Pampa Poultry Show Twice as Large This Year as One in 1928

RABBIT EVENT ALSO BIG FOR FIRST EFFORT

Woodward, Okla., Has Many Entries Here

FINE ANIMALS ARE DISPLAYED

Public Invited to See Many Varieties Shown

With twice as many birds on exhibit this year as last, the second annual Pampa poultry show opened today in the Saunders-Thut building for a three-day exhibition.

The largest number of entries came from Woodward where poultry raisers collected 90 and sent them to Pampa. Almost as many Barred Rocks were brought from Panhandle by Dr. George P. Groat and his club boys.

Both poultry and rabbit exhibits are sponsored by the Pampa B. C. D. and the local association.

Not only in point of numbers but in quality and breeding the birds are superior to those shown last year, it is said. Some of the valuable ones are a pen of St. Johns big-sex White Leghorns, American White Leghorns and Barred Rocks of the Thompson Ringlet class.

The various breeds represented include Black Langshans, light Brahmas, Buff Orpingtons, red and white Leghorns, Blue Andalusians, white Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds, Barred Rocks, Japanese silkies, white Leghorns of both production and exhibition classes.

An unusual exhibit is a Japanese silkie hen and cock. These birds have feathers that resemble hair and their faces and combs are purple.

The Rhode Island Reds are both rose and single comb. Another unusual exhibit is a pen of buff Minorcas. Adjoining the show is a commercial feed booth of Stark and McMillan in charge of B. M. Anderson.

George Briggs manager of the local chamber of commerce who is in charge of the show is being assisted by R. B. Galloway, poultry expert employed by the Panhandle Lumber company.

Russell Middleton of Amarillo will judge the rabbits and R. C. Mowery professor of animal husbandry at Texas Tech, will judge the poultry. Dr. Mowery will arrive in Pampa tonight.

The vocational agriculture classes of Panhandle high school accompanied by Dr. Groat, agriculture director of Carson county, visited the exhibit this morning in a body. The White Deer high school agriculture class is due to inspect it tomorrow.

Many of the birds from Woodward were prize winners at various fairs in Oklahoma. It is said to be an unusually valuable and highly-bred exhibit.

Officials of the show are enthusiastic declaring that the number and quality of birds on exhibit have already fulfilled expectations.

GREAT AUDIENCE LISTENS TO DR. DUTTON'S LECTURE UPON MAN'S MAJESTY LAST NIGHT

Pampa Aerocade Largest One at Roswell Airport

Pampa's five-plane aerocade brought distinction and publicity to the pilots and city yesterday when the group of ships turned out to be the largest privately-owned unit at the dedication of the Roswell, N. M., airport.

Two of the ships, those of the Pampa Refining company and of Bill Ponder, Ryan distributor, returned yesterday afternoon with their ten passengers.

Ponder brought his big cabin plane down at 5:30 p. m., making the return trip in less than two hours. The distance is about 290 miles.

With Mr. Ponder were DeLea Vicars, Bob Sower, Hampton Waddell, C. A. Burton, and Robert Manning.

Boyd Kennedy, pilot of the big Pampa Refining company ship, returned at 6 p. m. He carried Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hoover, and Floyd Shaw.

Kennedy characterized the Roswell airport as "wonderful." It is a circle half a mile in diameter on the edge of the city, and is remarkably well equipped. There were about three dozen planes at the dedication many for display purposes.

Passengers were delighted with their trip. The day was ideal, with fine visibility. Those who returned last night were in Roswell from about noon to about 3:40 o'clock, during which they inspected the city and airport and saw the air races. Those making the trip in the planes of Cress & Hoover, Dr. J. C. McKean, and Murphy & McKernan remained last night for the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Governor R. C. Dillon of New Mexico headed the list of dedication speakers. Mayor John Hall said that the Roswell airport is operated as a municipal project, although it is now managed by a private company. The city has an option to buy or take over the plant within two years, and a bond issue for the purpose is contemplated. The airport will cost $70,000 when completed. A feature of the ceremonies was man-

MOODY MIGHT BE FORCED TO BE CANDIDATE

Next Legislature Will Have Bearing on His Plans

THIRD TERM IS GIVEN THOUGHT

Issues Could Be Taken to People Thru Campaign

By R. W. BARRY Associated Press Staff Writer AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—While it generally is believed Gov. Dan Moody is considering entering the Democratic primaries next July as a candidate for a third term, it is reasonably certain he will keep an open mind until after the special session of the legislature, to meet presumably in January.

While reorganization and centralization of the penitentiary system will be the chief subject for consideration by the legislature which virtually opened the way and made it obligatory upon the governor to call it back for that purpose, there will be other matters close to the heart of the chief executive.

It is easily within the province of the special session to force Gov. Moody into the race for a third term. If it refuses to carry into effect the suggestions of the majority of the commission created by it to study the penitentiary situation and make recommendations, the Governor may feel it his duty to carry the matter to the people. He could do that very gracefully by asking the voters to elect a legislature in accord with his views.

The way would be neatly opened for his entry into the campaign. It is costing him far more than the remuneration he receives to be Governor of Texas, but he is a young man of strong convictions who could be expected to make almost any kind of sacrifice to put into effect a reform that in time to come would prove a bonanza to the state.

In addition to the penitentiary matter, there are several of the governor's suggestions for improving government still unadopted. His regulation of public utilities has never been given serious consideration by the legislature and his belief that something should be done he will tell you were God-given to be conserved the natural resources—which people has not been altered.

He has considerable data to back up his contentions that special interests are gobbling them up in unscrupled fashion. That would be the subject for another logical campaign speech.

Has Tax Plank He has given considerable study to the tax question and has stored up much information along the line of his well-considered suggestion of removing the burden of taxation from the farms and homes and substituting for it the ad valorem levy an income tax, thus shifting the cost of government to those who "can pay," from those who, he argues, pay now when they do not own the land and homes they pay on.

Another live subject the governor is pledged to submit is regulation of the fee system to the extent county officers' annual stipends shall be limited to a maximum. The legislature put a special committee to work on that problem and it would report its findings to the special session. Its introduction into the session would be certain to bring to Austin a big lobby, even larger than that which hastened here last summer when Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock insisted on pushing his bill to limit the amount of remuneration an official could receive. His bill was never able to run the gantlet.

LUCEY GETS MISSION CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Directors of the American Petroleum institute meeting in connection with the annual convention of the organization, today announced they had sent Captain J. P. Lucey of the Lucey Petroleum company, Dallas, Texas, to President Hoover's business conference with instructions to state that the oil industry must practice even further curtailment in production.

Sheriff Recovering Sheriff E. S. Graves, who has been ill at his home since Monday, is reported to be better this morning.

W. A. Taylor Is Critically Ill Critically ill, W. A. Taylor, long time resident of this community and for many years county commissioner, was removed to Pampa hospital this morning in G. C. Malone's ambulance.

Mr. Taylor has been in a serious condition for several weeks in his home at 211 North Houston. He was taken to the hospital to remain under direct care of nurses and physicians. No operation is being planned.

PAMPA LEGION POST MAY GET TRANSFER TO NEW ZONE—GOOD PROGRESS IN CURRENT DRIVE

To Be Appointed?

Pampa's American Legion post has started negotiations for its transfer from the Muskogee zone of the national organization to either the Fort Worth or Wichita, Kans., zones. It is believed better service could be obtained by this move.

The Christmas decorations committee of the Legion reported at the meeting Tuesday night that all trees and equipment necessary had been purchased. The committee will decorate the city placing the decorations not later than December 15.

The 40 and 8 committee in charge of the Thanksgiving shoot reported a successful event, and gave the Legion a check for $100. It was announced that a Christmas shoot, to either start or end about December 19, will be held by the Legion.

A permanent firing squad is to be placed in charge of C. S. Barrow, who will organize and train a group to function at all Legion formations and funerals. W. H. Lang was appointed color guard.

Completion of the Legion membership drive will be celebrated with a big banquet. The membership goal has been set at 275 additions. The drive it was reported, is progressing well. It was voted to give each man who secures 25 members, either old or new, a rifle.

A letter from the Pampa ministerial association, commending the Legion on its high ideals and tendering assistance wherever needed, was read.

Post Adjutant Elmer Cary, who has returned from the Veteran's hospital at Muskogee, made a report. Much discussion concerned claims of disabled veterans in the jurisdiction of the Keryley-Crossman post.

Many Legionnaires attended the meeting and out-of-town guests included Carl Smith of Borger and Walter Ector of Parkersburg, Va.

American Ideals Outlined in Talks to Luncheon Clubs

Members of the Rotary and Lions clubs were thrilled and inspired by two masterful addresses given Wednesday and Thursday, respectively, by Dr. Dean C. Dutton of Oklahoma university.

His subject at the Rotary luncheon dealt with the services rendered by civic clubs. These he outlined as follows: Resurrecting the boy in the man, putting friendship into business relations, putting sympathy into personal and civic service, and carrying the American type of idealism to the rest of the world.

At the Lions club he spoke on "Engineering—the Making of Big Men." "Take time to think through the big things of life," he told the Lions. "Ideals, he declared that it may take the world 50 years longer to understand the spirit of the United States.

His talks abounded in illustrations from history, including the world war, and references to America's liberality in times of disaster.

PLANE WENT DOWN IN BAD SNOW STORM

Body Is Discovered by Rabbit Hunter Today

INSTANT DEATH IS INDICATED

Lindbergh in Search at Head of Big Party

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 5. (AP)—The body of Pilot Thomas F. Nelson and his air mail plane, badly shattered, were found this afternoon by a rabbit hunter near Chagrin Falls, 35 miles southeast of here. Nelson's death early Monday while flying the air mail from Bellefont, Pa., to Cleveland, in a blinding snow storm.

Nelson's body had been hurled by terrific impact of the plane against the ground about 25 feet from the wreckage. Undoubtedly he was killed instantly. The body was found by Joseph Vincent of Chagrin Falls, ending a three-day hunt made by fellow pilots over most of Northeastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had led 15 airplanes all this morning, covering the section between Cleveland and Youngstown, north to Lake Erie, in frantic search for Nelson, not knowing whether he was dead or alive.

Nelson, one of the best fliers of the National Air Transport, formerly was a "Buddy" of Col. Lindbergh when they were on the air mail route between Chicago and St. Louis.

Nelson's parachute was partly open, indicating he realized the impending tragedy, but too late to save his life by jumping. The body was lying face downward.

The last flight of Nelson started at 12:30 a. m., Monday at Bellefont. His plane was heard about 2 a. m., roaring over Clarion, Pa., then it seemingly was swallowed up by the storm.

Search for the flier started a few hours later. Five airplanes started out first, but gradually the number swelled to 15 this morning. There were 26 at the airport this afternoon ready to join the hunt when the body was found.

The wrecked plane was on a ravine hardly 25 feet from state highway 422, but was effectively concealed from searchers by the sides of the ravine and by the snow that covered it.

Vincent was so frightened by his discovery that at first he could not identify the plane, but airport officials quickly investigated and found it was Nelson's, while at the same time they found the body nearby.

DOUBLE-JOINTED COMPLAINTS HAVE BEEN HEARD RECENTLY CONCERNING THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM.

The students, and particularly the student organizations, declare they find the gymnasium-auditorium so congested that they cannot find it available for many of their practices.

On the other hand, non-school organizations which have paid a percentage of their entertainment receipts have felt that they paid too much; in fact, the argument of double taxation has been mentioned.

No present solution for the entire problem is in sight. The city simply needs the city hall-auditorium it has voted, but which cannot be built until next spring.

There should be no element of profit in allowing non-school groups to use the auditorium, but these should certainly not monopolize the hall to the detriment of the children for whom it was built.

ADVERTISING, ITS PURPOSE AND ITS PLACE IN PRESENT DAY BUSINESS, IS SO OFTEN MISUNDERSTOOD THAT PRESIDENT HOOVER'S OPINION ON THE SUBJECT SHOULD BE OF INTEREST.

would have been were it not for the part played by advertising. The greatest single addition to our living standards in a generation has been the automobile.

WASHINGTON—Goldsmith, if he were penning those lines today, might have had in mind Austin H. Clark, Smithsonian scientist.

He may be called a "human encyclopedia," and the accent is on great on the first word as on the second. For he is a rare combination of a thoroughly human scientist and a sparkling spring of authoritative knowledge.

Whether it is an explanation of the high cost of shellac, identification of a rare butterfly from Zanzibar or the background of a physical dispute, Clark has an answer.

It would be no task for him to amaze the public with scientific names of the creatures with which he daily wrestles. But to draw forth tribute for his knowledge from fellow scientists is a matter he has accomplished with as much ease.

Dr. L. O. Howard, world-famous entomologist, is authority for one tale of such tribute.

Plans were being made at the Cosmos club to install a fireplace in a wall then faced with volume on volume of reference books.

There was sturdy opposition on the part of those who used the books and the question was asked:

"What will be done with the reference library?"

"Throw it out," came the answer. "And over the fireplace we'll hang a sign."

"If anyone wants to know anything," Austin H. Clark will be available on Monday and Saturday nights."

For 21 years Clark has been national museum curator of echinoderms, which translated, labels him as custodian of such marine animals as starfish, sea urchins, sea lilies, and feather stars. But echinoderms are far from being the main show in this man's life.

His lively pen has embraced everything from fish to birds. Hundreds of publications have carried either technical works that the scientist alone understands or popular accounts of oddities in natural history.

Christmas Program Feature of December Meeting of Society

The spirit of Christmas, as expressed in song and story, entered into the December program of the Women's Missionary society of the First Christian church, and made the meeting held yesterday at Mrs. R. About New Books

BY RICHARD MASSOCK
NEW YORK—One morning of the year 1807, the literary son of a New York bishop stopped in a Broadway bookstore to look over the latest importations from England and to chat with the proprietor.

As he spoke of Italian literature, a courtly stranger interrupted. He had known personally the poet the bishop's son had mentioned.

The New Yorker was Clement Moore, future author of "The Night Before Christmas." The stranger was Lorenzo Da Ponte, Mozart librettist. That winter, under Moore's patronage, the Da Pontes were the social lions of New York.

This anecdote is narrated in Arthur Livingston's introduction to the "Memoirs of Lorenzo Da Ponte," recently translated from the Italian by Elizabeth Abbott.

Born into a Jewish family of Casanova, Italy, Da Ponte was a product of the times that gave the world Giacomo Casanova. In fact, Da Ponte was a friend of Casanova.

Once, on his way to Dresden, he had remembered that Casanova owed him several hundred florins. Da Ponte, therefore, ventured to pay him a visit in hopes of obtaining all or part of the money due me.

"I went and was well received," he wrote, "but soon observing that his purse was leaner than mine, I could not put him to the mortification of asking for something he would have been unable to give; so after a visit of three or four days I decided to go on to Dresden. As bad luck would have it, he asked permission to accompany me as far as Toplitz, a city some 10 or 12 miles distant from the estates of Count Waldstein, whose librarian and friend Casanova was."

The bad luck was that Da Ponte had to buy another horse and driver, the new horse ran away and threw them out, he lost $40 when he sold the equipment, and finally Casanova, who acted as broker in the sale, kept two sequins for himself.

Casanova's Pal
Da Ponte's memoirs, furthermore, indicate that the writing of romantic fan fiction, for his story, like Casanova's, is about one's self as an old Italian's famous autobiography, contains several amatory scenes.

Da Ponte, however, put behind him the life of an adventurer when he came to America. Here the poet-professor lived a useful life and helped introduce to this country Italian opera, the first production being "The Barber of Seville" in 1825, the next "Don Giovanni," for which he himself had written the book, in 1826. This latter opera is being revived by the Metropolitan company this winter.

Livingston thinks Da Ponte "must have conceived his own memoirs as a record of gallant adventures more or less founded on facts, but adapted to suit an eventual reader's taste."

Be that as it may, Livingston adds that "to call him in his European phase, a Casanova is at once to slander and to overpraise him."

"He was not," Livingston says, "even in Europe, a charlatan, a swindler and a sharper... he was, rather, at the worst, a usurer and a speculator, handicapped by a large dose of native honesty and a tender heart."

As for Casanova, S. Guy Endore has attempted in a recent book named for him to assemble the known and unknown facts of his life. He shows the libertine to have had certain noble qualities and inclines to the belief that he was something of a novelist when it came to setting down his adventures. Modern "Memoirs"

An obvious spoof on the modern revelations of amatory adventures is "Ex-Husband," the anonymous answer to the no longer anonymous "Ex-Wife." Its episodes are too ludicrous to be anything else but fiction.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

BY ROBINS COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Probably never in movie history have fans over the country, especially in the larger cities, been given such frequent opportunities for personal glimpses of stars in the past several months.

Vaudeville tours by movie celebrities are partly responsible, with such names as Charlie Murray, Esther Ralston, Estelle Taylor, Claire Windsor and others in the lights, but stars not in vaude are going in for "personal appearances" almost as strong as those who temporarily deserted screen for footlights.

Studios seem to realize more than ever the promotional and publicity value of sending their pet scintillants abroad in the box-office fields to be gazed upon by Joe and Mary Moviefan. Although costly, it pays.

IN PERSON

Paul Muni, comparatively unknown to fans as yet, is the latest to venture forth—partly to convince picture-goers that he is really a youthful man and not like the various usual characters he portrays in "Seven Faces," but more importantly to have his name in headlines and his face before the fans.

All reserve officers of whom there are known to be about 18 in this community are also urged to attend the meeting. The troop school is for the benefit of those officers who do not attend training camps in the summer. The officers are allowed two hours credit.

Talks To Parents

RESPONSIBILITY

By ALICE JUDSON PEALE
We have all learned that it is wholesome for children to assume responsibilities suitable to their years. We realize that they should gradually accept responsibility for their own routine.

They should learn to feed and dress themselves, to come to meals with clean hands and on time, to put away their toys and their clothing and to be helpful about the house.

The desirability of these habits is beyond question, but too often we think of a sense of responsibility only as some thing which we teach to the child by making him go through various motions. We forget that training for it begins long before the child can do anything for himself.

The regularity of the routine that attends his wants in early infancy is, in fact, his first training in responsibility. The mother who is faithful to the feeding schedule, who keeps her baby clean and comfortable, who sees that he gets regularly, his night's rest and his nap, is laying the foundation for many desirable traits of character, and among them an adequate sense of responsibility.

The baby who can depend upon the routine of his life has made a good beginning toward the development of a sense of responsibility of his own. He comes to depend upon that of the adult in charge long before he is able to think about it.

Responsibility, concretely expressed in the actions of his mother or nurse, becomes a fundamental fact of his existence and, as such, a thing which readily takes over into his own personality.

Kelly Was Wanted in Berger Murder

BORGER, Dec. 5. (AP)—George Kelly, reported to have died Sunday in Seminole, Okla., of alcoholism, was sought by Hutchinson county officers in connection with the death of A. A. Ray. Ray died at "Eight Mile Blackie," Cleveland's restaurant near here. For a time it was undecided whether he died of heart disease or from a blow on the head.

A report that Kelly also was wanted in connection with Cleveland's death was declared erroneous, former Deputy Sheriff Jim Crane saying Cleveland is not dead but is serving a prison term on a liquor law conviction.

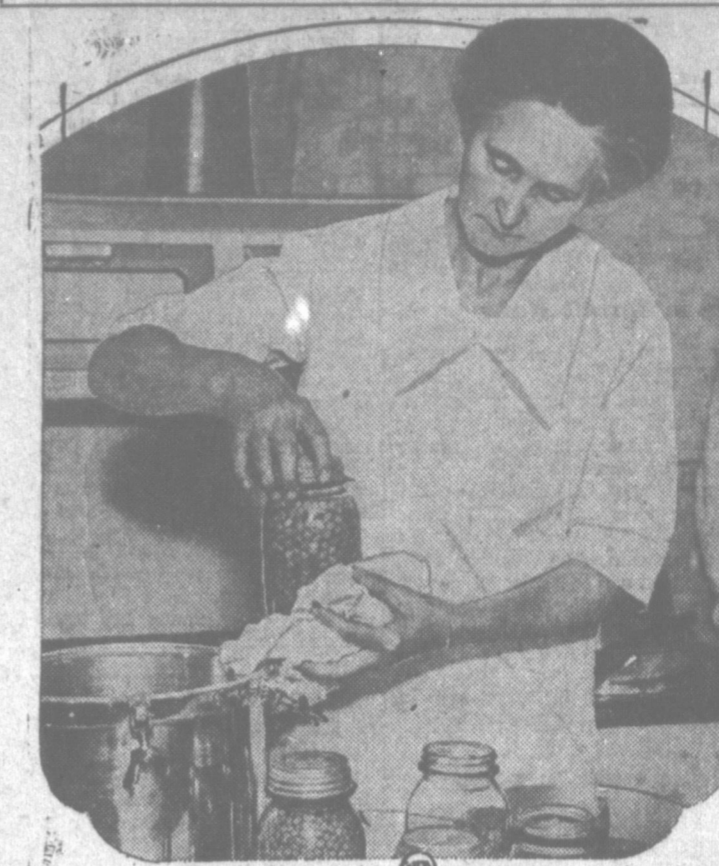

McManus Freed By Judge When Evidence Fails

HARD TO PICK TEAM OUT OF SENIOR STARS

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 5. (P)—The extent to which sophomores and juniors dominated the spotlight during the recent Southwest conference football season is not realized until one places himself in Ray Morrison's shoes.

The Southern Methodist mentor has been entrusted with the task of recruiting and coaching the "All Southwest" eleven that will meet a picked team from the Big Ten in the annual charity engagement here New Year's day. He has to confine himself to 22 seniors, and therein is the rub.

Given the entire list of players to choose from, Morrison probably could throw a team together that would give the Big Ten's best all the football it could handle. But he faces quite a problem with the talent at his command. He will send a fine team on the field, but it scarcely will be fully representative of the Southwest's strength.

The line will be a powerful one, probably better than that which faced the Big Six all-stars last year, but the backfield will be without the services of the circuit's outstanding stars. Shelley of Texas, Mason and Gilbert of Southern Methodist, Wilson and McElreath of Baylor, Leland, Griffith and Green of Texas Christian, Conover of the Aggies, and Miller of Arkansas have one or two more years of football.

Providing they accept the invitations to be sent out by Morrison with in the next few days, members of the Southwest All-Star backfield probably will include Grubbs of T. C. U., Rees and Beular of Texas, Mills, and Dorsey of the Aggies, Geis of Arkansas and Paul Smith of Rice. Four of those named, Grubbs, Rees, Mills and Geis, are quarterbacks. It will be necessary, probably, to shift Rees and Mills to halfbacks, with the hard-running Beular at full. It will make a nice backfield, but not as strong as could be desired by the section's adherents in a test of this kind.

Jimmy Phelan, who will coach the Big Ten team, has many of the country's greatest ball carriers to draw upon, including the graduating stars of Purdue and Notre Dame, both undefeated. Notre Dame is not in the Big Ten, but Phelan gained permission to recruit from the Micks. Pest Welch, Purdue's All-American halfback, is expected to be the outstanding luminary of the visitors' backfield.

Tunney to Meet Dempsey But Not in Pugilistic Way

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (P)—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney may meet without combat in the ring at Madison Square Garden Monday night if plans of the promoters of the annual Christmas fund boxing show go through.

Dempsey is sought as referee for the fight card and an announcement from the New York state athletic commission that he has been given permission to serve in that capacity is expected daily. An invitation has been extended to Tunney to serve as one of the judges for the same program, but he has given no indication whether or not he will accept.

Pope and King and Queen Meet

ROME, Dec. 5. (P)—King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena paid their long awaited visit to Pope Pius XI this morning. In so doing they made history, since they were the first sovereigns of United Italy to enter the Vatican, which only recently ceased to be a place of self-imposed imprisonment for the pontiffs.

The king and queen journeyed to Vatican city, newest political entity in Europe, with an imposing retinue of courtiers, minister of foreign affairs Dino Grandi, and Count de Vecchi, Italian ambassador to the Holy See.

Their majesties and his holiness met and guarded, and what they said was alone there, doors were closed in the Vatican throne room. They not disclosed.

But their conversation, whatever it was, marked the tacit approval of both to treaties which made it possible, those signed at the Lateran palace last February 11, ending the 60-year-old so-called "Roman Question."

Gale in Ireland

LONDON, Dec. 5. (P)—A terrific gale swept the British Isles during the night, the wind at times reaching a velocity of 90 miles an hour. There was some material damage, but thus far no loss of life was reported. The gale swept across Ireland in full force, pushed over trees and small buildings in Wales, Cornwall and Devonshire, and then hit the London district.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (P)—Three veterans of the links, on whose brows at one time rested the Professional Golfer's association crown, today carried their campaign for another title to the third round of match play over the Hillcrest course in the annual tournament.

Heading the list of yesterday's survivors and outstanding among former champions who won their way through the second 36-hole round, were Leo Diegel, Agia Caliente professional and defending titleholder, Walter Hagen, five time victor in the event, and Gene Sarazen, New York, who boasts a brace of P. G. A. triumphs.

Of the five others who stroked their way through the second round of match play, only one, Al Espinosa, of Chicago ever reached the final bracket.

The reign of this trio of elite professionals was destined to be brief, for before the day's end either the former open champion from the metropolitan district or "Larruping Leo," wearer of the crown, faced being left behind. Diegel, by virtue of his remarkable steady game, coupled with his great background, was favored to come through.

The great "Hag" also was picked to parade through the third bracket, despite the fact his opponent, Tony Manero, New York, displayed remarkable form.

Should these favored sons of the fairways pass today's obstacles, they will clash tomorrow in the semi-finals, just as they did a year ago. The match in that event bids fair to overshadow even the final booked for Saturday.

Although the second round brought no upsets of import, it was not without close, heart throbbing competitive play. The Far West saw its three candidates swept off the slate, but the prize tilt of the day was staged by "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn and Al Espinosa. Mehlhorn was taken, but it took his Chicago foe 40 holes before the trick was turned. A par five hole saw the New Yorker stumble to a six and defeat.

Fred Morrison and Charlie Guest, Los Angeles professionals, slipped from the ranks before Sarazen and Hagen, but they were reluctant to be left behind. Morrison, medalist of the tourney, bowed out of the picture on the thirty-fourth, three down. Guest, was eliminated by Hagen, British open champion, 5 and 4. Neil Christian, Portland, Ore., and lone threat of the Northwest, went down before Craig Wood of New York, 3 and 2.

Injured Man Improves
J. C. Lewis, who was injured in an auto collision yesterday, is recovering satisfactorily in McKean and Connor hospital, according to attendants. Physicians said yesterday that there was a possibility that Mr. Lewis' skull was fractured, but careful examination proved that it was not. His son, J. C. Jr., who was also injured, left the hospital yesterday afternoon. The collision occurred at the bridge in the Cook-Adams addition.

Mrs. W. A. Duerr is in Amarillo today.

Naval Officer Will Testify in Oil Lease Suit

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (P)—Commander R. F. Landin, United States navy, was summoned to testify today in the government's suit against Edward L. Doheny and the Pan-American Petroleum company seeking cancellation of oil leases valued at $15,000,000 in the Elk Hills, Calif., oil reserve.

Landin was supervisor of naval oil reserves in California in 1921 when they were transferred by the late President Harding from the navy department to the department of the interior under Secretary Albert B. Fall.

The government, which contends the Elk Hills leases passed into control of the Pan-American company through a conspiracy between Doheny and Fall, gained a point yesterday when Federal Judge Frank Norcross of Nevada, hearing the case without a jury, admitted to evidence portions of the transcript of testimony taken at previous trials in which Fall has figured.

About New York

By RICHARD MASSOCK
NEW YORK—Those helpful telegraph companies!

First, one of them came to the aid of the inarticulate by compiling sets of suitable sentiments for any occasion, from Easter greetings to football pep messages.

No longer need the ordinary brain labor over such thoughts as, "May your Christmas be merry and your New Year happy." There it is, in a little folder, appropriately expressed in 10 words.

Now, not to be outdone by its rival in public service, another company has loaded a half dozen of its uniformed messengers to test shoes for a New York department store.

Each of the boys has been equipped with a pair of new shoes and a pedometer. At the end of each month the wear and tear on the footwear will be checked against the mileage. At the end of six months the store, presumably, will discard all but the brand that wears the longest.

But this stunt lacks one important thing from the telegraph company's standpoint—the suggestion of sending a message. The same company, therefore, has another idea it is trying to sell to theater managers. Its plan is to distribute among audiences message forms reading like this: "Saw 'Hot Feet' tonight. It's a wow. Don't miss it." The audience would be expected to send it out to friends, paying half the cost of a local message, or 10 cents. The producer would pay the other dime, or maybe the whole 20 cents.

Lubbock Slaying Is Detailed Today

LUBBOCK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Two eyewitnesses to the shooting of Mrs. Virginia Lester testified today in the trial here of Clay Lester, charged with murder in connection with his wife's death.

Mrs. Eva Paschall, who operated with Mrs. Lester a small cafe in North Lubbock where the shooting occurred Oct. 24, testified that while in the cafe she heard several shots fired and saw Mrs. Lester fall in front of the building. Lester, she testified, had a gun in his hand and bent over the body. At that point she fled. She testified the couple had argued earlier in the day and that Mrs. Lester went to town about 9 o'clock, returning later.

Amarillo Man Is Killed When Tank Blows Up

McPHERSON, Kans., Dec. 5. (AP)—Alger Moore, Amarillo, Texas, oil field worker, was killed, and Jack D. Carroll and Raze Arnold also of Amarillo, were injured dangerously today when an oxygen tank near which they were working exploded.

The accident occurred on the O. T. Benson farm, nine and a half miles northeast of here. The men were at work with a crew of twelve other men laying a pipeline for the Kansas Gas and Pipeline company. None of the others were injured.

Members of the crew and officials of the company were unable to explain the cause of the explosion. Moore, Carroll, and Arnold were welding a section of the pipeline when the tank exploded. Moore's body was riddled with pieces of steel.

Carroll and Arnold were taken to a hospital at McPherson, where physicians amputated Carroll's right leg in an effort to save his life. Both men were badly lacerated by flying fragments of the oxygen tank. Physicians held small hope for Carroll's recovery.

"Noah's Ark," Big Winner, Is Coming on Vitaphone

This epic of the screen took more than three years in the making, and includes over ten thousand extra characters in the cast, beside the stars who play the principal parts. Dolores Costello is starred with George O'Brien. Others are Noah Berry, Louise Fazenda, Guinn Williams, Paul McAllister, Nigel de Bruiler, Anders Randolph, Armand Kaliz, Myrna Loy, William V. Mong, Malcolm Waite, Noble Johnson, Otto Hoffman and Joe Bonomo. The story was written by Darryl Francis Zanuck and the mammoth production was directed by Michael Curtiz, who before coming to this country did "Moon of Israel" and other spectacular pictures. The sets for "Noah's Ark" covered more than a square mile, and the buildings necessary ranged from modern sequences, portraying Paris and scenes in the war zone and the French countryside, to staggering creations such as the Tower of Babel, temples devoted to the worship of heathen gods, marvelous scenes of the Flood, and the Ark itself—made after the proportions mentioned in Genesis. The story is tremendously moving, spanning as it does the rainbow of fifty centuries—through which the hearts of human-kind have remained unchanged. "Noah's Ark" is Vitaphone's most tremendous vindication.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS... by Laufer

RUBIO WILL GO TO HOT SPRINGS FOR TREATMENT

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Taking time out from his mission of health to present what he hopes will be a new conception of his homeland to its northern neighbor, the United States, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president-elect of Mexico, rested here today before resuming his journey to the health resort at Hot Springs, Ark.

Although emphatically stating he came here solely in the hope of recuperating after his strenuous campaign, Rubio admitted "affairs of state" might interrupt his rest. He talked freely of Mexico, its present condition, and his hopes for its future.

The candidate of the Mexican revolutionary party, who polled the largest vote ever accorded a presidential candidate in the republic, pictured Mexico, not as a nation torn by internal wars, but as a republic on the eve of a great commercial renaissance.

He predicted the nation was entering on an unprecedented era of commercial expansion which he declared would bring about "a more solidified national consciousness and do much to weld the country into a compact progressive nation."

He deplored revolutions which "always cause damage to a country," but refused to dwell on the subject, preferring to return to view of the future.
