

ROGERS SHRINE DEDICATED AND BUST UNVEILED

COLORADO SPRINGS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The kindly, quizzical face of the late Will Rogers, wrought in bronze by Sculptor Jo Davidson, smiled out today toward visitors to his newly-dedicated shrine at the Sun on Cheyenne mountain south-west of here.

The bust, resting on a granite pedestal near the 103-foot shrine tower, was unveiled yesterday in the presence of Rogers' relatives, cowboys, Indians, and friends of the donor, Spencer Penrose, millionaire developer of the Broadmoor resort, which lies at the foot of the mountain.

Although visitors were permitted today to view the interior of the shrine, rising above granite battlements on a jutting cliff of the mountain, the interior decorations are not completed.

Murals depicting the life of the late humorist are to be painted on the walls along the steps which lead to the top of the tower, where a sodium vapor flare, planned to be kept alight perpetually, was lighted yesterday.

Randall Davey, Santa Fe, N. M., artist, has decorated one of the shrine rooms with murals showing the development of this region—first as an Indian hunting ground, then through the mining development period in which Penrose's and other large fortunes were founded, and as a present-day vacation center.

Dr. Thurston J. Davies, delivering the dedicatory address, pointed out the shrine would become "a memorial to the man who built it as much as to the man whose name it bears."

"It will remain forever a monument to the public spirit of Mr. Spencer Penrose and the affection which he bears for America, for the west and for a man who typified the spirit which has made this great country," said Davies, president of Colorado college here.

A riderless horse, with stirrups reversed, led the dedicatory procession to the shrine. There, Mrs. Sally Mossbacher, Chelsea, Okla., a sister of the humorist, unveiled the bust.

Circus Animal Trained by Bert Nelson

This is a very good likeness of one of the 35 ferocious wild jungle beasts who Bert Nelson the greatest wild animal trainer in the world, forces to perform with the Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto Combined Circus, coming to Pampa, Thursday, September 9th.

At both afternoon and evening performances Mr. Nelson forces the fighting, spitting charges into a vast, triple steel-barred amphitheater where he supplies thrills enough to last the balance of the Summer Performances will start at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m.

SOONERS TAKE TOP HONORS IN BRONC RIDING

Several Pampans left at noon today for Borger where they will attend the opening of the Hutchinson County Fair this afternoon and also the third rodeo performance this afternoon and the fourth show to night. The rodeo is under direction of Len Blansett and Vance Rhea of Pampa, with top hands performing.

Recent rains, which made the arena floor slightly slippery yesterday, failed to hold back fans and about 2,500 attended the opening performance with more in the stands last night. Beutler Brothers wild rodeo stock was victorious in yesterday's events but man was expected to come to the front today.

Milt Moe of Perry, Okla., and Whitely Stewart of Anadarko, Okla., took top honors in the broncho busting contests. Dale Adams of Odell and Hoyt Heffner of Wichita Falls were tops in the wild bull riding contest.

World Champion Andy Curtis of El Reno, Okla., tops in bull dogging but because of the wet floor his time was 20 seconds. Roy Ross, of Sayre, Okla., was the other winner.

Eddie Smith of Wellington and Otis Riddle of Odell took places in the calf roping with the best time being 22 seconds, slow because of the slippery footing. Smith and Phelps Deahl of Deahl, showed the way in the wild cow milking.

John Lindsey of Wichita Falls, and his trained mule, Hoover, was a favorite with the crowd along with Don Wilcox and Pagan Miller, trick and fancy ropers.

COTTON CROP MENACED BY RAINS AT LUBBOCK

LUBBOCK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Sluicing rains that fell over Lubbock and the South Plains Monday night, gauging more than two inches here and making the total 4.99 inches since Saturday night, has caused general apprehension of cotton farmers.

Late planting necessitated hot crop maturing weather should earlier indicated bumper crops materials. Warm infestation has made the roads and there accordingly is worry.

Wind and bright sunshine is needed to dry farmland and to hasten fruiting of cotton. Farmers have begun worrying lest September parallel that same month of 1936, when rain fell 18 of the 30 days and deposited 13.2 inches.

The quarter-century total normal to date has been exceeded by two and two-thirds inches, 14.59 inches having fallen to date in 1937. The September normal is 2.96.

Railroad dispatchers said the entire South Plains area apparently had been shrouded by downpours last night.

GREEN ASSAILS CIO AT DALLAS

(By The Associated Press) Texas laborers returned to work today, behind them a holiday rent by rival oratorical claims of A. F. of L. and C. I. O., and marred by an accident toll of at least sixteen dead from violence.

Automobile accidents accounted for eleven; drowning, an accidental shooting, and an oil field accident for five more.

Rain dampened celebrations at Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, made his annual labor day address at Dallas bitterly assailing the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Austin, Galveston, Longview and Palestine also celebrated. At Houston separate gatherings were held by A. F. of L. and C. I. O., and C. I. O. leader John Brophy of Washington spoke.

At Fort Worth Harry C. Fremming, president of the Oil Workers International union, a C. I. O. affiliate, after listening to Green's speech by radio, termed the A. F. of L. "archaic."

Aisle of Women's Dreams

Suppose you knew that one aisle of one floor in one store had everything you needed to purchase!

Suppose that on that aisle you could buy household necessities, smart clothing, thrilling gifts for bride, graduate, voyager! How much walking that would save! How much time, trouble and fretful shopping you would be spared!

That, in effect, is what advertisements in this paper can do for you.

They bring all the needs of your daily life into review . . . in one convenient place. Shop from your easy-chair, with the advertisements. Keep abreast of bargains, instead of chasing them. Spend time in your newspaper to save time—and money—in the stores.
