Chicago Raises Millions in War on Racketeers

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Millions for prosecution; not one cent for tribute was the answer of Chicago business today to the encroachments of the gangster and the racketeer.

Revelation of the anti-crime program prepared by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and his "secret committee of six," disclosed that an organization of investigators, indictment experts and special prosecutors will be used to aid police to root the member, racketeer, extortionist and gangster.

The program will be financed by the millions that racketeers have heretofore squeezed from business men by threats of bombing and abduction. Randolph's committee was summoned for a conference today to swing the program into action. "If the sum needed be $1,000,000 or $5,000,000, the business men of Chicago will furnish it," Randolph said. "Our object will be to develop evidence which will send criminals to prison—evidence which will be proof against manipulation of lawyers, the machinations of politics and the terrorist tactics of those we are determined to destroy."

Texas Leads in Oil Production For Second Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A new record for petroleum production in 1929, when shipments amounted to 1,005,598,000 barrels, was reported today by the Bureau of Mines on a basis of preliminary figures.

Crude oil actually brought to the surface may amount to 1,008,000,000, it was said, representing an increase of 104,500,000 barrels or 12 per cent above the 1928 peak.

Preliminary figures indicated a world production for the year of 1,488,604,000 barrels, an increase over 1928 of 13 per cent. Of this total the United States produced 67.5 per cent as compared with 68 per cent in the preceding year and 71.4 per cent in 1927.

Production in this country rose steadily up to August, the peak month when 92,288,000 barrels were brought above ground. During the last four months of the year production declined. Stocks accumulated in all months except November.

Texas, for the second successive year, led in production with an output of 298,441,000 barrels. California was second with 292,937,000 barrels and Oklahoma dropped from second to third place, although its output of 213,704,000 represented an increase over 1928. These three states account-

Awful Neuritis Is Put to End by New Konjola

NEW MEDICINE SOON BANISHES PAINS OF THIS DREAD MALADY

MRS. SAM STAHL "I suffered intense agony for eight years with neuritis," said Mrs. Sam Stahl, Smithton, Mo., near Sedalia. "For seven years I was unable to wear my rings and for three years one of my arms was of practically no use. My knees, too, were attacked by this painful ailment and for weeks at a time I could scarcely walk. My kidneys were unhealthy and brought added misery through pains across my back. No medicine I tried did me any good. The sincerity of the testimonials about Konjola caused me to give this medicine a trial. In just a few short weeks the pain suffering of nearly thirty years has completely vanished. There is no swelling in my arms, hands or knees and the sharp stabbing pains never occur. My kidneys have become normal and I am free from the dull back pains which made me suffer for years. I get about without trouble and enjoy life. What a medicine Konjola really is!"

CLINGMAN WINS TWO FALLS IN ROUGH MATCH; SHERIFF GRAVES CHANGES REFEREE

A stiff uppercut on Clingman's chin in the first minute of the last fall between Billy London and the Pampa favorite at the Pla-Mor last night caused the sailor to lose his temper and forget his resolve not to get rough. The fall lasted only two minutes and in that last minute the Greek tried vainly to keep out of the way of the savage Clingman. A fall spin preceded by a series of body slams were so effective that the Greek did not rise from his prone position on the mat for ten minutes after Clingman had put the finishing touches on him. The crowd wondered how Clingman held his temper as long as he did, and they whooped and hollered when Clingman began to pay back what he had been taking all night from the Greek.

London won the second and his only fall by slugging the sailor until he was unconscious and then jumping up and down on him. To say the Greek threw Clingman would be absurd. He simply knocked him out and then sat down on him. The second fall lasted eight and one-half minutes. Otis won the first with a toe-hold in 24 minutes. According to the Greek's promise, the match turned out to be the roughest that has ever been seen here. He demonstrated new tricks of torture that the crowd knew nothing about. For instance, stripping the hairs from Clingman was at the mercy of the Greek in the second fall. It looked as if he'd never break the combination arm and leg hold that the Greek held him in for four minutes. London executed head lock after head lock, each ending with a body slam. The sailor was walking around in a daze, and every time Sam wasn't looking the Greek put in his rough stuff. When the third fall started, Clingman, looking mighty fresh, went right after the Greek. In about a minute London was being worsted shot an uppercut to Clingman's jaw. That seemed to burn Otis up, and like an infuriated wildcat he lit into the Greek and began giving him what he had been taking all night. Even at that he just slugged London for a few times.

The 20-minute match between Leo Clingse and Rob Roy was even rougher than the London-Clingman match but the crowd liked it because both resorted to hair-pulling, mouth-stretching, nose rubbing, etc., whereas in the final event Otis was trying to wrestle clean.

Neither won the fall. At one time both Clingse and Roy rolled out of the ring among the ring-side spectators and the sheriff had to separate the two ruffians. In fact the sheriff was pretty busy last night. For London's own good it was best that the sheriff put out the referee and stopped some of the rough stuff. Chase and Roy did very little wrestling. Most of the time they were engaged in trying to disfigure or add to the baldness of each other. After all, both matches were thrillers. The last two wrestling cards were better than a half-dozen boxing matches. A good crowd was present. Daily News wants ads get results.

Rash Romance

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing house, marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, her employer. Knight is a widower with a daughter, TONY, and a son, JUNIOR.

The girl ignores her stepmother. Later she tells Judith she must leave the house. Knight overhears and compels Tony to apologize.

The girl spends much of her time with MICKEY MORTIMER, a blasé amusement seeker, whom she met in Paris. He is separated from his wife and deep in a flirtation with Tony. As days pass a state of armed neutrality exists between Tony and Judith.

ANDY CRAIG, a young man Knight has helped through college, calls on Tony. He has been in love with her—rather hopelessly—for a long while. Craig comes to the house frequently and Tony, in a mood of spite, tries to convince her father the young man is carrying on an affair with Judith. When Knight denies this angrily Tony tricks Judith and Andy Craig into a luncheon engagement and brings her father upon the scene.

Tony and Mortimer are arrested for reckless driving. Knight brings his daughter home. For days the girl is sullen and rebellious. Affairs reach such a pitch that Judith appeals to Andy Craig. Knight sees the pair together but later Judith denies that she spent the afternoon in town.

Knight tries to overcome his suspicions. Craig calls to see Tony. Her father goes to tell the girl of his arrival and she refuses to see him, but father and daughter are reconciled. Knight promises Tony a trip to Miami with Judith, unaware that Mickey Mortimer has gone to the Florida resort.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVIII

From the very start Judith opposed making the trip south.

"But I don't want to go, Arthur!" she objected. "I'd much rather stay here."

Knight explained patiently.

"It's going to do you good," he told her. "And then think of Tony! She needs to get away and you know I can't send her alone. I wish you could have heard the child talk tonight, Judith. Everything's changed. Why, she admitted she's been foolish, said she was ashamed of the way she's been acting, wants to make a new start—"

"I'm glad," Judith answered. "But I'd SO much rather stay here with you!"

Her husband shook his head.

"You aren't going to feel that way any longer, dear. Why, I believe these four weeks will bring you and Tony together in a way nothing else could! I tell you the girl's repentant. She sees her mistakes. Judith, this is the very time for you to use your influence to cure her of her nonsense."

Knight's speech ended abruptly. Perhaps he felt he had protested too much.

Judith was silent. Suddenly she looked up.

"Well, if the trip must be made why can't you come, too? Please do, Arthur!"

He said that was completely out of the question.

"I can't leave town," he assured her.

"There's this trouble getting the Western branch reorganized. Henderson's in South American. Hunter expects me to have the fall schedules ready next month. You know I couldn't get away just now, Judith. If it could be managed I'd be glad to go."

"Then it's all settled," Judith said quietly after a pause. "You want me to go?"

"I wish you wouldn't put it just that way!"

Judith Knight smiled up at her husband from beneath lowered lashes. The smile held reservations but it was affectionate.

"I'll do it if you want me to," she agreed. "I'd—oh, I'd stay away three times as long if I knew it would persuade Tony to be friendly."

"And that's just what you're going to find will happen. What will you bet that at the end of one month sunning yourself on the sand and sitting under palm trees while New York's 10 degrees below zero you won't be telling me you've postponed your return another two weeks? What'll you bet—huh?"

"I'll bet a quarter that I won't!"

"Put up your money."

The conversation ended jokingly. It was just another of those things, Judith Knight told herself, which must be seen through to the end. There was no way, apparently, to avoid this unwelcome pilgrimage with Arthur's daughter.

She could not deny to herself the following morning that Tony's behavior was exemplary. Still Judith was wary. There had been other times when the girl's manner seemed dove-like and have followed close in the wake.

Rash Romance

by LAURA LOI BROOKMAN

At 10 o'clock Tony had breakfasted and was downstairs, dressed for the day. She looked pale and considerably subdued.

"Father says we're going to Florida," she said to Judith.

"Yes, Palm Beach. Do you like it there?"

"Oh, I guess so. Anything's better than New York. I like swimming." "Good," said Judith. "So do I."

"I haven't a rag that's wearable. Can't go until I get together some clothes."

This was a phrase of the expedition which had escaped Judith completely. She had the wardrobe collected as hastily for the trip to Bermuda. Few of those things, she was to learn, would do for Palm Beach. Tony's purchases enlightened Judith. Sweetly, the younger girl asked her stepmother to accompany her upon shopping trips. The date of departure had been finally set as March 5. This gave six days to rush through preliminaries.

With admirable generalship Tony Knight began buying finery. She led the way to shops of which Judith had never heard. They were small, out-of-the-way places in the realm of upper Madison avenue. French—or English with such a French accent that Judith could scarcely understand it—was the language spoken. In such salons Tony Knight draped and fitted in soft white woolen and cotton suits, swaggar beach clothes and filmy, trailing frocks for evening which made her really beautiful.

Judith bought several costumes. It was impossible to travel as Tony's companion and not look the part. The price of these trifles appalled her. Furthermore, it all seemed so silly. Why should she spend time and money trying to look like a fashionplate merely to impress men and women unknown to her and in whom she had not the slightest interest.

In this Judith Knight's viewpoint was thoroughly feminine. Had Arthur been making the trip, if he were to be there to see her, lovely gowns would suddenly become paramount.

The day that Tony quite casually eyed three dozen pair of silk hose Judith felt she must reconstitute. She said nothing to the girl but confided in Knight.

"Don't you think, Arthur," she said

There certainly was no answer for caution. "But you really should say something to Tony about her extravagance? Just tactfully I mean?" Knight shook his head, smiling indulgently.

"You let me worry about the financial part of this trip," he told her. "Just having Tony as quiet and well-behaved as she's been the past few days is almost worth the price of the thing. The kid's had her lesson. Now I want to show her it pays to behave. What's the price of a few dresses and silk stockings and one thing and another compared with peace in the family?"

Quietly the days slipped by.

Four days before their departure, Judith went in town alone on an errand. Tony had pleaded a headache and remained behind.

It was nearly four o'clock in the afternoon. There was no sun and a chill March wind was blowing. Judith held her fur wrap closely about her as she hurried up the avenue.

A window display of fine linens caught her eye. She paused, walked nearer the shop window and inspected the tableware.

"Why—if it isn't Judith!"

The girl turned. For an instant she was incredulous. Then swiftly she recognized the woman who had spoken. She was barely three feet away, smiling and waiting.

"Mrs. West—I didn't recognize you! Why, how do you do, Mrs. West?"

"And I almost passed you. What a coincidence! My dear Judith, how well you're looking. What have you been doing all this time? So often we've thought of you."

"Oh, I've been rather busy. Doing some of the rooms to our home over. Just now I've been shopping. We're going to Florida."

"How very nice. My dear, do let's go somewhere and have tea. I'm pining for it. And I must hear the news about you and Arthur!"

That "Arthur" very nearly decided the issue. Judith had never presumed to call Mrs. Franklin West's husband by his given name. She had never when it was avoidable called him anything. Hearing Mrs. West refer to him intimately to Arthur Knight aroused resentment. Still, Mrs. West looked the picture of eager friendliness, and Judith did not have many friends.

"Why, yes," she agreed. Let's have tea."

They found a place on the second floor above a popular eating place. It was a room paneled in dark wood and hung with blue draperies. Neat waitresses in black and white glided silently between the tables. Here and there about the large room groups of fashionably dressed women lingered, over tea and wisps of curling cigaret smoke floated ceiling-ward.

Judith and Mrs. West took a table at the side of the room. The older woman had been chatting volubly during the lift in the elevator. She looked very attractive. Judith admitted to herself, The small black hat Mrs. West wore with its coquettish nose veil was a trifle theatrical—still it was becoming. The green velvet wrap suited Mrs. West's high coloring, and displayed the lines of her excellent figure.

"—and we missed you so much after you left Bermuda," Mrs. West was saying. "My husband spoke of you and Arthur repeatedly. Yes, we were at Hamilton until after Christmas and ever since then I've been meaning to look you up. Now that Fate has taken a hand we really must see more of you!" (To Be Continued)

Millions Pooled as Chicago Debt Crisis Nears End

CHICAGO, Feb. 20. (AP)—With millions available for a pool to operate the debt-burdened local governments until July 1, at which time 1928 tax money will begin trickling into the treasury, the financial crisis in Chicago and Cook county was adjudged at an end today.

Whether or not the $74,000,000, estimated as necessary for operating expenses would be fully subscribed was still an uncertainty, but, with approximately $50,000,000 assured, efforts were doubled to get long-overdue salary checks ready by Saturday for the thousands of teachers, firemen, policemen, nurses and other city and county employes.

The conference arranged by Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' relief committee, and Lewis E. Myers, millionaire school trustee and representative of Mayor William Hale Thompson, solved the problem of how the relief funds were to be obtained.

Eighty-five bankers, business men, railroad and utility heads and manufacturers poured out their millions to be used in purchasing tax anticipation warrants through the medium of the Cook county taxpayers' warrant trust. Warrants will be purchased only as needed.

It was expected that some of the millions would be forthcoming in time to pay off employes by tomorrow, and, although Saturday is a legal holiday, it was said the city and county controller offices would remain open that day to complete the payroll.

Audrey Noel and Lloyd Moore First in Student Contest

Audrey Noel, senior, and Ray McNeil, sophomore, were winners of the three-week preliminary of the Harvester popularity contest at Central high school, but were left with heavy competition for the remainder of the race, when Bobbie Jean Robinson, senior, and Lloyd Moore, junior, survived the eliminations yesterday.

Audrey Noel balloted 7,100 votes, against Bobbie Jean Robinson's 5,300, while Ray McNeil took the lead over his nearest rival with 4,400 votes against 2,045. Close behind the two survivors of the girls' elimination were Viola Haggard, sophomore; Louise Pearce, junior; and Lorine Nicholson, senior. Leo Saulsbury, sophomore, and Henry Ayres, senior, followed Moore.

The contest is being conducted under the auspices of The Harvester, yearbook of Central high school. Votes are purchased, and the money placed in the treasury of the annual. Competition even keener that which marked the first three weeks of voting is expected to develop within the remaining two weeks, with the fact that both girls in the contest belong to the same class only contributing to the rivalry and the interest. Full page photographs of the winners will appear in The Harvester.

MURDER CHARGE FILED
LULING, Feb. 20. (AP)—Charges of murder have been filed against Joe Bobbitt, Jack Bobbitt and Ed Henderson in connection with the death of George Seward Feb. 13. Claiming Seward fell from a car in which they were all riding, the trio will appear before the grand jury next month. The men were granted bail.

Late cold weather is said to have added oil to the Oroville, Cal., olive crop.

Ment products turned out by California packers in 1928 were valued at $125,000,000.

IT'S THIS WAY

(BY SELM)

—From Pitch Pie to Packards. Whenever a new oil pool is discovered there are always stories afloat about the newly rich and how they got that way. It always develops that some people came accidentally by the land or the leases long before hope began to spring eternal in their breasts. It usually turns out that some retained possession of the land because they couldn't sell or give it away.

Now the people who grow rich on oil wells form about the most interesting class of wealthy people in the U. S. Oil might be imagined as a freak goddess who bestows her riches capriciously upon all classes and types of people, without regard to their worthiness, needs, and ability to spend it. She never considers how the money will be spent and for what... anyway, who knows if she bestows her riches wisely? Who would presume to say she does it unwisely?

At any rate her lucky selections are always picturesque and interesting. For instance, there is the millionaire negro of Oklahoma and Louisiana the multi-millionaire Osages around Pawhuska over in the Bow and Arrow state. There is the wealthy woman in Breckenridge, the millionaire scavenger in Burk Burnett, the rich squirrel hunter in Van... ac infinitum.

But take the case of two Greeks, Bill Mitchell and John Doucas of Panhandle. Of course, they operate a restaurant. Whoever heard of a Greek in this country that did not operate a restaurant? Although there are a few in the wrestling racket, but most of them belong to the pitch pie ring, Mr. Doucas and Bill Mitchell came to Panhandle's Main Street in 1926 when the population of the Carson county seat increased from 1,000 to 8,000 in three months and as quickly increased to 3,000 after the railroad was built to Berger.

They opened the Day and Night cafe. It is 13-feet wide and 40 feet long and contains a long counter with stools in front. Doucas makes the best pies in the Panhandle and Bill makes the best zoup. Ask District Attorney Clifford Braly about the zoup. The cafe is a picturesque place. There are always dozens of pies on the shelves. It is the place where the city marshal, the night watchman hang out.

The Day and Night cafe became a place where high school boys, the after-the-dance crowd, the 6668 cowboys loafed. It is Panhandle's only all-night cafe. The high school boys and girls affectionately dubbed it "The Greasy Spoon," and never thought of going anywhere else for their zoup and pitch pie.

The boom left Bill and John skeptical and eventually they became philosophical. In fact Bill reads Socrates and Aristotle in the original Greek. At 11 p. m., he used to expound Socrates to this writer. At 12, there would be Aristotle. From 12 on, Mr. Henderson of Shreveport furnished the amusement.

When the boom left Panhandle high and dry, its followers left with it. But one hung on for a year or two. One of those who stayed was a realtor and case man who now lives in Amarillo. He had some wildcat oil leases scattered over the county. One of those was a 140-acre strip near the present Empire well in section 13, block 7, Carson county. The realtor stayed, by exchanging 40 acres of the lease to Bill and John for 500 meal tickets. Another 40-acre lease went to W. P. Stephen of Panhandle for an overcoat and hat. Stephen owns an interest in a clothing store in Panhandle. Another 40 acres went to Bill Jones for office space in the latter's service station.

Last week, the two Bills, John and Stephen cashed in. They sold their leases to McIlroy brothers at $100 per acre with oil royalty privileges. Local operators say it won't be long after wells are drilled on the strip until the Greeks as well as the two others will have plenty of oil money. But Bill is not disturbed or excited about the prospects for oil. He learned to be philosophical during the slump since the 1926 boom. "We'll just keep on making pies and zoup," he said.

Alan J. Gould

Any football coach who had been under as much fire as Uncle Wilbert Robinson, manager and until recently also president of the Brooklyn ball club, would have quit the job in panic or disgust. Not, however, the return of Robbie whose appearance on the coaching lines one afternoon brought forth the raucous demand from the stand: "When does the balloon go up?"

Uncle Robbie, who is approaching his 67th summer, has been through the baseball wars. He was a joyful scrapper with the famous old Baltimore Orioles. With John McGraw he is the last survivor of that "Old Guard" now among the major league leaders. Consequently, he has refused to yield ground in the internal warfare of the Brooklyn club. He has met the enemy, so to speak, and the managerial contract for at least two more years is his.

Whatever else may be said about his baseball judgment, Robbie possesses a genius for getting the most out of pitching talent. He took Dazzy Vance when the smoke-ball king was supposed to be through and made him the highest paid pitcher in either league. He developed William Watson Clark as one of the best left-handers in the National league last year.

Such accomplishments as these probably will be kept in mind when Walter F. (Dutch) Carter, famous old Yale pitcher, casts the deciding vote in meetings of the Brooklyn board of directors. Carter may not be a "Robinson-man" in helping to disentangle the club's affairs but he undoubtedly shares the judgment of baseball men that few men in baseball possess Robbie's knowledge and ability as a pilot.

Densmore Shute comes quite properly by his extraordinary golfing ability. The outstanding star of the winter season, one of the most promising of the younger crop of pros is the son of an English professional. Young Denny qualified in the national amateur championship at the age of 16 at St. Louis in 1921, won the West Virginia state amateur crown at the age of 18 and took his place among the top-notchers in open tournament play at the age of 20.

Like Horton Smith and Bobby Jones, much of the secret of Shute's success lies in the smooth ease of his swing. Along with his fine background, the tall, slim dark-haired youth from Columbus has a good competitive temperament.

His name isn't mentioned along with Merkle, Zimmerman and Reigels but some oldtimers still can recall the famous "bone" of Monte Beville, a Yankee catcher back in 1903-04 who picked up a bunt in front of the plate and chased the runner into right-field while two others scored, winning the game for the New York team's appointment.

Virginia would have to spend $4,845,864 to replace game killed in the state during the 1928-1929 season, according to the game and fish commission.

What this Doctor did for Humanity

As a young man the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and near for his great success in alleviating disease. Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and put up in ready-to-use form, his GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY, the well known tonic for the blood. This strength builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective when in private practice.

It aids digestion, acts as a tonic and enriches the blood—clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear.
