Santa Fe Station To Be Enlarged at Expense of Approximately $50,000

VIADUCT PLANS SPEEDED BY FATAL ACCIDENT—RAILROAD IS READY TO PAY SHARE OF COST

With consideration of plans for a viaduct hastened by the tragic accident on Frost street crossing this week, the matter is receiving much attention. Superintendent J. B. Briscoe of the Santa Fe was here in the morning before the accident, and in discussions with local business men mentioned that a viaduct was much needed. Likelihood of accidents was mentioned at the time.

It is considered that the Santa Fe is ready to help build the underpass structure, which probably would cost between $35,000 and $50,000, exclusive of property damage and drainage facilities. The city has not had funds with which to pay its share, but warrants may be considered.

Whether the county would use the viaduct in connection with some of its routes has been a factor, and the uncertainty of the route of highway 33 has delayed further plans for the safety project.

LION OFFICER TO ARRIVE TUESDAY IS VERY POPULAR

The Lions club of Pampa will be honored with an official visit by Melvin Jones, secretary general of the International Association of Lions clubs, February 11.

This visit of Secretary General Melvin Jones is especially to confer with the officers of the local club and advise them about their work.

Personally, the secretary general is the kind of a man who makes friends, many and staunch. Julius Caesar would have delighted in him, for he has none of the "lean and hungry look" of the conspiring Cassius. He is rolund, jolly, with a bright eye and a warm handshake, and a heart so bound up in the great work of Lions International that he inspires enthusiasm everywhere. A recent traveling companion of Mr. Jones said:

"He is a real Lion, a thoroughbred sport and a perfect gentleman. I have never traveled with a more charming companion. His heart and soul are in the work, and all the delegates received a wonderful lot of inspiration from his counsel, suggestions and advice."

The secretary general has been connected with Lions International since its inception in 1917, when he was instrumental in bringing together a group of clubs out of which the present organization grew. He has seen the association grow from a few clubs with a few hundred members to a mighty organization covering the United States and Canada, with nearly 2,000 clubs and approximately 75,000 members.

As a result of his activity, he was elected secretary-general (treasurer) of the association at its first convention, which established headquarters in Chicago. He was given general charge of administration affairs, and was made editor of "The Lion," the official magazine of the association.

His work has necessitated his traveling over one-half million miles. This has taken him to every part of the North American continent, and he is in consequence an authority on all subjects pertaining to civic and social clubs.

The cornerstone on which Lionism is building is the making of better citizens. To this end Lions unite with all good agencies in all good civic works. They work always in accord with the Chamber of Commerce of the city, carry on charitable works, help to build and endow schools and hospitals, back the Red Cross and the Salvation Army, work hand in hand with the schools, urge and help in the building of roads, establishment of parks and playgrounds—everything that builds up the community and nothing that tears down.

Coming Soon

Melvin Jones of Chicago, secretary general of Lions International, will be honor guest and speaker at the banquet during the district club convention next Tuesday.

City Proposal on Right-of-Way Sent to Austin

The city's plan for the paving of highway 33 within the city limits from Hobart street to Dwight street was submitted to the state highway department for approval yesterday. Action of State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist on the city's proposal is awaited.

Instead of buying fifty additional feet adjoining the road to satisfy the state's requirement for a 100-foot right-of-way, the city proposed that the state and county pave a 20-foot strip in the center of the street and that the city, county, and abutting property owners pave 15 feet on each side of the 20-foot strip. This would make a concrete road 50 feet wide.

The county commissioners approved the plan this week.

Former Official Under Indictment

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—Filing of state and federal charges against W. Oscar Gordon, former assistant attorney general of Oklahoma, provided a climax to the sensational trial of the Pottawatomie county liquor conspiracy case, now before United States district court here.

The federal complaint, in which Gordon was charged with extortion, was disclosed shortly after the government had rested its case in the trial of 26 defendants, including Randall Pitman, county attorney, and Frank Fox, former sheriff of Pottawatomie county.

Gordon was not a defendant in the conspiracy case, in which the government attempted to prove existence of a vast ring, including numerous city and county officers, which controlled the "liquor racket" in oil fields of Pottawatomie county.

FLYING CADET INJURED

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 6. (AP)—Cadet Thomas J. Searcy, Brooks field student flier, was seriously injured today when his plane fell in a spin from an altitude of 300 feet as he was making a landing at Yturri field, near Brooks field. Searcy, whose home is in Dallas, was given first aid at Brooks field hospital and then sent to the station hospital at Fort Sam Houston.

Mrs. Wood Osborn underwent a major operation this morning at Pampa hospital.

Yard Trackage Will Be Greatly Added to by Railroad

Plans for the immediate construction of an addition to the Santa Fe station at a cost of $50,000, installation of the block system of signals and for the laying of 6,000 feet additional trackage in the yard, were announced today by L. W. Klein, Santa Fe agent here. The enlarged station will include a 50-foot addition on the east and a 50-foot addition on the west of the present building. A basement will be built under the west unit. This will house a heating plant and provide space for other improvements. The present station will be re-modeled and redecorated. The east addition will house the express and baggage offices.

The additional trackage will be laid to provide needed facilities to take care of wheat and oil, and the switching yard will be greatly enlarged. A new cross-over will be installed opposite of the refinery now being constructed on the Sinclair lease east of town. The block signal plant will also be located near this cross-over.

The C. O. & W. passenger trains will come into Pampa and depart on the pass line of the Santa Fe, while the present main trackage of the "Cow" line will be used exclusively for switching to the block system plant.

Under the signal system, the tracks are divided into blocks, and when an engine or cars enter a block, various signals respond.

When the switching yard is enlarged, engines will be sent here as needed. The crowded condition of the station and the congested conditions that exist in the yard during wheat seasons determined the railroad company to add the improvements. The new switching trackage will be ample to take care of wheat and oil when shipping is heaviest it is believed.

Construction of the improvements will start as soon as the weather permits, according to J. B. Briscoe, general superintendent of the Santa Fe, who was here early in the week.

To eliminate mud in the yard, the railroad company also plans to surface the entire switching yard with Oklahoma red sand, a large quantity of which is being sent here.

Mayor General to Free Washington of Organized Crime

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Major General Herbert Crosby, chief of cavalry of the United States army, has been given the job of making the nation's capital free of organized crime.

General Crosby was elected by President Hoover for the task of directing the police, fire and traffic departments of the District of Columbia. In making the appointment of the new commissioner of the District of Columbia known, President Hoover said "it will be a guarantee to both the official and unofficial residents of the district and especially to the nation at large, that the capital shall be free of organized crime." Mr. Hoover added that General Crosby had accepted the post only at his urgent request.

General Crosby will retire to civilian life on March 21, next, and will assume his new duties immediately afterward. He will succeed Proctor L. Dougherty as commissioner.

BLIND MAN'S HORSES TORTURED—TONGUES CLIPPED

VIENNA, Ill., Feb. 6. (AP)—Johnson county authorities are investigating a reported mutilation of a team of horses owned by John Craig, a blind farmer residing near here, by cutting out their tongues. One of the horses has died of starvation and the other is expected to die.

Farmers of this region are talking of subscribing a reward fund for apprehension of the torturer, while authorities are searching for a possible motive. They suspect the deed was an act of revenge.

Mrs. Glenn Harrelson of Berger is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Presnell.

RUBIO RESTS WELL DESPITE BROKEN JAW

Political Motive Given By Youthful Gunman

EXILE DECLARES PEACE UNLIKELY

Vasconcelos, Professor at U. S. C., Makes Statement

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—Pasqual Ortiz Rubio, president of Mexico since yesterday noon, rested easily today at his home with a wound from a 38-caliber pistol shot in his cheek and jaw inflicted by an assassin two hours after his inauguration.

His physicians and his secretary, who was with him when the attempt was made on his life, believed he would be recovered sufficiently within about a week to assume the duties of his new office.

Meanwhile, Emilio Portes Gil, who turned the presidency over to Ortiz Rubio, in his new capacity of minister of the interior in the one-day-old government, conducted an investigation of the shooting, which he believed was the development of a wide-spread plot.

The assassin himself was held in the Mexico City military headquarters, the subject of almost continuous questioning since 2:30 p. m. yesterday when he fired six shots at the automobile of the president as he left his first cabinet meeting at the national palace. Seven others, their names undivulged, were held by police.

Police finally settled upon the assassin's identity as Daniel Flores, 22, from the little town of Charco, San Luis Potosi. Although he carried a small picture of the virgin of Guadalupe in his pocket, they did not believe his crime had a religious motive, but laid it rather to a plot of "Vasconcelistas" as adherents of the defeated presidential candidate, Jose Vasconcelos, are known.

None of six others wounded by the shots from Flores' gun was injured seriously. One of the six shots fired grazed the ear and scalp of Senora De Ortiz Rubio, another grazed the ear of the president's young niece, Senorita Maria Rosh, while the chauffeur of the presidential car received a bullet wound in his shoulder.

Three bystanders were wounded. One of them, J. Carmen Jimenez, still is in a hospital with a wound on his forehead. Two others whose names were not made public received slight wounds.

BRADY JURY, STILL UNABLE TO AGREE, MUST CONTINUE EFFORTS TO ARRIVE AT VERDICT IN CASE

Weary "Good and True" Dozen Hold to Differences Through 48 Hours—Judge J. D. Moore Is Stubborn.

COURTROOM, AUSTIN, Feb. 6.

(AP)—The prospect in John W. Brady's murder trial today was a long, long struggle for a jury which already had been out some 43 hours, and twice had reported itself deadlocked.

Judge J. D. Moore indicated he might keep the jurors, reported to be split 10 for conviction and a heavy penalty and two for acquittal, here until Saturday, barring a decision before then.

Meanwhile, he had them removed from their room facing Austin's main street to a side chamber where the temptation to see what was happening in the street would not be so strong.

Brady, former appeals court justice, who slew Miss Lenita signsmen, a scenographer, and pleaded insanity, had not asked for information, so far as could be learned, as to how his peers were voting.

None of those close to Brady appeared around the courthouse during the morning, and it long had been the consensus there never would be a verdict in this trial.

B. C. D. DIRECTORS TO STUDY RAILROAD SITUATION TONIGHT IN CALLED SESSION AT AUDITORIUM

"Consciousness" of Railroad Is Needed Watchman Says

Four out of seven motorists are not "railroad conscious" when they drive their vehicles over railroad crossings, according to the flagman at the Custer street railroad crossing.

"They've got their minds on everything but approaching trains—Buddiest deals, women, a good time—that's why we have many accidents at railroad crossings," he said.

These four out of seven motorists always try to beat the approaching train across the track when the flagman waves his banner to stop, he asserted. "They see the train coming and then begin to figure out just how many feet they can beat it and not get hit; the flagman is ignored."

It is impossible to hear the sound of an approaching train with the motor running and the windows closed, the flagman said. In most accidents where the train was not seen by the motorist before it was too late, the car windows were closed.

"People place too much confidence in automobiles—there never was an automobile made that wouldn't stop on the track if something went wrong. Time and again I have seen cars stall on the track here and their drivers get out and push them off," the flagman said.

Some drivers would run over the flagman if he impeded their progress, he believes. He pointed out the case of the flagman who was run over and permanently disabled here three years ago by a motorist. "The life of a flagman at a railroad crossing is in constant danger; he may be killed by the very people whose lives he is trying to save," he declared. "Railroad consciousness" is a habit and it ought to be formed by all motorists, the flagman believes.

CONGRESSMEN WORKING HARD FOR MEASURE

Delegation Declared to Be Making Fast Progress

OIL PRODUCTION HERE TOO BIG

Fort Worth Group Now Talk Secretly on Proration

Civic organizations, clubs, and citizens are urged by Joe Danziger, prominent oil producer now in Washington, to wire Representative Marvin Jones and Senators Tom Connolly and Morris Shepherd, for support of the proposed tariff on oil.

This step is regarded as highly important to every local resident. The proper addresses of the congressmen may be had at the Western Union.

Vice-President Curtis told Marvin Jones yesterday, according to Dr. Danziger, that the delegation of oil operators, producers, and royalty owners from the Southwest had made more progress toward securing the tariff in their three days in Washington than other similar agencies usually make in 30 days.

Rep. Jones and the Texas senators are working hard, but they need additional evidence of the demand here. Every bank in Fort Worth wired the congressmen yesterday.

FORT WORTH, Feb. 6. (AP)—Crude oil producers named as a committee after a mass meeting here last week, will attempt to evolve a program for further reduction of crude oil production of the state.

Press representatives were excluded from the deliberations.

PAMPA DAILY NEWS: WE ALL GAVE THE COWBOY YELL YESTERDAY WHEN WE HEARD THE REPORT OF SMALL LAND BILL. I THINK TARIFF BILL LOOKS VERY FAVORABLE. MEL DAVIS

The general meeting was preceded by a session of producers in the Yates pool of Pecos county, who were reported to be unanimous, with the exception of one producer, for recommendation to the railroad commission for reduction of 20,000 barrels per day in the allowable output for that pool. This will be based on reduced allocation of pipeline company purchases to that pool and on desire to avoid above ground storage. The holdout producer was said to be an Oklahoman.

Aside from the Yates pool problem, there seemed to be little of a definite nature for the general committee to work on at this time. The new Van pool in Van Zandt county is under voluntary restriction by owners. Gray county production was thought to be a little out of line with a recent Magdalena completion.

Winkler county is already producing some 35,000 barrels per day less than the allowable output in the last railroad commission order. Howard Glasscock production is under strict curb, due to amount of pipeline purchases.

Operations were more hopeful of accomplishments in Southwest Texas and in the Gulf Coast area, both of which have been the scene of active development.

Chicago Teachers Are Without Pay

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (AP)—While local governments waited today for money with nothing more definite than an abiding hope, statisticians computed how badly the governments were "in the red."

The statisticians found that if the city and county governments realize their expectations of selling $123,940,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants, they will increase the public floating debt to $403,940,000, or $263,849,000 more than the estimated 1928 tax collections can pay.

Chicago school teachers had another payless payday today. Yesterday saw the third payday for county employees without any thing being done about it.

Harry Newby, chairman of the county board's finance committee said: "We've got to have action soon or we will be compelled to issue warrants to the employees instead of cash. Some of them are in terrible shape."

IF THE INTERPRETATION OF LANDOWNERS' ATTORNEYS IS CORRECT, AS APPEARS AT THIS WRITING, THE MINERAL RIGHTS OF GRAY COUNTY CITIZENS ARE SAFE.

The Small land bill, it is said, did not re-define navigable streams, but validated title to mineral rights of landowners regardless of navigability. And since the Small land bill has been upheld on its first appeal, a huge point has been won.

In the Bradford suit concerning the navigability of the North Fork, the trial court's ruling was reversed because of two things: 1, sustaining of the defendants' general demurrers, and 2, holding that the state's allegations supporting navigability by definition were insufficient. The inference is that the appeals court believed that evidence was sufficient to show "navigability" in law—that is, the streams in their lower courses appeared to be more than 30 feet wide. Water has nothing to do with navigability under the old definition.

In short, the most that the Gray county landowners appear in danger of losing are right to navigate the streams and to retain the sand and gravel in the river bed. If the state wants to "navigate" the North Fork, we know of no one in these parts who will object. The point is absurd, of course. The other point is that the state retains sand and gravel rights—surface privileges—under the navigability clause. For the present at least, the gravel question is unimportant. The big issue was the mineral rights which landgrabbers were seeking, and these have been saved for the women who own the land along the streams.

Should the Bradford suit be re-tried as to navigability, which appears somewhat unlikely since the main point has been lost by the state, the relatively lesser issues will be involved. But since every point is so important a question is vital, and has many possible constructions for future litigation, it will be essential that every effort be made for re-defining the troublesome law.

The landowners are fighting not only for their own rights, but for those of thousands of other Texans as well.

TOASTY.
 Pampa Daily News: It is rumored that the American statesmen at the London disarmament conference drank toasts the other night to all the countries present. And probably wished the little nations were there, too. If that isn't political thunder for somebody we have no instincts for mud slinging.

Let's not jump at conclusions. Let us put the best construction upon the report that our delegates at the London international conference "drank toasts". Very likely they did, but there are toasts and toasts. This column, knowing there are various toasts, is determined to believe our American exemplars drank milk toasts. Milk toast is palatable and nourishing. It fills, but does not inebriate. Then there is buttered toast, unbuttered toasts and burnt toast. One does not drink these, ordinarily, but the cable message may have been garbled. It may have intended to say our delegates ingested toasts. Ingestion might mean that the toast was either eaten or drunken. Notwithstanding all this, there will be in our suspicious country some suspicion that our diplomats took wine, perhaps avidly, in tossing off toasts to the Nations named by the toastmaster. Yes, even if the toasts were not milk toasts, buttered toasts or burnt toasts, possibly no great harm was done. A little wine for the stomach's sake is allowed by the Scripture, and when Americans go abroad their stomachs often rebel before they get there. On the way to Europe, sometimes less than a hundred miles from the home shore, many American stomachs discard everything American which they started with. Let us not criticize our delegates to the disarmament conference before we learn definitely what sort of toasts they absorbed. Then, if it is proved that the toasts had alcoholic content, let us refuse to ratify any agreement they may have entered into. Wine is a mocker, and we do not wish to subscribe to a mockery.—State Press in Dallas News.

TWINKLES

Well, maybe the state will finally—though we hope not—gain the right to navigate the North Fork. If so, we hope to be on the bank to launch the first time Captain Dan Moody and mates run afoul of a sand bar.

We have heard of travelers mistaking sandbars for lakes in mirages, but we never saw a mirage that looked like the meandering North Fork.

In our erratic musical experience we have tried many horns and such, but we never dreamed that the Jews narp would be accepted as a band instrument. But since we never could make any progress on a harmonica either, we suppose our musical debut is still a long way off.

What worries us is how to reconcile our still strong love for tennis and our new enthusiasm for golf. When the two sets of enthusiasts meet in argument, as they will often around here, we are sorely perplexed. But we still maintain we are young enough for tennis and yet old enough for golf.

A business meeting of the Altar society of Holy Souls Catholic church was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Davis, where Mrs. Howard Myers was co-hostess. Mrs. F. M. Roche presided. Following the adjournment, a social period was enjoyed, and tea served.

Mrs. Ralph Johnson, a new resident of the city, attended as a guest, and became a member of the society. Others attending the session were the following:

Many Items Before Baptist W. M. U. at Business Meeting

Announcement of activities planned by all standing committees and the four circles of the Baptist Women's Missionary union, together with reports from the chairmen and secretaries, were made at a monthly business session of the entire organization, held yesterday afternoon at the church, with the president, Mrs. W. B. Barton, presiding.

Mrs. E. F. Brake, mission study chairman, announced an all-day meeting for a study in "Stewardship and Women." More substantial support of the old ministers' relief work, with continued support of Buckners' Orphan's Home, Dallas, was recommended by Mrs. S. L. Anderson, chairman of benevolence.

Organization of a Baptist Young People's auxiliary was adopted as a project for the immediate future, with plans to be developed by the executive board in a session to be held next week. Mrs. Barton said she would announce a definite date next Sunday. Superintendents to assist Mrs. E. Bass Clay, general director, would be sought in the meantime, she said.

A motion to resume the original plan of general meetings, combining the business session and a Royal Service program in one monthly meeting, rather than continue the recently adopted plan of one business and one general study program, was placed in the hands of the executive board, to be reported upon following the called meeting. In the motion it was proposed that every general session be preceded by an executive board session to expedite business transactions.

The following were in attendance: Mrs. Henry Curry, Mrs. John Morse, Mrs. I. P. Simmons, Mrs. Mary Burford, Mrs. E. C. Price, Mrs. Will Brown, Mrs. E. F. Brake, Mrs. T. B. Solomon, Mrs. S. L. Mission Programs and Bible Studies Occupy Methodist Circles

All circles of the Methodist Women's Missionary society were in session yesterday afternoon. Circles 1 and 2 had interesting programs based on the first chapter of a new manual, "What Next in Missions?"

The general topic of study was "Looking Two Ways," and under it were considered the history of early churches in America, the beginnings of home missions, expansion, work among the Indians, work among the negroes, the life of the church in frontier settlements, developing enterprises in the wake of the Civil war, and growing social adaptations of the present-day church.

Circle 1 met in the home of Mrs. R. C. Campbell. The program was opened with the hymn "Love Lifted Me," followed by a prayer by the circle chairman, Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. J. G. Stroup conducted the devotional. Mrs. George Wallace, mission study chairman, was in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. J. G. Stroup.

Other members present were: Mrs. Wm. M. Castleberry, Mrs. Irvin Cole, Mrs. R. M. Byers, Mrs. J. G. Noel, Mrs. J. E. Ward, and Mrs. W. Furlivante.

Mrs. Luther Pierson was in charge of both the devotional exercise and the program at the meeting of Circle 2 in Mrs. M. A. Graham's home. Her assistants were Mrs. J. G. Burgess and the hostess. The program was opened with the Lord's Prayer said in unison, and was closed with a prayer by Mrs. S. A. Hurst.

In addition to those named, the following members were present: Mrs. Edwin Vickers, Mrs. Roy Bourland, Mrs. O. H. Booth, Mrs. J. G. Harrell, Mrs. T. L. Certain, Mrs. A. S. Beavers, and Mrs. S. Tolbert, Jr. Mrs. Marvin Harris was a visitor.

Circles 3 and 4 held Bible study, following outlines in "Spiritual Adventures." Two special topics were taken up at each meeting, "Our Real Selves," and "Sight and Insight." Members of Circle 3 were guests in the home of Mrs. W. R. Campbell, while the meeting of Circle 4 was held in the church parlor.

Mrs. E. D. Zimmerman led the devotional at Mrs. Campbell's home, after which Mrs. R. W. Lane gave the first topic, assisted by Mrs. Zimmerman. Mrs. Campbell, with Mrs. Joe

Eunice Now Wants a Million

Eunice Pringle, youthful dancer who is suing Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnet, for $1,000,000 damages as the result of an attack she says the millionaire made upon her, is pictured here in court at Los Angeles. The damage suit is expected to attract almost as much attention as did 'Pantages' trial on criminal charges, of which he was convicted and sent to prison.

Tunic Blouse

A tunic blouse of pale blue satin, to which a row of buttons and two patch pockets have been added, is to accompany an afternoon ensemble.

Shelton and Mrs. Lee Harrah as helpers, presented the second. Two readings by Miss Valley Coleman completed the program.

Besides those named in the program the following were present: Mrs. F. L. Elliott, Mrs. W. H. Peters, Mrs. Russell Smith, and Mrs. J. R. Dunaway.

Mrs. Tom W. Brabham presented the entire lesson at the meeting in the church parlor. Her discussion followed a devotional conducted by Mrs. Fannie Hardin, and a hymn "Trust in Jesus." The Lord's Prayer was recited.

FAVORITES GET AWAY TO FINE TENNIS START

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—Tennis form never prevailed more uniformly than in the national indoor championships which moved into the quarter-final round today at the seventh regiment armory.

In singles, seven of the eight favorites as indicated by the seeding of the draw held quarter-final berths. In doubles all four of the seeded teams were still in the running.

After a day devoted entirely to doubles, the singles contestants resumed action today with Frank Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., opposing Eugene McCauliff, lanky New York youth; Herbert L. Bowman, New York, playing Perinne Rockefeller, also of this city; Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., facing Ed Jenkins, the New York player who could pass for Hunter's double on the court, and Harris Coggeshall Des Moines, Iowa, striving to keep the Middle West still in the running at the expense of Julius Seligson of Lehigh university.

In the doubles quarter-finals today Hunter and Harold Throckmorton New York meet Walter Swartzell and Stanley Harte, New York; Rockefeller and Cutler, the Washington and New York combination of Bob Conzidine and Ernest Kuhn, which won two matches yesterday.

Europe Is Champ in Figure Skating

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—Europe retains its supremacy over America in figure skating. Four European stars won the three titles in the world's figure skating championships at Madison Square Garden last night.

Sanja Henie, 17-year-old miss from Norway, easily won the women's championship for the fourth successive time, and Karl Schafer, university student from Vienna, took the men's crown with equal ease. The mixed doubles championship went to Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Brunet of France.

Why People Abhor Fat

Not only because it blights beauty and vigor, but because informed people regard it as needless. They know that a chief cause is a gland weakness, easily corrected.

Modern physicians, the world over, now aim at that weakness. Their method is embodied in Marmola's prescription tablets, now used for 22 years. The countless fat people who have grown slender now everywhere show what this method does. Perhaps your close friends can tell you.

If you are over-fat, you owe to yourself a test of Marmola. The reasons and formula are in every box. Every drug-gist supplies it—$1 a box. Starving is not necessary. Go start today.

COACH MITCHELL AND TEN MEN LEAVE ON SHORT ROAD TRIP

Durocher Goes to Cincinnati—Need for Him Small

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have a new addition to their brilliant infield in Leo Durocher, star of the New York Yankees.

The Reds acquired the flashy young shortstop yesterday for an unnamed player and an unannounced sum of money. It is expected the Yankees will see the Cincinnati player to pay an obligation the club owes in the Pacific coast league.

But the question arises as to how it happened that the other American league clubs happened to waive on Durocher and just what use Cincinnati expects to make of him. Leo is a poor hitter, batting only .246 last season, but he is a brilliant fielder and an expert talker. To use him, Cincinnati probably will have to break up its already fine fielding combination of Ford and Critz, who made a record of 194 double plays while playing shortstop and second base for the Reds in 1928.

Cincinnati completed another deal yesterday which brought Douglas McWeeny there from Brooklyn in exchange for Adolfo Luque. Neither of these right handed pitchers was particularly effective last season, but the managers of the two teams evidently believe they will be useful for the 1930 season. Luque, nearly 40 years old, is a crafty and resourceful pitcher. McWeeny, who has a world of speed at little control, has done his most effective pitching in Cincinnati.

New Yorkers Get Handball Title

DALLAS, Feb. 6. (AP)—Charles Hahn and John A. Dunwoody, Jr., New York state champions and both members of the Pastime Athletic club of New York, today had added the junior national doubles handball championship to their list by defeating the team of J. W. Sherkin and Volney Knobelock of the New Orleans Athletic club in the finals of the annual tournament played on the Dallas athletic club courts.

PAMPA DRUG NO. 2

Not in very good condition but rounding into form, the Pampa Harvesters left at noon today for Hereford, where tonight they will play the Hereford whitefeaces.

The local team will play at Tulsa Friday evening and in Canyon Saturday night.

Coach Mitchell took with him Salsbury, James, Braty, Poe, and Chastain, forwards; Ayres and Milton, centers; and Lard, English, and Lewter, guards. Tennis Practice Will Begin Soon at Central High Tennis play is to start at Central high school as early as weather will permit, in order that girls and boys teams may be in trim for Intercollegiate League competition in the early spring. L. L. Sone, principal, said.

Miss Fannie Florence Sims, basket ball coach, will train the girls, and Velius Tedford will coach the boys. Tours west of the home of C. L. McMurtry's home are to be used, according to present plans.

Cruel Neuritis Finds It's Foe in New Konjola

Happy Lady Enthusiastic in Praise of Famed New Medicine.

MRS. HARRY A. UNRATH
"No words can describe what this great medicine, Konjola, has done for me," said Mrs. Harry A. Unrath, 914 Lark Avenue, St. Louis. "Five bottles of this marvelous remedy put an end to a case of neuritis that I had despaired of ever shaking off. The pain settled in my forearm and fingers and for days at a time I was helpless from the Tighthouse agony—and could not move my hands. My kidneys were weak and added to my intolerable misery."
"The first bottle of Konjola indicated what could be expected. I continued the treatment for five weeks and health troubles, were at an end. Every vestige of pain had left my arms and fingers, there is no swelling and no stiffness in either. My kidneys responded weeks before and no back pains or dizziness occur. It is difficult, even now, to realize that the medicine could do all that Konjola did for me."

Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. —Adv.

Miss Estelle Haywood Becomes Bride of Jewel Purvis Wednesday— Bridge Shower Given in Her Honor

Miss Estelle Haywood, member of the Pampa hospital staff, and Mr. Jewel Purvis, ranchman of this county, were married yesterday afternoon in a ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Tom W. Brabham, pastor of the First Methodist church. The wedding took place in the minister's study at the church, with Miss Esther Claybaker and Miss Ethel Simpson the only witnesses.

After a wedding trip, the couple will return here to live. The bride came here last June from Fort Smith, Ark., where her parents live. She is a graduate nurse, having received her training at the Sparks Memorial hospital, Fort Smith. The bridegroom has been a resident of this community several years.

On Tuesday afternoon preceding the ceremony, the bride-elect was honored with a bridge shower given by other members of the hospital staff. She received a collection of exquisite and miscellaneous gifts.

Players at three tables were as follows: Mrs. Nettie Schwendener, Mrs. George Todd, Mrs. Eleanor D. Coch, Mrs. Roy Raines, Miss Ethel Simpson, Miss Bonnie Burris, Miss Jewel Lovelless, Miss Barbara and Miss Elizabeth Zuerker, Miss Esther Claybaker, Miss Ester Schill, and the honoree, Miss Haywood.

Shoots "Ghost" and Kills His Brother

EDNA, Feb. 6. (P)—Jerry Thomas, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thomas of the New Sutherland community, who was shot by his brother, Joe, aged 9, last Friday, died at Ganado Monday. The funeral was held Tuesday.

The Thomas children and two other children were in the Thomas home and were playing "ghost" when some one threw a bedspread over Jerry Thomas and shouted "ghost."

This apparently frightened Joe Thomas as he ran into the kitchen, secured a shotgun and returned with the remark, "I'm going to shoot that ghost," fired at his brother under the bedspread. The boy's right hand was almost torn away and a large wound made in his side.

Confess to Robbery
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6. (P)—Charles Picklin, ex-convict, and Herbert Boshorn, escaped convict, confessed today, police announced, that they had held up the H. A. Alstock Jewelry Co., at Portland, Ore., last January 13, escaping with $20,000 in jewelry.

They were arrested Saturday with their companion, Nellie Yoakam, when they attracted suspicion by attempting to pawn a watch. In their rooms part of the loot was recovered. The two men said they had become acquainted while serving sentences in Huntsville, Texas, penitentiary.

To Decide on College
SHERMAN, Feb. 6. (P)—Final details of the consolidation of three Texas Presbyterian schools will be worked out at a meeting in Dallas Friday of the college relocation committee named by the Texas synod of the church.

Among other things, the committee will select a name for the new institution, which will consolidate Austin college of Sherman, Daniel Baker college at Brownwood and the Texas Presbyterian college at Milford. Austin college is to be used as a nucleus for the new school.

Cotton Drops Again

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (P)—Cotton futures dropped $2 a bale on the New York cotton exchange today to new low levels for the season. The decline was attributed to renewed heavy selling and to an absence of confidence on the buying side, despite recent evidences of support by the federal farm board.

AH HA! SECRET AGREEMENT

LONDON, Feb. 6. (P)—Colonel Henry I. Stimson and Aristide Briand have adopted a secret pact of their own, their aim being to reduce the trout tonnage in the streams of Normandy. The head of the American delegation and the French foreign minister plan to slip away from the naval conference as soon as things are in shape to be left with the technicians.

Wealthy Broker Is Released When Ransom Promised

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 6. (P)—Saying he had been released on a promise to pay $25,000 ransom to kidnapers Max Price, wealthy 66-year-old real estate broker, returned to his home today after eight days of bondage.

Search for Price throughout Connecticut and in New York City was ended at midnight last night when he walked into the Bridgeport railroad station.

Trembling, stubble-bearded, and wearing by five miles of walking from the countryside, where he had been thrown out of an automobile by his captors, he told of having been tied to a bed for eight days, blindfolded even while being fed, with his captors continually demanding ransom.

He said his captors offered to let him go if he would promise to pay $25,000 on returning home. He agreed, he said, and received his freedom, his watch and $1. Still blindfolded, he was placed in an automobile and driven for an hour and a half, he said, and then tossed out of the car.

He said he was in the yard next to his home here on the evening of January 28 when men seized him from behind, gagged him and took him by automobile to the house in which he was held. Police were "tipped" he was held in New York.

Dempsey Tries Absence at Fight

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (P)—Jack Dempsey apparently is trying the absent treatment method on his fight shows at the Chicago coliseum. The former world heavyweight champion, who has dropped around $50,000 on his promotional ventures, will not be present at his entertainment Friday night, in which Harry Ebbe of New York, will meet Clyde Chastain, Dallas, Texas, middleweight.

Dempsey is on his way to the Pacific Coast, stopping off here and there to referee fights. He did not attend his last show, a vaudeville engagement keeping him busy elsewhere.

To Urge Low Cotton
JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 6. (P)—Within the next two weeks, data will be laid before every farmer in the South designed to show that the maintenance of the 1929 cotton acreage in 1930 will result in continued agricultural depression and threatened economic catastrophe, according to plans shaped here today by the cotton acreage reduction committee of the American cotton cooperative association.

Believe Death Natural
WACO, Feb. 6. (P)—Officers were confident today that Frank Velezka, 85-year-old farmer whose body was found yesterday back of a barn on his farm near Abbot, Hill county, had died from natural causes and that dogs had torn the head from his body. Death from natural causes was the verdict of J. C. Krenek, justice of the peace at Abbot.

John Warren, a light heavyweight, succeeds his brother, Add Warren, heavyweight, as a boxing star at North Carolina. Add now is a pro.

RUBIO—

had happened was lacking for hours after the shooting. First reports that the president's sister and daughter were in the car were rectified with later information that the automobile was occupied by only five persons, the president, his wife, niece, chauffeur and secretary, Senor Chazaro, of whom only Chazaro escaped unhurt.

The president had just concluded his first meeting with his new cabinet in the national palace when the attempt was made. As his automobile departed from the palace from the gate of honor, a well-dressed young man, standing behind the presidential guards, jumped from his machine and fire at the occupants.

Chauffeur Is Brave
A motorcycle policeman, Jorge San Millan, member of the presidential guards, jumped from his machine and, with others overpowered the gunman, who offered virtually no resistance. The president's chauffeur, meanwhile, despite his injury, speeded the car through the crowd to a Red Cross hospital.

A censorship was placed on outgoing press matter, and it was several hours before the president's injury was known outside Mexico.

The minister of war, General Joaquin Amaro, participated in the questioning of Flores, who declared he was a merchant and bore no personal ill toward Senor Ortiz Rubio, but thought he should be removed from the presidency for the country's good.

He said he was not affiliated with Communists, and had no religious prejudice, but he was alleged to have admitted he was an "Vasconcelista." Despite his denial the government believed the shooting developed from a well-prepared plot of "Vasconcelista" origin.

Mexico City, except for an air of anxiety for the president's safety, was quiet with little or no indication that anything unusual had happened. A crowd of about 60 demonstrated in front of the newspaper offices shouting, "Viva Ortiz Rubio!" and "death to political assassins."

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6. (P)—Commenting on the attempt to assassinate President Pascual Ortiz Rubio in Mexico City, Jose Vasconcelos last night reiterated his belief that "there can be no peace in Mexico until a free election is effected."

Vasconcelos was defeated by Ortiz Rubio for the presidency last fall. "The present government of graft and murder must be superseded by a government of public opinion," Vasconcelos said. "During the past six years Calles (Plutarco Elias Calles) has been using the iron hand, with the result of a half dozen revolutions and constant agitation and trouble."

"It is sad to think of Ortiz Rubio being hurt, because he is nothing but a tool of Calles."

Vasconcelos now is instructor in Spanish at the University of Southern California.

To Use Military Regime

CANON CITY, Colo., Feb. 6. (P)—A military regime will be instituted at the state penitentiary here immediately under the dictatorship of Patrick J. Hamrock, former adjutant general of the Colorado National guard, in an effort to quell intermittent disorders at the institution, said Charles J. Moynihan, chairman of the state board of corrections, today.

Police Careful in Holding Man for Abilene Murder

FORT WORTH, Feb. 6. (P)—Cole Oglesby, alias Albert Oglesby, wanted in Abilene on a murder charge, was treated in the hospital ward of the jail here today for a wound inflicted by a police man, after being removed from St. Joseph's Infirmary yesterday when authorities feared an internationally notorious gang might attempt to rescue him.

Whether he would live was in doubt, but Police Chief Henry Lee and Chief of Detectives T. W. Jacksons decided to remove him to the jail rather than risk a raid on the infirmary.

Oglesby was shot Monday by Police-man Roby R. Kennedy, who also arrested Joe Newton. Newton admitted serving three years for his part in the daring $3,000,000 mail train robbery at Roundout, Ill., June 12, 1924.

Lying on a cot in the jail yesterday, Oglesby mumbled denial of his guilt in connection with the Taylor county murder.

Lindbergh Finds Glider Useful in Teaching of Flying

LINDBERGH CAMP, Tehachapi Mountains, Calif., Feb. 6. (P)—An exhaustive study of the glider, which he believes will prove particularly useful in teaching the public how to fly, has been launched here by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Colonel Lindbergh, who early this week piloted a glider to a graceful landing in the Tehachapi foothills after it had lost an aileron in midair, disclosed he believed the sail plane, because of the relatively high degree of safety it involves, could be used to increase public interest in aviation and in training pilots to handle powered planes.

East Ward Has Enjoyable Chapel

One of the most enjoyable chapel programs held this year at East Ward school was presented Tuesday morning before the pupils of the fourth and fifth grades.

Supt. E. B. Fisher and the Rev. A. A. Hyde, pastor of the Presbyterian church, each made a short address. Mrs. V. E. Fatheree gave a vivid description of Yellowstone National park, which she visited on a tour of the West last summer.

The rhythm orchestra of Mrs. Catherine Wilkerson's first grade entertained with a selection, and Miss Vida Cox's third grade presented a health play. A flag drill was executed by the second grade. School songs and yells completed the program.

Jack Stephens is recovering in Pampa hospital from a major operation performed last Friday. It was the fourth major operation he has undergone in the last month.

Four Charges in Liquor Conspiracy Dismissed Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 6. (P)—Dismissal of four more defendants in the Pottawatomie county liquor conspiracy case in federal court here today reduced the number of defendants on trial to 22. The indictment returned last fall was against 102 defendants.

SCHOOL TEACHER AND PUPIL SEVERELY BURNED

BRONTE, Feb. 6. (P)—Leslie Woulard, 24, school teacher, and Floyd Bagwell, 19, student, were recovering today from severe burns received last night when the Hayrick school, oldest in the county, was destroyed by fire. A rehearsal for a school entertainment had been scheduled. As Woulard and Bagwell started to light a gasoline lamp, it exploded, and the fire destroyed the building.

The schoolhouse was 12 miles from Bronte.

WASHINGTON MAYBOOK

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—About all both dry and wets in the house can do when Dr. William Irving Sirovich starts discussing on alcohol is to sit and listen. For the tall and well-groomed New Yorker is a bit technical for his colleagues to risk the chance of disputing his many statements. He talks to them much in the same manner he lectured medical students before he became interested in politics.

Within the last few days he has lectured the house twice on the subject of alcohol—the practice of the government in treating alcohol for industrial consumption to be more precise. In each instance his remarks, for the most part, have been far over his colleagues' heads.

When he charged that certain formulas used by the government in denaturing alcohol contain "bicine sulphate," "isopropyl," "betaoxybytric acid," all poisons—they had to take his word for it.

LIKE TO HEAR HIM

But the members were obviously impressed by this technical discussion. Dr. Sirovich was allotted 20 minutes for his second discourse, but when his time had expired so interested had his audience become that they granted him an additional 10 minutes—there 10 minutes more—and some were for giving even more time.

This is typical of the way the doctor handled his subject:

He would call attention to formula No. 23-A for example. This contains 10 per cent acetone. The alcohol thus doctored is used for rubbing purposes. Then after these preliminary remarks, he would ask questions, as:

"Is not acetone one of the products of acidosis?"

"Is not the presence of acetone in the blood and body secretions a sure sign of serious organic trouble?"

"Is not the presence of acetone bodies in the system apparently responsible for diabetic coma?"

Then having propounded these questions and getting no answer, he would cry out in indignation:

"So why force the good people of the United States to rub their bodies with that stuff?"

FOR REPLACEMENT

His whole speech was handled much in this manner. Dr. Sirovich has long contended that the government should stop its practice of putting poisons in alcohol for industrial consumption. He has a bill in congress to replace these MORE . . . MORE . . . MORE . . .

SPORT SLANTS

—Alan J. Gould

BY ALAN J. GOULD

It remains a very popular pastime in the mode wide open areas to lambast the Easterner to accuse him of near-sightedness or astigmatic vision in his outlook upon athletics any here else, so regard him as hide-bound in the moor's covered traditions (for example) of the Old Bib Three.

The charge in many cases may be quite true, just as there may also be a few hoary old prospectors that persist in the belief that "that is gold, partner, in them hills." Yet it would seem that the Easterner who has not been disillusioned as to his ideas of athletic supremacy in the light of Western performances either is somewhat groggy from punishment or a subject for examination.

It is therefore perhaps surprising to find this statement in the attack made upon the good faith of the Carnegie Foundation's report by Prof. Ralph W. Altger, chairman of Michigan's Board in Control of Athletics:

"In a number of places in the Bulletin the so-called Western Conference (now the Big Nine) is referred to and, seriously, almost always with a sort of half veiled sneer. The truth apparently is that the Bulletin was written from the point of view of the Eastern athletic man, who has it pretty firmly fixed in mind that, athletically, things are pretty raw in the territory generally West of the Alleghenies."

Not even the most astigmatic Easterner can fail to blush a trifle in a casual reading of the famous Carnegie Bulletin "23". Closer study may go so far as to furnish a shock. The colleges most severely arraigned by the report are largely in the East.

"Nor is the abuse of subsidizing and recruiting" con fined by any means to any particular sections of the country," asserts the report on page 225. In the Mid-West the Inter-collegiate Conference (Big Nine) regarded by many as the most thoroughly controlled of all conference bodies, has repeatedly called recruiting and subsidizing its most serious problem and events in the spring of 1929 (concerning Iowa) clearly demonstrated this fact. On the Pacific Coast, the larger institutions, having expended much ineffectual effort to control the abuse, are even now attempting to arrive at an equitable solution through common understanding. From similar cases the Southern Conference is by no means free.—In the Rocky Mountain conference sentiment in favor of recruiting recurrently strikes certain institutions with full force. Parts of Pennsylvania and the adjacent territory have long accepted and openly practiced it as indispensable to victory in football.

Of the 28 colleges given a "clean bill" by the Carnegie report, 12 are in the East, seven in Canada, five in the Mid-West, three in the South and one in the Far West.—Of the eight so-called "major leagues" in this collection, however, three each are from the East and Mid-West, two from the South.

Phil Scott's "secrete punch," brought back from England for his fight with Jack Sharkey at Miami, remains a deep mystery. The London freeman's readiness to go into details for the benefit of ship-news men was abruptly cut short by his American manager, James J. Johnston, going on the theory that what the boys do not know about Phil for the time being will be so much better for the ballyhoo and the gate receipts on February 27.

an hour, that takes them to and from work.
An indication of the public's reading habits is the opening of a cut-rate store on Fifth avenue for the sale of publishers' "overstock" books that failed to become best sellers. It's a temporary shop in a store site that awaits a long lease tenant.
That brings up another commercial practice peculiar to Manhattan. Let a store become vacant and want for a permanent tenant and some petty enterprise is pretty sure to move in.
Thus Broadway has such transient tenants as a medicine show, indoor golf games and fly-by-night dealers in trinkets, toys and similarly cheap merchandise.
And now the itinerant vendors of alleged oriental rugs have ceased their wares from house to house and have moved indoors among the interior decorators' shops of Fifth, Madison and Lexington avenues.
OUTGROWN BUILDINGS
So rapid has New York's growth become that Irvin S. Chanin, builder of skyscrapers, estimates the average life of a building at 35 years. At that age, he thinks the newest structure will be obsolescent.
It is all attributed to the constant change in three factors—the neighborhood, land value and public taste. De-

68 SAYS! TANLAC WITHOUT EQUAL FOR STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLES

Nurse Gives Remarkable Endorsement

Tanlac may seem miraculous in its action to millions who ended stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as rheumatism, pains in the back, sides, joints and muscles from its use—but the truth is, every drop of Tanlac is a strong potent medicine while most other remedies are weak and ineffective. Mrs. B. F. Brown, a nurse with many years' experience, is one who ought to know. She says, "In 19 years active nursing have found Tanlac without an equal as a remedy for stomach and liver troubles, and I can certainly promise people wonderful results in view of my long experience with this medicine. I had stomach troubles for years, could eat scarcely anything without suffering, never any appetite, always nervous and run-down. But as soon as I began Tanlac, I started to build me right up. All stomach troubles were cured and never any pain, distress or gases since. Now I eat everything with perfect safety." Many patients "make glowing promises that may tempt you to buy them but remember Tanlac is a REAL medicine that backs its claims with a guarantee. Do not accept a substitute. At all druggists."

"SHADOWS HUGER than the shapes that cast them"
 (Alfred, Lord Tennyson, 1809-1892)

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*
 By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper figure, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—Be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"
 Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! : : Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Rash Romance © 1930 by NEA Service Inc. BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

Begin here today. JUDITH CAMERON marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of New York publishing house in which she is employed. They sail for a six-weeks honeymoon in Bermuda. Knight is a widower with an 18-year-old daughter, TONY, who is in Europe, and a son, JUNIOR, 16, at school. In his infatuation he overlooks the fact that Judith is not communicative about her past life. After the first week in Bermuda, a cablegram arrives announcing that Tony Knight is coming home. Arthur tells Judith they must return at once to meet her. Since neither the girl nor boy knows of the father's remarriage, Judith is skeptical of her welcome. Arthur and Judith reach the Long Island home just one day before Tony's boat docks. Next morning Knight meets his daughter but when they arrive at the house Tony ignores Judith and rushes to her own room. Late that afternoon Tony and Judith meet and exclaim: "You're going to get out!" Knight, entering the house to overhear this, compels Tony to apologize. She does so sulkily. After dinner MICKEY MORTIMER calls and takes her on a round of night clubs. Mortimer is a blasé amusement-seeker whom Tony met in Paris. He is soflarated from his wife, and is deep in a flirtation with the girl. As the days pass a state of armed neutrality exists between Tony and her stepmother. Arthur meanwhile makes plans for a festive Christmas and Junior arrives home for the holidays. Now go on with the story. CHAPTER XV Each day as Christmas drew nearer Judith Knight's uneasiness grew. Evenings when Arthur was at home she fought down the presentiment and felt strengthened by his confidence and devotion. She was learning to manage his household in the smooth, frictionless way in which Arthur liked everything to go. Of course, Mrs. Wheeler was responsible for most of this, but Judith added touches of her own. The menus she planned were not only balanced as food rationists but appealed to her husband's discriminating taste. Judith had found some means of inspiring her cook to reach culinary heights Cora had never attained before. Harriet's service was correct. The Knight home looked exactly the same as the first morning Judith had entered it. At least no furniture had been moved or any changes made in its appointments. In the evening across mellow candle light or before the flickering grate fire Arthur Knight brought his bride had imbued the home with her own delightful personality. He felt this particularly when his children were not present. It was the children, of course, who made Christmas so difficult. The shock of Tony's denunciation had not yet entirely lifted. The cool, aloof courtesy of Arthur Junior was nearly as hard to bear. The boy's manner cut Judith because she did not understand it. She was prepared to face a united affront by brother and sister. This did not occur. After the first greeting Junior spent little time with Tony. He had friends home from school for the holidays. There was a landing field farther out on Long Island where Junior went nearly every morning. He knew some pilots who were willing to let him stand around and watch while they worked. He came back smelling of gasoline and rather grimy. Christmas Eve finally came. Judith loved carols and all the season's time-honored ceremonials. She was downstairs early that evening, waiting for the rest of the household to assemble. There must be Christmas music—lots of it—on the air. She turned the dial of the handsome radio cabinet. Would the music sing its way into resentful hearts or would it prove a mockery? "It came upon a midnight clear, one glorious night of old—" The majestic rhythms of the old hymn filled the room. A church choir somewhere was singing. Judith stood before a window, looking out upon the dark street. "Peace on earth! Good will toward men—" Suddenly Judith forgot Arthur Knight and forgot his children. She stared out at the darkness, lost in her own thoughts. Peace on earth. Good will toward men. Somewhere two hearts were calling to her. "Good Lord!—can't you find anything better to tune in on than that dirge?" Judith whirled. It was Tony who had spoken. She stood beside the reading table, holding an automatic lighter to ignite the cigaret between her lips. "Why, I—I like Christmas music," Judith said. Tony smiled superciliously. She threw her head back, removed the cigaret from her lips and blew a long, curling wreath of smoke skyward. "Oh, you do!" she said with cutting emphasis. "Well, it seems our tastes differ. I crave something snappy. Now it's my turn!" The strutting little fingers sauntered to the radio and twisted the dial. Raucous syncopation burst upon the air. It filled the room and screamed beyond. Tony's shoulders began to weave in rhythm with the saxophone. She snapped her fingers. "Say—what's going on here?" Arthur Knight wanted to know from the doorway. "Turn that thing down, Tony. Neighbors will be sending in a police call." "Let 'em send," the girl told him. "There's nothing the matter with that orchestra—only the song's a little old." Junior appeared and the four went into the dining room. Knight reminded the group that tomorrow would be Christmas day. He was the only one at the table who seemed to relish the arrival of the festival. Judith tried to respond to her husband's enthusiasm. Tony's expression showed plainly that she was bored, and Junior was unusually reserved. "Both you Hoodlums remember to hang up your stockings for Santa Claus," Knight said with a knowing smile. "Father, for goodness sake, why do you keep using that ridiculous word, 'Hoodlums'?" It was bad enough when we were youngsters, Junior may like it but I object!" "Why, Tony—" her father began. "Don't be so darned high-hat, Tony," her brother put in. "Other people have been to Europe, you know." It was the first time Judith had heard Arthur Junior speak in boyish vernacular. She was relieved. "Anyhow," Judith said, "it was Christmas we were talking about. What time will we have the tree?" "First thing in the morning," Knight said. "That's the proper time to see what Santa Claus has brought. Haven't had a tree here for three years." He paused awkwardly and then continued. "Want to help put the tinsel and lights and stuff on it, Junior?" "No, Father."

"We can't do that, Junior. It's CHRISTMAS!" "Yes, of course," said the boy. "I've some packages I'll want to be put with the other. Sorry I can't join in with you, but Lieutenant Kelly promised to take me up with him. Out at the field, you know! Kelly's the best flyer there and gee! he knows everything! He said I could go tomorrow sure if I get to the hanger at eight o'clock." Junior's face was glowing. He was suddenly a different boy, Judith Knight glimpsed for an instant the fervent, passionate determination of the youth for a flying career. In that moment Junior looked sturdy inspired and touched with pathos. He was eager for his father to know the glories of the air. "But Junior, don't you think on Christmas day—" The boy lowered his eyes and looked embarrassed. "I'm sorry," he said, "but just go a-head without me." It was a beautiful Christmas tree when Judith and her husband finished trimming it that evening. Rising to within one foot of the high ceiling, the shapely spruce glowed with crimson orange and blue lights and glittered with ropes of silver tinsel and irrides-cent ornaments. Its crowning was a silver star. Banded about the foot of the tree were boxes and packages tied in gay wrappings. "The two stepped back to eye their handiwork. "It's beautiful!" the girl said. Beautiful! Knight's mood had softened. "Christmas trees always make me feel like a kid again," he told her. "Well, it's all ready, I guess. Anything else to go on?" No, there was nothing else. Judith glanced about the room, picked up stray bits of tinsel and a broken ornament. She hoped so very, very keenly that tomorrow would not prove a disappointment for Arthur. "I think everything's done," she said. "It's getting late. Don't you think we'd better leave it until tomorrow?" "Yes," said her husband. He had shown Judith his gifts for the children. There were small things he had picked up here and there which he thought they might like. There were foolish toys for jokes, too. Tony's real present was an exquisite ruby and diamond bracelet which he had locked away for safe-keeping during the night. Its stones and workmanship were of rare order. For Junior he had bought a coonskin coat, warm and collegiate from collar to hem. As Knight produced each of these offerings he did it with a flourish which spoke of tenderest love and pride. Judith was touched by this devotion to the boy and girl. "If I weren't here," she thought a little bitterly, "how happy the three would be!" But Christmas morning, when the great moment had come to throw back the doors and reveal the tree overflowing with gifts, only Judith stood beside Arthur Knight.
