SEEK SAILOR FOR SLAYING THREE GIRLS

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 30 (AP)—A man officials identified only as "Eddie the Sailor" became suspect No. 1 today in the search for the degenerate slayer of three little Inglewood girls.

"Eddie the Sailor," police learned, almost succeeded in luring into his automobile five girls Saturday when he put to death Madeline Everett, 7, her sister, Melba, 9, and Jeanette Marjorie Stephens, 8.

Lillian Popp, 11, told officers that she and her cousin almost joined the three victims in what "Eddie the Sailor" represented was going to be a rabbit hunt in the hills.

"When we reached the car, I kicked my cousin and reminded her in whispers, what her mother had told her about going riding with a strange man," Lillian said.

Authorities said the atrocious crimes were still far from solution. They know that the kidnappers and murders were the work of a sexual pervert. That was established definitely by the report of the county autopsy surgeon, who examined the ravished children.

CHICAGO, June 30 (AP)—Soaring grain prices, humming brokers' offices and the roaring pits at the foot of canyon-like La Salle street were evidences today that the public is back in the grain market.

Revival of public interest in grain, considered by many observers a key to economic conditions, accompanied two wide upward swings in wheat prices since the first of the year.

The first upturn, generated by small world wheat stocks with war-fearing European importing nations scrapping exporting nation's bins for supplies, got under way early in March and brought a swelling volume of trade as speculators all over the world participated.

Then, prospects that the United States would harvest the biggest crop since 1931 appeared. As drought conditions in the southwest were minimized by timely rains, this crop became a virtual reality and wheat plunged downward almost 25 cents a bushel.

In the last few weeks, spread of black rust has dimmed crop prospects to some extent, bringing the second broad rise which began in mid-June. Serious crop losses from drought in Canada also has affected the market.

July wheat the first of January was quoted around $1.18. Late that month it fell to $1.10, rose again to $1.19 in February and then shot up to an eight year peak of $1.30 the last of March. By the middle of this month, however, it had worked down to $1.06. The current quotation is around $1.21.

Kenneth S. Templeton, president of the board of trade, said today that for the first time in many years this country is facing "an old time export trade in wheat."

FOUR REPUBLIC STEEL PLANTS OPEN IN OHIO

WATER MAIN BLASTED; TELEPHONE WIRES RIPPED

CANTON, O., June 30 (AP)—Dynamite blasted a water main, telephone wires were ripped from poles, and pickets hooted and leered, as the Republic Steel corporation successfully opened its four plants here today under protection of the Ohio National Guard.

Two flying guard airplanes acted as "eyes" for the heavily armed troops, spotting any disorder and sending guard detachments to quell it.

Forty pickets were arrested. By mid-morning Republic announced that 115 automobiles had burned approximately 450 workers into the plants, and the movement of cars in and out kept up.

Some 200 pickets, many women, were kept moving smartly along by the guardsmen.

Comparative quiet ranged along the other fronts of the Great Lakes steel front, now entering the second month of a walkout called by the steel workers organizing committee over refusal of four independent steel companies to sign labor contracts.

At Johnstown Pa., where the Cambria works of Bethlehem was harried yesterday by roaring dynamite blasts which snapped two water pipes, Mayor James J. Shields ordered CIO leaders to leave the city.

The labor leaders refused to go. Said Mark: "We are both good American citizens. We intend to stay here until we leave of our own accord."

Do Not Explode Fireworks Around Local Hospitals

City and county law enforcement agencies today combined in a warning to refrain from exploding fireworks within proximity of the city's two hospitals.

Reports have been filed that patients are being annoyed by the discharging of fireworks inside the hospital zones.

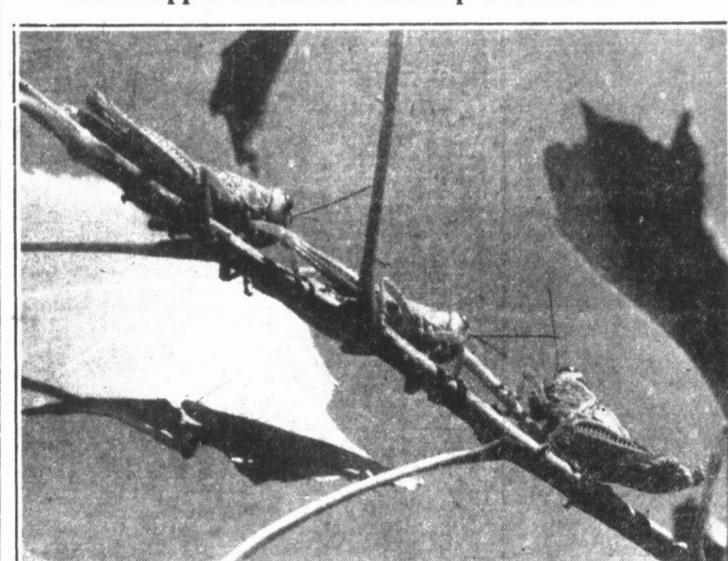

Officials of both hospitals also issued a plea today asking that the practice be stopped, adding that it endangers the lives of patients who are seriously ill.

Will Improve City Airport

A $100 appropriation to assist the Pampa Aviation corporation to make changes at the Pampa airport which will re-secure Department of Commerce recognition of the field, and make the field safer for both fliers and residents in the northeast part of Pampa, was voted last night at a meeting of the directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development.

R. G. Allen, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce, recommended the appropriation. He announced approval from the Department of Commerce for the moving of the fence separating the present airport and the department's emergency landing field. Plans call for moving the present hangars to the southeast corner of the present airport thereby removing

Burglar Enters Homes Of Stennis And Smith

PICKETS SHOT IN BACK SAYS LA FOLLETTE

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—The Senate Civil Liberties committee presented evidence today that seven of the ten persons killed in the Memorial day battle with Chicago police were shot in the back.

Chairman LaFollette (Prog., Wis.) submitted a hitherto unpublished coroner's report, showing that three of the slain men had bullet wounds in the side and the rest in the back. The senator read a police report which said that "some of the officers on the ground and at the mercy of the mob fired their service revolvers," and then asked Chicago Police Commissioner James P. Allman

"Can you explain how these men could have been shot in the back if the police were lying on the Pampa's "cat-footed" burglar has started making himself one of the family, or at least that is what happened when he entered the home of Judge and Mrs. S. D. Stennis Monday night and appropriated $3 to his own use from the pocket of Hugh Stennis' trousers.

Mrs. Stennis was awakened by the sound of running water in the bathroom. When it was not shut off she called to her son, Hugh, believing he had gotten up for a drink and forgotten to turn off the water. Receiving no reply, Mrs. Stennis called again. Then she heard the rear door slam and decided to investigate.

The burglar had turned the water on to cover his activity while searching pockets.

Last night between the hour of 10 and 11 o'clock the burglar entered the home of Mrs. Fannie Smith, north Starkweather street, where four houses had already been visited this month, but nothing was taken. The man left large imprints in oil on the living room carpet as evidence of his entry. Officers figure the man crossed Carr street which had been freshly oiled in the afternoon and failed to get his feet clean.

No one was home at the Smith residence. Mrs. Smith and son, Jack, had been away during the hour. Police are working on a couple of hot clues.

Another burglary was reported to officers early this morning when W. C. de Cordova, wholesale agent for the Sinclair-Prairie company, called that the 508 gallons of gasoline had been stolen from a storage tank in the southeast part of the city. The lock on the tank had been smashed and a truck backed under the storage.

INNOCENT MAN GIVEN PARDON BY GOVERNOR

DENVER, June 30 (AP)—Ernest Mattice, 33-year-old Denver candy salesman, rested at the home of friends today while deciding how to use the freedom restored him by Gov. Teller Ammons.

"I want to try to get back in my old frame of mind," said Mattice, after Ammons pardoned him from two life terms for an assault which he did not commit.

Mattice has served less than six months in the state penitentiary since his conviction for the rape and kidnaping of Mrs. Margaret Cynos, 22, mother of two children and a former beer tavern waitress. Gov. Ammons signed the pardon yesterday a few hours after Frank Nell, 26, and Arthur Parker, 21, pleaded guilty to the rape charge. They pleaded innocent to the kidnaping charge.

LEG INJURIES SUFFERED IN TRUCK MISHAP

Two men suffered leg injuries when the truck on which they were riding, with their legs hanging over the side, met another truck on a narrow bridge three miles southeast of LeFors about 8 o'clock this morning. They were brought to Worley hospital by ambulances.

W. H. Levy received a leg fracture above the knee and a broken knee cap. W. F. Cooper suffered a severe ankle sprain and cuts and bruises about the legs. Both men were employed by the Liano Construction company and were on the way to work when the accident happened.

The other truck was operated by an employe of the Texas company. It is believed the trucks swayed together on the rough floor of the bridge just as they met.

BYBEE FINGERPRINTS FOUND IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 30 (AP)—Clint Miers, assistant superintendent of the state crime bureau, said a latent fingerprint found on a flashlight near the shot-torn body of E. C. Smith, 33, years, Okla., night watchman, tended to connect an escaped Texas convict with the slaying.

Smith was shot down early Sunday morning by two men in a light coupe. The men stole six guns at Byars and escaped after the shooting.

Crime bureau operatives said two other clues pointed toward the escaped Texas convicts in the shooting. They were:

1. A package of cigarettes found at the slaying scene bore a Texas stamp.

2. Slugs extracted from the body of the nightwatchman weighed exactly the same as slugs used in shells for a prison shotgun taken by the fugitives in their flight from East-ham.

Texas prison records showed Bybee was serving a life sentence for murder and robbery with firearms. A death sentence given him previously had been commuted. He formerly lived in Pampa.

ANOTHER SHIP CRIPPLED IN RIVER FIGHT

BORDER TROUBLE NEAR HEAD, OBSERVERS BELIEVE

HSINKING, Manchoukoo, June 30. (AP)—Japanese-Manchoukooan artillery along the disputed Amour river border was reported in Japanese army and news agency advices today to have sunk one "invading" Soviet Russian gunboat, badly damaged another and forced a third to flee.

The long troubled Far East frontier relations between Russia and the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchoukoo reached a dramatic and dangerous climax.

The Japanese said the Soviet vessels "invaded" a Manchoukooan channel south of Semnufu (Kanchatzu) Island in the river, firing on Japanese-Manchoukooan forces guarding the shore. The latter's guns returned the fire.

Later advices said the Soviet Amur river fleet more than a dozen gunboats and many hydroplanes was being concentrated.

The gravest view was taken of the situation. Powerful Japanese-Manchoukooan reinforcements were being rushed to the river to prepare for eventualities.

The Manchoukoo government immediately filed a vigorous protest to Moscow against the alleged invasion. The Amour river runs along the northeastern Manchoukoo-Siberian border.

Ever since Japan took over Manchuria from China in 1931, the frontier between far eastern Russia and Manchoukoo, its Japanese-sponsored neighbor, has been disputed.

Up to that time the Russians enjoyed a virtual monopoly of the Amur.

A Russian subsequent attempt by Soviet Russia and Manchoukoo to establish a recognized border line along the 3,000-mile frontier, especially in the Amur area, have failed.

The new border clash followed close upon an announcement yesterday by the Japanese embassy in Moscow that the Russian government has agreed to withdraw troops and boats concentrated at Bolshoi and Semnufu Islands in the Amur river.

That announcement said that Manchoukoo would then withdraw troops from a nearby shore position.

Both Russia and Japan have asserted sovereignty over the islands, creating a situation regarded in Moscow as one of the most tense in recent Russo-Japanese relations.

There have been several border clashes between Russian and Japanese-Manchoukooan troops in recent weeks. Russian dispatches from Siberia laid these to "provocative attempts" to block navigation on the Amur river and seize the islands which Russia claims under treaties nearly a century old.

The Japanese ambassador to Moscow was understood to have presented a virtual ultimatum that the Russians evacuate both islands. A Japanese embassy spokesman in Moscow asserted the ambassador had warned the Russians there was a possibility of war unless the military reinforcements were withdrawn.

President Signs Huge Relief Bill

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed the $1,500,000,000 relief bill today. It provides $1,325,000,000 for WPA, $100,000,000 for the Resettlement administration for use in the fiscal year beginning tomorrow.

During the current fiscal year WPA spent approximately $1,860,000,000. The reduction in funds will require the dismissal of thousands of relief workers each week between now and July 15. Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, has set an employment figure of 1,665,477 for that date.

On June 5 there were 1,980,000 on WPA rolls, a decrease of 19,000 from the preceding week.

HOOPER WILL UPHELD

DALLAS, June 30 (AP)—A jury decided that the $100,000 estate of the late J. C. Hooper, elderly bachelor, should go to Miss Mabel Hutchinson, a music teacher his will named as principal beneficiary. The jury found he was of sound mind when he wrote the will and that undue influence, as charged by 40 contesting relatives, was not brought to bear in the bequest. There had been testimony from contestants that Hooper was "woman crazy" and was unduly influenced in behalf of Miss Hutchinson.

Pension Payments Postponed Again

AUSTIN, June 30 (AP)—When July checks would be mailed and how many old age pensioners would not receive them this time were questions pension officials could not answer today.

By law grants should be paid on the first of the month but the old age assistance administration had not heard from Washington on its applications for $2,835,000 as the federal government's share of July, August and September payments. They have been delayed before.

Anyone who actually heard their own ears such a prediction over the radio is asked to get in touch with this corner.

Wrestling Card Will Be Presented Monday Night

Wrestling will be brought back to Pampa on next Monday night, July 5, when Cliff Chambers will present a special Fourth of July card loaded with dynamic. Chambers has received a promoters and matchmakers license and has erected an arena with a seating capacity of 1,500 at the corner of Wynne street and Aitchison avenue four blocks east and one block south of the postoffice.

Chambers has arranged to bring Sheik Ben Ali Marallah of Persia here to meet the one and only Salor Tex Watkins of Post in the main event two falls out of three with no time limit. Marallah met Champion Jack Reynolds in Amarillo last week and gave a wonderful exhibition of grappling.

For a semi-final, one fall or 30 minutes time limit, Chambers has matched Gust Johnson a Swede from Seattle, Wash., and Vic Webber, a top-notch from Brooklyn, N. Y.

As a preliminary, Tarzan Krause, a deaf mute, will meet an unnamed opponent in a 20-minute time limit affair. Krause is built like Tarzan and is a heady and experienced grappler.

Pampa wrestling fans need no introduction to either of the main events. Both have appeared here in past performances. Watkins is the original villain of the ring while Marallah can either wrestle or take care of himself when the rough stuff starts.

Johnson has been wrestling out of Tulsa, Okla., and will be making his first appearance in the Panhandle. He has been a main event grappler for years. Webber has met the best in the game and is known over the nation.

Third man in the ring will be Alfred Albert Jose d'la Guadur, better

GET IN THE SWIM!

By JACK POBUK, Noted Swimming Instructor.

Diving is exhilarating fun and a splendid exercise for developing poise. Almost everyone can learn to dive if they will only take time for practice.

In order to perfect the standard dives, and the many fancy ones, too, of course, it is important to practice the various steps separately.

A dive may be divided into four parts: The approach; the take-off; the form; and the entrance into the water.

On your first diving attempts, concentrate on the approach. After you have mastered this, then concentrate on the take-off. Then form in the air. And, lastly, the entry.

This is the simple, front dive: Walk out onto the float and place your toes over the edge.

Bend your knees and place hands above the head.

Diving Practice. As you strike the water and submerge, tilt your head up. This will direct you back to the surface.

Fall forward. Do NOT lift head. As you strike the water and submerge, tilt your head up. This will direct you back to the surface.

Bend forward from the waist and bring your hands and head down so that you are looking at the sand on the bottom.

Fall forward. Do NOT lift head. As you strike the water and submerge, tilt your head up. This will direct you back to the surface.

WAGGONERS SELLING RACING PLANT AND BLOODED HORSES

DALLAS, June 30 (AP)—The wealthy Waggoner clan, for several years Texas' foremost sponsors of horseracing, is closing out its prized investments in the sport of kings—at least in this state.

General Manager Trav Daniels of Arlington Downs, racing plant erected by the money and enthusiasm of the late Col. W. T. Waggoner, said last night the family's Three D's stock farm racing stable is being disposed of.

Nearly all the thoroughbreds in training there have been sold, he said, and the remainder will go as soon as possible. Sixteen head of stock at Narragansett, R. I., were sold to T. P. Morgan, wealthy Houston oil man. The sale included fifty, fleet three-year-olds who finished in the Kentucky Derby this spring.

The colt reputedly brought about $25,000.

A dairy and chicken ranch at the Arlington properties have been closed and between 40 and 50 workmen dismissed. The racing plant, Daniels said, will be sold soon. Meanwhile, nothing has been done toward dismantling it. He said a polo field, called El Rancho, also will be sold.

Dispersion of the various Waggoner horse breeding and racing properties came within a few weeks of the legislature's action in outlawing betting on racing.

Daniels explained the Waggoners' attitude: "Their young horses were among the best in the country. One couldn't hope for a better stable but they simply couldn't see the idea of spending time and money breeding and training fine horses only to face the necessity of chasing half way across the continent to race them. When racing was outlawed they were through."

"They're selling out—lock, stock and barrel—and they're out of the sport for good."

E. Paul and Guy Waggoner, sons of the late colonel, have operated the family's racing and breeding interests.

known in the Panhandle as Dutch Mantell. Preliminary will be at 8:30 with admission 77 cents ringside, 40 cents general and 25 cents children.

KING OIL AND PHILLIPS WIN LEAGUE TILTS

King Oil and Phillips continued their winning streak in the Industrial Softball league with wins under the lights at Road Runner park last night. King won an extra inning affair from Cities Service, 11 to 10, while Phillips had trouble downing Stanolind, 5 to 4.

Chewing, Phillips ace from Berger, was hit hard and left the mound Smith fifth with the score tied, 5-5. Dewey relieved and held Stanolind while his teammates gave him a run to win. R. Dewey was behind the plate. Chisum not only pitched winning ball for Stanolind but hit a home run. Worley was behind the plate. T. Windom hit for the circuit for Phillips.

A double by Art Sheridan, plus an out and Ralph Morrison's single in the eighth inning gave King the win over Cities Service. Poe started the game for King but was unable to finish and Atkinson relieved with Sheridan. Atkinson also was hit by the way. Cities Service also used two pitchers, Campbell and Muncy with Word receiving.

ALLISON ENTERED IN ILLINOIS STATE MEET

CHICAGO, June 30 (AP)—The favorites, former National Champion Wilmer Allison of Austin and Walter Senior of San Francisco, were still in action today as the Illinois State tennis tournament went into the third round.

Allison, seeded No. 1, won his second rounder from Frank Froehling of Chicago, 6-4, 6-2, yesterday. Senior, seeded second, trounced Fred Le Pell, Chicago, 6-0, 6-2.

In other second round matches, Myron McNamara, Los Angeles, defeated David Early, Chicago, 6-0, 5-7, 6-4; Seymour Greenberg, Chicago, defeated John Moreno, Jr., Hollywood, Calif., 6-3, 6-3; Chester Murphy, Chicago, defeated John Wood, Austin, 6-4, 6-4; and Eugene McCauliffe, Chicago, eliminated Geo. Dullin, Austin, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4.

An all wet two and a fifth miles below the surface, believed the deepest producing well in the world, has begun flowing in Louisiana.

TEXAN NELSON STARS IN RYDER CUP PLAY

SOUTHPORT, England, June 30 (AP)—The team captains denied they arranged it, but singles play today in the Ryder cup golf matches brought together the two young men who stand out in the present competition to an extent that wouldn't have been believed 24 hours ago.

Facing each other in one of the tight singles matches were the young American, Byron Nelson, and Dal Rees, the 24-year-old Britisher whose smile knocks you in the eye harder than Joe Louis' left.

Nelson shot some of the most magnificent golf anybody ever saw as he and the veteran Ed Dudley played to great Britain's loudly heralded ham, 4 and 2 to help America gain a lead of 2-1-2 to 1-1-2 in the opening Scotch foursomes.

Rees and his aging and near-sighted captain, Charles Whitcombe, gained a half with Denny Shute and Gene Sarazen, considered by many as America's strongest pair. On the 18th green, with Sarazen's ball just barely off his line, he sank a six foot putt that usay arthehd H. qeBpTHM that squared the match and prevented England from starting today's singles in a hopeless position.

In the other matches yesterday the Britisher, Percy Alliss and Richard Burton, defeated Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta 2 and 1, and Ralph Guldahl, open champion, and Tony Manero registered an American victory by downing Arthur Lacey and William J. Cox, 2 and 1.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Lou Fette, Bess: Held Dodgers to seven hits and drove in winning run with twelfth inning single.

Jim Ripple, Giants: With four hits drove in two runs and scored twice in 10-inning triumph over Phillies.

Billy Herman and Gabby Hartnett, Cubs: Each connected with four hits and sent six runs across plate in 11 to 9 victory over Cards.

Paul Waner, Pirates: Drove out six hits in nine times at bat in double victory over Reds.

Red Ruffing, Yankees: Pinch single in ninth sent Jake Powell home with run that beat Athletics, 3-2.

Monty Stratton, White Sox: Limited Tigers to three hits, fanned two and issued no bases on balls.

Sammy Hale, Indians: Hit home run and double to drive in three runs in game with Browns.

Joe Kubiak, Senators, and Jimmy Fox, Red Sox: Former connected with three hits, and latter two, including fourteenth home run, in a 2-2 twelve inning game.

Oilers To Seek Revenge Against Indians Tonight

Strengthened with three members of the El Reno club, the Elk City Indians of Elk City, Okla., will meet the Pampa Oilers tonight at 8:30 o'clock under the lights at Road Runner park. The El Reno club, it is reported, disbanded last week and Elk City got the pick of the team. Women will be admitted again for 25 cents.

On the last appearance of the Indians here, Lefty Dorman throttled the Oilers while his teammates banged out enough hits for a 7 to 4 victory. The Oilers evened the count in Elk City a week later, leaving tonight's battle the rubber affair.

Mills and Hutton each got a chance at Elk City when they played here and since Mills and Hutton chucked against Halliburton of Duncan, it will be either Sam Dalley or Carl Stewart who will get the call of Manager Fred Briskell. Dope points to Dalley starting the game with Stewart being held back to chunk against Phillips 66 of Berger on Friday night. That will leave Mills and Hutton to go against Huber in Berger on Sunday afternoon.

A second baseman by the name of Monroe and a first sacker known as Didier led the Elk City attack here while Catcher Wilson and Pryor, shortstop, were the hitters in Elk City when Mills stopped them.

Lefty Dorman held the Oilers here and was invincible for six innings in the game at Elk City before the Oilers got the range. Then Dorman was relieved by Jackson who was belted hard.

Tonight's game will be the last chance women fans will have to show their interest in baseball and keep the admission price down to 25 cents. Unless the attendance of the fair sex is greater than even Monday night, the price will jump back to 40 cents on Friday night.

It's not exactly the way Colonel Jacob Ruppert would have it, but nevertheless the manner in which the Chicago White Sox are snapping at the Yankees' heels has brought joy to the remainder of the American league.

Colonel Ruppert had much rather see his world champions out in front, speed-eagling the field as they did last year when they held an 8½ game advantage over the second-place Tigers on the last day of June. The White Sox were just another ball club down in sixth place and trailing by 13½ games.

The Yanks again held first place today but their position was far from as secure as it was a year ago. The Pale Hose trailed only by three games after climbing into the first division on June 1. Last year they didn't stick their heads out of the second flight until late in July.

Falling back on Red Ruffing's pinch single in the ninth after Geo. Selkirk and Bill Dickey had blasted out home runs earlier in the game, the Yanks defeated the Athletics 3 to 2 yesterday. The White Sox kept pace with them, however, as they turned back the Tigers by the same score for their ninth straight triumph.

Largely responsible for the Sox's victory was Monty Stratton, big 23-year-old right handed ace. In chalking up his ninth success as compared to four setbacks, Stratton limited the Tigers to three hits, fanned two and did not issue a base on balls.

Although the American league pennant scrap is much closer than usual, the National league is going the junior circuit one better in that only three games separate the pace-setting Cubs and the fourth-place Pirates.

The Cubs' rough-and-tumble 11 to 9 victory over the Cards, in which Dizzy Dean pitched one inning and was charged with the defeat; the Giants' 4 to 3 decision over the

Why PEOPLE look twice AT GMC's

An object pleasing to the eye—especially a GMC truck—will draw a second glance every time. GMC handsome-ness is more than sheet-metal deep, yet GMC "Dual-Tone" color blending is the stimulating influence that attracts the eye—and GMC unusual shape contours affecting radiator, hood, fenders and cab, hold attention and register public approval. Everyone knows that GMC's stand up in hard service. Truckers admit GMC economy. This year, more than ever, the observing public is conscious of GMC's attention-compelling beauty. GMC sales gains are breaking records—everywhere. GMC prices are now crowding the lowest!

An Independent Democratic newspaper, publishing the news fairly and impartially at all times and supporting in its editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right and opposing those which it believes to be wrong, regardless of party politics.

REQUIRED READING

No part of a dictatorship looks funnier, to inhabitants of a democracy, than its newspapers. And one of the funniest developments of all comes from Berlin, where a law journal suggests that under Nazi law it may be a misdemeanor to fail to read the daily newspapers.

It seems that in a vast number of trials, witnesses and defendants have pleaded ignorance of some Nazi rule or edict because they hadn't been reading the papers. The courts have got fed up with this, and are instructing all such persons to mend their ways instantly.

Such a rule is logical enough, certainly. What inducement is there to read the newspapers, in a land where every journal is under the thumb of a government ministry of propaganda, where all the news is filtered and colored and no writer dare disagree with the dictator? If you are going to have that kind of newspapers, you might as well have a law forcing people to read them; for otherwise a constantly increasing part of the population is apt to leave them entirely alone.

BEAUTY AND BEEFSTEAK

Evidence that even the lowing herd is not immune to the current beauty vogue comes steadily from the nation's livestock shows. One exhibitor at a recent Alabama stock show reported 65 entries there with finger waves, and said he saw, at a Chicago exhibit, many cattle with curled hair and waxed horns and hoofs.

There was a day when to describe a bull as "beautiful" would have exposed a pathetic unawareness of fine banyard properties. And to those who always believed the brush and curry comb were equipment enough for the bullock boudoir, finger waves and manicures will seem uncalled for.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—Direct action is the term for Maury Maverick of Texas. He wants publicity for his bill to appropriate $3,000,000 for a cancer clinic. As each reporter comes into his office, Maverick shows him in his hands a copy of the congressional record. It contains a 100-word speech by Maverick. Attached to that is a statistical study of cancer death rates compiled by Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of the Franklin Institute, in Philadelphia, to show how bad cancer is.

Here is an idea of what it does. It knocked off 150,000 people of all ages in the United States in 1936.

In spite of persistent research, the death rate is increasing. Hoffman, who is not a physician, is a bit critical of the research progress being made to stamp out the disease. He says the problem at present is in a state of "disturbing confusion."

"Statements are put forward almost from day to day which are simply guess work excursions into a realm of almost fathomless confusion of facts and conclusions," says Hoffman. Keep in mind that he is not a physician so he doesn't have to be polite to fellow practitioners.

Between 1916 and 1935, two and a quarter million people died of cancer in the United States. In that same period, the death rate climbed from 81.6 per 100,000 in 1916-1920 to 103.6 in 1931-1936.

Pacific coast cities have the highest average death rate from cancer, Hoffman says. He doesn't say why.

The cancer death rate is higher in the cities than in the rural districts. That's because cancer victims flock to the cities where better treatment is available.

Of people who died in the United States in 1935, one of every 10 died of cancer. Death from cancer occurs most frequently among older persons. Cancer accounted for one out of every eight deaths in 1935 of persons beyond 45 years. Under 45 years, only one of every 28 deaths is from cancer.

Hoffman suggests certain foods have something to do with the cancer death rate. He says statistics he has compiled warrant such a belief. Maybe that is just one of the "guess work" statements he denounces.

At any rate Maverick wants $3,000,000 to start a clinic to study cancer, and a million a year to keep it going. If his bill is enacted and the clinic helps trim the cancer death rate, we will feel pretty good about this bit of publicity. Two very fine friends of ours have died from the disease.

TEX'S TOPICS

Just to keep the records straight, we'd like to sidetrack some of the praise that came our way at yesterday's meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce when General Chairman W. B. Weathered said some nice things. . . . It was a bit embarrassing, when all along we knew that Weathered and the other members of the committee were the fellows who burned the midnight oil and got the job done. . . . Coming out of a Pampa celebration with $255 in the kitty is something for which Mr. Weathered and his committeemen can be just proud. . . . The money will be saved as a "nest egg" for the 1938 fiesta.

Pampa Lions will install officers at their annual Ladies Night banquet in Methodist church tomorrow night. . . . Sheriff's officers went on a wild goose chase yesterday when they got a report that a couple of desperadoes had been cornered on an oil lease near town. . . . It was two other fellows. . . . Howard House makes a swell Indian. . . . In fact, he appears more like an Indian than some of the real ones. . . . The exploding of firecrackers in the vicinity of hospitals should be made a punishable offense. . . . It is just possible that this practice could cause the loss of a life. . . . In fact, there ought to be a law against the exploding of firecrackers anywhere within the city limits.

The 12-year-old boy who wrote to the editor of the Daily News, telling that he was ill in bed and needed a doctor, was not at home when an investigator went to look into the matter yesterday. . . . The family is being cared for, we have been advised. . . . It is said that the lash is much more to be desired than a vicious tongue. . . . But it takes a lot of different types of people to make up a world, as you well know. . . . Genial Charlie Thut, the county clerk, buys cokes for the crowd every now and then. . . . On the other hand, every now and then we lay a couple of nickels on the floor for deputy sheriffs to scramble for—and they drink cokes, too.

Nearly a thousand new postoffices have been built during the present administration, and Postmaster General Farley has presided at the dedication ceremonies of 200 . . . more than any of his successors. . . . and going into every state. . . . This reminds us, we had a letter the other day from Genial Jim, commenting on our visit when he passed thru Pampa several weeks ago. . . . Seattle members of the Teamsters brotherhood plan to take up boxing, wrestling, and jui-jitsu. . . . Dave Beck, International president of the union, explained: "The idea isn't to make our young men handy with their dukes, but to build big, strong men in our union."

Genghis Khan, Mongolian warrior whose fearless, hard-riding legions terrorized Europe seven centuries ago, has been credited with new distinction. . . . origin of necktie. . . . story is that he compelled Europeans to wear neckties as mark of bondage. . . . Tide of Irish immigrants who used to come to U. S., has turned across channel. . . . In 1932 some 3,278 Free State nationals found work in England. . . . In 1933 it had almost doubled, and last year it is estimated nearly 50,000 Irish boys and girls went to settle in England.

In its drive against tax evaders the treasury pays good money as rewards for information leading to recovery of taxes which would otherwise be uncollected. . . . last year it paid nearly $44,000 in rewards. . . . largest reward was $18,000, smallest $4.62. . . . Stamp collectors' paradise is the International Philatelic exposition at Paris. . . . It was opened to public this week, with a half million stamps on display. . . . 32 Americans are listed among 500 individual exhibitors. . . . competing for 100 prizes.

J. Edgar Hoover, in advocating crime prevention college courses states that he does not want to make nation of man-hunters, but desires only to train youth to protect family and community. . . . Undergraduate magazine titled, "Revolt" has been banned at Cambridge university in England. . . . in one and only one issue of mag, it stated, "Down with the Anglican church, which threw out our king because he did the right thing by the woman."

Engineer on streamliner, City of Denver was stumped at the end of recent run from Denver to Chicago. . . . large trout lay in engine's headlights. . . . investigation showed that trout had been carried by an eagle that was struck by the train and killed, leaving the fish in the light. . . . There is a superstition among sailors that on official "last voyage" is always unlucky. . . . Capt. Francisco Tarabotto, retiring as "Rex" liner captain at 60, beat the superstition. . . . he just up and quit the other day, in advance of his birthday.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
A street dance attended by nearly 5,000 celebrated the opening of new paving on West Foster. Fireworks and confetti helped along the entertainment, sponsored by merchants.

A petition asking Sunday closing for dry goods and clothing stores was started at a meeting of interested merchants. O. W. Ferguson, S. H. Hameed, and Bob Rose formed a committee to circulate the petition.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Federal taxes on checks at the bank here had reached a total of $7,604.18 during the first year they were effective.

Alene Gregory, who had been chosen "Miss Pampa" a short time previously, was winner in a World Fair contest conducted by the News and merchants.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Rudolf Friml, unlike most composers of semi-classical sonatas and operettas, has a shrewd evaluation of humor and an ability to inject droll observations into conversations where they do the most good.

He has been married three times, and it was the occasion of a midnight sailing that brought this flair for unconscious wit to the attention of several night-life reporters who were attending a sailing.

"Gentlemen," exclaimed Friml, "this is indeed a pleasant sphere. Tonight I had dinner with my third wife and next week I'm to dine in Paris with my second wife."

"What about your first wife?" inquired a nose-gauging of the press. "Ah, yes," mused Friml, "my first wife, Gentlemen, that woman turned out bad. She married again."

Douglas Fairbanks uses old neckties for belts, and so does Fred Astaire. . . . Every word in the English language can be rhymed—except orange. . . . A game that is driving plenty of people wacky is rearranging the six letters e-c-u-r-a so that they spell a commonplace, everyday word—a word that you or any servant or child used daily.

Norris have this in common: both achieved their initial examples of creative art at the age of 10. Taylor's was a waltz, which he doesn't remember except that it vaguely resembles a composite of all the popular waltzes of the day, and Norris' was a novel. He called it "In the Reign of the Grand Monarch."

Morton Downey went to Dublin to sing for the Irish during King George's coronation. Once he attended a sailing to see his sister-in-law, Connie Bennett, off and they wouldn't let him on the boat. He finally found a cop who owned a radio, and the cop made him sing Mother Machree before being satisfied with his identity. Later the cop confessed he recognized Downey, but just wanted to hear the star sing his favorite song.

Agna Enters' favorite press clipping is the one which says "She is a success because she is quite willing to sacrifice her personality to the characters she interprets."

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

"When I was real small I used to come to the house, and I thought it was the biggest and finest house in the world," the boy said, and his eyes grew bigger as he looked at the Hobart house in the west part of town.

"I still have a desire to go through that house," he said reflectively, and then the mind of this one flew back to an evening spent in that house with T. D. Hobart. It was a few weeks before he died gasping, "I wish I could have lived to see it rain."

That was the worst year of the drought—but he knew it was going to rain! That was the sort of faith he had, and when one looks at that big house one feels that it represents the type of faith Mr. Hobart had in this country. That evening we sat all alone in that house, until a late hour, and often there were tears in these eyes as the realization of the great character of Mr. Hobart momentarily overcame us, and he talked of early days in the Panhandle, and of his children, and his simplicity and honesty and his loyalty to his ideals and his pattern of life made you feel certain that the man was great. . . . outside the cedars stood up taut and straight and close together, as if they would guard their master from Death even then lurking in their shadows. . . . Now every time this one passes by that house, that last evening when Mr. Hobart became great to us, is remembered. . . . say tall and strong and sound, and a reminder of a man whose faith in the things he loved was never shaken.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Only member of Fred Waring's swing gang not under contract to the maestro was Johnny "Scat" Davis. . . . Johnny worked with the rest in "Varsity Show" and Warner Bros. adjusted his contractless existence. . . . He'd been with Waring five years, didn't want a contract. . . . but being a movie comedian was different. . . . Looks like an inter-studio contest to see who'll pay the most—in print, at least—for a story property. "Room Service" went to Warner's for a reported $250,000. . . . Columbia was supposed to have paid $200,000 for "You Can't Take It With You." . . . Goldwyn dished out $165,000 for "Dead End," with caption costs running the ante to around $205,000. . . . There's a mark for a playwright to shoot at: to be first to sell out for a million. . . . Once upon a time Anita Loos got $15 per scenario. . . . and thought she was making money, too.

Paul Guilfoyle, after seeing a movie, found a strange young woman in his car. . . . She demanded to be taken home. . . . He did. . . . But drove through Westwood to pick up Mrs. Guilfoyle first. . . .

Case for Greens
After Guilfoyle, the next half of "That Man's Here Again" at a preview, I see why Hugh Herbert groaned at stardom in it. . . . He's pleased about "Singing Marine," however. . . . I think because he gets to play himself and his own sister in it. . . . That's watching the brilliant sports coat. . . . Dark blue generously shot with bright blue. . . . How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. JAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

Resuscitation: I
The Irishman who described the victim of an accident as having been "killed dead" was not without warrant, for often the person who appears "killed" is not dead. Indeed, he may at times be revived by artificial respiration and live to a ripe old age.

This is particularly likely to be the case with the victims of submersion, gas poisoning and electric shock. But, to prove effective, artificial respiration must be applied as soon as possible and must be continued until normal breathing has been restored, or until the certain evidence of death (rigor mortis) has appeared.

If the victim of an accident has ceased breathing, apply artificial respiration and send for a doctor. Do not reverse the order. Do not go for a doctor first, for unless the patient is alive, medical assistance is futile. During the few minutes lost in going after a physician the flickering spark of life may become extinguished.

The most widely accepted method of artificial respiration is the "prone pressure" method. This is also called the Schafer method, developed by Sir Edward Sharpey Schafer in 1903. It is easy to apply and not too trying to sustain for hours.

Like swimming, the application of artificial respiration cannot be learned by merely reading about it. To master either, one must practice. Reading will give one "the idea" but practice and experience develop the necessary skill.

In applying the prone pressure method of resuscitation, begin by clearing the victim's mouth and throat of all foreign bodies—tobacco, false teeth or whatnot. If the mouth is tight shut, do not lose time in the attempt to force it open. Do not stop to loosen the patient's clothing, but immediately begin actual resuscitation.

Kneel and straddle the patient's body at the region of his thighs. Place the palms of your hands on the small of his back, with the fingers pointing outwards, and the little finger just touching the lowest rib. You are now ready for the "resuscitation rhythm."

In turn came from Mrs. Jim's interest in hand-weaving. . . . Ginger and Mrs. Rogers are living in their new home while the carpenters finish building it. . . . They even had a dinner party for Harriet Hilliard and Ozzie Nelson. . . . Ginger sleeps in an oversized bed. . . . so big, says Mrs. Rogers, that one morning a couple of carpenters went in her room, fixed some gadgets, and went out again without ever noticing that Ginger was asleep somewhere in the broad expanse.

See Trouble
This is the tale of Limey Plews, the prop man. He swears it's true. "The Perfect Specimen" was on location at Flintridge, near Pasadena. Joan Blondell and Erroll Flynn were supposed to stroll along a woodland path. Joan was to stop and pick a bunch of wildflowers.

Seems Michael Curtiz, directing, decided there should be some bees buzzing around the flowers. Limey procured a hive. With foresight and solicitude for his players, Limey turned the bees loose to graze.

Unfortunately, the sequence was not quite completed at the day's end. Limey gave the bees a call back for nine the next a. m. During the night, however, two non-union bees got into the hive and next morning they stung Flynn.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Why are duckspinos so called? M. E.

A. They were the invention of Wilbert Robinson, the baseball player. He cut off tempins and used a lighter ball to make a less strenuous summer game. When the ball struck the pins and they bounced into the air, Robinson, who was a great duck hunter, said that they looked like ducks. And duckspinos they became.

Q. What cities are considered the windiest in the United States? H. T. A. Some of the windiest are New York City, Chicago, Buffalo, and Cleveland.

Q. Did Luther Burbank have any of his plants patented? E. J. A. The scientist received nine plants posthumously.

Q. How many aliens are there in the United States? R. M. A. Our alien population is now estimated at 4,250,000.

Q. What was the name of the first newspaper in Michigan? R. E. A. The first newspaper in Michigan was a spoken newspaper established under the auspices of the Rev. Father Gabriel Richard, a priest of the Order of Stulpice, who went to Detroit in 1788. He obtained a town order to stand on the church steps every Sunday to tell the public such news as was fit to be announced. The first printed newspapers grew out of this spoken newspaper. It was entitled The Michigan Essay, or Impartial Observer, established in Detroit, August 31, 1809. James B. Miller, a parishioner of Father Richard, was editor. It was published every Thursday.

Q. If all industrial workers were to unite politically how would their strength compare with the so-called white-collar group? B. E. A. According to the last census the industrial classification numbered 18,937,000, but as executives are included, the number of actual workers would be less. White-collar workers are numbered at 19,140,000, and by transferring the industrial executives this figure would be over 20,000,000. If the farmers who more often vote with the white-collar group were added about 10,500,000 votes were cast.

This, That and Everything

By WILLIAM HULSEY CLARK

Sometimes no action at all is the most effective way to secure the best action. It has been reported that the sheriff of Henry County, Alabama furnished the grand jury with ten names connected with the lynching of a negro, but the jury failed to indict. This perfunctory manner of dealing with the problem of mob violence typified in recent affairs in the Alabama courts, is going to do more than anything else to take the matter of dealing with lynching where some of the states do not want it to go, viz. out of states' jurisdiction.

It would be very fitting for the federal government to take over the problem of mob violence, since the spirit of the mob is contrary to the very principles of our government. Article VI of the Constitution of the United States declares: "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed."

Since the activities of mobs deny citizens certain rights guaranteed under the constitution, the government should see to it that such rights and privileges granted are respected.

A few more affairs such as the one in Henry County will soon produce a public opinion in favor of federal anti-lynching laws that even a filibuster can not stop.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

Kenneth Roberts, whose "Arundel" and "Rabble in Arms" marked him as the best of all living writers of early American romances, is out with a new book, "Northwest Passage" (Doubleday, Doran; $2.75). It may not be quite up to the level of those two other novels, but it is a rich and colorful tale none the less, marked by all of Mr. Roberts' genius for making the past come to life.

This time he is concerned with that dauntless frontier fighter, Maj. Rogers, whose band of riflemen performed prodigies in the last French and Indian war. The first half of the book, dealing with Rogers' destruction of the Indian stronghold of St. Francis, in Quebec, and his desperate, almost incredible retreat to safety thereafter, is as fine as anything in "Arundel."

The pace of the narrative slackens a bit thereafter; for Major Rogers, a genius in Indian warfare, had had luck at everything else. The dream of his life was to find the northwest passage to the Pacific—overland, via the route of Lewis and Clark later discovered, and not by sea—and he devoted the rest of his career to a vain effort to make the "dream come true."

How the jealousy and petty spite of pompous British officials thwarted him, how he wore himself out in the steves of London, how he won his chance and then lost it through a frame-up engineered by his rivals, and how his flaming spirit finally guttered out in despair and frustration—this makes a tragic story and Mr. Roberts has told it well, but it lacks the quick movement and color of the first half of the book.

Nevertheless, it is all worth reading. Mr. Roberts knows the colonial period as few men know it. He can make it come to life so that he seems to be telling a contemporary story and not a costume romance. You will not want to miss "Northwest Passage."

FRANKLIN AND ETHEL TO WED IN AFTERNOON

WILMINGTON, Del., June 30 (AP)—The story book romance of Ethel du Pont and Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., moved swiftly today to its climax in the flower banked chancel of a simple country church.

The wedding ceremony which will unite the two members of the country's most famous and powerful families was scheduled for 4 p. m. (EST). It will make President Roosevelt, cabinet members and heads of the du Pont clan mere spectators, taking a back seat for two youngsters in love.

The President, with Mrs. Roosevelt, was to arrive from Washington about noon. Arrangements were made for his train to stand at a country station while he went first on a round of social functions and then to rustic Christ church.

The church, a du Pont place of worship for three quarters of a century, stands on du Pont property in a countryside covered with estates of members of that family. That area, just north of Wilmington, was the scene of all today's events.

State police guarded the strategic highways and lanes and a detachment of regular army soldiers moved in from Fort du Pont to keep watchful eyes on the scene while the President was about.

The bridal couple began the day already rehearsed in their lines and well showered with attentions that ranged from hundreds of simple gifts to elaborate parties, the last of which was last night.

Their schedule included:

A bridal party luncheon at which all members of the immediate families would meet for the first time.

The brief single-ring Episcopal wedding ceremony with 342 guests invited, was to be performed by the rector, the Rev. Frederick Ashton, who christened Ethel, and by the Rev. Endicott Peabody of Groton School, Mass., who has married two other Roosevelt sons, Elliott and James.

A reception for 1,300 guests by the bride's parents, and last, the dash for a mysterious honeymoon destination, said variously to be in Europe, at a friend's summer home, and aboard a yacht.

Careful precautions were taken to see that everything ran on schedule that there were no gate crashes and that guests were adequately entertained.

Secret service men stood at Owls Nest, the bride's home, where wedding presents were on display for the first time.

Grasshoppers are doing much damage to crops in this community, and are also harming peaches in the orchards. Some farmers report that peaches have been almost entirely eaten by the hoppers, leaving only the seeds hanging from the trees. Poison is being used to combat the insects, but has not succeeded in checking them.

PUBLIC DEBT TOTALS ABOUT 36 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—The treasury rounded out another fiscal year today with the smallest deficit in six years, the biggest debt in history, and $1,000,000,000 in the cash box.

Government income was the largest since 1921 and spending was reduced from last year.

President Roosevelt made public at his press conference late yesterday a budget bureau report showing revenues would top his revised estimate by $50,000,000 to $60,000,000.

Spending for ordinary government purposes, it said, will exceed the forecasts by $75,000,000.

The $75,000,000 figure, Mr. Roosevelt said, included $40,000,000 which the treasury deposited in the social security old age reserve fund this month. It had been intended originally to make the deposit in the next fiscal year.

Including emergency and relief outlays in the spending estimate, treasury statistics showed that expenditures went $137,000,000 over the President's revised estimate on June 26. The computation did not include $103,000,000 spent to pay off the government debt. The $137,000,000 excess over the estimate will increase further when spending is computed through June 30.

Mr. Roosevelt estimated the public debt would stand at about $36,400,000,000 at midnight tonight. This would be the largest June 30 figure ever recorded but would be $233,000,000 under the all-time peak of June 15.

The President said the debt has remained virtually stationary since last December except for borrowing to finance treasury gold acquisitions and payments into government life insurance, old age and unemployment insurance reserve funds.

Borrowing for gold purchases, he said, has totaled $1,050,000,000. He asserted this borrowing put a corresponding sum of gold assets in the treasury.

This and the other listed items, he said, brought a debt increase of $2,000,000,000 on paper.

Treasury reports through June 26 listed revenues this year at $5,248,578,000, about 28 per cent more than last year.

Income tax receipts, bolstered by the levy on undistributed corporate profits and higher rates on upper bracket individuals, totaled $2,144,795,000, a 50 per cent advance.

Mr. Roosevelt forecast in his original January budget a 65 per cent climb in income tax collections. March receipts fell below forecasts, however, leading the President to revise budget estimates and prompting the treasury to investigate tax returns.

In response to a measure from Mr. Roosevelt, Congress began its inquiry into alleged tax evasion and avoidance.

ELLIS PARKER DRAWS SIX-YEAR SENTENCE

NEWARK, N. J., June 30 (AP)—Ellis Parker, Sr., chief of the Burlington county detectives, was sentenced to six years in a federal penitentiary today and his son, Ellis, Jr., to three years for plotting the kidnaping of Paul H. Wendel.

The Parkers were convicted a week ago of conspiring to seize and torture Wendel, former Trenton lawyer, to obtain from him a false confession to the Lindbergh baby kidnaping.

The "confession," investigated by two grand juries, delayed the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann three days.

TEXAS SHEEPMEN SEEK GRAZING AT SHERMAN

SHERMAN, June 30 (AP)—Texas sheepmen and farmers moved today to apply the principle of the cooperative for their mutual benefit.

The farmers of Grayson county were invited to offer their pasture lands for boarding 10,000 sheep who next winter might otherwise find the grass less green in their native West Texas.

For putting the highly-remunerative animals to pasture the farmers would receive half the profits from the sales of ewes and lambs next spring.

TEMPLE, June 30 (AP)—Mrs. M. C. Morgan, 88-year-old Bell county pioneer, listened at her home yesterday as a radio speaker announced she had won a prize for being the oldest woman present at the annual meeting of the Central Texas Pioneers' club.

A moment later she died, sitting upright in her chair.

EARHART WILL START ON LONG OCEAN HOP

ABOARD U. S. COAST GUARD CUTTER ITASCA AT HOWLAND ISLAND, June 30. (AP)—Amelia Earhart reported today she planned to start tomorrow on the most hazardous flight of her leisurely world encircling journey.

The hop will carry her over 2,570 miles of ocean, across the equator and the international dateline from Lae, New Guinea, to lonely Howland Island.

As times are figured locally, she will complete the 18 or 20 hours flight a few hours before she starts it.

BRITAIN WOULD DROP PLAN TO ISOLATE SPAIN

(By The Associated Press.)
Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain called the British cabinet into session today to consider possible abandonment of the entire "hands off Spain" non-intervention scheme, in the face of determined German and Italian opposition to his Spanish war policy.

Both Germany and Italy remained firm in their rejection of a British-French proposal for taking over the entire naval patrol of Spain's coasts to prevent arms and men from reaching either side in the Spanish conflict.

Germany and Italy recalled warships from the patrol last week. Informed Italian circles accused Britain and France of favoring the Spanish government.

French official sources in Paris expressed the opinion that the international naval accord plan could be considered as virtually ended if Germany and Italy persisted in their opposition to strictly Franco-British surveillance.

Insurgent General Francisco Franco was reported massing his forces on the Narana front southeast of Madrid for a new thrust at the erstwhile capital.

An insurgent plane bombed the village of Sarria del Ter, near Barcelona, killing five persons. The plane fled out to sea when government bombers showed up.

LIVING UP TO MY AD

Giving you tops in Mileage

I know the trouble. So many oil ads yell mileage, that you can't tell one way or another. I don't want my own ads to be in that class, so I'd like you to know all I'm staking, when I personally recommend Conoco Germ Processed oil to you. In my case, you see, I'm the owner of my business. And there's nothing makes repeat customers for me like my Germ Processed oil... or I ought to say, the long mileage it gives you. The patent Germ Process makes this oil get fastened real firm to the bearings and cylinders and other parts—as if they'd been built with an actual plating of oil that can't separate... can't thin out and burn right up. Neither is it going to run down every time you stop. Then you can't make any "dry starts" with Oil-Plating, and right there is where engineers say you will end a good half of all the wear you used to get in Summer. The less wear, the less oil your engine eats. You'll get on to this yourself, from your cool quiet Oil-Plated engine. And that's how I make another good friend for Conoco Germ Processed oil.

Are You Thinking of a BETTER HOME?

Certainly money cannot be spent so that it gives more hours of pleasure and comfort than when it is spent on better homes, and better living. We all spend so much time at home.

Electric appliances and electric equipment such as indirect lighting and air conditioning have become a vital part of better homes because they add so much to better living. They represent the major difference between our homes today and those of twenty-five years ago.

The best electric equipment adds little to the total cost of a home. Many electric appliances save real money, enough to make payments on other appliances which may be considered luxurious because they bring so much comfort and convenience.

Your electric appliance dealer will be glad to have you call on him. He will courteously show you how you may soon own all the electric equipment and appliances you need, by using his convenient economy plan.

SUPERSTITION MOUNTAIN

By OREN ARNOLD Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

Chapter VI Stuart Blake escorted Carolee back part way up the trail toward her home, after they had begged mid-afternoon lunch from the cook in Superstition Lodge. The danger over, both could laugh at their mountain adventure and enjoy the comradeship that the experience wrought.

Carolee was afraid he would ask formally to call on her at her home on the high mesa. That would never do, she knew, and he ought to realize it; he had discovered her family's hostility. To forestall him she suggested meeting him—on signal—at the trysting place. She would hang out the white sheet when she could ride.

When Stuart returned a second time to Superstition Lodge the hour was near sundown, and there was a hubbub of conversation on the front porch. One glance told him something had happened. His father was there, obviously excited. But Nina greeted Stuart.

"Dismount, buckaroo, and listen to the old scout's story," she called. "Somebody's been shooting at dad?"

"Whoa. What's the matter. Who's done what?" Mr. Blake, Sr. was serious about it, and agitated.

"Somebody shot at me this noon, up in the mountain," he explained. "Three or four times. I might have been killed. I could hear the bullets, plopping right near me."

Stuart was incredulous for a moment. "Are you serious, dad? Are you sure?"

"Certainly I'm sure. I was just telling the folks here about it."

"The folks" included Nina Blake and half a dozen other Lodge guests and employes who happened to be within hearing; even the old Indian women, who were eternally weaving baskets or mending pottery in the shade nearby, stopped to listen open-mouthed.

"That's about all there was to the story. Mr. Blake re-told it a dozen times. He had simply squatted behind a rock for nearly an hour, badly frightened; then he had gone back to the gun where he had tied up. He had no idea who could have done the shooting. The bullets came from across a wide canyon, evidently at considerable range.

Stuart remembered his own experience with Carolee and warned his dad against getting lost, but the father had been on higher altitudes where the going was less blocked by brush. Besides, he was a keener observer than his children, he informed them; he could backtrack.

Stuart decided immediately that the Colter men had done the shooting.

He mentioned that fact to his father, and the latter partially agreed. Still, there would seem to be no logical reason for it. The Colters might harbor enmity for Stuart, following the episode in the Phoenix store, but hardly for Stuart's father.

Mr. Blake pointed out that the store incident had been trivial in the first place. But the Colters obviously were touchy, surly, hence likely to do fool things. And on top of all that, they were out after gold and suspicious of anyone who tried to thwart them. They may have thought Mr. Blake was trying to get on them.

Nina Blake declined to get worked up about it as usual. She was more interested in probing her brother's personal affairs.

"Been out all day, haven't you brother d-e-e-a-r? Isn't love the grandest thing?"

"Shut up," he grinned. "Carolee's all right, though."

"You're telling I? Pretty! But just the same watch out. The old man probably itches to use a shotgun."

He threw spurs and a quirt and assorted things at Nina until she ducked and ran, while everybody laughed at them.

Talk of the shooting occupied the supper hour and the starlight conferences, too. This was a balmy evening, and the Lodge people loafed on the great rustic porch, enjoying the new thrill in conversation. Mr. Blake was quite the hero.

Both he and his son had telephoned into Florence, the Pinal county seat, and reported the matter to Sheriff Watson, but the sheriff had not been very helpful. Probably some careless hunter, he had suggested; hardly worth a search. People were always reporting "mysterious" shootings up in old Superstition and he was prone to scoff at such yarns. But even at bedtime the Blake men weren't satisfied.

Soon after breakfast next morning Stuart ordered his horse saddled and more sensibly than the day before—strapped on a gallon canteen of water and a small package of food. He didn't want to admit being lost the day before with Carolee, and wouldn't even admit to himself that he could ride through the mountain alone.

The horse was tied and waiting when Stuart came out. And when he did appear, he snacked of a movie version of some terrible-tom-from-the-tall-timber. At least Nina told him so.

"Woe to the villains on a day like this!" she declaimed loudly. "Will you capture them alive and torture them, sir? Or just shoot them down to dust?"

Stuart wore a cartridge belt, borrowed from the Lodge owner. A business-like revolver hung on the hip, too; and he carried a shiny repeating rifle that he had bought in town.

As a matter of solemn fact, he did look rather impressive. Nina's admiration was at least partly genuine. Stuart could have been a movie hero, with luck and talent added; and he had the looks. He was masculine enough. Usually he was gay and prankish, full of banter himself, but not this morning.

"Somebody shot at dad," he announced, as if that were sufficient. Come to think of it, it was Nina told herself.

"Then the maiden is not in distress today, I take it. It's best to let her yearn a bit anyway. Where will you go, then?"

Stuart was stuffing cartridges into his pistol. "I don't know exactly. For one thing I'll do a little target practice. Besides, I'm getting interested in that Lost Dutchman Mine. If it's important enough to make fools of the Colters and causes Dad to be shot at, then some of those other stories about the mountain may be true."

"Undoubtedly some of them are true," Nina declared. "They are on record. The deaths, I mean. But why are you interested?"

He smiled, then, for the first time this morning. "Come out to adventure, didn't we, while dad rests? So far he's done the adventuring. I want to trace down a few clues myself. But don't go spending the treasure until I find it."

Nina leaned against a front post, a crooked ironwood log, and watched her brother mount. She couldn't help being concerned for his safety, but he did look out of place to her, out of atmosphere. She was accustomed to Stuart in full dress or a tux, or in correct city sport clothes behind the wheel of his roadster. He was strange to cowboy regalia, but she tolerated there because they were picturesque.

"You look grand," she conceded. "If you only had a wagon train to rescue. Or a Pocahontas to woo!"

He glanced at the Indian handworkers near the porch, already weaving and mixing clay. Not one was under 40 years, not under 180 pounds. They were just old women, tolerated there because they were picturesque.

"Sorry, sis, but you can't make a squaw man out of me. So long. I may lay out tonight, but I was already picking up the speech of the western cowboys. So don't look for me for a day or two."

"And another thing," he flung back as he rode off. "If there's any shooting done this trip, I'm going to do some of it. Tell that to Dad."

SENATE GIVES MONEY POWER TO CHAUTEMP

PARIS, June 30, (AP)—The French Senate today granted Camille Chautemps' government the sweeping powers it had demanded to save the nation's money structure.

The vote was 167 to 82. The chamber of deputies already had approved the measure.

Enactment of the "decree power" measure permits Georges Bonnet, financial dictator-designate, to let the franc seek its own lower level in world markets, take steps to conserve France's sapped gold supply, stop speculative abuses, control prices, try to balance the budget and attempt economic recovery.

Passage of the bill had been foreshadowed early in the day when the senate finance committee, by a vote of 20 to 3, approved the grant of power.

Decrees abolishing the present limits on the range of the franc, inflating the currency by loans of from twelve to fifteen billion francs from the Bank of France to the government and imposing new taxes were expected following passage by the senate itself of the decree power bill.

Before the senate committee voted, Abel Gardey, its reporter, said the government was spending twice its normal income and urged that it move toward a balanced budget. This year, he declared, the treasury must find forty billion francs (at the last rate of exchange about $1,800,000,000).

of Pennsylvania, asking that martial law again be declared in Johnstown.

At Youngstown and Warren, the mills of Sheet and Tube and Republic continued operations, which company officials said were approaching normal for this time of the year.

Republic announced last night it would re-open its Canton mills today.

Some time during the night, explosives damaged a six-inch water main in front of the alloy steel plant of Republic. The damage was quickly repaired. Plant operations were not affected.

Telephone wires were ripped from poles today.

In the Canton plants 2,000 men have been interned since the beginning of the strike May 26. These workers were being taken out.

An attempt to stone a non-striker's automobile was made, but the pines spotted it and dropped a note to the military camped at the Belton school a few blocks away. A delachment came running and broke up the trouble.

FDK Quotes Shakespeare

Two of the men who have been in the plant since the strike started have become fathers. They never saw their children until today.

They are John R. Wilson and E. J. Allred.

The alloy plant normally employs 3,500. Company officials said 800 men entered the plant this morning, making a force now at work of 2,500.

Both sides were silent concerning President Roosevelt's comment that he believed the majority of people's opinion of strikers and steel companies alike was well summarized in Shakespeare's line: "A plague on both your houses."

ground defending themselves with service revolvers?

"They might have been shot in the back by other strikers," Allman suggested.

Under LaFollette's persistent questioning, Allman asserted that "it is a matter of judgment" where the bullets might take effect, and added:

"You can't do target practice when you are on the ground."

He expressed "complete confidence" that his subordinates in charge of the four police platoons involved in the shooting had made "fully and fair reports."

As the committee opened its inquiry, Allman testified he had feared the strike might "precipitate a serious industrial situation" and had ordered his subordinates "to detail enough men to keep the peace and safeguard life and property."

The Chicago police "never take sides" in an industrial controversy, he asserted, adding he had conferred with representatives of the strikers May 29 and assured them he "didn't care how many pickets they put around the plant, so long as they are peaceful."

selections appear to me to be complete and distinctly selective and I can truthfully say that the volume is delightful."

"My opinion is that this book will fill two needs," says Judge Newton P. Willis, of Pampa. "First, that of the general reading public who desire to know something about the world's greatest books for which the author's words. Many of these authors I have not read myself because I have not had time. This book will enable me to gain at least a superficial knowledge of the works of all of them. Second, it will also serve as a fine source for courses in literature in our high schools. The book supplies material for our survey courses in literature. Any reader will find interesting material in the book and I am glad to recommend it for use either in the schools or for the general reading public."

Not Re-Written Material.

"Perhaps the most valuable quality of the 'Outline of Great Books' is that it is not a re-written digest of literature, and nothing that is presented is accompanied by any comment except such as is necessary to identify the author and the work quoted. The unique result is that the authors are left to present the vital elements of their works by direct quotations from them and the task of the editor, Sir J. A. Hammerton, was to make the selected quotations and arrange them in coherent sequence. Scholars have praised the faithfulness and skill which was shown in this task. The 'Outline of Great Books' is shorter than many compendiums, but it quotes many times more books, including a large number of books now difficult to obtain.

College and university graduates of 25 years ago will find the book an efficient aid in refreshing their memories of books they once studied, while those to whom opportunities of a college education have been denied will find the book an inviting doorway to a world of literature in which they may read to greater length the complete books for which the 'Outline' has given them an introduction.

The book may be obtained for 98 cents and a coupon now appearing in The Daily News.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

MARKET BARRIERS

NEW YORK, June 30, (AP)—Stocks and rails played a leading role in today's stock market rally of fractions to around 3 or more points.

Generally favorable industrial news and reduction of preferred dividends announced by U. S. Steel Corp. helped to sweeten the market dish, brokers said.

At the same time, chart analysts were heartened by the progress of rails. Recent droopy behavior of this group has put it out of the market's program, it was said.

Scattered issues met offerings at mid-day and in the final hour.

Although strikes deterred traders from entering the market more aggressively, Wall Street psychology showed further signs of having hardened itself to disturbing news, it was said.

Transactions totaled about 700,000 shares.

RYDER CUP WINS FIRST FOREIGN SOIL VICTORY

SOUTHPORT, Eng., June 30, (AP)—Scoring its first victory on British soil, the United States Ryder cup team today retained the international golf trophy by defeating Great Britain's picked team of professionals, 8 to 4.

The triumph, first for either side on the other team's home grounds, brought the standing in the series that was begun in 1927 to four matches for the Americans and two for the British.

Most decisive of the five U. S. victories in today's singles matches was scored by Open Champion Ralph Guldahl, who routed the British champion, Alf Padgham, by 8 and 7. But it was Gene Sarazen, veteran of each of the past five teams, who brought home the point that assured the invaders of retaining the trophy, and another veteran, Ed Dudley, who came in with the victory that put the Americans out in front to stay.

When Sarazen, who made up a three-hole deficit on the last nine, turned in his 1 up defeat of Percy Alliss, he brought the score to U. S. 6, Britain 4, with two matches still to be completed.

BUDGE ENTERS FINALS OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 30, (AP)—Red-headed Don Budge swept into the final round of the Wimbledon tennis championships today but dropped a set before he could subdue young Frankie Parker of Milwaukee 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1. It was the first set Budge had lost on his current British tennis invasion.

Parker's chop-stroke had Budge helpless at first but the red-head came through in convincing style.

By his fine showing Parker further strengthened his claim to serious consideration for the second singles berth on the American Davis cup team for the forthcoming interzone finals against either Germany or Czechoslovakia.

Budge's opponent in the finals will be either Henry Wilfred (Bunbury) Austin of England or Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany who was beaten for the title a year ago by Fred Perry, now a professional.

96 Per Cent of Taxes Collected

A report prepared by City Manager C. L. Shine for presentation to the city commission reveals that collection of city taxes over a 12-year period was 96 per cent. The report was prepared from tax payments of this year up to March 31.

Tax assessment for 1936 was $2,778,000 of which $37,448.79 or 60 per cent has already been collected. The split payment is used here and two more payments were due after the report was compiled.

In 1924, first year listed on the report, the assessment was $12,001.70 and of that amount $39.20 was unpaid. The years 1930, 1931 and 1932 were peak in assessment, passing the $100,000 mark. The 1936 amount was the next largest with valuation of $6,878,451.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 30, (AP)—The market fluctuated within a narrow range during the morning and toward mid-session active positions were one to five points under the previous close.

The weekly weather and crop summary was more favorable than expected, saying the week in general was favorable to the crop, with plants squaring in the northern section and blooming in the south. Recent private advices had led most traders to look for mention of increased weevil activity in the summary.

However, the report said the weather was ideal for holding the pest in check.

In some parts of South Carolina, however, the summary said, plants were severely, the fields grassy and weevil active.

July sold at 12.07, October 12.17, December 12.21 and March 12.32. Other positions were inactive and remained at their opening figures.

ESPERANTO PEOPLE GATHER

WASHINGTON, June 30, (AP)—Disciples of Esperanto—people who want to doctor the tongues of the world with a universal language—gathered today for their golden jubilee. "Our aim," explained H. L. Shattford, a delegate, "is not to supplant all other languages, but to establish an easy auxiliary one."

Federal land holdings in the United States are estimated to contain nearly 200,000,000 tons of coal.

JAMBOREE OPENS AT WASHINGTON MONUMENT

WASHINGTON, June 30, (AP)—Booming cannon at the base of the Washington monument heralded the start today of one of the nation's biggest youth demonstrations—the Boy Scout Jamboree.

Upwards of 25,000 Scouts were massed in khaki columns through 350 green acres of historic ground for the brief ceremonies.

The first shot, echoing from Capitol Hill to the grassy Arlington slopes, was a signal for the boys and their leaders to spring to salute before the colors of their country.

Even minutes later another blast was ordered, preceding the unfurling of 52 foreign standards along the state Avenue of Flags.

The deep boom of the final cannon four minutes later was due for a simultaneous display of 1643 other flags through the camp city.

The remainder of the first day held this program for the thousands who came to Washington afoot, by bicycle, motorcycle, automobile, train, bus, boat and airplane:

Excursions to Mount Vernon. Performances in camp theaters. Uncle Dan Beard, venerable Scout pioneer, will light this evening with flint and steel the fire of fellowship which will burn during the encampment.
