PROBE BEGINS AT SCENE OF AIR TRAGEDY

Number of Victims Is Not Quite Clear

BEAUVAIS, France, Oct. 6. (AP)—Joint British-French investigation was begun today into destruction of the British dirigible R-101, largest airship in the world, which Sunday morning crashed into a wooded hillside near here and burned.

Forty-seven persons lost their lives in the disaster. They either were burned to death or were killed in the terrific impact. Of the 54 aboard, only seven survived. All were injured, some seriously. Among the dead were Lord Thomson, British air minister, and Sir Sefton Brancker, director of civil aviation.

Chief-striker at the disaster which in a moment robbed it of the mistress of the air and its finest air talent, the British government dispatched Sir John Salmond, air marshal and chief of staff, to initiate an inquiry and determine circumstances and cause of the catastrophe.

French proffers of cooperation were accepted. Sir John flew back to London, leaving Major A. V. Holt in charge, with the expectation that he would be named president of the investigating board, meeting today. He would say nothing of the disaster other than there was every reason to suppose the explosion which destroyed the ship was caused by the brusque landing of the ship.

Sir John ordered that every effort be made to identify the bodies which were charred beyond recognition, some of them only bones with scraps of tendon attached. So intense was the heat that rings in some cases were melted about the fingers of the victims.

The R-101, big sister of the R-100, which successfully crossed the Atlantic and returned last July, was seven hours out of Cardington en route to Karachi, India, on an 8,000-mile journey when the crash occurred. After hours of fighting the violent storm which raged over North-west France Sunday morning, the dirigible lost altitude, and some time after 2 a. m. failed to rise above an encircling brow of hills about a valley south of here.

PARIS, Oct. 6. (AP)—Air Commander A. V. Holt, chief British investigator, is stated by the newspaper Le Temps tonight to have advised the British government that the cause of the disaster to the R-101 was a rupture of the metallic framework and not a derangement of an engine. The British expert based his view on the finding of metal parts of the dirigible five miles from where she crashed.

H. J. Leach, engineer of the royal airship works and pilot of the ship at the time, gave the most coherent account of the tragedy: "We got into a terrific storm with high winds and the dirigible simply would not rise. I gave her more gas to get her up into the air, but she did not respond.

"Rain was falling in such torrents that our ship was blown down to earth. She bumped twice slightly and then with a terrific impact she buried her nose into the ground. Immediately there came a tremendous explosion, followed by two lesser ones, and flames engulfed the airship.

"I was shot outside my pilot window—I do not know how—and

PAMPA—CITY OF OIL AND WHEAT—CITY OF GOOD HOMES

PAMPA, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS, MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 6, 1930.

It Is "Eleodes Opaca"

BURGLARS ROB "ISLAND" DISPLAY WINDOW, TAKING SPORTS WEAR FOR MEN

Merchandise valued at $115 was stolen from the display window in the center of the entrance to the men's department of Murfee's Inc., store last night by burglars who pried open the door to the glass compartment. The door was of glass and faced with steel. It was locked.

Articles taken included sports wear for men. A model was stripped of a suede jacket and other garments. Several leather jackets and a pair of boots were taken.

County officers are working on the case.

That's the Name of Worm Damaging Wheat

Eleodes Opaca.

Yes, sir, that's his name—the etymological name of the false wire worm that will force many a farmer on the pampas to re-plant his crop.

He was definitely classified by Sloan E. Jones of the experiment station of Texas A. and M. college, who is spending a month or so in the Panhandle investigating the aforesaid worm. Mr. Jones arrived in Pampa Saturday afternoon and will be here until the latter part of the week. In that time he hopes to collect some information that will help ultimately to destroy the wheat field vandal.

About the only succor the farmer can expect this fall must come from the weather man, Mr. Jones said. He believes the present rains will be sufficient to make the wheat grow too fast for the worm. The worm has been operating this fall from British Columbia south to Texas, and the etymologists report there is nothing they can do about it—yet.

County Agent Ralph R. Thomas said that a number of farmers in this community will be forced to re-plant. One reported that it would be necessary to re-plant 700 acres. The worm not only destroys the grain before it sprouts, but after it germinates. The worm is absent from many fields. Sod lands are especially populous. The worm came from the eggs of the black beetles which were so numerous here last summer. In the winter it develops into the pupae stage and hibernates in the ground near the moisture line.

Mr. Jones is a young and enthusiastic entomologist, and Mr. Thomas believes his current study of the worm will help the department to develop control measures.

President En Route to Boston for Second Speech of Lengthy Journey

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

HOVER SPECIAL TRAIN EN ROUTE TO BOSTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—The second and more strenuous portion of President Hoover's 3,000 mile four-speed tour of the midwest, east and south was under way today as the presidential special steamed toward Boston for two of the remaining three speaking engagements.

The chief executive faced a busy program in the Massachusetts metropolis, speeches before the American Legion and American Federation of Labor annual conclaves with a luncheon in between with Governor Allen as host furnishing the busiest round of activity outside of Washington since Mr. Hoover entered the white house. Less than four hours separated the scheduled times for delivery of the two addresses, after which the President planned to leave for Kings Mountain battlefield in South Carolina, where tomorrow afternoon he will bring his speaking trip to close with an address at the sesqui-centennial celebration of that small but important revolutionary war engagement.

The president, with Mrs. Hoover, boarded the special a few minutes before 11 p. m. last night. Only persons attached to the white house accompanied them, no official guests or party leaders being in the group.

As on the trip to Cleveland last week when the president addressed the American Bankers association, officials pointed to the absence of close party associates on the Boston visit as due to the desire of Mr. Hoover to make his speeches as non-partisan as possible.

Nursery Opens Today—Several Are Registered

Registration at the Pampa children's day nursery on West Brown street began this morning. Indications are that the nursery will open with an enrollment of from 10 to 15 children, according to Mrs. W. H. Davis, member of the nursery committee.

Few parents appeared this morning on account of employment conditions, but they are expected this afternoon after five. All parents who can't report at the nursery to enroll their children before 8 in the morning or after 6 at night are asked to telephone 9153, Mrs. Davis' number.

The women of the Mooseheart Legion voted to contribute $3 per month toward financing the nursery. Contributions thus far total $18 per month. Estimated cost of operating the nursery is $185 per month.

BEAUMONT, Oct. 6. (AP)—Walter King, negro porter for a large store here, was held up and robbed of $8,000 cash and checks, receipts of the store, on busy corner while scores looked on today.

King was on his way to the bank with the money. Onlookers saw the commotion but were under the impression an argument over a traffic accident was in progress, officers said.

The negro said the robbery was done by two white men.

RIVER FLOWS THROUGH CITY THIS MORNING

Chamber Building Is Under Eight Feet of Water

BRADY, Oct. 6. (AP)—More than $100,000, property damage had been wrought by flood waters from the Brady river, which flows through town, and about 250 people were homeless here today. The water was from three to seven feet deep on the court house plaza two blocks from the river. There were eight feet of water in the chamber of commerce building.

A score or more small homes along the banks of the river were washed away and their occupants were being cared for by the local Red Cross. No loss of life had been reported.

A frame business house was floating around on the surface of the water through the streets, butting itself against more substantial structures.

Autos Washed Away

Scores of automobiles had been washed down the river, it was reported.

The stream, normally with barely enough water to run, had been fed at its origin in Concho county, near Eden, by rain that measured ten inches.

At noon the water was steadily rising and a report came from upstream that a seven-foot rise was on its way.

Most of the damage will be to merchandise stocks, although some of the merchants rushed their wares to higher ground ahead of the rising water.

At least two Texas communities today were menaced by flood waters from swollen streams fed by steady and in some sections torrential rains that have fallen since Saturday, and virtually the entire state had received or was getting a good old-time soaking.

The Brady river that normally meanders lazily through a part of the business section of the McCulloch county seat, was on a rampage, water from its channel overlapping to the court house plaza two blocks away.

The Guadalupe river had risen 18 feet at Kerrville, the highest in ten years, and it, too, had swept away several small houses, four of them being in the vicinity of the United States veterans' hospital at Legion.

An automobile was swept from under Tony Sanchez and two companions while attempting to cross a bridge near Kerrville. Sanchez floated down stream for five miles on a log and finally pulled himself to safety in the top of a tree. The others swam out of the river immediately.

Farther west, from Del Rio came word that 10 1-4 inches of rain had

DATA ON WELLS AND LEASES NOT CONNECTED IS ASKED BY UMPIRE OF PANHANDLE AREA

H. J. Corcoran, umpire of the Panhandle district for the proration advisory committee, today issued a letter asking for information concerning unconnected wells and leases.

Are you producing the unconnected wells, and if so, what are you doing with the oil so produced? Give best estimate possible on what each unconnected well will produce.

Please give name of nearest pipeline or lines to your property, and approximate distance.

Have you any wells drilling, reasonably certain of being producers. Give well numbers and approximate dates you expect to complete. What size wells do you estimate they will be?

Any other information that will assist the umpire in getting full and correct data, and facilitate the working out of the problem of getting these unconnected wells hooked up.

Please do this at once, and "in writing." Your prompt reply will greatly facilitate matters. Address the umpire at P. O. Box 787, Pampa, Texas.

STERLING QUILTS —ELY TO BE CHIEF

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP)—Resignation of R. S. Sterling as chairman of the state highway commission and appointment of W. R. Ely of Abilene to succeed him as chairman was announced today by Governor Dan Moody. D. K. Martin of San Antonio was appointed a third member of the commission.

The commission's terms were shifted. Cone Johnson of Tyler being named to succeed Sterling, his term to expire in 1933, and Martin to succeed Johnson, his term to expire in 1931.

This will mean that the incoming governor will appoint a third member, probably reappointing Martin for a full six-year term.

Martin, as a member of the commission under the Hobby administration, was considered one of the best posted men in Texas on highway matters. As a business man he has traveled all over Texas.

Under the line up, Martin's term will expire in 1931; Johnson's in 1933 and Judge Ely's in 1936, Ely having been recently reappointed.

Inch of Rain Of Great Help To Gray Farmers

Farmers today were expecting much benefit from the inch of rain which fell at intervals in this community during the week-end. Reports from various sections of the north plains indicated that the precipitation was general.

All roads leading out of Pampa were passable but mud-chains were necessary as the mist and showers which fell almost hourly this morning kept the roads in a slippery condition. However, all buses coming to Pampa from the east were traveling without chains.

Farmers whose fields have been devastated by the wire worms are planning to replant as soon as the ground dries. Owners of fields which were slightly damaged by the worm were jubilant, believing that the worm has already done its greatest damage and that the wheat would grow too fast for the worm to continue depredations.

To the farmers in the southwest part of the county whose grain has not yet sprouted the rain was particularly welcome. Cotton-picking in the McLean and Mobeetie communities was postponed. The cotton has not been damaged yet since the rain fell slowly and with an absence of wind.

Most old timers are predicting that the "rainy spell" has just begun.

Funeral services for Bonnie Elaine Harsh, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Harsh of the Prairie camp are being held this afternoon at Amarillo. Arrangements here were in charge of G. C. Malone funeral home.

OIL PRORATION VS. INDEPENDENTS

The state railroad commission, which in this state also acts exercises nominal control over oil proration, has two temporary writs of injunction facing it.

Independent operators have a well founded peeve. The orders injure them while the large international oil companies bring in foreign oil and place in on the market as the domestic operators are trying to keep down the surplus and also to keep up the price of crude.

The committee on Petroleum Economics, appointed by the present administration in Washington, set the domestic oil budget at 94,100,000 barrels for the year 1930. At the same time they allowed the importation of 116,500,000 barrels from foreign markets, an increase of 8,000,000 barrels on the previous year.

In our own community, the proration has been in effect. Producers in this field have cut down their production, laid off men in a time when the men need work badly. Cities all over the nation have men swarming their streets, listless, unshaven, haggard and worn from trying to get jobs.

Shall the producers curb their production and lay off men that will go hungry in order to keep down the surplus of oil, while the gigantic international operators continue to import oil.

This nation produces much of the oil in the world in the first place, so why should it need to import any? It is one of the largest problems the oil industry has ever faced. The prosperity of the nation is involved.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Oct. 5, was "Unreality."

Psalms 80:7 furnished the golden text: "Turn us again, O God of hosts, and cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved." Included in the service was the following passage from the Bible: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things"—Philippians 4:8.

The following citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was also read: "We must form perfect models in thought and look at them continually, or we shall never carve them out in grand and noble lives. Let unselfishness, goodness, mercy, justice, health, holiness love—the kingdom of heaven—reign within

Hoover Talks With Optimism

BOSTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—Optimism pervaded two addresses today by President Hoover, an optimism he drew from nationwide "team play" to alleviate unemployment on the one hand and from the assurance of peace for the country on the other.

The annual conventions of the American federation of labor and the American Legion heard him.

At the Statler hotel this afternoon, he told the federation delegates industrial stability had been increased by national cooperation and the absence of conflict between capital and labor during the business depression.

At the Boston arena in the forenoon, he urged the Legionnaires to expand their mission of citizenship by teaching the essentials of good will toward other nations, proper law enforcements, and discharge of duty at the ballot box.

"The peace of our country has never stood more assured than at this moment," he said. "The realization of your ideal to promote peace and good will through active citizenship is the greatest guaranty of its continuance."

While a "burden of unemployment" still exists, Mr. Hoover said before the labor group, the undertaking agreed upon at the White House conferences last November with business, industrial and labor leaders had been carried out in an amazing degree.

"There are, of course, exceptions," he continued, "but in the large sense our great manufacturing companies, the railways, utilities, and business houses have been able to maintain the established wages.

"Employees have spread their employment systematically. For the first time in more than a century of these recurring depressions we have been practically free of bitter industrial conflict."

"We have thus had nationwide cooperation and team play which have greatly ameliorated the hardship of this depression. These measures have served as a practical system of unemployment insurance."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beginning as an Extra, ANNE WINTER has progressed rapidly and is now under contract to Grand United, one of the largest of the Hollywood motion picture studios. Anne has been living with two other girls, MONA MORRISON, and EVA HARLEY. Mona and Eva are extras, but Mona works only occasionally and Eva but rarely. Eva is bitter over this and over a tragic love experience. She leaves Hollywood finally, leaving behind her a heart-broken note for Anne and Mona.

DAN RORIMER, former New York newspaper man and now a scenario writer in Hollywood, is in love with ANNE WINTER, who, beginning as an extra, has progressed rapidly and is now under contract to Grand United, one of the largest of the motion picture studios. Dan formerly was under contract at Continental Pictures, but he was unable to get along with the studio executive there and he is now free lance.

PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily column of movie comment for a string of newspapers, shares Dan's apartment with him. He has great faith in Dan's ability, despite the latter's lack of success as a free lance.

While in New York Dan had written a play for the legitimate stage. His agent, unable to place it, finally sends it back to him, and Anne Winter and Paul Collier, when they read it, are enthusiastic over it. They think it would make a great picture and urge Dan to revise it for the movies. Anne, who has not yet had a dramatic role on the screen, says she would love to play the part of the main girl character.

Dan follows their advice and the play is accepted by Grand United. He is given to understand that they think highly of him and may offer him a contract. Then he suggests to the studio executive that Anne Winter be considered for the picture. Hereafter she has played roles in which her singing and dancing featured.

GARRY SLOAN is to direct the picture, and Dan is told that the suggestion will be made to Sloan the he give Anne a test. Dan tells her to see Sloan herself and ask him for a chance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

As it turned out, Anne did not have to ask Garry Sloan. She saw him the next morning, sitting on a bench in the sun in the big court. He was wearing his usual costume of white flannels and white shirt open at the throat, and he was reading a manuscript.

Anne was stealing herself to make the request that she somehow dreaded to make when Sloan glanced up from his reading and saw her coming down the palm-shaded walk. He smiled and immediately said, "Come here, child," and beckoned to her.

He moved his bulk to make room for her on the bench. Anne did look rather like a child beside the huge Sloan.

"I want to look at you," he said, crossing one leg over the other and resting an arm on the back of the bench; and he gazed at her as though he expected to find something new in her.

"You look nice," he said finally, "but you look awfully innocent for Jenny."

Anne was bare-headed, and she always looked younger and less sophisticated without a hat. And she wore a thin pull-on sweater of pale yellow, and a white skirt.

Sloan continued to smile. "It may be your clothes," he admitted, following her glance, "but I rather think you'd manage to look demure no matter what you wore."

He fished a cigar out of his shirt pocket. "Mr. Johnson tells me that you have ambitions for a dramatic role. I didn't know our little prima donna felt that way."

Anne had recovered from her temporary awe. "But I do feel that way," she told him boldly.

The director struck a match. "I'm afraid I don't know nearly enough about you," he said. "Tell me something about yourself. Tell me what you did before you came to Hollywood. You were on the stage, I know, but what did you do?"

Anne drew his attention to the burning match between his fingers. "Please light your cigar first," she said.

said with a little laugh. "You make me nervous." And she tersely narrated her experience for him, explained what she had hoped to do in pictures and what she had tried to prepare herself for. Sloan studied her intently as she talked. She was very earnest.

"You've read this play, of course?" He laid a hand on the manuscript in his lap.

"Oh, yes. You see, I know the man who wrote it. He's a very good friend of mine."

"Who is this Rorimer?" "You've met him, Mr. Sloan. He was with the opening with me. Don't you remember? Paul Collier introduced him to you."

"Oh, yes. Well, he's written something pretty good hasn't he? Seems funny he couldn't sell it before this."

Anne wished that Dan Rorimer were there to hear Sloan say that. She replied that she thought it was a very fine thing. "Do you really like it?"

"I think," Sloan said thoughtfully "it may make a wonderful picture," and Anne said that she was sure it would, with his direction. Nor did she intend any flattery. There was, after all, only one Garry Sloan.

The director prodigally tossed his cigar away and folded his arms. His shirt sleeves came down not quite to his elbows and the sun glistened on the thick blond hair of his arms, and Anne remarked the girth of the wrist around which he had strapped his watch.

He said presently, with a slight frown: "If you want a test I'll be glad to give you one. I've been trying to make up my mind who I wanted to play opposite Moore. You're sure you'd like to do it?"

She was she assured him eagerly, and she thought the smile with which he greeted her fervency was a bit skeptical. She was resentful of that, and she said a little proudly, "It won't take you long to find out whether I'll do."

Sloan, she felt, persisted in thinking of her as just what he had called her—a child.

Garry Sloan grinned. When he asked, would she like to have the test? "What about this afternoon?"

Anne was thankful then for the study she had put in last night with Mona and Dan as her audience and critics.

"Any time will do for me," she told him, and Sloan said he would make the arrangements and let her know.

She left him then, sitting on the bench where she had found him, with his gaze trailing after her and a humorous twinkle in his eyes.

At lunch the thought of what lay just ahead made her so apprehensive that her appetite disappeared with the first bite. Fred Hurley, the director, seeing her alone, came over to her table and told her he had learned what she was going to do.

"I was just talking with Garry. I wish you a lot of luck, Anne. Do you mind if I'm around?" He smiled at her. "Maybe I'll be an inspiration for you."

And Anne, remembering a day when Hurley had played the piano for her in her first tryout, and remembering his friendliness and the courage it had inspired in her, smiled and was somewhat comforted. She knew that she would feel better if Hurley was there; it would be so much better than having Sloan's skeptical eyes alone upon her.

So she told him that she welcomed him, and throughout their meal Fred Hurley chatted pleasantly and told her amusing stories, and he succeeded in taking her mind off the forthcoming trial while she ate.

"Just remember," he told her when they parted—Anne to put on her makeup—that Garry Sloan's human like the rest of us. You needn't be afraid of him, Anne."

Mid-afternoon found her and Sloan on one of the stages. The director sat quietly while she read the manuscript he had placed in her hands and a crew made ready the sound-recording apparatus. He had let her choose one of the scenes that Rorimer had recommended the afternoon before, had even approved her choice of it by telling her it was what he would have had her do.

And he had looked at her with something like respect in his eyes, for the scene was a difficult one, and one lacking in courage, or in confidence, of both, would have hesitated to choose it.

Fred Hurley sauntered on the scene a short while later, and as he sat down Sloan and one of the crew exchanged looks and the director nodded. Presently the cliche call sounded.

Garry Sloan looked at Anne. "Ready?" he asked, and she rose and handed the manuscript back to him and faintly smiled.

Anne nodded. "I know," she looked then at Hurley, who smiled and wagged his head encouragingly.

"All right," Sloan held up a hand. "Remember, Anne; you come up just as they're taking Michael away."

Sloan, consciously or not, called her by her first name. Anne wondered if he was aware of it.

The scene was the one in which the unfortunate Michael, guilty of many crimes but charged now with one of which he was entirely innocent, accused Jenny, his "girl," of helping to "frame" him. Her first reaction was utter bewilderment at his cruel accusation; then protest; and finally, when Michael had gone, complete despair.

"Silence!" A quick nod from Sloan Anne stepped into the brilliant light, and Sloan leaned forward and watched her through eyes intently narrowed.

Anne cried, "Michael!" She moved toward the camera and then she suddenly checked herself, and a look of incomprehension and of hurt came into her eyes. Then she shook her head quickly, vehemently. "No, Michael, no! How can you say that?"

A little distance in back of Sloan sat Hurley. Chin in hand, he listened as the girl voiced her dazed protest.

Michael had gone now. Toward the door through which he presumably passed Anne gazed with eyes bewildered and peered and frightened. She stood thus for some moments, then turned and moved dazedly a few steps and dropped into a chair.

Her lips were trembling; she plucked at them with her fingers. And then her hand moved uncertainly in front of her and she pressed its fingers into a cruel clasp on her arm just below the shoulder.

"What good is life, anyway?" she said.

Sloan stirred. He barked an order and Anne rose from her chair and came forward, wearing a timid little smile.

In front of him she paused, her eyes holding a question. Sloan rose and said, "Sit down here," and he pulled a chair close to his own. "Anne, that was great," he told her softly. He glanced round toward Hurley. "Wasn't she?" he demanded.

Hurley grinned "I guess the litle girl surprised you, eh? Well, she surprised me too. You sure did, Anne, took me right off my feet." "She's got the nerve of a burglar," Sloan said proudly, taking Anne's hand in his own and holding it. "Said she didn't want to rehearse. Just stepped up to the mike and let it go. Anne, you're all right. We'll have a play back he's that kind of a person." He continued to hold Anne's hand as she waited for the playback that would bring to her the sound of her own voice. Presently they heard a scratching in the loudspeaker overhead and then came a word, low in pitch, vi-

FEMININE FANCIES

BY HOLLYCE SELLERS

Way back when heroes wore armor, and ladies wore charms, there lived in a castle on the hill a certain fair princess, with long golden curls and alluring blue eyes. Now this charming lass had everything that money could buy, a beautiful home, indulgent parents, fine clothes, servants, and a garden of fragrant flowers.

But one day as the girl was strolling through the garden, tears suddenly came to her eyes. "Oh, dear," she exclaimed, "what shall I do?"

A gallant knight happened to be passing that way, and, hearing the distressed cry, ventured to say, "My lady, you are listening to one who has won in every undertaking. Allow him to offer his services to you."

Now Books Are Decoration And Express Personality

BY MARGERY TAYLOR
Interior Decoration Editor, McCall's Magazine. Written for Pampa Daily News

Now books are decoration. It is more than a matter of harmonious detail—books not only make the "atmosphere" of a room, but, cleverly arranged, they become part of the decorative scheme.

Every home which is a home has books as friends of the family. But, having them, we have now learned to arrange them so that they can also contribute to the beauty of their surroundings.

Show Sentiment
They can express dignity, culture, hospitality or cheerful intimacy—they express the real personality of those who live in a house better than anything else because they are more eloquent than furniture and more accurate in their variety than pictures or vases.

One or a few at a time, books are those "spots of color" with which the ingenious decorator loves to charm the eye, and better bound volumes between bookends add meaning to any table. For convenience they should be near every armchair, in racks or modern end-tables.

In Every Room
Nowadays books are not only a living room or library problem; we must have books in every room. The modern kitchen has its shelf of cookbooks; the children's room has its own library. Each bedroom has its favorite volumes for luxurious reading in bed, and a collection of the right books in a guest room is a thoughtful welcome.

In a permanent home, built-in bookshelves are the most logical and can make any plan interesting.

In transient quarters, modern sectional bookcases may be used. In most room designs they are best in pairs, flanking the fireplace, preferably, or on each side of a window or door. Striking rooms can be achieved with bookshelves from floor to ceiling in each corner.

In planning shelves, allow different heights, especially at the bottom, for larger books. Leave plenty of room for the new books, filling up the space temporarily with pewter, figurines or pottery.

Lining the shelves with color makes effective backgrounds for books and helps harmonize them with the room color scheme. Charreuse, tomato, Chinese red, turquoise blue, silver and gold are especially pleasing.

ing to the business, which if she knew, would do away with the boss' frowns and would cause her to be promoted to such a place that she would never need to worry about the price of a powder puff.

The housewife will become so nearly hysterical over the fact that hubby has invited unexpected guests for dinner that her attitude is clearly noticeable and she runs the risk of losing the guests' friendship and even a bit of her husband's love.

Worry over trivial matters, however, is easily overcome, and the process may actually take the form of an interesting game. A plan for the housewife is presented in story form by Mabel Herbert Urner in a newspaper item. The story stresses the fact that a new outlook on life may be acquired through a "waste and worry" fund. The wife in the story spent too much time worrying over trifles, so her husband suggested that the fund, amounting to $10, be placed in every month's budget. The fund corresponds with hares always allowed for in a business. The wife promised not to worry over any losses which did not amount to more than $10 during any one month, which they never did, and a happier home resulted.

HORNED FROGS ARE FAVORED TO BEAT RAZORBACK OUTFIT

TULSA TEAM RUINED CLAIM OF ARKANSAS

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Oct. 6. (AP)—Somewhat recovered from an hilarious week-end, in which it watched its favorites wage a brilliant but unsuccessful campaign through the middle west, the Southwest conference settled back today to contemplate the approaching battle in its own back yard.

The opening gun of the championship race was to be fired Saturday at Fort Worth, when the reigning Texas Christian university Horned Frogs will engage the University of Arkansas. Two intersectional tilts were carded the same day, Texas A. & M. college meeting the Tulane green wave in the new Fair Park bowl at Dallas, and Rice institute entertaining the University of Arizona and Houston.

Three remaining conference members, two smarting from defeats in Indiana and a third recovering from a scoreless struggle, were aligned against minor opposition.
Southern Methodist, heroic in its 20-14 loss to Notre Dame, hoped to recuperate against the Austin college eleven here Friday. Baylor, only slightly less heroic as it fell before Purdue, 20 to 7, was scheduled against Trinity university Saturday at Waco. The Texas Longhorns, who emerged from their combat with Centenary with a scoreless tie and a bad scare, were to play host to Howard Payne college at Austin.

As a result of their last period 20 to 0 victory over St. Edward's, the Rice Owls stood today as the only undefeated, untied outfit in the conference for the year. Southern Methodist's loss to the Ramblers was the first sustained by the Mustangs since 1928, and the Horned Frogs' scoreless draw against Simmons at Breckenridge was the first time the Christians had failed to score since 1928.

Some of the edge was taken off the conference opener between Arkansas and Texas Christian as a result of the Razorbacks' poor showing Saturday. Losing to Tulsa university, 26 to 6, the Porkers failed to live up to the hopes entertained for them. The Frogs will be heavily favored to open the defense of their title with a victory. They came out of the Simmons clash without an injury of consequence.

Little relief was in sight for the Aggies, meeting their second tough intersectional foe within seven days.
Coach Matty Bell's men held the Nebraska Cornhuskers even for two periods, but succumbed to the Huskers' powerful running attack before the close, 13 to 0. Tulane's 24 to 0 loss to Northwestern, however, would indicate that the Green Wave is not as strong as last year.

Faulkner Made Member of Grid Team at Kemper

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 6. (Special)—Siler M. Faulkner, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Siler Faulkner, 400 East Foster, Pampa, was named today as a member of a company's varsity football team that will play weekly games for an intramural championship of Kemper Military school.
Faulkner has been playing hard and consistent ball on the company eleven and is proving one of the mainstays of his team.

Company football is one of the popular school sports and over 125
cadets are out for practice daily.
The Yellow Jacket first team made an auspicious season opening by defeating Jefferson City Junior college 40-0 and tying Moberly Junior college in a double header, one game being played in Boonville and the other in Moberly.

HONEYMOON ENDS IN ACCIDENT IN MISSOURI

ST. ELMO, Mo., Oct. 6. (AP)—Tragedy today had ended the honeymoon of Lee Parish, Tulsa, Okla., and his bride, the former Ann Emmery, golf star. Parish was dead from a broken neck suffered in a motor car accident and his bride was in a hospital here in a serious condition.

Their motor car went into a ditch near St. Elmo late yesterday while passing a bus. Mrs. Parish was at the wheel at the time. The bus driver sid the car, an open roadster, was going too fast, ran off the concrete and then into the ditch.
Mrs. Parish said they were not going more than 40 miles an hour.

Parish was thrown out on one side and his wife on the other.
Physicians said Mrs. Parish may have suffered internal injuries, in addition to cuts and bruises.

Detective Is Demoted
CHICAGO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Deputy Chief of Detectives John Rydell was reduced and transferred today by acting commissioner of Police John H. Alcock because of the recent disappearance from the detective bureau of a secret list of alleged hoodlums.
A copy was found in possession of an ally of Al Capone.

Nick and Al Were There

A world series wouldn't be official without Nick and Al—and here we present Messrs. Altrick and Schacht, baseball comedians de luxe. Of course, Nick and Al had to entertain the crowds at Philadelphia, and they did with their burlesque boxing match. As you might suspect, Nick is the bird who seems to be hiding his face in one of Al's boxing mitts. Below are the mascots of the Cardinals and Athletics, Joseph (Lefty) Conlisk, left, and Louis Festa, right.

STARTING PITCHERS DUE TO RENEW FEUD AS CARDS AND ATHLETICS CLASH

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6. (AP)—Connie champions of the American and Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals today were right back where they started the world's series at Shibe park, Philadelphia, last Wednesday.
With four games behind them, the champions of the American and National league stood all even, with two victories each, the home team winning every contest played.

The two St. Louis victories made a new National league "high" since 1926 when the same Cardinals won the series.

After the fifth game today, the battleground will again be transferred,
the players moving in a body back to Philadelphia for at least one contest, and possibly two.

The Cardinals levelled the series
by giving 37-year-old Jesse Haines, their knuckle-ball expert, support in keeping with his masterly pitching.
The score was 3 to 1 and Lefty Grove, Connie Mack's lefthanded ace, was the victim, although the defeat was not entirely the fault of the tall southpaw.

Grove, Gives 5 Hits Grove held the Cardinals to five hits, only one more than the total allowed by big Jesse, but all the safeties were scored in two innings, two in the third and three in the fourth. With perfect support, however, Grove could have escaped with one run scored against him, a bad throw by the usually reliable Jimmy Dykes, permitting the winning run to score. The player put on by the error also scored but this was an unnecessary run. Dykes, as a matter of fact, did not have to throw the ball at all as he could have tagged a base runner in front of him for the third out.

Haines pitched good enough ball to win most games, world's series or just common ordinary contests during the season. He was nicked for three hits and one run in the first inning, but after that he yielded only one isolated single. He was wild, issuing four passes, but he had control in the pinches when it counted.

Smart fielding by Charley Gelbert, the Cardinals' young shortstop, gave the Ohio pitcher, who is the senior of the St. Louis staff, much satisfaction. Gelbert started a fast double play, after a sensational stop, and converted a near-hit into an assist when a hit would have been painful to the feelings of the St. Louisians. Ray Blades, who is carried on the Cardinal roster as a coach but plays right field when a left hander pitches for the opposition, made a brilliant running catch at the expense of Mickey Cochrane, the hard hitting catcher of the Athletics, who was stopped in his tracks by Haines.

Earnshaw to Pitch
The fifth game of the series was

PAMPA BOYS TRAIN HARD FOR BATTLE

How to drill the most into the heads and legs of the Harvesters without making injuries is the task which faces Coach Odus Mitchell as he prepares for the big game of the season at Amarillo next Saturday.

The muddy gridiron and cool weather add to the problem, but with the possibility that similar weather may be encountered at Amarillo there will be no slackening of work outs.

The squad promises to be in good condition for the game. Martindale was slightly injured in the Canyon game Friday, but is recovering rapidly.

Secrecy will veil the concluding practices of the Harvesters, who will be polishing up some of the plays which they have not attempted this season. At the same time the first string will be working out a defense for stopping the lightning thrusts of Bufkin and Fowler.

The fans of both cities today were confident, and some were over-confident. Each city believes its team has the power to win, but the odds thus far have been small.

Quoted as being very confident of a Pampa victory Saturday, George Briggs of the local B. C. D. today said he had not meant to convey the idea that the Harvesters would have a snap. He said that should the Sandies play no better next Saturday than they did last, they would not be difficult to fame, but that in a harder game they would be expected to better.

Just as in Texas A. & M. and Texas Longhorn clashes, the dope in Pampa-Amarillo games means little. The team which gets the breaks probably will win. The Harvesters will play heads-up football in the hopes of getting these breaks, or making them.

Flier Hurt As Plane Fails To Scale Mountains

EL PASO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Gravely injured, although expected to live, Clifford Henderson of Chicago, manager of the last national air races, was recovering in a hospital here today after the light training plane he was flying crashed Saturday evening when it was unable to attain sufficient altitude to cross the Sacramento mountains near Alamogordo, N. M.

Avery Neill, superintendent of a logging camp at Maricra, N. M., saw the stricken plane coming down over the heavily forested area and followed in his automobile.

Henderson, seeking passage over the range through the Penasco river canyon, attempted to set the plane down on the track of an abandoned logging railroad. The rough landing nearly demolished the plane. His plane had a flying ceiling of 7,000 feet, while the mountains there reach an elevation of 10,000 feet.

He was thrown against the cowling in the cockpit and two deep gashes were cut in his neck.

An application for a marriage license was filed October 4 by Joseph D. McManus of Pampa and Liddle Johnson of Borger.

Case Is Delayed
SAN MARCOS, Oct. 6. (AP)—The case of Alton (Red) Woods and J. H. Dumas, jointly charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of two men at Rankin in 1926, was passed in district court here today. It had been sent here on a change of venue from Upton county.

PILE SUFFERERS
You can only get quick and permanent relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Nothing but an internal medicine can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr.
J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1000 patients with success in 900 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Drugists everywhere sell it, and Fatheree Drug stores guarantee money back if HEM-ROID does not end Piles in any form.—Adv.—3.

Heavy Men On Current Week's Boxing Cards

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—The little fellows of the boxing business are due to vie with heavyweights this week for what interest there is left for boxing in the season of football and world series.

Kid Berg, England's whirlwind lightweight, is scheduled to meet one of the few American fighters who have been able to beat him, Billy Petrolle of Fargo, N. D., on the Friday program at Madison Square Garden. Petrolle gained a technical knockout over Berg in Chicago two years ago, before the British battler had gone far toward his present high position among the lightweights. Kid Chocolate tackles Roger Bernard, Flint, Mich. featherweight, in Detroit the same evening.

Primo Carnera is due for one of the real tests of his American career at the Boston Garden tomorrow night when he meets Jimmy Ma-joney, who likes to show his hometown fans the truth of the statement that the bigger they are the harder they fall. Other leading heavyweight battles sent Otto Von Porat, slugging Norwegian from Chicago, against Angus Snyder of Kansas City at the Chicago coliseum
Friday, and Babe Hunt, big Ponca
City, Okla., heavyweight, against Jack Renault of Canada at the Philadelphia arena tonight.

Jackie Fields, former holder of the welterweight championship, meets Irish Tommy Jordan of Jersey City in a ten rounder at Indianapolis tomorrow night.

KANSAS CITY MEN ARE SHOT

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6. (AP)—Two men are dead today, shot down by an unknown assassin in a parked car and third was in a hospital dangerously wounded, while police held Erie V. Varble, self-styled racketeer pending investigation of the shootings.

Oldom I. Heffries, Ottawa, Kans., was killed and Jess Trowbridge was wounded fatally by a stream of pistol fire when they stooped their car beside one containing a man and woman early Sunday morning in answer to a hail.

The slayings occurred shortly after police had been called to the apartment of Miss Lillian Rice, cigar store clerk, where they found Floyd P. Thompson wounded near the heart. Miss Rice told police Varble shot Thompson when the two quarreled in her apartment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—The City of Houston, Texas, was denied the right to intervene in the suit of the City of Atlanta against census Director W. M. Stewart on the ground that the Texas City had not suffered in any way as a result of this suit.

"Airplane Baby"

Mrs. Gertrude Van Loan, wife of the author, H. H. Van Loan, charges in a divorce suit filed in Los Angeles that Van Loan wanted their baby born in an airplane over New York City so that he would get publicity.
Her suit is in reply to divorce proceedings instituted recently by him. Not long ago she attempted to have him locked up, charging failure to support their young daughter.

Local Store Has High Rank In Whole Nation

More testimony showing why Pampa is in the center of the good business "white spot" of the Panhandle, was heard this morning from Elmer M. Conley, manager of the local Montgomery Ward and company store here.

The Pampa institution ranked among the first seven out of 558 stores in the nation for operations during the month of July, it was learned from Mr. Conley. "Operations" included, among other items, gross sales, percentage of profit, expenses. It is believed that the Pampa store was the only Ward store in Texas ranking among the first seven.

By attaining this rank, employees of the store won a number of large cash prizes. Each of three department heads won prizes.
Amounts of the prizes ranged from $34 to $100.

"Two things were necessary to win the prizes and attain the high ranking," Mr. Conley said. "First we had to have an extra good town, and then we had to have an excellent personnel. Without both it would have been impossible to win."
Mr. Conley has received a number of congratulatory messages from officials of the company regarding the July business record. The employees are now endeavoring to win a prize offered for Ward Week operations.

In July, the gross sales went 49.90 per cent over the quota set for that month, according to Mr. Conley.
Those who shared in the prizes were the following department heads:
Miss Cleo Fendrick, book-keeper;
Mrs. Ruth Hill, hosiery; Miss Mabel Turner, toilet articles; Earl Reid, furniture; Harold Chaffin, stoves; J. O. Irby, tires; P. Williams, display; W. L. Grayson, assistant manager, and Mr. Conley.

The Ward trade territory is identical with the Pampa trade territory and extends about 60 miles in all directions except west, and that as far as Panhandle.

Finis Thrower, of the L. T. Hill company of Borger, was in Pampa Sunday, the guest of W. M. French.

Boy's New Knife Pierces Heart

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6. (AP)—Donald Knowles had wanted a pocket knife with shiny blades for most of his five years.

Finally his father yielded to his entreaties and gave him one as a reward for taking bad-tasting medicine "to make him well."

A few moments after Donald began playing with his entrancing toy, he ran to his father curled up in his lap and died.

The boy had stumbled and pierced his heart with one of the shiny blades.

Helen Goodman was able to leave the McKean & Connor hospital Saturday.

A Perfect Day for El Toro

Certain small Spanish towns that cannot support a bull ring improvise one by turning a bull loose in the street and letting amateur toreadors try their hands with him. This picture, taken at the village of Valdemoro, shows the wind-up of such a festivity, with "El Toro"—the bull—winning practically all of the honors and the would-be fighters shinning up the walls at top speed.

Opening 3-8 to 1 1-8c down, wheat afterward showed but little power to rally. Corn started 14 to 3-4c off, steadied temporarily, and then dropped lower than before.

This little Dove goes "Tweed, tweed!" That's how Billie Dove was dressed, from head to foot, when she came home from Europe the other day. The lovely film star is pictured above as she arrived in New York, Hollywood-bound, after a month's vacation from klieg lights, directors and whirling cameras.

Truck Driver Is Bound and Robbed

ILLINGLY, Conn., Oct. 6. (AP)—Five of six gunmen today held up a truck driver, bound and gagged him and escaped with bulk silver valued by police at $50,000.

The driver, Cornelius A. Wines, was blindfolded, bound and gagged and tied to the front bumper of the truck. The gunmen then loaded the silver, which was bound for dealers in providence, in at least two automobiles and escaped. Wines told police he freed himself after about an hour and made his way to the state police barracks at Danleison.

He said the robbers leaped on the running board while the truck was traveling slowly up a hill.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
