CLEM CALHOUN WILL MAKE SPEECH HERE TONIGHT LIONS FROM MANY CLUBS TO ASSEMBLE HERE TOMORROW

CHICAGO MAN TO BE HONOR GUEST IN CITY

Banquet Session to Be Held on Tuesday Evening

MELVIN JONES TO BE SPEAKER

Visiting Artists Will Be Heard on Program

Lions of the Panhandle will gather here tomorrow evening to honor Melvin Jones of Chicago, secretary general of the International Association of Lions clubs.

The session, opened by a banquet, will begin at the Methodist church basement auditorium at 7:30 o'clock. A. T. Holcombe of Dalhart, deputy district governor, will be toastmaster.

Delegations are expected from Borger, Fallett, Miami, Panhandle, Perryton, Spearman, Stinnett, Wheeler, White Deer, Dalhart, Stratford, Hereford, and Plainview.

The Chicago official will be principal speaker. He will attend a zone meeting at Clarendon at noon tomorrow, then will be brought here by a group of Pampa Lions.

It is desired by President W. H. Curry of the local club that every Pampa Lion be present, but that invited guests be held to a minimum in order that all the visitors may be seated. Every Pampa Lion is asked to tell Secretary Carson Loftis how many guests he will take.

The program will include a cornet solo by R. O. Sandsky of Shamrock, a violin solo by Mrs. Dorothy Chambers of Pampa, and vocal duet numbers by Miss Ruth Martin and Miss Mildred Griffith of Dalhart, "sweethearts" of the Dalhart club.

A district chairman and a secretary will be chosen in a short business meeting to follow the banquet. It is expected that A. C. Kater of Houston, district governor, will be here, and if so he will be heard by the gathering.

United States Wants to Build Large Battleship

LONDON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The American delegation to the naval conference today made known the hope of being allowed to build one new giant battleship as part of the American program of establishing naval parity with Great Britain. It would be of the Rodney type, that is, of 33,900 tons with sixteen inch guns.

It is the American suggestion that four of its lesser capital ships be scrapped instead of the three it was planned originally to scrap and that the new giant superdreadnought be authorized to bring the American fleet to the high British standard, both fleets then to have fifteen battleships.

The Americans added that the United States probably would not build this ship if the privilege is granted to them, although they wished the right to do so if desired.

Intense activity marked the naval conference proceedings with the opening of the new week, which promised to be the most important seven days it has seen thus far. The delegation heads met at St. James's palace at 11:30 a. m., while the committee of experts continued its discussion on global and categorical tonnage.

This morning the committee dealt with special ships which it had been suggested should not be included in any scheme of tonnage limitation. Secretary Stimson, head of the American delegation, planned to confer with Premier MacDonald at No. 10 Downing street later in the day.

POLL TAXES ARE FEWER THAN ESTIMATED

The total number of qualified voters fell below the expected figure when it was announced today that approximately 3,600 persons paid their poll taxes this year.

A deluge of poll taxes and applications received at the tax collector's office during the last three days of January proved to contain less than it was first thought. The first estimate was around 4,000. As the tax collector's office does not have a record of the number of poll taxes paid in 1928, available now, this year's figure cannot be compared with it.

The largest vote ever cast in the county was in the election which resulted in the removal of the courthouse. In that election, 5,058 voted. In the presidential election of 1928 only 2,700 voted and about the same number voted in the July 1928 primary.

It is believed that those who do not pay poll taxes, persons 21 years of age and those over 60 years of age, will number over 1,000.

Negroes Held in Store Robberies— Charges Pending

The United Cigar store was looted of merchandise and $25 in money last night in the third burglary of the last six months by robbers who at the same time rifled the cash registers and money drawers of Kraft's Mint. Approximately $50 in money was taken.

Two negroes were arrested in connection with the theft and are being held in the county and city jails for investigation. The thieves gained entrance to the stores by smashing a pane in the skylight of the building and letting themselves down into the stores with a rope. The skylight serves both shops.

A stamp machine and the cash register in the cigar store were robbed. Three boxes of cigars and a wrist watch also were taken. No merchandise was taken from Kraft's Mint.

The only clue left by the burglars was several bloody finger-prints. It was evident that at least one of the burglars slashed his hand in breaking the glass. Working on this clue, officers arrested the two negroes, one of whom had a fresh gash in his finger. Blood-stained bills were also found on them.

Officers believe that the two other cigar store robberies were committed by the negroes; however, no charges have been filed.

The burglars left the stores by forcing locks on a door.

Hundred Divorce Petitions Filed

More than 100 petitions for divorce have been filed in the 31st district court since the last term closed.

Recent divorce pleas follow: M. K. Kromer vs. Beulah Kromer; Audra Martin vs. C. R. Martin; Geneva Clark vs. William P. Clark; Roy Spencer vs. Hattie Spencer; Imei Blythe vs. Earl Blythe; Maggie Roper vs. T. M. Roper; Aubrey Jones vs. Earl Jones; Ollie T. White vs. Lela Mae White; A. R. Ford vs. Eunice Ford; Grace Palmer vs. E. A. Palmer; May Burcham vs. Paul Burcham; Lou Hutchins vs. G. B. Hutchins; T. S. Mohow vs. Elizabeth Mohow; J. E. Foster vs. Madeline Foster; Bertie Hobbs vs. Joe Hobbs; John Cockrell vs. Fannie Cockrell.

Bill Hale of Childress is transacting business in Pampa today. Mr. Hale had the contract for laying the last sewerage lines in this city.

WILL ADDRESS CITIZENS UPON ENFORCEMENT

Law and Order Club Is Bringing Borger Man Here

MEETING IS TO BEGIN AT 7:45

Public Is Invited to Hear Prosecutor in Talk

Clem Calhoun of Borger, prosecuting attorney of the 84th judicial district by appointment of Governor Moody, tonight will make an address here under the auspices of the Law and Order club, it was announced this morning.

Mr. Calhoun's address will be upon law enforcement from the standpoint of a district attorney. The meeting, to which all residents of the community are invited, will begin at 7:45 p. m. in the district courtroom of the temporary courthouse.

Considerable interest was manifested at the announcement of Mr. Calhoun's coming was made known. The Borger man, sent to the stormy Hutchinson county of city by Governor Moody to investigate the murder of District Attorney J. A. Holmes, last week was opposed when his confirmation to the appointment came before the senate. However, he was quickly approved, and a successor named in the next election takes his place. He has indicated that he will not seek the office by election, but will retire from politics.

His long experience as a prosecutor, coupled with his recent clean-up activities at Borger, make him an authority on the subject he has chosen tonight, it was stated by Law and Order club officials.

Right of Pampa Woman to Testify Attacked Today

FORT WORTH, Feb. 10. (AP)—Whether Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, prosecuting witness, could testify against A. C. Killian, a defendant in the "love piracy" case on trial in federal district court, apparently depended today on the decision as to whether her marriage to Killian in 1928 was valid.

Testimony of Mrs. Hopkins, first witness this morning, was attacked by defense attorneys, who presented a certificate showing her marriage to Killian on May 16, 1928. They cited authority showing state courts had held a wife could not testify against her husband, even after marriage relation had ceased, and even though the offense had been committed before the marriage.

The government introduced records of annulment proceedings in the district court of Gray county, filed May 9, 1929, stating the attempt to have entered into marriage by Mrs. Hopkins and Killian was annulled. The records declared Killian was under disabilities at the time of the marriage that prevented his entering into a contract and that Mrs. Hopkins was never in fact, Killian's wife. The government claimed Killian was married to another woman at the time of his marriage to Mrs. Hopkins and that a divorce decree had not been entered, although divorce proceedings were in court.

Other defendants in the $25,000 mail fraud are M. G. Martin, Mattie Maye Killian and Oscar R. Fowler. They are charged with participating in a scheme to defraud Mrs. Hopkins, a wealthy ranch woman of Pampa, through a fake alienation of affections suit.

C. E. Mann of Artesia, N. M., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Path-er this week-end.

Conspiracy Charge At Chicago Names More Than 150 Men

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—A conspiracy indictment against 150 persons and 21 corporations charging them with a plot to violate the national prohibition laws was returned by the federal grand jury today.

The indictment, returned before Federal Judge George A. Carpenter, charged the illegal withdrawal of 1,000,000 gallons of alcohol from government sources.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Herald Examiner declared today that "the biggest liquor conspiracy in the history of prohibition enforcement" had been uncovered by federal agents and that more than 150 persons were involved.

A ring, or syndicate, operating from coast to coast and with headquarters in Chicago, "has made millions of dollars and has flooded the United States with millions of gallons of spurious hooch," the newspaper said.

"And most astounding of all," the account continues, "the United States government has supplied every drop of the liquor."

The federal investigation has been under way since last July, the Herald Examiner said, and involves the withdrawal and diversion of industrial alcohol.

The circumstances as reported by the newspaper are in substance as follows: Agents under direction of Alexander Jamie, chief of agents in this district, discovered existence of a conspiracy for the diversion of denatured alcohol from legitimate commercial uses to bootleggers. The denatured alcohol, by chemical processes, was made the basis of a considerable portion of bootleg liquor offered for sale in this country.

The agents did not pretend to have traced more than one fifth of the total of alcohol thus diverted, but they definitely traced diversion of 4,000,000 gallons of such alcohol in Chicago and half that much in New York. At $10 a gallon that represented a business of $60,000,000 in two cities. A gallon of alcohol, the newspaper pointed out, is equivalent to more than two gallons of whiskey, gin or brandy.

Seizure of a carload of denatured alcohol last summer started the federal agents on the track of the conspiracy. That alcohol was shipped by the Deo Drug company of New York and was consigned to A. Sebren, Chicago.

"So important are the revelations," the Herald Examiner said, "that the foundation for their presentation to congress has been laid, many federal court prosecutions are considered inevitable, and governmental investigation of prohibition administrations here in New York and elsewhere seem assured."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Prohibition headquarters today said that an investigation of the liquor ring in Chicago, reported to have diverted industrial alcohol, had been under way for several months, but no officials said the names of those involved could be made public until the grand jury in Chicago had acted. Prohibition Commissioner Doran was in Chicago today.

"ALL SET", DECLARE COACHES OF LIONS AND ROTARY BASKETBALL TEAMS WHICH MEET THIS EVENING

Tenseness in the Rotary and Lions ranks are noticeable today as the two rival groups prepared to battle tonight for the basketball prestige of the city.

The two coaches, H. Otto Studer for the Lions and Dick Hughes for the Rotarians, pronounced their athletes ready to go today, and each predicted an easy victory.

Lion Studer lost several minutes sleep last night trying to arrange his starting line-up. At length he arrived at the following: Forwards, Clarence Kennedy and L. L. Sone; center, Clarence Barrett; guards, Tom W. Brabham and Charlie Duenkel. If this five fails to stop the Rotary machine, Coach Studer has a better looking but perhaps not as effective quintet in waiting.

Secrecy surrounded the personnel of the Rotary basketball starting line-up.

The first game will begin at 7:30 o'clock in Central gymnasium. This will be followed by a farcial affair in which each club will pick a team and substitutes from the ranks of the other. In order that there may be quick substitutions, each member of both clubs is asked to provide himself with tennis shoes. There is no indulging on costumes, and it is rumored that some astoundingly futuristic get-ups will be displayed.

The games are benefit performances to help the Guenillas, second string football boys, buy their sweaters.

ENGLISH PLANE CRASHES

MARDEN, Kent, Eng., Feb. 10. (AP)—Two persons were killed near here today when a passenger airplane from Paris came down and caught fire.

Dr. J. C. McKean and F. C. Conwell of McKean and Connor hospital returned Saturday from Franklin, Texas, where they attended the funeral of Dr. C. J. Connor's father, Judge Connor. They made the trip in Dr. McKean's plane.

CARSON "FIND" IS IN NEED OF STORAGE

Hasty construction of storage tanks at the Empire Fuel and Gas company's Fields No. 1, section 12, block 7, began yesterday when the well broke loose, shooting oil over the top of the derrick at the rate of 50 barrels an hour. The well came in Friday night with 7 million feet of gas, flowing about 50 barrels a day.

The new producer is located about 400 feet from the Humble pipeline but no connections have been made. The pay was barely topped at 3,205 feet.

Yesterday hundreds of people continued to flock to the well which opens up a new area. The closest pool is the Roxana, 12 miles north-east. It is located in the center of an 8,000-acre block owned by the Empire, and this fact, together with unfavorable conditions in the oil industry at this time, may delay the development of the new area.

Laying of a six-inch casing in the hole was completed yesterday and a test will be made of the well as soon as storage is built, possibly tomorrow, Empire officials said.

The wildcat is one mile north and four miles west of White Deer and five miles northeast of Panhandle.

Father and Son Banquet Will Be Large Gathering

Preparations are being made to entertain 150 men and boys at the Father and Son banquet to be held Thursday evening, under the sponsorship of the Lions club committee on boys' work. It was announced today by the Rev. T. W. Brabham, chairman.

The event will take place in the basement of the Methodist church, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. It is open to all fathers and sons of the community, to any man who has no son, but wishes it play host to somebody else's boy; and to men who wish to promote the interests of boys and boy scouting in the community.

Tickets may be procured at 75 cents apiece by calling the Rev. Brabham at 624 or applying at The Pampa Daily News office. Every boy who is a registered Scout is privileged to attend without charge, but is to secure a ticket through Mr. Brabham.

An interesting feature of the program planned for the banquet will be the initiation of six Pampa boys into the rank of tenderfoot. The initiation will be performed by the Borger troop.

Serving on the committee with the Rev. Brabham are Roger McConnell and Wm. T. Fraser.

Mrs. F. E. DeCoster Dies in Amarillo

Mrs. Estelle DeCoster, 42 years old, wife of F. E. DeCoster, died early Sunday at Amarillo after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 11 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian church with the Rev. R. Thomson, pastor, in charge. The body will be sent to Independence, Kans., for burial.

The husband, F. E. DeCoster, is manager of the Black-Sivalls & Bryson company of Amarillo, and is well known throughout the Panhandle oil fields.

Blizzard Sweeps Over Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 10. (AP)—The first real blizzard of the winter tonight swept over Northern and Central Wisconsin, trapping motorists and blocking trunk highways with huge drifts.

A forty-mile wind made visibility difficult. Bus service was halted to all points in the northern section of the state. On the 80-mile stretch between Milwaukee and Oshkosh more than 400 cars were stalled.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy, warmer in north and central portions tonight Tuesday, partly cloudy, warmer in southeast portion.

GEARS STICK AND MACHINE STRIKES CARS

Driver Dies When He Falls Under Wheels

PEDESTRIAN IS ALSO A VICTIM

Many Automobiles Are Battered This Morning

HOUSTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Two men were killed and a dozen automobiles badly damaged here today when a tractor got away from its driver and ran wild.

The tractor was driven by A. McCarty, who lost his balance and fell from the machine when the clutch apparently stuck as he tried to shift gears. The tractor ran over McCarty, instantly killing him.

Wade Gatewood, 35, walking along the street, tried to jump on the tractor and stop it, but he too lost his balance and fell, the tractor passing over his body. He died on the way to a hospital.

For 100 feet the tractor ran along without guidance, crashing into one automobile after another. The tractor was operated by the city, and was being taken from one job to another.

Chicago Quiet as Police Search for Gun Toters

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Not a shot was fired and only half a dozen minor crimes were reported in Chicago last night. The newest campaign by Chicago's payless police was working.

The drive began Saturday night, and its success surprised even Commissioner William A. Russell himself. By last midnight 917 persons had been arrested, and 271 of the number had criminal records. Acting Detective Chief Egan called it a "raid for guns."

Whereas when the rains started police came upon men in the actual act of robbery and found "wrong guys" in every part of town, suspicious characters were missing when police continued their forays last night. The town had suddenly gone quiet.

A new measure of handling criminals was announced by the detective chief. Men found carrying pistols, he said, will be held for the grand jury, instead of being turned over to municipal court. Indictments are to be asked, and the gun toters will be tried by jury. "We'll either send them to jail or break them financially," he said. "We've got 'em on the run."

A double shooting Sunday had brought no arrests, but special officers were detailed to the case. Albert Killberg, 21, and Herbert Berger were killed by four negroes during an altercation after an automobile accident.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Peyton of Stinnett were guests of Mrs. Pauline Thurmon yesterday.

THE MOVEMENT TO BEAUTIFY PAMPA WOULD BE GREATLY HELPED BY ANNOUCEMENT OF A CHEAPER WATER RATE. IN FACT, MANY PERSONS WHO WOULD LIKE TO START LAWNS, FLOWER BEDS, AND TREES HESITATE TO DO SO IN THE BELIEF THAT THE COST WOULD BE PROHIBITIVE.

For example, one woman called this office to discuss the problem of starting a lily pond and rose garden. She has the desire to beautify the family home, yet a family of five is expensive and the water bill already is between $5 and $6 per month. There are many families in Pampa who cannot afford to double their water bills, even in the interest of a lawn and flowers.

It probably is not advisable to lower the minimum rate, but the rate on additional consumption—which lawns and trees require, SHOULD BE LOWERED. In the past the city has not had the water, but we are now told that the supply is adequate. If so, the economies of operating at greater capacity should make possible a rate revision if the greater demand is present. That demand will be created almost overnight with the announcement of a lower rate.

Water rates in Pampa have not, in the past, been particularly excessive. It cost many thousands of dollars to increase the source of supply, and the present rate was a reflection of that cost. It was a question of letting the rate stay at its present level or voting bonds. And since bonds for other public improvements were necessary, it was considered wisest to let water consumers pay their share of the cost of water extensions. There is, after all, no more equitable way of distributing the cost of the water department than through the bills of those who use the water.

Moreover, water receipts in the past have not, as rumored, been used to support other departments. The water report, which we published some time ago, showed a total revenue of $72,980.61, with an operating expense of $25,488.18. This left a net above operating expense of $47,492.43. But do not confuse this sum with the net profit. Interest on water bonds already issued costs $11,100 a year. The sinking fund requirement is $6,000, and depreciation was estimated at $6,750. This left a net profit of $20,642.43—a sum that should be remembered when the question, "What is the water department making?" is asked.

What went with this $20,000? The city added two big wells, an elevated tank and an underground tank, besides extending the mains. One well cost almost twice as much as the net profit of the water department. However, with an increased water supply, as well as an increased demand, the net profit should be greater this year. The department is conceded to be increasing in efficiency.

But the argument for cheaper water is not based upon the claim that the department should greatly reduce its net profit. There should, and must be, a margin of safety if the department is to be self-maintaining. BUT A REVISION OF RATES BASED ON ANTICIPATED LARGER CONSUMPTION IS, IT APPEARS TO THE NEWS, A LOGICAL, A NEEDED, AND A TIMELY POSSIBILITY.

Pampa civically needs beauty and home development as much as it needs anything. The psychological effect of an announcement of lower water on the larger consumption basis would be tremendous. We recommend such a revision to the commission with the suggestion that it be made effective about the time the trees and laws are started.

TWINKLES

Well, liquor almost demolished the Democratic party, and now Representative Deck says that prohibition will wreck the Republican. Appearances are that neither will lean far enough either way to cause much damage. Human beings belong to both parties, and you can't make several millions of humans agree on anything. The majority will rule—they pay their poll taxes.

Can't heat is said to be more popular here. It is a bad sign. Addicts are usually persons who are "washed up" in life and hopeless. Unfortunately, Texas is not doing enough to rehabilitate its human wrecks; dope can be had even in the state penitentiary, legislators are said to have learned.

Many persons are announcing for office; we regret to announce that a majority of those in the races will be disappointed July 26.

Rash Romance by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing house, marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the department in which she works. Knight is a widower with a daughter, TONY, 18, and in Paris, and a son, JUNIOR, 16, at school.

"See you some more!" she called.

A blissful honeymoon in Bermuda is interrupted by a cablegram that Tony is on her way to America. Judith and Arthur sail to meet her. When Knight brings his daughter to their Long Island home the girl ignores her stepmother. Later she tells Judith she must leave the house. Knight, overhearing, forces Tony to apologize.

The girl spends much of her time with MICKEY MORTIMER, blasé amusement-seeker whom she met in Paris. As days pass a state of armed neutrality exists between Tony and Judith. Junior arrives home for the holidays and treats Judith with aloof politeness. Christmas proves to be a dismal day with both children away from home and all Knight's eager preparations are wasted.

Judith is uncomfortable until the boy returns to school. A letter comes from AUNT HELENE, who had chaperoned Tony in Europe, telling Knight of the girl's affair with Mortimer. Tony easily persuades her father that her aunt had misjudged her. A young man comes to call and Tony introduces him as ANDY CRAIG.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVIII Andy Craig looked from one girl to the other in that moment of awkward pause.

"Perhaps he was startled by Judith's obvious youth. Tony broke the silence. "Well, Andrew Craig," she said sharply. "Stop mooning at Judith and tell me what's brought you on the horizon! I thought you were in the farthest remote corner of some remote library learning to be a smart lawyer. Don't tell me you're educated."

Andy grinned. "Absolutely, Miss Knight. A duly accredited member of the bar. Is there anything I can do for you this morning? We have an excellent line of divorces, breach of promise suits, amusements—something in the way of a tasty attachment of property, perhaps? Let me particularly suggest our luncheon special today."

"Dumbbell!" accused Tony. "What a way to talk!" the youth chided. "See here, Tony Knight, I mean it. I appeal before you in supplication bent and ask you to come to lunch with me. The Rolls-Royce is without—that is, without existence—but we can catch a train in exactly 10 minutes which will whisk us to a scoddy caravansary and nourishment. What, come?"

Tony giggled. "The poor boy," she sighed in mock sadness. "Burning the midnight oil has completely addled his brain. And such a promising lad he was once, too." She turned to Judith.

"Will you ask Harriet to put him out? And write on a piece of paper and pin it to his pocket that 'Miss Knight is engaged for the rest of the day and cannot possibly be disturbed.'" "Aw, Tony—" Craig protested.

"Sorry. Couldn't possibly manage it. Do you think you can turn up here five minutes of 12 and expect to take me to lunch? I've a previous engagement, darling!"

As she was speaking Tony had pointed thru the glass of the door out to the driveway. A large vivid green coupe was just halting. It was Mickey Mortimer's car.

There came the sound of a French automobile horn. Tony pulled the door open, waved her hand, then turned and darted up the stairs.

"See you some more!" she called to Andy Craig as she disappeared around the curve of the stairway. The joking light died in the young man's blue eyes.

"Won't you—won't you come in, Mr. Craig?" Judith said, motioning toward the living room. He followed, protesting: "I can't stay—really. Got to get back to the city. Just thought I'd run in and say hello to Tony while I was out here."

Craig was embarrassed and yet he lingered. Judith understood. The young man wanted to wait until the green motor car had pulled away before leaving the house. He didn't wish to confront his successful rival.

Tony's clattering footsteps could be heard on the stairs again. "Tell you what you do, Andy," she cried gaily. "Stay to lunch with Judith! She'd be glad to have you. Wouldn't you?" the girl added, turning directly to her stepmother.

"Why—of course I would! I'd be very glad to have you, Mr. Craig. I've no other company, you see. Tony's leaving."

"Thanks," said Craig dryly. "It's awfully good of you but I couldn't really. Well, Tony, I see I was wrong about the Rolls. It came after all!" Tony puckered up her little nose and made an insolent face by way of reply. Then she pronounced on her heel and was gone. The front door closed noisily.

"You've just finished school?" she asked. Andy Craig nodded. He had been watching the green coupe through the window and saw that now it was driving away.

"Yes," he said. "Finished last week. I'm going to be with Hunter Brothers now. Mr. Knight got me the job. He's been wonderful to me. You see, I've known Mr. Knight ever since I was a kid. He helped me through school."

"I'd never have been able to make it otherwise." "Oh," said Judith. "So you're old friends! Well, you must let me see more of you now that you're back in the city."

Andy smiled. "Sure, I'll do that, all right. One reason I happened to be out here this morning is I've found a place to live a few blocks west. I've always wanted to live out here and last night when I was hunting through the papers I found a want ad. The place isn't remarkable but it'll do and I guess I can pay the rent."

When Andy Craig smiled to rows of flashing white teeth came in view. The young man certainly was not handsome, but that boyish smile had won friends for him all his life.

"Well, I've got to be going now, Mrs. Knight," he said. "Thank you for the invitation. And I'm awfully glad to have met you."

Judith gave him her hand, then went with him to the door. "Remember," she said, "you've promised to come see us again."

"I'll remember, all right. Good afternoon."

That evening Arthur Knight told Judith the whole story of Andrew Craig. He was enthusiastic in his praise.

Andy had first come to Knight's attention when the youth at 14 was employed as an office boy at Hunter Brothers. The cheerful grin and head of red hair had caught Arthur's fancy. He learned the boy's mother had been dead for years and the father worked in a shoe factory. He learned, too, that Andy was attending night school.

One evening a horrible accident occurred on the elevated railway. Andy Craig's father was among the fatally injured. Knight took a personal interest in the boy's affairs, saw to it that the home in which the lad found room and board was satisfactory, encouraged him to continue with his schooling.

He did more than that for Andy when he found the boy had a quick brain and an aptitude for work. The youth was given more responsible tasks and better pay. Every few weeks Knight would have a chat with Andy. The boy responded to encouragement.

Finally there had been the choice of a career and the problem of a college education. Andy wanted to become a lawyer. He worked summer vacations and saved his money. Knight loaned him money and the young man set off for college.

He had finished school with honors, Knight said, and was to come back again to Hunter Brothers. His salary was the same as any beginner in the legal department, but the man was confident that Andy Craig would force ahead.

Judith was bright-eyed as she listened to this account.

"And Tony—" she asked. "Think she cares for the boy? Encourage him? Of course she does! Don't know how much she cares about him. Tony treats me alike. But it wouldn't please me the least." Arthur Knight smiled thoughtfully. No—it wouldn't please me in the least if Tony and Andrew Craig should some day come to care a great deal for each other. Craig's the sort of young fellow who's bound to rise!"

Judith agreed with this prediction. "You'll bring him home to dinner some evening, won't you?" she asked Arthur.

"Why, yes. When shall it be—how about Thursday?" Thursday was the date set upon. Arthur promised to extend the invitation next morning. Thursday was four days distant. Judith was not to wait that long, however, before encountering Andrew Craig.

The girl was lonely. If Tony had offered the slightest companionship the situation would have been different. But Tony at home was no better company than Tony abroad. There were times when Judith actually longed for the old office days. Then she had felt a part of the gigantic turmoil which was business. She had crowded into subways, elevators and swarming streets with countless others who were also doing the world's work.

Now, alone in the big house, Judith missed that stimulus. She had found there was one way in which she could work off her restlessness. There was a small pond frozen over not more than six blocks away which was used by the youngsters of the neighborhood at a skating rink. Judith was an expert skater. She had formed the habit of slipping away from the house each afternoon and skating for an hour or so. Until four o'clock she could have the place almost entirely to herself. Then the children began to arrive from school. There were delays about the house on Wednesday and it was later than usual when she finally managed to get away. She walked with a slightly gully sense, knowing on one would think it strange that young Mrs. Knight adopted such juvenile pastimes.

Judith reached the pond, adjusted her skates and cut out gracefully across the ice. She circled the rink, then swung into lazy, graceful figure eights.

Three or four children approached, looked at her questioningly and then took to the ice. The youngsters, noting the unknown young woman's skill, kept at a respectful distance. Judith decided recklessly to remain another half hour. There would still be time to dress for dinner and the ice today was perfect.

It was after five o'clock and the sky had begun to darken when at last she tramped homeward. Judith's cheeks were flushed and her eyes sparkled.

At the turn of a corner she rushed almost headlong into a young man. "Oh!" cried Judith.

"My fault—why, how do you do, Mrs. Knight!"

Andy Craig had removed his hat and halted before the girl. She stood for a moment looking up at him silently. Before his steady gaze the color left Judith's cheeks. She glanced away hurriedly.
