TOO MUCH OIL IS PRODUCED

Pipeline Companies of Area Buying Too Much Now

Agreement to continue the shut down for thirty days, and at the end of that time to make proration plans for producing wells if the present over-production condition still exists in the mid-continent area, was made with two exceptions at a meeting of oil operators at the Schneider hotel Tuesday afternoon.

The two companies announcing they would bring in well now on top of the bay, are Magnolia Petroleum company and McMann Oil and Gas company. However, both indicated their drilling plans are temporary and will be subject to change. Magnolia would bring in two wells in section 13, which would necessitate drilling in nine offsets. While McMann wants to bring in two wells in section 90, also requiring the drilling in of a number of off-sets. All of these wells are in the heart of the Bowers-Finley pool.

To Meet Again Nov. 29
The operators will meet again at the Schneider, Nov. 29. The meeting closed yesterday when a motion was unanimously voted to make active plans for proration on that date if the situation has not righted itself and the natural decline as a result of the shut down has not taken care of the condition.

H. M. Stalcup, vice-president in charge of production of the Skelly oil company, Tulsa, was authorized to notify all pipeline companies and operators in this territory of the extended curtailment and of the plans for a possible shut-down. In the event, proration is decided upon, an umpire will be asked to come into this territory to supervise the production. Mr. Stalcup and representatives of Phillips Petroleum company, Prairie Pipe Line company, the Texas Company and others asserted that production should be cut at least 50 per cent by Dec. 1.

The usual minimum proration is 20 per cent of the producing wells, Stalcup

—AND A SMILE

LONDON (AP)—From the gangsters of Chicago to the Bedouins of the Sahara, Louis Golding, novelist, has searched in vain for the modern girl. His conclusion, as expressed in the Daily Chronicle, is that she does not exist; that she was a very ancient myth among the hanging gardens of Babylon; that in Asparia's set in Athens there were girls who did the equivalent of dandling jade cigarette holders and chain drinking; that the Victorian grandmother would have been outraged by her 18th century grandmother.

Sheppard and Senator Hawes Will Debate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment, and Senator Hawes, Democrat Missouri, a wet, will discuss their views of prohibition over a nationwide radio hook-up under auspices of the Washington Evening Star.

Senator Sheppard will speak Thursday night at 10:30 Eastern Standard time through station WMAL of the Columbia Broadcasting system. A week later, November 7, Senator Hawes, speaking through the same hook-up, will cover each of the points made by Senator Sheppard.

The Texan will, among other things, outline his recent proposal that purchasers of liquor shall be held equally guilty with the seller.

MANY VETERANS EAT VENISON AT LEGION DINNER

Plenty of music, speeches, and venison furnished entertainment for 150 ex-service men at the American Legion banquet last night at the Plaquemine auditorium. Despite the rain which fell in torrents throughout the evening, the crowd was large. One-third of the men present were ex-service men of the local post, but were ex-service men, it was estimated.

With P. E. Boyd presiding, Judge New P. Willis made the principal address of the evening. Judge Willis mentioned the effect of the Legion on contemporary American thinking. He said it was the lever that would prevent America from sinking into materialism and that the Legion is the best force in our life today.

Mrs. R. A. Webb sang a solo, "Legionnaire," accompanied by herself. The invocation was delivered by Rev. James Todd, Jr. Little Miss Christine Manning gave two dances, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Webb. Tex Kelly sang two songs in the manner of a blues singer. A trio comprising Bob Rose, Jack Dunn, and Chick Hickman sang several songs. LeRoy Harley whistled two numbers accompanied by Hickman on the banjo.

Other speakers were M. K. Brown, Paul Hill, and F. P. Reid. Mr. Brown traced the beginning of the Pampa Legion Post from the time in 1917 when 14 local recruits, accompanied by the band directed by the late Alex Schneider, went to Alameda to board the Rock Island for the training camp. Mr. Hill mentioned social service work the Legion has done recently. Other speakers were J. A. Pearson and Sam McCarty of Austin, Legion organizers.

The venison dinner which was free, was furnished by several Legionnaires who recently returned from a deer hunting trip in Arizona.

Rotary Debate Feature Today

The importance of the four major committees of Rotary were explained at the meeting today noon. The presentation was in the form of a debate with a representative from each of the committees presenting arguments for his committee.

Neil McCullough, C. P. Buckler, the Rev. James Todd and Paul Shepherd made talks and Charlie Cook acted as judge and master of ceremonies.

C. M. Bryson will have charge of the program next Wednesday.

Visitors today included Bill Kaufman, Jr.; G. J. Blackard and Dr. J. H. Kelly.

BRIGGS SAYS MANAGERS ARE IN AGREEMENT

More Specific Work Could Be Very Valuable

AMARILLOAN IS OF SAME MIND

Mack King in Favor of New Smaller Group

Suggestion that a Panhandle Chamber of Commerce, working out the specific problems of this section, would serve a need not likely to be taken care of by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, received an enthusiastic reception at the luncheon meeting of the local Chamber yesterday.

The suggestion came in the course of a report by George Briggs, B. C. D. manager, on the recent El Paso convention of the regional body. Mr. Briggs told how the big organization rallied to raise its deficit and plan a larger program, and predicted that it would continue to be useful, but said that Panhandle secretaries were agreed on the need for more local body. He denied that there was any disagreement among them at the El Paso session.

Much Land Unturned
Outlining his statement that there is room for a Panhandle organization, he called attention to the fact that land amounting to 13,000,000 tillable acres in this section is undeveloped. He said that specific advertising will be necessary to bring about rapid settlement. He added that he believed the time was ripe for general cooperation in the Panhandle toward such a move. He called attention to the work already done along this line by Panhandle Plains of Texas, Inc., to which several counties have been contributing.

In connection with these statements, Mr. Briggs asserted that the West Texas Chamber was vital in legislative matters.

Smiley Bank Is Robbed of $5,000

SMILEY, Oct. 30. (AP)—Between $5,000 and $7,000 was stolen from the state bank last night. Robbers entered the building through a rear window and chiseled a hole through the brick vault of the bank.

Unable to open a safe inside the vault they carried it away on a truck, according to Sheriff B. Nabours of Gonzales. In addition to the cash, about $600 in stamps was stolen.

O. R. Culpepper, president of the bank, said the institution carried insurance.

Trial of Bowman on Murder Charge Gets Under Way in District Court

Selection of the jury which is to decide the guilt or innocence of Johnnie Bowman, charged with murder, was completed this morning after a venire of 50 men was examined. Bowman was indicted by the grand jury for the slaying of Bill Watson here last July 4.

Hearing of testimony is scheduled to begin this afternoon. A plea of insanity will be made by the defense, it is understood. Bowman was judged sane at a sanity hearing several years ago in Oklahoma, according to Sheriff E. S. Graves.

Bowman has been in court the last two days while his jury was being impaneled. During the questioning of the jurors he laughed loudly and giggled intermittently, clapping his hands in amusement. He seems to be unaware

Martial Law Lifted

Murder Trial Is Now Under Way in Stinnett

BORGER, Oct. 30. (AP)—The stigma of martial law had been removed from Borger and Hutchinson county today by official proclamation and by completion of the new administration.

The long-awaited official proclamation lifting martial law issued by Governor Moody in Austin yesterday. In it he said "conditions which made it advisable to declare martial law have been improved to such an extent I do not believe it is any longer necessary to maintain martial law there."

Coincident with this action, the county commissioners named Robert F. Reeves constable at Borger, thus filling the last office vacated when the soldiers came to Hutchinson county. Prior to his appointment, George Tarrant was named justice of peace for the oil city.

State troops took Borger September 30 and were withdrawn October 18. Meanwhile, at Stinnett, county seat of Hutchinson, the trial of W. C. Alsbrook, charged with one of Borger's murders, progressed. Alsbrook was indicted for the murder of Melvin T. Hitchhiss, whose slaying occurred two days after the slaying of District Attorney John Holmes. Holmes' death was the immediate incentive which brought troops to Borger.

All except one juror had been chosen for Alsbrook's trial when court recessed last night.

Family Trouble Is Blamed in Killing of Amarillo Man

AMARILLO, Oct. 30. (AP)—Domestic difficulties were believed by police today to have caused the shooting yesterday in the office of John Dees, real estate operator, which resulted in the death of Finis Brown.

Brown had recently been divorced from his wife, Nettie Sorenson, a waitress. Dees declared he had been threatened. He was released on bond after a murder charge was entered against him.

McCullom Test Is Now Being Cleaned

R. C. Kercheval returned Monday from Fort Worth and resumed direction of the cleaning out of the McCullom et al's No. 1 F. J. Meers, section 107, block 3.

He said today that little had been done during his 10-day absence, and that the cleaning out process had stopped at 3,190 feet, well above the hard formation in which the lower shot was placed in the hole. He believes the upper pay is developing satisfactorily, but until the lower formation is cleaned out the potential production of the test cannot be ascertained.

THREE CHICAGO GIRLS KILLED IN FIRE AT HOME

CHICAGO, Oct. 30. (AP)—Three little girls, Mary, Gertrude and Virginia Matjevich, were burned to death last night when fire destroyed their home in Hodgkins, a suburb. They were 5 years 3 months and nine months old.

Mrs. Mary Matjevich, their mother, mistook a can of gasoline for kerosene while preparing dinner and poured it into the stove. An explosion sent the blazing liquid flying in all directions.

WINTER COMING DOWN ROCKIES

School Buses Delayed
in Reaching City Schools

HOUSTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—One man was perhaps fatally injured and two women and two men were hurt in a tornado which struck on the edge of Houston today.

Half a dozen houses were demolished, barns and garages were wrecked and several other dwellings were unroofed by the wind, which struck without warning.

The victims:
B. B. Works, 68, internally injured, may die.
Mrs. B. B. Works, 65 bruised, skinned and shocked.
Mrs. J. A. Martin probable internal injuries.
J. A. Martin, scratched and bruised.
Edwin Koyor, 18, of Alief, scratched and bruised.

The Works home was believed to have been the first struck. Mr. and Mrs. Martin were carried 500 feet, in bed. The wife still was in bed when others reached the scene.

House Is Lifted
Near Alief, where the storm was believed to have struck last, considerable damage was done. Mr. and Mrs. John Koyor, parents of Edwin, were unhurt through their house was lifted 25 feet from its foundations.

The storm, witnesses said, was accompanied by gusts of driving rain.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 30. (AP)—Winter held sway from Montana to New Mexico in the eastern tier of the Rocky Mountain West today, but the weather forecast indicated relief.

The greater portion of the entire area was under a covering of snow that ranged from a depth of one inch in the valleys to a foot or more in the higher altitudes. In some places, drifted snow made motoring difficult.

Peak Publisher Rescued
Nineteen persons marooned on Pikes Peak were rescued and taken to Colorado Springs yesterday. Three employees at the summit house and Mrs. J. R. Spencer, who publishes the Pikes Peak News, were brought from the crest of the peak by a special cog road train which bucked the drifts to the summit. Fifteen persons held at Olen Cove, half way up the automobile highway, were brought to Colorado Springs.

Rainfall 1.2 Inches Here
Temperature not far above freezing today followed rainfall of 1.2 inches late yesterday and last night in the Pampa territory. There was a rush to mud chains and anti-freeze solutions for cars yesterday.

Today school buses were behind schedule, and drivers said that just a little more rain would make the roads impassable. Great holes have formed where pipelines cross the highways.

Safety First buses were running late to Amarillo, Clarendon, and Shamrock. The mud from Pampa to the Carson county line caused delay of as much as 40 minutes in operating time.

Snowfall in several directions from the city was reported, but this was negligible. A hard freeze tonight followed by cloudy, cold weather tomorrow was forecast.

Shortly after noon today a light snow began falling in Pampa. The large flakes melted as fast as they fell.

GOVERNOR MOODY IN AN ADDRESS AT EL PASO
MENTIONED THAT A
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
FOR TEXAS AS A WHOLE
WOULD PERHAPS NEITHER
BE EFFECTIVE NOR ADVIS-ABLE.

He doubtless was thinking of the tremendous territorial extent of this state and the varied interests of its many sections. Interest naturally will not continue strong where activities are too general.

The proposal to form a Plains organization for specific activity is evidently based largely upon the idea that development of West Texas has brought, or rather accentuated, the several problems that differ by territories. The undeniable loss of interest in the West Texas Chamber in this part of West Texas is undoubtedly due to a lack of direct action.

There is, we believe, room for the larger, general organization and the smaller one devoted to local problems of agriculture, livestock raising, colonization, securing of industries related to the oil business, and the like. The need for coordination of West Texas' in legislative matters is still large.
Many of us remember the price in effort and influence which it required to land Texas Tech. A smaller organization would not have the influence in Austin or in Washington that the larger one has.
In other words, the two activities would not greatly clash if the West Texas Chamber's program continues as general in the future as it has in the past.

But whether both can operate harmoniously and economically is a matter that only time can show. Antagonism will avail nothing, and will cost much. The spirit of those who at El Paso attempted to revive a faltering organization was heroic and if it dominates the organization in the future the regrettable deficit and loss of interest will not recur.

West Texas has growing differences internally in her development, but there still remains much in common.
United West Texas may yet be called upon to dare and do.
The following declaration of general purpose and method, as outlined in El Paso, is expressive of what we mean:

"The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is not striving to promote sectional strife or draw any sectional lines against territory represented in other sections of Texas. It stands first and always for the general welfare of this state. In doing so it feels that it will promote its own interests. It feels however, that it has a great mission to perform in serving the interests of West Texas and that if it becomes necessary for the protection of life, property, liberty or business interests of West Texas it stands

WASHINGTON—Other cities may grow wildly enthusiastic when a celebrity appears, but nothing short of a queen or a Lindbergh will draw a crowd in sophisticated Washington.
But then, it is only natural. One can hardly expect people who daily rub elbows with the great to get pep-ped up over seeing some new world
figure. Of course there are exceptions.

When Queen Marie of Rumania was here in 1926, there was a jam where-ever she went or was expected. But there was nothing like that when Premier Ramsey MacDonald and his daughter Isobel came here.

No cheering mob welcomed these two distinguished visitors to Washington. Only a small gathering was in front of the British embassy on Connecticut avenue when the MacDonalds were coming and going on their second day here.

And when the Hoover-MacDonald party left the White House to spend the week end at the President's camp on the Rapidan, it was a very small crowd which gathered on the grounds to watch their departure. And when the White House police got harbored and put them out, they didn't seem to mind at all.

NEVER CROWDED
When the prime minister and his daughter paid a visit to congress it was pretty much the same way. At no time were they crowded. True, the galleries were crowded in both the house and senate chambers, but enthusiasm was confined to dignified hand clapping. A crowd of women waited outside the diplomatic gallery in the senate until Isobel departed, but the only demonstration was smiles and scattered applause.

But if Washingtonians refuse to mob the MacDonalds, it was no indication that they were lacking in appreciation of the two distinguished Britons. There have been few to come to Washington and so quickly win respect and admiration as did the MacDonalds.

The prime minister's dignity, his apparent infinite patience (every one down to the pages shook hands with him during his visit to congress), and the merry twinkle in his eyes naturally attracted people to him.

And Isobel, who presents an unusual combination of youthfulness and maturity, was none the less popular.

WORN SUITCASE
Both father and daughter were natural at all times.

There is the case of the MacDonalds luggage, for instance, it might easily be mistaken for that of any traveling salesman. The bags were pil-laged and the contents scattered.

free speech and that every citizen, high or low, has the right to his opinion and to express it, but it does not feel that if it differs from the opinion of any other section of Texas, or any citizen of the state, it shall be classed as an enemy of the section or individual with whom it differs. It believes that as a general rule our interests are identical, and that There was one old and much-worn suit-case marked "The Rt. Hon. the it that a strap was necessary to hold it in place. There was no bag marked for Isobel.

Sir Robert V. Asstair, the premier's secretary, had more luggage than his chief. He had two bags.

The news photographers experienced difficulty at first in persuading Isobel to smile when she posed. But when she did, we have the word of one of them, she almost bowled them all over.

At another time reporters were attracted to the sound of a piano that was being played vigorously on the second floor of the British embassy. Investigation revealed that Isobel was doing it. She had noticed the piano standing there and without further ado sat down and began to play.

in the contest for bands of its class and first prize in the appearance inspection.
Ben Howard, a member of the organization, tied for first place in the clarinet

Money attached to the prizes won by the bands will be turned over to the

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Another star has "descended" from the heights of grand opera to lend his talents to those lowly movies which were once, in their cradle days, scorned by the actors of the stage.

And Don Jose Mojica (pronounced Moheeka) has a story refreshingly different from the tales of hard struggle and woe told by most actors as the history of their upward climb.

For Don Jose, a young man heralded in press agency as possessing "the grace of a Valentino and the voice of a Caruso," seems to have had a fairly godmother watching over his career. "I have always been fortunate," he says. "Always good luck has followed me, and everywhere I have gone I have found good friends who helped me. It seems that in whatever I have tried to do, my path has been open and free. I never have had anything to complain of or to be bitter about."

LURED BY FARM
Don Jose was born in Mexico, of a family whose ancestors came from Barcelona, Spain, more than a century ago. He was educated in Mexico City and attended the National School of Agriculture there, intending to be a farmer.

ed to music, singing in amateur opera when he was 15 years old. Professionally he began his career with the Chicago Civic Opera company, with which he remained eight years, singing leading roles with such stars as Mary Garden, Galli-Curci, Hempel and others.

His talkie debut, by the way, does not mean he will forsake his operatic career—he has reserved the right to return to opera and concert for a period every year.

The sales of Mojica's phonograph records, especially in Latin-American countries, run into the thousands. His first talkie is to be a Spanish romance yet, untitled, with a special version for Spanish-speaking countries in actual work.

George Lewis, after four years with Universal, is to leave the Laemmle lot about Oct. 15. He was the star of "The Collegians" series and recently of "Tonight at 12."—Joan Crawford is to star in a musical western, "Montana."

Charles LeMoine, onetime screen villain of westerns, has come back to the films after several years on the ranch. You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the flavor of your

New French-fried dishes—quick ones!

Drop Doughnuts

Here is a quick, easy way to make doughnuts—the batter is dropped from a teaspoon directly into the hot fat. No tireome rolling and cutting! And another important suggestion—fry them in Crisco, the sweetest, freshest-tasting fat I know of. See how that improves the flavor! And, of course, no smoke in your kitchen when you fry in Crisco at the proper temperature.

- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon Crisco
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3/4 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- Pinch of salt

Beat eggs until light. Add sugar, melted Crisco, milk and vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Stir into first mixture. Drop from teaspoon into deep Crisco heated to 360° F. or when a bread crumb browns in 60 seconds. Fry slowly until golden brown. Test with a toothpick. When cool, roll in powdered sugar.

These recipes have been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

Ham and Chicken Croquettes

A French chef tells me that "French" frying is the hardest test a chef has to pass in France—and one of the simplest in America. And the difference lies in the frying fat. "In France," he says, "is used olive oil (costing much and disappearing with rapidity into smoke) or beef suet and chicken fat burning so violently that one must at hand have a heavy blanket."

In America, French frying is accomplished with Crisco, a pure, sweet shortening which quickly wraps around foods a delicate crisp brown coat, and adds a delightful, fresh flavor to foods cooked in it. And—Crisco can be kept at the proper cooking temperature without burning or smelling! Here is a novel croquette, of two leftovers, chicken and ham, to be French fried in Crisco:

- 2 tablespoons Crisco
- 1 teaspoon chopped onion
- 3/4 cup flour
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 teaspoon paprika
- 3/4 teaspoon pepper
- dash of nutmeg
- 3 eggs (beaten yolks)
- 1 1/4 cups cooked chicken
- 3/4 cup cold boiled ham

Cook onion in Crisco 3 minutes. Add flour and blend well. Then add chicken broth gradually, stirring constantly. Bring to boil and add seasoning, yolks of eggs slightly beaten and the chicken and ham cut in small cubes. Mix thoroughly and allow to cool. Shape, dip in crumbs, eggs, then crumbs again, fry in deep hot Crisco (360° F. or when a cube of bread browns in 40 seconds) and drain on absorbent paper. Remove to hot dish and garnish with parsley. This recipe serves six.

Fried Spinach Balls

"What to do with two cups of leftover spinach" was one housekeeper's problem—and I think you'll agree she solved it delightfully if you will try her recipe for French-fried Spinach Balls. Of course, when you fry them, you will want to use Crisco—the same cooking fat that so many chefs employ for French frying. Crisco gives fried foods a delightful flavor, because Crisco tastes so sweet and fresh itself.

- 2 cups cooked spinach, chopped
- 2 tablespoons Crisco
- 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons grated cheese
- 1 egg beaten
- 3/4 teaspoon allspice

Egg and more crumbs
Combine ingredients and let stand 10 minutes to swell crumbs. Shape into balls. Put egg in bowl with 3/4 cup water. Beat together until mixed. Roll balls in crumbs, then in egg and then in crumbs again. Drop in hot deep Crisco (360° F.) or when a bread crumb browns in 40 seconds, until brown. Drain on soft paper and serve.

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

CRISCO was used in the Cooking School recently conducted by this paper

Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig, in the News Cooking School, made a point of modern methods in cooking. Naturally, then, she uses Crisco, the modern shortening. Not only is Crisco easy to use; in addition, it helps you secure better, surer results.

A. A. U. W. and College Club Board Plans Activities

The executive board of the Pampa branch American Association of University Women and College club, at a session last evening in the home of Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, president, approved the plans presented by Mrs. Tom E. Rose, program chairman, for the monthly luncheon meetings for the remainder of the year; and endorsed the program outlined by Mrs. W. A. Duerr for the founders' day program in January.

Detailed arrangements for the bridge tournaments to be given at the Schneider hotel, on the afternoon and evening of Dec. 5, were completed, with Mrs. Hunkapillar designated as director for both affairs. Proceeds from the benefit will go to the scholarship fund, for which $170 already has been raised.

Mrs. W. A. Duerr, who was in charge of the brilliant program given last year at the club's mid-winter banquet, outlined the entertainment for the founders' day banquet, which will be given at the high school auditorium in January. An equally successful program was indicated.

Mrs. Tom E. Rose, chairman of the program committee, presented the calendar the committee had arranged for the remainder of the monthly luncheons of the year, and the board voted approval. The plans include the following: For next Saturday, a one act play, "The Deceivers," directed by Miss Velora Reed; for December, an out-of-town speaker, not yet designated; for March, a scholarship program under the direction of Miss Fannie Florence Sims, fellowship and scholarship chairman; for April, the annual election of officers; and for the final social gathering in May, a dinner for the senior girls of Central high school, with an out-of-town speaker.

BAYLOR BEARS SUFFER FROM OVER-TOUTING

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The old bugaboo that seems to hang over favored Southwest conference elevens appears to have nabbed the Baylor Bears, potentially one of the most powerful units in the section's history. Every coach in the conference fears to have his team made a favorite. Baylor appeared to have a collection of super football players, capable of defying any jinx or whatever brought against them. But it seems they are only human, after all.

Detailed reports of the Bruins' defeat at Shreveport, Saturday disclose they simply were beaten by what, for the day, was a better team. There were no all-stars for the Bears. Centenary's Gentlemen roundly outplayed them, except for a brief time in the third period when the Green came to life and scored its two touchdowns. Both extra points, that would have tied the score and perhaps changed the entire aspect of the contest, were missed. Jake Hanna, Centenary's backfield ace, ran riot around the Baylor wings and numerous off-side penalties hurt the Bruins' chances. The Baptists, as a whole, played listlessly.

It now appears likely that Virgil Cilliland, speedy Baylor halfback, who was given an all-conference berth in last year's composite selection, will not even be a member of Coach Jennings' first string backfield the remainder of the season. The combination which looked best against Centenary had Jake Wilson at quarter, Dutch Furl and McElreath at halfback, and Kathkark at fullback. Wilson played his usual sterling game against the Gents, but his mates were sadly off. The defeat might have been the tonic needed to awaken the Bears and transform them into the football machine they promised to be. The transformation, if any, will be seen when they engage Texas Tech Saturday at Waco.

Southern Methodist athletics authorities are wishing they had the proposed new Fair Park stadium and its 80,000 seating capacity available for Saturday's bout with the Texas Longhorns at Dallas. Ownby stadium's 24,000 seats promise to be inadequate. Only 6,000 seats remained to be sold last night, these in temporary bleachers. It probably will be the largest crowd over to witness an athletic contest at Dallas.

Although the Horned Frogs took Texas Tech about as expected last week, Coach Francis Schmidt again had it forcibly impressed upon him that he lacks one prime requisite for a championship team, i. e., a capable punter. The lack of a lad who can boot 'em far and accurately might well prove fatal to the Frogs' title hopes. Texas, Baylor, and S. M. U. are exceptionally well equipped. So far Coach Schmidt has tried four or five different kickers, all of them linemen, but he continues to be out-distanced on almost every exchange. Conover of the Aggies and Brathers of Tech made the Frog punters look bad. Natural punters like those two, however, do not grow on every bush.

Another conference coach who changes his stamping grounds during the summer will encounter a gang of his old pupils Saturday, bent upon making him sorry he picked up and left. This time it is Jack Meagher, Ric's new mentor. The St. Edwards' university Saints, formerly coached by Meagher, have sworn to pluck the Owls Saturday at Houston. What happened to Matty Bell, Aggie mentor, under similar circumstances has been told.

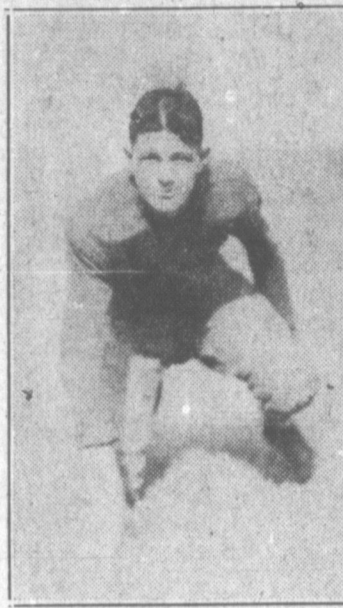

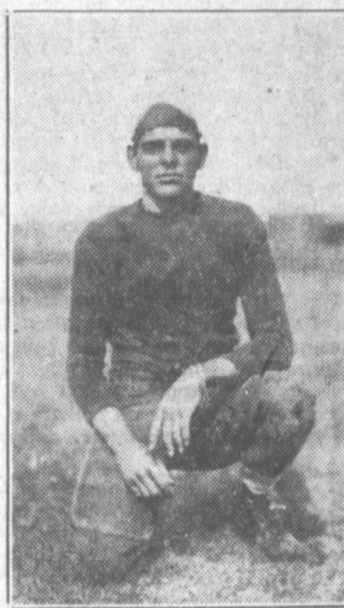

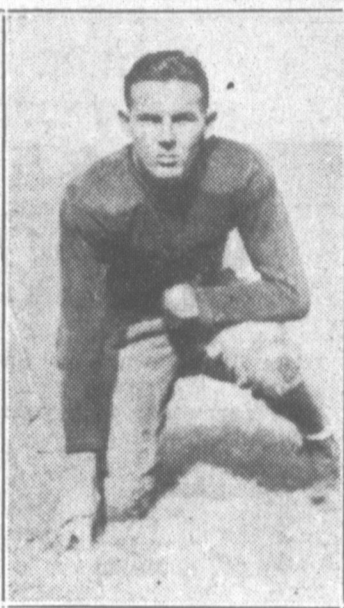

"Down Goats" Is Cry at Canyon

CANYON, Oct. 30. (Special) — "Down them Goats" is the slogan of all squad members of the Buffalo herd, and this slogan has been taken up by the student body and fans at Canyon and is fast spreading over the Panhandle to exes and friends of the Thundering Herd. For next Saturday, in the annual Home-coming football game the Herd will entertain for the Daniel Baker Hill Billies at Buffalo field, Canyon.

In past years the Buffs have been able to win only one game from the fighting Hill Billies and that was a homecoming affair in Canyon about four years ago. The teams have always been almost equally matched, but the goddess of fortune has smiled on the Goats in the past. Two of the victories have been 3 to 0 affairs and the other scores have been close.

This year the Buffaloes seem to have the best offense of any West Texas team since 1923, at least, and some fans are rating Pat Gerald, the flashy Buff halfback, as the equal if

They Figure in Altered Line-Up of Harvester Eleven

Injuries to Schmidt and English (left pair, above) have necessitated changes in the Harvester line-up. Mullen (second from right) is now playing offensive center and defensive tackle, and McFarland (right) has been shifted from the backfield to a line position, where he will play offensive guard and defensive center. Schmidt, with a cracked rib, and English, with a fractured nose, may recover in time to play against Perryton.

McFarland Is Shifted to Line in Attempt to Strengthen Defense

WALKER EASY WINNER OVER ACE HUDKINS

WRIGLEY FIELD, Los Angeles, Oct. 30. (P)—Fighting with the fury that won him the title in 1926, Mickey Walker demonstrated his fitness to wear the robes of middleweight champion when he pounded his way to an easy ten-round decision here last night over his most persistent challenger, Ace Hudkins.

With hefty punches to the jaw and a terrific body attack, the title holder not only met the rushes of the tough Nebraskan but slowed him down to walk before the mill was half over.

A throng of 25,000 persons, accounting for $141,459, largest gate in the history of boxing in California, saw a furious encounter in which Hudkins took one of the worst beatings of his career. The Nebraskan's vaunted body attack failed to soften Walker; in fact, he wilted before the battering he received.

Hudkins, however, rallied to win the eighth round. In that session, the only one he won, he bored in to batter Walker with a devastating attack to the body.

Hudkins' rally was over with the round, and for the next two sessions he ran into powerful clips to the chin that had him dazed and bleeding when the bout was over.

An altered line-up will be tried by Coach Odus Mitchell in the game with Wheeler here on Friday.

Merle McFarland has been shifted from the backfield to a line position. He will play offensive guard and defensive center. Bob Mullen will play offensive center and defensive tackle.

McFarland weighs 160 pounds and is a good interferer and tackler. It is hoped by this arrangement that the team will be strengthened offensively and defensively. The showing Friday will go far toward indicating what chances the Harvesters have of stopping the drives of Perryton backs November 11.

Bachelors' Prexy to Stay in Office—to Be Given Secretary

Contrary to previous announcements the president of the Bachelors' Protective association reconsidered his resignation following a decision of the board of directors to provide him with a secretary to answer the flood of inquiries that swamped him after organization of the association, it was said today.

Herewith follows the requirements for the office of secretary to the president of the Bachelor's Protective Association.

"Applicants must be of the female specie and single. Blondes are preferred but brunettes will be considered. Experience unnecessary; a desire to be of usefulness being the principle consideration. She must have lips like cherries kissed by the morning dew, eyes that remind one of deep pools of turquoise beneath a brow like unto the smooth canopy of heaven. The perfume of her hair must waft one into ecstasies of delicious bliss. Her slender figure must remind one of the graceful movements of the faun. Her disposition must radiate sunshine that will penetrate the very soul of the most calloused male beings."

All applications are to be made to Rev. Grady Morton, at the First Methodist church. A committee of selection composed of Earl Smith, Harold Hamilton, and Jack Munday will announce their decision at the earliest date possible.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS... by Laufer

THE RUN TOWARD THE UPON'S GOAL MADE RIEGELS A NATIONAL GOAT AND LOST THE GAME FOR HIS TEAM....

IT WOULD HAVE MADE MANY A YOUNGSTER CURL UP BUT ROY FOUGHT BACK ALL THE HARDER...

ROY RIEGELS

HE OFFERED NO EXCUSES FOR THE "BONER" NOW HE'S A HERO AND AN ALL-AMERICA PROBABILITY

He ran the wrong way once but he's on the right track now.

That is the story of Roy Riegels, captain and star center of the University of California football "boner" since our first ancestors tossed forward passes with regulation cocoanuts.

On last New Year's Day, in the most important intersectional game between Georgia Tech and California, Riegels pulled one that cost his team a victory and made him a national goat.

Chance for Great Play
In an attempt to gain through California's line, a Tech back fumbled the ball. Out of the tangled mass of young giants scrambled a California linesman. It was Roy Riegels. He scooped up the oval and started his never to be forgotten run. But in the direction of his own goal posts.

Dazed by the impact of the play, young Riegels lost his bearings. The thoughts of bringing singlehanded victory to his team must have been running through his mind.

Only by a great burst of speed did Bennie Lom, a California back, catch up to tackle him and avert the disaster. As it happened, the play gave Georgia Tech the chance to win the game.

Riegels' mortification and disgust must have been colossal. But he offered no excuses and shouldered the blame in silence. The blunder was broadcast throughout the country. Riegels became a marked man.

Fights Back
Today Roy Riegels, by his great fight back from ignominy, has made of himself a hero. He is captain of the team and his play in the early games of this season has been of the highest efficiency. There are plenty of cheers for Riegels. He is spoken of as All-American material by writers on the coast as well as in the east, where just recently he played a big part in his team's victory over Pennsylvania.

Riegels has proved he had plenty of the old red courage. And he has shown himself a great sportsman by keeping his mouth shut and playing all the harder.

not the superior of the Goodwin twins, as a ball carrier. Newman is making a name for himself as a punter and blocker. In the Simmons game he punted for an average of 44 yards, which is good in any class. Logan's play at tackle has been entirely satisfactory to coaches and fans. Logan is without doubt one of the best linemen in the entire state. Captain Ward is making his last year on the team his best. He has always been rated as one of the outstanding ends of the conference and should his play continue in future games as in the past he will doubtless be almost unanimous choice for all conference end.

It will be the last Home-coming game for some of these lads and West Texas exes and friends from all over the Southwest are expected to flock into Canyon Saturday to see last year's T. I. A. A. champions in action against the fighting Buffs.

Texas Resources Admirably Told in New Volume

For a number of years Texas has been in the spotlight of national attention. The rapid development of cities and natural resources has produced a wide-spread interest in the state's future possibilities.

Many books have been written about Texas. No other has touched so readably upon so many aspects of Texas; no other has been more competently edited or more strikingly representative of the best of the printing art.

The publishers call it "a picture of present-day Texas—its people, its history, its geography, the growth of its cities and towns, its civic, religious and social background, educational advantages, literary and artistic contributions to the world."

Fact-appendices contains the text of the Texas Declaration of Independence; list of the Chief Executives of Texas, with dates of their administrations; information about the earliest counties and a list of all the counties today, with county-seat, date of formation, area, population and origin of name.

The chapter on Texas art and literature is worthy of particular note, touching as it does upon the cultural flowering that has come about in this new century, which has produced Tex-writers, painters and sculptors prominent in the art life of the nation and the world. This capture is enriched by many beautiful reproductions of masterpieces by Texas artists. The authoritativeness of the book is shown in the names of the men and women who have contributed to it. The editor-in-chief is Holland Thompson, editor of The Book of Knowledge. Some of the others are: Charles W. Ramsdell, Ph.D., department of history, University of Texas; W. P. Webb, A.M., department of history, University of Texas; Harriet Smith, A.M., department of Geography, San Houston State Teachers college; J. Frank Doble, A.M., author of "Legions of Texas;" Anne Webb Blanton, Ph.D., department of education, University of Texas; John H. McGinnis, department of English, Southern Methodist university; W. R. Banks, A.M., principal, Prairie View State Normal and Industrial college; W. A. Stephenson, A.M., department of History and government, Simmons university.

McLean Will Use Cotton Hulls Instead of Burning Them

McLEAN, Oct. 30. (Special)—A cooperative measure of equal importance to ginners and farmers was discussed at a recent meeting of the McLean Chamber of Commerce, when it was shown that ginners could greatly aid farmers by giving them cotton hulls, which were described as valuable fertilizer, instead of burning them; and that farmers could aid the ginners by removing the hulls as fast as they accumulated, thus eliminating a serious fire hazard.

Records on the production of land fertilized with the cotton hulls, compared with the production of land not fertilized thus were produced to show the value of the waste product of the farm.

Western Express Liner Shows Up After 30 Hours

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 30. (AP)—A tri-motored western air express plane piloted by James E. Doles today stood victor over elements and the rugged Southwest after the two had combined to create strong fear for the safety of the plane and its five occupants.

As snow sifted down upon the airport here and men conferred about plans to locate the plane, then thirty hours overdue, the ship roared onto the field, everyone healthy and happy and the plane in perfect condition. A very unexciting landing and a very nonchalant quintet of men emerged from the cabin.

Doles, with Allan C. Barrie, co-pilot; R. L. Britten, steward, Dr. A. W. Ward, San Francisco dentist, and W. E. Merz, Mount Vernon, N. Y., passengers, took off from Los Angeles Monday morning and headed east.

After a refueling stop in Arizona the plane ran into a terrific snow storm which had not been reported. There, after, for more than thirty hours, there was no word. Officials of the company announced the plane "missing."

The plane had been forced down southeast of Tracheda, N. M., 60 miles south of the regular course.

Consuming what food they had in the plane, the party found a cabin nearby that had been noted in circling for a landing. The night was spent there before a roaring fire.

Mrs. Bessie Mason, a woman living about 5 miles from where the plane landed, discovered the flying party. She cooked them a meal of eggs, ham, and biscuits. Along in the afternoon the weather cleared sufficiently so Doles could take the big ship off from the small clearing in which he had brought it down.

ABOUT FOLKS

Fire Chief Alex Schneider says that when people turn in the alarm for a small fire they at least ought to tell the firemen where the fire is when they come into the district. Police and the telephone company investigated a fire one-half hour Monday night before it was found, then it was discovered in a trash can, that flared up for a moment.

Seen on the streets: J. B. Bourland of Panhandle walking down the sidewalk with Earl O'Keefe—Dr. V. E. Brunow wearing knickers and a raincoat—a car with a sticker on the windshield: "Visitors from Canada."

Most oldtimers but many new-comers don't know how Pampa got its name. T. D. Hobart says the credit for naming Pampa belongs to George Tyng, who was agent for the White Deer Land company just before Mr. Hobart. Mr. Tyng was a globe-trotter; he had been over most of the world. When he came to Pampa, he was reminded of the pampas, the great treeless plains of the Argentine, and Pampa was named. Mr. Tyng was later killed in a snow-slide at American Forks, Utah, a mining district. He lived and died an adventurer.

Heard at the Legion banquet: D. E. Cecil saying that he spent eight months "across." He was in the air service.

In a crowd men do things that look funny in print. For instance, comparing raincoats at the American Legion banquet. Inspection of M. K. Brown's revealed that it was bought in London when Mr. Brown was over there last year.

Hugh Stalcup, who arrived with his father, H. M. Stalcup, vice-president of the Skelly oil company, here yesterday, may remain here in the employ of the Skelly. The boy and his father were forced down three times enroute from Tulsa to Pampa in a company plane. They made the last 50 miles by auto. Hugh has finished his sophomore year at the University of Oklahoma where he was a member of Sigma Nu social fraternity.

At the American Legion banquet last night, M. K. Brown asked all those present to stand up who enlisted here in 1917. Of the 150 ex-service men present, these rose to their feet: Dr. Walter Purviance, Alex Schneider, Floyd McConnell, C. T. Hunkapillar, Frank Thomas, Jimmie Woodworth, and Lester Sills. There must be more of the Pampa boys who enlisted in '17 and '18 living around here. Mr. Brown also recalled that he played the bass drum in the late Alex Schneider's band.

The Skelly man also suggested that "a little missionary work" might result in a shut down in Carson county Oil Condition "Unhealthy"

Stalcup, who presided at the meeting, said that "the unhealthy condition still exists in the oil industry." He stated that a prorotation and curtailment program is on the verge of going into effect in the Oklahoma City and East Earlboro pools. Similar plans for California have resulted in nothing but "talk" and as a result the price of crude in that state has been cut 50 per cent, he said. He stated that a similar fate might be in store for Gray county if operators insisted on flush production. The refineries will want less and less crude in the next few months, he declared.

In agreeing to the shut down, Texas company's representative announced that it would not drill in any more well for 60 days unless endangered by neighbors. Prairie's man said his company would hardly agree with a further shut down in drilling but favored any plan that would lessen production. Operators oil company and Danciger company favored further shut down.

Buying Too Much
In reporting pipeline and storage conditions of the Prairie Pipe Line company, H. A. Meyer said that for several months his company has been buying more oil than it has been able to sell, and that the decline has not taken care of the situation. He declared Prairie is buying 5,000 barrels a day that it does not know what to do with. Discussion of prorotation was favored by Phillips, Humble, Texas, Prairie and other pipeline companies.

Texas Pipe Line company representative said they had been sending oil through the Gulf pipeline company to Dallas but recently received notice they cannot use the line any more. The Texas, he said, plans to pipe only about 10,000 barrels per day. Mr. Meyer, again addressing the operators, asserted that the Prairie is running over capacity. Humble reported the situation was no different that that of a month ago. There has been a 35 per cent reduction in production in the last two months.

Many Wells Producing
There are now 137 producers in the Bowers-Finley area, Mr. Stalcup said, quoting information given to him by operators. Of that number, 9 are gas, 17 in the Bowers pool and two in the Finley; 47 are flowing, 20 in the Bowers and 27 in Finley; 79 are pumped.

ters and general activities, but that it tremendous territory, covering an area larger than several states, precluded the possibility of effective work for any particular section of West Texas.

Concurring in these statements, Mack King, head of the trade extension department of the Amarillo Board of City Development, said that he believed a Plains organization, taking in border counties in adjoining states, could be a great force and one that is now keenly needed. He said that settlement in other sections of West Texas was not so vital, and that the West Texas Chamber cannot well undertake activities for the benefit of the Plains territory alone. He pointed out that less than half a million persons live on the plains, and that only five and one-half millions of acres was in cultivation.

Mr. King said he believed the time was ripe for the kind of organization under discussion. He added that the Amarillo Board of City Development believes that that city cannot grow much more without development of this territory and of the cities and towns within it. He said that if a Panhandle organization should be formed Amarillo would not seek to be headquarters and would insist that the home office be placed elsewhere.

Managers To Meet
Panhandle secretaries will meet in Amarillo Saturday for the regular session of their association, headed by Mr. Briggs.

Clyde Fatheree, chairman of yesterday's luncheon in the absence of President F. D. Keim, called upon C. H. Walker of the Pampa Daily News organization, formerly a Dalhart publisher, for an outline of the work of the "Wonder District" organization. Mr. Walker said that the Dalhart body had done very effective work in bringing in farmers. He said that in his opinion the time had come for a Panhandle organization of the same type. He recalled that when the West Texas Chamber was organized this section's needs were largely legislative, and that much progress had been made since that time. Each speaker told of the good work done by the regional body in the past, but asserted that the more specific functions of a smaller association would not duplicate those general efforts.

CROUCH WILL COME TO TEXAS TO STAND TRIAL

Choral Club Will Enlarge Membership

Increasing of the number of persons in each part of the Pampa community chorus is the immediate aim of this new organization. It was decided Monday that members will be enrolled by first submitting their names to the membership committee, which desires to keep the four voice sections well balanced in number. This committee is composed of Mrs. W. A. Bratton; Mrs. C. C. Dodd, Mrs. Tom Rose, and Mrs. John V. Andrews. Two weeks ago the chorus elected John Lee Harris president and Mrs. Robert Chafin secretary. On Monday evening an enthusiastic practice was held under the direction of Thomas Fannell, with Mrs. Fannell as accompanist. Olin E. Hinkle was elected vice-president, and a committee was appointed to recommend a name for the organization.

OIL JUDGMENT TO BE APPEALED

A judgment in favor of the Howell Oil Corporation and against the plaintiff, Arnold Drilling company, was rendered yesterday by Judge C. G. Engledow, ending the suit which required almost four days for hearing. The drilling company was suing Eli Howell and others for $20,000 damages. Judge Engledow ruled that the company was entitled to recover nothing from the oil corporation, which was instructed to recover court costs.

The second item of the judgment, allowed the plaintiff $7,462.44, to be paid by Eli Howell. This sum was awarded under the terms of a drilling contract made May 17, 1928. Howell was also ordered to pay the contract value placed upon the 10-inch casing left in the oil well involved, and the amount of bills paid out for the account of the defendant by the plaintiff, together with 6 per cent interest from June 1, 1928, also all costs of the suit.

The court awarded judgment against Howell upon its cross action against the plaintiff. The judgment followed abrupt ending of the suit when W. M. Lewright attorney for Howell Oil Corporation, Eli Howell and others, took a demurrer to the evidence. This action took the case away from the jury and placed it in the hands of the judge, Judge Newton P. Willis counsel for the plaintiff objected to the demurrer but was overruled.

A demurrer to the evidence admits the truth of all the testimony introduced by the plaintiff but contends that it is not sufficient to warrant court action.

Both plaintiff and defendant gave notice of appeal. The first two of 15 toll bridges built by the Alabama state bridge corporation with funds from a $5,000,000 bond issue will be opened this winter.

Sponsor Club Entertains Junior Group at an Informal Seated Tea

Members of the Twentieth Century club and members of the Junior Twentieth Century club established closer relations yesterday when the former group entertained with an informal seated tea at the home of Mrs. Raymond, 619 North Frost street, honoring the group whose organization it sponsored.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. W. A. Bratton, president of the hostess club, who spoke briefly but with point of the social importance of the home and of the responsibilities of the club woman of today. A gracious response was made by Mrs. Eli Willis, president of Junior Twentieth Century, who told of some of the hopes and aspirations of her club.

Decorations suggestive of Halloween created a pleasantly festive setting for the occasion, which was featured by two Halloween games in which prizes were won by Mrs. Bratton, Mrs. Willis, and Mrs. H. D. Lewis. Readings by Mrs. W. T. Fraser, Mrs. H. G. Twiford, and Little Raymond Harrah, Jr., were enjoyed.

All members of the Junior club were present, the list including the following: Mrs. Clarence Barrett, Mrs. Charles Boles, Mrs. Roy Bourland, Mrs. Fred Cary, Mrs. Robert Chafin, Mrs. Lee Harrah, Mrs. N. A. Helstand, Mrs. T. R. Martin, Mrs. Tom Perkins, Mrs. Arthur Swanson, Mrs. Dick Walker, Miss Ruth Anne Mitchell, and the president, Mrs. Eli Willis. Special guests were Mrs. Frichard of Springfield, Colo., who is the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Bratton; and Mrs. Irvin L. Blum of Burk Burnett, a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Lewis.

Members of Twentieth Century in attendance were: Mrs. Clifford Braly, Mrs. R. C. Campbell, Mrs. F. M. Culbertson, Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Mrs. W. T. Fraser, Mrs. I. B. Hughey, Mrs. H. D. Lewis, Mrs. Porter Malone, Mrs. A. R. Sawyer, Mrs. Joe M. Smith, Mrs. J. D. Sugg, Mrs. H. G. Twiford, Mrs. Edwin Vicars, the president, Mrs. Bratton, and the hostess, Mrs. Raymond Harrah.

Prof. Robert McKinnon of Harvard university is spending a year in the remote Sussana district of Alaska studying Timne, or Athabaskan, Indians.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchins, prominent club woman and civic worker of the city, who underwent a major operation Monday at Pampa hospital, showed steady improvement, hospital officials said today.
