Japan Fetes Wilson's Widow

Briggs to Tell Chamber Members of Recent Session

Reports on the El Paso convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, with survey of prospects for the regional organization and for formation of a Panhandle body will be made tomorrow at the regular monthly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce.

George Briggs, who attended the El Paso meeting, returned last night, and will be ready at that time with a full report on the convention.

The luncheon will be at the First Methodist church at 12 o'clock, and all members of the Chamber are urged to be present promptly. Attendance cards have been mailed, and those who expect to attend have been asked to indicate on the postal cards and send them back to the Chamber.

Judge Ewing Is Delayed by Mud

Muddy roads between Pampa and Miami this morning prevented the arrival of Judge W. R. Ewing, and Judge C. G. Engledow who has been presiding judge for a month continued to sit on the bench. Judge Ewing is expected to arrive sometime today.

As soon as the case in which Arnold Drilling company is suing Eli Howell and others, goes to the jury, the trial of Johnnie Bowman for murder will begin. In the case now before the court, the plaintiff is asking for $10,000 damages, while the defendant is also asking for damages for an alleged breach of contract.

Judge Ewing returned yesterday from Marlin where he has been taking treatment for rheumatism.

The driving park near Memphis, Tenn., where Lou Dillon, famed trotting mare of 25 years ago, stepped a mile in less than two minutes, is no more. A factory will be built on the park.

Whitey Walker Evidence Lacking

CALHOUN MAY DISMISS CASE AGAINST HIM

Bailey Testimony Not Available for Trial

MURDERS STILL ARE UNPROVED

Oklahoma May Try to Get Conviction for Robbery

BORGER, Oct. 28.—(P)—With no evidence except the uncorroborated testimony of Ed Bailey, held under a similar indictment, District Attorney Clem Calhoun today indicated that there was little hope of convicting Whitey Walker on a murder charge in Hutchinson county.

Walker is held for trial on a charge of killing Deputies Elmer Terry and Pat Kenyon on the night of April 1, 1927. The officers were searching for bank bandits who held up the First National bank of Pampa on March 30, 1927, and escaped with more than $32,000, and were shot down by men who blocked the highway north of Borger.

"All in God's world I have against Walker is the uncorroborated evidence of Ed Bailey, who is indicted the same as Walker," Calhoun said today. "If anyone has any other testimony I would certainly like to have it."

Mr. Calhoun has written to the county attorney at Purcell, Okla., for a synopsis of testimony in connection with the robbery of a bank at Allen, Okla., in which Walker is claimed to be implicated. He indicated that if Oklahoma has a stronger indictment against Walker the Hutchinson county charge may be dismissed.

Interviewed at the Hutchinson county jail, Walker said that he felt confident he would go free here. He denied having any connection with the gangs of Mathew Kimes, Ray Terrell, or Ace Pendleton. He said that, once cleared of the murder charges in Borger, he would not mind so much going to Oklahoma.

Walker praised the sheriff at Colorado Springs, Colo., for running down the Flegle gang. Walker had been identified by Lamar, Colo., witnesses as a member of the robber gang which held up the Colorado bank—a fact he attributed to the appearance of his picture in so many papers that persons were apt to jump to conclusions and charge him with crimes he did not commit. He declared that had not the Flegles been arrested, he might already have been electrocuted for the Lamar robbery and murders.

Walker also is connected by officers with the murder of Policeman Coke Buchanan on Dixon street in Borger on the evening of March 18, 1927, but evidence is also lacking to support this charge, Mr. Calhoun said.

Lyceum Number to Be Presented at Central High

A program of instrumental music, impersonations, and readings will be given by the Frazier Concert company at the high school auditorium tomorrow evening as the opening number of the Lyceum series to be given here this season under the auspices of the Harvester year-book staff.

A well known pair on the lyceum the chataqua circuits, the Fraziers are expected to present one of the finest programs that will be seen here this year, Miss VeLora Reed, faculty sponsor of the Harvester, said in announcing the lyceum. Twenty-two characters will be impersonated by Mr. Frazier, and sixteen instruments will be played in the program.

Season tickets for the five numbers of the course, as well as tickets for the single performance, are on sale by high school students.

John R. Fullington of Amarillo is attending court here today.

Villa's Head Is Stolen and Heart of Bruce Is Missing

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—(P)—The head of Pancho Villa, noted rebel general slain some years ago, again has furnished material for sensational stories.

It was discovered some time after Villa's death his body had been exhumed and the head stolen. Since that time stories purporting to give the head's whereabouts have cropped up frequently.

The latest appeared in a dispatch to El Universal saying a Mexican woman who refused to give her name had been held by border authorities for attempting to smuggle the head into Mexico from the United States.

The dispatch says the woman, when the head was found in her baggage, declared it was Villa's. This did not disturb the customs officials so much as the fact that the head was stuffed in various places with gold, and until the woman pays duty on the metal she will not be permitted to proceed.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(P)—The heart of Robert the Bruce, great Scottish chieftain, is missing. Eight years ago the casket believed to contain Bruce's heart was taken from excavations at Melrose abbey and given over for safekeeping to the public works at Edinburgh.

It was intended eventually to comply with the chieftain's dying request that it be conveyed to the Holy Land. But in some way it has been mislaid, or purloined, and it appears that Bruce dead may be no more successful than Bruce living in the holy pilgrimage.

Many Divorces Are Granted Here

Twenty-nine divorce decrees have been granted and one has been refused since the present session of the 31st district court began five weeks ago. Also, a divorce was granted to Erene Horn from R. K. Horn, but was set aside next day when it was found that the plaintiff had not lived in Texas a year before plea for divorce was made.

A divorce was refused P. E. Barker, Mrs. Zereta Parker being defendant. Divorces were granted as follows: Cora McPherson from H. D. McPherson; W. H. Baxter from Agnes C. Baxter; Jack Collins from Mabel Collins; S. W. Lowe from Nora Lee Lowe, plaintiff being awarded custody of four children; Foy Hudzietz from H. O. Hudzietz, plaintiff being awarded custody of child; B. C. Rutheford from Eva June Rutheford; Ruth Hamilton from Edgar Hamilton; Hatlie Henry from W. W. Henry; W. O. Kelly from Dolly Kelly; Ted Street from Mary Street; Lena Wright from J. A. Wright; Lillie Effie White from C. E. White; Mollie Brelsford from N. W. Brelsford; Georgia Zollar from Herman Zollar; J. C. Copeland from Millie Copeland; Alberta Griffith from Roy Griffith, plaintiff being awarded custody of child; F. J. Whitehurst from Lucille Whitehurst; Albert Tucker from Gladys Tucker; D. R. Magerkurth from Susie Ellen Magerkurth; Gladys Bufkin from E. F. Bufkin; Effie Titus from C. Titus; Flo E. Jordan from T. B. Jordan; Anna Bell Baldwin from Roscoe Baldwin.

Contrary to the usual belief, the majority of the couples had children. In most of the suits, the couples had previously agreed as to the custody of the child.

Nearly Inch of Rain Falls Here

Gray county yesterday, last night, and early today drew the criticism of travelers who had to fight mud from the Carson county paving on into Pampa, a distance of about 8 miles.

By careful driving, motorists made the 8 miles without chains in about an hour, many reported. Others who tried to make the lap faster had not reported—they went into the bar-ditches along the road. The stretch is due to be paved next spring.

Rainfall here during the week-end amounted to .97 of an inch. Intermittent sunshine today helped to dry the roads, but probable showers for the next few days seemed in prospect.

Junior Class Will Give Chapel Program

The junior class of Central high school will stage this week's chapel program at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, at the gymnasium auditorium, according to the announcement from Miss Bernice Whiteley and Miss Fannie May, faculty members in charge of chapel arrangements.

Details of the program were kept secret, but an hour of delightful entertainment has been promised the student body and the public. Supt. R. B. Fisher and other faculty members join the students in extending an invitation to patrons of the school and the general public to attend chapel every Wednesday morning.

Chevrolet Firm Will Add Building to City Auto Row

Excavation of the foundation for the new home of the Culbertson-Smalling Chevrolet company at the intersection of North Ballard street and Francis avenue began this morning.

The building will be erected at a cost of approximately $35,000. It will be 100 feet wide and 140 feet long. It will have one floor which will be occupied by the motor company. The structure will be built of brick, reinforced with steel.

The Plains Construction company is erecting the building with James Pearson in charge. The project is expected to be completed in about two months.

With the completion of this building and the Thut-Saunders building at the corner of Kingsmill, Ballard street is rapidly developing into "automobile row." Located on this street now are Pampa Motor company, and Rose Motor company.

The Thut-Saunders building, new home of the Thut Saunders Motor company is rapidly nearing completion. It was erected at a cost of $75,000.

Choral Club Will Practice Tonight

The newly organized city choral club will meet this evening for regular practice. It meets each Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the music cottage just south of the Central gymnasium.

John Lee Harris last week was elected president of the organization.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—(P)—Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, whose fortune of millions grew from a stake in the Klondike gold rush today faced a prison sentence of from one to fifty years following his conviction on a statutory charge by a jury here last night. The verdict will be appealed.

Pantages, 54 years old, was found guilty of an attack on Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, when the girl went to his office to book a vaudeville skit on his theatrical circuit.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated 21 hours, but from the first ballot agreed Pantages was guilty. The delay in returning the verdict was occasioned by the jury's inability to agree whether Pantages should be sentenced to one year in the county jail or from one to fifty years in the penitentiary. The jury finally agreed on the longer sentence at 9:29 o'clock last night.

Pantages became prisoner number 119,251 in the Los Angeles county jail, pending pronouncement of sentence Friday by Superior Judge Charles Fricke.

The vaudeville impresario, who recently sold several of his western theatres for $15,000,000, took his conviction stoically, and declared: "I'm going to fight it out."

Pantages was immediately remanded to the custody of the sheriff and taken to the county jail, where he was booked and garbed in the jail uniform of blue denim.

In his cell Pantages said he had instructed his attorneys to carry an appeal of his conviction to the higher courts.

Claims "Raw Deal"

"I got a raw deal. I didn't have a chance with the jury," Pantages said. "They were against me from the beginning. Looks like a man doesn't have a chance when a woman tries to frame him as I have been framed. But don't you think I am beaten?"

His family, with the exception of his wife, was in the courtroom when the verdict was read. Mrs. Pantages was ill at her home, following her recent conviction of a charge of manslaughter as a result of an automobile accident in which Japanese was killed.

Carmen Pantages, young daughter of the defendant, was in an ante-room of the court. Mrs. Dixie Martin, an adopted daughter, fled from the courtroom in tears. Rodney and Lloyd escorted their father to the prisoner's room.

Mrs. Pantages broke into tears when told her husband had been convicted. Her physicians asserted she was in a serious condition.

At a downtown hotel where she had been living with her mother, Miss Pringle said she was "very glad of the result."

Welfare Board to Meet on Tuesday

The executive board of the Pampa Welfare society is to meet at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the B. C. D. auditorium, for a regular business session.

Mrs. M. P. Downs, secretary, said that important matters would be discussed, and urged that every member attend.

NO TIME LOST IN OPENING OF MURDER CASE

Two Jurors Chosen by Lawyers Up to Noon

NOTED MEN TO BE WITNESSES

Defense Hints of Man Who "Cussed" the Defendant

WEATHERFORD, Oct. 28.—(P)—That self-defense would be R. H. Hamilton's plea in his trial for the murder of his son-in-law Tom Walton, Jr., 21, last May 4 was indicated today. At the noon recess two jurors had been selected from nine veniremen questioned.

Although no direct charges were made R. B. Hood of Weatherford, member of the defense counsel intimated in questioning prospective jurors that a man had been attempting to spread an idea thru this section that Hamilton was guilty. Hood once referred to the man as a "tall, red-headed man who posed as an insurance salesman" and again as "a tall fellow with molasses-colored hair." Neither venireman had heard of the man, they declared. Hood, in his question, declared the red-headed man had been "cussin" Hamilton.

Two Jurors Married
Both jurors chosen were married men with children, and fathers of children with children, and farmers. One D. D. Cannon, first venireman questioned, was a church member. Cannon is 39. The second juror, J. E. Glenn, is 47. He has a daughter 17 years of age, the age at which Theresa, Hamilton's daughter and the widow of the man her father is charged with having murdered, married Walton while she and Walton were students in the University of Texas.

Theresa and Mrs. Hamilton sat on each side of the defendant when court opened, but Theresa later left. The girl was not called on the defense list of witnesses, but her sister Helen, also a student in the university, was. Two other girls, students at the state school were called. Among other witnesses for the defendant, former member of the supreme court, commission of appeals and former instructor at Baylor university at Waco, were Dr. S. F. Brooks, Dallas politician, and Reese Tatum, Judge of the 69th district at Dalhart.

One state and two defense challenges were used to excuse veniremen. Fifteen are allowed.

District Attorney Edward Thomson qualified all veniremen on scruples against capital punishment.

Judge Carter assessed fines of $10 each against veniremen who were not in the courtroom.

Smoking was banned because of the crowded courtroom, and the judge said only lawyers and newspapermen would be allowed inside the railing. There were 29 lawyers and newspapermen.

As the veniremen were questioned, Hamilton was inside the railing. Later, however, as District Attorney Edward Thomson called his list of witnesses, the defendant walked into the auditorium, taking a seat between his wife and daughter, Theresa. He listened attentively to proceedings, his eyes scanning the courtroom.

Discussion Barred
Questioning of veniremen began immediately. Judge Carter warned them not to discuss the case and sent all but 15 of them outside the courtroom. The 15 were ordered to the judge's office to await questioning.

Witnesses remained in the courtroom after the veniremen left. The seats, vacated by prospective jurors, were filled almost before they were emptied. There still were enough spectators to line the walls. The courtroom has a seating capacity of about 500.

As the first venireman was brought back into the courtroom, Hamilton and Mrs. Hamilton moved to seats inside the railing. Theresa left the courtroom.

AMARILLO PEOPLE EVIDENTLY SAW THROUGH THE MUDDIED WATER
SITUATION ONLY IMPERFECTLY, AND LACKING
SUFFICIENT UNDERSTANDING SNOWED UNDER THE $200,000 BOND ISSUE.

It was a case of good folks claiming that each side was right, while the perplexed majority decided to await clearer
understanding in the matter.
It may be asked why there was not a Moses to lead the people out of the middle. This is not as easy as it may seem. When experts—engineers—differ, the rest of us lose interest in the technical arguments of a question.

Anyone who has inspected the well built dam on Amarillo's
water property will wonder whether rains will ever be sufficient to fill it, and whether the seepage and evaporation will not almost equal the "catch" of the watershed. Any city contemplating a dam in this dry country away from a
this day country away from a well to study Amarillo's dam.

We are not saying that it may not yet prove valuable.
Sweetwater has a dam which forms Trammel lake. This lake catches much water—when it rains, but it can rain a remarkable lot without affecting the lake. So Sweetwater is to have another water site and another water reservoir. A water supply is worth almost any reasonable price, but the waste connected with developing a supply can be tremendous.

Since this discussion naturally brings up the question of Pampa's water supply, it may be said that apparently the local problem is solved for the present insofar as domestic consumption is concerned.
Pampa has an available
supply, despite dire predictions to the contrary, of more than double the average peak demand.
It is true that loss of one of the big wells would diminish this supply, but that risk is present in any such system.

The year's figures likely will show that more than $100,000
has been spent for new wells,
storage, and water extensions.
This will be paid for out of water receipts. Water profits, about which so much dissatisfaction
is heard, are being used to help finance enlargement of the water supply. If a bond election had been called to secure more water, local rates could have been lowered. The cost must be paid either through water profits or tax increases.

And now that the cost of the water expenditure is known,
and profits in the department likewise, it is only logical that the city commission will be able to arrange a schedule of payments which will make a substantial reduction in water rates possible. Water will never be more in demand than next spring, summer and fall.

Not only should rates be lower from a cost standpoint, but they should be lower to encourage use of more water in developing lawns. Pampa has passed through a period in which it was sincerely hoped by the water department that consumption would not pass the supply. But now that the supply is available, as claimed, the situation is altered. A cheaper rate should encourage higher consumption with little loss in total department receipts,
if any at all.

Public utilities have long recognized that cheaper rates
often mean greater income, together with lower cost per unit of service rendered. So it should be with Pampa water.
For her future water supply,
Pampa would do well to look
to a cheaper source than deep wells afford. Abundant shallow water is available in several directions within a 15-mile radius. While modern pumps have been perfected to the point of reducing the former high cost of lifting water, initial cost of deep wells is great. Moreover, shallow wells can be sunk within a few days, as contrasted with the several weeks or months to drill deep tests. Pipelines are expensive, but not relatively so where a very large supply is desired. Pampa must think of her future, and one of the first thoughts in such thinking concerns
her highly essential water supply. Los Angeles
will spend millions to get more water; Pampa also in ratio to her growth.

TWINKLES

Today's simile: As downcast
as a golfer on a rainy day.

Percy, the office mouse, got his name by always appearing sleek and up-town. At this writing he is venturing out
from behind the wastebasket, smoothing his silken coat and looking at us with bright, mischievous eyes.

After looking at Houston's
marvelous building permit
totals each week, and reading of her busy ship channel, we almost wish there was some basis to this navigable stream
business in Gray county.

Texans applauded the bull
other day. The bull doesn't get any such deference in the
in the Juarez bull fight the bull fests around this talkative
city.

Heard: Prominent citizen
say he was going to drive over the Carson-Potter concrete in a bad rainstorm soon just so he could laugh at the mud along side. And since the rain is falling as this is written, he should not have to wait long.

TEXAS-S. M. U. GAME TO BE ONLY BIG ATTRACTION NEXT
SATURDAY IN SOUTHWESTERN

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.,
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—T has university, standing an excellent chance to do something no other Southwest conference team has accomplished—win two straight championships—will encounter what promises to be its most severe test to date when it meets the Southern Methodist university
Mustangs here Saturday.

The annual battle between the Longhorn and Mustangs will command the Southwest spotlight for the week. It is the only major attraction scheduled.
Owby stadium will be packed to the gunwales for a spectacular offensive conflict. Texas, with victories over Arkansas and Rice, is leading the title race, while the Mustangs have yet to face a conference foe.

Three other conference teams have declared what amounts to a holiday for the week. Baylor, smarting from a 27 to 12 setback at the hands of Centenary college, will engage Texas Tech at Waco. Texas Christian, its fifth straight victory salted away, meets the North Texas Teachers at Fort Worth.
The Aggies, dumped unceremoniously
from the title chase by Arkansas, 14,
to 13, entertain the Stephen F. Austin Teachers at College Station.

Arkansas is booked against Louisiana State at Shreveport. The game by special dispensation will count in the Razor back's conference standing, but it can make little difference either way now that the Porkers are out of the running.

The Rice Owls, who ran about true
to form in dropping their initial conference game to Texas, 39 to 0, engage
St. Edward's university at Houston.
As the Saints made a better showing against Texas in an earlier game than the Owls did Saturday, it looks like another tough afternoon for the feathered ones.

One of the season's mightiest battles
should result from the Texas-S.
M. U. meeting. The Longhorns, victorious in their first five starts and unscathed upon, have left little room to doubt their power. The Mustangs, something of an unknown quantity up to the time they encountered "Ole Miss" Saturday, are well known now.
The way Coach Ray Morrison's smart
young men cracked down on the boys
from the Old South was a caution.
The score, 52 to 0, might have been 100 to 0 had not the Mustang coach to see Jim Ferguson. He says he never saw a concrete road 10 years old that did not need costly repair work. He should check the roads he has in mind

up to the engineers who supervised the work. The country is full of concrete structures 20 years old or more which are still in serviceable condition.

Five Persons Killed
in Texas Accidents

DALLAS, Oct. 28. (AP)—Sunday accidents took five lives in Texas. Three deaths were in automobile accidents.

Oscar Brookshire of Mineola was fatally injured at Nacogdoches when his car skidded and crashed into a telephone post.

W. C. Edwards, 78-year-old caretaker of the Galveston county park, was killed when his automobile was struck by a passenger train.

Dave Yeary, Victoria transfer driver, was believed smothered to death when his truck, skidded in the mud, turned over. He was pinned beneath the machine.

Woodrow Bailey, 16, was killed near his home in El Paso. A boulder, weighing at least a half ton, rolled on him on Mount Franklin. The boy had been on a picnic.

J. V. Dingles, 28, was electrocuted.
He came in contact with a short-circuited motor driven steel brush on a turbine still at a Fort Neches oil refinery.

"Second Bismarck"

He was 80 years old.

The prince had been ill for several days, although it was not until he contracted a heavy cold last week his condition was regarded as serious. He had been weakened with grief at his wife's death last January.

FAMILY QUARRELS COMMAND ATTENTION OF GRID PROGRAM OF CALIFORNIA AND IN EAST

By ALVAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor. Two family quarrels, one in New England and the other in California stand out this week on a football slate otherwise featured by a flock of inter-sectional debates.

The championship of the Pacific Coast conference will be a stake when Southern California meets California at Los Angeles in the second successive struggle of far western giants.

Pittsburgh and Norte Dame, two other unbeaten arrays and strong contenders for national honors, meet inter-sectional foes this week. The Panthers hope to defeat Ohio State. Notre

In the Southwest, the champion Texas Longhorns grapple Southern Southern Methodist in a game that may decide the 1929 title.

The Southern conference scramble will find Tennessee attacking Auburn, Tulane hooking up with Georgia, Clemson tackling the Kentucky Wildcats and Vanderbilt playing Alabama in games of championship significance.

The Big Six favorites, Nebraska and Missouri, fought to a 7-7 tie Saturday and this week turn their attention to Kansas and the Kansas Aggies, respectively.

In the Rocky Mountain area, Utah's champions oppose Brigham Young while Dutch Clark leads Colorado college against the Utah Aggies in an effort to stay in the conference van-guard.

CHAPTER XXV FOR a moment after Brent's cry of despair there was a ghastly silence in the room. From the lips of the stricken invalid on the bed there came a choking, gasping sound.

Brent, apparently lost in grief, heard it and understood its portent. He turned his head for a view of the man to whom he had dealt a death blow, but he did not go to him.

His unfortunate victim lay back on his pillow, staring in a fixed, unseeing way straight ahead. No revulsion of feeling, no mercy, came to the watcher as he saw the hand of death laid upon the aged and pallid brow of Cyril Cunningham.

It was all over in a few minutes. The dying man moved his eyes toward the end and fastened them upon Brent.

Then, suddenly, he raised himself in a convulsive, painful manner, flung a hand outward and in an instant sank back inert.

Brent waited, made sure that he was gone, and then calmly put his own clothing in order, smoothed his hair and went downstairs.

He met Marks in the lower hall on his way to Mr. Cunningham's room. Brent detained him with questions about what had been done in regard to his car. Marks told him that he had sent the gardener and his son to get it to Bramblewood.

Brent thanked him and started on. Pausing a few steps away he turned back and said: "I left Mr. Cunningham sleeping; he said he was tired."

"You assured him Miss Nellin was unhurt?" Marks inquired anxiously.

"Matter of fact," Brent said lightly, "didn't tell him there had been an accident at all. I merely said that Miss Nellin was detained downstairs by some friends who came in just as we arrived. I thought it better to do that as he looked rather bad."

BRENT took himself to the library and settled down with a newspaper while he waited for the result of Marks' discovery that Mr. Cunningham was dead.

It was not long in coming. Brent could hear him coming down the stains calling out something that his excitement made almost unintelligible. He got up and went to the door.

"Anything wrong, Marks?" he called in a tone of unconsciousness. "Marks cried: 'I could not rouse him. He may be dead.'"

"No!" Brent exclaimed in well-feigned horror. "I'll call Dr. Ralston," Marks said brokenly, and hurried over to the telephone that stood upon the large table in the center of the room.

"Give me the number; I'll attend to it," Brent told him. "You go back and see if there isn't something you can do for him."

Brent shrugged, attempted to smile apologetically and rather dismally failed. "It is the same thing," he said.

Eva drew in her breath, hesitated and then said with a courage that surprised herself: "You mean for me?"

Brent shrugged, attempted to smile apologetically and rather dismally failed. "It is the same thing," he said.

The board will recommend that the club hold a rummage sale on Saturday, Nov. 9, to raise money for Christmas charity; that it hold a public relations dinner some time during November; that it give a Christmas party for the members of the club; and that arrangements be made for short vocational talks to the upper class girls of Central high school. It will suggest, moreover, that the organization accept as future responsibilities the formation of a Junior Business Women's club and the provision of some playground equipment for the park which is to be developed.

The dinner meeting will be held at the Schneider hotel, at 7:30 o'clock. Entertainment for the evening has been planned by Mrs. Bobbie Butterfield, program chairman.

Mrs. J. L. Lester, primary supervisor, and Miss Iva June Willis, music supervisor, are to direct the performance.

A group of side shows will be sponsored by the Parent-Teachers associations of the city. Among these will be the wingless bat, the champion rope skipper, and a Gypsy fortune teller. Balloon, popcorn, candy, and hot and cold drink concessions also will be under the management of the P. T. A. The main show is to start at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced.

WHEAT RUSHES UPWARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (P)—Wheat went up with a rush today, as much as 4 1-4 cents a bushel as soon as trading began. Buying was on a big scale, chiefly owing to official announcement the United States government would loan $100,000,000 to the Farmers' National grain marketing corporation to enable farmers to hold their wheat. Heavy profit-taking sales, however, on the initial bulge in prices caused sharp setbacks from the top level.

Opening at 2 7-8 to 2 1-4c gain, wheat later steadied at about 2 cents above Saturday's finish. Corn and oats were also stronger, with corn starting 7.8 to 2 1-8c up, provisions had a downward slant.
