American Industry Is Called Upon to Alleviate Suffering of Poor

DIRECTOR OF RELIEF MAKES FIRST PLEA

Colonel Woods Now in Charge of Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—A call to American industry to cooperate in the alleviation of suffering among unemployed this winter was sounded today by Col. Arthur Woods, President Hoover's relief director, after a conference at the White House.

Colonel Woods, who arrived here last night to take charge of setting up a relief organization, conferred for an hour with the president, Secretary Lamont, Secretary Hurley, and under Secretary Mills of the treasury.

After the conference Woods indicated a formal request to industry to cooperate in giving as many jobs as possible would be made soon.

The conferees said the first definite step would be to set up an organization for Woods and then to obtain information on where jobs can be found.

They said they would draft men qualified for the work from all over the country, and if possible would obtain those men who worked with Colonel Woods in his unemployment relief work in 1921 under President Harding.

Colonel Woods said this far industry was doing its part, but he expected more cooperation in the general campaign.

"I not only expect industry to do its part," he said, "but I see that it is already doing so."

Headquarters for the administrator of unemployment relief will be set up in the commerce department. Members of the president's cabinet unemployment committee of seven planned to lend every effort to get the organization functioning within the shortest time possible.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—A bronzed, gray haired man with a flashing smile and a keen sense of humor today took over the task of keeping the wolf from the door of some 3,500,000 jobless persons in the United States during the winter.

Expressing determination after calling upon President Hoover that the government "must and will win" what he described as a "race against human misery," Col. Arthur Woods of New York, launched upon his work in a series of conferences with Secretary Lamont, chairman of the president's cabinet of seven, and others who will counsel with him in the relief program which he is to direct.

Twice before the World War distinguished service medal had been filed and holder of the nation's discarded into service to relieve unemployment.

After the armistice of 1918 he became an assistant to the secretary of war and was charged with finding jobs for demobilized men. He labored at that for nearly a year.

Again in 1921, when unemployment throughout the country reached the emergency stage, President Harding and Herbert Hoover, then secretary of commerce and chairman of the president's relief committee, put Colonel Woods to work finding jobs for the millions who were idle.

Today a similar task confronted the one-time police commissioner of New York City, and he accepted it smilingly. Hurrying to the White House just 24 hours after he had accepted the post as a dollar a year man, he was met by a battery of newspaper men.

"This looks natural," he said.

Harold English Draws Fine For Selling Planes

AMARILLO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Harold English, manager of the Amarillo airport, and Otis L. Williams, oil man and aviation enthusiast, were fined $1,000 each in Federal court today for violation of the neutrality laws.

They were charged with transporting planes to rebels during the revolution in Mexico more than a year ago.

Imposition of a prison sentence of three years was deferred pending good behavior.

The men pleaded guilty and said they thought they had as much right to sell planes in Mexico as in Texas.

Captain of detectives Bert Clark said that he had obtained the admission Mrs. O'Loughlin after a grilling of six and a half hours. The woman's iron nerve broke and she was carried to her cell in the matron's quarters of the city jail on the verge of a complete mental and physical breakdown.

Captain Clark declined to comment on details of the confession.

"Neither Mrs. O'Loughlin nor myself was in condition to go into details when her admission came," Captain Clark declared. "I expect to get a more detailed statement from her later on, when she has had time to collect herself."

Captain Clark, worn out himself by the strain of the protracted questioning, went to his home.

DUNCAN SAYS CIRCULAR WILL BE HIS REPLY TO CHALLENGE OF COMMISSIONER TOM KIRBY

J. N. Duncan, one of the leaders in the opposition movement against the road bond issue, today asked the News to publish his answer to the challenge of Commissioner Thos. O. Kirby for a debate at the courthouse tonight on the bond plan.

The reply follows: "To the Hon. O. Kirby, taxpayer, citizen, and county commissioner: We note your challenge in the Pampa News for a debate on a circular letter put out by myself and others in reference to roads and bonds, as being unfair and untrue.

"I wrote that circular myself, Mr. Kirby, and it was endorsed by all that signed it. There is nothing in that circular but plain facts and a request that the people study this bond and road plan carefully before voting.

"Now Mr. Kirby, we will not appear on the stage against you Thursday night when you make your big speech. The circular in itself is our case and argument. We submitted the circular to the voters of Precincts 1, 2, and 3, who will render a decision Saturday, the 25th.

"Yours truly, J. N. DUNCAN."

Gray County Oil Holdings Sold For Huge Sums to Independents

Two sales of oil holdings, involving $1,050,000 and eight producing oil wells, were announced here today. Both purchases were made from independent operators.

In one of the biggest deals of the year, "Uncle" Bob Dunlap, as he is affectionately known to the oil fraternity of the southwest, sold for $925,000 cash his holdings in Gray county. The sale comprised 720 acres of leases on which are located six producing oil wells, with a potential daily production of 500 barrels a day, cut now to 225 barrels in the production schedule.

In the other transaction, C. M. Lyon sold his interest in an 80-acre lease on the Morse land southwest of LeFors for a consideration of $125,000 to his partners, Smith and Ash of Wichita Falls. The property has two producing oil wells located on it. Mr. Lyon has other holdings in Gray county.

Local operators consider that "Uncle" Bob, champion domino player of the Schneider, played his best game in negotiating the deal. The sale of his property is the climax of operations begun on a humble basis when he came to Gray county. He has worked as roustabout, driller, and finally operator in many of the Mid-Continent fields. He personally superintended the drilling of his wells here.

The Kewanee Oil and Gas company, purchaser of his property lately, began operation in the Panhandle but has extensive holdings in Oklahoma. Two months ago it bought two leases of the Danciger Oil and Refining company in section 149, block 3, which had four producing wells and no pipe line connections. They are now shut in as all storage is full. Their combined production is 275 barrels a day. The company has headquarters at Tulsa, with home offices at Philadelphia.

The leases sold by Mr. Dunlap are about nine miles east of the LeFors pool in what is known as the STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 23. (AP)—One of three trainmen trapped in a case in one of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad tunnels at Adena, 25 miles southwest of here today, was dead when removed from the shattered caboose at noon today. Communication with Al Romando, 35, Dillonvale, another trainman was established a short time before rescue crews reached Sells' body which had been crushed under stone and dirt. Romando said he was trapped between boulders and could not move.

The rescue crew said E. E. Duga, 35, Dillonvale, a brakeman, probably was dead as the caboose had been broken into hundreds of small

BOILER BLAST INJURES MAN

VICTIM HAS 'ALL BREAKS' IN ACCIDENT

Edward Maples Is Surprised by Luck

Edward Maples, young boiler engineer, swiftly recovering from slight injuries and bruises in Worley hospital, was of the opinion this morning that he "got the breaks" when a boiler explosion at Phillips Petroleum company's No. 1 Barrett, three miles southwest of the city, whirled him 75 yards through the air to a comfortable mud hole in which he alighted head foremost.

His right ankle was possibly sprained, and he suffered painful bruises in his head, arms, back and legs. The boiler, a 90-horsepower Kewanee, parted in the middle under the force of the explosion. Half of it was blown 100 yards to the north, landing directly under the power line of the Southwestern Public Service company. Red-hot water pipes of the boiler were hurled in every direction, one burning through two of the wires on the power line.

This cut off all electric power to the city which was plunged into darkness for 15 minutes while light company workmen were shifting the load to the power plant here. The two wires were repaired by 5:15 o'clock this morning.

Maples was sitting about 15 feet from the boiler when it exploded. He said the explosion must have been due to a faulty water valve on the boiler, which did not register. The valve was choked up and it indicated that there was water in the boiler when there was none, Maples believes. A boiler on each side of the one that exploded were left intact. The firm of Adams and Prince is drilling the well.

"The Old Man, you know; the Lord, must have had his arms tight around my neck," Maples said this morning. "I don't see how I came out alive. They said I was buried up to the shoulders in that mud hole standing on my head." He was lifted about 20 feet into the air, he estimated, because he was hurled over a trolley hook.

The shock of the explosion was heard for several miles around and knocked down several men who were on tower at the rig.

The No. 1 Barrett is down 1,800 feet and is a direct offset to the Graham-Cres-Hoover gusher.

Maples will be able to leave the hospital today, attendants said.

C. T. Camarata who is managing the contest also announced that a five pound box of candy will be given to the girl selling the most tickets in the week ending Nov. 1. Fred Myer and "Dutch" Payne were charged jointly with Alken.

THOMPSON TO START HIS WONDER DRIVE PROMPTLY AT NOON ON SATURDAY

Hayward Thompson, wizard of the blindfold, is creating wide attention through the media of the Post and News in Pampa and vicinity.

His Chrysler "8" sedan, now on display in the showroom of the Clauson Motor company, Chrysler-Plymouth dealers, 112 North Somerville, has been examined by hundreds of skeptics who contend that radio or some other mechanical device will play a part in his seemingly impossible feats scheduled to start Saturday at noon from The News-Post building. Mr. Clauson has succeeded in convincing the skeptics that the only features of Thompson's Chrysler are those that have made "once a Chrysler owner—always."

Yes, radio will play a part in Thompson's exhibition but, it will be the new Majestic masterpiece being shown by Sam A. Fenberg of the Diamond Shop, "credit jewelers" the home of the blue white diamond and the house that has made popular the slogan "Meet Sam and Wear Diamonds."

Thompson will visit this modern store as he will the Pampa Brownbilt Shoe store, the home of "popular priced shoes for the entire family." Brownbilt shoes for men and women and Buster Brown shoes for boys and girls.

And folks—just examine the equipment of that modern Packard, private invalid car or ambulance that is to follow Hayward Thompson throughout the course of the drive, which is to be furnished by Stephenson Mortuary, Inc., 201 East Francis. You know this up-to-the-minute institution is featuring service with the personal touch. Business methods—... one price to one—... one price to all. Minute details are a major portion of their service.

Friday evening will be published the entire route of Hayward

HOPE FOR CLIFT

After remaining barely alive for 11 days, Jesse A. Clift, local aviator who was critically injured when the Pampa Flying club plane crashed near Pampa, was so much better today in Worley hospital that physicians were optimistic concerning his recovery.

Clift underwent an operation on his spine Tuesday. He grew worse and lingered between life and death yesterday.

COMMISSIONER KIRBY SAYS HE RESENTS ROAD LETTER—WILL MAKE SPEECH TONIGHT

Authors of a circular which stated that "road boosters" propose to bring 10 miles of road on highway No. 66 in Donley county over in Gray county and pave it were challenged to bring proof of that statement to a mass meeting in the district court room tonight by Commissioner Thos. O. Kirby.

No. 3 again challenged all men who signed the circular to attend the meeting tonight to "hear the facts as they really exist presented." Mr. Kirby declared that the statement in the circular cast a reflection on the honesty and integrity of the commissioners court, and that he would personally refute every argument and charge in the letter.

"The men who signed it may not be there, but their misleading propaganda and untrue statements shall not go unanswered. I dare the authors of that circular to answer what I shall have to say about it."

"I do not blame the men who signed that circular and who were and are unaware of the true facts concerning the matters therein contained, but I do have some feeling concerning those men whose signatures appear on the circular and who, I know, are acquainted with the true facts and who signed

FIRM AGAIN HEAVY LOSER IN BURGLARY

Thieves Open Safe and Obtain $400

Cox Brothers grocery in South Pampa was robbed for the third time in the last six months last night by burglars who rolled the safe out of the store to a vacant lot 100 yards away where they forced it open and took between $400 and $500 from it.

The robbers used a large maul hammer, chisel and a long piece of three-inch webbing to open the safe. The chisel was driven thru the webbing to eliminate noise. The safe is a total loss, Mr. Cox declared. Entrance to the store was gained through the front door which the burglars pried open. The safe was situated in the rear corner of the store and was completely surrounded by merchandise all of which was moved by the robbers. The safe was rolled out the front door and across the street on its wheels, but when they reached the vacant lot they moved it end for end.

The store was first burglarized by thieves who took $15 from the cash register and a quantity of groceries. About three weeks ago, two hi-jackers entered the store at dusk and held up Mr. Cox at the point of a gun. After forcing him to give them the contents of the cash register about $11, they ordered him to give them the "roll" out of the safe. He started toward the safe but darted out the back door when he passed it and ran to his residence nearby for his gun. When he returned, the stick-up men were gone.

Two traveling salesmen and six customers were in the store at the time of the hold-up. The grocery store is located just across the street, west from the Jones-Everett Machine shop.

City police, investigating the burglary, found a new Ford coupe with locked doors near the rifled safe early this morning. The coupe was stolen by the thieves in order to make a quick get-away if discovered, it is believed. The method in opening the safe was the same that was used in the safe burglary early this year at Your Laundry and Dry Cleaning, and in other safe burglaries. Finger-prints on the safe chisel have been photographed.

PRETTY FAIR REASONS GIVEN FOR TARDINESS

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Judge Herbert Immenhausen was late in arriving at a political meeting last night, but he explained he had two pretty fair reasons.

One was a blond and the other a brunette. Estelle Dempsey, the blonde, was horsewhipping Edna Hall the brunette, in the street as the judge and his bailiff were driving to the meeting, he said, adding that they were blocking traffic.

Mrs. Dempsey accused Miss Hall of "trying to wreck her home" but Miss Hall denied this. Both were taken by the judge to a police station.

Davis Denies He and Pinchot Are In Disagreement

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23. (AP)—Reports of a breach between Secretary of Labor James J. Davis and Gifford Pinchot over the attitude of President Hoover in the Pennsylvania campaign have been denied by Davis.

In a statement at Washington, Mr. Davis who is Republican nominee for United States senator, said there were no differences between himself and Pinchot, the party's gubernatorial candidate, and that they would speak from the same platform in Pittsburgh next Saturday.

Secretary Davis made his statement after General Edward Martin, chairman of the Republican state committee, had announced here that Davis had asked to be excused for the remainder of the campaign because of President

Hoover's demand for every minute of his time to meet the unemployment situation.

Says Palestine Policy of Britain Betrays Pact

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Judge Harry M. Fisher, president of the Zionist organization in America, said in a statement today that the new Palestine policy of Great Britain was a "betrayal" of its mandate from the League of Nations.

Jewry will continue to fight for establishment of the Jewish homeland in the Holy Land, Fisher said, and he predicted that "with the help of the nations constituting the league," the creative force now in operation in Palestine will continue and the terms of the mandate will ultimately be carried out.

Before the Jews returned to the cradle of their race said the Zionist president, "it had been so neglected that nothing but bare rock remained." The land in the past ten years has been restored to fertility, disease conquered and modern methods of farming and modern modes of living introduced, he said.

British announcement of restriction of Jewish immigration to prevent Arab unemployment, Fisher said, amounted to a breaking of Great Britain's promises.

About 50 persons heard the program given by the Loyal Order of Moose and the Women of the Mooseheart Legion Wednesday evening at Locust Grove club. The event was in observance of the birthday anniversary of the founder, James J. Davis, United States secretary of labor. Mr. Davis' birthday actually falls on the 27th, but due to conflicts on that date, the local program was held on the 22nd.

John Clark, dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, spoke on "James J. Davis, the Man," and Mrs. Rex Taylor, senior regent of the Women of the Mooseheart Legion, talked on "The Founding of Mooseheart."

Mrs. Lovell Speaks
Mrs. A. C. Lovell, grand guide, gave a number of interesting facts relating to the "baby village" at Mooseheart, Ill. There are five homes in the "village," each having 16 babies and four "mothers." All of the children are orphans of Moose and may not be adopted.

Mrs. Lovell and Mrs. Rex Taylor entertained with a vocal duet, and the program was closed with the Mooseheart 9 o'clock ceremony.

Is Director General
Mr. Davis is director general of the Moose lodges of the world, and it was through his vision and energy that Mooseheart, Ill., the "child city" of the Moose, was founded. It is situated about 35 miles west of Chicago, and the city and its incorporation comprises about 1,000 acres. It is here that 2,000 children are supported by the Moose lodges and auxiliaries, and are educated and trained for their life's work.

There are more than 700,000 members of the Loyal Order of Moose in the United States, and 80,000 Women of the Mooseheart Legion.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CELIA ROGERS, 17 and just out of high school, lives with her widowed mother, MARGARET ROGERS, in Baltimore. Mrs. Rogers is a seamstress employed in a dress shop. Celia, after a long search, finds work as a stenographer. BARNY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, tells the girl he loves her and swears some day they will be married.

Mrs. Rogers receives a letter signed JOHN MITCHELL, offering to give Celia every advantage of education, travel and social position if the mother will give her up. Margaret decides she will never do this, but when she is faced with serious illness and loss of her job she agrees. Mitchell comes to Baltimore and has a long interview with Margaret. He calls at the Rogers' apartment and Margaret introduces him, saying, "Celia, this is your father."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII.

For an instant the room was silent. It was an electric stillness. Then Margaret Rogers went on falteringly. She was addressing her daughter and her voice was tense and low.

"You don't understand, darling. You were too little to remember. But this is your father! He's come to—talk to you."

She turned toward Mitchell. "Celia's almost a young lady. Don't you think so?" Margaret managed a smile but her words were tinged with hysteria.

Celia's eyes had not left her mother's face.

"But, mother—?" There was dismay in every syllable.

Fiercely, protectively, Margaret Rogers gathered the girl into her arms.

"I ought to have told you," she crooned. "You should have known long ago. Forgive me, Celia. I thought I was doing the right thing. I tried to. You see, long ago when I was very young I married your father. We quarreled. You were a little baby—three years old—when we separated. There was a divorce. After that we came to Baltimore. I married Bob Rogers. You used to call him 'Daddy Bob.' And after the accident—well, I put off telling you about your own father until you were old enough to understand. Do you understand now, darling? Do you?"

She lifted the girl's chin, gazing fearfully into the brown eyes.

"Tell me, Celia," the mother asked.

"I'm—trying to understand," Celia said.

Margaret stepped back.

"John," she said, "I'm sorry—"

Mitchell looked as staid and unemotional as when he entered the room. He cleared his throat.

"Now that your mother has explained the long story, shall we sit down and talk things over?" It was to Celia he was speaking. "You are much like your mother—in appearance. I was hardly prepared to find you so grown up."

Margaret had seated herself on the davenport. Celia crossed the room and sat beside her, taking her mother's hand and holding it nervously.

"For some time I have been thinking about your future," John Mitchell leaned back in the bar chair and crossed the right knee over the left. "Your mother agrees with me that the outlook here is limited. How would you like to go abroad for a year?"

"You mean—a trip to Europe? Oh, but I couldn't," Celia was finding her voice again. Color flushed her pale cheeks.

"Why not?" Mitchell asked.

"I have a job." The girl raised her head and there was pride in her voice. "I'm going to begin work next Monday."

"Would you rather do this work than sail for Europe?"

Celia hesitated. A little wrinkle of stubbornness came between her eyes.

"Yes," she said thoughtfully.

"Oh, but Celia, you don't realize what you're saying!" It was Margaret who protested. "Your father is offering you wonderful things. You haven't heard it all yet. You mustn't be hasty, dear."

"But I couldn't give up my job could I, mother?"

John Mitchell spoke decisively.

"You are to go back to New York with me as soon as you can be ready. We will decide later about your future education—whether it is to be travel or further study first. But you should understand at once, Celia, that I am financially able to provide for you in a liberal way and the idea of employment is out of the question. You will have a ample allowance."

Celia's quick glance passed from Mitchell to Mrs. Rogers.

"Mother, does he mean—are we both going?"

Margaret Rogers' lip trembled.

"No, dear. It will be better for you to go without me. Besides, I must stay here." She turned her head away.

"Then I can't go," the girl said firmly. "I don't want to go."

For a moment Mitchell appeared to be nonplussed. Then he spoke coldly: "A girl of 17 can hardly be expected to know what is best for her, I suppose. Since the matter has been decided, Margaret, there is no more to say. No doubt the shock has upset the young lady. I believe I may as well go now. I shall communicate with you in the morning. There will be details to consider."

He had risen from the chair. Margaret Rogers was on her feet too, as she said:

"Yes—you'd better go."

"Then I bid you goodnight. Goodnight, John."

Celia was still sitting on the davenport. Her mother turned.

"You're forgetting to say good night to your father," she said.

Celia jumped up. "Good night," she cried, facing Mitchell. "But I haven't said I'd go with you and I won't. I don't see what you had to come here for. Mother and I were getting along all right. We—we don't want you or your money or anything! We want to be left alone."

Tears filled her eyes. Then with an incoherent cry she ran from the room.

"Please, John, she doesn't mean—" Margaret started apologetically.

Mitchell was already in the hallway.

"Good night," he said again stiffly. "I'll call you in the morning."

He was gone at once. Margaret Rogers turned and cast one death-then her eyes closed and for a moment her two hands were gripped together tightly. In her heart was a prayer for strength.

She went into the bedroom and there, as she had expected, lay Celia, face down among the pillows. Her shoulders rose and fell with her sobs. Margaret sat on the edge of the bed and slipped an arm about her daughter.

"Don't, darling," she said softly. "Please, don't cry. It hurts mother."

The sobs grew gentler. Margaret said no more and presently the girl turned, pulled herself up and began to dry her eyes.

"He—he can't make me go, can he?" she begged.

Mrs. Rogers shook her head.

"No. He can't make you go. No one will do that, Celia. You are old enough to decide matters for yourself."

"This—a few more sniffs and sobs—I've decided."

Whatever Margaret Rogers had

"I'll be all right, Celia. Of course! And I'll write you a letter every week."

been about to say remained unspoken. Her lips moved but she checked herself before the words came. Instead she stroked the girl's hair softly.

"Mother!" Celia said sitting bold upright. "That wasn't true was it—what he said about your agreeing with him that I should go away? I know it wasn't so—"

"It was true, dear. I do think you should go."

"Why—mother!"

Margaret Rogers took both of her daughter's hands.

"Celia," she said, "you told me this evening you would try to understand. You had a terrible shock. I should have known better and tried to prepare you for it. Mother's made—mistakes Celia. Oh, I see them clearly. But we can't afford to make any mistakes in your life. We're not going to, either. Long ago you should have known your father pairing glance about the room, was living, but his wealth and importance. He's a great lawyer, Celia. Rich. Of course he wants to do the things for you that only such a father can offer. He will forgive what you said this evening. John Mitchell is—just—"

"But I don't want him to forgive them! I don't like him! Mother—how can you ask me to leave you?"

Dusk had fallen. There was no light in the little room except the shining rays from the open doorway. Celia could not see her mother's face. There was a pause. Suddenly Margaret Rogers' arms were thrown about the girl. She held her tightly, rocking back and forward in the unconscious motion of a lullaby.

"Nothing, my pet, is going to separate us! Don't you see?" breathed Margaret. "Oh, my baby, you're not really going to leave me. What does it matter if you are in New York—in Europe—so long as—well—as long as the other? That's why mother can let you go. Don't you understand, Celia?"

"But I don't see why I need to go."

Margaret Rogers sighed.

"There are so many, many things in the world that you must learn, darling. So many lessons! Tonight you've had what seems a bitter one. I wish I could make it all easier. You and I, living here together, have seen some hard times but we've managed to get through them. The bigger lessons—the things you need to learn now—are out in the world. Your father can help you more than I can, dear. That's why I want you to go with him."

Her words died and this time it was the girl who was silent.

"Celia," her mother went on presently, "do you think you are being quite—kind to your father?"

A restless motion was the answer. Out of the silence the girl's voice came sharply.

"Was he cruel, mother?"

"He was—no, you must not think that! John never meant to be cruel to anyone. He—that is, we made mistakes. Both of us. But you must not blame your father. When you know him better perhaps you'll understand. Your father may seem stern but he is a man of great character. All that is past and forgotten. It's the best way. I think you can make him very happy, dear."

"But what would you do?"

Margaret Rogers' answer was a short, low laugh. "Managing it was the bravest thing she had ever done in all her life."

"I'll be all right, Celia. Of course! And I'll write you a letter every single week!"

"Both of them were tired and overwrought but there were plans to be made. There were many, many things to be discussed. Past midnight and into the morning hours mother and daughter sat there. At last, very weary, they undressed and slept."

When Barney Shields knocked cheerfully on the door of the third floor flat next evening Mrs. Rogers met him at the door.

Census of All Unemployed Men Taken in Gotham

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (P)—Police-men began counting these out of work and in need today as part of the campaign under way to relieve suffering in the city this winter because of the unemployment.

The emergency employment committee, composed of 100 industrialists, financiers and civic representatives, was organized yesterday to raise $150,000 a week for a payroll fund to be administered through the charity organization society and the association for improving the condition of the poor. It is planned to provide work in parks and on other city property.

Mayor James J. Walker, in announcing that members of the police department would be detailed to make the unemployment census, said he planned to throw open the recreation piers, Bronx terminal market and other municipal buildings to house homeless. He said subordinate employees on the city payrolls would be asked to contribute $1 a month toward a relief fund. He estimated that this fund, with contributions from officials, would amount to $150,000 a month. At the meeting of the emergency employment committee a message from President Hoover was read expressing appreciation of the work undertaken by the committee.

The executive committee decided to adopt a plan similar to the liberty loan drives to canvass all trade groups in the city for contributions to the payroll fund.

THE RACE AGAINST HUMAN MISERY

Colonel Arthur Woods of New York has been appointed by President Hoover to head a commission to work out a plan that will relieve the nation's unemployment situation.

In describing the situation, Mr. Woods said it would be a "race against human misery." He said the commission would take immediate steps to meet the situation.

The nation will be glad to hear the outcome of the conference and we hope that some substantial solution has been decided upon.

CHICAGO AND THE GANGSTERS

Whether people living outside of Chicago understand it or not, that city, which has received so much publicity over its notorious criminals, has a rough problem on its hands to land the hoodlums in the penitentiary.

One of the chief reasons is said to be that the gangsters have so thoroughly terrorized the residents of that city that few persons will get on the witness stand and testify against one of them on trial.

At present, the officials have been "ragging" the tough guys. However, the lawyers rush to the rescue of the hoodlums and they are freed in a few days.

But many of those in the higher capacities are trying their best to gain the upper hand in the matter and we can sympathize with them in their efforts to rid the city of its worst personages.

First Casualties From Front In Brazil Reaching Rio de Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Arrival of the first casualties from the southern front is bringing home to residents of this capital, one of the most beautiful cities of the world, that a bloody civil war actually is being fought just a few hundred miles away.

Until now Rio de Janeiro has remained so calm and with so little excitement, beyond that incident to mobilization of volunteer and reserve armies in the outskirts, that war and revolution have been almost unthinkable.

CURITYBA, Parana, Brazil, Oct.

23. (AP)—The Brazilian revolutionary command was informed today that the nineteenth battalion of Chasseurs, stationed at Timbo, state of Bahia, had revolted and joined the insurgent movement.

Timbo is a railroad center about 100 miles from Bahia, third largest city of Brazil, and the insurgent advance claimed that the Federal deflection opened the way for their advance directly into Bahia on the railroad line.

It was presumed here that the army of Captain Juares Tavora, which within the past few days has invaded and over-run the states of Pernambuco, Alagoas and Sergipe, cannot be far from Timbo if it had not already reached this point in its advance down the coast toward Bahia or Sao Salvador.

Rebel troops claimed yesterday to have repelled a strong federal attempt to destroy Senes bridge, across the Rio Taguary, just south of Itarare. The effect would have been to cut the line of communication of the insurgent vanguard which has advanced beyond Itarare into Soa Paulo, and to have stranded it north of the river without means of getting supplies.

Famous Fliers In Two Worlds Talk by 'Phone

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 23. (AP)—Two famous aviators, Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, the Australian who has flown around the world, and Eddie Rickenbacker, premier American war ace, talked with each other by radio telephone, half way around the globe, today.

cellent. Rickenbacker asked the Australian what was most necessary for establishment of transcontinental and transoceanic air service. Kingsford-Smith said that in his opinion the first thing needed was a plane with a cruising speed of better than 150 miles an hour.

Kingsford-Smith said he intended to devote his time and energy to the business of air transport. Within a year, he said, an air service and Robert's, were the children of

Brilliant Cast With Navarro In Rex Picture

Ramon Navarro, in the picture which first brings his voice to the talking screen in operatic song, is surrounded by one of the most elaborate casts he has headed in a long time, in "Call of the Flesh," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's romantic drama with music which will open today at the Rex Theatre.

Dorothy Jordan, who played opposite the star in "Devil May Care" and "In Gay Madrid," again acts as his heroine in the present story, a vivid drama of the life and love of a Spanish opera singer, the role played by Navarro in the picture. Renee Adoree, who played with him in "The Pagan," and "Forbidden Hours" and won fame as "Melisande" in "The Big Parade," plays the rival sweetheart as a fiery Spanish dancer.

Ernest Torrence is seen as the singer's aged teacher, a former opera star, and Mathilde Comont, French stage actress, appears as another former opera star also aiding in launching the young singer to success.

Nance O'Neil is seen as the mother superior in the convent scenes and Russell Hopton, stage actor, plays a talking screen role as the heroine's brother.

Charles Brabin, who produced "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," directed the new picture. Besides operatic numbers in the opera sequence, Navarro sings several songs by Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey, including "Not Good Enough for Me," "Just for Today" and "Loving Thoughts of You." He and Renee Adoree also appear in a vivid Spanish dance number.

Shown above are some of the leading players in the cast of "Corporal Eagen," famous war comedy drama which will be produced here under the auspices of the American Legion Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. The performances will be given at the Central auditorium, beginning at 8:15 p. m. Those in the picture are, left to right: Walter Hardin, C. E. Jones, Lester Cary, Joe Binford, Mrs. Sherman Burns, Alden Spees, Mrs. Roy Sewell, C. W. Murphy, W. C. Pullen, Frank Thomas, Sydney Wise, Scott Barcus and Dick Cross.

More Victims Are Hunted In German Mine

ALSDORF, Germany, Oct. 23. (AP)—Rescue squads penetrated the most remote galleries of the Anna II mine today in search of 25 persons unaccounted for after the explosion Tuesday wrecked the shaft, taking at least 238 lives. It was believed certain that the 25 missing persons would be found dead and their number added to the total casualties.

Officials of the mine are mystified as to cause of the explosion. They claim dynamite recently sent to the shaft was stored in its proper places Saturday and could not have been the initial cause of the blast. Coal damp, it was believed, possibly offered an explanation.

Wichita Falls Rainfall Heavy

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 23. (AP)—Rain, averaging half an inch which fell last night and today, extended to Childress on the northwest, Dublin on the south and Fort Worth on the southeast. The precipitation for the month was increased to 9.4 inches here, the greatest on record.

Both Lake Wichita and the diversion lake were still spilling over from the last heavy rains and Holiday Creek and Wichita river, both of which had gone out of banks to flood portions of the city and drive a number of persons from their homes, had hardly receded to their natural confines.

Alibi Is Hope of Accused Man

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Scientific crime solution was balanced today against an alibi in the trial of Herbert M. Campbell, Virginia real estate dealer, charged with murdering Mary Baker, government clerk.

Should the jury attach little weight to the testimony of Ballistics experts who say Campbell's gun was the weapon which fired three bullets into the girl's body, on the night of April 11, and to a chain of circumstantial evidence forged in six months' investigation, the acquittal of Campbell seems assured.

If necessary, to sustain his alibi—attested by numerous witnesses—Campbell will be called upon by his attorneys to confess himself a liar and a foolish publicity seeker, in his own story and voluntary production of the weapon brought him into the case.

Find No Clues In Murdering of Tennessee Boys

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 23. (AP)—The battered and burned bodies of two North Carolina high school students lay today in a morgue, apparently victims of assailants who beat them severely and placed them on a pyre formed by embers of an Arkansas swamp campfire.

Both died in a hospital last night without regaining consciousness. Their skulls had been crushed.

The boys were identified by notes and a diary found in their pockets as Burton Hensley and Woodrow S. Wilson of the little town of Bald Creek in the mountains of North Carolina. Advice from Bald Creek said they left their homes eight days ago presumably on a hitch-hiking trip to the west.

Discovery of the two youths, their bodies seared by the flames of the still burning campfire, was made by two wood choppers late yesterday.

First reports that the boys left their home in North Carolina in an automobile caused authorities of Ortienden county, Arkansas, where the bodies were found, to have a belief that they were slain by tramps to obtain possession of their car. Later advices said they were without a definite theory as to the motive which prompted the slaying.

Workman Falls 175 Feet to River—Setting Record

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 23. (AP)—While working on the great New Sydney harbor bridge, said to be the world's largest arch bridge, a workman named Kelly today fell 175 feet into the harbor.

He hurtled down feet first and as he struck the water a column of spray 20 feet high shot into the air. Kelly swam ashore not much worse for his experience and is now wondering whether he established

Says Fairs Help to Develop Art

CANYON, Oct. 23. (Special)—Mrs. G. E. Palmer of Amarillo was the speaker at the assembly of the West Texas State Teachers college Tuesday, taking as her subject the development of interest in Art in the United States.

"Fairs," said Mrs. Palmer "do a great deal to awaken interest in art. This has been especially true in Texas. The Tri-State Fair, the Dallas Fair, the Abilene fair and the Waco Cotton Carnival have done more than can be measured to develop an interest in Art."

Mrs. Palmer is a member of the Southern States Art League, and is chairman of the Art department of the Seventh District Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Her talk at Canyon was much appreciated by students and faculty.

Kaufman confessed when police questioned him about a statutory charge brought by another girl.

WATERS WILL WRESTLE LAST TIME IN PAMPA TONIGHT

ROSE HOPES TO HOLD HIS RAPID PACE

Teddy Waters, former inhabitant of the cotton country not far south of here but lately a resident of Corpus Christi, will be seen in action at the Pla-Mor auditorium this evening for the last time soon, win or lose.

Teddy hopes and expects that it will be a victory, for he wants to leave a clear record behind him. His opponent will be Jack Rose, the Shreveport beau brummel, who fans hope will also soon be on his way—defeated.

But Rose is an astute wrestler. He has had no matches to tire him down and he has been working out daily in all seriousness. Rose likes Pampa, and he plans to stick around until he is beaten. But he has no intention of being beaten, even by Otis Clingman. Rose charges that Clingman is afraid of him, and Otis admits that he had rather meet Rose's conquer—no matter how—the exponent of the hair and toe hold.

Rose had an unremediated side-show bout with Referee Oscar Dotson last week and he is expected to rebel against the blacksmith's being in the ring this time. Dotson is a heavy-weight restler and Rose only wastes time and energy in grappling with him.

In the semi-finals, Rob Roy and Young Kopecky will tangle, with Brother Joe coaching from ring-side.

Popular Prices Not So Popular As Bain Fights

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (AP)—The first experiment with championship fights at "popular" prices in Madison Square Garden has shown that the innovation is far from popular unless the contenders can show more than Abie Bain.

Bain, a Newark, N. J., youngster who has had little experience in the light heavyweights, proved only a chopping block for Maxie Rosenbloom, the light heavy-weight champion, last night and Maxie "defended" his title by scoring a technical knockout in the eleventh round of a dull match.

Bowling League Is Being Formed

Twelve business houses and organizations have signified their intention of joining two bowling leagues being formed here. A tournament is being planned. Prizes have been announced by the Pampa Bowling Alleys under whose direction the leagues are being formed.

The teams that are expected to join the Commercial league are Frigidaire, Gordon's stores, Diamond shop, Cabot company, Clauson Motor company, and Clowe and Cowan. The City League teams are expected to be entered by the Elks, Lions, Rotarians, American Legion, Schnelder hotel, and a team from the Pampa National and First National banks.

If the teams do as expected, only two will remain to be organized for each of the leagues to complete the plan of having two eight-team leagues. Others considering forming teams to enter in the tournament are asked to call at the Pampa Bowling Alleys and signify their intention.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 23. (AP)—Professional golfers, including in their ranks Al and Abe Espinosa of Chicago and George Von Elm, recently turned professional, today faced their final practice round in preparation for the $5,000 open tournament tomorrow.

Such nationally prominent golfers as Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, and Johnny Farrell have indicated they will participate.

Champs Cling To Advantage

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (AP)—The local feud between Los Angeles and Hollywood for the Pacific coast league baseball pennant moved to the second tilt of the playoff series today with the defending champions, the Stars, clinging to a one-game advantage.

SPORT SLANTS

Alan Gould

One never knows about These Football Games. The earnest expert who breaks in to print these days with predictions about football games is inviting disgrace. Once upon a time, you could sit down with a pencil and paper and figure out most of the big games in advance. But not now!

Out on the coast the "Big Three" of California already has been overturned by Babe Holingsberry's Washington State Cougars. The unregarded State eleven beat California and Southern California on successive Saturdays kicking the dope receptacle all over the place.

Georgia took Yale down the line. Then, down in the Southern Conference up rose Alabama and ended the long string of victories Tennessee has run up during the last three years.

Vanderbilt went north and handed Minnesota a fancy pasting, after which the Gophers glommed Stanford, which is what you have to call the feat of holding the big Warner eleven to a scoreless tie.

Wisconsin was not figured as powerful until Penn took one of her best teams of recent years to Madison and sustained severe damages.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

- "Dopey" Workman, coach of Iowa State, is one of the brothers who made history for Ohio State a decade ago. . . . Lud Wray learned his touted passing attack watching soccer in Bermuda. . . . When the Army plays Notre Dame at Chicago, a number of cadets from the Point will be on hand, ready to bet their five bucks. . . . Each cadet is allowed a fmg to spend riotously when the team goes away for a big game. . . . though the allowance is cut to $1 for minor contests. . . . Joe Jacobs who has gone to Germany to talk things over with the world's heavy-weight champion (by foul) Max Schmeling, says Maxie will fight for the Milk Fund this year and not for the Garden.

Dope Knocked Awry

In many of the games, the dope hasn't meant a thing. Harvard was expected to unloose an aerial attack that would befuddle the Army; as it turned out, the soldiers broke through and stopped the fling before it ever started. Rockne moaned about the way his team was going to be manhandled by Carnegie Tech. The Tartan line was composed of fire-snorting orges. It developed that most of the fire-breathing was on the part of the Notre Dame line, which played at a new height of fury.

Purdue seemed strong at the Big Ten started proceedings but Michigan stepped in with a quarterback (Newman) who seemed to know he wasn't playing end or center, contrary to the usual misapprehension suffered in recent years by Wolverine signal-men, and after Newman had established himself, Purdue

RICE PLANS PSYCHOLOGY IN NEXT TILT

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Oct. 23. (AP)—The rally club at Rice institute is planning a mammoth chunk of psychology to use on the Owls in their conference clash with the Texas Longhorns Saturday at Houston. It will be, in point of fact, the outstanding bit of hocus-pocus ever employed on a football field.

STRIBLING TO MEET OHIOAN THIS EVENING

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 23. (AP)—Young Stribling starts another campaign directed towards a heavy-weight title bout tonight when he tests his newly-discovered knockout punch on the durable chin of Meyer (K. O.) Christner of Akron, O. It is Stribling's first bout since his return from England, where he scored a sensational knockout victory over Phil Scott.

Stribling has displayed a real wallop in his recent battles, knocking out Otto Von Porat in Chicago and then Scott. Although Christner has slipped back somewhat since he leaped into the limelight a few years ago he still has considerable ability to take punishment and a dangerous right wallop in the bargain.

Golf Official Makes Statement

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Agitation over the request of the Professional Golfers' association for 10 per cent of tournament prize money is exaggerated and unnecessary, according to Albert R. Gates, an officer of the association.

"The money does not go into the treasury of the P. G. A.," he said. "It is used to defray expenses of the Ryder cup matches which are played every two years between British and American professionals."

"Our tournament board, which is directed by Robert Harlow, offers to help these associations organize their events. In return we ask them to contribute 10 per cent of the prize money to the P. G. A. This contribution is entirely optional and there is no ground for charges that pressure would be brought to keep leading players from participating in tournaments which do not make the payment."

Opposes Sacrifice

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Thomas Jefferson Hickey, president of the American association, today joined President Ernest S. Barnard of the American league in the movement to rid the scoring rules of the sacrifice fly.

"The sacrifice fly unquestionably has no place in the rules and I am in favor of its elimination at once," Hickey said.

Dick Daniels To Box Risko In Boston Ring

BOSTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Dick Daniels, Minneapolis boy who makes a practice of tackling tough boxing assignments, takes on Johnny Risko of Cleveland, tonight, in a 10-round bout at the Boston Garden.

What Daniels may lack in experience he makes up for in sheer grit. Experts said a win over Risko would be the making of the Minneapolis battler.

Daniels will go into the fight weighing 187 pounds. He is 21 years old and started fighting while a student at the University of Minnesota three years ago. He stands six feet tall in his stocking feet.

Risko has put on a little weight since his last bout here and has probably slowed up a bit, but to back him he has a wealth of experience and a ring style that has carried him through to many a victory.

nothing more important to do than polish off the Texas Tech eleven in their new stadium. The Matadors are unusually weak this year, so it should be a breeze for the Christians. Then, next week, they will entertain Abilene Christian college at Fort Worth in what should be another. When they finally do hit the championship stretch, calling for four conference tilts in as many weeks, the Frogs will be primed and ready. They will need to be, meeting Texas, Baylor and Southern Methodist on successive Saturdays.

Loughran Will Battle Maier

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23. (AP)—Their training completed, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, former world's champion light heavy-weight, and Davie Maier, Milwaukee, aspirant into big time circles, rested today prior to their scheduled 10-round fight here tonight.

Loughran expects to weigh in at about 183 and Maier at 180.

He Plays Hard For Wisconsin—And Young Lady

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23. (AP)—It was more than a case of just playing for dear old Wisconsin when Charles "Buckets" Goldenberg, Badger quarterback, carried the oval for the University of Wisconsin to the detriment of the University of Pennsylvania at Madison last Saturday.

According to inmates of Goldenberg, he plans to marry Miss Marian Werba of Milwaukee. Miss Werba is a football fan. So, it appears, is her father.

"You beat Pennsylvania," the father was reported by friends to have told Buckets, "or you'll be no son-in-law of mine."

GEHRIG HAS AILMENTS TO BE TREATED

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (AP)—The Evening World said today that Lou Gehrig, slugging first baseman of the New York Yankees, is ready to go to a hospital now for repairs which should have been made long before the baseball season ended.

There is a broken finger, a dislocated left elbow and several painful cysts in the lobe of the right ear for surgeons to go to work on within the next few days, the World said. Gehrig refused to interrupt his work during the season. He hasn't missed a ball game since 1925, and is something less than two and a half seasons behind Everett Scott's record for consecutive games played.

Gehrig's friends who knew of his disabilities said today the injuries probably were responsible in part for the loss of this year's batting championship to Al Simmons of the Athletics. Before his finger and arm cracked, they said, Gehrig thought he had the crown tucked away.

THOMPSON—

Thompson's inspiring exhibition. The News will print the time of each stop and demonstration and will also print it in Saturday morning's Post.

On Friday evening Hayward Thompson will submit himself to a final physical examination at the hands of C. V. McCallister, D. C., and Arch Meador, M. D., at the Mineral Wells Clinic. This will be to determine the exact amount of resistance Thompson will be capable of during his strenuous show Saturday afternoon.

Peeping into some of the press scrap books in possession of Hayward Thompson's manager, a reporter found some interesting testimonials. For instance:

"One hundred thousand spectators jammed the stadium at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition grounds yesterday afternoon to witness Hayward Thompson's marvelous exhibition of driving. This Quaker town again stands convinced of the reality of Thompson's phenomena. He is to appear before the convention of the American Chemical Society tonight."—Philadelphia Record.

"Los Angeles stands convinced. He thrilled the populace again with a remarkable demonstration of his powers. Countless thousands saw him drive, blind, eighty-seven miles through the most congested traffic imaginable in three hours and ten minutes."—Los Angeles Times.

"This young American has something that the ordinary mortal has not. London applauds him for his natural ability and Yankee grit."—London (Eng.) Times.

"Thousands could be quoted. But early Saturday afternoon Pampa is going to witness this master showman in action. Set aside that time Saturday. Be in town by 12 o'clock in front of the News-Post building. Watch this feat of nature's wonderwork."

Total sales of the week, including the Graham-Cree-Hoover No. 1 Sullivan and a 40-acre lease which sold for $400,000 last Saturday, amount to $1,450,000.

(The circular for political reasons and not in a good faith endeavor to save any of the tax payers any money whatsoever, but solely to further their private interests." Mr. Kirby declared.

Mr. Kirby also said that "I hear that Mr. Duncan states that neither he nor any of the men who signed the circular in question will reply to me on Thursday night. I can only say that the men who circulated this circular must know that the facts therein contained can easily be refuted and apparently they do not
