COURTROOM, AUSTIN, Feb. 5.—The jury in the murder trial of John W. Brady went out for lunch at 12:35 p. m. Shortly after 1 o'clock the jurors returned to resume deliberations. The current report was that they stood 10 to 2 for conviction and a very stiff penalty.

COURTROOM, AUSTIN, Feb. 5.—A dispirited jury went this morning to the court to make an attempt at reaching an agreement as to whether John W. Brady was sane when he killed Miss Lechia Highsmith.

Judge J. D. Moore, though he would make no announcement, indicated he would keep the jurors for an indefinite time. He failed, also, to call them down to ascertain whether they were in controversy over the question of guilt or innocence (sane or insane), or punishment, saying he would not confer with them until they specifically requested.

Brady, 25-year-old former, civil appeals court, had company in his cell, his wife of 26 years, standing the hours watching.

Crossing Victim Will Be Buried Here on Friday

Funeral services for George W. Bechtelheimer, 38, who was crushed under the wheels of No. 22 east-bound passenger train at 2:57 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the First street crossing, will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the auditorium of the Methodist church. Rev. James Todd, Jr., chaplain, will be in charge of the services.

No eye-witnesses of the tragedy have been found, and the engineer, L. B. Larsen, said that he was not certain whether the victim was thrown out of the car when the engine crashed into it, or whether he got out of the car when he saw the train coming and ran up the track.

NEW PANHANDLE CO. PLANT IS STARTED

Construction of the Panhandle Lumber company's new yard on West Foster avenue was started yesterday. It will be erected at a cost of approximately $20,000.

The new yard will be ready for occupancy in about 60 days, when the lumber company will be moved from its present location on North Cuyler avenue to the new quarters, according to Neil McCullough, manager.

H. G. McCleskey Is New Candidate for Commission

H. G. McCleskey today authorized The News to announce his candidacy for the office of commissioner of Precinct 3, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

Mr. McCleskey, who is 36 years old, has lived in southwestern Gray county for more than eight years. He is a well known farmer and stock raiser. A former resident of Wichita county, he is well informed in road building, having been inspector in that county's first paving program of 68 miles. He examined all materials and generally "checked the construct." His father was county commissioner there for 28 years.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—Stressing the "particularly good relations" existing between Mexico and the United States and pledging his government to five years of hard work in the interest of the common people, Pascual Ortiz Rubio took office today as president of Mexico.

It was the second time in recent history that a civilian took over the reins of power of Mexico peacefully.

At least 40,000 persons jammed their way into the national stadium for the inaugural and in the crowd were hundreds of Americans.

Deputy Melchor Ortega, president of the joint session of congress meeting on the wooden platform in the center of the field, administered the oath.

HIGHER COURT SAYS BILL IS LEGAL STEP Landowners Win All Essential Parts of Appeal BUT BIG CASE IS REVERSED Mineral Rights Are Safe Under New Ruling

These bodies could very well save Pampa a million dollars if this city should it grow to 50,000 population," City Manager F. M. Gwin last night told members of their first meeting since appointment.

Mr. Gwin pointed out that Dallas is spending $6,000,000 to correct mistakes not more than 20 years old. He characterized the local work as one of the most important ever undertaken here.

After having an informal discussion, the two groups divided and took up their own programs. The park board, which will help to decide "where and what" as to parks, and to plan for proper equipping and administration, did not elect officers last night but on account of having only five members decided to dispense with formalities for the present.

Mr. Gwin told the boards that while the city officially would offer every assistance possible, the members "would have a free hand" in carrying out their programs.

THE TRAGIC DEATH OF MR. BECHTELHEIMER AT THE FROST STREET CROSSING SHOULD CAUSE MUCH STUDY OF HOW TO PREVENT SUCH ACCIDENTS IN THE FUTURE.

A viaduct somewhere in the business section is needed, but there are engineering questions—of grade, of drainage, and of property damage—which first must be solved. The Santa Fe railroad doubtless would be glad to help finance such a project. Discussions of the matter have been made at various times for several years. One factor which caused delay was the probability that should highway 33 be routed north of the railroad, the state highway commission would demand a viaduct. The railroad, on the other hand, would doubtless oppose immediate construction of two such underpasses.

However, a viaduct alone would be to slow trains to a of accident prevention. There are several crossings. That on Cuyler street is watched in the heaviest traffic periods, but accidents have occurred on other crossings. The responsibility to prevent accidents rests both with the people and with the railroad.

The first and easiest step would be to slow trains to a nominal speed within the city itself. Passenger trains travel fast and stop quickly. If necessary, the schedule should be made a little speedier between towns and slower after the city limits are reached. This appears to be a suggestion that the city commission may have a big part in recommending.

THE ILLNESS OF WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT CALLS ATTENTION AGAIN TO THE PERSONALITY OF THIS UNUSUAL STATESMAN.

Few men, once president, continue to rise in public esteem and usefulness. The presidency is the peak of political aspirations, and most any activity is likely to be regarded as a decline after the lofty position is vacated.

But the career of Mr. Taft since his term as chief executive has raised him in many persons' opinion. As president, Mr. Taft made no exceptional record. He was one of the gayest presidents of all time. His social activities were criticized at the time as extravagant. He was eclipsed by the rising and scintillating personalities of the period.

But as Chief Justice Mr. Taft had a chance to demonstrate the studious habits which he maintained despite his jovial pursuits. His legal ability was unquestioned, and his decisions, particularly respecting the Eighteenth amendment, were highly important.

Mr. Taft's incapacity also calls attention again to the power of the president, through appointments to the supreme bench, to affect constitutional questions. Several justices will retire in the next few years. After all, the supreme court members are but human, and selection of men of safe and constructive opinions is one of the great problems of democratic government.

TWINKLES

If strong drink really drives you crazy, you are not responsible and cannot be punished. And the strange part of it is that there is not—but should be—a law against drinking strong liquor.

"Tons of love", says an authority, is an apt and correct expression at St. Valentine's time. But we thought the vogue of heavy love was virtually obsolete.

The most cutting and heartless advertising we have seen lately is that wherein "coming events, (such as double chins) cast their shadows before. The very thought of such things must kill the enjoyment of the thing advertised.

Carrying tariff logic to a fuller conclusion, we suppose a tariff on goods imported into this community would be welcomed. At least, we would have no objection to a wall against the many thousands of dollars worth of printing that is imported.

Washington is getting more and more important, and if we don't get some action out of some addicts of G. O. P. doctrine we will have some tall howls coming. For instance, we need a railroad, an oil tariff, and a post office building, and a veterans hospital or something would be appreciated.

Tax penalties, expense for assessing oil property, and unpaid delinquent taxes impose quite a burden on those who are hard pressed by government levies. The government, by the way, expects to be paid and the penalties are as much or more than banks charge for loans.

And speaking of taxes, they have changed the income tax again and all our studies of what the law means will have to be repeated. However, since the revision is in the taxpayers' favor, we will raise little commotion.

CITY ERECTS SFD

WHITE DEER, Feb. 4. (Special)—Replacing a frame building recently destroyed by fire, the city of White Deer is erecting a new work shop for the water superintendent, near the stand pipe.

The building will be 24 by 36 feet, with galvanized roof and walls, with a concrete foundation.

On Tour

Efrim Zimbalist, Russian by birth but essentially an American citizen in all respects, will give a violin concert in Amarillo Thursday evening at 8:15 at the municipal auditorium. He will be presented by Emil F. Myers of the Amarillo College of Music.

Dr. Grout Speaks at McLean Meeting

MCLEAN, Feb. 4. (Special)—Dr. George P. Grout, dairy specialist of Carson county and vocational agriculture teacher, recently addressed the McLean Chamber of Commerce on the advantages of a bull circle over individual ownership. He gave interesting statistics on dairying as an independent industry and as an important branch of diversified farming.

"Registry is not enough," said the speaker, "you must start with breed sires, and there is no better way than the bull circle plan."

A. C. Hammonds, vocational teacher of Dalhart, spoke on the same luncheon program, endorsing a canning factory for McLean. The town and the community, he said, were adapted to the raising of vegetables and small fruits on a commercial basis. Prof. W. D. McElroy, vocational teacher of White Deer; Prof. W. M. Gourley, vocational teacher of Silverton; and Dr. A. A. Tammie, vocational agriculture teacher of McLean made brief talks on agriculture on the luncheon program.

WHITE DEER CHARITY PROBLEM IS SMALL

WHITE DEER, Feb. 4. (Special)—White Deer was more fortunate than many Panhandle towns during the recent severe cold weather, having no acute suffering from poverty, either reported or learned in careful investigations.

Inquiries were made in all parts of the city during the period when other cities and towns were caring for hundreds of persons in want, to ascertain if there were families or individuals in this community in need of food, clothing, or fuel. On the end of the colder weather, no family had been found in need of aid or had applied for it.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 5. (AP)—

Driven aground during a heavy snowstorm near the entrance to the harbor and resting on the rocks for four hours, the submarine O-3, a school ship, was pulled off by a tug last night. The submersible was little damaged and came to the navy yard here today under her own power, with her crew of 30 men and three officers unharmed.

S. G. Hirschfield and H. J. Jarrett of Amarillo are business visitors in this city today.

Bridge Party for Club Features Music and Flowers of Season

Red and white, favored color theme of February, and the Valentine day motif were developed with distinctive effect in a party given yesterday by Mrs. Ralph Trimble for other members of the Kensington Kard Club.

Accessories at four tables arranged for bridge were colorful and attractive. Baskets of red carnations decorated the house, and when tea was served, a red basket filled with baby's breath fern and tied with a bow of white tulle centered each of quartet tables. Refreshments repeated the color scheme, each plate being made doubly attractive by a long-stemmed carnation laid across it as a favor.

BROOKLYN HAS ENDED BATTLE OVER ROBINSON

BY HERBERT W. WALKER
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The dove of peace finally hovered over the Brooklyn club of the National League. The long battle between Wilbert Robinson, president-manager-director of the club, and S. W. McKeever, director heading an opposition faction, was ended yesterday by official action of the national league, holding its spring meeting here.

Under the agreement, Robinson resigned as president and director and was re-named as manager for two years. Frank B. York, attorney for McKeever and member of the board, was elected president for two years. Robinson's successor as a director will be named by Joseph A. Gillette, secretary and member of the board who represents the heirs of the late Charles H. Ebbets. The directors when the state is completed this will consist of McKeever, York, Gillette and the two appointees, one by Gillette and the other by Ebbets.

The Brooklyn situation has been a sore spot in the league for some years. Robinson's three-year contract as manager expired at the end of the 1929 season and McKeever opposed its renewal, while the Ebbets heirs, holding 30 per cent of the club's stock, stood solidly behind "Uncle Bobbie." Strictly speaking, the club has been without a manager since Robinson's contract expired.

CHAMP CUBS SIGN DOTTED LINE QUICKLY

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—William Wrigley's temperamental Cubs, victims of a few undesired records in their recent world series skirmish with the Athletics, have established a somewhat different record in signing 1930 contracts.

Instead of giving owner Wrigley, President William Veeck and Manager Joe McCarthy, several headaches by becoming holdouts, as is the custom of players on most championship clubs, every Cub has signed his contract without delay.

New Directory Says Pampa Has About 11,348 Population—Smiths Are Still Predominant—Nordic Blood Strongest

The new city directories which were delivered here this week contain 3,874 names, indicating a population of 11,348 for Pampa, according to the publishers, Hadsper Directory company, El Paso.

The directory's five distinct departments are the miscellaneous directory, the buyers' guide, directory of names, street, clubs, and householders' directory, the classified business directory. It contains 312 pages, compared with the 234 pages of the 1929 edition.

The preface states that there are 21 cashing gasoline and ten carbon black plants near Pampa, and that bank deposits went to over $4,000,000.

In advertisements placed vertically on every 17th page, beginning at pages 52 and 59, the photographs of "Dick" Hughes and Sam A. Fenberg appear. Each photograph appears 18 times in the book. The first name in the directory is Russel Acklam. A reader learns that his wife's name is Gladys and that he is a painter living at the house at 1301 1/2th street.

Perusal of the directory reveals that most of the names are of Anglo-Saxon or of Celtic or Nordic derivation. This is cited as one proof of the oft-heard assertion that the Panhandle of Texas contains the biggest per cent of American blood of any section in the United States, the word "American" in this sense being used to describe those persons whose Nordic ancestors have been in the United States over 100 years.

However, names of practically every nationality are represented in the book. A French name is that of D. M. Beauchamp. There are 74 Smiths in the book and 49 Jones, proving the contention that Smith is the All-American name. Davis is found 39 times in the name directory. The first Mexican name encountered was Baltazar Hernandez.

A hard name to remember and to pronounce is Fred D. Gussallus, and how would you call Kivlichen (James D.) There are five pages of Mc's in the book and only a few names beginning with "Q". One of the hardest names to spell is Urbanczyk (Miss Clara), and how long could you remember Zernial (Charles E.)? Then how are you going to remember that the "u" comes before the "e" in Freundlich (Murray and Minnie)?

Another name to remember is "Thut." New-comers still pronounce Thut as in "thought."

over the executive disapproval and both houses did this. Referring to the states' claim that the Small bill is repugnant to the public uses authorized by the conservation amendment of 1917 in the area in controversy, the court, through the opinion written by Associate Judge M. B. Blair, held:

"The contention cannot be sustained because the act either expressly or by a necessary and reasonable inference exempts from the operation of the statute all public navigation, riparian, and other uses to which the beds of statutory navigable streams of water courses had been theretofore reserved under the public policy and laws of this state, and the right to appropriate all minerals found in or underneath the surface of the river bed channel, provided the taking of the minerals does not unreasonably interfere with any right or use of the public to which the area had been reserved."

In the case passed on, involving validity of the Small bill, the state had brought suit against Bradford and about 600 other defendants in trespass to try title to recover the area, all in Gray and Wheeler counties, on grounds that it constituted a "statutory navigable stream."

would be periods of inactivity, and once in a while a tired juror would look longingly down.

getting down to the solid work of reconstruction. In this he asked the help of all Mexicans, at home and abroad, cooperating with whatever means were within their power toward the progress and prosperity of the nation.

At the same time he warned the "counter-revolutionists" that the social movement championed by the revolutionary governments of Mexico was a "consummated fact."

Properly prepared scientific men will be given preference in his government, he stated, but they will be obliged to place all their efforts at the service of the revolutionary ideals. "To build up a better country in which all Mexicans will enjoy the privilege of being considered men." Class distinction will have to go, he warned recommending a fusion of the people populating the country to produce one race.

Chicago "Wave" Has Two More Murders
CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (P)—Two murders, one of the music of radio, the other to the chatter of children's voices, kept Chicago's crime wave pounding steadily today.

When two men slew Phillip Marchese, racketeer, near the Irving school at Lexington street and Hoyne avenue yesterday, it made five gang slayings in six days. When, last night, several men killed Joseph Buckner in his home, turning up the volume control of the radio to draw the sound of their shots, it made six. In addition, two men lie critically wounded in People's hospital, victims of gang attacks.

Other gang victims of the six day period were: Barney Mitchell, treasurer of the Checker Cab company, and Glenn Jackson, cab driver; Julius Rosenheim, informer and extortionist, and Joseph (The Dude) Cada, gangster and racketeer.

Airplane Falls at Childress Tuesday
CHILDRESS, Feb. 5. (P)—A single motored, two passenger airplane, crashed a mile north of Childress late yesterday. The occupants, who apparently were uninjured, asked a farmer who saw the crash to "keep it from the papers." The tail of the plane was badly damaged. The plane was believed to have belonged to a Wichita Falls aviation company.

Louie B. Behrends, who has been at the Kahler hospital of the Mayo Brothers sanitarium, Rochester, Minn., the last three weeks, yesterday underwent an operation. According to reports received here, the operation was successful and the patient's condition satisfactory today.

Passion Play Reverent of Christ's Death

AMARILLO, Feb. 5. (Special)—The Freiburg Passion play, headed by Adolph Passnacht as the Christus, and a company of forty principals, will be presented in Amarillo for three performances at the municipal auditorium February 14 and 15, also Saturday matinee under the auspices of the Tri-State fair, Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the association, announced.

The bringing to Amarillo of this Biblical masterpiece, which is not to be confused with a motion picture, is considered by the fair officials as one of the outstanding achievements in their extensive program of entertainments.

When the Freiburg company presents the nearly 2,000-year-old drama there will be no tampering with dramatic terminology to make it conform to the twentieth century ideas, and the manuscript used in the presentation in Amarillo is the same used when the Pope Urban IV passed upon it in the thirteenth century. Prior to the thirteenth century all roles in the play were acted by monks who knew the line by heart, but later a manuscript was written.

The Passion play is presented in reverence and is endorsed and supported by ministers the world over. The Freiburg version of the play was first presented in 1624 when the liturgical mysteries were common everywhere on the continent. Through various transformations it has developed into the full story of Christ's betrayal, the faltering judgment of Pilate, the grim march to the hill, the ruing of the ruffians at the cross, the claming of the body, and the resurrection.

According to those who have seen Freiburg Passion play, the players live, rather than act their parts. Critics declare that the interpretation of the divine character by Adolph Passnacht is nothing short of a miracle. Generally the public has known only of the Oberammergau Passion play which had its origin in the seventeenth century, whereas, the small community of Freiburg, located in the Black Forest in Baden, gave its first play in 1624 A. D. as thanks for escaping a plague which swept the community.

Americans have gone to Germany in great numbers to witness the Passion play and in 1922, the last time the Freiburg company presented its play in Baden 60,000 Americans saw it. Music will be one of the features of the attraction, twenty-seven musical numbers in all, twelve of which are choral numbers.

Arkansas Doctor Who Hid Identity Was Texas Man

CLARENDON, Ark., Feb. 5. (P)—Death of a wealthy physician and business man, formerly of Texas, who lived on the generosity of neighbors near here for seven years as he hid his identity, came to light today.

He was Dr. B. C. Chamness, 63, who disappeared from Roscoe, Texas, 22 years ago.

Dr. Chamness came to a community near here seven years ago and for a while practiced his profession. Later he contracted tuberculosis, and for several years until his death yesterday he lived upon food and medicine his neighbors brought him. He would never speak of his past. His diploma from Baylor university, Waco, Texas, furnished a clue to his past.

Miss Ruby Wittgen, manager of the telephone company here, became interested and yesterday after completing more than 50 long distance calls succeeded in locating Dr. Chamness' three sons and a daughter. They are H. T. Chamness, Dallas, Texas, Merritt Chamness of Mexico, Addie Chamness, Dallas, and Mrs. L. I. Terry of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Through a cousin, A. H. Chamness, Paris, Texas, Miss Wittgen learned Dr. Chamness owned much property in several counties in Texas. The cousin said Dr. Chamness 20 years ago separated from his first wife and went to Little Rock where he married again. This marriage was not successful, and he then came to this county.

His body was sent to Stuttgart, Ark.

Boy Struck by Truck Little Hurt

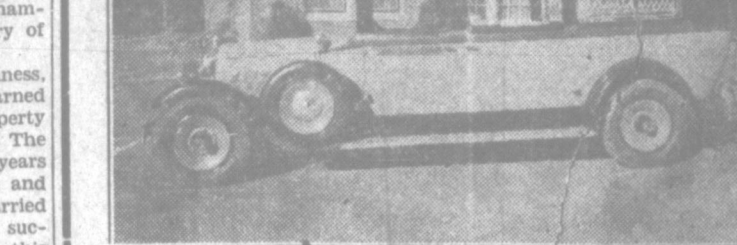

The sheriff's department was host to a 16-year-old boy who was knocked into the ditch near Kingsmill by a hit-and-run truck driver last night. Some local ladies who saw the truck strike the boy thought he was dead and reported the accident to the sheriff who met the boy walking on the highway near Kingsmill. He was only slightly bruised.

But he was very hungry. He hadn't eaten in three days, he said, and he ate all the food the officers bought him. He said that he was enroute from Los Angeles to Tulsa. The boy was permitted to sleep in the jail last night.

who was driving the car, and who vetoed her suggestion to visit the Casino. They couldn't go there, he said, because Florence was likely to be there and Florence (as Tony very well knew) was his wife.

Mickey and Tony had met at Madras. Later, after Tony and her aunt had returned to Paris Mickey came after them. He had to have playfellow a very great number of them, did Mickey Mortimer. Tony Knight, as Mickey himself expressed it, was a "devilish mischief" little trick.

The girl was quite captivated by his airs and his ardor. She began to make excuses and avoid engagements with Captain Bodansky.

Tony's Aunt Helena disapproved of this, and very shortly Tony and her Aunt Helena disapproved of each other. They did it in such loud tones and for such a long while that the girl called her father, sent off her trunks and caught the first boat for New York.

Mickey Mortimer was on the same boat.

It was Mortimer's custom, when his companion was a very pretty girl and after about the fifth cocktail, to state that he was "divorcing his wife". It was a good beginning for the long story of how fate was abusing him. Sometimes this story would become pathetic that only music would drown his sadness. That meant that Mickey would start singing, and when Mickey sang there simply was no likelihood at all of guessing where that party would end.

The truth was he was not and could not divorce his wife. Neither was Mrs. Mortimer divorcing her husband.

Mickey did not mind. He had found that a good looking young man of wealth never need face any terrors of feminine companions.

He and Tony visited a blue theatrical revue that evening, dined at a supper club which was not one of Florence Mortimer's favorites, danced at two others and shortly after four a. m. arrived at the Knight residence. Tony entered the house with her own latchkey and Mortimer drove away.

At 11 o'clock next morning Judith sent Harriet to see if Miss Tony would like to have her breakfast. The maid reported Miss Tony was still asleep. At 12 Tony came downstairs languidly. She wore a lounging suit again, this one of poppy colored stiff silk, very boyish looking. She ignored Judith but told Mrs. Wheeler she would like breakfast sent to her room.

Thus for three days the routine of the Knight household remained. Judith and Arthur breakfasted in the dining room at eight o'clock. Judith conferred with Mrs. Wheeler and Cora devoted herself to housewifely tasks during the morning. Tony arose at noon and called for a breakfast tray sent to her room. Each afternoon she left the house, returning about five o'clock. At seven Arthur and Judith and Tony dined together, and by nine o'clock Tony had sought companions of her own.

It was a state of armed neutrality. Judith, hoping each day for some slight weakening toward friendliness, had to content herself with an occasional civil remark during dinner.

Tony's reasoning seemed to be that if she could not rid the house of her stepmother she could at least pretend that Judith was not there.

It wasn't a cheering atmosphere in which to prepare for Christmas.

And yet the holiday season was about to begin. It was a time that Arthur Knight had been looking forward all year to—the time when both his children would be home.

Judith felt that she was the one who should find some means of slipping out of the scene.

She bought huge holly wreaths with gay red ribbons, candles, poinsettia plants and greens to make the house festive. She ordered a tree which was as high and handsome as Arthur had specified. She busied herself on shopping trips and conspired with Cora on what they both hoped would be masterly menus.

Determinedly cheerful, Judith reported to Arthur each night that affairs were "going splendidly."

Then on Saturday morning Arthur Junior arrived.

Judith had been out on an errand. She saw a cab stop in front of the house and a slim young step out. The boy had just reached the entrance of the house and was about to open the door when he saw her turning in at the walk.

He stopped and waited until she reached the steps. Then he looked at her seriously and said:

"Are you—Judith?"

"Yes," the girl said eagerly. "And I'm sure you're Arthur. I'm so glad you've come home! We've been expecting you—but I didn't know you'd arrive until after noon. Your father will be so pleased."

She was delighted to think that he had recognized her and spoken, and so her words rushed on, trying to let the boy know she was grateful, not feeling exactly sure she was saying the right thing. Judith would never have guessed that this was Arthur Knight's son.

He was taller than she was, built slightly but with the promise that years would "fill him out." The boy had gray eyes which had studied Judith ever since he had first seen her. He wore a gray suit and overcoat and a cap which emphasized the boyish look about him. Hair which was light brown and curly showed beneath the cap.

Judith felt that she had been saying too much. She blushed.

"Do let's go in," she finished. "It's cold and I'm keeping you out here freezing."

The lad held the door back politely and Judith entered. Harriet appeared and took the wraps. All the while Arthur Junior's manner was the same of courtesy and yet it was disturbing.

He was so formal. Without a word or sign which the girl could define he had erected a barrier about her. He was standing off and observing.

"Your father will be home for lunch in an hour or so," Judith told him. "I think he'd be pleased if you would telephone him."

"I did," said the boy, "from the station. My sister—is she here?"

Depression which she could not shake off descended on Judith. She wanted to cry out, "Why do you treat me this way? What have I done? What's the matter with me?"

The boy's solemn, distrustful eyes on her were worse than Tony's harassment.

"Your sister is upstairs, I presume," she answered. "She usually sleeps rather late. She may be up now, though."

"I'll run up for a minute," Junior said. He paused. "Do I—have the same room?" he asked diffidently.

"Yes," Judith said and thanked providence that interview was over. The coming of Arthur Junior frightened her. The forces of the enemy were strengthening.

Arthur Knight reached home shortly after noon and he and his children and Judith had lunch together. After the meal Judith did what she felt was the only decent thing to do. She excused herself, pleading a highly important shopping trip, and left the Knight family together.

The shopping was by no means fictitious. Judith Knight took a 20-minute train ride into the city. She hunted a long while for just the right little shop on Madison avenue and after she had found it spent an even longer time before she selected a small black leather box. A grab-prison, it was to hold such gleaming contents. Judith took the package which the clerk wrapped for her and carried it to a desk. She picked up pen and ink and painstakingly inscribed upon it a name and address.

Then, carrying her purchase, she went out of the shop and stopped before a mail box. Before she deposited the parcel she read the address through carefully, lifted the box to her lips and pressed upon it a swift kiss.

When Judith turned away there were tears in her eyes.

"That's the Tire for You!"

Goodyear Double Eagle is the best tire on the market today. You may not need such a good tire for your driving, if not, buy Goodyear All Weather Heavy Duty's. From my experience I have found that Goodyears will carry me from 2,000 to 6,000 miles further than any other tire anywhere near their price class. During the last five years I have driven nearly 500 miles per week and have tried many other tires. For the last two years I have had nothing but Goodyears.

GOODYEAR

The men who ride on Goodyears are our best advertisers. The invariably find they get longer wear, a better tread for slippery roads, and fewer punctures. We have a Goodyear Tire to suit YOUR driving needs. If a Pathfinder best fits your requirements we do not try to sell you Double Eagles, but if your driving takes you over the worst of roads in all kinds of weather you will want Double Eagles.

Come in and let us change your troubles to Goodyear Comfort. We will give you a liberal allowance on your old tires.

ANNOUNCING

A BRAND-NEW ANTI-KNOCK GAS-400° END POINT NO EXTRA COST

THAT GOOD

GASOLINE

MADE BETTER

THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE is now Anti-Knock quality — 400° F. end point — at no extra cost. This Anti-Knock quality stops the knocks in the new high compression motors and greatly improves motor efficiency.

The 400° F. End Point gives instant and complete vaporization to the last drop — many motorists may not know what 400° F. End Point means but every motorist can tell the difference in his car between the new Good Gulf Gasoline and the ordinary gasoline with 437° F. End Point.

Ordinary motor gasoline may be loaded with Anti-Knock Chemicals, but the heavy non-burning ends remains to retard engine performance...

This combination of high anti-knock properties and volatility (the 400° F. End Point) makes the new Good Gulf Gasoline the equal of many premium gasolines and far superior to all non-premium fuels. There is but one better gas — GULF NO-NOX MOTOR FUEL AVIATION GRADE (374° F. End Point.)

Remember there is no extra cost for this new Good Gulf Gasoline.
