PROCLAMATION STILL AWAITED

District Court, With Grand Jury, Is At Work

PAMPA, Oct. 21. (P)—Swept clean with a new broom during three weeks of martial law, Berger, scapegrace of the prairie oil fields, was "on its own" again today, its citizenry hoping for a new era of law and order.

Despite the lack of a formal proclamation from Austin lifting martial law, military rule had been supplanted by civil authorities, appointed and approved by forces sent to Berger three weeks ago to break the reign of unlawfulness. Governor Moody had been expected to issue the proclamation yesterday, but at his office it was said it probably would not be issued until his return to Austin, or not before Wednesday.

Steps remained to be taken in the rehabilitation of Berger. Law abiding citizens had the task of building up a new civic order. In this they had the encouragement of General Jacob Wolters, commander of the Berger forces, who said when the army of occupation left that Berger was "the cleanest city in Texas."

Three Dozen Murders
Punishment was yet to be meted out to those alleged to have made up the criminal conspiracy which allowed three dozen murders and "crimes running the gamut of the Texan penal code" to go unpunished, during the town's three and one-half years existence.

Starting the week with a clean slate—its first week under civil rule since October 1, when investigation was precipitated by the murder of District Attorney John A. Holmes—Berger turned his attention first to the two bodies still consigned with past misdeeds.

After its first week-end rest in three weeks, the grand jury investigating conditions in Berger and Hutchinson county resumed its deliberations. The district court, too, started functioning, with the avowed intention of taking up jail cases first.

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (P)—Governor Moody will probably take his time about formally lifting martial law at Berger, Hutchinson county oil town, it was indicated today. Pat Dougherty, the governor's confidential secretary, said no proclamation had been left by the governor when he departed for a bear hunt in Mexico.

Acting Governor Barry Miller said he understood Governor Moody had left a proclamation to be filled in with the hour and date it was desired to end martial law whenever all conditions of withdrawal by the state had been complied with.

Governor Moody planned to return to Texas on Wednesday.

Where 10 Acres Sank 100 Feet in Texas Oil Field

Here's a bird's-eye view of where 10 acres of land in the Sour Lake, Texas, oilfield sank without warning, burying derricks, tool sheds and other structures in a crater 100 feet deep. The queer prank of nature caused some nearby flowing wells to stop producing, while others increased their output. The power house, at right, was wrecked a short time after this picture was taken.

Wheeler Case Costly

Cost of Feeding Gray County's Prisoners Mounts to $1,700 Per Month—New Jail Increases Bill

Cost of feeding and guarding prisoners in the two county jails here during last month aggregated the approximate sum of $1,700, according to the report of the sheriff's department filed recently with the county auditor, Ray Wilson. Until last month, when the new jail was opened, cost had been about $1,000 per month according to the auditor's figures, but the new jail, which is located back of the courthouse, increased the number of prisoners, and also cost of feeding.

The county allows 75c a day to provide one prisoner two meals consisting of breakfast and an evening meal. In allowing for this bill, all the com-

Time Turned Back As Hoover Party Journeys to Edison Celebration

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer
DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 21. (P)—Greeted by a driving rain and a biting chill, President Hoover arrived here at 9:30 a. m. today to participate in the Golden Jubilee celebration of the invention of the incandescent electric lamp by Thomas A. Edison.

The President and Mrs. Hoover were greeted at the River Rouge transfer station by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Edison. They boarded the Ford train, a reproduction of an old train of the grand trunk railroad, for Smith's creek station at the entrance of the early American village, constructed here for Mr. Ford.

The day was one of inspections and greetings, including a drive to Detroit for a reception at the city hall by Governor Fred W. Green and Mayor John C. Lodge, with a noonday luncheon and an inspection of the Rouge plant of the Ford company and the Edison buildings, gifts of Mr. Ford in the cause of science.

Trains Is Curiosity
At the specially constructed platform at the River Rouge transfer Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Edison, Mr. and Mrs. Ford and Secretary of War Wood Good posed for pictures before boarding the train. The train of olden days proved a curiosity for the presidential party. There were three coaches, each painted in gay colors and

Judge Duncan Opposes Holding of Trial in County

Try of Wheeler county cases here at the cost of Gray county is strongly opposed by County Judge Ivy E. Duncan in a statement made by him today, in which he declares that the 31st district court and grand jury should first bring to trial the prisoners that have packed the county jail to overflowing, and have filled a docket that will require at least two years to clear.

Judge Duncan said that the cost of trying T. C. Johnson of Shamrock in this county on a statutory offense would amount to approximately $1,500, and if W. W. Davis is brought to trial here for the same offense, a similar amount will be expended by the county.

The county already has a big deficit in the general fund and in the court, house and jail fund, and such expenditures further increase the deficit, he stated.

"There is no reason why our jails should remain full of prisoners charged with bootlegging, forgery, murder, and other offenses while Gray county is paying the cost of trials that originated in Wheeler county," he said. Judge Duncan said the case rightfully should have been brought to trial at Wheeler and the indictment should have been made by a Wheeler county grand jury.

The docket now contains approximately 125 liquor cases, of which none has yet been brought to trial. This week marks the end of half of the ten-week period. At the beginning of the term, there were over 500 cases on the docket and about 40 indictments have been returned by the grand jury since that date.

Judge Duncan does not object to the transfer of cases from other counties to this because then Gray county does not pay the cost of trial. He believes that cost of cases that originate in Wheeler county should be paid by Wheeler county.

TRIAL OF BANK BANDIT TAKES ON NEW TONE

County Attorney Given
Warning During
Week-End

FARMER ROBBED BY ARMED MOB

Ralph Fleagle to Be Tried for Murder
Tomorrow

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 21. (P)—Excitement seethed up and down the dusty, crowded streets of Lamar today as two startling events of the week-end gained increased significance and painted a tense background for appeals of two condemned murderers and bank robbers for new trials.

First of the incidents which caused apprehension, even in official circles, was the burning of a Fiery Cross before the home of Alfred Todd, county attorney, who is associated with defense counsel in the trial of Ralph Fleagle, third defendant in trials growing out of the robbery in May, 1928, of the First National bank here, with the slaying of four men.

Todd is legal adviser to the county commissioners, his office having nothing to do with criminal prosecution. The flaming cross was placed by men wearing no regalia.

A few hours later Charles Oswald, farmer, told officials he was stopped 4 miles from Lamar by three carloads of armed men, who quizzed him closely regarding the strength of the jail where Fleagle is held. Oswald said he was robbed of $50 by the "riders."

Public opinion was divided as to whether the men planned an attempt to free Fleagle and his two condemned companions in the robbery, George J. Agshier and Howard L. Royston, or were members of a lynch party. A dozen extra heavily armed guards patrolled the walls of the county jail today to halt an attempt of either sort.

Byron G. Rogers, defense counsel for Agshier and Royston, planned to argue for new trials for the men. Rogers said he would carry the appeals to the state supreme court if necessary. Tomorrow Fleagle goes on trial, specifically charged with the robbery and the slaying of A. N. Parrish, president of the bank. For his confession, he was promised the death penalty would not be asked by officers.

Letter Accusing Peace Officers Now Sensation

"I have a suspicion that Miss Beulah Alred, who last week-end sent through the mails a letter containing specific charges against county and city law enforcement officers, will be given a chance to substantiate those charges before the grand jury," said District Attorney Clifford Braly this morning.

Mr. Braly made this remark after coming from a conference with Sheriff E. S. Graves, County Attorney John Studer, and Deputy Herman Wachtendorf, who, with others, were named in the letter.

"There's going to be something done about that letter," Sheriff Graves declared.

Mr. Braly said that it was well known that liquor is being sold here. He said efforts were being made to catch and convict the bootleggers. He emphasized that persons claiming to have absolute proof of bootlegging or other violations should take this proof before the grand jury. He added, however, that proof and rumor are two entirely different things.

Miss Alred is said to have left Saturday on a four-day trip to East Texas. The letter sent to many citizens was signed by her as "chairman, vigilance committee, W. C. T. U."

"Bum Air" Is Blamed as Man's Balloon Pants Fail

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (P)—James Meers has made the startling discovery that golf knickers may look like a balloon, but aren't.

Meers, who is 66, put on a pair of plus-fours and went out with the boys yesterday. The conversation turned to aviation and Meers had an idea. Inflate the knickers, he figured, and the wearer would float through space or upon the surface of waters.

With his companions he adjourned to a filling station, and the plus-fours were pumped full of air. The boys then went to the roof of a small building on the Chicago river bank and Meers jumped.

Police men pulled him out.

"It's very strange," said Meers, wringing the water from the trousers: "Probably it's the bum air one gets at the filling station nowadays."

DIRECTORS OF RED CROSS TO HAVE SESSION

A meeting of the board of directors of the Pampa chapter of the Red Cross has been called by the Rev. Tom W. Brabham, chairman. The session will be held Tuesday afternoon at the B. C. D. auditorium at 4 o'clock.

According to Rev. Brabham, plans for the coming year will be started and a proposed county health unit will be discussed. The annual roll call to begin November 11 also will be planned. Scott Barcus is chairman of the roll call.

The directors include Dr. A. Cole, Carson Loftus, Scott Barcus, H. Otto Studer, C. C. Cook, Mrs. C. T. Hunkepillar, Mrs. H. H. Isbell, Rev. D. H. Truhitte, Rev. James Todd, Jr., Lynn Boyd, Mrs. A. R. Sawyer, Mrs. J. M. McDonald, Mrs. Tom Rose, R. C. Campbell, Mrs. Joe Smith is vice-chairman, Olin E. Hinkle is secretary, and J. O. Gillham is treasurer.

Public Speaking Is New Course in High School

Public speaking is being introduced into the curriculum of Central high school this week, with Miss Dorothy Pollard in charge of the class under organization. Extemporaneous speaking and declamation will largely occupy the class during the first semester. It was announced by L. L. Sone, principal. Debating will be stressed in the second semester, when it is expected that additional classes will be necessary.

Credit toward graduation will be granted for the course, Mr. Sone said. Affiliation will be sought this year. This is the first time the school has offered the public speaking course. Mr. Sone pointed out that in addition to the individual benefits to be derived from the course, its conclusion in the regular curriculum would greatly increase Pampa's chances for winning in the literary contests of the Inter-scholastic League.

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST SANTA FE IS BEGUN

Civil suits will be tried during the fifth week of court, which began this morning. This afternoon a jury is being selected to hear the case of C. H. Clark vs. the Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad company, in which the plaintiff is suing the railroad company for damages received when a car of horses was shipped from Mertzon, Texas, to Hoover in 1926.

The plaintiff alleges that the horses suffered injuries from rough handling while in the car and that a dozen of them afterwards died.

Don Hoover of Canadian is representing the Santa Fe while Cook and Smith are representing Mr. Clark who owns a ranch north of Pampa.

JURY VERDICT REACHED HERE EARLY SUNDAY

Guilt Is Found on
First Ballot
Taken

SENTENCE IS SET IN HOUR

New Trial Is Asked of Court—Plan
to Appeal

A few minutes after the jury began deliberations yesterday morning, T. C. Johnson, Wheeler county deputy, was found guilty of a statutory offense in the first ballot and an hour later the jury had announced to the court that they had fixed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary.

Johnson was immediately taken into custody by Sheriff E. S. Graves and lodged in the county jail here, pending the outcome of his counsel's plea for a new trial, or for an appeal to a higher court, in case new trial is denied. Motion for a new trial will be filed with the court this afternoon, according to Clayton Hears of Shamrock, one of the attorneys for Johnson. If a new trial is denied, the court will automatically grant the appeal to the higher court.

The five hours of argument allotted the prosecutors, Clifford Braly and W. M. Lewright, and the defendant's attorneys, Newton P. Willis, Clayton Hears and Ben Alred, ended at 11:35 p. m. Saturday night. They retired to the jury room and almost immediately decided to postpone deliberations until Sunday morning when they reached a verdict about 9 o'clock.

Johnson was tried on a statutory charge resulting from accusations of two Hardeman county girls, who claimed they were attacked after their escorts were jailed at Shamrock. Trial of W. W. Davis, former Wheeler county deputy, on a similar charge has been set for the week of Nov. 11.

This week of district court will be devoted to hearing of civil suits. Court opened this morning but recessed to 1 o'clock.

Furlough Given Berger Man—Will Assist in Probe

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. —The governor's office today announced issuance of a 30-day furlough to J. H. James because it was represented he could be of material assistance to officers in charge at Berger, in apprehending some of the law violators in that county. James was sentenced from Hutchinson county on a bigamy conviction.

C. A. Tait, sent up from Grayson county for ten years on a murder charge, was granted a general parole. Tait was convicted in May, 1927, in the killing of his half-brother. He is 66 years old and was said to be in bad health.

Rights of citizenship were restored to Delbert McGee, who served a sentence for murder from Freestone county; R. Q. Cathey, from Bell county, who served two years on a liquor charge and Clarence Holleman of Rusk county, who served one year on a like charge.

Pat Dougherty, secretary to the governor, said Governor Moody authorized the issuance of the clemencies before leaving the state.

HEMPHILL COUNTY, WHICH LAST WEEK WON PROMINENCE THROUGH TAKING FIRST PLACE WITH HER AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT AT THE STATE FAIR OF TEXAS, IS VERY ACTIVE IN PROMOTING HER INTERESTS.

Hemphill has hopes of oil, but is going ahead meantime to build a bigger and better community with the assets that are known. The Record for the last week "top-headers" the fact of the fair prize winning, but other items tell of the varied activities of Canadian people.

"Good Roads Promote Wealth" says a headline over a lengthy statement by Jesse Grimes. "Our city of Canadian has long enjoyed a strategic position on the highways of the country," stated Mr. Grimes. "The Hemphill county bridge across the Canadian river is easily available to the traveling public. Our town, by reason of this bridge and the roads that lead here, has been available to outlying farmers and traders. But now the outlying counties are proposing to build other bridges across the Canadian river and in addition have voted bonds for paving of their cardinal roads. Thus we are in a position to lose the advantage which has been our unless we keep abreast of the proposed improvement that our neighboring counties are doing."

That steps are being taken along this line is indicated in another item, which tells of a trip to be made to Austin by Hemphill county officials. They will take a proposition to furnish 100-foot right-of-way on state designations providing the conference with state officials concerning prospective paving plans is satisfactory to the delegates.

Commissioner of Agriculture George B. Terrell was recently in Canadian to inspect the greenhouses there. While on the plains Mr. Terrell said that wheat would be the big crop in this section for years to come, but that many other crops can be made profitable also. S. E. Allison, realtor, sold land belonging to Gaddy Wise of near Gageby to George Hefley of Wheeler for $72.50 an acre for 160 acres. Land prices are steadily advancing. R. T. Alexander sold six 9-month-old Hereford bulls to J. H. Burson of Silverton for $200 each.

Canadian will display her assets and summarize her progress in the annual Hemphill county fair October 24, 25 and 26. This fair is an old institution, and the writer remembers it as the first he ever attended.

These facts about Canadian and Hemphill county are presented for the purpose of showing that agriculture and stockraising are the prime assets of the Panhandle as a whole. Prosperity should be first based upon them, and only secondly upon oil or any other special blessing which may arise.

Gray county, where county agricultural and home demonstration agents will begin work next year, and where The News believes an agricultural and oil fair should be inaugurated, would do well to send a big delegation to the Hemphill fair this month. Believe it or not, we can learn many things by watching our neighbors, even as they can catch a new vision of Panhandle progress by watching the marvelous growth of the New Pampa.

THE BEST EDITORIAL ON THE QUESTION OF BOY LIFE AND A COMMUNITY BROUGHT TO OUR ATTENTION IN A LONG TIME WAS RECENTLY CARRIED IN THE TULSA TRIBUNE.

This article, entitled "Mr. Babson's Message", follows: In his address at the chamber of commerce luncheon Friday, Roger Babson made a strong appeal in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., the Community Chest and the proposed bond issue for library, parks and auditorium. He did this without calling them by name.

Mr. Babson, after repeating highly gratifying statistics to show why his organization had placed Oklahoma at the top with Alabama in its report on the industrial possibilities of southern and southwestern states, warned that Oklahoma's future development rests not with the fortunes that have already been created nor with the wealth of natural resources that have not yet been touched, but with its children. He put it in a way that should impress Oklahoma's builders. A little story with a moral which he told carried the force of his argument.

A wealthy southern manufacturer wrote the editor of a national magazine for advice on how to raise his small son in order to assure the success of his posterity to the tenth generation. The editor turned the letter over to a well known writer. The writer made a survey of the manufacturer's home community and replied through the magazine.

"There are 1,042 boys, many of them running barefooted about the streets of your town", the writer said, "who will have as much influence in shaping your tenth generation as will your own blood and efforts."

That is an irrefutable argument for Tulsa's social, charitable and educational institutions. City life has become too complex for parents to trust the development of their children to home influences and the tutoring they are able to purchase for them. The thoughts, habits and emotions developed in the lowest home penetrate to the highest. There are scores of agencies in every city to carry them across what, under the old caste system, was believed to be an impenetrable barrier of class distinction. The newspapers, the common meeting places for all classes, such as parks, theaters, the sidewalks, playgrounds, are the great equalizers of metropolitan environment. No child can be raised today in the seclusion of privacy. The best that every child's parents can give him must be diluted with the worst juvenile delinquency in the city.

No parents can think of his own child, plan for his own posterity, without planning for the children of others. To attempt it is to waste the greater part of parenthood.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. which today ask Tulsa for funds for another year's operations, build character for Tulsa's future generations. And they build character not only for the boys and girls who are without the proper home influences, but for those with the most attentive of parents and the best of social and spiritual direction at home.

Parks and playgrounds benefit not only the children who come from apartments and yardless homes, but those who come from the home set in a 40-acre estate, and those who get their outings at fashionable mountain and seaside resorts. The dangers of improper recreation to the proper mental, physical and spiritual development of the less fortunate touch at a dozen contact points the lives of the exceedingly fortunate. Similarly with the beneficencies of proper recreation.

The child who is denied the cultural advantages of music, books, lectures and other things afforded by adequate library and auditorium facilities does not suffer alone. His deficiencies as a result of this denial must be shared by the child who enjoys them all.

The man who has the idea that he can fence off a nice, clean reservation of respectability, culture and success for his own children high above the heads of the common herd without doing anything for his neighbors' children knows nothing of the history of mankind or of the world in which he lives. A single family thread cannot be guided safely past its own threshold. Its identity is soon lost in the rush of the social masses. The race climbs the hills of evolution as a body. Not oftener than once in two thousand years does a single member get more than a head above the rest.

If the successful Tulsa business man or the ambitious Tulsa parent would build for the future of Oklahoma, Tulsa, his own business and his own children, he must build and support the institutions that exist to serve all.

TWINKLES

Cupid probably will lobby against the suggestion to have all stricken couples write essays on marriage responsibilities before going to the preacher.

A local man would like to have parking limitations abolished because he forgets where he has hitched his machine and it takes him more than 2 hours to remember sometimes.

Mother Earth will have to be consulted about this ration business. Just when we get it all fixed to shut down for a spell, she answers the wildcatters' prayer with a new gusher somewhere.

Dresses may be getting longer, but if so the girls' must be also; our observation staff reports no appreciable change for better or worse.

By this time in the football season the alibi squads have just about attained perfection, and the prediction for "next year" ought to be rather rosy in the camps of the losers.

Truck drivers seem to be having quite a time over the county. Drivers of small cars probably will not quarrel much at the strikers, however, inasmuch as they can act quite carefree with no motor giants to dodge.

Speaking of "entrenched criminal rings"—General Wolters got his boys out of those trenches well before Christmas.

CARDINAL AND TROJAN GAME IS IMPORTANT

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—There should be football fireworks sufficient for entertainment along every sector this week end, but the main detonation is likely to echo from the big bowl at Palo Alto, California. Close to 85,000 spectators will see Stanford and Southern California light the fuse for their sensational rivalry.

This clash between Cardinal and Trojan, between the coaching systems of Pop Warner and Howard Jones, not only figures to decide the championship of the Pacific Coast, but to have a vital bearing upon the national title situation.

Both elevens have their eyes focused on this twin goal as well as on each other. Southern California takes on Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech later as part of its drive for national honors. Stanford wins up its season by entertaining Red Cagle and his Army mates, so that the incentive to win is about as keen as it can possibly be.

Both have California to contend with later. U. S. C. in fact, meets the Golden Bears the following Saturday at Los Angeles, but California, to justify any title hopes, must show more than it did Saturday in beating a scrappy but subnormal, Pennsylvania team.

In the east, this week's most colorful affair will be the annual charge of West Point's cadets in the Yale bowl before upwards of 75,000 spectators. But Dartmouth's battle with Harvard at Cambridge may have an important bearing on the championship situation.

Notre Dame, gathering headway in its comeback by vanquishing Indiana Navy, and Wisconsin, runs into the rugged Carnegie eleven at Pittsburgh in the outstanding inter-sectional engagement of the week. The Tech Tartans handed Rockne's ramblers a trimming last year, but it will be a surprise if they repeat. Seeking revenge is the main October objective of the Hoosiers.

Pittsburgh has a leap after an impressive string of conquests. The Panthers play Allegheny in preparation for their next big game with Ohio State, now the pace setter among the Big Ten.

Ohio, having beaten Iowa and Michigan, expects to make it three straight conference victories by beating Indiana this week. Purdue and Chicago, two other unbeaten conference teams, battle it out, while Illinois plays Michigan and Iowa tackles Wisconsin. The march of Illinois toward a third title in a row was checked suddenly Saturday by a tie with Iowa.

The big noise in the Big Six group is the clash between Nebraska and Missouri at Columbia with the Tigers, going strong, confident of turning the tables on the 1928 champions.

Tulane's bid for southern conference honors depends on the Green Wave's ability to roll back Georgia Tech's torpedo at New Orleans. After losing to North Carolina, Tech upset Florida Saturday while North Carolina in turn was being bowled over by Georgia. Tennessee, up among the leaders as a result of beating Alabama, will be the favorite over Washington and Lee.

Accidents Kill Six Texans During Week-End Motoring

DALLAS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Six persons were killed in week-end automobile accidents in Texas.

Mrs. Julia Shanks, 29, and C. E. Hill, 40, both of Dallas, were fatally injured when a car said to have been driven by C. H. Weaver of San Antonio, plunged through a bridge railing into a 20-foot ditch. Weaver and two others in the car were slightly injured. Weaver was charged with driving while intoxicated.

V. E. Uterbeck, 30, died from injuries suffered when a truck turned over with him near Houston. Earnest Price, 18, and an unidentified youth with him, were killed in Houston when the motorcycle they were riding struck a truck.

Mrs. Charles Goulder was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband struck the railing on the Oak Cliff-Dallas viaduct and she was thrown fifty feet below into the Trinity river bottom. Goulder was not seriously injured.

Arkansas Hopes to Avenge Defeat by Aggies in 1927

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 21. (Special)—Their first conference game behind them, Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggie gridsters now face a week of strenuous work on the Kyle Field practice gridiron in preparation for their clash with the Arkansas Razorback charges of Coaches Tomsen and Bassett at Kyle field Saturday, Oct. 26. The game will be the first conference tilt of the season on Kyle field and will be the Aggie's first appearance at home since their defeat of the Southwestern Pirates in the opening game of the season nearly a month ago.

The Porker game is expected to be one of the most bitterly fought contests of the season, for veterans of both teams will be out to settle old scores. Members of last year's Aggie eleven are still rankled by the overwhelming defeat handed them in Fayetteville by the Porkers, while the Razorbacks playing their third year will have in mind the equally overwhelming defeat they received on their visit to Kyle field in 1927.

Of additional interest to followers of Southwest Conference football will be the teacher versus pupil angle of the tilt occasioned by the meeting of Klepito Holmes, line coach of the Aggies and Chuck Bassett, of the Porker coaching staff. Holmes was an all-conference guard on the Bassett-coached forward wall which paved a way for Aggies when they captured the conference title in 1927.

The Porkers are reported to have the heaviest line in the Southwest this year and a backfield which will measure up to that of any in the conference, and since both elevens boast a fast, tricky offense it is likely that fans who see the game will be treated to one of the most brilliant battles of the season.

Texas U. Library Largest in South

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (Special)—Figures based on statistics compiled in January, 1929, issued by James A. McMillen, librarian at Louisiana State university, reveal that there are twice as many volumes in the library at the University of Texas as in any other university in the South.

Next to the University of Texas, which contained at that time a total of 411,310 volumes, was the University of North Carolina, containing only 198,192 volumes.

Others in order were: The University of Virginia, with 157,466 volumes; Tulane university, with 132,945 volumes; Duke university, with 108,865 volumes; the University of South Carolina, with 105,000 volumes; the University of Oklahoma, with 100,000 volumes; Vanderbilt university, with 95,000 volumes; the University of Arkansas, with 88 volumes; the University of Tennessee, with 85,534 volumes; Louisiana State university, with 74,042 volumes; the University of Georgia, with 63,389 volumes; the University of Florida, with 58,939 volumes; Peabody Institute, with 46,040 volumes; the University of Mississippi, with 41,104 volumes; and the University of Alabama, with 30,000 volumes.

Gilbert Hall Is Southwest Champ

EL PASO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Taking three out of four sets from his doubles partner, Gilbert Hall of Orange, N. J., won the Southwest tennis tournament singles yesterday, defeating Frederick Mercur of Harrisburg, Pa. Mercur and Hall took the doubles match from N. A. and Louis Ferguson of El Paso, father and son team.

Other winners were:

Veterans' singles, Frank Bowers of Los Angeles.

Veterans' doubles, Bowers and John Dye, El Paso.

Junior singles, Michael Pursell of Phoenix.

Women's singles, Mrs. C. A. Mitchell of Fort Bliss.

Women's doubles, Aurelia Phillips and Ruth Rawlings of El Paso.

Next year's tournament will be at Albuquerque.

TWO BIG TILTS OF SATURDAY ARE CRUCIAL

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

After the glamorous conflicts of the past week end, in which fans were treated to three thrilling spectacles, the Southwest conference grid race will undergo a let-down this week, as if to gather steam for five weeks of hard strife to follow.

Two conference battles are scheduled Saturday, but neither promises to have an important bearing on the championship chase. Arkansas, twice defeated, and the Texas Aggies, recovering from a 13 to 7 thumping by Texas Christian university, clash at College Station, with the Cadets pronounced favorites.

Texas university, with what many observers declare is one of its greatest elevens, after watching it humble Oklahoma university, 21 to 0, makes its second conference start against the Rice Owls at Austin. Unless the Owls can display remarkable improvement over previous games they are due to be well punished.

The tussles at Austin and College Station are the extent of the conference warfare for the week. Two member teams will scuffle with out-of-state units, while another is billed to invade West Texas.

Southern Methodist, having loafed two weeks since its scoreless fray with Nebraska, will get back in harness against Mississippi university at Dallas, the week's state fair attraction. "Ole Miss" lost its first four games this season, but did a comeback to down Loyola last week.

The Baylor Bears, chased somewhat by their close scrape with Arkansas Saturday, go to Shreveport for a bout with Centenary college, already trimmed by two Southwest conference teams. Although the Bruins finally outscored the Razorbacks, 31 to 20, Coach Morley Jennings found there were some vital defects in his machine. Its inability to break up the Porker passing attack augurs ill for the green when it encounters such teams as Texas and T. C. U. Arkansas actually held a one-point lead at a time in the last quarter.

One of the two most feared outfits in the conference at the present moment, Texas Christian, has an engagement with Texas Tech at Lubbock. West Texas grid enthusiasts from hundreds of miles around are expected to flock to the Hub of the Plains to watch

Many Locations But Little Work in Gray Activity

With approximately 30 oil wells shut down on top of the pay, drilling wells are fewer in Gray county this week than at any time during the past nine months. Although from six to a dozen new locations are made each week, these are usually shut down as soon as spudded in. In two weeks operators will meet here again to decide if the curtailment period will end Nov. 1 or continue. The shut down, caused by lack of storage facilities and over-production of crude, has been in operation two months.

Drilling wells in Gray county now are as follows:

The Frogs reform. Tech has a stout eleven, but it is doubtful it can hold the Christians' assault.

Fifteen thousand spectators who jammed Clark field at Fort Worth left the stadium convinced the Frogs are in the title race to the finish. There appears little doubt that Coach Francis Schmidt has fashioned about the finest all-round team ever to represent the Purple.

The Longhorns gained equally as many staunch supporters as the Frogs by their smashing win over the Sooners. Those who saw the two conference teams win were divided into two rival camps today, each believing it saw the next conference champion in action.

As Howard Grubbs, Frog quarterback, emerged the outstanding figure from the fray at Fort Worth, so did Dexter Shelley, the Longhorns' 190-pound halfback, grab the spotlight at Dallas. Shelley, having taken on home line to ribbons. They say he is another Oscar Eckhardt. He had, of course, some valuable assistance from the entire Texas team, including a forward wall that charged recklessly and blocked to perfection.

All-Star Bout Will Be Held as Relief Event

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—Five all-star bouts are on the program of the Palestine relief fund boxing show, in Madison Square Garden tonight, each scheduled to go ten rounds.

Al Singer, junior lightweight, who knocked out Leonard Zazarino in his last appearance in the Garden ring less than two weeks ago, meets Dave Abad of Panama, who has been campaigning successfully around Philadelphia. Joe Sekyra, Dayton light heavyweight, tackles Maxie Rosenbloom, New York veteran. Jack Kid Berg, one of the best drawing cards in New York since his arrival from England, meets the always popular Bruce Flowers. Yale Okun of New York meets Matt Aggie, Philadelphia light heavy, and Ruby Golstein, New York welterweight, fights Joe Reno of Trenton, N. J.

Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, welterweight champion, engages in a ten-round non-title bout tonight at San Francisco against Gorilla Jones, Akron, Ohio, battler.

Johnny Risko of Cleveland and Jimmy Maloney of Boston, both of whom were in the heavyweight spotlight as contenders for the title not long ago, meet tomorrow at Cleveland for a 12-round bout.

James Walter Hammond, 16 years, 135 pounds, 5 feet, 4 inches, light hair, blue eyes, black and white cap, green shirt, brown trousers, brown and tan trimmed oxfords, left home Monday. Whereabouts unknown. Any knowledge of him will be appreciated by his parents. E. D. Hammond, Borger, Texas, Drawer A, Phone 152.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritation, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Celebrating Light's GOLDEN Jubilee

During the past Fifty Years, the tiny glow of EDISON'S light has grown into a radiance which floods the world. This marvelous development has accounted for the growth of immense industries and hugh electric light and power companies.

Since the discovery of the electric lamp the problem of distribution of electricity for lighting has been the greatest confronting the electrical industry. Today, through research and diligent management, the electric light and power companies are giving to millions of homes the most economical and reliable lighting service that science has ever developed.

THOMAS A. EDISON

The electric light and power companies are still improving their methods of generating and distributing electricity, and these improvements mean savings to the consumers.

During the past four years lighting rates in the City of Pampa have been reduced four times the reductions being approximately as follows, April First 1927, Ten per cent; October First, 1927, Sixteen percent; January First, 1929, Five per cent; May First 1929, Twenty percent.

Your electric company on this, the GOLDEN JUBILEE OF LIGHT, pledges itself to the continuance of the wonderful work of Thomas A. Edison, by providing you with the best electrical service at the least possible cost.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
HELEN PAGE feels unhappy when her classmates accuse her of being in love with her handsome guardian, LEONARD BENT. But he represents all that she knows of home and family and she adores him blindly.
Brent changes all his plans for Helen's future after a chance meeting with a dying beggar, CHARLES OWENS NELSON, who tells a strange story which Brent is able to corroborate to some extent by a visit to Yonkers.
On graduating, Helen reminds her guardian of his promise to reveal her parentage and is amazed when he informs her that she is heiress of a millionaire, CYRIL R. CUNNINGHAM, and that he promised her parents to take her to him when she was 18. They go to Yonkers and Brent introduces her to Cunningham as his granddaughter. He offers as proof the locket containing a picture of EVANGELINE CUNNINGHAM which he had taken from the dying Nelson.
Helen remains at Bramblewood while the lawyer investigates the story. Cunningham presents her with a new car which she drives everywhere. One day she accidentally hits a girl, EVA ENNIS, who has to be taken to the hospital. Eva's brother, ROBERT, upbraids Helen for her reckless driving and then, noting her uncertain condition, offers to take her home. Cunningham receives him graciously and invites him to spend the evening. The young couple go for a canoe ride.
Next day Brent arrives and when he hears about her meeting with Robert asks her to go to New York for dinner and the theater.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIX

Of Bob Helen saw but little. That little was a great deal to her however. He loved her.

"I love to," Helen exclaimed happily. "It's been terribly dull out here."
"I know," Brent agreed, "but I've hesitated to ask you before in fear that I might antagonize your grandfather and do you some harm."
"I don't think he would mind letting me go," Helen said. "He's really very kind. Shall I drive in with you?"
Brent made a quick excuse. "I have an engagement tonight," he said. "Will you come tomorrow?"
Helen's disappointment was instant, also her understanding of it. One of Leonard's many charming women friends, of course. She felt herself grow a little cold over the thought that again there was someone before her.
But she would not give in to the impulse to refuse his invitation altogether, seeing clearly that it would be childish to do so.
"Tomorrow, then," she said listlessly. Brent overlooked her tone, refusing to make an issue of it.
They talked of plays on the drive back to Bramblewood and Helen began to take an interest in selecting the one they would see together.
The next day she went to see Eva just before starting for New York, and Bob's name was not mentioned. Eva would not thrust it forward and Helen seemed to have forgotten him. Her anticipation of an evening with Leonard, at dinner and at the theater, had obscured all else.
Brent met her at the Grand Central Station and took her to his hotel, where he had engaged a room for her in which to change into her evening clothes. When she was dressed and went down to meet him she was a vision of loveliness.
Brent was proud of her, proud of the attention she attracted, but his heart beat no faster at the touch of her soft hands, the sight of her eager, animated countenance.
There was nothing in their souls to meet—no common transport for them. And it did not suit Brent to allow Helen's beauty to move him. His game with her was far

He sent for Mr. Greaves and asked for a report on the progress of the investigation of Helen's parentage.
There was nothing new.
"It seems improbable, does it not, that if Helen is not my granddaughter, that I shall not locate the legitimate heiress?" Mr. Cunningham queried. Before he could answer he added sharply: "I'm my lifetime, I mean. That not be long, you know, Greaves."
Mr. Greaves nodded. He understood what was going on in his old man's mind. He had seen it come.
"I've grown to love Helen—whose she is—and I'm ready to accept her as my granddaughter," Cunningham went on. "I shall let her fortune on condition she is not proved to be an imposter. In that event it will be for my legitimate heirs. You will destroy my former will, and make another."
Helen was with Eva, having a confidential chat with her, when the word came that the heiress of millions was drawn up, assessed and signed.
EVA was talking about her ambition. She dreamed of being a famous violinist.
Bob is going to be a lawyer," interjected suddenly. "He's a hard worker day and night. You see, he's paying for my lessons. He has to have him sacrifice himself as he does, but I'll pay it all some day."
He sighed gently. "It's awfully hard to get anywhere in music."
"I intend to make it easier for you," Helen said.
Eva looked at her with widening eyes. "You will make me very happy if you refuse," Helen told her. "I dislike owing any kind of money. Please don't argue with me. My conscience will be much easier if I know you are glad we met."
"I laughed and added: "Even as I did."
And by the time Eva was able to go home Helen felt sure that she was glad they met. And she herself was glad too. For she had never known a girl as guileless as Eva. Her soul seemed to be untouched by anything but duty.
They grew, during the remainder of Eva's convalescence, to be real friends. Helen came often to the little Ennis home and later, when Eva was able to drive to Bramblewood with her, they spent many hours there.
"If Bob Helen saw but little. That little was a great deal to her, however. He loved her. Loved her so that living had become a torture. His mind refused to hold any thought that was not of her. He could not study, could not work. His mother worried over his loss of appetite, and his wakefulness worked havoc with his appearance. He was hollow-eyed and haggard. He had no hope."
Aside from the barrier of their distant stations in life, Bob knew that Helen, whatever the slight interest she had shown in him that night on the lake, did not care for him. She was polite, of course, but there was no question that he meant nothing at all to her.
For Helen was absorbed, completely, with Leonard Brent. She had gone to New York with him on several occasions since the night he kissed her.
And she hoped to spend her birthday with him, but a few days before that date her grandfather made an unusual request of her. (To Be Continued)

Teachers College Faculty Gathered From 21 States

CANYON, Oct. 21. (Special).—A recent survey of the faculty of the West Texas State Teachers college shows that 21 of the 48 states of the union are listed as native states for the 70 men and women who make up the faculty.

Texas leads with a total of 28 who were born in the Lone Star state. Following an old tradition that people who leave Tennessee prefer to go to Texas, Tennessee is found with representatives on the Canyon teaching force.

One member of the faculty, Miss Anna I. Hibbetts, was born in Ireland; her parents were pioneer settlers of Armstrong county, Texas, and her education has been secured in the schools of Texas, Peabody college and Columbia university.

Nine states, usually designated as northern, were birthplaces of several members of the faculty; these states are South Dakota, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Colorado, Nebraska, and Kansas.

Eight southern states besides Texas are given on the list; they are Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Arkansas, Tennessee, Georgia, Missouri, and Kentucky. Tennessee leads with six representatives.

West Virginia and Oklahoma, both states of very mixed populations, are represented by two members of the faculty, Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women, coming from the hills of the first named state.

President J. A. Hill is a native of Texas, and the people who are his co-workers have practically all attended Texas school at some time, or have had previous Texas experience before coming to the Canyon college faculty. However, the expanse of Texas is always a surprise to the few who come to the state for the first time. One new-comer thought it would be pleasant to run down to Galveston for a week-end, not having discovered that the trip would be 700 miles.

Altogether the teaching group, with its very great differences in background and experience, makes a fine contribution to the education of the men and women who attend college here and who represent a very cosmopolitan population which has come to the Southwest from every section of the United States and from many foreign lands.

J. M. Harris returned Saturday night from a vacation visit in Dallas.

Swiss Flying Boat Carries 169 Persons on Easy Test Flight

ALTENRHEIN, Switzerland, Oct. 21. (AP)—The huge 12-engined flying boat Do-X, which was launched here last July, made an amazing one hour flight with a human load of 169, the first time in the history of aviation that so many persons have been carried into the air on any conveyance.

The giant Dornier plane took off at 11:15 a. m., and landed just one hour later. The machine flew over Lake Constance, her motors working faultlessly and landed with her 51-ton load at 12:15 p. m., without a hitch.

The Do-X carried 159 passengers and a crew of ten. She had made previous test flights but this was the first time that so great a load was taken up.

The flying boat, which may be used for a trans-Atlantic crossing for the purpose of trying out her capacities, was built in the greatest secrecy. She was designed to carry 40 passengers normally, but has accommodation for 100 if necessary. Her twelve engines can develop a total of 6,000 horsepower, and each engine can be treated individually without affecting its neighbors.

The Do-X measures 150 feet from tip to tail. Its wings are 100 feet thick and 150 feet from wing tip to wing tip. Six great turrets project from each wing and each turret is equipped with two engines of 500 horsepower. The turrets are manned by mechanics who can walk along a passage on the inside of the wings from one turret to another.

When the Do-X was launched last July, she carried 34 tons of weight and was able to get into the air with the greatest ease after a take-off run of only 500 yards. Other trials were similarly successful.

One of the features of the plane is her three decks while another is that the machine can fly with only eight motors in use.

Texas Mechanic Killed
SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 21. (AP)—Fred Broussard, 28, pilot of Oakdale, La., and T. M. Cook, mechanic of Pittsburgh, Texas, were burned to death at the Shreveport airway yesterday when their plane burst into flames after falling 200 feet to the ground. Witnesses said the plane attempted to turn at low altitude and side slipped, crashing suddenly to earth.

Visit at Amarillo
Miss Cora Murray and Ross Dudley spent Sunday in Amarillo as guests of Miss Jo Gilbert and Mr. Rudley's parents.

Father and Six Children Killed

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—A father and six motherless children were asphyxiated by illuminating gas as they slept in their apartment in Wets 46th street yesterday.

Police found a pan of water on a kitchen stove which apparently had boiled over, extinguishing the flame and permitting the gas to flow into the rooms.

The bodies were discovered by Samuel Brisnick, a neighbor, when he went to the apartment to tell the father, Walter Cavenagh, a private chauffeur, that his employer had called him on the telephone.

The dead are Walter Cavenagh, 42, Ethel, 17, Catherine, 15, Rose, 13, Thomas, 11, George, 9, and Walter, Jr., 8.

Six prayer books and rosaries were found later laid out under the picture of the mother in readiness for the children to attend mass.

Wichita Falls to Have New Pilot for Next Season

DALLAS, Oct. 21. (AP)—The Dallas News today said that J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Wichita Falls club of the Texas League, admitted while here yesterday the Spudders would be under a new management next year.

Gardner, according to the newspaper explained that Jim Galloway, manager of the Spudders since mid-season of 1928, did not care to retain his position with the Wichita Falls team, believing unpopularity he might inherit in baseball might have a damaging effect on his business in Wichita Falls.

The Spudder official declared he did not know who his 1930 skipper would be, and said a selection probably would not be made until after the national baseball convention in Chattanooga, Tenn., in December.

Drive to Wheeler
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Turner and small daughter, Joyce, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Merriman and Jimmie, Jr., of Panhandle, drove to Wheeler yesterday afternoon to visit the parents of Mrs. Turner and Mr. Merriman.

Pantages Will Try to Further Conspiracy Angle

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21. (AP)—Alexander Pantages, wealthy theater man, may take the witness stand late today in his trial on a statutory charge brought by Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer.

Defense attorneys, announcing Pantages would testify, said his testimony would be the most vital link in their chain of evidence combating the attack story of Miss Pringle. Pantages planned to contradict her testimony in every detail and build up the defense contention of a conspiracy.

Several other witnesses remained to be heard, but it was said their testimony would be brief. After Pantages, expected to be the last witness called by the defense, the state will put rebuttal witnesses on the stand. The case in all probability will go to the jury Thursday night or Friday.

Mrs. Rose Fowler, Pantages' secretary, whose testimony was interrupted when court adjourned Friday for the week-end, was called to resume her story today. Mrs. Fowler gave an entirely new version of the alleged attack. She said she saw Pantages immediately after Miss Pringle's screams raised an alarm, that his clothing was not in disarray and that he did not show signs of a struggle. State witnesses had testified his clothing was torn.

Mrs. Fowler also contradicted testimony of Roy Keene, assistant manager of the Pantages theatre, who said he was in Pantages' offices soon after the alleged attack. She said he was not in the office at all.

It was learned yesterday that Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of the theatre magnate, recently found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of an automobile accident, is confined to her home with a badly injured knee. Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, her physician, said an operation might be necessary. She will appear in Superior Judge Carlos Hardy's court October 2 for hearing on her plea of probation.

Phillips' Wells Being Completed

Phillips Petroleum company's No. 6 Jackson, section 88, block B-2, has drilled to a depth of 2,950 feet, where it was put on the swab and produced 25 barrels the first 24 hours.

The same company's Minnie Cox well in section 58 was drilled to a depth of 3,200 feet and was shot at 2,932. With 100 feet of oil in the hole, it is planned to shoot the well again at some other depth.

Fireman Is Killed
WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 21. (AP)—One fireman was killed and a dozen were seriously injured in a fire which destroyed a warehouse block today. Lieut. Carl R. Swenson was killed when a wall toppled on firemen who were within the building. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

Clemenceau Is Ill
PARIS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Former Premier Georges Clemenceau is suffering from a slight heart attack aggravated by a bad cold. It was indicated, however, his condition was not considered critical.

Air Mail Pilot Parachutes With Load to Safety

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21. (AP)—Tucking his mail bag under his arm, Harry Sievers, pilot of the Pittsburgh-Cleveland air mail route, leaped in his parachute 1,000 feet to safety as his plane crashed in a field near Beavers Falls, today.

Sievers was flying from Pittsburgh to Cleveland, when his motor stopped. Seizing the only bag of mail, he leaped. The plane was demolished. Sievers took the mail to the postoffice in Beavers Falls, and arrangements were made to transfer it to another plane.
