S. S. AMERICA, Nov. 19. (AP)—The Steamship Mauretania, edging up close to the sinking Swedish vessel Ovidia, this afternoon took aboard the crew who had abandoned ship in two lifeboats. Meanwhile the Steamship America with Captain George Fried on her bridge, after steaming for almost 10 hours in response to an S. O. S. from the Ovidia, stood alongside as did the shipping board freighter Endicott.

The crew of the sinking ship, after a council among themselves, started abandoning the craft in their own boats shortly after 12:15 p. m. Eastern Standard time. Captain George Fried, the America's skipper and hero already of two ocean rescues, the Antioch and the Florida, brought his vessel alongside the Ovidia after a sharp run of 10 hours off his course to reach her side.

Orchestra Will Open Broadcast

Central high school's 25-piece orchestra, directed by Pop Frazier, will open the Pampa broadcast from the local studio at 9 o'clock tonight. The orchestra will open with "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," which may be used as a sort of station theme song. Other numbers will be Alhuni March, Sobre las Olas, College Boy Dream, Walk High, and two songs, Confession and You Darling, by Miss Ethel Chism.

Old-time dance tunes by an old fiddlers trio, Hawaiian music, Mexican love songs, classical music on the piano and "croon" songs will be other features of the second program of the Pampa radio studio.

The new telephone numbers are 1020 and 1021. Fans are asked to either telephone or wire their messages. A telegram from any point in the city costs 20 cents. Telegraph offices will remain open until midnight. Sam Fenberg, the announcer, will take the microphone promptly at 9 o'clock.

The program follows: Fampa school orchestra. Request numbers in response to calls received last week, by Gonzales.

Guthrie Turner, playing piano-accordion, violin and harmonica.

Joyce Turner, singer, and Preston Shinn, harmonica player.

Piano numbers, Mrs. May Foreman Carr.

Glenn Robinson and Andy Anderson, ukulele and steel guitar.

Joe Blinford, tenor; Malcolm Carr, baritone, and W. A. "Tex" Kelly, crooner.

Old dance tunes for 15 minutes by old fiddlers trio.

Ted Edens, singer and pianist.

Leopard Wounds Littlefield Boy

LUBBOCK, Nov. 19. (AP)—James Evans, 4, whose calf was lacerated by a pet leopard owned by a circus when the animal attacked the child at Littlefield, near here, died in a hospital here today.

The leopard was being displayed by its owner in a Littlefield drug store when it leaped on the boy. The animal's owner was being held at Littlefield.

ALTUS, Okla., Nov. 19. (AP)—Scalp wounds inflicted by a pet leopard probably will prove fatal to James Evans, 4, whose calf was lacerated by Mrs. J. D. Evans of Littlefield, relatives at Altus were informed today.

The child is in a hospital at Lubbock and relatives were told that meningitis of the brain has developed.

The leopard, a 175-pound animal owned by a circus, was in a Littlefield drug store with its keeper Saturday. It leaped on the boy, tearing his scalp.

The Evans family lived in Altus until about two years ago.

One Man Robs Bank

MOWEAGUA, Ill., Nov. 19. (AP)—A robber working alone, today held up Cashier Paul Neff of the Moweaqua State bank at noon today and escaped with $5,000 after locking the cashier in the vault.

Awfully Cold In Amarillo

Season's First Snowfall Is Experienced At "Coldest City in Texas."

AMARILLO, Nov. 19. (AP)—With a brisk north wind blowing the first snow of the winter was falling here this morning, melting as it reached the ground. The temperature at 9:30 was 35 degrees.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 19. (AP)—A long Indian summer was under full flight today, completely routed throughout the West by temperatures seeking new lows for the season and the first heavy general snowfall.

Snow over wide flung fronts ranged from two inches to nearly three feet with especially heavy falls reported on mountain passes, closing many of them for the winter and tying up motor transportation.

Rainfall amounting to one-third of an inch fell in Pampa last night, and today the weather was colder with the sky overcast. The forecast for tonight was freezing, with a fair Thursday in prospect.

Stockmen and farmers were jubilant in the Rocky Mountain section since the protected period of fair weather threatened to deplete the range lands and storage reservoirs had little water impounded.

Air Mail Grounded

Although air mail planes were grounded, other traffic was not seriously hampered. Trains ran slightly behind schedule in some sections.

High up in the Tehachapic range, near Lebec, Calif., an intensive search was under way for a missing Pacific Air Transport ship carrying three passengers.

Fear was expressed for the safety of Robert Hamilton, 16, who set out from Couer d'Alene, Idaho, on a deer hunt. Snow was heavy in that area and temperatures dropping rapidly.

Montana reported falling temperatures with 12 below at Helena. Two feet of snow in the mountains and more than six inches on the range lands delayed traffic in Wyoming, but all highways were reported open. A light snowfall in New Mexico was accompanied by high wind. Clear weather was predicted for today with temperatures hovering near the freezing mark.

Denver had three inches of snow with the mercury hovering between 28 and 33 degrees. Colorado was blanketed, with mountain passes closed.

Snow in Mountains

Cold weather under clear skies held throughout California with a heavy snowfall in the mountainous country in the southern part of the state. Frost warnings were issued in the San Bernardino and San Fernando valleys in southern California. Strong west winds invaded the Imperial valley, bringing a drop in temperatures.

Arizona was beset with an intermittent sleet, rain and snow, which attacked the entire state.

Zero weather was reported at Wilbur, Wash., and it was two below at Davenport.

Eastern Oregon reported minimum temperatures of 29 degrees.

Snow was general over southern Utah, reaching a depth of more than two feet in many sections.

Amarillo Man Charged On Girl's Story To Police

AMARILLO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Charged with criminal assault upon a 12-year-old Amarillo girl, four men, Paul Hastings, E. Galino, Jack Cullum, and Willis Roberts are in the Potter county jail, having been arrested last night and today on grand jury indictments.

A woman, Billie Burke, also is held in jail as a material witness and in connection with the investigation of the alleged crimes.

The child against whom the offenses are charged is a daughter of an Amarillo woman and one of six children in the family.

The offenses are alleged to have taken place at various tourist camps in and around Amarillo.

Box Supper to Be Given on Friday

An old-fashioned pie supper will be held as a benefit event at the West Ward school Friday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Sam Fenberg will be auctioneer. The event is to be sponsored by the West Ward P. T. A., and proceeds will be used to furnish the teachers' rest room and for other purposes.

Good News to Many But Not to Newspapers

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—Perhaps some state employees do not read the newspapers—

Or perhaps the newspapers didn't consider it news—

Regardless, the announcement Saturday of W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, that he was ready to accept $300,000 worth of warrants, held up since early in October because of the state's deficiency, seemed to have been good news to few people.

Hatcher repeated today, for the benefit of those who failed to see his Saturday's notice, that he was ready to accept general revenue (white) warrants up to warrant number 18507.

The usual rush to the treasurer's window after his announcement this time brought in only $98,000 worth of warrants.

DALE IS GIVEN CONTINUANCE

Absence of Witness Accepted as Reasonable Grounds For Delaying Trial.

A motion offered by defense counsel to continue the trial of A. C. Dale until next term of court was granted by Judge W. R. Ewing this morning after state's attorneys had announced their approval with the observation that "the motion is good."

Dale is under indictment, charged with theft of gasoline from the Phillips Petroleum company. At the conclusion of the trial of H. J. Shadwick on the same charge, Dale's trial was set for today. Fred Weeks, who directed the prosecution against Shadwick, was absent when the case was called for trial this morning.

In his motion for continuance, the defendant alleged that he could not go to trial because of the absence of Walter Moon. The petition states that Moon was released from jail 10 days ago and that he is now on a trip and will not return for 30 days. Moon, he claims, is a material witness for the defense. A subpoena was issued to bring Moon into court but was never served, the motion states.

Dale alleged that Moon would testify on the witness stand that he never had any dealings with the defendant relative to the theft of gasoline, and that Moon would testify that he had no connections with the accomplices.

The defendant stated that the motion to delay the case but that "substantial justice may be done." Dale was released from jail on a $1,900 bond last week.

VETERAN SUCCEDES

CORSICANA, Nov. 19. (AP)—Gabriel Followell, 88, Confederate veteran, died here today.

RAIN AT CORSICANA

CORSICANA, Nov. 19. (AP)—A hard rain fell here today, and the temperature was dropping, having declined 10 degrees in 20 minutes.

Several members of the News-Post staff will go to Borger tonight to attend the formal opening of The Herald's new building.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST OPEN DISPLAYING OF FOODS IS UNDER WAY—INSPECTION HERE

The State Bureau of Foods and Drugs is conducting a campaign against the handling and display of foods in such a manner as to cause dangerous contamination, according to Food and Drug Inspector Selman of the State Department of Health who with Dr. T. J. Worrell is inspecting food and drug shops in Pampa this week.

In order that the campaign may be successful, the cooperation of all city and county health officers, as well as the food industries, is requested, according to Dr. Worrell. The public should be educated to the dangers of unprotected foods to such an extent that they will refuse to buy any foods that are exposed to contamination, he declared.

Mr. Selman issued the following statement in regard to the situation in practically every Texas town or city:

"Chain store managers state that their volume of sales of candies and certain prepared food-stuffs are greatest in those states which place no restrictions upon open displays. Apparently the customers want the goods so displayed that they may be handled or sampled, never giving a thought to the contamination they may produce in the food.

"Food and drug inspectors report constantly the observance of happenings in connection with open displays of easily contaminated foodstuffs which are not only repulsive but highly dangerous. Children have been seen to touch with their tongues candies displayed on tables on a level with their mouths. Restaurants display pies, baked apples and other sweet foods on counters at which the customers eat and, of course breathe, cough and sneeze directly on these products. Customers in cafeterias often take foods, examine them and return same for someone else to eat. Customers in bakeries have been observed to handle bakery products with filthy hands and to even touch these goods with their nose and lips.

"Almost all cases of food poisoning reported as caused by ptomaines are in fact caused by bacterial con-

PASSENGERS ARE SAVED AS VESSEL SINKS

British Steamer Is Lost When It Hits Rocks

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 19. (AP)—Riding through thick barriers of fog, lifeboats tacked to safety 550 passengers and crew of the British steamship Highland Hope which ran on the Black Cliffs of Berlenegas off the coast of Portugal today.

The only casualty was a Spanish immigrant who lost his balance and fell into the sea, being seriously injured.

The Highland Hope, owned by the Nelson Steam Navigation company, was en route from London to Buenos Aires. She was constructed last year and was of 14,000 tons.

With her holds flooded after crashing on the treacherous rocks, the Highland Hope was sinking late today.

After the crash which roused the ship's passengers from their berths in the dark hours of morning, the order was given to take to the lifeboats. This was accomplished despite fog and darkness. Although many of the passengers had no time to dress, there was no panic and perfect order prevailed.

The salvage boats Lisbon and Gibraltar rushed to the scene and took the boats under tow, landing them safely at Peniche. Here the passengers were taken by motor-launches to Sao Mamede and from there they came on to Lisbon by special train.

Other salvage boats tried to get the stranded liner off the rocks but were unsuccessful, their efforts being hindered by the dense fog.

The S O S sent out by the Highland Hope when she fouled on the ugly rocks off the coast sent numbers of rescue craft scurrying to ward her and the water soon was dotted with boats bringing aid to the shipwrecked people.

Late today the liner lay on the rocks her stern pounded by seas and with weather conditions making it impossible to go aboard her.

The captain and a few members of the crew stuck to the ship to the last but presumably had come ashore this afternoon when nothing further could be done.

Peniche is about 40 miles from Lisbon.

DALLAS MAN ROBBED

DALLAS, Nov. 19. (AP)—After trying W. W. Mitchell in a chair in the rear of his store, two men today robbed him of $2,000 in watches, jewelry and diamonds and $20 in cash.

Mitchell told officers he saw the men sitting in an automobile parked in front of his place of business, at 5117 East Grand avenue, before they came in. He said they were there so long he believed they were waiting for someone.

The Wichita Falls Coyotes will arrive tonight for their game with the Harvesters tomorrow.

Borger Herald Has New Home

BORGER, Nov. 19. (AP)—Scores of newspaper men and hundreds of Panhandle well-wishers will gather here tonight to participate in and attend an open-house program in the Borger Daily Herald's new building.

The new, modern building will be initiated within four days of the fourth anniversary of the appearance of the first Daily Herald on the crowded streets of this boom town.

J. Lindsay Nunn of Amarillo and David M. Warren of Pampa are publishers of the paper, using the corporation name of Nunn-Warren Publishing Company, Inc.

Through arrangements with the Associated Press, a special souvenir edition of the Herald will be printed for guests attending the opening. R. S. (Bob) Brashears is manager and J. C. Rothwell editor of the Herald.

Ben Tackett Convicted

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 19. (AP)—Ben T. Tackett, oil operator, was found guilty on seven counts of an indictment charging him with using the United States mails to defraud, in a verdict returned by a jury in federal district court here today.

Judge W. T. Atwell is expected to pass sentence later in the week.

Guardsmen To Search For Man Lost In Arizona

WINSLOW, Ariz., Nov. 19. (AP)—Twenty National Guardsmen prepared to leave Winslow today for the mountains 45 miles south of here and to aid in the search for D. J. Bird, 25, railroad brakeman, last since Friday.

Yesterday an airplane flew over a part of the mountainous country where Bird is believed to be wandering, but was forced to return to Winslow airport when snow began to fall. No sign of the missing man was detected.

Bird moved to Winslow three months ago from Temple, Texas, with his wife and four-year-old daughter. Mrs. Bird received word yesterday her husband's father had left Temple to aid in the search.

Old Clingman, local mat artist, will wrestle George Poulas in Borger tonight.

The Wichita Falls Coyotes will arrive tonight for their game with the Harvesters tomorrow.

DUNCAN ACCEPTS CAPTAINCY OF COMMUNITY CHEST FUND DRIVE AND STARTS PLANS

Plans are going forward today for the launching of the Community Chest fund drive on Dec. 1.

Judge Ivy Duncan, who was appointed chairman of the campaign without his consent, accepted the responsibility but differed somewhat with the committee on details for the drive. Judge Duncan believes that every citizen should be interested in contributing something to this "drive to end drives." He wishes every city block canvassed thoroughly.

The projects to be included in the $15,000 chest fund are the following: Family relief, administered by Welfare board, $6,000; Salvation Army, $2400; Day Nursery, $2500; Boy Scouts, $2200; Red Cross, $750; Camp Fire Girls, $250; executive emergency fund, $900.

The Welfare board will be re-organized within a short time.

MANY OTHERS BADLY HURT IN OKLAHOMA

Part of Bethany Is Wiped Out By Twister

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—Sinking suddenly during a heavy rain today a tornado took a death toll of approximately 23 persons and injured 100 others in and near the little town of Bethany, seven miles west of here.

The downpour of rain continued several hours after the tornado twisted past, handicapping the efforts of relief workers. Over a foot of water stood in the town, in which 200 buildings were destroyed.

Before the wind struck Bethany, it demolished a school house at Camel, a short distance away, killing two pupils and injuring the teacher and other children in the building.

As the rain subsided, Red Cross, Salvation Army and National Guard relief workers were able to work faster in removing the dead and injured from the debris.

They found the wind virtually had destroyed all the eastern section of the town. A survey made from the air showed the damage had been limited to the vicinity of Bethany.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—The list of dead in the wind storm which struck Bethany today follows:

Mrs. John Douglas, R. L. Hoover, Mrs. W. O. Bounds, Mrs. O. E. Manning, Marguerite Zorline, Delbert Sharp, 12, Marvin Murphy, 22, Mrs. Murphy, eight unidentified persons.

Miraculous Escape

The miraculous escape of Mrs. W. L. Burton and her baby, whose home was destroyed, was told by her husband.

Burton said his home after the storm to find his wife and child shivering in the heavy rain. When the wind struck, Mrs. Burton caught the baby in her arms. She sheltered it as the house collapsed.

The baby sustained only minor scratches while the mother escaped with lacerations.

An ambulance driver, Yates Hoover, accustomed to carrying on without a show of emotion, found the body of his father in the debris of their home.

Unable to find his mother, young Hoover rushed the body of his father back to a hospital and then searched in search of her.

Before the storm struck Bethany, it demolished a school building near Campbell Creek, killing Marguerite Zorline, 14, Delbert Sharp, 12, and an unidentified person.

Pupils Are Injured

Miss Mary Proctor, the teacher, and several other pupils were injured.

There Should Be No Let-Down in Church Work of Nation.

There is a well defined human tendency to loaf when times are somewhat slack. This is all the more proof that depressions—or most of them—are in the mind.

Church work over the country is rather erratic in recent years. Some groups have kept their heads clear and have gone forward, while others have slipped backward. A few have cleared their church rolls of dead timber and have shown losses which really amount to progress. Churches have too long allowed mere membership to be the only test of faith, or service.

Membership is little more than a minimum requirement. The world is full of joiners. There are few organizations which do not suffer from the effect of taking in folk who join for the prestige that membership gives. Many important offices are filled by persons who have neither the time nor inclination to accomplish anything worthwhile.

There are several institutions which should be kept strong regardless of conditions. One is the school. Another is the judicial system. The third is the church. More faith in the churches would do much to remove the fear that has gripped American business. We pride ourselves on being the greatest people, having the greatest form of government, the most intelligence—but we act as timidly in a crisis as do the lowly Chinese who are groping toward a place in the council of nations.

It is highly un-American to let the churches suffer from non-support and non-attendance.

DOERS AND DAWDLERS.

PAMPA POST: Pride in one's home city is a fine thing, but pride alone never did build a city. Pride too often denotes satisfaction, and civic satisfaction means that you are not going forward. In many of the old States, pride is so thick that the citizens can not see what visitors see—rundown buildings, dirty streets and lifeless leaders.

Saint Paul was proud of his birthplace. He declared himself a citizen of no mean city. Whatever Paul may have done, or not have done, to forward civic improvement, he was largely instrumental in world betterment. We can't all be Pauls. We can't all shape and advance a gentle religion that shall take hold of men's imagination and fashion human conduct thru the numberless generations. But if we have pride in our home town we should try to justify that pride by own own contributions. If we can do no more, we can at least sweep before our own doors. They also serve who only stand and wait, we are told. But not if they only stand and wait for somebody else to do the work and give the money and bear the criticism and take the rough edges of volunteer service. Those who stand and wait, or sit and wait, or drive around and wait, can not class themselves as builders. They are only users. They utilize what others make possible. Every town has its dawdlers as well as its doers. Usually the dawdlers outnumber the doers, and in such cases the town goes backward. Many dawdlers excuse their dawdling by saying the community natural advantages will make it great. Natural advantages never made a city great. It takes men to build. Nature only supplies the materials. —State Press in Dallas News.

vestigations have shown that there were many wet-drinking, dry-voting members who were really opposed to prohibition and also some dry-drinking, dry-voting members who are finally convinced that the law won't work and that most people don't want it.

The dries have really taken a bad licking in 1930 despite their protestations of content. When the wets sweep through New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio, Illinois and other states where one party or both came out wet for the first time or where wet candidates were elected to succeed dries it simply can't be laughed off.

There has been a big trend this year, both popular and political toward the wet side. The trend may be temporary and it may slow up.

And no one should lose sight of the significance given to the New York and Illinois elections by the wo-fully small votes polled by independent third candidates put into the field by the dry organizations to punish Republican candidates in those two states.

The dry tickets were far too weak to punish anyone. It may be argued that other issues piled up the pluralities for the Democratic candidates and that if the contests had been close the dry third tickets would have pulled away enough dry Republican votes to administer the punishment as one did in New York in 1926 when Senator Wadsworth was defeated.

But it isn't easy to hope that the Republican party will prefer to continue to live in fear of punishment and anyone who believes the New York and Illinois Republicans will turn dry again is very optimistic indeed.

The really tough point the dries are up against is the fact that neither party can win the 1932 presidential election without the electoral votes of the states which have gone wet in 1930. The thought of even winning without New York, Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts is manifestly absurd.

Consequently there are quite a few canny observers who believe that both party platforms in 1932 will be wet—that either both will call for repeal or one for repeal and the other for modification. In other words, that the politicians—who nearly all care more about winning elections than about the worries of the Anti-Saloon league—won't dare to be dry any more than they have previously dared be wet.

So regardless of what may happen in Congress—and something might happen there for reasons aforesaid—the question of what happens at the national conventions is going to cause more and more excitement, month by month.

WASHINGTON.—One way to look at the wet-dry situation in the next Congress is to accept the fact that the dries claim large majorities and that there consequently will be no change in the laws.

The other way is to acknowledge the fact that scores of members counted dry would be delighted to vote wet if they became convinced that it was politically safe and that in many sections the safety or even the urgent advisability of such a switch has been definitely indicated.

Although the dries insist that their majorities in both houses constitute an impregnable bulwark for the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment, it has always been a pet boast of some leaders in the Anti-Saloon league that fear of the league's strength was all that kept Congress from voting overwhelmingly wet at the first opportunity.

The wets always figured that way, too. Their in-

W.C.T.U. Protests Selling of Flasks

HOUSTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—The National Woman's Christian Temperance union, through action of its executive committee, today appealed to merchants to stop advertising, exposing for sale and selling hip-pocket flasks.

The plea, read to the 56th annual convention, said flasks "are used in transporting liquors for beverage purposes, hence they are contributing to the violation of the law."

"They are suggestive of ways in which the law may be violated, and accordingly increase the violation of the law."

"The case with which they can be purchased is especially to be deplored, because of the temptation to the young people, for their possession means their use."

"We appeal to all women and especially to all mothers to join in this movement by a personal protest wherever they see hip flasks displayed, advertised or offered for sale by the stores of which they are patrons."

"There is a patriotism of peace as well as of war, and that consists in obedience to the laws of our country and sustaining the government in its efforts to enforce our laws."

"The union's activities of the morning mainly consisted of listening to reports from various departments—social morality, narcotics and others."

High School Club Hears Program

The Amusa club, a Junior High organization, met Monday morning at the school during one of the periods.

The secretary, Cleo Benton, read the minutes of the last meeting. The flag salute was given and the program followed.

Glen Twyford gave a reading entitled "When We Haven't Said Our Prayers" and Jack Walstead gave a soprano solo. Evelyn Bicknell and Floradene Finley also gave readings and Kathryn Snell played the violin. Mrs. Hazel Hahan, teacher at Junior High, read a chapter of "Huckleberry Finn" during the rest of the period.

Second Robsion Brother Given Guilty Verdict

ALTUS, Okla., Nov. 19. (AP)—The second of two Robsion brothers today faced a penitentiary sentence in connection with the slaying August 29 of Elmer Carter, Jackson county deputy sheriff, who was killed as he attempted to halt a truck carrying liquor making paraprernals.

Vernon Robsion was convicted of manslaughter by a district court jury which left the sentence to the court. Judge Frank Matthews did not set a date for sentencing.

George Robsion, alleged to have been the actual slayer, was sentenced to life upon his conviction of murder a month ago.

Ernest Jackson of Vernon, Texas, with the Robsion brothers when Carter was killed and Joe Whit, Altus police chief, was blinded by a bullet, is held in the county jail here on murder charges. Date of his trial has not been set.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY HOLLYCE SELLERS

Yesterday I gave a few suggestions as to the latest designs in Christmas cards, and today I am going to pass on to you a few tips on etiquette that I have received in regard to the season's greetings.

While the etiquette of greeting cards is generally understood, there are a few points which bear repetition. Christmas cards are of two kinds, personal and informal. The first are designed primarily to be printed or engraved with the sender's name, and a card should be selected which is appropriate to the entire list of friends and acquaintances. The informal cards, on the other hand, give greater scope for unique and original choice as they are selected to fit each individual on the sender's list and may accordingly be religious, dignified, humorous, or quaint as desired.

Either printed or engraved signatures are now accepted as equally good form for the personal cards. Whichever is used, the lettering style of the signature must match that of the card. The facsimile or handwritten signature is new, but it entails a special plate.

For younger married couples the use of the sender's first names instead of the formal Mr. and Mrs. is now sponsored. Either the husband's name or the wife's may be used first according to which best "balances" the card.

The married business woman who uses her maiden name at her office, has a choice of correct procedure. She may send the same card to her business and personal lists, in which case she should include her maiden name in italics under her joint signature with her husband, as "Mr. and Mrs." on their Christmas cards. Or she can have separate cards for her business list carrying simply her maiden name and for her personal list carrying her name with her husband's.

The unmarried business woman does not use Miss before her name, but signs her cards, for example, "Mary J. Smith" or "Mary J. Smith." Omitting the middle initial is just a bit smarter this year.

In sending cards to a business friend or acquaintance, it is customary to address it to the place of business. An exception is made, however, if the sender is acquainted with the wife of the person to whom the card is sent. In that case the card is sent to both at the home address. In no case should the wife be addressed at the business office of her husband. If the sender of the card is not acquainted with the wife, her name should not, strictly speaking, be included in the address of the card, although this is sometimes commensurate as a gesture of courtesy, especially in a business woman sending cards to her employer or office superior.

Envelopes must be addressed by hand in ink, never by typewriter. Greeting cards are personal and demand the personal touch. If two envelopes are furnished, the address is put on the outer one in full. Leave the inner one unsealed and write on it only the name of the recipient.

The sender's name and address may be written on the flap of the envelope. This not only serves as a return address in case the card is undelivered but also notifies the recipient of the sender's latest address.

Mrs. E. R. McDuffie returned today from driving her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Story, to their home in Chickasha, Okla. Mrs. McDuffie's niece, Miss June Jones, returned with her to Pampa and will be a visitor here until after the Christmas holidays.

Certificates Received
Pupils of the low-fifth grade at Woodrow Wilson school are proudly exhibiting membership, certificates and buttons which arrived yesterday from the Sandman Soldier's club of Station, WFAA, Dallas.

Letters which the children had written to the club were broadcast from the station last weekend, and the membership insignia sent to them. Each certificate has the name of the individual boy or girl on it.

Mexican Finds Crowd Looking at Brother's Body

HOUSTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—S. Belos, Mexican worker on the Houston avenue underpass project, saw the lower part of a man's body as he walked to work this morning along the Southern Pacific tracks. He hastened to a spot 20 feet farther where a crowd had gathered. There he found that the attraction was his brother's body.

The brother, Joe Belos, 37, also a worker on the underpass, had been killed by a passenger train.

TWELVE HUNDRED EXPERTS ARE IN WASHINGTON CONSIDERING PROBLEMS OF CHILD WELFARE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Their "home work" neatly done into printed reports, the 1200 experts set to work out the nation's child health and protection problems, assembled here today at the summons of their school-master, President Herbert Hoover.

With the men and women who have been working for more than a year on child welfare tasks specified by the president, came delegates who will swell to 3,000 the number of those participating in the White House conference on child health and protection.

Like a gigantic school, with four separate sessions busy as bees on major phases of the subject, the conference will be in full swing tomorrow. But tonight was set aside to listen to the man who put the knotty sums on the slate. President Hoover's address, at 9 p. m. will be radioed by both the National Broadcasting company and Columbia systems.

America's 45,000,000 boys and girls most of them busy at their own school tasks, constituted the general theme on which teachers have turned students again. The delinquent, the dependent, the handicapped and the joyously normal shared in the surveys and recommendations handed in to Secretary Wilbur, Conference chairman, himself a college president.

Many College Presidents
In the list of those who accepted invitations to the conference, the number of college presidents was especially noticeable. Among them were: James R. Angell, of Yale; Edwin Anderson Alderman, University of Virginia; William Lowe Ryan, Indiana University; Samuel P. Capen, University of Buffalo; Walter E. Clark, University of Nevada; Norman F. Coleman, Reed college, of Portland, Oregon; Ada L. Comstock, Radcliffe college; George H. Denney, University of Alabama; D. M. Douglas, University of South Carolina; F. D. Farrell, Kansas Agricultural College; Glenn Frank, University of Wisconsin; Paul Hanly Purley, Catholic University of America; Livingston Farrand, Cornell; John C. Putrall, University of Arkansas; Bradford Knapp, Alabama Technic Institute; C. A. Lory, Colorado Agricultural College; Frank L. McBeay, University of Kentucky; Mrs. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, Mills college California; R. S. Shaw, Michigan State college; Ernest H. Wilkins, Oberlin College; Mary E. Woolley, Mount Holyoke.

Supervisors Visit Baker
Superintendent R. B. Fisher and Mrs. J. L. Lester, primary supervisor, spent Monday and Tuesday observing work done in Baker school. They spent 20 minutes in each room.

On Monday, Miss Iva June Willis, public school music supervisor, and Lyman Jackson, attendance director, visited the school.

Club Presidents Complimented by Wayside Group

Gold and white, Wayside club colors, and the chrysanthemum, club flower, were prettily favored in all details of a luncheon given by that organization Tuesday as a courtesy to club presidents of Pampa, Laketon, McLean, and Grandview. The event was held in the home of Mrs. E. A. Shackleton.

Roll call was answered with some fact, relating to the Wayside club. One member gave the name of the club song, one the club colors, one the club flower, etc. Each person present told interesting facts relating to her particular club.

Mrs. Hugh Isbell, Wayside president, presided at one end of the table, and Mrs. Tom Clayton was toastmistress for the occasion.

Program Is Given
In addition to the short talks, the following program was given: piano selection, Mrs. Irvin Cole; two vocal selections, Miss Katharine Vincent, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Frank Keehn; reading, "A Colored Woman at the Telephone," Mrs. R. Thomas; reading, Miss Vincent.

The chosen colors also were favored in the following menu: combination salad; chicken broth; chicken timbales, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, cranberry jelly, hot rolls, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and coffee. Gold baskets filled with white mints were favors.

Those Attending
Those representing the various clubs were as follows: McLean: Mrs. S. L. Montgomery, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Kuntz. Grandview: Mrs. Joe Looper. Laketon: Mrs. Charles Talley. Pampa: Mrs. V. E. Patherese, P-T. A. council; Mrs. J. H. Blythe, Baker P-T. A.; Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, Twentieth Century; Mrs. B. E. Finley, library association; Mrs. John V. Andrews, El Progresso; Mrs. T. R. Martin; Junior Twentieth Century; Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, Business and Professional Women's club; Mrs. George Wallace; Pampa Art League; Mrs. George E. Wolfe, A. A. U. W. and College club.

WANT TEAMS HAVE CHANCE AT SOUTHWESTERN CROWN

AGGIES AND ARKANSAS IN LOW BRACKET

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 19.—Which Southwest conference grid team will cop the coveted title pennant this season is yet at least in advance of the Nov. 22 game—a question that permits of much speculation among doers with a slant for statistics and the inclination to follow it. With sufficient "ifs" and "ands" at hand it is possible to figure any team in the conference as a potential winner with the exception of the Texas Aggies and the Arkansas Razorbacks. Having already lost four of the five conference games scheduled, the Aggies are definitely out of the pennant picture and the same holds good for the Razorbacks who have finished their conference card and will have to stand on their 500 per cent record, obviously not high enough to win the flag.

Texas and Texas Christian university, now tied for first place with three games won and one lost to the credit of each, hold the spotlight as the favorites in the race. Whether Texas will or won't win the flag, depends most certainly upon whether the Longhorns toss the Aggies for a loss in the Turkey Day classic at Austin. If the Steers do throw the Aggies, only one other team, T. C. U., could nose Texas out of the pennant. And to do that the Frogs would have to defeat both Baylor and Southern Methodist. A tie for the Frogs in either of their two remaining games would not place them on top if the Steers win from the Aggies. Figuring the chances of every team, except the Aggies and Razorbacks, to win the pennant, gives a table of possibilities like the following:

The Frogs can hop into a second consecutive championship by defeating Baylor and Southern Methodist, or by defeating one and tying the other provided the Aggies defeat the Steers.

The Longhorns can win the flag by defeating the Aggies, provided either Baylor or S. M. U. either defeats or ties T. C. U.

Baylor can win the championship by defeating T. C. U. and Rice, provided A. and M. defeats Texas and S. M. U. loses or suffers a tie to Rice or T. C. U.

The Mustangs can win by taking their two remaining games, with Rice and T. C. U., provided the Aggies beat the Steers. In this possibility, however, for S. M. U. to win, Baylor would have to tie or lose one of its remaining games, with T. C. U. or Rice, for the Mustangs to become champions.

The Rice Owls have a chance at the flag. To make it good they would have to win from S. M. U. and Baylor while to help them the Aggies would have to beat the Steers and T. C. U. would have to lose one of its remaining games.

Here's one more possibility. If the Aggies beat the Steers and S. M. U. and Baylor both win from Rice and T. C. U., the Mustangs and the Bears would tie for the flag.

The possibilities are interesting, especially for supporters of all of the teams except the Aggies and the Razorbacks. The clashes of the coming Saturday, Nov. 22, will, of course, ring the curtain down on the prospects of some. But until that time, the figuring has its interesting points.

Cochran Holds 630-Point Lead Over W. Hoppe

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—With one-third of the long grind behind him, Walker Cochran held a lead of 630 points over Willie Hoppe in their world's 18.1 ballgame billiards championship today.

Cochran, who won the first two blocks by comfortable margins, duplicated again yesterday, taking the afternoon session, 300 to 132, and the evening block, 300 to 183. The grand totals were: Cochran 1200; Hoppe 570. Eight more blocks will be played.

Cochran flashed a sensational brand of billiards in the afternoon block yesterday when he ran 196 to shatter the world's record of 140, set in 1904 by the late Frank Ives.

Army Can't Respond
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Major Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, yesterday advised 5th. Gen. Connally of Texas that army engineers have no authority to make an examination and survey of Brady creek in Texas for flood control purposes, as requested by Mayor E. L. Jones of Brady, Texas. Major Jones, in his request for a federal survey, pointed out that Brady creek has overflowed twice this year, causing much property damage in the town of Brady.

Did You Know That—

King Levinsky, the Chicago light heavyweight (no relation to the veteran Battling Levinsky), is said to be one of the old school of cauliflowerers so far as knowledge of the outside world is concerned. His manager spoke one day to him thus: "Get a match for next week, boy, Film, Michigan." To which the King responded: "And how much does he weigh?" They tell another tale on the King to the effect that he was troubled with sore feet for several weeks and his mentor sent him to a chiropodist. The trouble was easy to find. Levinsky was wearing his foot coverings juxtaposed, as it were, the left shoe on the right foot, and the right shoe on the left. Another time, a copper stopped a suspicious-looking crowd in a touring car and asked Levinsky his occupation. To which the King replied, "Jewish."

ARMOUR NOT TO BE USED IN GOLF PLAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Friends of Tommy Armour, professional golf champion of the United States, have lost their fight to gain a position for him on the American Ryder cup team.

The professional Golfers' association of America, in annual convention here, last night voted that no player be permitted to compete on the team in the international matches with Great Britain unless born in America. The decision automatically barred the Detroit professional, as he was born in Scotland. Armour did not play on the 1930 team either but his absence brought a storm of protests.

Dates for the 1931 Ryder cup matches, to be decided over the

American Olympic Association Is Convening—Peaceful Session Seen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Close on the heels of the National Amateur Athletic Union convention, the American Olympic association met today with prospects of a more harmonious session than that of four years ago.

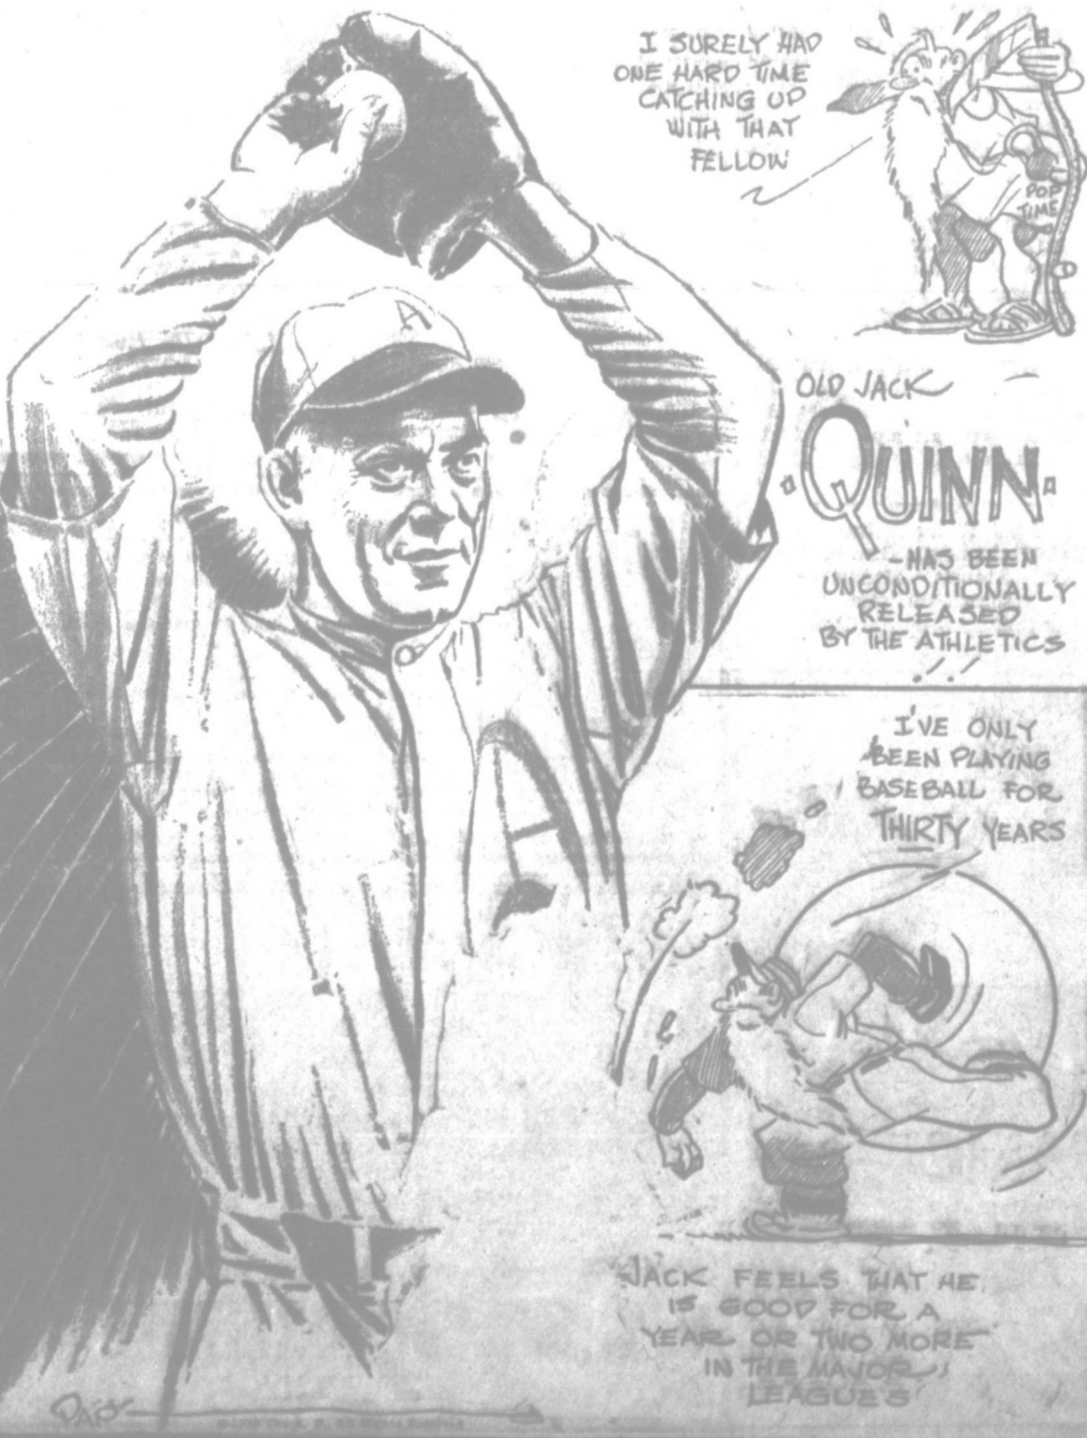

Members looked for no repetition of the bitter battle for control which ended in the National Collegiate Athletic association delegates walking out of the council room at the last quadrennial meeting here.

Leaders of the A. A. U. and the N. C. A. A. were firmly resolved to keep the hatchet buried while at the same time determined to give their respective organizations as strong a voice as possible in Olympic affairs. The principal points of difference were expected to be the election of officers and a two-thirds rule embodied in the new constitution which is to be submitted.

It was by defeating the two-thirds rule in 1926 that the A. A. U. with the necessary majority, made the most of its numerical superiority and climbed into the driver's seat.

Meeting every four years, the association, headed by Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, faced the task of doing in a single day all the organizing groundwork for America's participation in the Olympic games at Los Angeles a year from next summer.

NOTRE DAME TACTICS WILL BE DISPLAYED

Pampa football fans will be given an opportunity to see Notre Dame football tactics as adapted to high schools when the Wichita Falls eleven plays the Harvesters here Thursday, according to A. M. Fox, high school assistant coach.

Barry Holton, former Notre Dame star, is coach of the Wichita Falls team. "Those who like to see the colorful in football, such as the Notre Dame shift, will especially enjoy Thursday's game," said Mr. Fox.

Why Wichita Falls occupies the cellar position of the teams in this district is a sort of puzzle to Coach Fox, in view of the fact that Wichita Falls has a population of 60,000 with a high school enrollment of 1,500 pupils.

The game with the Harvesters will be the last one away from home for the Wichita Falls eleven.

The kickoff of Thursday's game will be 3:30 that afternoon. Tickets to the game are on sale at the Pampa Drug stores 1 and 2 and Father's Drug 4. Tickets sell at 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

It is expected that there will be some reserved seats on sale for the Ranger-Pampa game here Dec. 5. This game should draw a good gate, as the Breckenridge-Amarillo football game is slated for Dec. 6, and many fans from the Ranger and Breckenridge areas will wish to see both games.

Scioto Country club course at Columbus, Ohio, were set for June 26 and 27 by the convention delegates.

The field for future National P. G. A. championships was increased from 64 to 100 by the association's vote last night. Included in the new rule was the provision that the defending champion be spared the task of qualifying.

Savoldi Will Play In Game With All-Stars

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—The committee arranging details for the benefit football game between Notre Dame all-stars and the New York Giants here on Sunday, Dec. 14, announces that Joe Savoldi, battering ram foot.

After a long and perhaps painful research into the past season's American league records, Henry P. Edwards, the indefatigable dispenser of baseball information, has developed the fact that no less than eight pitchers were able to win a majority of the games they pitched against the world's champion Athletics.

This may not be quite enough of a shock to knock the boys around the Hot Stove league off their seats, but it is nevertheless interesting, even if it doesn't prove anything.

The research doesn't reveal any subtle cause for this scattered ascendancy of certain moundsmen over the greatest or present-day ball clubs for the list includes withered veterans like Urban Faber and Sid Sam Jones, sensational youths like Wesley Ferrell and Lefty Stewart, raw recruits such as Chief Hogsett of Detroit, the others being Braxton of Washington, Pigeons and Sherd of New York.

Ferrell had the best record against the A's, winning five and losing only two. The young right-handed ace of the Cleveland club didn't face Lefty Grove in the ballhood duel that disappointed fans, but his team lost five out of six encounters with the fireball southpaw. Faber, the White Sox reliever, beat the A's three out of four.

Sport Slant's

by ALAN GOULD ~ ASSOCIATED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR.

Oklahoma's touchdowns have been from midfield with Mills and a 140-pound junior, named "Silly" Guy Warren doing the ball-juggling.

"Berry, 180-pound tackle; Fields, 197-pound captain, playing at tackle after two years at center, and a swarm of lightweight sophomores are putting the Sooners over. Oklahoma's eleven is the lightest in the conference but probably the fastest.

"This is Ad Lindsey's fourth year as coach here and by far his best despite a shortage of reserve strength. His squad today does not number more than two dozen but the boys certainly know their chores."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19. (AP)—The war department today approved the installation of electric ranges and coal burning water heaters at a cost of $6,200 at Fort D. A. Russell, Texas.

The thud of argument over that famous maneuver whereby Barnes of Yale picked a Georgia fumble of a kickoff out of the air and continued across the Georgia goal line for an "illegal" touchdown has served one interesting purpose.

It has brought a conjecture from Fielding H. Yost as to what would have happened had Yale been given the ball at the point of recovery, i. e., on Georgia's 25-yard line.

One thing everybody seems to agree on—the entire course of the game would have been changed, by that ruling.

Yale might have scored. Or, if not scoring, sufficient time and battering might have been used up to prevent Georgia from putting over another touchdown. Anyway, the whole game, from that immediate moment on, would have been different.

Consider how immensely true this is in golf; and consider further how many tiny breaks constitute a round as it is, and not as it would be, if one of those breaks went the other way.

Especially, perhaps, in medal play. Consider Macdonald Smith, for example. Mac Smith finished second by a mere two strokes to Bobby Jones, who won the British and the United States Open championships. Francis Power (I think rightly) rates him as the top of our American professionals, mainly on these performances. For, after all, these are the two big tests of every season.

Now it is morally and even demonstrably certain that in the 72

CLINGMAN IS THRU WITH HIS TRAINING

Otis Clingman, fair-skinned son of the Texas plains, has taken his final workout in preparation for his contest with Yaqui Joe, Indian wrestler, at the Pla-Mor Thursday evening.

Clingman has never defeated Yaqui Joe, but has come nearer the feat than most other grapplers who have tackled the tough Mexican native. The Indian is one of the fastest men on the mat and in addition is a brainy wrestler with many tricks.

Characteristic of his race, Yaqui Joe is moodily silent about the coming match. He is, as always, very confident but if he is disrespectful of the local man's progress the fact cannot be detected. The man of the desert often lets go with his famous flying scissors, but he does not depend on this ruse to win. In previous matches, Clingman has been able to avoid this hold.

A surprise is promised in the preliminaries. Tickets are on sale at the Diamond shop.

LONGHORNS TRAINING FOR AGGIE GAME

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (Special)—The Texas Longhorns, big Orange team of Clyde Littlefield's, are back home again after a strenuous campaign that has carried them to smashing victories over three major conference opponents on successive weekends, and now they are working with their best end in view—a victory in their biggest game of the year, the one with the Texas Aggies Thanksgiving day. Monday found the Longhorns enjoying a complete rest, the coaches having dismissed the entire squad so that they might gain a brief breathing spell before the grind that will carry them into the fight against their ancient rivals.

The injury jinx that has refused to call on the Steers this year, was again conspicuous by his absence after the T. C. U. game. Not a single man was suffering from so much as a slight hurt, even after the smashing, fighting game in which the Steers were simply too big and too tough for the Frog-Littlefield was happy over the condition of his men, referring again to the adage that a driving football man seldom gets hurt.

While the players were resting, however, the coaching staff was already busy, getting ready to meet the Aggies on Memorial stadium field. According to dope, the Longhorns stand out as overwhelming favorites, but dope means nothing in a game between the Steers and the Aggies. Added to the long string of Turkey day upsets which serve to remind the Texas coaches that the Orange has a real bite coming up, was the word of warning that O. J. "Shorty" Alderson brought back from Aggie land after watching Blue and A. & M. play last week.

The Aggies, according to Alderson, were doing everything wrong, while the Ows were going great in their thrust through the season's A. & M. line, and making the best efforts of the potentially strong Aggie back week. He was particularly impressed with the A. & M. defense, and said that the same line which held T. C. U. to a field goal score, would give the Texas running attack plenty of trouble on Thanksgiving day.

How often have you seen the name of Weller, compared with the printing of the deeds of Albie Booth? How many selectors will choose Louis Weller this year on the All-America eleven?

Last Year, for Example
You can die for dear old Rutgers, but that's the only way you'll be noticed there. This very year Rutgers has a great halfback named Johnny Grossman. You won't see his name on the All-America selections, probably, unless he runs 95 yards every time he gets his hands on the ball. But he is one of the finest halfbacks in the country.

Compared with the players who knew Carideo last year, those who knew Schoonover of Arkansas were but a handoff. When several All-America selectors named Schoonover at end, most of the readers of newspapers in districts alien to Arkansas, asked "Who's he?"

It's not what you do sometimes that is as important as the company you keep.

Tulsa Pointer Is Trials Champ As Event Opens

VINITA, Okla., Nov. 19. (AP)—With Sineo, a pointer dog owned by Harold M. Balch of Tulsa ruling as champion of the 1930 American field futurity, national classic for bird dogs, the annual southwestern field trials got under way here today.

Sineo won the national event yesterday in competition with a setter field, not another pointer getting into the money. Second place went to Bog's Spectre Lad, owned by J. F. Olive, New York; third to Lolo's Betty Lou, owned by Lolo Kirkpatrick, Chelsea, and fourth to Tinbrook, owned by M. E. McMillin, Jr., Yates Center, Kans.

The son born to Mr. and Mrs. Roger McConnell at the Pampa hospital Tuesday night has been named Roger, Jr.

There are so many acres of terrain in golf, for example, each acre, each yard, each foot, each inch, bristling with possibility of a break, for good or bad. Mainly the latter, it seems.

ALBIE BOOTH IS NOT GREATEST OF HALFBACKS

BY WILLIAM BRADCHER
Little Albie Booth, of course, is a great halfback. This is no attempt to take away any of the glory he earns for Yale by those snaky runs through the enemies of the Blue.

But is Booth greater than Seals of Georgetown, or Weller of Haskell, Col. of Rhode Island, O'Neil of Detroit? You don't hear much about these lads, but in the districts where they play, they are appreciated as stars. In a few years you may never remember that there was a Seals or a Weller. You will remember Booth, though, because Booth went to Yale.

You will compare the great feats of the backs in a future day with what Schwartz or Carideo did for Notre Dame. These men have been published not only because they have done great things but because they traveled in very good company when they accomplished their grid-iron works.

The Difference is—
Johnny Seals went to Stamford high school when Booth was at New Haven high. There are plenty of Massachusetts people who will tell you to this day that Seals was a better football player than Booth. But Booth went to Yale, Seals went to Georgetown.

Louis Weller is an Indian, for your information, and plays with Haskell. On the western plains, where Louis has been a scourge to the football teams that stood in his path, he is an idol. The people who have seen him play during the last two years will tell you that Booth couldn't carry Weller's headgear into the park. Jack Grover, veteran western official, calls him one of the greatest players of this football generation. Lone Star Daily coach at Haskell, says he is the greatest since Jim Thorpe, and next to Thorpe, the greatest open field runner he has ever seen.

How often have you seen the name of Weller, compared with the printing of the deeds of Albie Booth? How many selectors will choose Louis Weller this year on the All-America eleven?

School Bus Plan Eliminates Oldtime Activities of Boys—Fights Included

For seven years the kids from the cross-roads of Pampa Independent school district have had no opportunity to stop under the bridge for a game of mumble-peg, or to have a snow-fight, or any other kind of fight on their way home from school. The boys no longer carry nigger-shooters to bring down birds that sway on the telephone wires.

The advent of the school bus in 1928 changed all that. It eliminated the homework jaunt from town to farm in the Tin Lizzie, on horseback or on foot of the students who live in the country. But the youngsters' loss was the parents' gain. No longer do they worry from the time their children leave in the morning until they arrive at school and from the time they leave school in the afternoon until they arrive home, as they used to do.

The drivers feel they have as much to do with educating the child as the teachers and they act accordingly. If some morning a mother should have a sudden presentment that her children did not arrive safely, all she has to do is call No. 1184, the school bus station, for re-assurance.

J. W. Shelton is head of the school bus system. He drove the first school bus here in 1923. It was a Douglas truck. Before that time, five trucks were bringing 170 children from the farms and oil fields to school here.

Now 14 buses bring 616 children over a total of 444 miles per day to the local schools. The buses are kept at the homes of the drivers, thereby saving 121 miles per day. All gas and oil is bought from local dealers at a reduction of one cent per gallon on the gas.

Pupils are delivered at Central High school, three ward schools and the Merten school.

The bus garage located at the school is equipped with a full line of tools. It also has an air compressor oiling equipment. Mr. Shelton repairs and services all the trucks and drives one.

The routes, bus drivers and the number of children taken in each bus, follow:

Highway No. 33A, W. P. Hollis, 31 children; south field, Lyman Jackson, 32 children; Maness run, Carl Smith, 38 children; southeast oil field, O. C. Pipes, 55 children; Farrington bus, Joe Vond, 22 children; Wilcox, Earl Lewis, 46 children; northeast run, Albert Baer, 31 children; northwest run, Carl Baer, 33 children; Phillips camp, Weldon Stewart, 49 children; West Carbon plant, Roy Kretzmer, 45 children; Kingsmill, J. O. Kirby, 58 children; Empire camp, Arthur Browne, 40 children; Texas Elf Carbon company camp, J. W. Shelton, 82 children; Harrah lease, Harold Baer, 70 children.

ret ordered three companies of National Guard with a strength of 175 men, into the storm swept area during the afternoon.

Claude Seaton, an aviator, made an air survey to determine the extent of the storm. He reported the damage was confined to the immediate area of Bethany.

Jones' Place On Committee Is Now In Question

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Bobby Jones' retirement has brought up the question of his eligibility to continue to sit in the councils of the United States Golf association as a member of the executive committee.

Informally at least, Herbert H. Ramsay, president-elect of the association, has taken the position that there is no reason why Jones' withdrawal from competition should persuade him to resign from the committee.

Jones, who with Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston of St. Paul, has been the only player in recent times to be selected for the executive committee, may solve the whole problem by resigning. Close observers were of the opinion that he would do so when his term of office expires.

Oats, No. 2 white 32 to 32 1-2; No. 4 white 30 3-4.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP)—All around upturn in grain values took place early today, owing largely to persistent buying of wheat future deliveries for United States government sponsored bodies. Starting at 1-8 off to 11-4 c up, Chicago wheat futures soared moderately general gains. Corn opened 38 to 7-36 higher, and subsequently rose further.

Revival at Church of Christ Drawing Large Crowds

A large crowd was in attendance at the Church of Christ revival last evening, and the Evangelist C. E. McCaughey in an able manner presented a lesson from the great commission.

The speaker asserted that the commission that Jesus gave his disciples was the greatest commission ever couched in human words. Scripture was quoted from each of the gospels that contained the commission. The evangelist insisted that in obtaining all of the facts in any case, we must hear from all the witnesses. The commission was studied, dissected and put together again. Putting all of the facts together that had been obtained from the witnesses of the Lord. It was learned the the disciples were to go into all the world, preach the gospel, and baptize, that sinners were to hear, believe in Jesus, repent of their sins, and be baptized into the name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

The splendid song service was another good feature of the meeting. H. Watters, the evangelist singer, has charge of the song service.

The noon-day service which is conducted from 12:15 to 12:50, is being well attended, and those especially that have named the name of the Lord are urged to attend this service. You will be dismissed promptly at 12:50 o'clock, which will give you plenty of time to get to your work by 1 o'clock.

The evening service begins at 7:15 and the subject for to-night will be "The First Gospel Sermon." The public is invited to attend.

ADVERTISING AND ADVERTISING

This is the age of publicity and he who employs the best medium for reaching the buying public achieves the greatest success.

For many years newspapers furnished the only means for carrying messages to the buying public. Later, magazines and other periodicals entered the field, then circulars, and finally the radio.

Volume advertisers employ advertising experts who are constantly on the job studying the subject, and well they may for they annually spend hundreds of millions of dollars to create and stimulate buying.

These experts are generally agreed that no medium of publicity approaches the newspaper which enters the home and is read by every member of the family, and often by neighbors who are not subscribers. As a result of their studies circulars have been discarded as of little value. The radio as an advertising medium has seen its peak. A recent survey showed that 60 per cent of the radio audience turns the dial onto something else when an advertising talk is on. You cannot turn off the home town paper. You can throw it away but you never do until you have read it throughout.

Ask any rural mail carrier what the mail patrons do with purely advertising matter that patrons have not written in for. He will tell you that they are invariably thrown away at the box or on the way home, which shows conclusively that that kind of advertising has no appeal.

The merchant who reasons that he is to well known that he does not need to advertise is courting a visit from the sheriff. Older readers will recall St. Jacob's Oil, a remedy that was in the medicine cabinet of nearly every home in America thirty years ago. It had been placed there by the excellence of the product, aided by a great and intelligent campaign of newspaper advertising that extended over a period of many years. We can visualize their ads even at this late day. Finally, the original owners sold out to some concern for a large sum of money. The new owners of St. Jacob's Oil reasoned that the product was so well known that further advertising was throwing money away, and by discontinuing the use of newspaper space they could effect a saving of something like two million dollars per year, that sum the former owners had been spending to keep their product before the public. What happened? Sales immediately began to fall off and in a few years St. Jacob's Oil became but a memory with the old timers. The owners, of course, went to the wall. Countless others have met with the same experience, and yet others, who persist in following in those footsteps, will meet the same fate.

Newspaper advertising brings buyer and seller together at less expense and with much greater effect than any other medium. Why not use it?—Congressman Harold Knutson, Pioneer-Journal, Wadena, Minnesota.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer
If this happens to be the host's first Thanksgiving...

Half the beauty of the dinner is the sight of the luscious brown bird as it arrives on the table...

In the first place, be sure that the carving knife is sharp. A dull knife is bound to mean trouble...

The serving platter must be large enough to comfortably accommodate the bird and leave room for the joints and slices...

Must Hold Securely
Flange the carving fork over the breast bone at the highest point...

First remove the whole leg, thigh and drumstick in one piece. To do this make a downward cut through the skin between the thigh and the body...

BREAKFAST—Stewed figs, cereal, cream, French omelet, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON — Baked hash, scalloped tomatoes and onions, apple sauce, ginger bread, milk, tea.

DINNER — Casserole of veal with boiled rice, buttered Brussels sprouts, creamed celery, fruit salad, toasted crackers, Roquefort cheese, milk, coffee.

Remove the wing by making a circular cut around the joint, and pressing back with the knife—just as the leg was served.

With the fork still in position, cut thin slices lengthwise from the breast, beginning close to the place where the wing was removed...

New remove the fork from its position over the breast bone and thrust it into the leg cut off. Separate the drumstick from the thigh by cutting down to the joint...

If the host asks each guest his preference when serving and the answer is the bromidic "anything," he will serve a piece of white meat and dark meat on each plate.

After the turkey is carved and all the plates served, turn the cut side down against the platter. Let the knife and fork rest across the end of the platter until needed for seconds.

Lower Rate is Boost to Railroad
DALLAS, Nov. 19. (AP)—L. E. Haddock, assistant general passenger agent for the Texas and Pacific railroad, announced yesterday that travel on three T. & P. trains during the first 16 days of the new 2-cent a mile rate put into effect between Fort Worth and Big Spring had effected an increased travel of 183 per cent.

Not An Airplane
EL PASO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Immigration border patrol officers decided yesterday, after an investigation, that an object seen hurtling thru the air Monday near Mount Riley, 40 miles northwest of here, and believed at first to have been an airplane affair, was a meteorite.

Our results from the News-Post
The decrease in number of passengers on other trains he said was 9 per cent, less than the general decrease in rail passenger travel over the nation, indicating success of the experiment.

Marketing Act To Be Opposed

DALLAS, Nov. 19. (AP)—A campaign to raise a $100,000 fund to use "for showing the policy of the government in business" and to fight the agricultural marketing act, has been launched by the American Cotton Shippers' association, officials of the association revealed here yesterday.

The Dallas-cotton exchange quota of $10,000 already has been raised. Cotton exchanges at Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Little Rock and New Orleans were expected to join in the movement.

"Wrong Man" Is Kidnaped by Pair At Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 19. (AP)—George H. Hurford, 53, wealthy Tulsa bookmaker, was at his country estate today after spending 33 hours blindfolded in the hands of two kidnapers, but the mystery of his abduction remained.

In his narrative Hurford shed little light that would enable authorities to make certain of the kidnapers' motive or lead to their apprehension. He said he did not know either of them.

The veteran bookmaker, long known as a "square gambler," said the kidnapers got the wrong man and released him shortly after discovering their mistake. He asserted they had not asked ransom or made any demands in return for his freedom and he denied he had paid them anything.

Hurford said he was unable to explain why he was kidnaped. Released from his captors' automobile at 3 a. m. yesterday at Chetopa, Kans., Hurford was arrested for investigation by a night policeman. Although unharmed, he appeared somewhat dazed, Chetopa officers said, and his identity was not established until they found his Oklahoma hunting license in his clothing. Tulsa detectives were sent to Chetopa immediately and returned here with Hurford.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Adventure enters the life of CELIA MITCHELL, 17, when she learns the father she had supposed dead is alive and wealthy. She leaves her unpretentious home in Baltimore to live in New York with her father, JOHN MITCHELL, and her aristocratic grandmother.

MARGARET ROGERS, Celia's mother, is now a widow, having divorced Mitchell and later remarried. BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl and before leaving Baltimore Celia promised to be loyal to his love.

Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce the girl to young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections though she is jealous and at once begins scheming to get rid of the girl. She introduces Celia to TOD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character, and does all she can to encourage the match.

LISI DUNCAN, socially prominent, becomes Celia's loyal friend. Mitchell learns Jordan is paying his daughter attentions and forbids her to see him. Celia offends her grandmother and the elderly Mrs. Mitchell feigns illness and departs for a rest. The girl goes to Mrs. Parsons' Long Island home for a lengthy visit. There Jordan calls frequently. He and Celia go on a picnic with Lisi and DICKY CARUTHERS. Before they return Mitchell arrives and Mrs. Parsons believes he is about to propose.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

It was a magic moment. Evelyn Parsons stood with her face half averted from Mitchell. In the white moonlight she seemed like a goddess—unearthly and unattainable. Not by the slightest movement did Evelyn betray her quickening pulse. Mitchell hesitated as though shocked at his own daring.

Slowly she turned her head, raising her eyes to meet his. This was no goddess! Evelyn's gaze held tenderness, warmth and the suggestion of veiled mystery. "I wonder," she said softly, "if I do know, John?"

"Oh, Evelyn—you're so beautiful!" The man's voice was choking with emotion. Mrs. Parsons did not smile. Had she overplayed that moment of delay? Surely not. In another instant John Mitchell was going to ask her to be his wife.

He took both her hands in his. Mitchell's eyes were earnest, anxious. "You must have known how I feel about you," he said. "You've been so helpful, so understanding! Evelyn, you're wonderful. You're the one woman—"

The sentence was never finished. Someone was coming through the living room and at the sound of footsteps both Mitchell and Mrs. Parsons turned.

"Oh, here you are!" Celia Mitchell stood in the open French window, the light from the room beyond throwing her slim figure into silhouette. "It's too perfect to be indoors, isn't it?"

She stepped out on the porch and came to join them. Celia apologized to her father for being absent when he arrived. She chatted about the picnic, hoping to forestall questioning. No one appeared interested.

The action soothed Evelyn as nothing else could have done. When she had finished she surveyed herself with satisfaction. Like other vain women Evelyn Parsons felt fortified by her beauty and thought no man could resist it.

She would make Mitchell ask her to marry him tomorrow. Oh, yes, she could do that! It had been expected to have the goal within reach and then rudely snatched away, but there would be no such slip tomorrow.

Back in Evelyn Parsons' mind was the thought that Celia would pay for this interference. Anyone who interfered with the widow's plans was quite likely to pay.

She was singing softly the refrain of an English ballad as she returned to the porch. It was a song Evelyn had heard Mitchell say he was fond of.

"Hilda's bringing something cool to drink," she said. "I thought it would be refreshing."

"Isn't Evelyn the perfect hostess, father?" Celia said. "She never forgets anything."

"You're quite right," Mitchell agreed. His eyes swept Mrs. Parsons as she sank gracefully into a wicker chair. She had chosen a seat where the path of light from the living room touched her hair and made it a golden halo.

The maid appeared bearing a tray of tall glasses and pitcher in which is clinked invitingly. She served the beverage, then withdrew.

"You don't know how often I think of this porch afternoons and evenings when I'm in town," Mitchell spoke up. "It's a great place you've got here, Evelyn."

"Celia and I live out here. Don't we, dear?"

"Almost. Here and in the garden." "A man's a fool to tie himself down in a city all his life!" John Mitchell said this as though he were arguing with himself. He balanced his glass absent mindedly and the fragile crystal was in imminent peril. He remembered just in time. "I don't think you ought to stay in town during this hot weather," Celia said firmly.

"Good night, dear!" As Evelyn Parsons closed the door of her room she was convinced that fate was her ally.

Celia was trying to learn tennis. The game fascinated her, and Lisi Duncan, who played expertly, had volunteered some instruction.

Celia was too shy to expose her feeble efforts on the courts at the club, but she could bounce balls against the backstops on the court at Larchwood to her heart's content.

She was in the midst of an exciting private practice Sunday morning when she heard her father's voice.

"Higher!" he called. "Throw the ball higher in the air before you strike it."

The girl turned in the direction from where his voice came. Mitchell stood in the pathway through the hedge. His hands were on his hips. He might have been watching her for some time.

Her face, red from exertion, colored more darkly. "I didn't see you," she said. "Good morning. I'm afraid I'll never learn how to serve!"

"You don't throw the ball high enough," Mitchell repeated. He walked out to where she stood, took the racket and ball in his own hand. "Here—like this!"

The white sphere cut sharply across the net to the opposite corner of the court.

"Perfect!" cried Celia. "I haven't had a tennis racket in my hands for years," her father said, looking down at the object. "Getting too old for the game."

"Not when you can serve a ball like that! Oh, I wish I could make them spin that way! Mine won't even go over the net."

NAVY'S DEVELOPMENT OF AVIATION FOUNDED ON FLIGHT OF TWENTY YEARS AGO

By OSCAR LEIDING

(Associated Press Aviation Editor)

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Aviation as an arm of the navy will celebrate its twentieth birthday Nov. 14.

Two decades ago Eugene Ely, an employe of the late Glenn Curtiss, successfully flew a land plane from a platform hastily built on the bow of the U. S. S. Birmingham at Hampton Roads.

It was the first demonstration in history of the use of aircraft with a man-of-war, leading now to the construction of the first ship designed exclusively as an aircraft carrier.

This ship, the first of the 13,800-ton "floating airports" to be ordered by the government, is constructed by the navy as a fulfillment of predictions made when Ely piloted his three-wheeled "pusher" from the boardwalk of the Birmingham.

The test at the time was not taken as final until a plane had been landed on a warship and two months later, Jan. 18, 1911, Ely successfully flew to the deck of the U. S. S. Pennsylvania lying in San Francisco harbor.

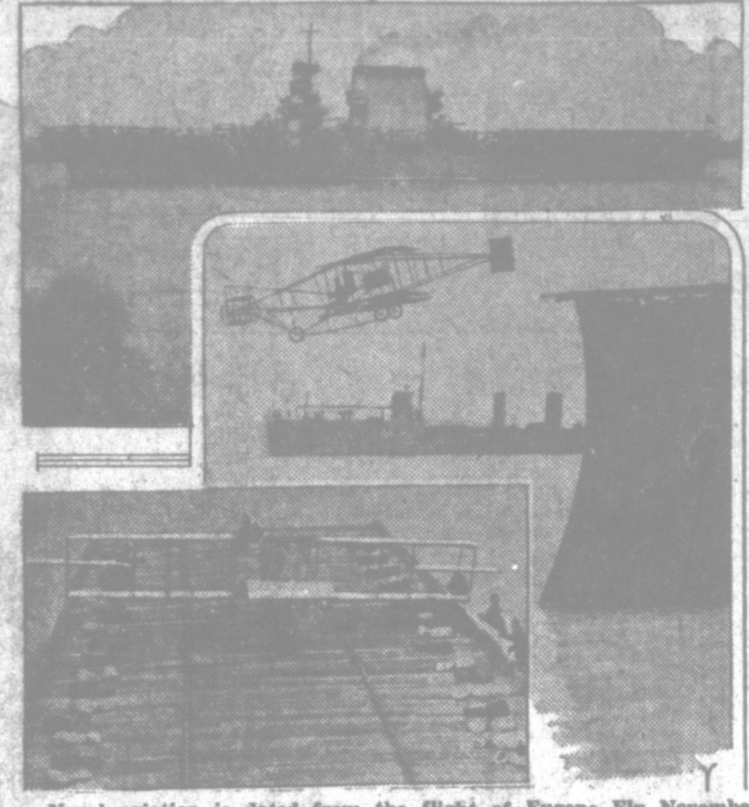

After the first test, with no navy funds available to pay for aviation instruction, Curtiss' offer to teach several officers to fly was accepted and Lieut. T. G. Ellyson ordered out for training.

The two men worked on a hydroplane attachment to permit water landings and take-offs and the final link in the chain of demonstrations was made Jan. 31, 1911, when Curtiss flew from the water at his San Diego base, landed beside the Pennsylvania, was hoisted aboard, subsequently hoisted out again, and flew back to camp.

These feats centered the interest of the navy on the practical uses of aviation and the first appropriation of $25,000 for navy aeronautical work was passed with 1911-1912 naval appropriation act.

Now, with contract let for the 13,800-ton carrier which will be added to the fleet of three "floating airports," the Lexington, Saratoga, and Langley, the navy is pointing toward a new type of experimentation—a hybrid cruiser-carrier.

By the terms of the London treaty, 25 per cent of the light cruisers of the nation may be equipped with landing decks to form craft which Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, calls "the forerunner of the warship of the future."

Naval aviation is dated from the flight of Eugene Ely November 14, 1910, from the U. S. S. Birmingham (center) and his landing (below) later on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, leading to the development of the modern aircraft carrier, the Lexington (above).

Veterans Of Old South In Annual Meeting

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 18. (AP)—The spirit of the old south was alive here today as descendants of soldiers of the Confederates gathered for the annual general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

With 700 delegates representing every section of Dixie in attendance and a number of gray-haired veterans of the gray-clad armies of the states and several women who lived through those stirring days present, the task of perpetuating the memory of the old south was to be undertaken.

Two days of social activities, paying of honors to Confederate heroes and a welcoming program last night were behind the delegates. Today they looked forward to a general business session, a flag presentation exercise and a memorial service honoring southern dead.

The keynote of the convention was sounded last night by Mrs. E. L. McKee of Sylvia, N. C., who said, "with memory for yesterday, work for today and hope for tomorrow it is our duty to preserve the deeds, the devotion, the cause and the heroism of the men of the southland who fought so bravely in the states."

Tonight tribute will be paid to the memory of the president of the Confederacy at the annual "Jefferson Davis Dinner." This will be followed by a meeting of the presidents of the 38 state divisions of the U. D. C.

The convention continues thru Saturday.

Millionaire Dies OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18. (AP)—Funeral services were to be conducted here today for Robert H. Sultan, Walters, Okla., millionaire who died yesterday of a heart attack. Sultan came here recently to look after his interests in the Oklahoma City oil fields.

The services here, the body will be taken to Oxford, Miss., where Sultan was born, for burial.

Deposed Men Safe RIO DE JANEIRO, Uov. 18. (AP)—The Brazilian government has granted safe conduct to Europe for the principal figures of the deposed administration.

These include the former president, Dr. Washington Luis Pereira da Souza, Mello Vianna, vice president, and several ministers in the Washington Luis cabinet.

Big Ship Delays Trip BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 19. (AP)—Departure of the DO-X, giant German seaplane, for Corunna, Spain, and Lisbon, Portugal, on the next lap of its projected transatlantic flight to New York was postponed again today because of adverse weather.

It was raining hard and there was a low flying ceiling.

Hard Times Not to Depress Church

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Talk of hard times, in the opinion of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church, should not be accepted by the church for any let-down in work at home or abroad.

The board expressed this view in a report which was before the church's general council as it met today for a review of budget requests from benevolence boards. They total $15,000,000.

"No greater service," the report said, "could be rendered to the Christian church today than for the Presbyterian church to answer the prevailing pessimism by a distinct and courageous advance."

Mrs. Miller Off On Long Flight

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18. (AP)—Mrs. J. M. Keith Miller, noted Australian aviatrix, took off at 7:44 a. m. today from Pittsburgh-Butler airport on a projected one-stop flight to Havana, Cuba. She hopes to reach her destination in 10 hours.

The aviatrix intended to make her single stop at Jacksonville, Fla. She is flying a low wing cabin monoplane.

Wild Auto Kills CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—In the owner of a parked automobile which subsequently rolls down a hill responsible for whatever damage it does before it comes to a stop?

A jury in Judge Walter P. Steffen's court, presented with this unusual question, yesterday decided that the owner is responsible and awarded judgment of $3,000 against Chris Kupchris in favor of Frank Velus, whose son, Frank Jr., 11, was killed in such an accident.

Boy Flier Moving NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 18. (AP)—Gerald P. Nettleton, 20-year-old Toledo flier, took off at shortly after 8:30 a. m. today in his attempt to break the junior transcontinental record of Stanley Boynton.
