SHORT RITES ARE HELD FOR OLD PIONEER

NEGRO'S PRAISE IS 'WHITEST MAN'

Colorful Activity Is Recalled by Contemporaries

GOODNIGHT, Dec. 14. (AP)—On a spot he selected more than half a century ago, the body of Col. Charles Goodnight, 93, frontiers-man, was buried today.

More than 3,000 friends, many of whom followed his leadership in development of the Southwest, particularly the Texas Panhandle, attended the short and simple services. Last rites were in accordance with Col. Goodnight's request that his funeral be in accord with his life habits.

From early yesterday morning, when this body arrived in Clarendon from Tucson, Ariz., where he died Thursday, until the casket was lowered into the grave this afternoon, there was a constant stream of people paying tribute to the "Father of the Panhandle."

Atop the casket, during the brief ceremony were a wreath of holly and a single white flower, the gift of Matthew "Bones" Hooks, aged negro cow puncher, who worked for Col. Goodnight more than forty years ago, and who sent the floral offering for "the whitest man who ever lived."

Retraces His Road

The casket was carried to Goodnight over a road which Col. Goodnight helped to build through a country the denizens of which were buffalo, wild turkey and Texas Longhorns when Col. Goodnight first came to the Panhandle. On his last trip today, the long string of automobiles was accompanied by the whirring of airplanes which followed the funeral cortege from Clarendon to Goodnight.

Born in Illinois in 1836, Col. Goodnight came to Texas as a boy. He was the first to drive cattle from this state to other markets, the accomplishment paying the way for other cattle men and resulting in millions of dollars pouring into the state at a time when a financial panic seemed imminent.

Banned Gun Play

Later he went to Colorado to engage in the cattle business, returning to Texas in 1876 and establishing the "JA" ranch in the Panhandle, at one time the largest in the world.

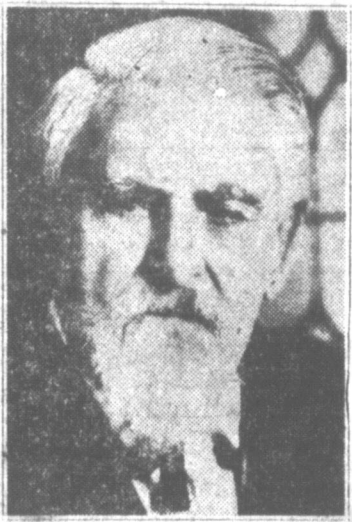

He was one of the first to ban gun play among cowboys; he helped establish schools and churches, and materially aided in the establishment of Goodnight college.

His first wife, Anne Goodnight, by whose side he was buried today, died

TEXAS COMPANY DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE ACTION

What is thought to be the largest damage suit ever filed in Gray county was announced Saturday by Judge Ivey E. Duncan who with Judge S. D. Stennis is representing the plaintiff, E. M. Osborne.

Mr. Osborne is bringing action against the Texas company to cancel a lease executed April 5, 1921, covering the southeast quarter of section 108, block 3, and for damages for conversions of all gas produced in the last two years. The suit asks for $165,000 and for accounting for all gas or other minerals taken during the pendency of the suit.

Action is based on alleged irregularities in the taking of the lease and provisions therein.

The property has one big gas well on it.

YOUNG LAWYER FOUND DEAD—GAS FILLS HIS ROOM

WAXAHACHIE, Dec. 14. (AP)—Marion T. Harding, 25, son of the late District Judge W. L. Harding, known in legal circles over the state, was found dead in a locker room filled with gas here today. Several letters were found in the room when an ambulance driver broke down the door and found the body.

Relatives called the ambulance when they returned home and found the locked door, and after an explosion had occurred when they attempted to see over the transom by the light of a match. J. B. Hines, an uncle was slightly burned.

Harding is survived by his brothers, Captain Lawrence Harding, U. S. M. C., San Francisco, and Edwin L. Harding of Chicago and by one sister, Mrs. Jasper H. Armstrong of Knoxville, Tenn. His mother, Mrs. Zephna Harding also survives. Harding was married in 1927 to Miss Ellen Peterson of Chicago.

THE WEATHER VANE

WEST TEXAS: Generally fair Sunday and Monday, not much change in temperature.

VAN, Dec. 14. (AP)—A father, his wife, and their five children stood in their East Texas cotton patch today and watched themselves become wealthy as two oil wells, apparently rich producers, blew in on their land.

The father, L. P. Tunnell, who had laboriously earned his income by scratching the surface of the land for cotton planting, will receive an estimated income of $1,200 a day if the production of the wells lives up to their promise. Mrs. Tunnell, as she stood in the shadow of one of the big storage tanks, and watched the oil spray from the first well remarked she believed she "would go to Grand Saline and buy a dress."

Shell Corporation's Tunnell No. 1 in the new Van field was allowed to blow itself in late this morning and had an estimated initial potential production of between 12,000 and 15,000 barrels. Early in the afternoon the sister well, Tunnell No. 2 was allowed to come in and some observers estimated that it might make as high as 18,000 barrels if turned loose.

Both wells were choked down to await better storage and pipeline facilities. Tunnell No. 2 was the fourth well completed in the new Van field and the fourth good producer, each new well having surpassed its predecessor.

Pure Oil company discovered the field bringing in their Jarkin No. 1 Oct. 14. The same company completed Thompson No. 1 Dec. 6. The wells are producing from between 2,670 and 2,731 feet.

Van, a community of about 20 people when the first well came in now has a population of about 3,000 with a chamber of commerce and a post office.

Wheat Declines 14 Cents Beneath Its Recent Level

CHICAGO, Dec. 14. (AP)—Tumbling down of wheat prices here today plunged the market to about 14 cents a bushel under the level which prevailed two weeks ago.

Argentine wheat was reported today as being offered in Europe several cents a bushel cheaper than wheat from the United States. Predictions were circulated that export demand for North American wheat would remain slack until after January 1. Selling also was promoted by the fact that a bullish statement which in some quarters had been expected from the federal farm board failed to appear.

Chicago closing prices for wheat were: No. 1, 2-1/4 to 2-3/4 a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 5-8/8 to 3-4 to 1-1/8 down, oats 1-3 to 1-8 off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 cents.

Corn and oats were dominated by wheat weakness and by reports that emergency deliveries from cars on tracks here would be arranged to facilitate filling of December corn contracts. Board of Trade officials, however, said no request had yet been received for any emergency measures as to corn.

Provisions felt the effect of declines both in hog values and in grain as well.

ORAL SURGEONS FORM SOCIETY IN ABILENE MEET

Dr. Maxwell C. Murphy of Temple was named chairman of the executive committee. Other committee members were: Dr. O. C. Foster, San Antonio; Dr. J. D. Morris, Houston; Dr. O. E. Ranfrantz, Sherman.

WACO SWEPT OUT OF RACE BY AIR ROUTE

Boyce Magness Hurls Passes to Win, 14 to 6

YELLOW JACKETS VICTORY IS 13-0

Place of Final Game Rests on Flip of Coin

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer BRECKENRIDGE, Dec. 14. (AP)—The Breckenridge Buckaroos struck twice through the air today to defeat a fighting Waco eleven, 14 to 6, and go into the finals of the state high school football race.

Once in the first period and again in the fourth, Boyce Magness, brilliant Breckenridge halfback, wound up and hurled long passes into the arms of his receivers for touchdowns. Pruitt caught the first one, G. Gary the second. Aubrey Magness added both extra points.

Breckenridge 14; Waco 6. Fort Arthur 13; Denton 6. Galveston 7; Fort Frances E. Warren, Wyo., 6. (Eighth Corps area championship series.) Southern California 45; Carnegie Tech 13.

Twice in the second period the Tigers worked the ball inside Breckenridge's ten-yard line, only to find their progress blocked by the scrapping Buckaroos forwards. Each time Magness kicked long spirals out from behind his own goal line to put his team out of danger.

Brother Also Good Aubrey Magness, brother of Boyce and quite a football player in his own right, paved the way for Breckenridge's initial touchdown when he returned a punt to Waco's 20-yard line. Three plays at the line gained only 5 yards, but on the fourth down Boyce Magness dropped back and flipped a pretty pass to Pruitt who took it on his finger tips across the goal line.

Jim Shear, Waco linesman, was the guiding spirit of his team's march to a touchdown in the third period. First he ripped off 37 yards on an end around play and then pegged a long pass to Miller that fetched up on Breckenridge's six-yard stripe. Miller picked up five on another end around and on the last down Phipps knifed through and over the goal line. Miller's attempted placement struck the charging Wolford in the chest.

Most of the final period was consumed in a punting duel with the Buckaroos waiting until the last few minutes to slip over their score. A screen pass, Magness to Pruitt, carried to the thirty-one-yard mark. On the next play the entire Waco secondary sucked over to the right and Cary was in a clear field as he took Magness' toss on the run and trotted across the goal line.

Big Threats Smothered Both teams accomplished their chief aims today, stopping their opponents main offensive weapon. Except for occasional flourishes the Waco spinner was stopped almost dead. A slightly muddy field hampered the tricky Tiger backs. The Wacoans, on the other hand, succeeded in keeping Boyce Magness well in check on his running plays, but his passing and kicking proved their eventual downfall.

The Tigers from Waco backed by a glorious tradition made a noble effort to pull the game out of the fire after the Buckaroos had taken their seven point lead in the opening period. They came back to play their opponents on more than even terms in the second and third quarters, and score a touch-down after a 60-yard march down the field. Their attempt at points was blocked by Wolford, big Breckenridge tackle, however, and the

AUBURN PRISON WARDEN IS REPLACED—AN INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS IS STARTED

State Reformatory Head Is Appointed as Acting Director by Governor—Old Official Was Hostage

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 14. (AP)—Auburn state prison, which three days ago was the scene of the second bloody conflict in five months between convict mutineers and the forces of law, tonight had a new official in control, replacing Warden Edgar S. Jennings.

Dr. Frank L. Christian, superintendent of the Elmira state reformatory, today was appointed acting warden by Governor Roosevelt. Since the riot on Wednesday, in which Jennings was held for several hours as a hostage by the convicts, which cost the lives of the principal keeper and eight convicts, George A. Sullivan, Sergeant of the prison guard, had been acting warden under appointment by Dr. Raymond F. C. Keim, state commissioner of corrections.

At the same time Governor Roosevelt ordered Colonel George Fletcher Chandler, founder and first superintendent of the New York state police, to conduct an investigation, as his personal representative, into the conduct of convicts, guards, and others during the mutiny.

Directing Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Cunningham, and the district attorney of Cayuga county to "give any indictments and trials in connection with the Auburn prison riot precedence over all other cases at the term of court beginning January 6," Governor Roosevelt also issued a statement in which he said:

"The very first duty of the grand jury should be to return indictments for murder in the first degree against any and all persons who may be guilty under the law of the murder of the principal keeper, Durnford."

THORNTON RECLUSE KILLED AS HE DEFIES OFFICERS SEEKING TO TAKE HIM FOR SANITY TEST

Gray county's oil production soared more than 3,000 barrels during the last week to give the Panhandle, which had been tottering on the edge of the major field, a safe margin over the 100,000 barrel mark. The big increase in production was due to the bringing in of Texas and Phillips companies' wells in the Coombs-Worley area.

The tests drilled in were offsets to producers and were drilled in according to an agreement reached at the last meeting of major operators.

The three wells came in a week-ago Friday for 7,000 barrels but the following day broke wild to flow more than 17,000 barrels. They were immediately shut in and production controlled for the one day. Only one small well was completed last week in this county.

Potter county's lone well which has been dormant for several weeks broke loose and made 112 barrels to help increase production. Other Panhandle counties showed slight decreases with Wheeler county leading the way with its largest slump of the year.

Production by counties: Carson—194 wells flowing 9,609 barrels, a loss of 226 barrels. Gray—494 wells flowing 64,642 barrels, an increase of 3,158 barrels.

Hutchinson—984 wells flowing 27,222 barrels, a loss of 595 barrels. Moore—19 wells flowing 747 barrels, a loss of 14 barrels. Potter—1 well flowing 112 barrels. Wheeler—38 wells flowing 456 barrels, a loss of 309 barrels.

Total—1,730 wells flowing 102,790 barrels; a gain of 2,125 barrels.

MEASURE NOW UP TO HOOVER FOR SIGNATURE

Cut of $160,000,000 Is Plan for Next Year

"GIFT TO RICH" CLAIM CRITICS

Most Agree Proposal Is Aid in Delicate Economics

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—A slash of $160,000,000 in next year's dues of individual and corporation income tax payers, was assured today with the adoption by the senate of the house tax resolution by a 63 to 14 vote.

Republican and Democratic leaders joined in support of the proposal and attempts to amend or substitute the tax cut were overwhelmed throughout a long day of debate.

Western Republican Independents assailed the reduction as a gift to the rich but Democratic spokesmen supported the contention of administration leaders that it had buoyed up a delicate economic situation and was vital in the revival of good conditions throughout the country.

Eleven western Republican Independents and three Democrats were the only ones voting against the resolution on a roll call reached late in the day.

Hoover Will Sign

The resolution still must be signed by President Hoover. It goes to the White House on Monday. Mr. Hoover had advocated it and his signature was expected. The legislation is the first of the regular session, which began two weeks ago, to complete the congressional circuit.

The long day of debate centered principally on business conditions and brought frequent reference to unemployment. Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, who sponsored an amendment to include also a reduction in the capital gains and loss tax from 12-1/2 to 11 per cent, said he had been reliably informed that unemployment had advanced from 700,000 to more than 3,000,000 men in recent days. He supported the tax cut as a means of diminishing unemployment.

Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, who sponsored a recent investigation into unemployment, took the same position and deplored that partisanship should appear in consideration of the resolution.

The Couzens amendment was rejected, 53 to 22, but Chairman Smoot of the finance committee announced he would favor the proposal as the first point in the next general tax revision.

Only One Year

The tax cut applies only on this year's income, on which taxes are to be paid next year. Democrats inquired whether a permanent revision of the revenue rate was not contemplated. Smoot indicated that as soon as business was on a normal basis and the income of the government could be definitely established, such a course would be considered.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, a leader of Republican Independents, led the attack on the resolution, insisting the "only justification given for its psychological effect on business."

Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, offered a substitute proposing that instead of a tax cut, the government appropriate $100,000,000 for road construction and $60,000,000 for additional construction of public buildings. This was defeated 56 to 20.

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Ia., proposed an amendment substituting a graduated scale of rates for the present corporation rate of 12 per cent. This was rejected 60 to 16.

Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, advanced an amendment providing for reduced rates on tobacco taxes but this was shouted down.

MANY NEWCOMERS TO THE PANHANDLE PERHAPS DO NOT FULLY APPRECIATE THE LIFE OF COL. CHARLES GOODNIGHT, "FATHER OF THE PANHANDLE."

Goodnight's service was far more than ordinary pioneering in the sense of being first, or among the first, to settle in this region. He was a brave man, worthy of an age which demanded bravery.

Goodnight had a strong, almost forbidding personality. In his later years a stranger had difficulty in penetrating his guarded confidence.

The writer recalls that a certain professor, then unknown to Col. Goodnight, approached the pioneer with admirable delicacy in the hope of securing for Canyon Teachers college a real buffalo for a college mascot.

Speaking of the incident later the professor said that he was so surprised that he could not say a word, and a moment later recovered his mental equilibrium to discover that he had deserted Goodnight and was helping workmen stretch a barbed wire.

known his desire to Goodnight and was given close attention. Goodnight promised nothing, but a short time afterward wrote the professor that he was sending two buffaloes to the college.

Col. Goodnight recognized the danger of having the buffaloes so near the students, and wrote many letters urging that no chances be taken and that no one be allowed to annoy the animals.

In earlier days Goodnight college was established by him as the first institution of its kind in the Panhandle. Earlier still, he was largely responsible for the success of the huge JA ranch project.

Oldtimers who trekked to Goodnight's funeral and burial yesterday could, therefore, pay him tribute as a worthy citizen, respected by contemporaries of his own race and those of the aboriginal tribes as well.

What the world really needs, opines one of our many newly-weds down here at The News, is a 5-cent cigar good enough to pass around to the boys after the ceremony is said.

As a general rule fire and brimstone preaching seems a waste of breath in this modernistic age, yet how else are they going to impress upon these suicidally inclined that the next world is apt to be infinitely worse than this?

Charm schools are growing up everywhere, but most people are interested in charming Uncle Sam's new bills.

A Passed Alarm.

Pampa Daily News: The desire for business stability is a political. Republicans and Democrats, and Socialists and those of other political affiliations have contributed to the general effort to restore confidence in the Nation's business.

Mr. Hoover has been very energetic and extremely sincere in his efforts to forestall what at one time appeared to be the beginning of a general slump. He has done fine service by calling into consultation the chiefs of the leading industries and impressing upon them the advisability of enlarging their plans, or, at least, not contracting them, for the next year's expenditures.

Furthermore, the executives of big industry were themselves keenly desirous of preventing a flareback from the stock exchange explosion. The President was justified in not wanting an interval of his first administration to go down in economic history as "the Hoover panic", although he should be credited with motives higher than that.

Other speakers were the sometimes late and always affable Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York, and Senator LeFollette of Wisconsin. In one of the sketches two recent incidents were "killed" with one "Gridiron stone". The club gave its version of the failure to invite Senator Hiram Johnson of California to a White House dinner in honor of Ambassador Dawes.

GREAT AND NEAR GREAT PANNED FREELY AT GRIDIRON DINNER IN WASHINGTON—HOOVER IS SPEAKER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Important people and important things were seen tonight through the eyes of newspapermen, turned philosophers, jesters and caricaturists, at the annual December dinner of the Gridiron club.

If some of the wit snapped like whips sharply cracked, the sting was taken from the satire and irony by melody and broad good humor and the knowledge that the members were taking the one night for satire on grave and ponderous questions: Foreign relations, taxation, the farm problem, the tariff and all that solemn group that march day after day across the front pages of the country under a Washington date line.

President Hoover was there but that did not prevent a sharp, yet droll scrutiny of his administration, nor the presentation by the club of its own super-classic movie: "Treats and Treaties, or the High Cost of Good Will." It depicted the visit of the foreign minister of a country the club called, San Marino. There were conferences, acclaim, 420 interviews and the reel showing his departure was captioned "hands across the sea."

The picture closed with a display of newspaper headlines six months later: "Senate rejects good will pact 95 to 3." A comment on the Hoover penchant for naming commissions to gather facts and make recommendations was consideration by the "Commission-a-Month club" of a motion to take a recess "before this becomes the Commission-a-Minute club."

The president had his opportunity to speak his mind freely before the evening was over but only those present knew what he said. An old established rule is: "Reporters are never present at Gridiron club dinners."

Other speakers were the sometimes late and always affable Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York, and Senator LeFollette of Wisconsin. In one of the sketches two recent incidents were "killed" with one "Gridiron stone".

Just as the dinner began there was a crash outside as if a fat man and a chair had collapsed at the same time. "Great heavens! What is that awful noise!" exclaimed the club president, Roy Roberts, of the Kansas City Star.

"I'll bet they're keeping Hiram Johnson out of this dinner by an inadvertence." "Not at all," answered another member, "they're keeping out Senator Brookhart and it's no inadvertence."

Shortly afterward the orchestra began playing softly and out stalked an Indian chief, who gloomily and to the refrain "In this land of many-has-has" recited a tragedy: "The Banishing of Firewater."

At the end of the chief's blanket accidentally fell open and a belt with many bottles showed itself and he made an undignified and hurried exit.

Uncle Sam appeared to shout: "As an extra added attraction, George Moses, the sensational tenor, will sing: 'Who set the wild ass free'."

The skiff fight was reproduced as a championship football game between Grundy's college of lobbyists and

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 14. (AP)—Rayon making has advanced to where it is possible to put a piece successively into two dyes and have some threads take one color while the remaining fibers take only the other.

This cannot be done with any piece of rayon, but only with that specially woven.

The color selectivity is due, says a report of the research department of the Du Pont company to development of varied methods of making rayon, particularly one which employs acetic acid, the substance which causes cider to turn to vinegar.

The acetate variety takes certain dyes which other threads resist, so that by weaving two kinds of rayon threads unusual dye tricks can be performed.

Destruction of Records Deplored

BEAUMONT, Dec. 14. (AP)—Clerks of courts of civil appeals would not be permitted to destroy records after 10 years after settlement of suits, as is permitted now, if a plea of Oswald Parker, Beaumont attorney, and Joe S. Brown, before the state supreme court should be granted.

The attorneys claim destruction of records at the end of a 10-year period is a serious handicap in suits involving land titles, trespass and the like.

PINNED BY BAR

BEAUMONT, Dec. 14. (AP)—His leg pinned to the ground with a half inch iron bar through the calf, it was necessary for Otto Early of Grayburg to remain in that position, after a tractor overturned on him, until workmen could saw the bar in two.

After he was brought to the Beaumont general hospital, the bar was removed from Early's leg.

MEXICAN ELECTION CALLED

AGUASCALIENTES, Mexico, Dec. 14. (AP)—The state legislature has convoked elections for Dec. 15 to choose a successor to Governor Manuel Carpio, killed in a airplane accident last month. State Deputy Rafael Quevedo is the leading candidate for the office.

Mrs. C. W. Sheffer of Liberal, Kans., will arrive today for a visit of several days with Mrs. B. D. Fahy.

Market in Europe

HOUSTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—A happy picture for Texas grapefruit growers—a description of the potentially large market in Great Britain, Germany and other countries, of continental Europe—was sketched by E. B. Luebben, citrus fruit trade commissioner for the department of commerce. Luebben stopped here en route to the Rio Grande valley, where he had arranged several conferences with growers. The commerce department, an announcement previously had said, was anxious to help the valley realize on its European opportunities.

MANHATTAN, Kans., Dec. 14. (AP)—The discovery that a tiny organism is capable of maintaining a constant supply of nitrogen in wheat land may assure a well-filled bread basket for the world indefinitely.

Experiments of two investigators of the Kansas State Agricultural college have brought definite evidence that this minute microbe, which thrives in wheat soil, should prevent any eventual exhaustion of nitrogen vitality in land devoted to wheat.

The research of Dr. Percy L. Gainey, bacteriologist, and Dr. Malcolm C. Sewell, agronomist, is considered a significant point in favor of continuous wheat crops on the same land, a practice, generally disapproved.

Known as azotobacter, this organism is found so small that 500,000,000 of them live in one ounce of soil.

As wheat takes nitrogen from the land, the microbe replaces it at an estimated annual rate of 40 pounds to an acre. That is approximately the quantity removed by a wheat crop.

Tests in several plots, whose soil was analyzed 10 years ago, have shown their nitrogen content unchanged despite a decade of continuous wheat culture. The presence of azotobacter in that soil, Dr. Gainey and Dr. Sewell are convinced, was responsible for the replacement of the nitrogen.

The microbe, they have found, becomes active as soon as soil is reduced in nitrogen content, taking a fresh supply from the air as do bacteria used in fixing nitrogen in soils planted in legumes.

However, they have learned that azotobacter exist on the smallest possible expenditure of energy, maintaining nitrogen at its original level, and no more.

Fig Recipe Worked Out by College

HAMSHIRE, Dec. 14. (AP)—Worked out by Mrs. F. L. Englin under direction of A. & M. college, a recipe for crystallizing Magnolia figs, largely grown in this section, promises a new and profitable outlet for the important crop.

The treated figs, producing a sweet similar to candied pineapple and other fruits, were first shown at the South Texas state fair. Heretofore the variety of fig produced in this section has been used only for preserving, and two large plants in Jefferson county handle the crop in that manner.

Bedeček Will Read

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (Special)—Roy Bedeček, chief of the University of Texas Interscholastic League bureau, has been selected to read the Christmas story at the annual Judge John B. Clark Christmas dinner at the university, according to W. A. ("Block") Smith, Young Men's Christian Association secretary. This dinner has been under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. since 1918 and is provided for those men students of the university who cannot go home for the Christmas holidays. There is no formal program, but a Christmas story is read each year. President H. Y. Benedict of the university will act as toastmaster this year. Thirty-six men attended the dinner last year.

Christmas Fiesta of Expression School Important Holiday Event

A Christmas fiesta to be presented Wednesday evening at the First Methodist church by pupils of Mrs. F. L. Hill's school of expression will be an outstanding program offering of the holiday season. More than seventy pupils will be presented in a three-part fiesta which is to begin at 7:30 o'clock. Invitations have been issued by Mrs. Hill and her assistant teachers, Miss Clarice Pitman and Miss Marie Little, to a large group of pupils' friends and patrons of the school, and others are available to anyone else who is interested in the fiesta or the work of the school. The cards are being issued, Mrs. Hill explained, with a desire to assemble an appreciative audience, rather than from a wish to exclude anyone from the performance. There will be no charge.

Eight hostesses and seven junior hostesses are sponsors for the fiesta. They are as follows: Hostesses—Mrs. Tom W. Brabham, Mrs. Jack Back, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. R. H. Harrah, Mrs. J. M. Saunders, Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Billy D. Tolbert, and Mrs. H. G. Twiford; junior hostesses—Miss Madeline Tarpley, Dorothy Dodd, Virginia Rose, Mary Sue White, Harriett Hunkapillar, Florence Sue Dodson, June Daniels, and Old Saint Nick, himself, and a host of other characters of Christmas legendry will figure in the first two parts of the program, which will consist of a fantasy and two one-act plays. Part three is to be a pageant of the Nativity. Attractive costuming will lend Jeanne Lively, Molita Turman, Robert

British Road Jams Blamed on Horses

LONDON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Horses are still so plentiful in Britain that a congestion of traffic experts has suggested a slogan of new transport efficiency: the battle cry "Horses Must Go!" "It ought not to be true," said one speaker at the conference, "that more than 50 per cent of road transport in Great Britain still is done with horses." The horse must be driven off our main thoroughfares and our streets must be made wider.

Proposal to Pay Athletes Is Beaten

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 14. (AP)—A resolution of major W. W. McKellar, faculty chairman of athletics at Sewanee, urging Southern conference schools to come out in the open and defray the expenses of football players and other athletes through college, met a quick and violent death in the conference today. Refusing to consider the proposal, the conference adopted a counter resolution presented by H. C. Byrd of the University of Maryland, elected officers and adjourned to meet next year at Chapel Hill, N. C., seat of the University of North Carolina. Byrd's resolution put the conference on record as having no objection to athletes receiving aid from institutions in which they are enrolled, but reiterating its opposition to any form of subsidy, especially created for athletes as a class.

The Amazing Parrot

© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc. Anne Austin, author of "The Black Piggon," "Rival Wives," etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, said to keep a board of money in her room on the second floor of 1118, RHODES' boarding house, is struggling to death. BONNIE DUNDIE, a young detective, and HENRY DOWD, a man who attaches a great deal of significance to the "miser's board," are the only people known to repeat only the words of the story.

Dundie had reached the same conclusion. Not that there was an actual sentence or paragraph upon which he could put his finger and say, "There! She's given herself away!" But there were frequent cryptic references to her "miser's board" and to her several wills, and after each reference Dundie fancied he could hear a ghostly chatter. Was it not entirely possible that the old lady had perpetrated a gigantic hoax on her fellow boarders?

Two good reasons suggested themselves immediately: First, to insure companionship and attentions from her temporary "favorites," to alleviate the loneliness of her confinement to her room; second, to gratify her passion for meddling dramatically in the lives of others. Undoubtedly, Mrs. Emma Hogarth had watched with wicked glee her own machinations and the excitement caused by her "last will and testament" changes.

Invariably there was a first-of-the-month reference to "Letter from S. today," followed by veiled, cryptic comments on the new "miser's" letters. It was when Dundie reached the entry of May 1 that his suspicions were startlingly confirmed: "Letter from S. today. Also the usual. Says she has paid another quarterly premium on her insurance policy. Wish she wouldn't keep it up. I'm sure to die before she does and never need it. S. also writes that she saw in home town paper that our good friend, J. W. is dead. Makes me sad, but I have felt for five years. I'll never forget how good he was to us in our hour of trouble, the last time we ever saw him. I often wonder how S. and I would ever have gotten away that day if J. W. hadn't helped us pack. S. says the paper gave him a fine obituary. He had risen to cashier of the bank. I'm glad he did so well."

His fingers shaking with excitement, Dundie hastily turned the pages to the entry for June 1. He caught his breath sharply as he read: "Letter from S. today. The poor girl is lonely and depressed. Wish she could marry again and be happy, but suppose that is impossible. Says she has had no word or news of any kind from D. all these years. For her sake and his, I hope D. is dead, but she may never know it if he is. I've lived for five years in the dread that D. would turn up."

Bonnie Dundie dropped the diary, clasped his hands behind his head and closed his eyes, the better to think clearly. Turn up—turn up—"A bad penny always turns up."

What dreadful secret had old Mrs. Hogarth kept for five years? Who was S.? Certainly someone of whom the old woman was very fond. But why not leave her "miser's board" to S., instead of to some temporary favorite in the boarding-house? If there was a hoard to leave! And who was D., of whom old Mrs. Hogarth lived in dread? Obviously he was the husband of S., whom she had not seen for five years, and the reason why S. could not marry again. A desiring husband. But why had the old lady lived in dread of S.'s husband's "turning up"?

"At all events, S. must be notified and questioned," Dundie told himself. "If she has written to Mrs. Hogarth once a month all these years, surely Mrs. Rhodes can tell me who she is. Faithful! I'm afraid you're in for a terrible shock, my dear!"

GOODNIGHT—

In 1926, the picturesque frontiersman celebrated his ninety-first birthday by marrying Miss Corrine Goodnight of Butte, Montana. Others who survive him are a half-sister, Mrs. Carrie Smith of Weatherford, Texas, and a half-brother, Silas Sheek of Rising Star, Texas.

Fallbearers were selected from former employees of the "JA" ranch. They were Joe Horn, M. E. Bell, Wini Barfield, Jim Wilson, Lou McClelland, of Clarendon; Frank Mitchell of Amarillo; R. H. Joyce of Wichita Falls, and Jim Christian of Claude. The funeral services were conducted by F. R. Dennison of Phoenix, Ariz., and Robert H. Chamber of Dallas.

FOOTBALL—

Buckaroos' second touchdown was not needed.

It was a spirited battle between two powerful teams, with neither having an appreciable advantage.

Although their celebrated spinner was stopped most of the way, the Tigers compiled nine first downs to seven for Breckenridge. The ability of Boyce Magness to consistently outkick the visitors was an important factor in the outcome.

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 14. (P)—Port Arthur's fighting Yellow Jackets drove through to the state schoolboy grid finals here today when they defeated the Broncos of Denton by a score of 13 to 0 at Franklin field before a hometown crowd of 10,000 wildly cheering fans.

Held scoreless throughout the first quarter and all but two minutes of the second, Rue Barfield, Jacket halfback, intercepted a Denton pass on his own 45-yard line and raced 65 yards to a touchdown. Dominique converted.

Barfield's run was made behind perfect interference.

After taking Scott's punt on Denton's 45-yard line, Otis Beckham, Jacket fullback, hit the line for two yards in the first play. On the second stab, Hawsey, Jacket end, took Dumesnil's pass for a gain of 32 yards. Barfield then crashed the Denton line to put the oval on the one-half yard line and carried it over on the next play. Turner failed to convert.

Although Denton penetrated the Dennis men's 20-yard line twice during the game, they were unable to muster the force to drive over for a counter.

Denton Half Brilliant

Sheeley Grandsaff, Denton halfback, flashed brilliantly at times and hung up the majority of his club's gains.

It was a tenacious Bronco line that turned back Jacket charges time and again. These Bronco linemen reached the heights in the first quarter when they held the Port Arthurians for fowns on their own two-yard line.

Grandstaff's sensational run came at this stage of the game, expecting a kick, Port Arthur backs played wide and Grandstaff took out around left end for 27 yards as the gun ended the game.

It was a disappointed little handful of Denton fans who left the field today as final play ended. They had held hopes of crashing through to victory even to the last few minutes of play.

Although no definite plans have yet been made, it is believed that Port Arthur officials will arrange a meeting with those of Breckenridge sometime Sunday in order to complete plans for the state final. Final decision as to where the game will be played will in all probability be left to the flip of a coin.

PRISONER RETURNED

GREENVILLE, Dec. 14. (P)—Riley Bishop, one of three prisoners who escaped from the Hunt county jail Nov. 15 was brought back to the city today after his capture early today at Antlers, Ark. It is probable that a special session of the eighth district court will be called soon in order that Bishop, convicted of automobile theft, may be sentenced.

BOSTON MAN ELECTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (P)—Charles S. Groves of the Boston Globe today was elected president of the Gridiron club, the dining club of Washington correspondents.

The National Board of the Y. W. C. A. has adopted a resolution pressing for a federal investigation of the situation in the textile industry. More than 20,000 members of the organization are employed in factories and mills.

NEGRO SUSPECT IN SLAYING MAY ESCAPE POSSE

LEXINGTON, Miss., Dec. 15. (P)—Arrested after blood hounds had trailed him from the scene of the crime, Ed Jones, negro suspect in the slaying of Noel C. White, state Democratic chairman, was being rushed to an unannounced prison early this morning for safe keeping.

About 25 men in automobiles were trailing Sheriff Walter Ellis and his prisoner, according to reports. No violence is expected, however, since Sheriff Ellis is accompanied by four armed deputies and had 30 minutes start on his pursuers.

The sheriff is believed to be headed for Jackson, Miss., with Jones. The negro was not arrested until 11:30 o'clock last night.

A posse of more than 1,000 had descended to little more than a score when the negro was arrested.

Trial of Shook to Be Demanded

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 14. (P)—Certainty that the prosecution would seek a speedy trial, and uncertain as to whether the defense will ask a continuance was expressed tonight as former Electra constable, to Graham, where he will stand trial Monday on a charge of robbery with firearms.

The charge against Shook grew out of a holdup in July, 1928, of the Jefferson hotel at Electra. The indictment charges that the holdup was actually committed by Henry Shumate with the knowledge and consent of Shook and Ed Pryor, then constable at Electra. Pryor now awaits the outcome of an appeal from an eight year sentence.

Sam B. Spence, district attorney, said tonight the state will bring any effort for further delay in resisting the case to trial.

T. A. Hicks, Shook's attorney, was uncertain, whether he would urge a continuance.

GETS QUICK KNOCKOUT

MANILA, Dec. 14. (P)—Young Nationalist, who recently returned to Manila from the United States, knocked out Kid Johnson tonight in one minute and forty-eight seconds after the first round opened, to win the featherweight championship of the Orient.

Heredity in Chickens Is Studied by Scientists for "Super-Breeds"

BELTSVILLE, Md., Dec. 14. (P)—A law of heredity that explains why parents of a brown-eyed child both may have blue eyes is being tested for practical values by a scientist of the department of agriculture.

Gregor Mendel, a monk, based the law that bears his name on eight years of experimentation with garden peas; Dr. Morley A. Jull, federal poultry husbandman, is carrying on research in the animal kingdom with chickens.

A completed portion of the project, proves the validity of the fundamental principles observed by Mendel, that in cross breeding there are certain characters which are dominant and others recessive.

Dr. Jull demonstrated the mechanism of the law by crossing white and black bantams. All of the first generations were black but, when mated among themselves, one-quarter of the second generation were white.

White is the recessive character which will not appear if the individual carried also the dominant gene for black. The white bantams, mated among themselves, produced no black offspring, two out of three blacks were carriers of white, while one was pure.

The remaining portion of the project, which amounts to a quest for "super-breeds," must progress for several years before results will be evident, Dr. Jull said.

His main plan is to determine the inheritance of egg production, white leghorns and Rhode Island reds having been crossed for five years. There are three allied studies—of size in eggs, of shape in eggs, and of size in body weight.

Bantams and barred plymouth rocks have been crossed for new facts on body size; white leghorns and silver pencil plymouth rocks are mated in the study of egg shape, and barred plymouth rocks and white leghorns are crossed in research on egg size.

FAMILY HATES AS KILLING CAUSE TOLD AT TRIAL

ARKANSAS CITY, Kans., Dec. 14. (P)—A picture of a family whose hates resulted in the slaying of Carl Jones, Cowley county farmer, was painted here today by the prosecution at a preliminary hearing for three men, charged with first degree murder.

John Phelan Jones, father of the victim, and Harry and Neil Jones, brothers sat with their counsel and listened to testimony indicating family bickerings had resulted in murder threats prior to the tragedy.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Justice Harry S. Brown announced he would make public his decision Monday morning. Two of the defendants, he said, would be bound over for trial in district court. Doubt existed in the mind of the justice, he declared, concerning his action regarding the third. He did not name the two men to be held for trial.

The body of Carl Jones was found, killed by a shotgun charge in his farm lot. Inside the house lay the body of his step-daughter, Elizabeth Walworth, also slain by a shotgun charge. They were killed the night of October 26.

County authorities investigating a maze of evidence finally arrested and held the three men now charged with the offense. All offered alibi evidence of their innocence.

Urges Search for Missing Explorer

EDMONTON, Alta., Dec. 14. (P)—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, famous Arctic explorer, now in New York, telegraphed here today urging speedy departure of Charles "Punch" Dickins, Edmonton pilot, to Nome to search for Carl Behlison, noted Arctic flier, and his mechanic, Earl Borland, last seen flying over the Fering sea 35 days ago.

Stefansson's telegram pointed out that Dickins was the best man available for a flight into the north with a plane of the type necessary for long hops over the Bering sea waste lands of Siberia.

About 5,845,000 pounds of air express were carried in the United States during the past three years.

WOOSTER, O., Dec. 14. (P)—Another clue to the mysterious disappearance of a 4-year-old Melvin Horst, Orrville, O., a year ago, which for a time today held the boy's father, mother and many friends in the grip of anxiety, tonight had failed to materialize in fact.

All day long, Special Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey waited to hear from a man alleged to have told a story that Melvin was killed by an automobile and

TROJANS BEAT CARNEGIE TECH IN LAST HALF

By PAUL E. ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLISEUM, Los Angeles, Dec. 14. (AP)—A Carnegie Tech scoring attack which flourished in the first half, wilted and was swept away before the determined Trojans of Southern California in the final two periods of their clash here today, and the Trojans scored a 45 to 13 triumph before 50,000 fans.

It was the tremendous reserve strength of the Trojans which brought about the crash of a great offensive after the valiant aggression from the smoky city started everybody, including the men of Troy, with a touchdown rush shortly after the opening kick off.

Russell Saunders, driving, dashing quarterback, and Francis Tappan, sturdy left end, did much of the work which turned the tide to a Southern California victory in the third period after the count was deadlocked at half time, 13-13.

What the stocky Saunders failed to do in his running attack, he supplanted with unerring passes. It was his pass to Garrett Arbelbide which brought Coach Howard Jones' men their first touchdown after the team from Pittsburgh had swept all before it to send Murray Armentrout across, giving the Tartans the lead.

Armentrout, who had been substituted only a moment before for Johnny Eyth at left half, covered himself with glory, not only his touchdown, but by superb cutbacks through the tackles and remarkable, shifty, end runs. His 77 yards in fifteen attempts all but equalled the record of Saunders. The U. S. C. signal caller made 124 yards in twenty four tries for a 5.2 yard average. The Tartan halfback averaged 5.1.

PANHANDLE IS VICTOR 37-16 IN GIRLS' TILT

A goal-shooting member of the O'Keefe family at Panhandle proved too tall, too active, and too accurate for Pampa's smaller but hard fighting Central high girls, and the visitors won here Friday evening, 37 to 16.

Miss O'Keefe threw 27 of her team's points. Her height and under-basket accuracy was too much for Pampa's guards, but other members of the team played on practically even terms. The Panhandle squad had the benefit of several weeks' practice and several games, whereas the local young ladies have had much fewer work-outs.

Pampa's scoring machine faltered often because of attempting long shots, which looked good until they bounced off the hoops. The Panhandle team, however, is probably as strong as Central will meet this year, and the loss was no discouragement to Coaches McFarland and Sims and their charges.

Quits Truck Farm to Take Postoffice

CAMP SAN SABA, Dec. 14. (P)—Will Freeman has forsaken his 165-acre truck farm near here to serve the community as postmaster at 35 cents a day. No one else would take the assignment and Freeman, imbued with true civic pride, said he could not bear to see the postoffice discontinued.

During cold weather it costs Freeman more to heat the building where the postoffice is housed than he received in compensation.

The postoffice is 50 miles from a railroad and if it were discontinued it would work a handicap on the 30 patrons.

THREE EXTRA PERIODS FAIL TO BREAK TIES IN SCORING BETWEEN PAMPA, SHAMROCK

Three extra periods failed to settle the basket-shooting duel here Friday evening between Shamrock's Tarbet and Pampa's newest and brightest cage acquisition Moore, leaving the Harvesters and Irishmen tied 20 to 20 in their initial contest of the season.

Moore entered the game in the third quarter and Shamrock had come from behind to take the lead. Using a back-hand cast he hooped two baskets in quick succession and sank a free throw to tie the score at 16-16. Thus the fourth period ended. Referee Johnny Munds, working for the first time, and well in the Central gym, called an extra three minute period to decide the contest.

The net result of this extra period was one field goal by Moore and one by Tarbet leaving the score tied at 18-18. A second extra period was called, and the same sharpshooters knotted it again 20-20. A third extra 3 minutes failed to develop scoring, and the Shamrock coach, eager to start the long return trip, asked that the game be called a draw. And so it was.

Tarbet, acting Shamrock captain, took a guard's position but used his height to take the lead in scoring, with 11 points. Moore of Pampa played two less periods but scored 9 points. The slender Pampa youth had fewer tie-ups than his mates, broke away more easily, and shot more accurately from any position. Without him, the Shamrock scoring spree would have been decisive.

The first half of the game was slow. Pampa leading 7 points to 2. James started at forward and shot two baskets, but was not used thereafter. He is the most finished player, all things considered, on the team, but has erratic moments.

Altogether, the Harvesters showed more ability than previous practices had indicated. The defense was strong except against the towering Tarbet. Both Tarbet and Moore, watched by all eyes not otherwise engaged, found themselves smothered in the final period.

Coach Odus Mitchell used many substitutes, with defensive but little offensive results.

HARVESTERS NO MATCH FOR FIVE FROM AMARILLO

BY HARRY E. HOARE

Showing the effects of a hard game with the Shamrock Irishmen Friday night, the Pampa Harvesters were no match for the Amarillo Sandies last night in the local gymnasium, the quintet from Amarillo walking away with the game, 37 to 16. Excepting for a spurt at the opening of the game and a closing rally that was nipped in the bud, the Harvesters showed little. A smooth offensive and an airtight defense was presented by the Sandies, and with the exception of a few minutes throughout the game the Harvesters were unable to get near the basket. Most of the Pampa points were made on long shots.

The Harvester defense could not get working and the Sandies repeatedly broke through for easy shots. Coach Mitchell used several substitutes during the game, Webb being the pick of the bunch. The rangy forward caged two of the Harvesters' baskets in the closing period that started a rally.

Teed, rangy Amarillo forward, was the high point man of the game. He has a knack of feinting and then going through to shoot and few times he missed the basket. Pierce, the able Amarillo front man, was second high man with eight points to his credit. Lard, Moore, Henry Ayres, and Webb scored four points for the Pampa quintet.

The game started off with Lard caging two field goals in quick succession. Moore added another, and the Sandies took a hand. Pierce caged two and Bufkin and Teed added one apiece to leave the score 8 to 6 in favor of the Sandies at the quarter. With the opening of the second period, the Sandies took possession of the play and with the exception of a few minutes in the last period, dominated.

Accidents Increase When Plant Is Cold

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 14. (P)—For the performance of physical labor the best results are obtained with an indoor relative humidity of about 60 per cent at temperatures between 65 and 70 degrees, says Willis H. Carrier of this city in a report to the World Engineering congress.

Atmospheric conditions, he adds, also affect the frequency of industrial accidents. Investigations in a British munitions plant showing the frequency at a minimum at a temperature of 67.5 degrees, and increasing below this temperature.

Mr. Carrier estimates the best range of humidity for human comfort as between 35 and 65. The lower figure is ideal winter humidity and the higher one ideal summer.

The Place Where Men Like to Trade.

This Briton Sees No Comfort in Average U. S. Sleeping Cars

LONDON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Looking at it from a British railroad man's point of view, Prime Minister MacDonald's visit to the United States must have had its discomforts.

C. T. Cramp, industrial general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen of Great Britain, has expressed himself as follows:

"We are so accustomed to regard America as being the last word from the point of view of comfort and convenience in everything appertaining to travel that it must come as a shock to many to learn how much more expeditious and comfortable is the average British train compared with its American counterpart.

"In the first place, the American track is so very much inferior to our own. It is much less costly to build and maintain, but the price has to be paid by the passenger in the crushing and jerking to which he is subjected.

"The average sleeping car is an atrocity. It is true that by payment of a very high price one may obtain what is called a drawing room suite, which is something like our own up-to-date sleeping cars, but the majority of travelers on the long distance trains sleep in the two tiers of bunks on either side of a central corridor.

"These fortunate enough to obtain the lower berths may complete their disrobing sitting on the berth partly screened by curtains, but they frequently find their unprotected feet trodden on by passengers walking along the corridor.

"But those unfortunate enough to be allocated a top berth are in for a bad time. They must climb up by means of a short ladder and then endeavor to divest themselves of their clothing in the manner of a snake trying to wriggle out of its skin.

"One must make one's toilet in the dressing-room provided at the end of the coach, but should a number of men rise at the same hour in the morning it means that the dressing-room, which incidentally is the only smoking compartment on the train, is congested by men waiting their turn for a wash and shave.

"On the other hand, the catering arrangements are good. The restaurant cars are bigger than ours, and the menus more varied."

NEW MT. WHITNEY TRAIL TO BE OPEN NEXT SUMMER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Men who constructed the new trail up Mt. Whitney in Sequoia National park, California, worked at a higher altitude than any other known construction crew in North America.

When the summer season opens in 1930 visitors can go by horseback to the summit of the mountain, 14,496 feet in altitude, the highest peak in the United States south of Alaska. Pike's Peak, famed among tourists, is 14,100 feet high.

A month's work next spring will complete the trail. Early storms prevented its completion this year. Its building involved much difficulty and hardship for the construction crew. The National Park service and the National Forest Service joined in the work.

METEORS CAUSE PLANE CRASHES IS FRENCH IDEA

PARIS, Dec. 14. (AP)—Meteors may be to blame for mysterious airplane accidents, strange explosions, forest fires and even bad weather, a noted French authority, General Frederic Chapel, retorted, has affirmed in a special interview with The Associated Press.

He is the author of several works on meteors and astronomy and evolved his theory from investigation of many queer occurrences.

Red-hot meteors, or "falling stars," he thinks probably set up electrical disturbances as they sizzle through space.

To illustrate their power he has calculated that a little two ounce meteor, the size of a hazel nut, would travel thirty miles a second when approaching earth and have the force of a 500-ton train.

Meteors, says the general, are so numerous, that they often form "bombardments." Most of them go into space or hit other planets but on earth enough arrive to cause accidents such as that a Budapest recently when a Hungarian girl was killed by a meteor on her way to a wedding.

In such fashion, the general reasons airplanes may have been struck down or ships destroyed. He suggests also that meteors might explain many other phenomena such as the recent explosion at Toul of an army magazine when fifty tons of powder blew up without any apparent cause.

AIRPORT GAS, ONCE A JOKE, PAYS IN CASH

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14. (AP)—Fairfax field, one of the nation's largest airports, rapidly is becoming rich—not from aviation.

Natural gas production from 14 wells on the airport is responsible for an increased income that now totals more than $3,000 a week. Geologists claim the field may produce 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day without deep test development.

They joked about it when gas seepage caused the first well to be drilled early in 1928. Since the first successful test, however, flow has increased continually. Now more than 3,000,000 cubic feet is sold daily to heat factories at the airport and public utilities.

Open flow from all wells, most of which are located away from the main landing field, has reached 23 million cubic feet a day. Twenty per cent of this will be available for commercial purposes at the present pressure, it is estimated, and airport officials believe at least 10 per cent will be sold.

Discovery of so many unexpected wells has caused gas production to assume the proportions of a business rivaling the airport's own activity.

Deeper tests to ascertain possibility of even a greater yield are under consideration. Geologists believe oil or gas would be found in substantial quantity at deeper levels.

He's 101 Years Old But Still Hearty

BEAUMONT, Dec. 14. (AP)—Although he will be 102 years old next June, W. M. Kearnes, globe trotter, hale and hearty despite his years, bemoans the fact that his inability to obtain work is driving him to the old folks' home.

It is because the grizzled old nomad had decided it was futile to try to obtain another job and was hiking his way to Houston, 90 miles away, that he is a patient at a local hospital, and will be for the next six weeks.

An automobile struck him and broke four of his ribs. He is in a plaster cast.

"Say, I'm not old," Kearnes says. "I'm 101 now, won't be 102 until next June, but every time I get a job the boss finds out how old I am and I get let out."

"I was born on a ship crossing the Atlantic, back in 1828, and all my life I've been living in Texas, in McLennan county, near Waco, but I've traveled, been in danger near every country and port in the world.

"Married? No. Always been lucky and missed 'em."

"I went around with Barnum's old circus, toured Texas with 'Old Mollie Bailey', and helped build the first railroad in Texas in 1852."

Kearnes last job was at a lumber camp in Blox, Texas.

MANY WINE GROWERS
SYDNEY, (AP)—The Australian Viticultural Council reports that $90,000,000 are invested in wine-growing in this country. Approximately 50,000 acres are devoted to grapes and wine production totals about 17,000,000 gallons annually.

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Danish jewelers are celebrating the 500th anniversary of their guild, sponsored by King Erik of Pomerania in 1429. An exhibition of jewelers' art is valued at millions of dollars.

Women outlive men owing to several reasons, one of which being that they breathe a greater number of times to the minute.

"Save the Holly" Move Is Helped by "Sweet Boy"

HOUSTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—On the small, willing shoulders of 11-year-old Francis Yeager, "a sweet little blond boy," rested largely the local Garden club's conservation appeal broadcast as Christmas approached—"Save the Holly!"

Many women of the city depended on Francis, who made handsome wreaths of pine, for their holiday decorations. They heeded the Garden club's slogan, which was posted on 5,000 automobiles and elsewhere.

This boy had been sought for some time by members of the club, who wanted to introduce him as generally as possible in order that much of the destruction to native holly might be avoided.

None of the women who had bought his wreaths in past years, however, could identify him further than recalling that he was a "sweet little blond boy."

Almost the club had despaired, but one day came a letter in Francis' childish hand. In it he announced he would make the wreaths this season as before.

Could he take care of a large number of orders?

Yes, M'am. He would get his little brother to help and would retain other small boys if necessary. It was, he explained, his way of earning Christmas money.

So the "sweet little blond boy" aligned himself with the movement to spare the holly. Whether he thought much about that phase was not learned. The theory in some circles was that in his spare time he perhaps turned to gratified speculation as to the size of the swathe he would cut in the shops on Christmas day.

One of the canned vegetables that lends itself especially well to made dishes for winter use is corn.

Scalloped corn, corn croquettes, corn fritters, corn soufflé and chowder all are excellent hearty dishes for "snug" winter weather.

Corn croquettes and corn fritters are both deep fat concoctions and are particularly suitable for winter use. Fritters are an ideal "stretcher" when the man of the house brings a guest at the last minute. And croquettes make a delicious and novel addition to the planned company dinner. They can be made early in the morning and shaped ready for frying when wanted.

Corn Fritters

One to 2 cups solid canned corn, 1 egg, 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup milk (about).

The amount of milk depends largely on the solidity of the corn. A fritter batter is a "drop" batter but not a stiff batter. Beat eggs until light and beat in about 1-2 cup milk. Mix and add to first mixture with corn. Mix sift flour, salt and baking powder and thoroughly and add more milk if necessary. Drop from spoon into deep hot fat heated to 370 degrees F. Fry with temperature at 350 until a golden brown on all sides. Drain on brown paper and serve with or without syrup as wanted. If a bread test is used, the fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 40 seconds.

Corn Croquettes

One can corn, 2 1-2 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1-4 cup cream.

Put corn into a smooth sauce pan, add butter and cream. Mix and sift corn mixture, flour, sugar, salt and pepper. Stir until blended and add egg slightly beaten. Cook, stirring constantly until thick. Turn out onto a buttered plate and let stand until cool. Mold into cone-shaped croquettes. Roll in fine crumbs, dip in egg, slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon milk and roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until a golden brown. The fat should be 380 degree F. when croquettes are put in and temperature maintained at 370 during cooking period. The bread crumbs should brown in 60 seconds if this test is used.

Texas Boy Known As Fashion Model

BEAUMONT, Dec. 14. (AP)—When a boy becomes internationally known through his comments on the dress of such personages as the Prince of Wales and Mayor Walker of New York he should be worth something to his Boy Scout troop as a fashion plate. That's the reasoning of local Boy Scout officials.

Brinkley Bass, first scout interviewed on his return to the United States from the world jamboree at Birkenhead, England, remarked to an Associated Press reporter that the Prince of Wales "was not so hot" as a dresser and told Mayor Walker he was the "best dressed man in the world."

"Brink," as he is known to his scout associates, has been used as a model at scout meetings to show how the uniform should be worn.

TAOS INDIANS MOURN GOODNIGHT AS GREATEST FRIEND

"Father of Panhandle" Once Saved Indian Hunters—He Also Founded Early Educational Institution

CANYON, Dec. 14. (Special)—When the news of the death of Colonel Charles Goodnight reached the Indian Pueblos of the little mountain village of Taos, New Mexico, there was no doubt deep grief in the hearts of the people. For the Taos Pueblos have looked upon him as their greatest white friend for three generations.

Many years ago, a group of Taos hunters strayed into the Panhandle. Some men, who knew little of Indians, threatened to kill them. Colonel Goodnight intervened, thus saving the gratitude, not only of the men who were saved, but of the entire tribe.

When the Colonel and Mrs. Goodnight visited Taos less than two years ago, they were greeted as long-lost friends, and to the simple living people there, to be a friend of Mr. Goodnight was to be accepted by them.

Exchanged Gifts
On this visit two years ago, Colonel Goodnight took to the Pueblos some buffalo heads, which are highly valued by the Indians for use in their ceremonial dances. Their gratitude was voiced in many ways, first by speeches, and later by all the gifts they could bestow upon the Colonel, Mrs. Goodnight and members of their party.

Following the visit, Colonel Goodnight, with fine appreciation of their wants and needs, had several buffaloes sent to the Taos pueblo to become the foundation of a herd for the Indians of another generation.

Then he appealed to Washington for relief measures which would insure a just treatment of these and other Indians in New Mexico.

The arid hills will seem less bright to the Indians who are watching from the roofs of the pueblo in which they have lived for more than 400 years, when they learn that their "Great Friend" has gone to the Happy Land of which they dream.

Father of Education
CANYON, Dec. 14. (Special)—Colonel Charles C. Goodnight, whose burial took place this afternoon at the town bearing his name, was the father of education in the Panhandle as he was of many other movements which have contributed to the development of this great region.

Goodnight college, carefully nurtured by Colonel and Mrs. Goodnight, was one of the first institutions of its kind in the Panhandle; for many years it served the youth of the territory and during that entire period derived much of its support from the founders.

The bell of the old college, which summoned youth to study, now stands in the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society at Canyon. Colonel Goodnight said "It is all that I have left to show for an investment of more than $20,000." He had forgotten that the $20,000 is represented in the lives of hundreds of grateful men and women who owed their educational opportunities to the vision of Charles C. and Mary Ann Goodnight, interested in Canyon colleges.

After the establishment of the college at Canyon, Colonel Goodnight followed its growth and development with keen interest. When in 1922, the buffalo was chosen as the mascot of the college, it was Colonel Goodnight who made it possible for the college to secure a pair to be placed on the campus. The original pair are now parents of a lusty calf, born last year.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical society, organized in 1921 honored itself by making Colonel Goodnight a life member of the body and he has been one of its most valuable supporters.

The field secretary, J. Everetts Haley, who is now in Austin on leave of absence, spent many hours in the rugged pioneer's home and secured many hundred pages of material dealing with every problem that was met in the settlement of the Panhandle. Colonel Goodnight's memory was not impaired and his discussions of trails, Indian fights and habits and characteristics, the cattle industry, early courts and lawyers, rustling and other subjects have been carefully recorded and comprised invaluable source material which will be appreciated by historians of this region in all time to come.

Contributed to Society
The museum of the society has been enriched by his gifts; books, papers, portraits, mounted specimens, Indian relics were among his donations.

Colonel Goodnight's last visit to Canyon was made as he started on his last trip to Arizona; he and Mrs. Goodnight spent two or three days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Everetts Haley, during which time he saw many guests. A trip was made with him to the Palo Duro canyon in order to locate an old Indian crossing which people who had come to the Plains more recently knew nothing about.

November Record Set by Shipments of Tex. Vegetables

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (Special)—A new high record for November was established when 1,503 cars of fruits and vegetables were shipped from Texas farms according to Bervard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"This is by far the largest number of cars that have ever been loaded at this season of the year," Mr. Nichols said. "It appears, therefore, that the setback caused by the summer draught has been fully overcome, and the normal seasonal gain can be expected over the next few months. Then too, the rapid expansion of the citrus fruit industry of the state is also reflected in very large increases. The 1,503 cars loaded in November compare with 698 cars in October and 529 cars in November, 1928.

"There were 127 cars of mixed vegetables shipped in November against 94 cars in November a year ago, and spinach increased from 5 to 51. A total of 734 cars of grape fruit went out compared to 237 in November, 1928, while sweet potatoes went up from 63 to 123. Loading of tomatoes gained from 53 cars in November last year to 269 cars in November just passed, and orange shipments increased more than 500 per cent and totaled 31 cars. Mixed citrus also shows a large gain. Thirteen cars of egg plants were loaded, whereas there were none shipped in November last year.

"Prices held rather steady over the month in the face of heavy shipments. Potatoes, onions and cabbage were about unchanged. On the other hand, string beans and citrus fruits fell off somewhat."

University Man Will Help Tyler Reorganize School

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (Special)—Dr. J. L. Henderson, professor of secondary education at the University of Texas, has been invited by the school board of Tyler to assist in the reorganization of the school system of that city.

In connection with the plan of reorganization, the board has under consideration the revision of the salary schedule for the entire school system, the formulation of a new course of study and the inauguration of a building program which includes the construction of two modern junior high school buildings. Funds for the reorganization purposes have been secured through a bond issue.

Dr. Henderson has been interested in the development of the junior high school for several years. He assisted in the reorganization of the public schools of San Antonio a few years ago. At the beginning of the present school year he delivered an address before the school board and the teachers of Dallas on phases of the junior high school movement.

Before coming to the University, Dr.

Henderson was superintendent of schools at Tyler. He has been granted permission by the University authorities to assist the superintendent of schools and the Tyler school board in their reorganization schedule.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

BY ROBBINS COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The fair-haired college boy with the movies at last is burning up with screen ambition. Young Phillips Holmes, son of Taylor Holmes of screen and stage renown, has decided seriously that he wants to make movie-acting a profession.

Watching him on the set, between shots, as he jokes with carpenters, script girls, stars and directors, gives little indication that there is anything serious about this youth who deserted Princeton to act in the movies—but principally, he says, for the promised thrill of an air trip back to the campus.

Many Hollywood youths are serious about their profession, but the unusual thing about Holmes is that he has been under contract to a studio more than a year, and only recently has decided to be really serious about it all. He had reasons.

Not Clever
 One hears much about the tribulations of the free-lance unknown to player, and gets the idea that once a contract is signed the rest is clever. Holmes got his contract after he was "discovered" on the Princeton campus by Director Frank Tuttle, who was filming parts of "Varsity" there. A clause in the contract permitted him to return to college if he desired and he did—but he came back to Hollywood after learning that his would have to repeat a whole year of his course in order to graduate.

Then began discouragements, which made him wonder. Over a period of months, he says, he worked a total of only 30 days. Even under contract, it seems, you have to convince the directors that you can play a part, you want.

Contract Isn't All
 So this went on, and finally Phil got a part in "The Return of Sherlock Holmes." He welcomed it—chiefly because it gave him an opportunity to spend a month in New York.

He returned west, to a role in "Pointed Heels." He was becoming really interested—hopeful—now. And when he drew the second lead in "None But the Brave" he decided that he would settle down and try to show them for fair.

An "international sign painter" is a new film job. He paints advertising and other matter on sets representing foreign countries. If it is a mythical place like Graustark, he makes up a language.

conferences and caucuses, and attend to all of the details. They are the only outsiders admitted to the private sessions of their parties. They keep the minutes of such meetings. On these occasions they take nothing for granted. Every senator is warned once or twice, and those who refuse to attend are reported.

Loeffler personally warned the late Senator La Follette of meetings of his party to make doubly sure there would be no mistake or comeback.

Started As Pages
 Both began in the senate as page boys. Loeffler was appointed by Senator Matthew S. Quay of Pennsylvania and Halsey by Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia. One boasts of the fact that his antecedents were union men, the other that his were soldiers in the confederacy.

Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—There are two men who serve the United States senate—one a small, wiry blond and the other a tall, portly brunet—who boasts that a fine spirit of friendship exists between them, but who readily admit that when one loses sight of the other they live in a state of nervous anxiety.

Colonel H. Loeffler is the wiry blond. Colonel Edwin A. Halsey is the portly brunet. Loeffler is officially designated as assistant doorkeeper of the senate. Halsey's title is acting assistant doorkeeper.

But in reality these two men are the mental guards of two political parties—Loeffler for the Republicans, Halsey for the Democrats.

They are at the call of their chief for all sorts of missions. Loeffler, for instance, during the hours the senate is in session, is expected to know where every Republican senator is, and be able to report to Senator Jim Watson.

Similarly, Halsey is expected to be able to tell Senator Joe Robinson at a moment's notice where his Democrats may be found.

He's a Tracer
 But their duties extend even further. Consider, for example, Loeffler's experiences during the special session, when the democrats and insurgent republicans were riding hard on the tariff bill.

It was up to him to see that every administration Republican was on the senate floor when the coalition forced a roll call vote. Senator Watson used him at all hours of the day. He had to know the secret whereabouts of every member of the old guard, whether that member had told him or not. Often it was a question of how fast his heels flew as to whether his party won or lost.

Loeffler and Halsey must look after pairs to see that no senator loses his party.

Carbon Black Industry Now Uses Fuel Otherwise Subject to Waste—Gray County Product Goes to England

By V. O'G.
Frequently something is said of the "criminal waste" incident to burning gas for its carbon black content. There is no denying the theoretical waste. Few persons, however, are aware that actually, under present conditions, gas which is burned in the Texas Panhandle carbon plants is a real dollar and cents saving.

Explaining the statement that carbon black production is actually a saving, those who know tell you: "Only that gas which otherwise would be forced into the air is by law, available 'grist' for the carbon black mill."

No one can deny that gas used in carbon black manufacture is gone forever. A day will come—perhaps is even now here—when this gas will be needed for fuel. Certainly as soon as petroleum engineering can devise a practical method of holding gas in the ground while producing oil, legislation should provide that all gas be conserved.

The only practicable methods of producing oil which are known at present necessarily permit gas to rise to the surface also. This, the so-called "casing head" gas first goes to gasoline plants. Here it's gasoline content is extracted. Then this residue, which once was released into thin air, is sold for carbon black purposes. Therein lies the saving. An insatiable market for residue gas will permit a gasoline plant to operate at a loss, so far as it's gasoline production figures, and still come out with a profit in the end.

Because of the expense of installing boosting machinery necessary to transport casinghead gas, it rarely ever competes as fuel with dry gas from direct well pressure. There are also, other technical reasons why casinghead gas is seldom used extensively for fuel.

"Give to the devil his dues," to quote Scripture. Therefore, so long as the carbon black industry does not sap our natural resources, it might be well to consider what it means to Gray county. First, a few figures on the industry might be interesting. Somewhat more than one third of the total American output of carbon black is manufactured in the Texas Panhandle. In Gray county six plants have a combined monthly payroll of more than $50,000 for operation alone. During the last year this figure was doubled by construction pay rolls in the carbon black industry. This operation pay roll we may expect to have with us indefinitely. It is estimated that some 2,000 persons in Gray county receive their livelihood from the carbon black industry.

In spite of the size of these figures, how many persons know what carbon black is? How it is made? It's uses etc?

Non-technically speaking, the manufacture of carbon black consists of collecting the smoke which accumulates from incompletely combusted gas. Your gas heater is so designed that air is drawn into the burner with the gas. Only with a mixture in certain proportions, of air and gas, do you get that blue flame which is ideal for heating. The carbon black manufacturer reduces the percentage of air in the mixture; hence the smoke.

Non-technically again, carbon black is soot collected from burned gas.

To answer the often heard query: "What are the uses of carbon black?" One might well ask "What aren't its uses?" To name a few: writing fluid, printer's ink, enamel, certain electrical equipment, paints; though by far its greatest use lies in the manufacture of rubber. To a considerable degree credit is due carbon black for increasing the mileage we get from automobile tires.

Chemists tell us that in a given thousand cubic feet of gas there is about thirty pounds of carbon (not to say carbon black). Plants in Gray county extract from one to two pounds per thousand feet. Perhaps this yield could be increased. But that which is allowed to escape has no value, and if greater amounts are extracted the color is brown instead of black. The dense smoke streaking down the sky, we are told does not constitute a loss as is generally supposed.

Six carbon black plants in this county consume about 225 million cubic feet of gas each day. Generally, one to two cents per thousand is paid for this gas, although the price in some instances may be lower, depending upon the yield expected.

The carbon black producer receives about 6 cents a pound for the best grade of ordinary black. There is a grade, however, known as "color black", which sells as high as 40 cents a pound. Manufacture of color black involves a large outlay of special machinery; also sacrifice of percentage yielded per thousand feet of gas, compared to the manufacture of ordinary black.

High priced color black especially and considerably ordinary carbon black as well, manufactured in Gray county is exported to foreign countries, notably to England.

This, you might say, is a far cry, from the bowels of the earth here in Gray county to the manufacturing centers of England.

LIQUOR RUNNERS SHOULD ACT NATURAL THIS SHOWS

BRADY, Dec. 14. (P)—When hauling liquor, act natural.

At least that is what three Brownwood youths should have done and Sheriff Kibrough would not have objected.

It took the sheriff five miles to catch the youths to tell them they had passed him in Brady at too high a speed. He arrested them for that offense and discovered their new coupe contained 55 gallons of liquor.

The three have been released on $1,000 bond each on charges of transporting liquor. They are J. C. Scroggins, 25; Gerald Williams, 16, and Clifton Blackwood, 17, all of Brownwood.

English, which a century ago was spoken by twenty million people, is now the language of two hundred and twenty millions.

Amazing Tangle in Oil Property To Be Settled

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 14. (P)—An aged, enfeebled widow, her son who returned after being declared legally dead, his divorced wife and some eight or nine other persons await the settlement of an amazing legal tangle in district court at Graham.

The litigants are heirs of A. L. Bearden, Young county land owner, who died in 1919, leaving an estate valued then at more than $2,000,000, but today worth less than $1,000,000, according to John C. Kay, attorney for one of the principals.

The Bearden estate was divided among 10 heirs, including Mrs. Annie E. Bearden, the widow, in 1927, after Lee Bearden, a son, had been declared legally dead by the district court at Graham. Lee Bearden left Graham in 1918 and had not been heard from when his death was made legal.

Oil worth $2,000,000 was taken from the land. Royalties and lease rentals went to the heirs and the affairs of the estate were tranquil enough until one day in 1929 when the lost son appeared in Graham. He came from California where he said he had spent the years during which no word came from him.

Lee used his children and the Texas company for restoration of title to the land and for accrued royalties. Meanwhile, the aged mother, through her guardian, sued for a redistribution of the property.

Further complicating the legal maze, Bearden's former wife and the mother, a second intervenor claiming to be Lee of a 10-year-old daughter by him, entered a claim for a share in the properties when the suit was called for trial before Judge P. A. Martin of Wichita Falls, sitting as special judge in the 30th district court at Graham. Judge Martin ordered consolidation of the claims, the unified case to be presented during the March term of court.

The lands involved are in Young county and the 500 acres on which oil is produced are in the Olney field.

Five Paris music halls "glorifying the French girl" have been closed because Americans think Broadway shows are better.

Says Texas Fails to Care Properly for Mexican Pupils

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (P)—Dr. H. T. Managel, professor of educational psychology at the University of Texas, has issued a statement scoring the public school system of Texas for its "failure" to offer equal educational opportunities to the 187,000 Mexicans within the state's borders.

"There are districts in Texas in which no provision whatever is made for the public education of Mexican children," Dr. Managel said. "There are many others in which segregation is the occasion for furnishing Mexican children inferior buildings, meager and antiquated equipment and poor teachers."

While the number of American children enrolled in the Texas public schools is more than 90 per cent of the number of scholastics, the enrollment of Mexican children is only about 50 per cent of the number of scholastics, Dr. Managel said. The daily average attendance of Mexican children was said to be only about one-third of the number of scholastics.

"Nearly half of the Mexican children who are in school are in the first grade nearly three-fourths in the first three grades and only three or four per cent in the high schools," the statement said. Asserting that indifference and antagonism, much more than inability, "are responsible for our failure," Dr. Managel suggested that an assistant and a suitable staff be appointed in the state department of education to "coordinate our efforts and assist in giving reality to our ideals."

DALHART, Dec. 14. (P)—Dalhart's first airplane factory is to turn out a new Junkers type low-wing monoplane.

Aided by G. M. Mollenbick of Wichita, Kans., D. O. Hazelton, Dalhart capitalist, is interested in a $50,000 corporation for the building of the plane here. A controlling interest in the corporation will remain in Dalhart. The Chamber of Commerce is seeking to raise $14,000.

Mollenbick was associated with the group at Wichita which builds the Swallow plane.

How to Select A PERFECT
 DIAMOND
 THE PERFECT
 CHRISTMAS GIFT

There are four qualities that establish the real value of a diamond. They are (1) color, (2) absence of flaws, (3) perfection of cutting, and (4) size. . . . Herewith we portray various types of diamonds, together with brief statements of their characteristics. . . . Unfortunately many people still buy diamonds with regard only to size. It is far better to buy a smaller diamond that represents a real value.

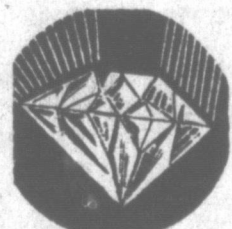

Too Thin!

Such stones are known in the jewelry trade as "fish eyes". The cut shows their trouble . . . no life in the center.

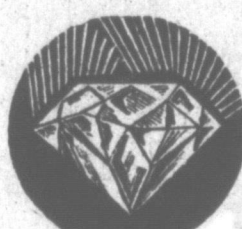

Too Thick!

Good center but no brilliancy at sides. Such diamonds represent useless weight and inefficient refraction.

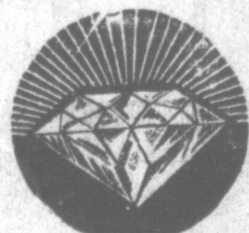

Lop-Sided!

Overbalanced stones as seen above lack life in the center and sides because their culet is not directly under the table.

Bad Shape!

Such diamonds are cut from irregular pieces or are deliberately mis-shaped to eliminate flaws. Poor property.

A Real Gem!

Perfect stones, perfectly cut to reveal a prismatic play in every direction. Such stones increase in value.

BUY PERFECT DIAMONDS ON CONVENIENT PAYMENTS

The qualities that control the value of a diamond, as shown above, can not be detected by the naked eye. They can only be discovered by experts. Hence, it is important that you select your diamond at a store of standing and responsibility. . . . Our showings of Perfect Diamonds, in smartest settings, include rings ranging in price down to $50 and up to $5,000. All are available on convenient terms.

CHURCHES

METHODIST CHURCH

The Christmas season is here and most of us are planning for a great time. In our celebrating we often forget the great occasion that marked the first Christmas. Let us show our great reverence to the One who was born in a manger many years ago by attending all services of our church during this season.

Sunday school, 9:45. A class and a welcome for everyone.

The pastor will preach on "The Challenge of God" at 11. This service should be outstanding in every way.

At 7:30 the Epworth Leaguers of the church will give their annual Anniversary program. The League and its relation to the church will be the general topic of discussion for this service. Talks and special music by the young people will be the feature of the service.

Join with the great multitudes that will praise the Christ Child this Christmas season and attend all worship services.

TOM W. BRABHAM Pastor
GRADY G. MORTON, Edu. Director

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The royal law as described by James, the brother of the Lord, is part of the old Mosaic writings, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Just as the lawyer in Christ's day asked the question, "And who is my neighbor?" Men are still striving to justify their narrow lives by the same question.

We will present the royal law in the sermon this morning at 11 o'clock.

Services for today:
Sunday school at 10 a. m.
Morning worship and sermon, 11 a. m.
Children practice for Christmas, 3 p. m.

Christian Endeavor, 4 p. m.
Sermon, "Pretty is as Pretty Does," 7:30 p. m.

We bid you a hearty welcome to attend our services.

A. A. HYDE, Minister

First Baptist Church

Sunday school, all classes, 9:45 a. m.
Morning preaching service, 11 a. m.
Amarada mission service, 2:30 p. m.
Training service, all unions, 6:15 p. m.

Evening preaching service, 7:30 p. m.

At the morning preaching service today the pastor will speak on the subject, "Loyalty to the Church." The evening sermon by the pastor will be "The Winning Church," a sequel to the morning message. Each of these sermons will be of vital importance to everyone, both the church members and the non-church members; and the public is invited cordially to attend these services.

Our Sunday school last Sunday exceeded the previous records by having an attendance of 498. The Lord is blessing the efforts of the Sunday school workers, and the people who attend this service of the church are growing in number and in spirit. If the weather is favorable, we hope to have 500 in the Sunday school today. We thank you for your help in the services last Sunday; come and help us reach the 500 mark this morning! A rich blessing awaits you!

Plans are being perfected for the Christmas observance by our church. Definite announcements concerning these plans will be made at the morning services.

The training service is growing. Last Sunday marked a new impetus given to the unions. This evening we hope to go far past 100 in attendance. You will enjoy and will profit by the program given in the union composed of people of your age group.

The heating equipment has been installed. We have done the best we can to make the physical environment pleasant for you. We hope the spirit-part of the services will prove inspiring and beneficial to you. Go to church somewhere today. If you are not already affiliated with one of the other denominations of the city, we cordially urge you to worship with us.

PRE-CHRISTMAS PUPPETS CHARM YOUNG ITALIANS

BY HUDSON HAWLEY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

PALERMO, Italy, Dec. 14. (AP)—With the approach of the Christmas season, interest on the part of Italian children, of both tender and adult years, centers on the marionette shows, developed to a high degree of realism here in Sicily.

They are seen at this season on the boards of juvenile theatres and in private homes.

Claimed as the forerunners of all the Punch and Judy shows which delight English and American youngsters, the "Guignol" spectacles, seen in France, and of the puppet plays in other lands, the Italian variety of the marionette art has lost nothing of its appeal. Through each of the little plays, acted by wooden Thespian runners the same vein of slapstick comedy.

But whereas Mr. Punch in England beats his wife and gets rough with the constable, and Guignol in France is always whacking the gendarme, his Italian counterpart—at least in the townships of Sicily—is fighting none but his country's enemies. In fact the latter-day Sicilian marionettes are being used to teach the history of the colorful island, dominated by Greeks, Romans, Saracens, Normans, and Spaniards before it was united to Italy.

Fights between Saracen and Christian puppets are enacted here every school holiday, accompanied by shrill squeals from the juvenile audiences. The Christian knight-crusaders in miniature come down to the footlights and, by the voice of his ventriloquist manipulator, exclaims:

"Children! This day I have killed five thousand infidels!"

"Poco!" (Not much!) respond the heartless youthful critics in chorus.

The puppet tries again:

"And in another place I killed TEN thousand Saracens!"

"Poco!" is the reply of the blood-thirsty youngsters.

"And still in another place I killed FIFTY thousand!"

"Basta!" (You've done enough) is the children's reply, proving that after all they have a sense of proportion.

The parody on accepted history that these wooden doll performances afford has led many a Sicilian grandfather to forsake business and social obligations on the pretext that he simply had to accompany his grandchildren to the marionette theatre. It amounts to the same old excuse that American grandparents give for going to the cir-

"Aero-Turbine" Uses Crude Oil Fuel

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 14. (AP)—The man who was credited with building the first gasoline engine with electrical ignition west of the Mississippi has built an "aero-turbine" motor for the aviation industry.

The internal combustion turbine motor designed by Otto Larson, veteran St. Louis engineer, is intended to eliminate fire hazards through the use of crude oil as fuel, and to make possible greater capacity of planes by eliminating lubricating oil.

Larson's aero-turbine consists of an injection and combustion of fuel takes compressing chamber at the rear where place. Instead of directing their energy against reciprocating parts, expanding gases actuate a series of turbines. These wheels diminish in size toward the propeller, reducing the motor's frontal area.

Final drive to the propeller is thru reduction gears, since the turbine turns about 5,000 revolutions per minute, too fast for operating a propeller.

Solid injection of crude oil, through a small intake pipe eliminates a carburetor. Through graduated turbines, Larson claims, the full force of exploding gases is utilized, thus curtailing the usual exhaust noise. Only a low-pitched whistling sound is audible as the motor operates. The aero-turbine's efficiency, Larson says, is close to perfect as compared with the average gasoline engine's performance of approximately 55 per cent.

Larson's motor, on which patents are being sought, is the result of experiments dating back to 1915. A government engineer, Larson has worked with power plants for nearly 40 years. He is said to have built the first automobile in St. Louis.

Mince Pies, Plum Puddings, Christmas Cards and Yule-logs come from England. Santa Claus comes from Holland. Christmas trees come from the East by way of Germany. Christmas carols come from the Holy Land itself.

What, then, has America contributed to Christmas? This! . . . a gorgeous and exuberant spirit of generosity . . . which has made the American Christmas unique, a wonder to the nations of the world. Prosperous America is; but she has taken advantage of her prosperity to GIVE. In the holiday season her GIVING attains to eloquent proportions.

The role of the Central States Power and Light Corporation in this epic of unselfishness is a large and significant one, played with consummate care, the utmost courtesy and all the ideals of Service. May the Central States Power and Light Corporation here thank its friends and wish them a glorious holiday season.

Christmas Party for Azar Class Held Friday with Tree as Feature

Gifts were exchanged by members of the Azar class of the Baptist Sunday school at a prettily planned Christmas party at the home of Mrs. V. D. Pruitt, 108 West Browning avenue, on Friday afternoon.

The house was gay with decorations in a red and green color theme, providing a pleasant setting for holiday contests and games. Tinsel ropes, colored lights, and candles trimmed the large tree from which the gifts were distributed. Refreshments which were served in the late afternoon repeated the favored colors.

About New York

By RICHARD MASSOCK

NEW YORK—Pity the poor pickpocket who picks on a Wall street millionaire. He is likely to find himself empty-handed.

Three men recently had lunch together—an investment banker another almost as wealthy and a mere newspaper man. The talk turned to cash-in-pocket and one of them suggested that they compare their monetary resources.

The wealthiest had exactly $7, the next had $2. The newspaper man exhibited $48 in currency and odd coins amounting to 73 cents.

"CHARGE IT" The more you have the less you need, meaning the more credit the less cash, might well be a slogan of the New York rich man.

The millionaire referred to seldom spends more than 15 cents a day in cash—two cents for morning paper, two sub-way fares of a nickel each and three cents for the evening paper he reads on the way home.

His secretary hands him $25 in cash each Friday. It accumulates until it becomes a nuisance. Then he sends it to his bank to be deposited.

There are, he said, multi-millionaires of his acquaintance who have no need of any cash at all. They ride to from their offices in their chauffeured cars and are handed newspapers at either end by their secretaries.

These men have charge accounts that take care of almost every expenditure. Members of the Bankers' and Lawyers' clubs on lower Broadway, where they have lunch, are not permitted to tip employees, nor do they pay their meal checks daily. Instead, statements are mailed to their secretaries once a month.

Some, like the first financier, not only have charge accounts at numerous stores, but also at theater ticket agencies, taxicab stands and supper clubs.

Regardless of where he goes between breakfast and bedtime, therefore, the banker has virtually no need of cash except for frequent tipping. He rarely has a coin in his pockets; whenever being a bill to the Carnegie estate gets silver he gives it to his children.

PENILESS CAPITALIST

This situation among the men of means may account for some large tips put out in night clubs and restaurants—$20 bills to waiters, perhaps $5 to the cigar girl and another dollar to the check-room attendant. "Keep the change" is the customary phrase of those who consider silver too heavy to carry when there is no need.

A favorite story is that of a ship news reporter, long retired. In his active days he "covered" the frequent sailings of Andrew Carnegie until his face became known to the great steel merchant.

One day Carnegie stepped down a gangplank, felt apologetically in his pockets and then beckoned to the news man.

"Please lend me a quarter," he said, "to tip the porter."

The reporter handed over the coin. Three times after that upon the return from trips to Scotland, Carnegie borrowed 25 cents for the same purpose and from the same man. The loans were never repaid, the reporter said, and he never asked for his money, although he did consider for a while sending a coin in his pockets; whenever being a bill to the Carnegie estate

Wants Papers to Ignore Murders

SAN MARCOS, Dec. 14. (P)—Charging that newspaper articles make it difficult to obtain jurors, J. N. Brubaker, attorney for Red Woods, charged jointly with J. H. Dumas in the Rankin, Upton county, bank killing, said he would make an effort to get a judge's ruling against newspapermen reporting the highlights of the case prior to the selection of a jury. The Woods-Dumas case is set for trial in district court here during the winter term.

The Woods-Dumas case created statewide interest in that the Texas Bankers association's reward of $5,000 for "dead bank bandits" was involved. It was reported here that the state would attempt to prove that Woods and Dumas schemed to collect the reward for two men who were shot dead at the rear of the Rankin bank.

Woods' attorneys have hinted they will attempt to prove "political corruption" is at the bottom of the case.

Milk Ordinance Is Adopted by 75 Cities of Texas

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (P)—Seventy-five Texas cities and towns are operating under the standard milk ordinance and a number of other municipalities are contemplating its adoption, according to the state board of health.

The ordinance, recommended by the United States public health service, was adopted by the state department of health in 1924.

"Milk industries have profited wherever the ordinance has been faithfully carried out because of the justified faith of the people in milk when produced under sanitary and safe conditions," members of the board said.

"It is with some regret," they added, "that we realize the failure of official adoption on the part of a few very influential and important civic centers. We feel that the health authorities in those cities will strive to hasten adoption in every way possible. Only two cities of Texas with a population of 50,000 and over are not now operating under the standard milk ordinance."

BIG TEACHING STAFF

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (P)—The present teaching staff at the University of Texas here is considerably larger than the original student body. There are 336 teachers, 206 secretaries, librarians, bureau directors, clerks, athletic coaches, statisticians, cataloguers, social directors, nurses and other workers, and 121 student assistants.

Of the 336 faculty members, 182 are ranked as professors, adjunct professors or associate professors, while 101 are instructors and 53 tutors.

Texas Production Lower in November

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (P)—Production of crude petroleum in Texas showed a decline in November for the fourth consecutive month according to Bernard Nichols of the bureau of business research at the University of Texas.

During the month 26,220,000 barrels were produced compared with 27,342,000 barrels in October, Nichols said.

"Production fell off considerably more in the final week of the month than in the first, indicating that the trend is still downward," he added. Nichols asserted the fact that field work generally was less active than in October was another favorable development.

"In the four-month period, output has diminished about 32,000 barrels daily," Nichols said. "Although the rate of decline is slow, it is an encouraging feature, especially if the curtailment continues. A similar downward trend is taking place in other large producing states."

Jewish Books Are Given to College

CANYON, Dec. 14. (Special)—F. F. Florence, president of the Republic National bank of Dallas has just presented the West Texas State Teachers college library a valuable set of reference books, The Jewish Encyclopedia. This collection of twelve large volumes was compiled by Cyrus Adler with Isidore Singer as managing editor.

It is an encyclopedia of general knowledge, given from the Jewish point of view and it is also particularly valuable for the biography which it contains, the history of the Jewish race, and its discussions of the Talmudic law.

Miss Tennessee Malone librarian at the Canyon College says that this is a valuable contribution and that the books will be much used by student of literature, history, art and music.

A psycho-physical examination is to be made of thirty-six Columbia university students while they drink coffee.
