Miss Martin, a boarding house proprietor, told police she feared Daley, a roomer, would attack her. "I had retired for the night when I saw Mr. Daley in my room approaching my bed," she said. "Having had previous trouble with him, I got my pistol and fired three shots."

Daley was a carpenter. His widow and a son were visiting in Oklahoma.

Pampa Women Made Officers At Legion Meet

The election of new officers of the Pampa and Forty, women's auxiliary to the Forty and Eight, secret organization within the American Legion, was held yesterday at the state convention in Port Arthur, brought the Pampa women a double triumph.

Mrs. W. C. de Cordova, president of the organization, was elected second vice-president; and Mrs. Willard E. Taylor was made state chaplain.

Other officers of the women's secret organization were: Chapeau department, or state president, Mrs. J. H. Davenport of Fort Worth; vice-president, Mrs. J. H. Pegues of Amarillo; mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. J. E. Duns of Dallas; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. J. B. Nogle of Houston; historian, Mrs. Florence Klein of El Paso.

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Aug. 28. (P)—Pleasure-weary Legionnaires bestirred themselves today to write fairs to a typically rollicking American Legion convention.

Principal business of the day was that to which the delegates had been looking forward ever since the start of the convalescence, the election of a new state commander. Ben Dean of Breckenridge, Colonel W. E. Easterwood, Jr., of Dallas and Ernest C. Cox of Corsicana were candidates and some delegates pushed forward a dark horse.

El Paso, Corpus Christi, Austin and Waco sought the next convention. Last night was the show night of the convention, and Port Arthur residents were compensated for the loss of sleep which had been occasioned by the noisy crowd of visitors. The annual Legion parade and a sham battle followed in quick succession. About 1,000 persons witnessed the two events.

J. E. Murfee and Co., Announce a Change in Firm

Reorganization of J. E. Murfee and company under the name of "Murfee's Incorporated", with an authorized capital of $100,000, was announced today by J. E. Murfee, Jr.

Officers and stockholders of the new corporation will be: President, F. E. Lowther of Wichita Falls; vice president, F. B. Eiseman of St. Louis; and secretary-treasurer, J. E. Murfee. Mr. Murfee, who is retaining an interest in the business, will continue to be actively engaged in the management.

Mr. Lowther formerly was associated with the Saul's stores, incorporated, of Wichita Falls.

Before transferring the department store to the corporation, Mr. and Mrs. Murfee had been in the dry goods business in Pampa for fourteen years. Mrs. Murfee was associated with her husband in the management.

The same progressive policy followed by J. E. Murfee and Company will predominate in the new management. It was announced by Mr. Murfee and other officers of the corporation.

"The added capital will enable the corporation to increase the store's buying power and give greater buying power to the public," Mr. Murfee said. "Mrs. Murfee and I are anxious to meet our old customers and friends at the same store, and we wish to assure the public of the same courteous treatment in the future it has found here in the past."

Yeggmen Escape After Comfort Safe Is Blown

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 28. (P)—Realizing the negotiable paper could not benefit them without causing their downfall, safe crackers who took between $30,000 and $40,000 in notes from the B. Holokamp and Son Store at Comfort, near here, last night, discarded the loot.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 28. (P)—Yeggmen got between $30,000 and $40,000 worth of negotiable notes from the safe of B. Holokamp and son at Comfort, about 50 miles north of here, last night.

The safe was blown open with nitroglycerine, according to Sheriff Edward Bierschwald of Boerne, who notified San Antonio police. Entrance to the store was through a rear door.

No one heard the explosion, and the robbery was not discovered until clerks opened the store today.

San Antonio officers left for Comfort. The notes were found behind the safe, which had been blown open with nitroglycerine without awakening a single person in the little mountain town.

The job was not discovered until clerks opened the store this morning. Finger print experts and San Antonio detectives who went to the scene of the robbery could not find any clues.

FUNERAL SERVICES ARE POSTPONED TO TOMORROW

Funeral services for Lloyd Henry Schwendener, local abstractor who died Saturday in a heart attack, planned originally for 1 o'clock this afternoon, were postponed until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon because his mother and a brother had not arrived this morning from Los Angeles, Calif.

The Rev. D. H. Truhitte, pastor of the First Baptist church, will conduct the last rites at the Schwendener home, 424 North Hallard street. Burial arrangements will await the arrival of the late Mr. Schwendener's mother.

Buffalo, N. Y., is to have the first extensive municipally owned seaplane port.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 28. (P)—Thousands of spectators at the national air races turned from the fleet craft of army, navy and derby racers to the larger liners of the skies today as the courses of the two great dirigibles, Graf Zeppelin and Los Angeles, converged above Cleveland airport.

The Los Angeles, largest of the United States navy's fleet of lighter-than-air craft, was ordered from the base at Lakehurst, N. J., for arrival here in mid-afternoon. The Graf Zeppelin, beating its way eastward on the fourth and last lap of a flight around the world, was awaited some time later.

A stub-mast erected under the direction of navy fliers has been built for mooring the Los Angeles at the airport overnight. The Graf, flying on the end of the cruise at Lakehurst, will await the return of the Los Angeles there tomorrow, when orders of navy officers call for the ship's return.

A reception outdoing any yet seen at the races was planned for the arrival of the two giant craft. Airplanes of navy detachments which have maneuvered and stunted through the course of three days, as well as bombers, pursuit ships and scout planes of army air forces here for the races, combined for a greeting to the Los Angeles, with smaller blimps of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, four of them appearing here during the events.

Their preparations for the Graf went further still. All were joined for the celebration, their greetings augmented by plans for a municipal demonstration and an exchange of greetings between air race officials and Commander Hugo Eckener, directing the flight of the Graf.

The event broke into a schedule of races for the day which included arrival of two cross-country derbies, a number of closed course events, glider contests, a sham battle by army pursuit squadrons, and national parachute jumping contests.

Another derby, non-stop dash from Los Angeles, figured in the day's program inasmuch as but one pilot, Lee Schoenhair, has made the flight. Entrants may leave when they wish. Two pilots had signified their intentions of leaving tonight.

The two cross-country derbies ending here today were the Philadelphia race and that from Oakland, Calif.

Traffic Manager Unable to Attend Meeting Tomorrow

Philip Shumway, traffic manager of the Braniff Air Lines, has telegraphed the board of city development that an "unexpected emergency" will prevent him from speaking at the weekly meeting of the Lions Club tomorrow. Mr. Shumway was to discuss the possibility of establishing regular passenger plane service between Pampa and Oklahoma City. Passenger planes now stop here only on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Requests for tickets are received daily at the Chamber of Commerce.

Oklahoma Well On Rampage Making 400 Barrels Hour

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 28. (P)—Producing as much as 500 barrels an hour while on its rampage, Sinclair Oil and Gas No. 1 Stamper, in NE SW NW 30-11-2 W, in the South Oklahoma City pool, was holding an average of 400 barrels today. It put 9,605 barrels of oil in the tanks during the last 24 hours. Considerable oil was lost because of insufficient tankage. Flow of the well, previously a light producer, was increased when the hole was deepened to 6,656 feet.

Shell Petroleum's Number 1 Petty, in NWC NE 30-11-2 W which blew in late Monday, was flowing an estimated 350 barrels an hour today and was flooding the pipe lines. Late last night oil was turned on the ground because of lack of tankage.

The bugle call "Retreat" of the United States army is known to have been used by the Crusaders.

Preparation Made To Receive Giant Graf Zeppelin

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 28. (P)—Personnel of the naval air station to whom the coming and going of dirigibles is a matter of almost daily routine made the usual preparations today for the reception of the round-the-world air liner Graf Zeppelin.

The well-trained ground crew of 380 bluejackets and marines augmented by fifty sailors from the Philadelphia navy yard was ready under command of Lieutenant S. E. Peck, station mooring officer.

Plenty of hydrogen, the lift gas used by the airship, was ready for the inflation of the slack cells. A quantity of gaseous fuel also was on hand at the station. Hydrogen is made here at the navy plant.

The spacious navy hangar, largest single span structure in the world was clear of the dirigible Los Angeles, which left last night for Cleveland in connection with the air races there. The 200 foot blimps J-3 and J-4, ordinarily tucked away under the tail of the Los Angeles were moved to the north side of the hangar.

The Los Angeles was not expected back before Friday morning, and the task of the ground crew in towing the Graf Zeppelin into its berth will be much easier than usual.

Rodeo Time Is Here

Here's Herb Munday obeying thousands of spectators at the Old Frontier Days Cheyenne Why., as they yell, "Ride 'em Cowboy." This bronc pitched and bucked till it fell but Herb stuck on. He will be one of the feature riders here for the Second Annual American Legion Rodeo, Aug. 30-Sept. 2. For a few days here the rodeo will bring Pampans the thrills and romance of the Old West.

Thieves Get About $2,400 in Robbery At Quaker Rooms

The Quaker rooms on South Cuyler street was robbed of about $2,400 by sneak thieves last night, according to a report Murf Smith, owner and manager, made to the police.

Smith told county and city officers that the money was in a trunk the lock of which was prized open and the cash taken. This morning, officers are looking for a party who Smith claims took the money he says was stolen. No arrests have been made yet.

The Quaker rooms are located above the Quaker drug store in the first block across the railway tracks. The theft was committed in an office room several doors from Smith's room, officers said.

The sheriff's department and the city police in investigating the theft, found the trunk lock forced open. Officers spent several hours searching this section for the alleged thieves. Police departments in near-by towns were also notified. Smith declined to make any statement this morning.

Man Starves To Death After 31 Days of Fasting

LYONS, Colo., Aug. 28. (P)—Christ Solberg, 40, member of the Chicago Health Cult, was found dead in his cot at the Cult Camp near here this morning.

Coroner A. E. Howe said Solberg starved himself to death. Howe said he learned from other members of the Cult that Solberg had fasted for thirty-one days and had reduced from 160 to 85 pounds.

Solberg came out to Colorado in midsummer with Chicago persons who announced that they were seeking "truth and health."

The Cult received considerable publicity when residents in the locality of the camp complained that the "truth seekers" were taking sinbaths without any clothing. Boulder County authorities demanded the sinbaths be taken with clothing on, or at least a regulation sun suit.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28. (P)—"If the first 100 hours are the hardest," the "Chicago—We Will" endurance plane has passed the most difficult stage of its attempt to establish a new record for sustained flight. At 4:31 o'clock this morning it had completed 113 hours in the air.

The fliers, C. E. Steele and Russell Mossman, made their twenty-sixth refueling contact last night.

PALMER WELL FLOWING 180 BARRELS HOUR

More Gas to Increase Production Is Belief

PAY IS HIT AT 2,865 FEET

Phillips Company Has Another Drilling in Granite Wash

The first Gray County gusher to be brought in during the last week hit the pay yesterday afternoon and was swabbed in during the night. Today the new producer was flowing at the rate of 180 barrels an hour.

The new gusher is the Phillips Petroleum Company's No. 5 Palmer in the east 90 acres of section 31, block B-2, in the Finley-Brown pool. Pay was encountered at 2,865 feet in granite wash formation. A small flow of gas was found with the oil but at first was not strong enough to flow the well.

After being on the swab for a few hours the well began to flow natural at the rate of 4,300 barrels a day. It is thought that more gas will break in and that the test will be much larger.

The same company's No. 2 Joe Dan in the northeast quarter of section 65, block B-2, is being drilled into the granite wash pay this afternoon. The test was drilling on top of the pay at 2,870 feet this morning.

North of the Finley-Brown pool and in semi-wildcat territory, Wilcox Oil & Gas Company's No. 9 Coombs-Worley in section 35, block 3, is drilling towards the granite wash pay at 2,820 feet.

The test is flowing approximately 100 barrels a day from the lime pay at 2,800 feet. This test will open up considerable new territory and will be the means of several additional tests.

VACATION NOTES

(By Olin E. Hinkle Managing Editor.) SANTA FE New Mexico—Although not especially imposing from a civic standpoint, the capital of New Mexico abounds in historical interest.

What is claimed to be the oldest house in the United States is open to the public for the entrance fee of a dime. Tradition relates, one learns, that the house was built before the Spaniards saw the site...

Across an alley is the oldest church in America—San Miguel's. Its erection is placed as early as 1541, although some historians differ and fix the date as 1607. During the famous Pueblo Indian uprising of 1680 the church and its contents were destroyed by fire...

Reconstructed from an old pueblo, the "Palace of the Governors" is one of Santa Fe's show places. It was used as an executive building by the Spanish, Indians, Mexicans, and American rulers of New Mexico. It was the last stronghold of the Spanish in the temporarily successful rebellion of the Pueblos...

A veritable treasure house of Southwest art is the New Mexico Art museum, located on the northwest corner of the plaza. It houses the New Mexico Historical society and the school of American Research. In it one finds exhibits illustrating the growth of Southwest art from the Indian of prehistoric times to the modern artist who find their inspiration in Santa Fe and environs...

Santa Fe is a creative center of Indian art. You can see Chimayo weavers at their tasks of producing brilliantly beautiful rugs by use of simple looms. Navajo and Pueblo Indians quickly turn out silver and turquoise jewelry while tourists marvel. The capital is nearby, but it is not large and the governor, one chief source of interest, is out of the city, the traveler learns. Many days could be spent in seeking out charming spots near Santa Fe. Southeast of town is the artists' colony. Thirty-eight miles north are the Puye cliff dwellings. The ruins of Pecos pueblo, where excavations are under way, are 29 miles to the east. Eighteen miles southwestward are the Cerillos turquoise mines. Less than 50 miles away are many Indian reservations, where annually are held fiestas characteristic of the various tribes.

Santa Fe is a city of 10,000, where the old and the new mingle but the love of the old predominates. The streets are paved, but narrow and winding, Indian, Spanish, Mexican and modern elements are blended by the softening hand of time. Prejudice has seemingly disappeared. The museums are full of material illustrative of America's infancy. Tourists wander reluctantly from room to room, wishing for time to connect their hazy recollections of history with the relics and archives that abound.

Ranching, cotton raising, Indian and Mexican handicraft, tourist trade, commerce centering in this vast section sustain New Mexico's capital. The state's principal city, however, is Albuquerque, 66 miles away. And having seen Santa Fe's principal attractions, the Pampa tripper turned his car in the direction of Albuquerque, where "The First American," dramatic Indian spectacle, attracted travelers from nearly every state. Albuquerque will be the subject of the next editorial letter.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON.—Some persons still wonder why anyone wants to become vice president of the United States. But after reading the most recent report of the secretary of the Senate it becomes a little easier to understand. One refers particularly to those seven pages of fine type wherein is listed the expenses incident to the maintenance of the vice presidential automobile, which is one of the various expenses of government. The allowance is one of $4,000 and the expenses account referred to eats up all but $29.91 of that sum. If this cost of maintenance were general, of course, hardly anyone would be able to afford automobiles and most of the factories would have to close down.

Kid Chocolate Is Now Rated Below Singer by Fans

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. (AP)—For perhaps the first time in his American career, Kid Chocolate, Cuban featherweight, will enter the ring for his 32-round bout with Al Singer at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night an underdog in the betting.

Quotations of 3 and 9 to 5 and some of as high as 2 to 1 on Singer have been offered freely in the past week.
Indications were these odds would hold good at ring time.

Apparently the heavy proportion of Singer money is due to the east side lad's brilliant knockout victory over Andre Routsis of France, featherweight champion. That triumph, coming on the heels of Singer's knockout defeat at the hands of Ignacio Fernandez, stamped the east sider as a fighter with championship possibilities. The Routsis fight also went far toward dispelling any doubts as to the quality of Singer's courage.

Chocolate and his handlers apparently are doing little or no worrying over the fact that the Cuban will be on the short end of the betting odds. Few opponents have hit Chocolate with a right hand and that's Singer's potent weapon. And as for comparative records, the Cuban "Keed" has all the best of it.

A Turban in the Mode

(Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.—Printed in U. S. A.) Alluring new is the Marcelle Lylly turban that lifts its black felt self off Milady's forehead and fits snugly, in the season's eye-revealing manner. A new version of the popular tri-color scheme is exemplified by the use of black, red and white velvet ribbon, plaided in a striking Tartan design. This velvet makes a smart sailor's knot low on the left side, with the ends flaring out in fisherman's hat silhouette.

Democrats Stand By While Tariff Is Made Public

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—Democrats of the senate finance committee marked time today in their study of the tariff bill while its republican framers made ready to put their case before the public. First in the form of the text of the measure itself and then, tomorrow or Friday, with the majority report they are preparing to present next Wednesday to the senate.

After two meetings this week, the minority group of committeemen decided to wait until tomorrow to continue their deliberations. They have, thus far, considered only a few amendments, but experts they have employed to assist in the study will be ready to report tomorrow and they are expected to make more progress in that direction thereafter.

The question whether a minority report on the bill will be presented to the senate remains to be decided. The decision has been deferred, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the committee, explained, to give the minority group an opportunity first to examine the majority report.

The preliminary democratic attack on the measure, meanwhile, is continuing. Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, in a statement issued by the democratic national committee, emphasizing the women's interests, contends it "strikes viciously" at her household and personal expenditures and would have a particularly adverse effect on 8,500,000 feminine wage earners.

American Resident Of Havana Lodged In Cuban Fortress

HAVANA, Aug. 28. (AP)—Joseph E. Barlow, American resident of Havana, who has claims totaling $9,000,000 against the Cuban government, was lodged today in a cell in Principe Fortress, charges against him still to be made known.

Two operatives of judicial headquarters took him into custody before 5 p. m., yesterday. After being questioned for two hours at police headquarters he was taken to the fortress and held without bond.

When Barlow, who is 67, returned here from the United States July 20, it was said he would be deported. Ambassador Ferrara at Washington recommended action to his government, alleging insanity.

Barlow's controversies with the Cuban government grew out of his claims for Havana property worth about $9,000,000 he contended he purchased from the heirs of the original beneficiaries of the land conveyed under a Spanish royal grant about four centuries ago.

T. U. SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

AUSTIN, Aug. 28. (AP)—Dr. H. I. Benedict, president of the University of Texas, announced today that twenty scholarships for 1929-30 had been awarded to students of the institution. They included Pearl Cashell Jackson scholarship, Everett A. Love of Lubbock; Daughters of the Confederacy scholarships, Ike H. Moore of Uvalde, Josephine Pollard of Harlingen; J. E. Whitsett scholarship, Madeline Jaffe of Corsicana.

M. K. Brown drove to the J. A. ranch today on business.

Developments In Disarmament Held As

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The city over developments in disarmament negotiations in progress in London was intensified today by the night labors of Undersecretary of State and a corps of stenographers at state department.

Cotton, who drafts the administration's instructions to Daws for his guidance in negotiations with Prime Minister Baldwin, cancelled his evening engagements and secluded himself in his office for a three-hour conference at which Hoover discussed the situation with state and navy department officials.

"That conference was described as well informed circles as having special importance." But no inkling was given about what took place, and Cotton declined to give any hint as to the nature of the task which kept his busy far into the night.

Frank Shaw, local contractor and aviator, flew to Wichita, Kan., yesterday and returned today to Bentonville, Ark., where he has friends for a short while.

The companies asserted the Fairbanks Morse Company had "entered into a conspiracy" to have municipalities purchase power plants from them during term of contracts with the utilities firms.

In protesting against supreme court consideration on the case, the Fairbanks Morse firm said the lower court was correct in that it held "the solicitation of business to be had after the lawful termination of existing contracts was not actionable."

One Penitentiary Large Enough for All May Be Built

CHICAGO, Ill. Aug. 28. (AP)—Plans for a single penitentiary large enough to house all prisoners now scattered through Texas' decentralized system has grown in the minds of members of the Texas prison centralization committee as they have inspected the finest penal systems in the south, east and north.

W. A. Paddock, chairman of the Texas commission declared yesterday, after visiting the new Illinois penitentiary at Stateville, Ill., that decentralization has been the cause of inefficiency in the Texas penal system.

The SHINING TALENT

By ELEANOR EARLY © 1929 By NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MOLLY BURNHAM, young reporter from Boston, has taken New York by storm. GEORGE W. DUBOIS, the celebrated theatrical producer, presents her first play, "The Death of Delphine Darrows". The audience goes wild. The most hard-boiled critics are enthusiastic. Everybody is happy, except the people Molly loves best.

"I'll bet they're a curse and an abomination to their families." Mrs. Durbin had crossed the room, to sit beside Molly.

"What you said about characters touched a tender spot," she confided. "You know, my dear, I've a feeling that your mother is rather like my mother. Tell me, truly—was she furious about the play?"

"Absolutely furious," confessed Molly. "She's simply frothing at the mouth."

Her mother is furious. She is an old-fashioned woman, and scandalized at the topics with which Molly's play deals, and her father, a bit old-fashioned, too, is rather bewildered. Even her sweetheart, JACK WELLS, does not seem particularly enthusiastic. Her mother makes a disagreeable scene, and Molly is heart-broken. But she must go on to the party which the Durbins are giving.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII

IT was a gay and festive little party. But perhaps it is as well that Mrs. Burnham did not go. Everybody was in evening clothes. Francesca Glasgow, who played Delphine Darrows, wore black satin, with a potted skirt. The petals were faced with pink chiffon, and they swirled and fluttered when she moved.

Madge Arthur, the girl reporter of the play, was dazzling in white, embroidered with sequins. She wore a necklace of square cut crystals. But instead of wearing it against the front of her gown, she wore it down her back. And her back was cut to the waist.

There was another girl in starched soufflé chiffon of Mephisto red. Her tight bodice was gathered into an astonishingly high neck, stiffened and boned to the tips of her ears. But under her arms there were scimitar slashes that bared half her chest.

Molly thought of her mother's decent black, and her honorable hat. And she decided that a theatrical party, after all, was no place for an old-fashioned lady from Sudgrass.

"WHERE'S that young man of yours?" someone demanded. Molly was embarrassed. "Really, I don't know. He took my father and mother to their hotel. Mother was ill. I thought he would be here long ago. But we needn't wait any longer. I'm awfully sorry."

The butler entered with a note for Molly. She knew before she tore it open that Jack was not coming to her party.

There was only one gown that Mrs. Burnham would have considered really modest. And that, strangely enough, was the one Molly liked best of all. Mrs. Durbin, wife of the producer, wore it. The bodice was of white moire, and the tiered skirt of black Chantilly lace. Mrs. Durbin's hair was snow white, and she wore a close-fitting cap of shining jet.

Molly told everybody that her mother was ill.

"But my father may come later," she said, "with Mr. Wells."

She hoped, devotedly, that he would not. What could he say to all these smart, sophisticated people, with their swift, jangling chatter? How would he feel among these men in dinner coats, and their easy speech and polished manners? These women, with painted mouths and eyes, and jewels gleaming against their ivory breasts.

Molly heard Francesca Glasgow remark that Berthe Starr had a new Rolie.

"With silver trimmings," she said.

THAT reminds me," remarked Mr. Durbin. "You know Berthe's sister Rae married young Sinclair, and they had a Paris divorce. Well, now they're getting married again. I had an invitation yesterday. Regular engraved invitation."

"From Cartier's?" murmured his wife.

"And it went something like this," continued Durbin. "You are cordially invited to attend the premiere of THE MARRIED LIFE OF THE SINCLAIRS. Original all-star cast."

"How clever!" applauded Miss Glasgow. "There's an idea for you to work into a story some time, Miss Burnham."

"I think it was extremely bad taste," murmured Mrs. Durbin. "And you know, Miss Burnham, I wish that playwrights and novelists would stop joking about marriage. There's such lamentable emphasis on divorce, and crime, and all sorts of unpleasant things. Why don't you do a sweet little romance?"

"Why, that's exactly what my mother just asked me," exclaimed Molly. "Mother was shocked to death tonight, Mrs. Durbin. To tell the truth, it was the play that made her ill. I thought it was awfully old-fashioned of her to feel that way. But if you feel that way too—"

Molly's voice trailed off.

"Oh, my dear!" The producer's wife laughed a little bubbling laugh. "Sex butters our bread. I don't know what George and I would do if everyone should take to writing romantic comedies. But I know exactly how your mother felt."

"My people are from Illinois, and I ran away from home when I was 18 to go on the stage. Mother and dad raised a mortgage, and came all the way from Peoria to New York, to rescue me. I was dancing in a show then on 14th street. I wore a modest little rag. Like a ballet dancer. Layer on layer of white stuff. And I thought I looked rather like a cotton batting angel."

"Well, mother and dad found out where I was playing. They reached New York late at night, and took a taxi directly to 14th street. And the minute mother saw me, she began to cry. And she cried and cried. It was perfectly terrible. She absolutely broke up the show, and next day there were stories in all the papers about the awful scene she made.

"I remember somebody, to console mother, told her she thought I looked quite spiritual. And mother, sobbing her heart out, dried her eyes, and made a classic retort."

"There certainly isn't much material about her!" declared mother.

"Your mother was a real character," declared Mr. Durbin. "There aren't many like her these days."

Mrs. Durbin smiled, but she said nothing.

"A real character," repeated the little producer. "Wasn't she, Mona?"

Mrs. Durbin nodded.

"Yes," she said. "I suppose she was—a real character."

THEN the conversation switched to "characters." There are so many of them in the theatrical profession. And they talked of this one, and that. Of the celebrated producer who wears a Roman collar. And the great actress who carries white mice wherever she goes. And the dancer who never breaks a two-dollar bill, but keeps them in a trunk, for luck.

"It's all very well for outsiders to enjoy characters," declared Molly. "But it's different, I imagine, if you have one in your own family. Their little whimsies may delight the world, but I'll bet they're an irritation and an embarrassment to the folks at home."

She was thinking, of course, of her mother, with her sharp tongue and her stern conscience. Her high-button shoes, and her 16-button black kid gloves.

"I've known quaint grandmothers," she said, "and my fathers. And aesthetic sisters. And Only Molly was frightened. Perhaps there were reviewers who, like her mother, would think she had written something indecent.

Two Pampa Men Will Go to Mat Tomorrow Night

Two big men will settle an old argument at the Pla-Mor auditorium tomorrow night. The fact that both are Pampa men will not be a factor in the big "rasslin" match that has been in the making for years.

Tomorrow night Leo Chase and Oscar Dotson will battle to a finish to settle an old grudge. Chase will be outweighed considerably but that doesn't seem to make any difference to him or his backers, who by the way, are more numerous than the Dotson backers thus far.

The big event will follow some fast and furious boxing bouts which are due to keep the crowd excited until the big event of the evening starts. A youngster from West Virginia and one from Fort Worth are scheduled to go six rounds. The kids will weigh 120 pounds and from advance performances will make fans sit up and take notice. Mack is clever and a hitter. Kitchens, the Texas youth, has won 35 of his 36 fights and looks like a coming champion.

As a four round preliminary Andy Gump and Curtis Simpson will take the squared circle. They are old rivals and the match will not be for fun. Good preliminaries will open the big card.

Shamrock Texan Purchased From Bones Brothers

Purchase of The Shamrock Texan by the Shamrock Publishing Co. Inc. from Percy W. Bones and Ted R. Bones was announced this week, shortly after the chartering of the new corporation, by its president, Albert Cooper.

Cooper, who has been with the Texan the last three years, part of the time as advertising manager, but lately as editor, will be in charge of the paper.

Associated with him in the ownership are seven newspaper men, five of whom are connected with the Globe-News Publishing company. They are: Gene Howe, editor of the Amarillo News-Globe; Wilbur C. Hawk, general manager; T. E. Johnson, managing editor; N. D. Bartlett, oil and market editor; and Joe Cannon, news editor. F. L. Lucas and Ted Rogers of Shamrock are the other two owners. Both will be employed by the paper.

Mr. Cooper formerly was editor and manager of The Southeast Plainsman of Hugo, Okla. His newspaper experience covers several years as reporter, editor, manager, and correspondent. Following his graduation from the University of Oklahoma school of journalism he was identified with the Hugo (Okla.) Daily Transcript, the Southwest American at Fort Smith, Ark., The Oklahoma Daily at Norman, and the Hugo Daily News.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Davis Entertain With Big Picnic

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Davis entertained Sunday a their ranch, five miles east of LeFors, with a barbecue and picnic for more than a hundred guests.

Barbecued beef and many delicious picnic dishes were served at 1 o'clock in a beautiful grove bordering a stream. Swimming was enjoyed in one of the best natural pools in this section. Other of the usual picnic sports also furnished entertainment, combining to make the outing of the summer's most enjoyable events.

Ohio's blackberry crop, about 50,000 bushels, would make 1,600,000 "rat" pies or 2,000,000 "lean" ones, 1 sis estimated.

IMPROVED AUTOGIRO HAS ITS UPS AND DOWNS IN TEST HOP

Anyone can fly this autogiro plane after eight or ten hours instruction, according to clamis of its makers. The improved model, which takes off in less than half the space required by an ordinary plane, is pictured above. It descended almost vertically and rolled only a few inches after touching the ground. Note the four propellerlike blades whirling above the cockpit. Below is a close-up of the autogiro's biplane tail. The bottom surface of the tail is fixed, with the top one acting as an elevator and equipped fortilling in starting. Juan de la Cierva, 33-year-old Spanish inventor of the craft, is shown with Harold Pitcairn, left, owner of American patent rights on the auto giro.

SPORT SLANTS

In the exclusive, if not exactly cloistered atmosphere of the Princeton Club a few years ago, Gene Tunney and William Muldoon were the principal guests of honor.

The heavyweight champion talked of the advantages of education, of the lessons to be gained from boxing — in other words of the supremacy of mind over matter.

Muldoon, the graybeard who managed John L. Sullivan before Tunney was born, hulked back to the days when he wrestled in bar-rooms of an evening for a purse of $5.

As rapt a listener as any around the luncheon table was Tommy Loughran, then just an ambitious light heavyweight. He hardly could be blamed for considering that the career of Tunney, who had just won the world's heavyweight championship through his skill as a boxer, was preferable to the rough and tumble life of Muldoon.

If Loughran wins recognition as the next world's heavyweight titleholder, and it is no long-shot wager that he won't, it will be due in no small part to the influence of Tunney upon the career of the clever Philadelphia. Tommy's left jab and speed will carry him far.

Most successful fighters have patterned their style, or taken their ideal from some previous star. Dempsey thought Sullivan was "the works." Tunney preferred Corbett's example. Al Singer, the newest lightweight sensation, has patterned his style after Benny Leonard's.

Because he has been shifted around half the National League circuit within the past few years, the idea has grown that Rogers Hornsby is something of a bad actor, or at least a difficult citizen to handle.

It doesn't take more than a five-minute chat with Joe McCarthy, boss of the pennant-prospecting Chicago Cubs, to dispose of any thought that Rogers is temperamental.

"Hornsby may prefer his own company off the field," said Joe. "That's none of my business, but on the field he is one of the best team workers I have ever had. He works for the club all the way and does everything he can to give others the benefit of his experience."

"One of the great things about Hornsby is that you can always count on him. He is always in shape. He

Union Vs. Law Is Settled With $2 Fine Assessment

CHICAGO, Aug. 28. (AP)—"The Union forever: hurrah, boys, hurrah!" This was James Cummings' argument to Magistrate James Feron in Oak Park.

Cummings had been peddling bills without a license, which is against Oak Park law. He told the magistrate he distributed the bills because "you gotta do what the union says."

"If the union told you to come out here and shoot me, would you do it?" the court demanded.

"I gotta do what the union says," repeated Cummings.

"And I," said the magistrate, "gotta do what the law says. Two dollars and costs."

Wrigley Marathon Postponed Due to Low Temperature

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 28. (AP)—A chilling wind from the north has caused postponement of the fourth annual Wrigley marathon swim for 24 hours and perhaps more.

The swim scheduled for today, was postponed until tomorrow when a cold wind sent the temperature of the water in Lake Ontario down to 54 degrees yesterday, four degrees below the required minimum of 58 degrees.

Officials of the swim were hopeful the weather would change for the better but official forecasts were not favorable.

Meantime 275 swimmers waited anxiously for the long grind to start.

Mr. Frank Shaw and Mrs. Ethel Meadus were in Amarillo yesterday.

British Foreign Office Assures Government That Every Effort Is Being Made to Protect Americans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The British foreign office has officially assured the American government that every effort will be made to protect American lives and property in Palestine.

Ambassador Dawes informed the state department today the assurances were made to him by foreign office officials after he had expressed to them the hope of Secretary Stimson that adequate and comprehensive measures would be taken to guarantee the safety of Americans in Palestine.

BEIRUT, Syria, Aug. 28. (AP)—French authorities reported today a scuffle had occurred in Damascus between a small number of Arab manifestants and the local police. There were a few persons wounded, but the affair was local in character and had no repercussions.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 28. (AP)—Moslem uprising throughout Palestine, Syria and Transjordan, with attendant horrors of fire and sword, loomed today as a possibility unless British power in the middle east could crush quickly the rising spirit of unrest among fanatical tribesmen.

The situation already today seemed to have passed far beyond the original dispute between Arabs and Jews over use of the walling wall, and observers generally here looked to Ibn Saud, mighty king of the Hedjaz, whose ultimate attitude could turn the scales one way or the other. It was considered certain facts rapidly assembled did not bear out the optimistic tone of official communiques.

These fixed the dead and wounded in the last five days' fighting between Jews and Moslem Arabs at 143 and 426, divided as follows: Killed, 46 Moslems, 4 Christians, 93 Jews; wounded 118 Moslems, 39 Christians, 269 Jews. It was added an accurate check of casualties was impossible.

Upheaval among the Transjordanian Arabs growing out of the Palestine fighting has become so violent the government has found it necessary to close the Eastern Judean frontier against possible invasion by sympathetic Nomads, but armed Bedouins crossed the Jordan despite guards placed on the bridges.

The Beersheba tribes were said here to be arming and gathering by the thousands for the northward march which gave rise to fear of a clash with British soldiery at Hebron, scene Saturday of a massacre in which Arabs literally cut to pieces Jewish men, women and children. Refugees arriving from Transjordan said the situation there was becoming worse.

Although the Jews thus far have been made the object of the Arab attacks the situation has become such that a few fanatical "holy men" might easily turn the Felahs—Moslem peasant rulers—against the Christians and British rulers. Some idea of the widespread Moslem sympathy with the demonstration yesterday of 20,000 Moslems in the Jewish quarter of Damascus. Troops finally dispersed the tribesmen.

Haifa seems to have suffered from considerable fighting, with many deaths in the Sephardic quarter near the railway station. The American consul here asked the British authorities for immediate help to prevent any trouble in the children's village there where many refugee children from the Ukraine are being cared for by Near East relief.

Sniping continued in Jerusalem. It was expected the arrival today of Sir John Chancellor, high commissioner, and continual arrival of troops by air from Egypt should result in restoration of order here. Foreign consuls have been in frequent conference regarding the seriousness of the situation.
