricot velvet.

Men Dislike Over-Dressing

NEW YORK—They don't like it, and they detest our hats. Our voices annoy them, and they think we never have learned to use perfume intelligently.

They dislike the way we run like sheep after each new clothes fad, and every last male of them despises our frills, our ruffles, our bows, our scarlet nail polish. All except the fat ones (who care what they think anyway?) hate reducing diet conversations, and all except those over sixty object to kittenish manners, baby talk and simpering.

These, my fellow sufferers, are just a few of the charming little answers I got when I asked discerning males about town, "What do you dislike about women?"

To a man they shout loudly against the vogue for dead white faces and scarlet lips. If this leads you to think that they go overboard in favor of rouge and all you have to do to stand in is use a little on your cheeks, you have another think coming. They like rouge, but they don't like the way we put it on. And they are as dead set against lavish use of the stuff as against the idea of discarding it entirely.

Mascara leaves them quite cold. They wish they could pass a law against eyebrow tweezing. See how bitter are they on the subject of false eyelashes that several wouldn't answer—just grieve!

Why Men Leave Restaurants
A few of the kindlier kept their heads and tried to explain that, from a masculine point of view, over-dressing is as bad as under-dressing. They can't stand a woman who shows up for lunch dripping with silver fox, wearing jewels, perfume and a decidedly formal afternoon hat, but neither can they stand one who breezes in in a sweater and skirt and flat-heeled shoes. They are embarrassed, therefore, annoyed, by anything (except natural beauty) which draws all eyes to their table. They don't want to be stared at by other eaters, they don't.

Which brings us right up to squeaky and rasping voices that can be heard over the orchestra and which are all attention-getting, too. The majority would have most of us take voice lessons, learn to modulate.

Once they got our voices toned down or softened or something, they would have us use them less. Yes, we talk too much, the boys say. They advocate a course in how to listen intelligently. And, to them, an intelligent listener is one who doesn't watch for a chance to take personally every remark in a general conversation.

Duchesses Under the Skin
"Why," said a lawyer, "it's impossible to discuss British royalty without some woman in the group telling her long-suffering husband that she's sure he doesn't love her as much as the Duke loves Wallis Warfield."

"Just make a simple remark about the effect weather has on people's dispositions and, sure as you're born, some female will tell you, all about HER temperament, rain or shine."

Another, said another, "I've heard of an artist thinks modes and manners of motion picture stars and other celebrities have a pernicious influence on modern women, especially younger ones who are slightly stage struck."

"Why will your short, plump sisters affect Garbo haircuts? Full, skinny ones try to get themselves up in copies of Jean Harlow's clothes? And what's the idea of all and sundry trying to look like Wallis Warfield? My main kick is against the ones who refuse to be themselves."

Waves Make Him Sick
An executive, sitting behind a huge, glass-top desk in a skyscraper office, objects to hair which looks as if it hadn't been combed since the hairdresser worked on it.

"I'd rather have my secretary ask for time off to go to a beauty shop than to dash out on her lunch hour, get a quickie, then run back with her head covered with cork-wire curls and waves that appear to be stuck down with muckilage."

Gossamer sheer stockings for business are anathema to another executive.

Miss Wilbur and Russell Carver Wed in Evening

CANADIAN, Sept. 5—Miss Virginia Ray Wilbur, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Wilbur, Sr., and Russell Earl Carver, youngest son of Mr. L. E. Brown, were married at eight o'clock Friday night, August 27, at the First Baptist church.

The Rev. W. A. Pite read the impressive service before an altar of palms, ferns, tall standards holding lighted tapers, and floor baskets of white gladioli.

As the guests assembled, Miss Helen Helton played "Evening Star." Earl Lee Wilbur played "I Love You Truly" on his cornet, and Herbert Hext sang, "O Promise Me."

Mrs. Mildred Caldwell and Mrs. J. E. Ward lighted the tapers. The professional was from Wagner's Lohengrin and the recessional was from Mendelssohn's Bridal Chorus.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of shimmered white lace over white satin, basque style. The finger tip veil was edged with lace and fell from a halo effect lace cap. Her Colonial bouquet was white bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's attendants wore floor length frocks of marquisette over satin and carried Colonial bouquets in harmonizing shades. Mrs. Harry Wilbur Jr., matron of honor, was in aqua; Dr. Marjorie Snyder, maid of honor, blue and pink; Miss Franchele Woody of Augusta, Ark., orchid; Miss Dorothy Arthur of Mexico, Mo., yellow; Mrs. Fred Miller, grey, and Mrs. Austin Caldwell, pink and blue. Little Lashlyn Gail Webb, ring bearer, was in blue organdy. Miss Helen Helton wore blue organdy.

The groom's suit was white linen. George Carver, best man and brother of the groom, wore a dark coat, white trousers and white boutonniere as did the ushers: Harry S. Wilbur, Jr., Earl Lee Wilbur, Fred Miller, J. E. Ward and Malouf Abraham.

Mrs. Wilbur, mother of the bride, wore blue lace cloth, and Mrs. L. E. Brown, mother of the groom, black sheer crepe. Each wore a corsage.

The bride's going away ensemble was of black with matching accessories. The couple left for a brief trip to New Mexico, following the reception.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Carver are graduates of Canadian high school. She has attended Christian College, Columbia, Mo., and has a B. A. degree from the University of Missouri, and is a Pi Beta Phi of Alpha Mu chapter. He attended Houston University and is associated with the Continental Oil Company.

Farewell Party Given By Virginia Ann Butler

Guests at the party were Nicky Fraser, Bobby Damon, Ann Damon, Margie Dixon, John Priest, Gene Sidwell, Ann Sidwell, Helen Ann Kiser, Patty McDonald, Kitty O'Keefe, Carroll Culberson, Jo Glaxner, Roy Ann Cullum of Amarillo, and the honoree.

Glorifying Yourself

The woman who eliminates all forms of exercise as soon as she puts on her first fall dress is almost certain to have figure problems before November. You simply cannot suddenly stop walking, playing golf or tennis or whatever sport you indulged in frequently during summer months and expect your figure to remain lean and trim all winter.

The ensemble procedure is to keep up the daily walk, refusing to allow yourself to acquire the street car or taxi habit. Step along briskly—head up, chest high, legs swinging from hips instead of knees. Wear comfortable shoes with walking height heels. And smile, or at least look pleasant.

If you do not have access to indoor tennis or badminton courts or to a swimming pool, plan a few daily exercises to ward off winter rolls and bulges. Last winter, a smart young school teacher who, goodness knows, has a minimum of free time, did a daily ten-minute routine which kept her stomach slim and reduced her hip dimensions one inch before Easter.

When she got up in the morning, she stretched. Really stretched, swinging arms this way and that, bending forward and back, pulling her lazy waistline up, up, up! A simple rolling exercise followed. Holding shoulders flat on the floor with ankles together, knees bent very slightly and arms outstretched, she rolled away the excess weight on her thighs and hips.

You probably will be less interested in salads, vegetable plates and steamed fruits in October than you were in August.

However, don't eliminate them entirely from your diet. Keep on with light breakfasts, salad and fruit luncheons. Eat anything you like for dinner, but don't substitute a second helping of potatoes and rich gravy or an extra slice of bread for your salad.

Madman's Island

BY NARD JONES

Copyright 1937 NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER IX

The man who had taken command of the "Chinook" walked slowly around the chart table and stood beside Kay Dearborn. Fearfully she turned to look at him.

It was indeed a strange and frightening specimen of humanity which she saw. The man was thin almost to the point of emaciation, but it was a condition arising, obviously, from torture of the soul or mind rather than from a disease or deprivation of the body. His outing clothes were good ones, but either they had belonged to someone else or were purchased where he was heavier than now. They literally hung from his frame, and this effect was heightened because they were soaked from his swim to the cruiser.

Time and place, Kay would have regarded him as a ludicrous figure. But now there was something terrible and frightening about him.

Then Kay looked at his eyes, and in an awful, deathly flash realized that the man was mad. Coolly and quietly—and therefore dangerous—mad. "I wonder when he will kill me?" Kay thought dazedly. "I wonder when it will happen to me just as it did to that woman in the cabin?"

With an effort she brought herself to speak. "Where do you want me to take you?" she asked, keeping her voice as steady as she could. "Take you?" he repeated. "My dear, we are both going." He smiled, showing a row of even white teeth. "To the other side of the island, if you please."

She could have cried out for joy. At least she was to have a fighting chance to see Melita and Priscilla again.

"I'm afraid I don't understand you," Kay answered. "You could have walked to the other side of the island. Why did you need to interrupt the cruise my friends and I were having? We were ready to leave and not bother you any more."

"Indeed? My impression was that you might have been quite a bother. Is it your habit to enter every cabin you see?"

Kay's heart jumped. Did he refer only to their visit today, when the cabin was empty? Or was he aware, too, of their visit during the night? She decided to play safe and assume nothing.

"We wanted only to enquire about Laramore Island," she said.

The man chuckled. "This is a good many miles to the south."

"When I've taken you to the other side of the island, will you let me find my friends and resume our cruise?"

"Why should either of us be in a hurry about that?" the man enquired with a shrug. "This is a very pleasant place. Much pleasanter, for instance, than Laramore Island. And you, sometimes one learns too much."

"I don't know what you're talking about."

"But I cannot be sure of that." He looked from the pilot house window. "We are coming to the north end of the island. Be ready to follow the shoreline around. But I hardly need to tell you, do I? You made a circle of the island last night."

Kay's heart sank. Quite evidently he knew of most, if not all, of their movements since dropping anchor in this unfortunate spot. He either knew, or strongly suspected, that they believed him to be a murderer. And now he would have no intention that they leave the island with the information.

"The following half hour seemed like a year to Kay Dearborn, and forever after she was to recall it as a fiendish nightmare. Standing at the wheel, piloting the "Chinook" according to the whims of a fanatic, she knew that any moment he might decide to be rid of her. But this was less frightening than the thought of the nameless dreads he could be planning for the future, and which might well include Priscilla and Melita as well.

At last the cruiser reached the far side of the island. The man kept casting curious glances to the shore, but he was always careful to return his gaze quickly to the girl. He crowded back against the pilot house windows, so that the revolver would be well beyond her reach.

"Here we are," he said. "Stop the boat. I'll put down the anchor." With surprising agility he went forward to secure the "Chinook" while Kay followed his order. "Now," he said, "we'll go ashore, if you don't mind."

"Perhaps you've forgotten that the boat doesn't carry a dinghy now."

"No... I remember quite well. I'm sure you won't mind getting wet again. You swim so beautifully." He made an outward gesture with the revolver. "You go first. I'll be following." "There was nothing else to do," Kay poised at the rail, cut the water in a deep dive. As she reached the surface she fully expected the swift pain of a bullet. But the man was letting himself into the water feet first, holding the revolver carefully above his head.

Kay struck out easily, her heart pounding much faster than her arms and legs. She knew that she could far outdistance her enemy. Over her shoulder she saw he was surprisingly powerful in the water, hampered though he was by clothes and the regard for the weapon. Gradually, with the craftiness of desperation, she began to increase her speed. Soon she was far ahead, knew that in a moment she would be able to touch bottom with her sneakers.

Even when she reached the shelf of shore she kept low in the water. Then, more certain of her footing, she upraised swiftly and splashed up the beach as fast as her legs would carry her. In her anxiety to reach the wood she scarcely heard his angry yell.

Just as Kay reached the cover of trees and brush she heard a shot. Then another. The second brought a sickening whine quite close—but she was not hit. Madly she ran, heedless of the briars, unmindful of the sharp boughs which cut into her arms and clutched at her face. Not until she was forced to slow down from sheer exhaustion did she look around.

There was no sound and no motion from the stretch of wood behind her. Heartened, Kay ran on, anxious to put as much distance as humanly possible between herself and her curious enemy. When she was certain she had momentarily eluded him, she slowed to a steady walk. It was only then that she realized how blindly she'd fought through the thick tangle. A cheek was bleeding; her arms and hands were a pattern of deep cuts and bruises. Her denim slacks had protected her legs somewhat, but her light sneakers were shreds of cloth and rubber.

She encountered the other shoreline, almost completely exhausted. There she began searching for sight of the damaged dinghy, hoping Melita and Priscilla would be somewhere near it. She could not be sure in which direction it lay, and she knew she must find it before she was recaptured. A mile-long weary trek in one direction proved fruitless, and Kay decided that the dinghy and the fateful cabin must be behind her. Wearily reboobling on her trail, she kept up her search.

But night was fast descending now, and Kay faced the double horror of a strange darkness and the reappearance of the island's menacing inhabitant.

SQUIRES NAMED HEAD OF FOREIGN WAR VETS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Scott P. Squires, of Oklahoma City, was elected commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Friday.

The veterans voted to hold their next national convention in Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Laurie Schertle of Oakland, Calif., was elected national president of the Ladies Auxiliary. The veterans voted today to ask the government to train America's 300,000 civilian conservation corps boys for national defense in the event of emergency.

They also voted in favor of the "prompt building up of the U. S. air force to a point where it will be second to that of no nation."

Today's action followed close on

19 GOATS JUMP TO DEATH IN BIG BEND

MARATHON, Sept. 4 (AP)—Nineteen domestic goats, stampeded by a black bear, hurtled 3,000 feet to death from a cliff on the south rim of the Chisos mountains, national park service offices were informed today.

The canyon where the goats jumped to death is on the Rio Grande in the proposed Big Bend national park.

More women are arrested for thefts every year than men in the United States.

NEW YORK (P)—Camels are so useful in the arid areas of Australia that the Commonwealth government keeps its own breeding and training stations for these beasts, says Albert Richard Wetjen, the explorer.
Camel patrols maintain the two greatest fences in the world—one that bars the jackrabbits from entering the great wheat belt of Western Australia, the other erected against wild dogs and rabbits along the border of New South Wales and South Australia.
As early as 1860, camels were used in the Australian interior by explorers. They were imported from India.

RUSK, Sept. 4 (AP)—To think you have a bank account and discover you have not is a common experience, but L. M. Smith, Rusk farmer, had an account and did not know it.
In September, 1925, a tenant deposited $52.26 in rent money due Smith in the wrong bank. The shortage of rent was not discovered until the other day, when Smith learned of the deposit. He said it came just in time to meet a hospital bill and a land bank payment.

13 Locations Staked In Plains Field During Week

DRILLING IN PROVEN AREAS STILL BRISK

Drilling in the Panhandle is still brisk although the slackening period has apparently arrived. New locations last week numbered 13 with the previous week registering one less. The number was greatly reduced from mid-summer reports when from 25 to 35 new locations were staked each week.

Gray county showed a decided let-down in new locations last week with only two being reported. Hutchinson county was active with seven, followed by Wheeler with three. The other test was in Carson county.

All locations were made in proven territory. Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., Phillips Petroleum Co., and Hal H. Vaughan led the list with three locations each. The Vaughan wells will be drilled on the Kristina Pakan land in the Wheeler county gas area. Phillips staked three wells in Hutchinson county with Stanolind making two in Hutchinson and one in Gray.

PIONEERS WILL GREATLY ENJOY PICNIC MONDAY

The old-timers are the ones who will likely really appreciate the kind of get-together that will be held Labor Day three miles east of LeFors on the Saunders ranch. It will recall old-time memories before people forgot what being a neighbor meant. Old-timers are often referred to as the spirit of the great Panhandle country, and it is often said that it was through their courage and fortitude to stay when everything was against them that made this country what it is today.

The pioneers were famous as good neighbors, and this picnic is being held with one purpose in view, to revive the spirit of good-will and neighborliness between towns and cities, and the people who live near them to you, according to the sponsors.

Some of the features of the day for the old-timers are, old-timers reunions, old family reunions, old-time fiddlers' contest, husband calling contest, bicycle race for boys and girls over 50 years of age, and to finish, an old-time dance starting at 8 p. m.

The hosts and hostesses all over the Panhandle have assured the committee in charge that they will all be there with their crowd.

The old-timers will come from as far away as Dalhart, Clovis, N. M., and other distant points. Others will be here from towns closer to Pampa, Mobeetie, Canadian, Alanreed, Wheeler, Borger, Clarendon, and Amarillo. All will be represented by old-timers.

The list of hosts and hostesses and callers for the old-time square dance that night is as follows: A. A. Temann, Mrs. H. H. Heiskell, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, Mrs. Katie Vincent, Mrs. Claude Ledrick, Mrs. Lee Ledrick, Mrs. I. S. Jamison, Mrs. A. C. Husted, Mrs. Lillian Treese, Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Barry G. ## BEER DEALERS HERE WARNED BY INSPECTOR

Retail beer dealers in Gray county were warned today by Inspector Earl S. Carter, of the Texas Liquor Control Board, that they must comply with news rules recently adopted by the state to determine the hours during which they can sell beer without obtaining a supplementary license.

Inspector Carter explained that dealers who sell other articles must keep a record of food and beer sales between the hours of 12 midnight and 7 a. m. on week days and between Saturday midnight and 7 a. m. Monday to determine their eligibility.

If beer sales are not in excess of the sale of other articles for human consumption, between the specified hours, then the dealer cannot sell beer after midnight during weekdays nor on Sunday.

"The burden of the proof will be upon the dealers," Inspector Carter said, "to show facts, to the county court, in order to obtain a supplementary license for beer sales after midnight and on Sundays."

The liquor inspector also stated that these figures must be compiled for any one week in the period before Oct. 1, when the law becomes effective. False statements, he added, will place the violator in line for prosecution.

DEEP DRILLING NECESSARY IN 1937 PROGRAM

HOUSTON, Sept. 4—The oil consuming public, as well as the industry that supplies the oil, is affected by the fact that deeper drilling is being found necessary, according to an article in the August 30 issue of The Oil Weekly. In the never-ceasing search for new oil fields and new pay zones to take the place of those being depleted, the oil industry is obliged to drill deeper and deeper.

This year, is bringing a continuation of the steady increase in the average depth of new wells completed in the United States, and the average depth reached in the first seven months of 1937 is the greatest in the history of the industry.

Averaging 3225 feet in depth, this year's new wells have been considerably deeper than those of last year, when the average depth was 3055 feet. In 1935 the average was 2965 feet per well.

The 3225 foot average for the first seven months of 1937 is based on a compilation by The Oil Weekly showing that 15,917 wells were completed in the period, and that those 15,917 had a combined depth of 51,331,357 feet.

The interest of the public lies in the fact that this trend emphasizes the United States slowly but surely is moving toward a time when crude oil will be less plentiful and more expensive to obtain. The trend toward deeper drilling indicates that the country has been fairly well combined for shallow fields; that the new fields appearing in the picture are predominantly deeper than older fields; that the best chance for finding new fields and new pay zones lies in deeper drilling. Since it is increasingly difficult to find and produce oil, the public is justified in wanting reasonable conservation of present supplies, for both national defense in time of war and peacetime use.

The Louisiana Gulf Coast continues the outstanding deep drilling district, having averaged this year 6283 feet per well in the drilling of 265 wells. The district has the two deepest fields in the world: the La-rette field, Terrebonne parish, producing from 11,630 feet, and the Horseshoe Bayou field, St. Mary parish, yielding oil from 10,873 feet.

The Texas Gulf coast district ranks second in deep drilling, North Louisiana third, and California fourth.

LANDLORDS RESENT CHINATOWN'S 'PODII'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—American owners of a building in Chinatown charge that the local Chinese custom of "podii" has caused two long-standing store vacancies.

Asking a $5,000 out in tax valuation because of this situation, Robert Troy, building manager, described podii as "a pernicious form of blackmail used by the Chinese in San Francisco and nowhere else in the world."

Troy calls it a boycott on property. When a building tenant has failed in business, his creditors sometimes attach his debts to the property instead of the individual, he explained. Written notices are posted and other Chinese business men will not occupy the place for fear of reprisals.

"The landlord is sooner or later approached with the suggestion he make a settlement and his property would immediately rent again," Troy said.

BETHEDA, Md. (AP)—After all these years the state of Maryland has decided that the holder of a driving permit should know how to park his car.

And behold the new gadget the motor vehicle department's examiners are carting around with them: The thing looks very much like a plumber's nightmare, with a lot of elbow joints. Set up along a curb, the gadget marks off a parking area a little longer than the average automobile.

The trick of the examiner is to tell the applicant for a license to park his car within the bounds of the iron frame.

It sounds easy, but 20 applicants missed the target in one day, and failed to get a driver's license.

TOWN TO HAVE "CLOSED SHOP" ON LABOR DAY

The merchants and business professional men of Pampa will close their places of business to allow their employees to attend the community picnic to be held on the Saunders Ranch three miles east of LeFors Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 6.

Other towns are closing in honor of this good-will gesture, and their residents have indicated they will be there en masse.

The great oil field around Pampa will be virtually closed. A letter from J. R. Posey, district superintendent of the Magnolia Petroleum company, stated everyone will realize that the oil field is really interested in this picnic.

Mr. Posey's letter follows: "To the American Legion, Pampa, Texas. Dear Sirs: This will acknowledge receipt of your recent letter with reference to Labor Day picnic, for which we wish to thank you."

"Inasmuch as Labor Day has, for several years, been designated as a holiday by our company, all our Producing department employees, with the exception of a very few engaged in continuous operations and possible emergency work that might arise, will be off on that day."

"The idea of having headquarters for each company's men seems to be a good one and we shall try to have someone on the grounds before the start of the picnic to arrange for our location."

"The picnic has been well advertised within our organization and we feel sure we shall be well represented."

Nearly all of the other oil companies have fallen into line, and Mr. Posey expresses their sentiments.
