Selection of Jury Appears Difficult When Brady Trial Is Started

SECOND PANEL TO BE DRAWN IN BIG TRIAL

Alleged Slayer, Former Judge, Feeble in Appearance

HE TOTTERS AS HE ENTERS ROOM

Young Attorney Wins First Battle in Case

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Jan. 20. (AP)—The trial of John W. Brady, former judge of the third court of civil appeals, for the killing of 28-year-old Lehlis Highsmith, capitol stenographer, got under way slowly today.

Indications that a jury would be difficult to obtain loomed prominently as 57 veniremen of the first panel of 148 were excused at noon through exemptions and failures to qualify.

Questioning of prospective jurors was far off at that time, and counsel for both sides agreed that when that phase came they might find still leaner success. Judge J. D. Moore prepared to have the sheriff call a second panel.

During preliminary skirmishing, Brady, his gray hair carefully combed, rarely moved or spoke. Once he granted when a venireman was excused. When he came into the court room from the county jail, he half stumbled as he reached his chair and kissed his wife and sister, Mrs. D. T. White of El Paso. He held his hand to his eyes for a moment and then straightened up, keeping his face immobile for the remainder of the morning.

A few feet away, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. B. Highsmith of Baytown, parents of the girl stabbed, the prosecution claims, with Brady's knife, looked at Brady, whose counsel was headed by E. A. Berry of Houston, attorney general of Texas when Brady was an assistant.

Berry, saying that to get a jury would be a great task, added that the defense had not change its decision not to seek a change of venue.

District Attorney Henry Brooks, trying his first big murder case, won the first argument. It came up over the defense motion that the prosecution be compelled to hand over a list of all grand jury witnesses and a record of what they testified. Judge Moore overruled Berry.

Meanwhile, Will Brady, brother of the defendant, summoned seven more witnesses, bringing the Brady total to 98. They were representatives Luke Mankin and Sam Hefley of the legis-

DESIGNATION FOR HIGHWAY 41 ASKED

By C. H. WALKER Of The News Staff

AUSTIN, Jan. 20.—The proposition of state designation of Oilfield Highway 41 across the North Panhandle of Texas was presented to the state highway commission today by F. F. Reid of Pampa, president of the association which sponsored the route.

Mr. Reid was seconded by delegations from Dallam, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, and Gray counties.

Prospects for state designation and maintenance appeared good, but the matter will rest for 30 days under a rule of the commission before being passed upon.

However, it was said that the state would take over maintenance of no more dirt roads without assurance from counties affected that permanent improvements on a 50-50 basis were contemplated.

The designation asked would continue highway 35-A, which now stops at Pampa at the juncture with highway 23, about 150 miles northwestward to the state line in Dallam county. The new route, laid out and right-of-way secured through the efforts of the highway 41 association, shortens greatly the Oklahoma City-Denver travel.

It was named for the Panhandle oil field through which it passes in going by Pampa, Skellytown, and Berger.

Acute Poverty Here Is Problem of Army Workers

Touching stories of hunger, semistarvation, poverty, suffering from the cold weather, unemployment and sickness among poverty-stricken families of Pampa were reported this morning by Ensign Edgar A. King of the Salvation Army.

Mr. King, who has had charge of all welfare work of the town since the first of the year, said that he has been a Salvation Army and Welfare worker in many towns in Texas, some of them larger than Pampa, and he has never seen as many people dependent upon public charity as here. Due to unemployment, there are now at least 50 families without the absolute necessities of life, he said.

"Every day last week, from morning until night, I was investigating cases and carrying groceries. In the Salvation Army hall there were always destitute persons waiting for food to keep from starving to death or clothes to keep from freezing to death. Some people will say that it is absurd to report that the spectre of starvation is in Pampa, but they have not seen what I have seen," Mr. King said.

The Salvation Army and the Welfare association will be without funds in another day to provide food for the members of the 25 families that are now wholly dependent on charity. There is also a great need for clothes, Mr. King stated.

One bill of groceries is all that is needed for some families while some must be provided for another week, it was said. Mr. King told of a woman and two children whose husband and father, despairing of making a living for them, had left town. The rent on the small shack in which they are living is due and the woman said she was afraid to leave the house, fearing the landlord would have the door locked when she got back. This woman and another in similar circumstances expect to become mothers soon. The latter at the Army headquarters last night said she had not eaten in three days. A child by her side, she told Mr. King, had not tasted food for a day. The woman had only three garments and was wearing them.

"The most depressing feature about the conditions here is that the class of people we are helping is not the class that is usually dependent on charity. Most of the husbands are oil workers out of work. The snow aided the shut-down and prostration programs to produce more unemployed persons," the Salvation Army man said. He now has 20 women on a list who are willing to do anything to support

BOY IS KILLED BY 3 OFFICERS

Youth Is Ambushed at Dayton During Burglary

LIBERTY, Jan. 20. (AP)—Wilbur Honey 19, was shot to death in the L. Friedman general store at Dayton, near here today by officers who had lain in wait on a tip that the store was to be robbed.

Rube King, 17, was arrested and charged with burglary. A third youth escaped. Deputy Sheriff Geo. White, Sheriff L. V. Hightower and Deputy Jack Eckols made up the ambushers.

"The other boy surrendered at once. He told us there was another outside on the lookout, but he got away before we could get outside."

Both the youths lived at Dayton.

Dallam County Is Growing Steadily

DALHART, Pan. 20. (Special)—More than 25 per cent increase in the estimated value of taxable property is shown in the financial statement of Dallam county as of December 31, 1929, made public by County Judge Floyd McNeill Saturday.

In cash on hand the county treasurer had $12,499.32 December 31, 1929, as compared with $10,945.42 December 31, 1928. Receipts from January 1 to December 31, 1929, were $104,571.12, while expenditures over the same period were $78,001.80.

Including estimated value of taxable property and assessed value of property in 1929 total resources of 136-1-1 lam county as of December 31, 1929, were $61,294,419. Liabilities in the form of outstanding bonds and warrants as of December 31, 1929, were $156,347.

Population in the county is estimated at $10,000 in the financial statement. The county area is 1,532 square miles. Included in Dallam county are 64 miles of main line railroad, 64 miles of federal and state designated highways and 360 miles of graded county road.

themselves and their children. These women depend on themselves to make a living. There are scores of men, fathers of families, oil field workers, who are unemployed. Unemployment, and not "laziness" is at the root of the conditions, he said. The association is also supporting several transient families in tourist camps, and about three or four single men, not "hoboes," a day.

A typical example of the unemployed man who has been forced to look to charity for the necessities of life is a truck driver who easily supported his wife and six children last summer by trucking to and from the oil fields. He owns his own truck. The shut-down relieved him of his job and "left him flat with no work in sight," Mr. King said.

BUDGET RALLY IS POSTPONED

Baptist Meeting to Be Held Week Later in Pampa

Postponement of the budget rally of the Tenth district of the Texas Baptist convention scheduled to open this evening at the First Baptist church of this city was announced this morning, after the Rev. D. H. Truhitte, pastor of the local church, had received messages from Memphis, Wichita Falls, and various South Plains points that rapidly dropping temperature and a new fall of snow would make it impossible for church workers in those points to attend.

The Rev. E. T. Miller of Memphis, district chairman, set Monday evening and Tuesday of next week for the rally, when it is expected that more than 150 pastors, missionary ministers and lay leaders will be able to attend. The program previously announced for the gathering will be given at that time, the Rev. Truhitte said.

Pipeline Breaks in Blizzard Costly to Gulf Company

Repairing of two pipeline breaks in which 15,000 barrels of oil were lost has just been completed by Gulf Production company. The lines, one a four-inch line from the Bowers field to the Worley, A lease, and the other the main ten-inch line from Panhandle to Ranger, burst during the recent blizzard.

Very little oil was lost when the four-inch line broke, but almost 15,000 barrels covered the ground where it burst near Clarendon. Other pipeline companies reported no breaks.

Son Arrested for Death of Mother

BOERNE, Jan. 20. (AP)—Walter Smith, 21, whose mother, Mrs. Hubert Smith, 69, was found beaten to death Sunday, was placed in jail here today.

The killing was said to have occurred Friday night. No charges have been filed.

The body was discovered by other children of the old woman Sunday afternoon when they went to the house. Their suspicions were aroused when Mrs. Smith did not phone them for two days. It was her custom to phone her other children each night.

The mother and son lived alone on a 300-acre farm near Kendall, 36 miles from San Antonio.

Funeral services for the victim will be held Tuesday at Mendalla.

Senator Small Receives Messages From Groups

ATTORNEY SAYS PLAN IS ABSURD

Disgruntled Violators of Law Said to Be in Move

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. (AP)—A fight will be made in the senate on confirmation of the appointment of Clem Calhoun as district attorney at Berger, it became known today.

Senator C. C. Small of Wellington revealed he had received communications from residents of four or five counties in Calhoun's district requesting a hearing regarding Calhoun's confirmation before the senate committee on governor's nominations.

Communications were from Hemphill, Carson, Hutchinson, and Ochiltree counties, he said. Hansford is the other county in the 8th district.

Calhoun was appointed district attorney at the time John A. Holmes, former district attorney, was assassinated. Calhoun arrived on the ground and was mixing with the legislators in the corridors before the session was called to order.

He charged that those opposing his confirmation were disgruntled because of his activities in prosecuting law violators.

"I have plenty of evidence right here in my grip, if the senators want to hear the story," Calhoun said.

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. (AP)—There was a quorum in both houses when the fourth called session of the 41st legislature met today. Speaker W. S. Barron of Bryan called the house to order, and

Payment of Poll Taxes Suddenly Becomes Brisk

Gray county voters are taking a sudden interest in the prospect of casting a ballot in the July primary, according to employes in the tax collector's office. And none of those who voted for Hoover in 1928 seems to be worried about any decision of the state Democratic committee that will prevent voting in the primaries, it was said.

A total of 1,180 had paid poll taxes at noon today, and there are still 10 days in which they may be paid. Over 500 have been issued poll tax receipts in the last two weeks, despite the bad weather. Never before have the voters been so prompt in paying the tax, according to records in the tax collector's office. During the two days at McLean 285 in that vicinity entitled themselves to vote.

However, Deputy Collector T. W. Barnes expects the office to be crowded with prospective voters in the last few days of January and he urges the voters to do their poll tax shopping early.

NOMINATION ANNOUNCED WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Ralph H. Booth of Michigan, today was nominated by President Hoover to be minister to Denmark.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
 Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing, or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Pampa Daily News will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor. DESPITE THE FACT THAT PEOPLE ETERNALLY ARE SAYING THAT PERSONAL RIGHTS ARE BEING TAKEN FROM THEM, THERE ARE MANY RIGHTS TAKEN AWAY BY THEIR OWN NEGLIGENCE WITH NEVER A COMPLAINT RAISED.

Those who bolted the Democratic party in the last general election will claim all sorts of things, including martyrdom, if their right to participate in the primary elections is forfeited. Yet the thousands who neglect to pay their poll taxes will be in even a worse position. In the latter case, however, merely a few expressions of regret will be heard.

The writer has little patience with those persons who cry for reforms yet never participate in democracy's reform activity—the election. Nearly all the redress the average citizen can get is through the ballot box. Then why not pay the small poll tax and exercise that power?

Opponents of the city manager plan, of civil service, and of general selection of experts to manage public affairs always hark back to the ballot as the good old democratic way to choose public servants. But the minority, as expressed through the elections, rules the majorities. Public servants, good and bad, are the choice of the small electorate.

The election is a simple expedient. It is embarrassing to no one—not even the defeated candidate. The secret ballot is virtually the foundation of American government. Through it corrupt administrations can be removed or good ones returned. By its use money can be voted for public works. It is the recourse of those who wish to contest a proposition believed to be unwise.

It should not be necessary to campaign for poll tax payment. It should not be necessary to urge that enough voters be enfranchised to defeat any clique of clan that may seek to gain control in any public matter. But unfortunately, especially when national politics is absent, there is a tendency to ignore the poll tax. While property owners are assessed and are required to pay the tax, many hundreds of eligible voters, including women, do not do so.

It is not a little strange that women, so recently enfranchised, should ignore the privilege and the necessity of paying the small tax that men have always been required to pay. It is said that women are interested only in moral issues. It should not be so. There are great issues in the choice of office holders, in road bond elections, in school elections, and in putting into power state administrations. If women, as claimed, are interested more in issues than in politics, they should always be prepared to vote.

Gray county residents ought to be sure that in the less than two weeks remaining they pay their poll taxes. Big issues are in the making. Candidates are announcing almost daily. Claims and counter claims are being made. Charges are beginning to fly. Some speakers are right and some are wrong. Only the voters may say which should be approved. Bond elections are being talked in Pampa—roads and schools.

We need not name the moral to this argument. Everyone who has read thus far and who does not act upon the suggestion herein should never raise a criticism in the next two years, but should count himself or herself out of community, county, and state questions.

TWINKLES

District Attorney Clifford Braly bears out our claim that recent bad weather was not the "worst in 20 years". Mr. Braly used to live in Dalhart, which is even colder than Amarillo, and he ought to be an authority in the matter.

The parking situation has been bad recently. With ice covering the paving, one never knew whether the front wheels would pick out the place at which they were pointed.

We say with some pride that we never fell down once during the icy weather. It will be just our luck now to step in a prairie dog hole while chasing the little white ball through the "rough".

This is a great, but queer country. If you buy opium, or stolen goods, or other illegal ware, you are a crook and in danger of penitentiary life. But if you buy booze you are a "smart" and popular host in many circles. Many of those who sell booze need the money, but no "best citizen" needs more booze than a medical prescription allows.

It is funny, really it is: That a really old-fashioned girl wears 'em short now. An old-timer says that the sight of a long dress flopping below a shorter coat gives the same impression of a petticoat showing in the old days.

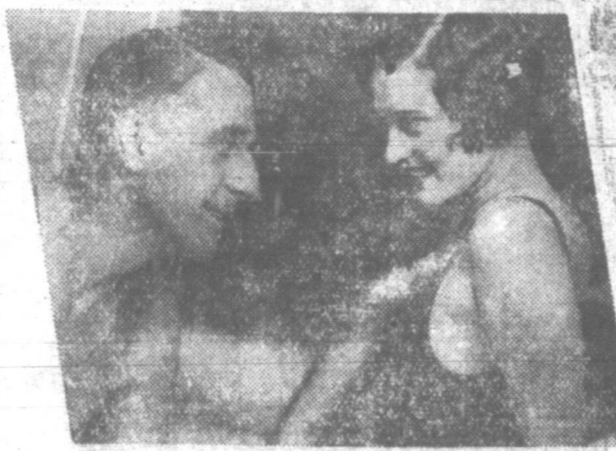

We mean no reflection upon the ladies at all, but they and the canines are in the same "boat" in Gray county—neither have been properly recorded at the courthouse. Now is the time to pay the poll tax ladies—less than two weeks left.

Well, the farmer may be lazy, but as long as the wheat roots are working hard under the impetus of this fine moisture we suppose it doesn't matter. We'd like to have a million or so little roots working for us right now. You can be a capitalist in either roots or dollars, but personally we'd prefer the dollars.
 Borger Republicans are going to put out a complete Hutchinson county ticket. We hope the battles with the Democrats never involve the weapons formerly in vogue over there.

Miscellaneous Tickets for the founders' day banquet to be given Friday evening by the A. A. U. W. and College club are on sale at Pampa Drug store No. 1 and Fatheree Drug store No. 4.

With the brilliant international relations banquet given last February by the local branch of the American Association of University Women and the College club as its precedent, the forthcoming annual rounders' day observance, scheduled to take place in a banquet at Central auditorium next Friday evening, is anticipated as the most colorful event of the winter.

The feature of the occasion is to be a revue, "Progress of the Texas Panhandle," which will be staged immediately after the banquet is held. The show is from the artistic mind of Mrs. W. A. Duerr and the facile pen of her husband, and was written especially for the club. These two, who planned the international relations program which was so eminently successful last year, wrote words and music for the historical revue, and designed the costumes and settings.

Harold White, who has had wide experience in amateur dramatics, is directing the cast of more than seventy-five persons. He is assisted by Mrs. Lynn Boyd, who is coaching for songs; Miss Marie Batal, Miss Arless O'Keefe, and Miss Nettie Sims, who are directing song and dance acts. Much talent from outside the club membership has been enlisted for the show with gratifying success. Several weeks have been spent in preparing for the performance, with each chorus rehearsing daily.

The show depicts the several well-defined and sometimes romantic periods in the history of the Plains beginning with the pioneering days and carrying the story up to the present industrial era. The pioneering days, the ranching era, the coming of the big wheat farms, then the introduction of cotton farming, the climatic oil boom period, and lastly, the industrial era typified by carbon black production, will be represented. Old Man Texas introduces the broader, state-wide note in the development of the spectacle. The piece even boasts a theme song—"The Bluebonnet Song," which, like other songs of the revue, is set to the music of a Harvard show on which Mr. Duerr collaborated.

Decorations of the hall and the banquet table will feature the blue bonnet motif and the Lone Star symbol. Blue bonnets for the table were made in San Antonio, and place cards are being made by a committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. W. Stowell.

Stage settings designed for the various scenes have arrived from Oklahoma City, and it is expected that costumes will be completed today. Dress rehearsal is to be held this evening at the high school auditorium, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. White is urging that every soloist and every chorus member be present, in order that the show may be performed from beginning to end.

Tickets for the banquet are on sale to members at two drug stores—Fatheree No. 4, and Pampa No. 1. Mrs. Lee Harrah and Mrs. W. R. Campbell are in charge of reservations, and are furnishing members information concerning the tickets.

LONG SKIRTS NOT FLEETING FAD; GOING DOWN FURTHER IN SPRING

The descent of the skirt continues. Here is a foretaste of spring fashions—the dress length in the photograph for day street wear, and (above) the destined spring skirt lengths for various occasions. The—er—ah—hims show the course of skirts since 1923.

BY DEMING SEYMOUE (P) Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK (P)—Skirts are growing still longer.

Hemlines are moving gradually down in spite of the stubbornest rebellion of the fashion world has known in many seasons—a rebellion waged by women who liked short skirts because they looked younger in them, and had more freedom of motion.

The forecast that skirts will keep on growing longer is not the guess of a designer, nor is it the interested prophecy of a merchant who has long skirts to sell.

It is the conclusion of Amos Parrish, "weather man," of style, whose agents watch what women are wearing in every representative sector of American life and who undertakes, by determining trends, to tell department store buyers and executives throughout the land, at twice-a-year clinics, what the mode of the moment will be six months hence.

Skirts weren't as long last fall as they were alleged to be, Mr. Parrish points out. They were just getting longer. They have been getting longer, slowly, but certainly, since 1923.

Next spring, he says, the skirt most in fashion for daytime street wear will be middle calf length, five to six inches below the knee and 13 to 14 inches above the ground, depending on the height of the wearer.

Most suits and ensembles for street wear and most daytime dresses and coats will be of the same middle calf length.

Three other lengths will be in fashion, if Mr. Parrish's guesses and charts are indicative of tendencies: For active sports wear, dresses of "upper calf length," three to four inches below the knee, 15 to 16 inches above the ground. A few suits and ensembles for street wear and most evening wraps will also be of this length.

For formal afternoon wear, the longer calf length, 10 to 11 inches below the knee. Of this length also will be a few very formal suits and ensembles for street wear and most of the formal afternoon dresses.

For evening wear, dresses of ankle length at one or more places. A few evening wraps will be ankle length and a few will be hip length.

Many women believe that skirts were arbitrarily dropped—last fall from the knee to the ankle, but the tendency to longer dresses goes back two years. By April, 1929, most dresses were two inches below the knee, and last October most dresses were "upper calf length."

By spring fashion analyses show, dresses most in fashion will be about two inches longer than last October. Six different skirt lengths have been in fashion in the last seven years. Four-fifths of the dresses were of ankle length in 1923. Five years later skirts were about as short as women could wear the mat the knee or higher.

Then they began to get longer, and Mr. Parrish avers that women themselves brought about the change. They were tired of the plain straight line effects, and began to add bows and pleats and other details. And circular godets, flat hips and flounce effects didn't balance with short dresses.

Lamesa Boy Wins Long Free Trip

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 20.—W. C. Wright, 4-H Club boy of Lamesa, Dawson county, and Herbert Thieme, of San Benito, Cameron county, are winners of free trips to the fourth National Boys and Girls 4-H club camp to be held at Washington, D. C., in June, according to announcement made by the Extension Service, A. & M. college of Texas, which directed the contests and selected the winners. The winners were selected on the basis of a three-year record in 4-H club work. The trip to the one-week camp will be financed by the Texas Bankers' association.

Both Wright and Thieme have been active in every phase of 4-H club work and have won various prizes in county and state fairs. Last year Wright won the Santa Fe Railway trip to the International Livestock Exposition. His selection as one of the winners of the trip to Washington is based particularly on his outstanding work in hog production. The 16-year-old boy's record discloses a total net profit of $944.34 for the three years. His county agent under whose supervision he has progressed in club work is W. W. Evans, of Dawson county.

Herbert Thieme's record discloses unusual success in poultry, particularly the White Leghorn. He has also been successful in the production of corn and cotton, having won prizes each season at the Mid-Winter Valley Fair. In 1929 his net profit on the three amounted to $509.58. Because of the 14-year-old boy's outstanding work and contribution to that section of the farming country, the bankers of Cameron county gave him a scholarship to the A. & M. College Short Course. Henry L. Almyer is the county agent of Cameron county.

Criticism Cause of Attacks Upon Officers of Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (P)—Recent caustic criticism of the personnel entrusted with prohibition enforcement is blamed by Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran as having had a large part in inducing armed resistance by violators of the law, resulting in the slaying of enforcement officers.

Doran made this statement in commenting upon the killing of F. R. Patterson and Robert K. Moncre, prohibition agents, when they entered a home at West Palm Beach, Florida, on Saturday to search for liquor.

"I regret deeply the killing of any person," the commissioner said, "but the deaths of Patterson and Moncre who went in broad daylight to serve a search warrant upon a suspected bootlegger were due largely to recent inflammatory attacks upon our personnel, which leads weak minded criminals to attack honest and efficient officers acting in performance of their sworn duty."

The first of President Hoover's proposals for improving enforcement conditions—that affecting the transfer of the prohibition unit from the treasury to the justice department—is to be considered by the house expenditures committee tomorrow. Chairman Williamson who has introduced a bill, predicts it will be reported out within a week, and leaders of the house have arranged to give it immediate consideration.

The promised vote on the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment is to be deferred until the senate has disposed of the tariff bill. Senator Blaine, who introduced a resolution to repeal the amendment has announced he will not seek action by the senate judiciary committee, which must pass on the measure, until the tariff discussion is ended.

Stimson Is Encouraged After Talks With French and Italian Diplomats

BY BYRON PRICE (Associated Press Writer)

LONDON, Jan. 20. (P)—Heartened against manifest dangers by firm handclaps and face-to-face consultations, spokesmen of the five sea powers today completed in an atmosphere of tense expectancy preparations for convening tomorrow their history-making conference on limitation of ships of war.

While the round of exchanges continued privately and negotiations entered their first public phase with summoning of all delegates to a meeting at No. 10 Downing street and later to a reception by King George, event cast into clearer relief hourly prospective viewpoints of every participant.

It became evident that the Americans were ready to give practical application to President Hoover's desire to reduce to the lowest possible levels and although the delegation disclosed no details it was believed the delegation might take the lead with a far-reaching offer to extend the naval holiday on capital ships, reduce their size and reduce battleships strength eventually below the level of the Washington treaty.

There was every indication that step would be acceptable to Great Britain, Japan, France, and Italy. Most of the delegates were confident, at least outwardly, as to obstacles which it was feared France and Italy might interpose on other phases of the negotiations.

Optimism expressed yesterday after Colonel Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state and head of the American delegation, conferred with Andre Tardieu, French premier, and Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, was reiterated today on every side.

Several new suggestions stirring today included the possibility that the Washington treaty virtually would be scrapped and a new accord substituted revolving for a long term of years the ratios of all categories of ships. Another was that Germany would be invited to participate in any naval agreement, in view of her program of building cruisers.

Much of the optimism so freely expressed on every hand appeared to have its origin in assurances given by the French and Italians after their week-end conferences with Colonel Stimson.

M. Tardieu described his conversation with the American secretary of state as encouraging a very happy atmosphere for the beginning of the negotiations. He said how ever that the conference itself was just beginning.

Grandi, Italian foreign minister, after a first meeting with Colonel Stimson had been a very frank pleasure, and they talked at length together and ascertained with great satisfaction that our two delegations are animated by identical spirits and have the same confidence in the success of the conference.

Colonel Stimson yesterday brought another of the conference figures into the picture. He took Ambassador Marlow with him to call on Mr. Tardieu and Grandi. Mr. Marlow made an enviable reputation as negotiator in Mexico City, and it seems certain the Franco-American discussions would rest on his shoulders.

SERIES FAILS TO SHOW DOPE IN BASKETBALL

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Jan. 20. (AP)—The big shooting at Fayetteville has become a matter of history, and nobody seems to know any more about the Southwest conference basketball marathon than before the Razorbacks and Longhorns had it out. The result of their series a split, left no clue to the balance of power.

Where Arkansas looked like its old self Friday night, taking the Steers without being greatly extended, Texas came back to square it up with a 29 to 27 triumph Saturday night. That puts them even for the season, and the championship doubtless will depend upon their success against the other five teams the rest of the way. There seems little reason to doubt one of them will be at the head of the procession when the curtain drops March 1. Rice once was regarded as the only outfit with a chance of beating out the twin terrors. Four straight losses has proved rather conclusively that the Owls were over-rated.

There will be little activity in the reigning circle this week. Arkansas does not have a game scheduled, and Texas plays only once, meeting Baylor in a return engagement. Saturday night at Austin. The Aggies, who awoke yesterday to find themselves at the top of the scramble the result of a single victory over Southern Methodist, will have an opportunity to prove whether they belong in that rarified atmosphere. They engage Rice Tuesday night at Houston, and on Friday play host to Texas Christian at College Station. It would not be surprising were they to take a tumble down the percentage ladder. Baylor and Southern Methodist tangle Tuesday night at Waco in the week's fourth engagement.

The Rice Owls right now have more to worry about than any outfit in the conference. They can't get started, and their whiskers are growing fast. Since they have vowed not to toy with a razor until they win two games, the prospect is discouraging. After meeting the Aggies Tuesday, they do not have another bout until February 8.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, knowing of the Owls' tonsorial boycott, laid for them last week and handed the bewhiskered ones a pair of beatings. The Frogs broke into the win column by downing the fowls, 33 to 21, Saturday night at Fort Worth. It is interesting to know, in that connection, that the Frog varsity five has been taking lickings from its freshman team. Next year the Christians should be poisonous.

Despite bitter cold, the Arkansas-Texas series at Fayetteville was attended by big crowds. Almost 3,000 saw the opening game. "Big Un" Rose, Longhorn ace, was closely guarded in both tilts, scoring only two field goals in the series. Wear Schoonover, Porker seige run, had only fair success against the scrapping Texas guards.

WINNER GETS LARGE PURSE IN GOLF MEET

AQUA CALIENTE, Lower California, Jan. 20. (AP)—More than a hundred picked golf exponents today over the Aqua Caliente course, urged on by a purse of $25,000.

The nation's ranking professionals, with a smattering of amateurs, yesterday swung around the par 71 course in an effort to solve its intricacies. Few kept scores. Dick Linares, Tucson, Ariz., and Harold Long, Denver, were the only ones to report par cards of 71, while a number, including Chet Beer, Bakersfield, Calif., and Fred Morrison, Los Angeles, shot 72s. Johnny Farrell, St. Augustine, Fla., among others, hit the 73 mark.

Al Espinosa, veteran Chicagoan, said the course was the most difficult one he had struck in many a moon. He had a 74 to show for his efforts. Mystery of who would be able to best master the course during the four days of 72-hole medal play was left tight in the grasp of the well-trapped fairways. With only par three holes it was certain the tourney would develop into a hard driving contest.

Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., was most frequently mentioned as a winner, due to his consistent record during the winter campaign. He was not without stern competition. Another young pro, Denny Sute of Columbia, Ohio, with his victory in the Los Angeles $10,000 open as evidence of his prowess, was named as a possible repeater.

Harvard's varsity football team played to a total attendance of 410,189 persons during the 1929 season.

DUKE'S HIGH SCORING FIVE SETS PACE IN DIXIE RACE

Duke's basketball five, which registered 275 points in its first four games, is setting a dizzy pace in Dixie. Among the big guns Councillor, forward; Werber, guard, and Captain Farley, guard. Councillor and Werber are in their eighth season together.

BY DILLON GRAHAM

(Associated Press Sports Writer) DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—A boisterous youngster, Duke university, is causing the Southern conference grownups no end of basketball worry.

Paced by a 6 foot 4 inch center and a pair of stars who are in their eighth season together, the baby members of the Dixie loop piled up 275 points in its first four games, an average of 68.

Making their bow in Southern conference basketball last season, the Blue Devils plugged away to finish second to North Carolina State for the Dixie title. This year the Devils look even better.

Joe Croson, bean pole center, has been the big scoring threat, registering 94 points in four contests for an average of 23 points a game. In his first two tilts the big boy counted 68 points.

The eight-year buddies are Harry Councillor, dynamite midget forward, and Bill Werber, one of the south's flashiest guards. This pair and Croson played together two years with a Washington, D. C., high school five and had a grand reunion as Devil sharpshooters a year ago.

Captain Roland Farley, guard, and George Rogers, forward, round out the quintet.

All of Duke's players except Croson are small, depending on speed and deception for their victories.

Giant T. A. T. Plane Crashes Trying to Land on Hill—Sixteen Persons in Liner Killed and Burned in Wreckage

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—Sixteen charred and mangled bodies lay in the morgue at Oceanside today as gruesome reminders of the crash of a giant T. A. T.-Maddux air liner while returning to Los Angeles with a group of week-end visitors to Agua Caliente, Mexico.

The sixteen met a horrible death late yesterday at Oceanside when the transport, faltered down out of the sky, plowed a big gash in the earth, burst into flames and became a gasoline-fed funeral pyre.

None of the eight men and women aboard lived to tell the story, and all but three were burned beyond recognition.

Witnesses, including a Western Express pilot who saw the tragedy, agreed the ill-fated craft had been fighting against a fog which forced aerial traffic beneath a dangerously low 200-foot ceiling.

Others who heard the crash and saw the flames hurried to the spot only to find a pile of red hot metal. Spectators could only stand by, knowing the plane's occupants were beyond reach of human aid.

The great plane, apparently snagging the hillside with a wingtip, tore through the soft soil many yards, breaking the cabin wide open. Seething in flames from burst fuel tanks, it piled into a crumpled mass that spared not a single life.

Two of the first persons to reach the wreck. Lieut. Virgil Westbrook, army flier, and Police Chief Forest Eaton of San Clemente, agreed the plane struck the hillside at an angle and three of the bodies were thrown clear of the wreckage. The other thirteen were piled forward in the steel cabin.

Eaton said it appeared that in trying to land on sloping ground the right wing had dipped and hit the hillside, hurling the craft sideways and breaking it apart in the middle.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, official of the T. A. T.-Maddux Air Lines, was in San Diego and was notified of the tragedy. He immediately assumed charge of operations and informed airways officials in Agua Caliente, San Diego and Los Angeles of the crash. He did not go to the scene, stating nothing could be accomplished by such a move.

Colonel Lindbergh said neither he nor anyone was in a position to say what might have caused the wreck. "We will make every possible effort to determine the cause of this unfortunate mishap," Colonel Lindbergh said.

AUSTIN—

Lieut. Governor Barry Miller wielded the gavel in the senate.

One hundred of the 150 members of the house answered roll call, and there were 29 senators present.

The legislature, already with 144 working days—a regular and three called sessions—to its credit, was convened on proclamation of Governor Moody who submitted penitentiary concentration and reorganization and proposed changes in the fee system. The third special session adjourned last July 20.

The governor said he would probably present other subjects from time to time.

Senators Ed Westbrook of Sherman and Archie Parr of Benavides were the only absentees in the senate. Westbrook was marooned between here and Waco and Parr, dean of the senate was expected tomorrow.

The senate recessed after the chaplain's prayer and the reading of the reading of the governor's call in order to conclude its caucus. Senate officers and employees were chosen at the caucus, which lasted for an hour before the session opened.

Bob Barker was re-elected secretary. The senate also re-elected Wedgell O'Neal journal clerk, A. W. Holt, sergeant-at-arms, and Warren Freund, doorkeeper.

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. (AP)—Members of the 41st legislature came to the capitol today for their fourth special session and their 145th day of work.

While needed action on penitentiary improvement and limitation of county officers fees were the reasons set out in the call for the extra session, other subjects were expected to be opened up later.

With standing committees holding over, the houses planned to lose little time in organization if quorums were present and to be ready to receive the governor's message this afternoon or tomorrow. Joe M. McCre of Greenville was favored for election as speaker pro tem of the senate.

Several bills on penitentiary concentration and on the limitation of fees for county office holders were ready for the hopper. These were the only subjects so far submitted by the governor.

Regulation of public utilities, appropriations for state colleges, eleemosynary institutions departments and repayment of farmers in the pink boi worm territory for the money they have spent in eradication work, and local bills were expected to be submitted at later dates.

Boundary Question Up
Settlement of the boundary line between Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle likely will come up before the legislature. Governor Moody and Governor W. J. Hollaway of Oklahoma will confer on that subject here Friday.

Three proposals for concentration of the penitentiary system have been advanced by members of a committee appointed to study the problem. The committee was composed of the nine prison board members and nine legislators.

Thirteen members of the group favor centralization of industrial activities within twenty miles of Austin and the sale of all except the Imperial, Harlem, Darrington, and Ramsay farms.

A majority of the legislative members dissented from that plan. Two of them proposed centralization on the Imperial farm southwest of Houston and two others proposed rehabilitation of the present walls at Huntsville. The governor has expressed himself unequivocally for moving the system to Central Texas.

In order that the legislators may have a better grasp of the penitentiary problem, Governor Moody will urge them to visit the system in a body. In the event the trip is made members of the legislature probably will spend Friday and Saturday in their inspection.

Fee Bills Ready
Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock headed the legislative committee proposing revamping the state fee system. The legislature will be asked to place the fees on a graduated scale in accord with population, with the annual earning of a county officer in a county of 200,000 or over, limited to $12,500.

The city attorneys association will meet here Wednesday to draft a public utilities bill, acting under a promise from the governor to representatives of the association Saturday that he would submit the subject. A new regulatory state commission of three mem-

Wheat in Advance
CHICAGO, Jan. 20. (AP)—Influenced by upturns at Liverpool and by enlarged export business from North America, the wheat market here scored early advances today.

Opening unchanged to 1 cent higher, Chicago wheat steadied later at around Saturday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were firm, with corn starting 1-4 cent to 1-2 cent up, but subsequently reacting a little.

Wheat closed unsettled 1-3 cent to 3-8 cent a bushel lower than Saturday's finish, corn closed 1-3 to 1-4 cent to 3-8 cents down, oats 1-4 cent to 3-8 cents off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 7 cents advance.

Federal Net Holds Sixty-Four Persons
GALVESTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Sixty-four men, caught in a federal prohibition dragnet series in Fort Bend county near here, Saturday night and yesterday, today awaited formal hearing before a United States commissioner here.

Sheriff H. W. Collins of Fort Bend county, four of his deputies and a jailor were among those arrested.

All were held under blanket charges of federal dry law violation pending the filing of individual complaints.

Sheriff Collins was released on a temporary $10,000 bond, but all the others were held.

Raymond Wisenheart, assistant United States district attorney said he would proceed as rapidly as possible with the preliminary hearings before the commissioner for the last 48 arrested after the disposal of the first seven cases, including those of the officers were heard.

COURT ROOM, Austin, Jan. 20. (AP)—This ancient court house was filled early with the curious today as John W. Brady, former judge of the third court of civil appeals went to trial on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28-year-old capitol stenographer, here on the night of November 9.

Two Texas Rangers appeared under "general orders," the said, to help the sheriff and three deputies keep order. They anticipated no disorder, but were here "just in case."

A. G. B. Smith of Baytown, father of the girl, came to the courthouse hoping to get a seat at the counsel table.

Mrs. Brady, her face lined and worried, arrived about 9 o'clock and took a seat in the district clerk's office. One by one, friends of the family dropped in to talk to her in whispers.

The wife had gone to the jail twice a day to see Brady since the morning he was put there to stay until the trial. She sat this morning with her chair so turned that she could see out of the frosted window and through the rain to the jail.

Corridors Full
The corridors became choked as the witnesses began arriving among the many notables called by the defense here early were Galloway Calhoun, first assistant attorney general, and Eugene Smith, San Antonio, chairman of the state highway commission under the Miriam A. Ferguson administration.

Just before 10 a. m., County Attorney Roy Archer, aiding the prosecution, revealed that the state had not had Brady examined by alienists. Whether the defense had could not be learned immediately.

Mrs. Brady came into the court room along with the witnesses, taking a seat at her husband's counsel table. She was dressed plainly, wearing an old coat and a hat of faded pink.

Judge Brady, looking drawn and pale almost tottered to his chair. His wife and sister kissed him, and it looked as if there were tears in his eyes. He sat for a moment with downcast head until his brother, Will Brady of California, walked to him and patted him on the back.

Smoking Is Barred
There was a sigh as the sheriff shouted out in a great bass voice "no smoking in the court room." It was the court's first ruling in the Brady case.

As court opened, the defense submitted a motion calling on the state to supply it with a list of the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury and a transcript of their testimony.

Young District Attorney Henry Brooks, with a scowl on his thin face, objected, saying he would rather the motion was presented after the case formally had been called.

District Judge J. D. Moore sent all the veniremen out and prepared to hear the petition.
