BORDER RUM RING REVEALED

'St. Louis Robin' Flies on After Setting New Endurance Record

PASSES MARK AS BIG CROWD WATCHES SHIP

City Celebration to Rival Lindbergh Reception

EQUAL RECORD AT 2 O'CLOCK

Oil Splattering Only Trouble of Men Today

LAMBERT-ST. LOUIS FIELD, St. Louis, Mo., July 23. (P)—Dale (Red) Jackson and Forest O'Brien, piloting the monoplane, "St. Louis Robin," passed the world's record for sustained flight at 2:00:22 p. m. today (C. S. T.) when they had been flying 248 hours, 43 minutes, 37 seconds. They needed to remain aloft another hour to officially set a new mark.

ST. LOUIS, July 23. (P)—The monoplane "St. Louis Robin" was within seven hours of equalling the world's record for sustained flight when it began its eleventh day in the air at 7:11 a. m. today (Central Standard Time). At that hour the plane made its twenty-second refueling contact, taking on a light load, and the pilots Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien, reported the motor was running smoothly.

The pilots expected to continue after the hour needed to definitely establish a new record. A note dropped last night read: "Motor running fine. Both feeling good. Just 22 hours until we start on another endurance flight. We don't believe it is necessary to be 'tough hombres' to be endurance fliers."

The fliers were cautioned yesterday to keep their log carefully by Major Albert Bond Lambert, official observer, and to remain within sight of ground observers. Major Lambert pointed out their barograph, which records whether they have made a landing, has run down, making unnecessary to obtain affidavits that they remained in the air continuously.

A special brand of gasoline, never before tried in an endurance flight, has been used. Pilots have avoided its use because of rapid evaporation. As the supply at the field was practically depleted, a truck load, brought here on "endurance run" from Tulsa, saved the fliers. A tank car was delayed by a track washout, and the truck started the 460-mile journey with two drivers. The only stops were for fuel.

There is ten years difference in the ages of the two pilots, Jackson being 23 and O'Brien 33. Both have been instructors at aviation schools before joining the sponsors of the flight, the Curtis-Robertson company. Jackson won the barrel-rolling contest last year when he sent a plane through 417 of the maneuvers.

CATHOLIC PRIEST SLAIN BY BANDITS IN CHINA

OMAHA, Neb., July 23. (P)—The Rev. T. Leonard, Catholic priest, was slain by Chinese bandits July 14 in the district of Kain Chang, Southern Kiangsi province, according to a cablegram today to the mission at Bellevue near here.

No details were given. Father Leonard was between 35 and 40 years of age. He was a native of Limerick, Ireland.

THE WEATHER VANE

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy, scattered thunderstorms in west portion tonight and Wednesday.

—AND A SMILE

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (P)—The milkman stands acquitted of heinous offenses. Dr. H. M. Johnson of Mellon Institute has discovered by an automatic machine attached to beds that noise as a sleep-disturbing factor has been greatly exaggerated. When street noises were at a minimum sleep was rather light for most subjects.

Sees Chance to Down Soviets

War between Russia and China, if such action follows, may mean the end of the Soviet government and the reestablishment of a monarchy in Russia. So says Grand Duke Alexander, above, father of Grand Duke Cyril, pretender to the throne of the Russians, at his Paris retreat.

OFFICIALS WILL WELCOME FIRST BRANIFF SHIP

City officials, representatives of the Board of City Development, and local citizens will be at the local airport tomorrow morning at 11:20 o'clock to welcome the first passenger ship to land in Pampa. The Braniff Air lines ship from Tulsa to Amarillo will land here tomorrow morning on its initial flight.

Paul R. Braniff, president of the corporation, will be a passenger on the ship, which will be an all-metal Hamilton monoplane.

The return stop will be made here shortly after 1 o'clock, when passengers for Oklahoma City and Tulsa will be taken on board. Two stops will be made here daily for a time and later a signal system will be used when passengers wish to make a trip by passenger plane.

Hope of Averting War in Orient Is Growing Stronger

By The Associated Press
Tension in the Russo-Chinese controversy had noticeably eased today in view of assurances by China and Russia that both intended to abide by the Kellogg pact.

Soviet troops were reported to have captured a Chinese river steamer taking prisoners the wife and baby daughter of an American.

Further reports of troop movements along the Manchurian-Siberian border were received, but neutral observers were of opinion neither side had committed an overt act.

Moscow appeared standing on the position that the status quo of the Chinese eastern railway must be restored before a settlement could be reached.

Foreign minister Briand in Paris kept in close touch with developments and was in conference with Japanese Ambassador Adachi, acting president of the league of nations council. Shanghai dispatches said it was felt in Nationalist circles that the controversy would be settled amicably.

Washington also was optimistic that hostilities would be avoided.

TO MOVE MANAGERS

ST. LOUIS, July 23. (P)—President Sam Breadon, of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced today that effective tomorrow, William McKechnie, now managing the Rochester club of the International league, would again take over the management of the Cardinals and that Manager Billy Southworth would be sent back to Rochester in the managerial role.

Harry Lipshy, manager of Levine's, is transacting business in Amarillo today.

JOINT TRACK PLAN GAINING SOME FAVOR

Star-Telegram Comes Out For This Decision

SEES GOOD IN EACH RAILROAD

Two Bodies Intervene for Purpose of Testimony

Notice of the application of the Fort Worth freight bureau and the Fort Worth Association of Commerce to intervene in connection with the Fort Worth & Denver Northern railroad's request for a certificate permitting construction of the Childress-Pampa line has been received from the interstate commerce commission.

The application was granted, permitting the Fort Worth organizations to be treated as parties to the F. W. & D.'s proposal. Although the permission to intervene was given at a session of the I. C. C. July 5, the notice was not mailed in Washington until July 15, and did not reach Pampa until last night.

It is not known here what evidence the Fort Worth bodies will present at the hearing to be held in that city July 29, since previous communications had been neutral in declarations.

The Star-Telegram in an editorial today set forth issues involved in the railroad "fight," and after pointing out that either proposition would be advantageous to that city in particular and Texas in general, recommended that the joint trackage proposal from Wellington to Pampa be granted.

"If both propositions could be carried out," said the editorial in referring to the Denver and Rock Island-Frisco proposals, "through a joint trackage arrangement between Wellington and Shamrock, for instance, the gain to Fort Worth and to Texas would be appreciably greater. The result would be the benefit of the Rock Island-Frisco plan, with the vast territories both north and south they involve, plus the extension of the Denver from Shamrock to Pampa. This, it is to be hoped, can be brought about, and the Star-Telegram recommends it to the interstate commerce commission as the most practicable solution and the one offering the greatest benefit to Fort Worth, the territory affected, and Texas as a whole."

It is regarded here that sentiment is rapidly turning toward the joint trackage proposal.

WICHITA FALLS BEHIND PAMPA IN RAIL FIGHT

Orville Bullington, president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, and Hubert Harrison, secretary, were here yesterday afternoon and this morning "looking over Pampa."

The two men were surprised at the growth of the city. They spoke favorably of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad company and said Wichita Falls was behind Pampa and Childress in the fight for the extension.

Mr. Bullington has been mentioned recently as the Republican nominee for governor.

Royalty Is Sold to Amarillo Man

A royalty deal involving 1,188 acres of valuable oil land has been completed here. Bruce Bull, owner of three sections of land in the West LePore pool, sold a 1-32nd interest in all of sections 2, 3, and 4 block B-2, H. & G. N. survey, to Edgar C. Page of Amarillo.

The amount of the transaction has not been learned.

On the land involved are four producing wells and five drilling tests. Recent by the Texas company brought in a 1,200 barrel well in section 2, block B-2.

R. Earl O'Keefe is a business visitor in Borger today.

Texans Near Endurance Record

PERMIT SYSTEM EMBARGO IS ANNOUNCED AT HOUSTON WHEN WHEAT ACCUMULATION ALARMS

HOUSTON SHIP DRONES ON IN RECORD FLIGHT

HOUSTON, July 23. (P)—A permit system embargo on all grain consigned to Houston was announced today by R. C. Andrews, district manager of the car service division, American Railway association.

"This course was taken in response to a resolution adopted by the Houston terminal grain committee.

Since an embargo at Galveston, effective last Saturday, there has been a rapid accumulation of wheat for export through Houston, either at the port or in transit with no definite outlook for its disposal. This has created concern among the shipping interests and railroads at Houston, and unless there is some check on this traffic the accumulation will reach the congestion stage, Andrews said.

Permits will be issued releasing for movement to Houston shipments of grain upon proper assurance that such grain will be used for milling or manufacturing purposes by Houston industries and will be immediately accepted and unloaded.

Permits will be issued releasing grain for Houston for export, upon proper evidence that the grain will be promptly released from cars on arrival at Houston and that definite engagement has been made for steamer space.

Under the embargo rules, cars may be loaded, reconsigned or diverted to Houston up to Thursday midnight, after which shipments of grain for Houston will be accepted only on conditions provided in the embargo exceptions.

ADD POLICEMAN

I. F. Collier of Sayre, Okla., has been added to the city police force and is connected with the traffic department. Mr. Collier is at present in charge of the time parking and traffic end of the city police force. He replaces Officer Hamilton, who has gone back on police duty in South Pampa. Mr. Collier says he finds Pampa motorists reasonable and willing to obey the ordinance when instructed.

BULLETINS

EUFAULA, Ala., July 23. (P)—Lester Bouyer, alias Charles Harris, negro, was convicted of first-degree murder here today by a Barbour county jury which tried him for killing Jack Hines, mechanic, on a roadside four miles from here on the night of July 19.

FORT WORTH, July 23. (P)—Mrs. Willie Malloy, 21, is dead and her husband, 28, is dying in an infirmary as the result of a stabbing at their residence here today.

GEORGETOWN, July 23. (P)—The tedious process of selecting a jury for the sanity trial of Harry J. Leahy, under death penalty for the slaying of Dr. J. A. Ramsey of Mathis, continued here today. After a number of salesmen had been excused through disqualification or challenge, only one juror had been added shortly before noon to the four selected yesterday.

WASHINGTON, July 23. (P)—Phoebe Omlie was accredited today by the Aeronautical association with having attained an altitude of 17,467 feet in a recent flight at Moline, Ill., but the association said it had not been advised as to what type of ship was flown and therefore did not know whether any record had been established.

WASHINGTON, July 23. (P)—Twelve hundred marines today were withdrawn from Nicaragua.

Legion in Favor of Municipal Band

City commissioners last evening attended an informal band concert given by the Kerley-Crossman American Legion band in front of the Legion home. The commissioners were invited to attend the concert and to listen to the newly organized Pampa band.

A large gathering of Legionnaires and auxiliary members heard the concert and welcomed the commissioners. A Legion delegation met with the commissioners during the concert and told them of the Legion's plans to have a city-supported band. It is the hope of the Legion that Pampa taxpayers will have an opportunity to vote on a tax levy to support a municipal band.

There will be no concert given in front of the Legion home tonight. The next concert will be given next Tuesday night.

The band plans to play in Amarillo Sunday afternoon if the Legion's baseball team enters the finals in the tournament.

McLEAN SCHOOL BONDS CARRIED; VOTE IS 106-55

McLEAN, July 23. (Special)—McLean last week voted a $20,000 school bond issue in an election which carried 106 to 55. The same proposition was defeated by a vote of 103 to 79 in an election on May 15.

It was said that while the issue was asked for the purpose of constructing and repairing buildings, the bulk of the money would be used to pay indebtedness on the present high school.

'Siberia' Silent But Sinister After Break That Failed

DANNEMORA, N. Y., July 23. (P)—Clinton state prison, known throughout the underworld as "Siberia," today was nearing normal after the failure yesterday of 1,300 desperate convicts to battle their way to liberty and after a night spent under the sleepless eyes of scores of guards reinforced by 14 state troopers.

The hoots and hisses and raucous laughter flung by the conquered prisoners at the guards last night after they were forced to return to their cells leaving three of their fellow rioters dead, had ceased. In their place was a sullen silence, or, at most a guarded grumbling.

RECORD CATTLE PRICE

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., July 23. (P)—A new 1929 high price for beef cattle was established on the market here today when 50 head of Hereford steers sold for $48.25 a hundred. The cattle averaged 1,447 pounds, and the average price for each steer was $335.

EL PASO MEN ARE INVOLVED IN BIG PLOT

Negro's Confession Is Said to Bare Details

GUN BATTLE TAKES PLACE

Americans Win Out in Fight—Capture Booze

EL PASO, July 23. (P)—Two Mexican rum runners are believed to have been killed, and three are known to have been wounded in a pitched battle here last night between four immigration border patrol officers, and a band of more than 20 smugglers.

The clash was a sequel to an engagement last Saturday when six border patrolmen were ambushed by rum runners and Patrolman Ivan E. Scotten was killed.

None of the Americans was wounded in last night's battle, in which several hundred shots were fired. The banks of the Rio Grande were searched today for the bodies of the two rum runners believed to have been killed. The wounded smugglers were carried across the river into Mexico by their comrades.

H. C. Horsley, chief of the border patrol, said prominent citizens of El Paso were expected to be implicated in a gigantic border rum ring following disclosures made by a negro truck driver, one of five men captured by the patrolmen. For months authorities have been watching certain El Paso business men, Horsley said, but had obtained no direct evidence until today.

Horsley announced a truck seized during the battle belonged to an El Paso firm and that it was loaded with 150 gallons of liquor. Three other automobiles also were confiscated. The cars, all of expensive make, will be used as evidence against the business men participating in the rum running game, Horsley stated.

The runners have been unusually active on the border during the last week. In the ambush Saturday the patrolmen succeeded in driving off their assailants only after Scotten had been slain.

The raid last night occurred following a carefully planned ruse on the part of the immigration officials, who have been co-operating with customs officers in seeking to stop liquor smuggling, and a day of vigilance from high points of vantage within the city with spy glasses.

Descending upon the rum runners in speeding automobiles, the patrolmen mounted a fence near the Rio Grande. They were met with a fusillade of bullets from the rum runners' rifles. The fire was returned, and two of the smugglers were seen to fall to the ground. It was believed these two men were killed.

Following on the heels of the pitched battle Monday, border patrolmen today continued their offensive by capturing three Mexicans and a truck loaded with liquor. The cargo was destined for Denver.

The Mexicans told authorities that when the battle was at its height last night, 11 men went from Juarez to reinforce the 20 men who were attacking the Americans.

Names Rum Chief
The negro gave authorities the name of the alleged chief of the rum runners' ring. Horsley said he had learned today the truck taken in the battle belonged to a local wholesale paper house and was stolen by a former employee, now believed to be one of the "higher-ups" in the rum gang.

The battle and seizure were the result of well laid plans of the border immigration patrol. The patrolmen made several unsuccessful efforts to capture the truck on other occasions. Swooping down on the river at dusk the patrolmen used a high fence as breastworks when the smugglers opened fire. The encounter raged for half an hour, with hundreds of rounds of ammunition fired by both sides. The patrolmen ceased firing only when the smugglers had been driven across the river.

"It's Like This—"
LACK OF DOCTORS in failing to report births is giving Texas some very unfavorable publicity. This state is not in the birth and death registration area of the U. S. census bureau because of this lack of cooperation.

In Texas in 1928, 2,100 deaths of infants were reported, but not a single birth certificate was issued in regular fashion. The doctors and midwives who attend the births in this state are not doing their duty.

The bureau of the census has received the names of 66,000 small children through the scholastic rolls, but less than one-third of them were registered. Most parents believe that the physicians who attend the births of their children always file a certificate of birth. This should be true, but it is not.

Parents are now being appealed to directly, but many of the letters of inquiry are never answered. While undertakers and casket dealers are complying with the state law fairly well, lack of birth statistics makes even death statistics of little value for comparative purposes. The result of obtaining facts of nearly all deaths and but one-half the births gives an infant mortality rate out of proportion to the truth.

The need for birth certificates is keenly felt in administering to widows and orphans of veterans of the world war. These certificates must be had for proof of relationship in obtaining pensions, insurance, and other aid. Much confusion and even injustice results for lack of proper birth records.

Texas should be placed in the U. S. registration area during 1929. This cannot be done unless a better showing can be made, and that at once.

IMPROVING OUR LATERAL ROADS
 When the new automobile registration fee becomes effective in 1930 operators of pleasure cars will be saved half of the former expense heretofore applying on their cars from this tax. The new law makes provision that up to $30,000 of the registration fees shall be deposited in the county depository to the credit of the county road and bridge fund.

This is a wise provision, in that the money is derived from car owners and operators, and certainly its use should be for the improvement and betterment of the roads of the county wherein the funds originate. In Hale county this new law's provision should increase the amount available in the road and bridge funds between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars. This will mean that previously incurred indebtedness can be liquidated or that more money will be available for the improvement of the lateral highways.

Maintenance of the two cardinal highways which are now being paved or to be paved will devolve on the state and federal government. Hale county will have only its lateral roads to take care of for maintenance. Of course it must meet the interest on its highway bonds and create a sinking fund for their retirement.

From our road bond issue there will be a sizeable residue after the two cardinal roads have been paved.

Thus it is apparent that our estimated highway expenditures Hale county will be readily able to undertake a program soon of improvement of its lateral roads.

Just to what extent that improvement should go is a matter for serious thought.

Unquestionably roads that are passable in all kinds of weather are very desirable in Hale county. More than anything else good roads, all-weather roads, will hasten the development of the one thing that all of us agree on as of prime importance to our agricultural stability and progress—Dairying and poultry raising.

Dairy products are somewhat perishable. Certain phases of the industry require that milk be delivered with regularity and in sweet condition. We need that phase of the dairy industry.

Improvement of our lateral roads to make them passable in all kinds of weather is nothing but fair to the citizens of the county who own or farm and removed from the paved cardinal highways. He pays his taxes to maintain them, isn't it fair to Petersburg, to Cotton Center, to Runningwater and the Northeast portion of the county to give them better roads?

We need have no great fear about the expense of the highways. We may pay a little more taxes to have good roads, but we get it back in reduced expense for gasoline and oil and tires and general wear and tear on our cars, to say nothing of the time saved. Then too, our taxable valuations will gradually increase and help pay for these improvements. We don't have to pay for it all at once. We pay for it as we use it.

Certainly our county like all other counties of the Plains, will continue to develop. We will have more people. We will have more property to bear its part of the expense.

We have a progressive people. They are looking to the future. You see that in the foundation old and new business firms are laying. You see it in the plans for expansion on the hundreds of farms in the county. We have faith in our country, faith in ourselves.

We must keep our feet on the ground and not spend recklessly, but to the extent that our expenditures will make us more happy, will prove profitable in the conduct of our every day affairs, we are not only warranted in making them, but foolish if we do not.—Plainview Herald.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Y RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON—Mere ambassadorships may be enough to satisfy such elderly millionaires as Charles G. Dawes and Dwight Morrow, but the really ambitious federal job-seekers will go hunting for a post as an American High Commissioner.

An ambassador parks himself in a foreign capital and usually becomes little more than a glorified messenger boy. But when an American High Commissioner goes anywhere he goes there to run the whole show. He has the rank of an ambassador and he ranks as the senior officer present at all times.

There is no more powerful American outside this country than an American High Commissioner. He is perhaps the nearest modern approach we have to the old Roman consul.

These Jobs Are Scarce
 Unfortunately, there are very few of these jobs to be had. There never were very many and the only High Commissioner now in force is that of Major General John A. Russell of the Marines, who has been our High Commissioner to Haiti since 1922. The chances are that General Russell will hold his job indefinitely, but there has been some agitation for his replacement by a civilian, so it may be a good tip to job-seekers to suggest that they sound out President Hoover.

One recalls only two other High Commissioners within the past two decades. Sumner Welles was made High Commissioner to the Dominican Republic several years ago and served two years, commuting between Santo Domingo and Washington until he had straightened out the country to the State Department's satisfaction.

The other was Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol who, as High Commissioner to Turkey, was one of the most important figures in the Near East during the post-war period. Bristol co-ordinated our policies and looked after American interests in that section of the world and proved himself a diplomat of parts. He was on the commission which investigated the Greek occupation of Smyrna and was a delegate to the Lausanne Conference.

Lately he has commanded the Asiatic fleet.

Runs the Whole Country
 Russell is an excellent example of the power that can be lodged with a High Commissioner. He deals directly with the president—sometimes called "our puppet president"—of Haiti and the State Department. For eight years, under our treaty with Haiti, he has had sway over that country's customs, finances, police system, public works, agriculture and public health.

All American treaty officials directing these various branches of government, come under the general. Although an officer of the Marines he is not compelled to wear a uniform and doesn't. He has been on the job for eight years and was first appointed on the recommendation of a senatorial committee which went to the island about 1920.

What appeared to be a demonstration of Russell's power was given last year when Senator King of Utah, who had criticized American occupation of Haiti, was barred from visiting the country by President Borno. While it could not be shown that Russell had inspired the ban, few failed to concede that a word from him to Borno would promptly have averted this affront to an American senator.

With the benign thought tacit approval of Russell, free press and free speech in Haiti have been pretty generally suppressed and Borno has jammed through laws extending his titular dictatorship and effecting his domination of the Haitian courts, which we did not take over under the treaty.

American Marines long ago dissolved the Haitian congress, so Russell hasn't a representative legislative body to contend with as has our governor general in the Philippines.

TWINKLES

They are going to try to take the word "love" out of tennis scoring as being inappropriate. But isn't love the beginning of a hard fight?

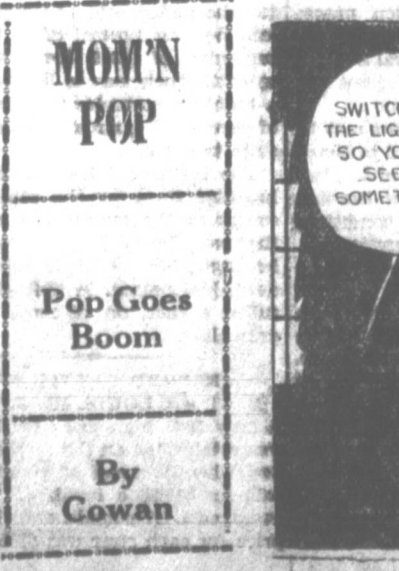

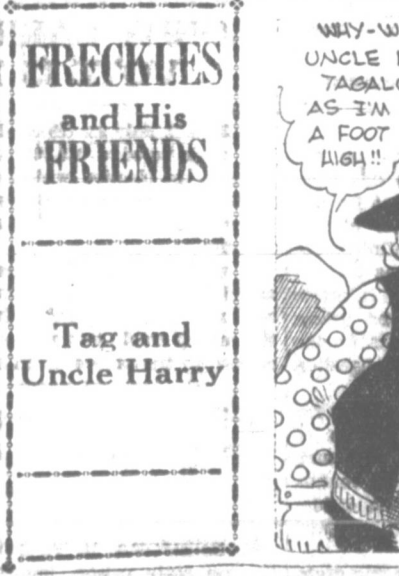

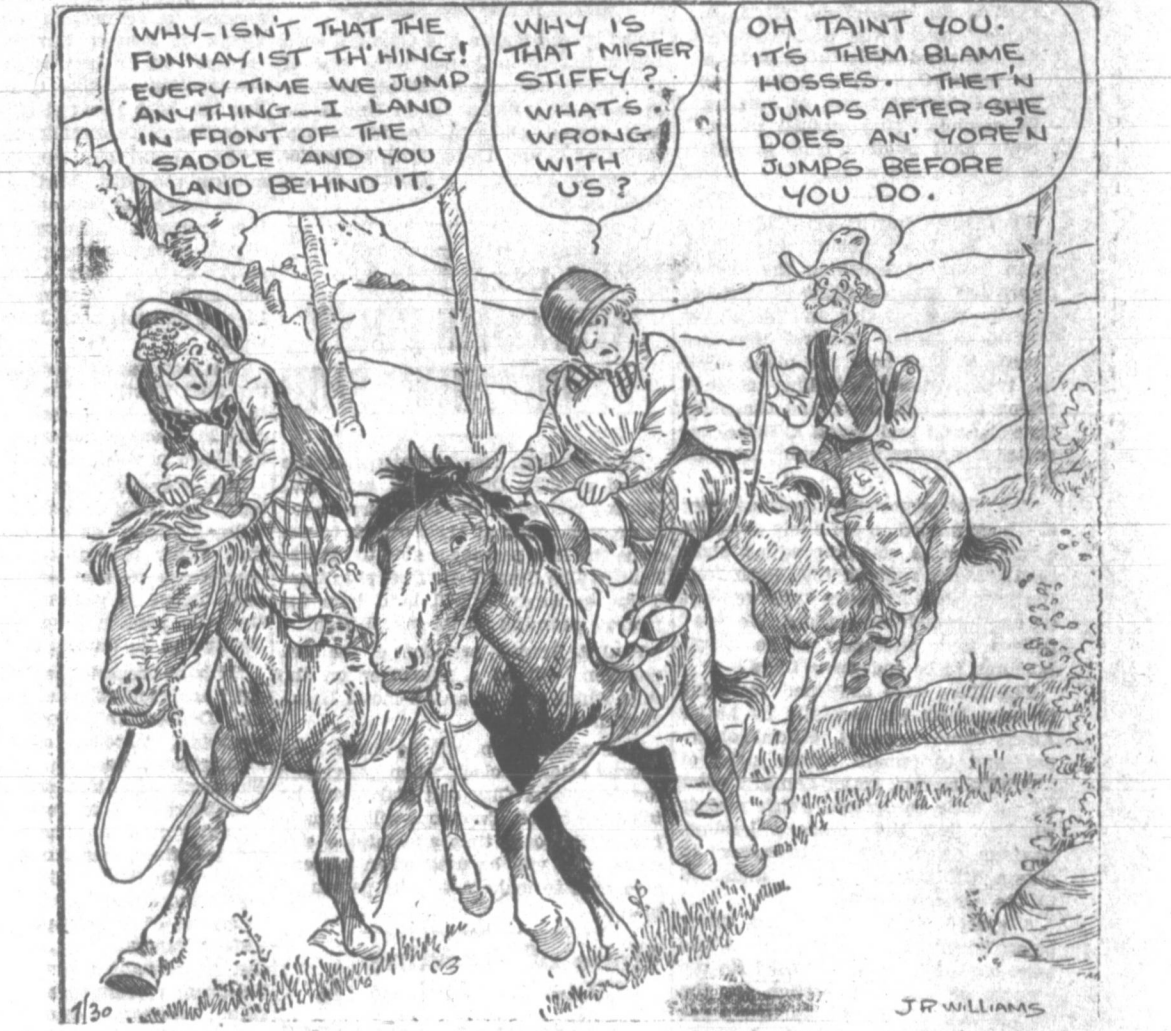

Believe it or not, but there are white collar jobs even in the carbon black industry.

Many cities are sending Scouts on trips abroad. But we must first prove to our boys that our movement is going somewhere here. Pampa ought to have a greatly expanded Scout program during the next fiscal year.

Of course, those who like wars probably would travel any distance to get to one, but we refuse to be an applicant for duty on the Russo-Chinese front. Also reading those Chinese dispatches wouldn't be our idea of a good pastime.

Study Club Adopts University Course for Year's Work

Members of the Study club of the A. A. U. W. and College club next year will study contemporary American literature, it was decided yesterday at a called meeting. A course outlined by the English school of the University of North Carolina was adopted as the basis for fifteen programs to be given at semi-monthly meetings. The novel, drama, poetry, and the short story were included for study.

Selection of the course was made by the calendar committee, of which Mrs. W. T. Fraser was chairman, and other members were Mrs. P. M. Culbertson, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, and Mrs. W. J. Smith. Ten members attended the meeting, which was held in the women's parlor of the Methodist church.

Miss Vera Cruz and Herman Whatley are Married in Haskell

A wedding announcement of more than the usual interest follows the marriage of Miss Vera Cruz and Mr. Herman Whatley, which was solemnized Sunday evening at the home of the bridegroom's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whatley of Haskell. The Rev. Whatley officiated.

Shortly after the ceremony the young couple started for Colorado and California. They will return to Pampa to make their home. The bride traveled in her wedding dress, a smart ensemble of beige wool, with matching accessories.

Mrs. Whatley is the daughter of Mrs. Nellie Eller. She was graduated from Central High school in 1925. Later she was employed at the local telephone office, and for several months was chief operator.

Mr. Whatley also has lived here several years. He finished high school here and afterward attended Howard Payne college at Brownwood. He is a wheat farmer, with property west of Pampa. His parents formerly lived here his father having been pastor of the First Baptist church.

We supply sandwiches for entertainments, socials and soda fountains. Cap Sandwiches. Phone 851.

position," by Mrs. Raymond Harrah. Theme topic discussion, by Mrs. H. L. Barnhart.

Violin solo, by Edna Johnson, with piano accompaniment by Josephine Lane.
A business meeting will precede the program. Circle 2 will be hostess for the social hour which regularly follows the monthly joint session of the four groups at the church. The meeting will open at 3 o'clock.

NEW GERMAN LINER BREAKS OCEAN RECORD

NEW YORK, July 23. (P)—The new queen of trans-Atlantic travel, the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, lay at her Brooklyn pier today after a record-breaking maiden voyage from Cherbourg of four days, 17 hours and 42 minutes.

The pride of the new German merchant marine was the first ship ever to make the trans-Atlantic voyage in less than five days, eclipsing the record, made by the Cunarder Mauretania in 1928, by 8 hours and 52 minutes.

ATTACKING OLD RECORD

NEW ORLEANS, July 23. (P)—The race to St. Louis between the speedboat Bogle and the express cruiser Martha Jane, which started from New Orleans Sunday afternoon, settled down today to an attempt by the Bogle to better the historic record of the steamboat, Robert E. Lee. The record of 99 hours and 31 minutes between the two cities has stood since 1870.

SCHOOL CONTRACT LET
MCLEAN, July 23. (Special)—A contract has been let for the construction of a new brick school building in the Eldridge community. It is to contain two class rooms and is to cost $4,500. The contract, granted Elmer S. James, of McLean, calls for the completion of the building by September 1.

PITCHERS HAVE BIG DAY WITH LOOP BATTERS

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.

Evidently the pitchers in the J. Dock Roberts circuit have taken this agitation about the lively ball and prodigious batting averages as a reflection upon their ability. But, whatever the cause, the boys who supply the cannon fodder bore down yesterday and made the league's batters look silly.

Seldom will a loop experience such a day in these modern times, when fences are high and spheres so flighty. In the four games planned before down-state crowds only one starting pitcher failed to finish. There was one two-hit performance, a three-hitter, a four-hitter and three six-blows affairs. The greatest number of safeties accumulated by any outfit fell to the Exporters, who bombarded the Dallas veteran, Whitey Glasner, and his relief, Frasier, for nine hits.

Big Charlie Sullivan, the Panthers' righthanded wheelhorse, turned in the day's nifty when he bearded the Waco Cubs in their own park and subdued them, 5 to 0, with two scratch hits, Sangnet and Windle were the only Cublets to escape a blanking in the series opener.

Next to Sullivan, the fair-haired boy for the day was none other than Tiny Owens, and he proved a hard-luck hero. The angular sport hurler allowed the Buffaloes only three knocks but was defeated, 1 to 0, in a heart-renderer. Joe Brown, the no-hit beauty, kept seven sport blows scattered. The break came in the ninth when Eddie Hook worked Tiny for free passage to first. He was sacrificed along and rode in on Martin's timely drive to right.

George Washington Payne, fondly known as Old Rubber Arm up Wichita Falls way, permitted the San Antonio Indians six hits in achieving his fifteenth victory, 3 to 2. He and Andy Messenger, Tribe anchor man, hooked up in a genuine mound duel, with the Indians ace striking out 10 batters.

Glasner became the day's mound casualty when the Exporters jumped him for four runs in the seventh inning of the initial tilt at Stuart stadium. Four hits and a walk in that period fed the game, 4 to 2. Lefty Sits held the first-half champs to six hits and was given sensational support.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS

By Laufer

The business of elevating eyebrows took a brisk upturn about ten years ago when Yale announced that a professional ball player had been hired to coach the team.

That player was Smoky Joe Wood, hero of the 1913 world series when his fast ball helped the Boston Red Sox into a world championship. He was the first of the tobacco-chewing element to make his way into one of the hoity-toity schools. Ever since Smoky Joe came to Yale, professional players as coaches have been gaining in favor.

Prof. Phelps of Yale even went so far as to have Puncher Tunney tell a few things about left hooks and Shakespeare to his English class.

Joe has won respect that is nation-wide because he has been turning out smart teams at Eli and developing splendid ball players. You don't hear much about Joe's players, because not many of the Yale men go into professional baseball after they have ended their college careers.

Eruce Caldwell farmed by the Indians to New Haven in the Eastern League, is one of Joe's boys, and he has been burning up the league this year with healthy wallops.

Ducky Pond, who could have pitched for any big league club he chose, and Mac Aldrich, one of the most brilliant shortstops seen in college baseball in years, were Joe's proteges. Neither went into pro baseball after their days at Yale were done.

Joe Wood's name was linked in the scandal several years ago when Dutch Leonard made his startling disclosure about Cobb and Speaker, and the Yale student body rallied behind Smoky Joe to a man, voting confidence in his integrity.

Joe has developed quite a few great hitters, too, who preferred knocking out the customer's eyes with gilt-edged bonds to larruping them over the fence. Joe was a hitter as well as a pitcher and has proved one of the country's most valuable collegiate coaches.

Another Suit Is Filed Against Max Schmeling

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—The flitic sub-division known as Max Schmeling had one more worry on his hands today. Already over his head in legal entanglements, the German heavyweight discovered that someone else had brought suit for a portion of Herr Max's ring earnings in the United States. The chances are Max won't worry overmuch on the theory that one more suit among so many hardly matters.

The latest claim on Schmeling's purse came in the form of a suit, brought by one Frederick Kirsch, asking for two per cent of Max's earnings. Kirsch, quondam friend of Schmeling and Arthur Buelow, the boxer's reputed manager, filed an order signed by Supreme Court Justice William Black, requiring the Madison Square Garden corporation and Charlie Rose, another of Schmeling's many managers to show cause today why a receiver should not be appointed to take over two per cent of the boxer's earning in his victory over Paulino Uzcudun.

Kirsch said he had introduced Schmeling and Buelow to Rose and that Buelow had assigned 10 per cent of Schmeling's earnings to Rose who, in turn, gave 3 per cent of this to Kirsch.

All was serene until Joe Jacobs, now Schmeling's manager of choice, entered the scene. Jacobs acquired a 3 1-2 per cent interest in Schmeling from Buelow and 4 per cent from Rose. Possibly because of the mathematical problem was a difficult one, nobody has seen to it that Kirsch got his two per cent, the plaintiff asserted.

FORMER FEATHER CHAMPION AFTER LIGHTWEIGHT CROWN

Sammy, the champion, and Tony, the challenger, meet over the 10-round route in Chicago, August 2, with Sammy's lightweight title at stake.

GRAYS DEFEAT QUITAQUE AT AMARILLO TOURNEY, 8-0, AS LEFTY GRAHAM ALLOWS 5 HITS

Yesterday's win for the Grays was the first the Pampa team had registered in opening games of an Amarillo tournament. Two years ago the Grays lost their opening encounter, but despite that loss landed in third money. Last year the local nine lost its opening game, but took first place.

The stellar pitching of Lefty Graham was a big feature in the Gray's victory over Quitaque, 8 to 0. The little lefthander allowed only five hits and no man reached third base. The only Quitaque player who threatened Al Williamson's stronghold was nipped in a double play in the ninth inning.

Tank Horton, behind the bat for the Grays, seems scheduled to receive the prize for the best catcher in the tournament. The little fellow caught and backed first and third base yesterday. He was classed with the big leaguers by writers and fans alike.

The infield worked like clockwork. Nell on first was sensational, not only in the field but at bat. Roberts played a steady game and Winegardner covered lots of territory. Williamson on the hot corner looked as of old. J. Gober, Walter and Marcum in the outfield ranged far and let nothing pass.

Nell and Marcum were the heavy hitters for the Grays. Each landed on three balls and drove them far. Marcum hit a triple and Nell a double along with two singles. Horton and Roberts also hit for doubles.

The Grays scored two in the second on Marcum's triple. J. Gober's single and Williamson's only hit of the day, another was added in the third on Nell's single and Marcum's one-base blow. He scored on a wild throw.

Two more in the fourth came from Graham's walk, Robert's double, and a

PIRATES ADD HALF GAME TO SLENDER LEAD

By The Associated Press

Thanks to the erratic Brooklyn Dodgers, the roving Pirates of Pittsburgh have added another half-game to their slender lead over the Chicago Cubs in the National league struggle.

While all other major league clubs were idle yesterday, the Pirates shelled three Dodger pitchers for sixteen lusty hits and coasted in with a 13 to 3 victory.

Thus the Bush-men boosted their lead over the Cubs to a game and a half, all in the games-won column, slender enough advantage but better than none at all.

All other National league clubs had an open date as did all American league teams, but Cleveland and Philadelphia whose game was rained out at the Quaker City.

CHICAGO, July 23. (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, who will shoot at Sammy Mandell's lightweight title at Chicago stadium August 2, is looking for sparring mates adept with the left hand.

The Italian wants work with boxers who use a style approaching that employed by Mandell, and already has signed up Harry Dublinsky, Chicago middleweight, and Rosie Allen.

Mandell is working with Benny McArthur, Saginaw, Mich., lightweight, Harry Gransburg, and Jackie Johnson.

The Grays will probably meet Wellington in the first game Thursday afternoon. A meeting of tournament officials will be held tomorrow night to decide who will play the rest of the week. Wellington likely will be the team to beat for tournament honors. Gober will probably use Pat Malone against the T. & O. leaguers.

Tables Turn After 15 Years Trouble

"Sargon turned the tables for me after I had tried for 15 years to get well of stomach trouble. Now I am gaining every day. I went from 119 to 130 pounds, a gain of 11 pounds in three weeks on just three bottles. That's pretty good for a man 62 years old."

"I suffered day and night for almost 15 years and spent many hard earned dollars for medicines, but none of them reached my case until I got Sargon. I felt weak and sick from morning until night. I would drag myself around but now I feel years younger and can keep going all day. I eat anything I want and have no trace of stomach trouble, head aches or dizzy spells any more."

"The Sargon Soft Mass Pills straightened out my liver and I no longer suffer from biliousness and constipation. It sure is great to be feeling like my old self again and I will always praise the Sargon treatment. There never was any medicine equal to it."

NEW ORLEANS UNIONS TO VOTE ON STRIKE

NEW ORLEANS, July 23. (P)—Members of the allied unions in New Orleans will meet tonight to ballot on the calling of a general strike in sympathy with the street car men's strike which today continued in a deadlock.

Efforts of the commission council to end the strike on friendly terms previously having failed, the council continued their conferences and asked to hold their executives in readiness for overtures.

GIRL STILL UNCONSCIOUS

SAN ANTONIO, July 23. (P)—Lola Bolts entered her fourteenth day of unconsciousness today, but physicians said she was recovering nicely from an injury to her skull suffered in an automobile accident. Since the accident she has been in a coma, but she is becoming restless and her doctors believe she will come to soon.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

JOHN CURTIS MORGAN, lawyer, is deserted by his wife, IRIS MORGAN, she singles with BEAT CRAWFORD for home. Morgan has recently won acquittal, though Morgan does not suspect Crawford. SAN CARROLL, Morgan's secretary, is deeply in love with him and by cleverly forcing Mrs. Morgan to work, saves him from utter despair after Iris' departure.

For six months she acts as long-distance housekeeper for him, allowing the love of her only-year-old CURTIS. Nan poses her big emotions and Morgan takes her into the same room. She tells her he is divorcing Iris and begs her to marry him this week.

Their forced marriage continues for three months, when Nan decides she will have to leave. The next morning, Iris, deserted by Crawford, returns. She finds Morgan in an effort to being Morgan to his knees. Nan determines to fight and the doctor removes Iris to a hospital.

Curtis is hostile to Nan as his mother and Morgan sends him to do something for her. Nan goes to do something for her. Nan goes to do something for her. Nan goes to do something for her.

TO HER BRAIN

The boy was feverish in one brief visit. Iris had done that to him, by feeding him all the chocolates he could stuff. Biting her tongue to hold back a too hasty answer, the girl studied the child, placing a mental picture of him as he had been a year ago beside the boy he had become since she had been in charge of his life.

The Curtis of a year ago had been thin, anemic, nervous, lonely, wistfully unhappy, violent of temper. The product of more than six years of Iris Morgan's mothering. In less than one year she—Nan—had changed that Curtis into a sturdy, healthy, happy, obedient little boy, beautifully adjusted to school and home life. Did she have the right to abandon him now? Him, and the father who had needed her just as sorely and profited as obviously under her care?

HER HEART WAS ALMOST AT PEACE

when she crept into bed. Both her doors were unlocked. Her husband could come to her, if he wished. But she did not listen for his footsteps, for she was sure that he would not come. Because bitterness had melted out of her heart she was able to put herself in his place that night. She felt the grief and pain he must be suffering. Recalled from the thought of love-making, even of seeking comfort, just as he must be receding. Poor John! Poor, torn victim of a passion he had thought dead, and of a love that was still too new and delicate to weather the storm of that fierce, reviving passion for a woman who was unworthy but incredibly desirable. Poor John! She could almost hear him groan: "God forgive me, for I love two women."

THE FOURTH DAY AFTER IRIS' RETURN

was Christmas Eve. Nan had bought an elaborate carpentering outfit for Curtis, as well as all the materials he could need in constructing a toy airplane. His father had consulted her anxiously as to the advisability of giving the boy a bicycle. Knowing Curtis' passionate desire for the wheel, Nan had encouraged its purchase, with the assurance that he would obey their injunctions to ride only on sidewalks. But the bicycle had not been bought. On Christmas Eve Morgan confessed hesitatingly:

"His mother was afraid of an accident. She said perhaps a toy automobile would be more safe. It's quite big. Operates with pedals, you know. I hope he'll like it."

Nan flushed hotly as she applauded the choice with apparent cheerfulness. Of course Iris had put her in the wrong, had made John feel that his son's very life was in danger, so long as Nan had control of him.

VERY SLOWLY AND CAREFULLY SHE ANSWERED:

"No, Curtis. Your mother didn't mean that you could choose whether I went away and she came back. I am your father's wife now, you know, and unless he wants me to go, I must stay and— and make you both as happy as I possibly can."

CHAPTER XL

"HEAVEN KNOWS," Nan Morgan reflected despairingly, "it would be hard enough to be a second wife under any circumstances, but to be called upon to explain and justify one's status to the seven-year-old child of the first wife..."

But the boy's eyes were fixed upon her, in an inexorable, unchildlike demand for an answer to his question. By simply answering "Yes," Nan knew she could win the first skirmish in the battle between herself and Iris for the loyalty of the child. For he was just and logical beyond his years. And the answer would be the simple truth.

Iris had known that she was giving John Curtis Morgan his freedom to marry again when she deserted him. But somehow she could not fight that way. In later years, Curtis could not truthfully say that his stepmother had destroyed his ideal of his mother. If it were to be destroyed, Iris herself must be the destroyer.

TEARS GUSHED UP THE GIRL'S EYES

thinking at them, she stopped swiftly and looked him with a fierceness that embarrassed, with it pleased him.

"You do love Nan, don't you, darling?" she begged, pride completely routed for the moment.

"Sure I do!" Curtis answered, with masculine brusqueness. "And I love my mother, too. I guess I love you both nearly the same. A kid has to love his own mother the best, don't he?—I mean, doesn't he?"

The child's preoccupation with grammar in face of the tremendous issues involved struck Nan as irresistibly funny. She was laughing almost hysterically as she tucked the covers about him and gave him a good-night kiss.

"Good night, Nan," he murmured, suddenly drowsy. "Listen, I'd love you best—lots the best. But—" Conscientiousness, loyalty and griefed bewilderment gave up the battle then, routed by sleep.

Nan stood looking down upon him for a long minute, and there was no laughter in her heart or eyes. Then she tilted from the room, her head of despair a little lighter. That naive confession of Curtis' had crystallized her indecision—turned it into firm determination. She would fight Iris Morgan to the last ditch. Iris was poison for the man and the child. No matter if they cried for that sugar-coated poison. It was her duty to protect them.

Standing in the middle of her room Nan Morgan cried out to the God she so sorely needed: "Dear God, help me to win—for their sakes! You know it isn't because I'm in love with John Curtis Morgan that I want to hold him against Iris. Of course I love him with all my heart, but if it were for his good, I would leave him tonight. You know I'm sincerely proud, that if I listened to my pride, I'd make him choose between us this minute. But oh, dear God, he needs me, and the child needs me. Help me to humble my pride, so that I can fight the harder. Help me to win."

She needed courage and strength to carry her through the days that followed immediately upon Iris Morgan's return. Her husband was a stricken man, though he tried, with obvious and heartbreaking conscientiousness, to present a normally cheerful face to his family and to his downtown world. He was patetically grateful for Nan's quiet acceptance of his moodiness, and, she believed, for her unmisgivingly firm "Good night" in the drawing-room each evening. Sometimes, when she was thus making it clear that she did not expect him to play the lover or husband while his heart was a battleground, his eyes met hers with wistful questioning, as if they were mutely asking: "Do you really understand and forgive me, Nan? Do you see how it is with me? Don't you know that I love you, too, but that I can't come to you just yet?"

And her own round, childish-but-wise eyes told him: "I do understand. Don't you worry your dear head about me now. But love me as much as you can."

Two days after Iris' return John Curtis Morgan presented his legal wife with a smart little coupe, explaining awkwardly:

"A prosperous firm like ours ought to be able to afford two cars, don't you think? I want you to feel free to come and go as you please, without bothering about how I'm going to get around."

As she thanked him, Nan's heart contracted sharply. Was the car a clumsy attempt at peace-making? Surely he did not think he had to bribe her to be patient and cheerful as unworthy of both of them. The car would be a great convenience. It would permit her to stay at home later in the months, so that she could put a greater emphasis upon her housekeeping and home-making. Another weapon against Iris, who had not cared enough to turn the house into a home. Of course, she would miss those companionable trips downtown together. Nan reflected ruefully, but these last two days they had been a strain upon both of them. Was that, possibly, the reason he had contrived to make them unnecessary?

FOR FOUR DAYS FATHER AND SON MADE AFTERNOON TRIPS TO THE HOSPITAL TO SEE THE WOMAN WHO HAD

deserted them and who had now "hugged" herself upon their mercy. After that first day, those trips were not mentioned. Not even Curtis referred to them, but each evening he had no appetite for his dinner, and Nan realized, helplessly, that Iris was stuffing him with unwholesome sweets. And she could not forbid him to accept. She could imagine the boy's quick retort: "I guess my own mother knows what's good for me!" No; her hands were tied.

The fourth day after Iris' return was Christmas Eve. Nan had bought an elaborate carpentering outfit for Curtis, as well as all the materials he could need in constructing a toy airplane. His father had consulted her anxiously as to the advisability of giving the boy a bicycle. Knowing Curtis' passionate desire for the wheel, Nan had encouraged its purchase, with the assurance that he would obey their injunctions to ride only on sidewalks. But the bicycle had not been bought. On Christmas Eve Morgan confessed hesitatingly:

"His mother was afraid of an accident. She said perhaps a toy automobile would be more safe. It's quite big. Operates with pedals, you know. I hope he'll like it."

Nan flushed hotly as she applauded the choice with apparent cheerfulness. Of course Iris had put her in the wrong, had made John feel that his son's very life was in danger, so long as Nan had control of him.

Decorating the Christmas tree was a rather chastely ordeal, for the ghost of the living mother, who should have been there hovered over the girl and the man during the whole ceremony.

"No fair peeping or shaking the box," Morgan warned Nan, with a forced jocularity that made her throat ache with tears, as he tied her present to a branch of the tree.

"I wonder if he's giving Iris a Christmas present," she could not help asking herself. "Of course he helped Curtis choose something for her, and I'm glad he did. But oh, I'll be relieved when Christmas is over!"

But when Christmas Day actually dawned, all her own private heartache was swallowed up in a terrible anxiety about Curtis. Nan and Morgan had said to each other with pretended reluctance that they supposed the boy would be up before daylight, whooping over his tree and presents, and making it impossible for anyone else to sleep, but when eight o'clock came, there had been no sound from his room. Vaguely worried, Nan went to wake him and found him heavily-eyed with fever. "Within half an hour Dr. Black was there, looking grave, and pronouncing the trouble an upset digestion."

"And I've been holding you up as an example to all the mothers on my list," the doctor chided Nan gently. "Have you been falling down on your job?"

John Curtis Morgan, who was standing beside his wife, answered for her, his face flushed with embarrassment. "I think the blame, doctor, I'm afraid I've been indulging the boy behind his mother—Nan's back. She never lets him eat between meals, but I—" He stumbled over the lie, shifted his eyes.

The doctor nodded, his eyes narrowed. "I think I understand, Morgan. But no one must be permitted to tamper with Nan's disciplines of the boy. No one!"

At the end of the long, anxious day came a telegram for John Curtis Morgan.

Cheyenne Has Big Water Source

CHEYENNE, Okla., July 23. (Special)—Cheyenne now has a water supply of 96,000 gallons daily, providing not only an ample amount of pure, soft water for consumption of the patrons, but adequate fire protection for the first time in the history of the city.

The water is from springs 15 feet under the surface of the ground. It is filtered through crushed rock into open-jointed tile, thence into tightly covered cement catch basins. It is run into the city standpipe by gravity flow, and never reaches the air until it is run through faucets in the homes.

EDWARD SCHLEE HURT
DETROIT, Mich., July 23. (P)—Edward F. Schlee, president of the Schlee-Brock Aircraft corporation, who with William S. Brock flew from Detroit to Tokyo two years ago, suffered a fractured skull when struck by a plane propeller at the Detroit city airport shortly before 7 a. m., today. His condition was said to be serious.

Moody Is Cutting Education Bill

AUSTIN, July 23. (P)—As a sample of what his work will be on the $48,000,000 general appropriation bill, Governor Moody has vetoed $29,861 from the educational and departmental emergency measure passed by the second called session of the 41st legislature.

Also he disapproved the $100,000 Crockett memorial bill, providing for construction of a building in the town of Crockett to the memory of the Texas hero from whom it got its name. He had said previously he would not approve the bill at this time.

He filed with the secretary of state without his signature a bill creating a new road law for Haino county. Items deleted from the emergency appropriation bill included $10,000 to rebuild a barn destroyed by fire on the Ramsey state prison farm; $8,000 to complete unfinished work for preservation of the General Sam Houston home at Huntsville; $5,000 to pay salaries of instructors at John Tarleton Agricultural college, Stephenville, during 1928-29, and $3,000 for printing at the same institution; $1,161 for the replacement of defective electrical service lines at Southwest Texas State Teachers' college, San Marcos; $700 for repairs at the same school, and $2,000 to pay the mileage, per diem and expenses of members of the department of education.

TROOPS GUARD NEGRO
EUPAULA, Ala., July 23. (P)—A special train, bringing Lester Boyer, negro slayer, and 150 national guardsmen called out by Gov. Bibb Graves to protect him from threatened mob violence, arrived here at 8 a. m., today. The train was met at the station by an orderly crowd estimated at from 1,000 to 1,500. There was no disorder.

RECORD ATTEMPT FAILS
SHREVEPORT, La., July 23. (P)—Failing in their first attempt at an endurance flight record, W. Currey Sanders and Van Lear Leary, Louisiana aviators, held hopes of trying again. Their plane, the KWKH, which began its flight at 10:30 a. m., last Wednesday, was forced down at 7:17 o'clock last night five miles from Shreveport, due to motor trouble. The aviators had been in the air approximately 128 1/2 hours.

Prettiest Indian in Southwest

Princess Lou-Scha-Enya; above, is said to be the most beautiful Indian girl in the southwest. Known as the "humming bird" of the Chickasaws, she will have the leading role in the dramatic Indian spectacle to be produced at Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 21-24, inclusive. She is a full-blooded Chickasaw Indian, an accomplished singer, and plays her own accompaniment.

Cooke County Is Excited Over Oil

GAINESVILLE, July 23. (P)—Much excitement prevailed here today with the drilling in of what was believed to be Cooke county's first "legitimate gusher"—the Kewanee Oil & Gas company's No. 6 R. J. Timmis.

The well, in the E. T. Railroad company survey, abstract 363, which topped sand at 1,466 feet yesterday, has been flowing at the rate of 240 barrels hourly since late yesterday. The producer is an east offset to the Humble company's No. 3 Potest, which came in yesterday making 400 barrels daily, in the Bulcher field, 25 miles northwest of Gainesville.

WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND AND THEN SHOTS SELF
SAN ANGELO, July 23. (P)—Jealousy over her husband's supposed attentions to other women was blamed by officers here today for the death last night of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hourahan of Dallas. Police said Mrs. Hourahan shot her husband and turned the gun on herself. The husband apparently died at once, but Mrs. Hourahan lived until she reached the hospital. Very little is known about the Hourahans here, as they had been here only 10 days. The shooting took place at their hotel room.

Oil Production Shows Increase

TULSA, Okla., July 23. (P)—Despite an approximately 3,000 barrel decrease in the Oklahoma fields the estimated daily average production in light and heavy crude oil in other fields of the United States during the week ending July 20 increased approximately 26,736 barrels, according to the current report of the Oil and Gas Journal.

This makes a total increase of approximately 168,357 barrels during the five weeks period ending July 20. West Texas production increased approximately 17,000 barrels while the total Midcontinent area zoomed upward approximately 25,000 barrels. Continued deep drilling areas increased in the Santa Fe Springs field, California, brought the increase for that state in light oil to approximately 9,000 barrels.

Light oil increases in all fields of the country totaled 33,751 barrels. Heavy crude decreases, however, decreased the total increase to the 26,736 mark. The estimated daily average production in the United States for the week ending July 20, was 2,911,543, as compared to 2,884,897 for the previous week. Kansas production was 124,575 as compared to 121,215 for the week ending July 13.

New Realty Firm Is Formed Here

Announcement has been made here of the formation of a new real estate partnership, composed of H. Meers and T. W. Jamison. The firm has offices in the I. O. O. F. building.

Mr. Meers, formerly of Amarillo, has been in the oil and real estate business for 25 years. Mr. Jamison, well known local man, has been in business here for several years and is well acquainted with real estate values and opportunities.

The firm is handling acreage blocks for test wells and royalties, leases, city property, farms, ranches, and equities.

Memphis Mayor Is Visitor Here

Mayor John Harrison of Memphis and George Sager, secretary of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, were visitors here yesterday.

The two Memphis men came to confer with John Surratt, secretary of the Kessler Planning association, who will visit Memphis tomorrow. Mr. Surratt was here yesterday and in Clarendon today. Mr. Harrison had not visited Pampa in some time and was agreeably surprised at the rapid and stable growth of the city.

First "Duster" in New Pool Found

The Texas company has the first "duster" in the new Finley-Brown pool. The company's No. 6 Cook-Paulkner, in section 29, block B-2, H. & G. N. survey, was drilled to a total depth of 2,839 feet when a heavy encroachment of water was encountered. Light shows of oil and gas were encountered higher up, but were not enough to prove the test. There are 15 producing wells in the pool and only one dry hole. There are 25 drilling tests in that pool.

"Bad Man" Now Reported at Large

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., July 23. (P)—Suffering from a bullet wound thought not to have been treated since it was inflicted Saturday night in an exchange of shots with a deputy sheriff, Bud King today was reported terrorizing settlers in the Arbuckle mountains near here.

A posse of 14 Garvin county officers was on his trail, but had paused temporarily to await arrival of bloodhounds from the penitentiary.

King seriously wounded A. L. Pickens, deputy sheriff, after the officer had ordered him to surrender a gun at a dance hall Saturday night. King stepped back, drew the weapon and opened fire on Pickens, three shots taking effect. The officer returned the fire before he fell, wounding King in the face. King fled.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Powell Wehrung had as guests for the week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Routh of Hamlin.

Markets

WHEAT FLUCTUATES

CHICAGO, July 23. (P)—Quick setbacks from early new advances developed in Chicago grain markets today in much less one-sided trading than has been the rule of late. Continued "no rain" reports from the drought region northwest were largely offset by advices that Argentine wheat is being offered in Europe at sharp discounts under wheat from the United States and Canada.

Opening  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  higher, wheat rose a little further and then rapidly fluctuating went below yesterday's finish. Corn and oats were relatively firm, with corn starting  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  up and afterward maintaining strength. Provisions declined.

Wheat closed nervous, 1-7-8 to 2-3-4 under yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to 1-1-8 higher, oats 1-4 to 1-2c down and provisions unchanged to 45c off.
