Appraisal Review Board to meet at 9 a.m., July 19

Gray County Appraisal District Appraisal Review Board will meet at 9 a.m., Thursday, July 19, in the CCAD conference room, 815 N. Sumner.

Among the items listed on the agenda will be scheduled hearings on tax appraisal protests, approval of any needed changes, and the chief appraiser's report.

The meeting is open to the public.

General Services appointee withdraws name

AUSTIN (AP) — The person picked by Gov. Rick Perry to head the state agency responsible for state purchasing has decided to forgo his appointment, the governor's office said.

Gov. Perry appointed Macedonio Villarreal of Missouri City to the six-member General Services Commission earlier this month. Perry named Villarreal chairman last week.

Following further discussion in the governor's office about the broad purchasing and oversight responsibilities of the General Services Commission, and the governor's desire that appointees have no real or perceived conflict of interest, Mr. Villarreal decided to step aside," Perry spokeswoman Kathy Walt said in Wednesday's Austin American-Statesman.

Villarreal is president and chief executive for Precision Task Group Inc., a technology consulting firm in Houston. The company has done no work for the commission, but is a subcontractor on several jobs for the state.

Thomas William Cooper, 90, retired oilfield pusher.

Tripplehorn: 'Inform yourselves'

By NANCY YOUNG
Managing Editor

"Hogs are a very controversial issue," said Pampa Economic Development Corporation Executive President Susan Tripplehorn as she spoke during the monthly Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

Tripplehorn responded to a recent controversy splitting the local community after National Pig Development's public meeting July 10.

At that meeting, a local resident, Kathleen Greene, said the hog-farrow operation terminology actually meant 50,000 hogs would be located at the proposed facility instead of 3,700 hogs which had been previously mentioned at the proposed facility.

Following the July 10 meeting, some local individuals initiated a petition calling for a county-wide vote to prohibit Gray County officials from offering any type of tax incentives (abatement) to any swine-related industry.

Gray County Commissioners approved guidelines at a recent meeting for offering tax abatement to any prospective business. County Judge Richard Peet said the action did not give an abatement to anyone. He said the action only gave the county authority to set up the guidelines.

He said each business would be evaluated on their own merit, and that there have been no requests for a tax abatement.

"There are no incentives on the table (by the PEDC) for the hog farm operation," said Tripplehorn. "Absolutely none."

As Tripplehorn provided information on the possible location of a NPD genetic research facility near Pampa, she said, "They have an option on a piece of property 11 miles east of Pampa. The property consists of two and one-half sections of land, and they are proposing to begin with a 3,700 sow nucleus for the purpose of genetically perfecting a perfect sow to use as breeding stock."

She said NPD anticipates 40,000 pigs on the property when they are at full capacity. Tripplehorn said, "The permit will be written for 50,000 pigs because that is the formula that the Texas National Resource Conservation Commission uses when you use a base of 3,700."

"(NPD) will genetically track each sow so that they have a whole life history of that animal. Then they will sell that sow to hog producers all over the country," said Tripplehorn. "That is the basic project."

Several times during her presentation, Tripplehorn said she would be happy to take anyone to the Perryton area to ask questions about the 300,000 hog operation there. She encouraged people to investigate the proposed operation to their own satisfaction.

She said she has made several trips to the Perryton area and the odor has not been bad.

The company is proposing about 45 employees, said Tripplehorn, and have said the payroll would be about $1.5 million a year, which includes benefits. She added the company would have an annual operating cost of about $7 million. At completion, the project will be a capital investment of $15-$18 million.

Explaining she had researched the possible tax revenue to be generated from such a project, Tripplehorn said the figures were based on information she had obtained from previous agricultural projects in the area. She said she had talked to Pat Bagley with the Gray County Tax Appraisal District to obtain her information.

"It is very difficult to do when you are talking about agricultures as to what kind of tax value from the projects will actually go on the roll," she said. "Because agricultures have so many exemptions when you go along with a project such as this, I basically have said that one-third of it would be the taxable value that go on our tax rolls. So, we are talking in the neighborhood of about $5 or $6 million actually increasing our tax base for this project."

Tripplehorn told the group that NPD is a wholly owned subsidiary of Smithfield Foods, Inc. She encouraged everyone at the meeting and all Pampa area residents to read about the company on their website as well as to read the website of hogwatch.org, an anti-hog organization in North Carolina where Smithfield's headquarters are located.

In giving information about hogwatch.org, she said, "I encourage you to go to that site because you will read information on the other side," she said. "I think it is so important that everyone inform themselves of this hog operation. I encourage you to read both sites."

Groups plan rally to mark drug raid

By DAVID BOWSER
Staff Writer

TULIA — An ACLU and NAACP Freedom Ride from Austin is to end here Sunday with a rally marking the second year anniversary of a drug raid that resulted in the arrests of almost half the male Afro-American population of this town.

According to Alan Bean, one of the organizers of the rally, the controversial drug raid on July 23, 1999, turned up no drugs, money or weapons. The convictions of those arrested, he said, was based solely on the uncorroborated testimony of one undercover law enforcement officer. Sentences for some of those charged in the drug raid ranged as high as 400 years.

The ACLU and NAACP later filed civil suits against county officials. Those suits are still pending.

The Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department is also investigating the circumstances surrounding the drug raid.

Fire destroys county dump truck

Fire destroyed a Gray County dump truck about 11 a.m. Tuesday, about two miles north of 23rd Street on Price Road.

County Employee Wayne Roberts said he was south bound on Price Road near Perry Letors Airport when the county dump truck began sputtering. He said he pulled over to the side of the road and flames began roaring out from under the hood.

"And I roared out of the cab," Roberts said.

Pampa firefighters extinguished with blaze but not before the fire heavily damaged the Precinct Two truck and burned off about 50 feet of the grass along the right of way about two miles north of Memory Gardens on Price Road.

Police say shooting accidental; boy hurt

Pampa police today say a shooting Tuesday afternoon that injured a 14-year-old Pampa boy was apparently an accident.

According to police reports, the shooting occurred at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the 2500 block of Mary Ellen. The boy was taken by his parents to Pampa Regional Medical Center Emergency Room for injuries to his jaw and mouth before being transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital (NWH) in Amarillo, police said. NWH officials today said they had "no information" on the teen's condition.

Col. Jerry Young of the Pampa Police Department said that after investigation, officers have determined the shooting is "officially

Years of teaching her children what to do in case of an emergency paid off Friday when a young Pampa mother, too ill to help herself, fainted in the hallway of their home.

"I'd been sick for several days," remembers Lynette Young. "I thought it was the medication I had been taking. I slept a lot. But then I got to feeling really bad and my throat started swelling."

Her son James Young, 8, was preparing something to eat for his three younger siblings — Cheyenne, 6, Kenda, 3, and Destany, 1 — when he heard a crash coming from the hallway.

"I knew it was my mother," James said.

"I called 9-1-1," Cheyenne said with pride.

"I was in the hall checking on my mom. Then I spoke to (the 9-1-1 operator)," James added. "I told her Mom went to the bathroom and passed out in the hall."

A first responder from the Pampa Fire Department were the first to come to the house to help the sick mother. By the time they arrived, Young was conscious but almost incoherent. Seeing the four young children, the firefighters contacted the Pampa Police Department to help find a relative to stay with the children.

"The ambulance came and took her to the hospital. They laid her right here," said Kenda, pointing to the living room floor.

"Three cops came and stayed with us — and a cop dog!" Cheyenne interjected.

She said Smithfield is the largest hog processor and producer in the world, and said the company has been in the business for many years.

"In 1998, the chairman of the board at Smithfield indicated that in order to remain profitable, he wanted to vertically integrate the company," she said. "So instead of going out and buying the hogs they needed on the open market to process the hogs, he decided they needed to own the hog producers."

Prior to 1998, Smithfield owned a company called Brown's of Carolina, a hog producer, she said. In 1999, they bought Carroll Foods and in 2000 they bought Murphy Farms. Tripplehorn said Murphy Farms also has a hog production facility in Lipscomb County.

NPD was purchased by Smithfield in 1991. "So, they have the genetic research arm that they need to produce that perfect sow which will go into the production of their hogs all over the world," she said. "Not only will NPD be producing those perfect sows for Smithfield's production, but they will also be producing that perfect sow to individual producers."

She said Texas Farms has about 300,000 pigs at their facility in Perryton. "They could be a customer for these sows that could be produced in Pampa."

Tripplehorn explained to the group that North Carolina's major economy is hogs, and that when a hurricane struck that state about two years ago considerable damage was done to the hog lagoons in that state.

She said as a result of that damage the state Attorney General made a deal with Smithfield Foods to work on a research project through North Carolina State University to come up with some other system besides lagoons for handling waste from hogs.

"As a result of those negotiations between the North Carolina Attorney General and Smithfield Foods, Smithfield gave $15 million to NCSU for this project," she said. The attorney general's website giving information on the project is www.jus.state.nc.us, she said.

NPD has incorporated into their plan every item the PGCD has requested, she said.

"The next step for the project will be for NPD to finalize their permit paperwork and send it off to the TNRCC. The permit will take approximately 120 days to receive," she said.

Tripplehorn said she expects the permit to be filed within the next 10 days to two weeks, and that the local PEDC office will have that information the day it is filed.

She encouraged anyone wanting information regarding the permit filing or any other issue regarding the hog proposal to call the PEDC office to know when it is filed.

Tripplehorn said anyone having questions should contact the PEDC office. "If we don't know the answer, we will find out," she said.

Texas Round up ...

Amnesty talks raise hopes for undocumented citizens

HARLINGEN (AP) — The stillness, the Spanish, the tropical humidity and sweat-beaded foreheads make the cement block public housing complex feel a bit like old Mexico.

But this is 20 miles into the United States, where families scrape by on off-the-books labor and the U.S. public assistance given to their children, citizens here by birth.

Now, word that the Bush administration is considering granting legal status to the estimated 3 million Mexican nationals living illegally in the United States has raised new hope for that piece of paper that will allow them to work legally. "If we had permission (working papers) we wouldn't be here," said 29-year-old Guadalupe Castillo, a mother of three. She and her friends want to work, she said, not sit in a living room on a weekday afternoon, sharing the gentle breeze of a floor fan.

The children don't always understand.

All have friends and relatives who benefited from the amnesty in 1986, when Congress passed legislation granting legal status to 2.7 million illegal immigrants. When her brother-in-law got his green card, Aurelia Vasquez Obregon said, her sister's life completely changed. They're middle class now. Their house is almost paid off.

But amnesty has some strong congressional opposition.

Settlement reached in wrongful death suit

HOUSTON (AP) — The family of a man who died after being beaten and hogtied at a Dillard's store has settled the wrongful death lawsuit that it brought against the department store.

In May, a jury in Houston awarded the family $800,000 plus interest, which would have brought the award to about $1.5 million.

But after the verdict, Dillard's lawyer Brock Akers said the family was entitled to only about half the $800,000 award and that he would be asking Judge Katie Kennedy to reduce the award.

The settlement reached last week was confidential. Lawyers representing Darryl Robinson's family and Dillard's declined to say how much the family received.

"I'm sure that the family is very proud to have their son's reputation back and they feel vindicated by the results of the trial," said James Doyle, one of the family's lawyers.

The jury found the negligence of two Harris County sheriff's deputies and a Dillard's assistant manager caused Robinson's death.

The Robinson family witnesses and the deputies provided divergent accounts of what happened.

Robinson, a 37-year-old courier company driver, was beaten and hogtied by the deputies on June 1, 1994, after arguing loudly with a store clerk, according to the family's witnesses.

Parents battling for permanent custody of child

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Entering the second week of a child custody battle, a mother has promised not to flee again — to Scotland or anywhere else — if she is given custody of her son.

Sindi Graber Linden and ex-husband Paul Marinkovich have been battling over custody of Gabriel since about 1996 when Linden, formerly of Corpus Christi, took Gabriel and her daughter to Europe to escape Marinkovich. The three lived under assumed names in Sweden, Scotland and Spain for four years while Marinkovich and authorities searched for them. Linden was arrested on international kidnapping charges in Scotland in March 2000. Linden has complained that Marinkovich made it difficult for her to see Gabriel or talk to him on the phone since she returned to the United States. She went eight months without visiting Gabriel at Marinkovich's home in Simi Valley, Calif., after the person assigned to monitor the visits quit and attorneys had difficulty finding a new one.

Linden claimed the monitor quit because of harassment from Marinkovich. Linden has said she left to protect Gabriel from Marinkovich, whom she accuses of abusing her daughter.

Marinkovich has said the 32-year-old Linden brainwashed Gabriel, and that mental health professionals have repeatedly discredited her charges of abuse. U.S. District Judge Janis Graham Jack has dismissed the charges against Linden, providing she abides by the outcome of the trial.

Astronauts connect gas tanks to passageway of space station

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two astronauts hooked up three of four gas tanks on the international space station's new entryway early Wednesday despite a brief shutdown of a computer critical to the job.

Space shuttle Atlantis astronauts Michael Gernhardt and James Reilly II installed two oxygen tanks and a nitrogen tank needed to pressurize the new $164 million air lock during a spacewalk that started late Tuesday.

NASA intended for them to add only two of the four tanks to the air lock during the spacewalk, but the work was so speedy that flight controllers decided to add the third. The fourth, a nitrogen tank, was to be added Friday during their third and final spacewalk of Atlantis' mission.

Station astronauts Susan Helms and Jim Voss maneuvered the station's 58-foot robot arm to hoist the 1,200-pound tanks from the shuttle's cargo bay and hand them to Gernhardt and Reilly, who latched them to the air lock.

Gernhardt and Reilly ventured out an hour late Tuesday because the hard drive in one of three computers needed to operate the Canadian-built robot arm failed. Flight controllers reset the computer in time for the late-night spacewalk.

Kansas ag secretary orders testing of all wheat seed

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Wheat seed must be tested and found free of the Karnal bunt fungus before it can be sold in Kansas, the state's agriculture secretary has declared.

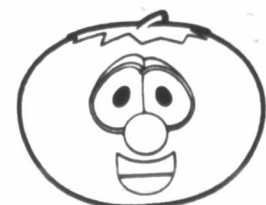

An order signed Tuesday by Secretary Jamie Clover Adams applies to durum wheat and triticale seed as well as regular wheat seed. Durum wheat is used to make pasta, and triticale is a rye-wheat hybrid.

Her action means that the 2,200 seed merchants in Kansas will have to send up to 4 pounds of seed to a state laboratory in Topeka. Sellers can submit composite samples from up to 10 lots of seed.

Out-of-state sellers will be required to have their seed tested and certified in their home states.

The order was effectively immediately, and Adams set no date for it to expire.

Wheat seeding typically begins in September and concludes by early November in Kansas. Last year, the state planted nearly 10 million acres of wheat.

Q I have been teaching school for 30 years and I am noticing a significant change in the health of my children. More of them are overweight, and they just don't get enough exercises. I wonder if my observation is accurate, and if so, what is causing it.

A You are absolutely correct. A recent medical study conducted at Columbia Children's Hospital in Ohio has confirmed that today's children are heavier and have significantly higher cholesterol and triglyceride levels than kids even 15 years ago. One of the researchers, Dr. Hugh Allens, said, "Unless these trends change, 30 million of the 80 million children alive today in the United States will eventually die of heart disease ... Kids need to turn off the TV, get off the couch and stop the nincompooping of America."

The problem is that high-fat junk food has replaced good nutrition. And even when healthy foods are consumed, kids are not exercising the calories off. Between television, carpools, computer games and hanging out at the pizza parlor, kids don't run and jump like they used to.

So Mom and Dad should find "active" activities to do together with kids, such as walking, bicycling, playing catch or hiking. They can also get their children involved in community or school sports programs, ranging from softball to soccer.

Children are busy forming habits for a lifetime, so eating right and exercising every day will contribute to greater health in the future.

Q The children in our neighborhood are bratty with one another and disrespectful with adults. This upsets me, but I don't know what to do about it. I don't have a right to discipline the children of my neighbors, so they get away with murder. How can I deal with this?

A Parents in a neighborhood need to learn to talk to each other about their kids -- although that is difficult to do. There is no quicker way to anger one mother than for another woman to criticize her precious cub. It is a delicate subject, indeed. That's why the typical neighborhood is like yours, providing little feedback to parents in regard to the behavior of their children. The kids know there are no lines of communication between adults and take advantage of the barrier.

What each block needs is another who has the courage to say to her neighbors: "I want to be told what my child does when she is beyond her own yard. If she is a brat with other children, I would like to know it. If she is disrespectful with adults, please mention it to me. I will not consider it tattling and won't resent your coming to me. I hope I can share my insights regarding your children, too. None of our kids is perfect, and we'll know better how to teach them if we can talk openly to each other as adults."

Until this openness exists between parents living nearby, the children will create and live by their own rules in the neighborhood.

Q As a single mother, I'd like to leave my children with friends or relatives for a few days and get some time for myself, but I'm worried about how this might affect them. Will they feel deserted?

A A brief time away from your children is not likely to be hurtful -- and it will probably be healthy for them, too. One of the special risks faced by single parents is the possibility of a dependency relationship developing that will trap their children at an immature stage. This danger is increased when wounded people cling to each other exclusively for support in stressful times.

Spending a reasonable amount of time apart can teach independence and give everyone a little relief from the routine. Therefore, if you have a clean, safe place to leave your children for a week or two, by all means, do it. You'll be more refreshed and better able to handle your usual "homework" when you return.

Census data shows prison makeup

By GENARO C. ARMAS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black Americans comprise a greater share of prison inmates than they do in the overall population of at least 29 states, new census data show.

It is a long-held phenomenon that analysts trace in part to raw arrest figures. Separate data from the FBI show that blacks are arrested at rates far higher than their national population percentage.

Civil rights advocates and critics of the criminal justice system also point to what they call historic racial inequities in how police and prosecutors fight crime, including racial profiling.

"Part of it is that we are nervous of people who look different from us," said Jenni Gainsborough, senior policy analyst at The Sentencing Project advocacy group. "But there is no simple answer to this question."

The percentage of African Americans in correctional institutions was higher than the percentage of blacks in the total population for the 29 states and the District of Columbia for which such census data is available.

In data released Wednesday for South Carolina, 68 percent of men between the ages of 18 and 64 in correctional institutions were African American. Blacks made up 27 percent of the state's total population in the same age group.

In West Virginia, blacks made up 44 percent of the female inmates ages 18 to 64. Blacks were 3 percent of the total female population in the same age range.

The reverse was true for non-Hispanic whites in nearly all states. For example, non-Hispanic white men made up 29 percent of South Carolina inmates between 18 and 64. Non-Hispanic whites were 68 percent of all men between 18 and 64 in the state.

Joshua Marquis is district attorney in Clatsop County, Ore. and a member of the National District Attorney Association. While "there is no doubt that residual racism" exists in the justice system, court systems have gone through enormous lengths to eliminate bias, Marquis said.

Earlier 2000 census figures showed that more than 12 percent of the country's 281 million people were black.

Data compiled by the FBI from more than 8,500 police agencies show that blacks were the subject of 29 percent of arrests in 1999.

Whites were the subject of 69 percent of arrests in 1999, according to the FBI; the 2000 census showed whites made up about 75 percent of the total population.

Often overlooked are socio-economic factors correlated to race, said Marquis and others associated with the criminal justice system.

For instance, crimes tend to be committed more by poorer people and in urban areas. Historically, minorities tend to have higher rates of poverty and live in cities more.

And it is in those urban areas where law enforcement efforts, especially against drugs, are concentrated.

Hilary Shelton, director of the Washington bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said disparities can eventually be narrowed, but only after problems such as racial profiling are resolved.

More courts that focus on rehabilitation and treatment rather than prison time for drug-related offenses are also necessary, Shelton said.

Many advocacy groups have also long contended that inner-city black drug offenders do not have the money to afford good legal representation, drug treatment, and other programs that white suburban offenders can afford.

U.S. warplane crashes on its way to patrol over Iraq

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A U.S. F-16 fighter jet crashed Wednesday in southeastern Turkey as it was heading toward northern Iraq to patrol a no-fly zone. It is believed to be the first U.S. aircraft to have gone down in 10 years of patrols over the no-fly zones. The U.S. military has flown more than 200,000 sorties over the no-fly zones during that time. The pilot ejected from the aircraft, but there was no immediate information on whether he had been rescued, said Maj. Ed Loomis, a spokesman for the U.S. European Command in Stuttgart, Germany. The Turkish military, however, issued a statement saying that the pilot parachuted to safety. Loomis said the cause of the crash was not known, but added that it was not due to hostile action.

Police prepare for activists' siege of Sri Lankan capital

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — Police geared up Wednesday for a planned siege of Sri Lanka's capital by thousands of opposition activists, and the U.S. Embassy cautioned that the nation may be entering a period of increased civil unrest. The main opposition United National Party is leading protests of President Chandrika Kumaratunga's suspension of the federal Parliament. The government crisis erupted as a Muslim Congress leader and six others defected after Kumaratunga fired him from the Cabinet on June 20. The defections reduced Kumaratunga's government to a minority, and Kumaratunga suspended parliament on July 11, in an apparent move to avoid an opposition-backed no-confidence motion. In violence apparently related to the political crisis, a bomb exploded in a regional office of the main Muslim party, though no one was injured by the home-made bomb.

Astronauts hook up gas tanks for international space station

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two astronauts hooked up three of four gas tanks on the international space station's new entryway early Wednesday despite a brief shutdown of a computer critical to the job. Space shuttle Atlantis astronauts Michael Gernhardt and James Reilly II installed two oxygen tanks and a nitrogen tank needed to pressurize the new $164 million air lock during a spacewalk that started late Tuesday. NASA intended for them to add only two of the four tanks to the air lock during the spacewalk, but the work was so speedy that flight controllers decided to add the third. The fourth, a nitrogen tank, was to be added Friday during their third and final spacewalk of Atlantis' mission.

Retailers aim to cash in on tax rebates

NEW YORK (AP) — Merchants, including Wal-Mart Stores Inc., Home Depot, Inc. and Ames Department Stores are part of a growing list of companies scrambling to cash in on the 91 million tax rebates worth $38 billion that will hit consumers' mailboxes starting next week. Some stores like Wal-Mart are offering to cash their customers' refund checks free of charge, with the hopes, of course, they will spend some of that money at the store. Others are timing their promotions, from sweepstakes to big discounts, to coincide with the tax rebates; and launching TV and print campaigns to encourage their customers to spend their refunds. Most of the promotions are slated to terminate at the end of September, just when the last batch of checks are mailed out.

Federal Consumer Protection has confirmed the accuracy of the fuel saving theories in this advertisement.

Device May Increase Gas Mileage

BOSTON - National Fuelsaver Corp. of Boston has developed a low cost automotive accessory called the Platinum Gas Saver which is guaranteed to increase gas mileage while meeting all emission standards.

With a simple connection to a vacuum line, the Gas Saver adds microscopic quantities of platinum to the air-fuel mixture entering the engine.

Platinum has the unique ability to make non-burning fuel burn. With platinum in the flame zone, you increase the percentage of fuel burning in the engine from 68% of each gallon to 90% of each gallon, a 22% increase.

*Since unburnt fuel leaving an engine is pollution, this 22% of each gallon would normally burn when it reaches the platinum of the catalytic converter.

Unfortunately, the converter's platinum burns this fuel in the tailpipe, where the heat and energy produced from burning this fuel cannot be harnessed to drive your vehicle.

But when the Gas Saver adds platinum to the air-fuel mixture, 22% more of each gallon burns inside the engine so that, in theory, 22% fewer gallons are required to drive the same distance.

After studying this process for five years, the government concluded: "Independent testing shows greater fuel savings with the Gas Saver than that claimed by the developer."

In addition to this government study, the Gas Saver has received patents for cleaning out carbon and raising octane, making premium fuel unnecessary for most vehicles.

Joel Robinson, the developer, commented: "Almost a half million Gas Savers have been sold. To our surprise, as many people buy the Gas Saver because it extends engine life (by cleaning out the abrasive carbon deposits) as buy it to increase gas mileage or to raise octane."

Silent Killer Lurks At The Stern Of Many Vacation Houseboats

DEAR ABBY: As the owner of a cabin cruiser on Lake Powell in Utah, and an occasional renter of houseboats, I have recently learned how easily I, or one of my passengers, could become a victim of carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning.

The level of CO found beneath some houseboats is so high it can kill a person after only a few breaths.

Swim ladder designs on some houseboat models create an air cavity beneath the stern deck. This space is a popular place for kids to go swimming. Many boats also vent the gasoline generator exhaust into this space, which has no outlet, allowing lethal levels of carbon monoxide to build up within a few minutes.

Sadly, since 1994, nine people have died, and since 1991, more than 100 have required emergency care — all from CO poisoning at Lake Powell.

Abby, please warn readers about the dangers of houseboats. Houseboats are being recalled and refitted. Houseboat owners should contact their nearest U.S. Coast Guard station for more information.

BOAT OWNER
IN FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ.

DEAR BOAT OWNER: Your warning will be news to a lot of people — it was to me — and I hope it serves to alert individuals and families who vacation on or around rented houseboats.

The problem seems to be a design flaw in certain models of houseboats that allows carbon monoxide to collect beneath swim platforms or in the vicinity of the swim ladder near the back of the boat.

ity of the swim ladder near the back of the boat.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas. Exposure to it causes headaches, dizziness, fatigue, confusion and nausea. The symptoms can mimic those of seasickness. When breathed in high concentrations or for prolonged periods, it can cause convulsions, seizures and death. It is also the No. 1 cause of poisoning deaths in the United States. That's why proper ventilation when burning carbon fuel is a must.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old about to turn 13. I don't remember all the details of a letter in your column that touched me, but I do know what it was about — sniffing inhalants.

When I read that letter I knew it had to be God speaking to me. I was experimenting with inhalants — and having problems such as depression and suicidal thoughts that were beginning to take over my life.

I looked at suicide as a way out. I had it all planned, but my cousin talked to me, sensed something was wrong, and I confided in her. I didn't think she'd squeal, but she did. At first I was mad that she'd wrecked my plan. Fortunately, I was put into "Teen Recovery" to work out some of my problems.

After five days I was out and on to a new and better life — thanks to the world's best parents, cousins, grandparents and friends that a person could ever have.

I hope my letter today will encourage some other troubled boy or girl out there to reach out if they're in trouble. Just sign me...
PRE-TEEN WITH NEW HOPE

DEAR PRE-TEEN: I, too, hope your letter reassures other kids who are in trouble that they can get the help they need. Caring family and friends are the best support system in the world.

DALLAS (AP) — Two-time All-Star Michael Finley, who became a free agent by opting out of his contract with Dallas, is poised to sign a seven-year contract valued at about $102 million, Mavericks owner Mark Cuban says.

The move was expected on Wednesday, the first day free agents can sign contracts.

Agreement to the maximum deal allowed would mean Finley will forgo an option to sign a one-year deal that would then enable him to sign a heftier seven-year, $120 million contract next summer.

Finley did not even visit with other teams during the negotiating period.

BASKETBALL

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Big 12 Conference football title could again be decided here as soon as 2002, with the winners of the league's North and South division playing for a Bowl Championship Series bid at the recently renamed Dome at America's Center.

St. Louis, host of the Big 12 championship football games in 1996 and 1998, filed a bid Monday to host any of the 2002 through 2005 games.

The bid was "very similar to the one we submitted two years ago, prior to the awarding of the 1999 and 2000 games," said Frank Viverito, president of the St. Louis Sports Commission.

Other cities expected to bid for the games are Dallas, Denver, Houston, Kansas City and San Antonio.

Viverito said St. Louis has offered the Dome at America's Center, formerly called the Trans World Dome, for "any or all" of the games in the four-year period.

"But they've been alternating between north and south and although I don't think their bid specs lock them into anything, I also don't know of any reason why they wouldn't keep alternating," Viverito said.

The first four Big 12 championships moved between the Trans World Dome and the Alamodome in San Antonio. The game last year, when eventual national champion Oklahoma beat Kansas State 27-24, was played at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City.

Pampa outlasts Lockney in state tourney

LOCKNEY — Two bases-loaded walks, great pitching and a stingy defense combined for a 2-1 Pampa win over a stubborn Lockney team in the Cal Ripken 11-12 West Texas State Tournament here Tuesday.

Lockney turned three double plays and Pampa one in a pitcher's battle which saw Pampa hitters hit only one ball out of the infield.

Blake Nusser won his second game of the tournament. He allowed one unearned run and three hits in four innings. He struck out seven and walked three. Matthew Trusty earned a save. He struck out two, walked one and allowed two hits while shutting

Cal Ripken 11-12 Division

Lockney down with no runs the last two innings.

Trusty went deep into the hole at shortstop to backhand a solid hit and turn it into an out to a stretching Bobby Sikes at first for the first out.

Lockney pitcher Tyler Kidd went all the way to second when a throw, sailed over the first baseman's head and out of the park. He took third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Anthony Peralez.

In the bottom of the first with one out, Colby Copeland reached first on an error.

Trusty was hit by a pitch, moving Copeland to second. Trusty was forced at second on a grounder hit by Mark Stone for the second out. Travis Marsh and Aaron Carr walked, forcing in Copeland with the tying run.

Pampa wasted walks to Sikes and Copeland in the second inning. Stone led off the bottom of the third for Pampa with a walk. Marsh drew his second walk of the game. Carr laid down a perfect bunt to load the bases with no outs.

Brett Ferrell was inserted as pinch hitter and walked on four pitches to force in Stone with what turned out to be the winning run. A catcher to third baseball double play deflated the potential rally. A groundout ended the inning.

In the fourth inning, Shavious Kelley beat out a bunt and Copeland followed with another bunt for hit. Trusty hit a soft fly ball to the second baseman who converted it into a double play catching Kelley off the bag at second. A single up the middle by Stone was Pampa's third hit of the inning, but an unassisted groundout to first ended the inning.

Lockney tried to rally in the sixth. Pinch hitter A. J. Jiminez singled to left field and Drew Reed followed with a mighty swing which dribbled out in front of the plate for a hit. Copeland then fielded a soft fly ball just off the grass and turned it into an unassisted double play to give Pampa breathing room and a gigantic momentum swing. Trusty struck out the next batter on four pitches to end the game.

Pampa had only four hits in the game with both runs coming on bases loaded walks. Lockney had five hits. Pampa pitchers walked only four batters to nine for Lockney pitchers. Each team committed only one error.

Pampa plays Seminole, a 2-1 winner over Tulia in seven innings, at 8 tonight. Both teams are 2-1 in the tournament.

PHS golfer entered in Jr. Championship

WESTFIELD CENTER, Ohio — Pampa golfer Daniel Heuston is one of 90 players representing 38 states at the Westfield Junior PGA Championship, which tees off today at Westfield Center, Ohio.

Heuston will be a senior at Pampa High School.

The 90-player field will compete at the Westfield Group Country Club's South Course, a private facility owned by the Westfield Group, a 153-year-old insurance company. The Westfield Group became title sponsor of the former PGA Junior Championship this year. The Championship had been conducted in Florida for 19 of the past 21 years.

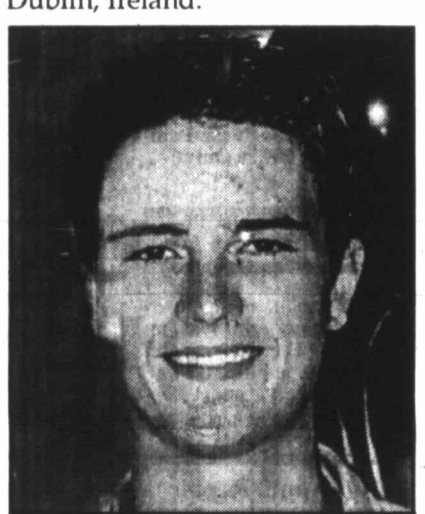

The Westfield Group is hosting the national championship at a facility located 40 miles southwest of Cleveland.

"We're ready for golf and the community is excited," said Westfield Group Chief Executive Officer Cary Blair. "We're delighted to have The PGA of America bring this premier junior championship here, and we look forward to growing along with this event."

The boys division will play a par-71, 6,513-yard layout and the girls division will play at a par-72 over 5,330 yards. The South Course was designed in 1965 by Geoffrey Cornish.

The top two boys and girls will earn berths on the U.S. Junior Ryder Cup Team that competes Sept. 25-26 at the Kildare Hotel & Country Club at Straffan, near Dublin, Ireland.

Campo ready for a fresh start

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — The way Dallas Cowboys coach Dave Campo sees it, the only thing worse than going 5-11 last season was spending the past seven months thinking about it.

Campo finally gets a fresh start Saturday with the opening of training camp for the 2001 season. He'll jump right into two-a-day practices Sunday.

"I'm excited," Campo said. "To be honest with you, the offseason is awfully long, especially when you have a poor season."

Dallas went through a pretty long offseason, too, as the team cut ties to several more links to its championship years.

Troy Aikman was by far the most prominent player released, retired or not resigned. Erik Williams, Chad Hennings, Leon Lett also left, as did Alonzo Spellman, a starter the past two years.

The shakeup left the Cowboys with about one-third of their salary cap wasted on former players, making them mostly spectators in free agency. They also were without a first-round draft pick and came away with few rookies expected to contribute immediately.

While that sounds like a recipe for another agonizing season, team owner Jerry Jones disagrees. He's predicted a 10-6 finish, which would be Dallas' best in three years.

Campo isn't putting a number on his expectations, but he is confident things aren't as bad as they seem.

"We're going to be a better football team than we were last year," Campo said. "And that's based on knowing the athletic talent we have."

Campo said one of his pre-season goals is to make sure his team has a workman's attitude. He wants them "to be a professional football team that shows up every day with a lunch pail in their hand, ready to go to work."

To help encourage that attitude, Campo has scheduled 11 straight days of practices in the broiling heat of Wichita Falls before the first break, a travel day to Oakland for the exhibition opener on Aug. 4.

There is some respite in the camp-opening streak: three days of specials-teams-only work. Those drills are usually limited to rookies and others needing to make a good impression.

"I expect our first two weeks of training camp to be a little bit like the Bataan Death March," Campo said. "We're going to find out who wants to play football."

Another goal is to maximize the time spent in Wichita Falls. The Cowboys have only four more days there after playing the Raiders, then head to the cooler climate of Oxnard, Calif., for two weeks.

"We need the heat for the conditioning, then to take that break will be good," Campo said. "The key is that you're changing a little bit of the continuity of camp. But I really believe it will be a positive from a focus standpoint, because it will force our guys to refocus on what we need to do to finish camp."

Kids meet their hero at Commerce basketball camp

COMMERCE, Texas (AP) — Ten-year-old Alexis Nicholas wants to play for the New York Liberty. Marshall Long, 12, thinks his autograph on a basketball will be worth a lot of money some day. Six-year-old Lyndon Lowe just wants to know where Kobe Bryant is.

The aspiring all-stars waiting in line to meet Shaquille O'Neal at the Slam Magazine basketball camp Tuesday all felt as though they had something in common with their towering hero.

They were left satisfied as the man they know as Superman offered his words of guidance during the camp at Texas A&M-Commerce.

"I want to stress the importance to all of you about following your dreams," he told them as they gathered around him in the bleachers later. "Stick to the basics and you all know what the basics are — listen to your parents, stay away from drugs and alcohol, and follow your dreams."

They walked away in awe. "It was like a treasure," 11-year-old Ryan Campbell of Naples said after O'Neal signed his Los Angeles Lakers jersey. "I've always wanted to meet him in person."

About 165 basketball players between the ages of eight and 17 are spending the week learning the finer points of basketball from a team of coaches at the East Texas university. For many, the week's highlight came when O'Neal visited, signing autographs and offering pointers.

As Marshall took his turn with O'Neal, the Farmersville boy handed his favorite basketball player an autographed basketball of his own.

"Keep it. It will be worth some money some day," Marshall told O'Neal, prompting a quick grin from O'Neal. O'Neal gave the ball to one of his entourage.

Alexis, from Queens, N.Y., said she hoped the two-time NBA Finals MVP would help her sharpen her rebounding skills.

"I want to learn to rebound more, but I'm really a point guard so I'd like to work on my handling skills and my shooting skills, too," she said.

Alexis, who was disappointed O'Neal's Lakers beat Allen Iverson and the Philadelphia 76ers in the NBA Finals, said she won't hold it against him.

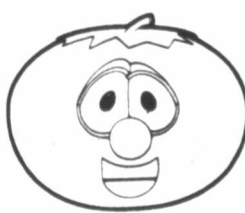

"It's nice to meet a superstar, especially a basketball superstar, because I love basketball," she said. "I like Allen Iverson, but Shaq and Allen Iverson are both my favorites."

After O'Neal had to crouch to sign Lyndon's white sweat band, the 6-year-old from Dallas wanted to know, "Where's Kobe?"

"I don't know nothing about where Kobe is," O'Neal said, laughing at the son of one of the camp's coaches.

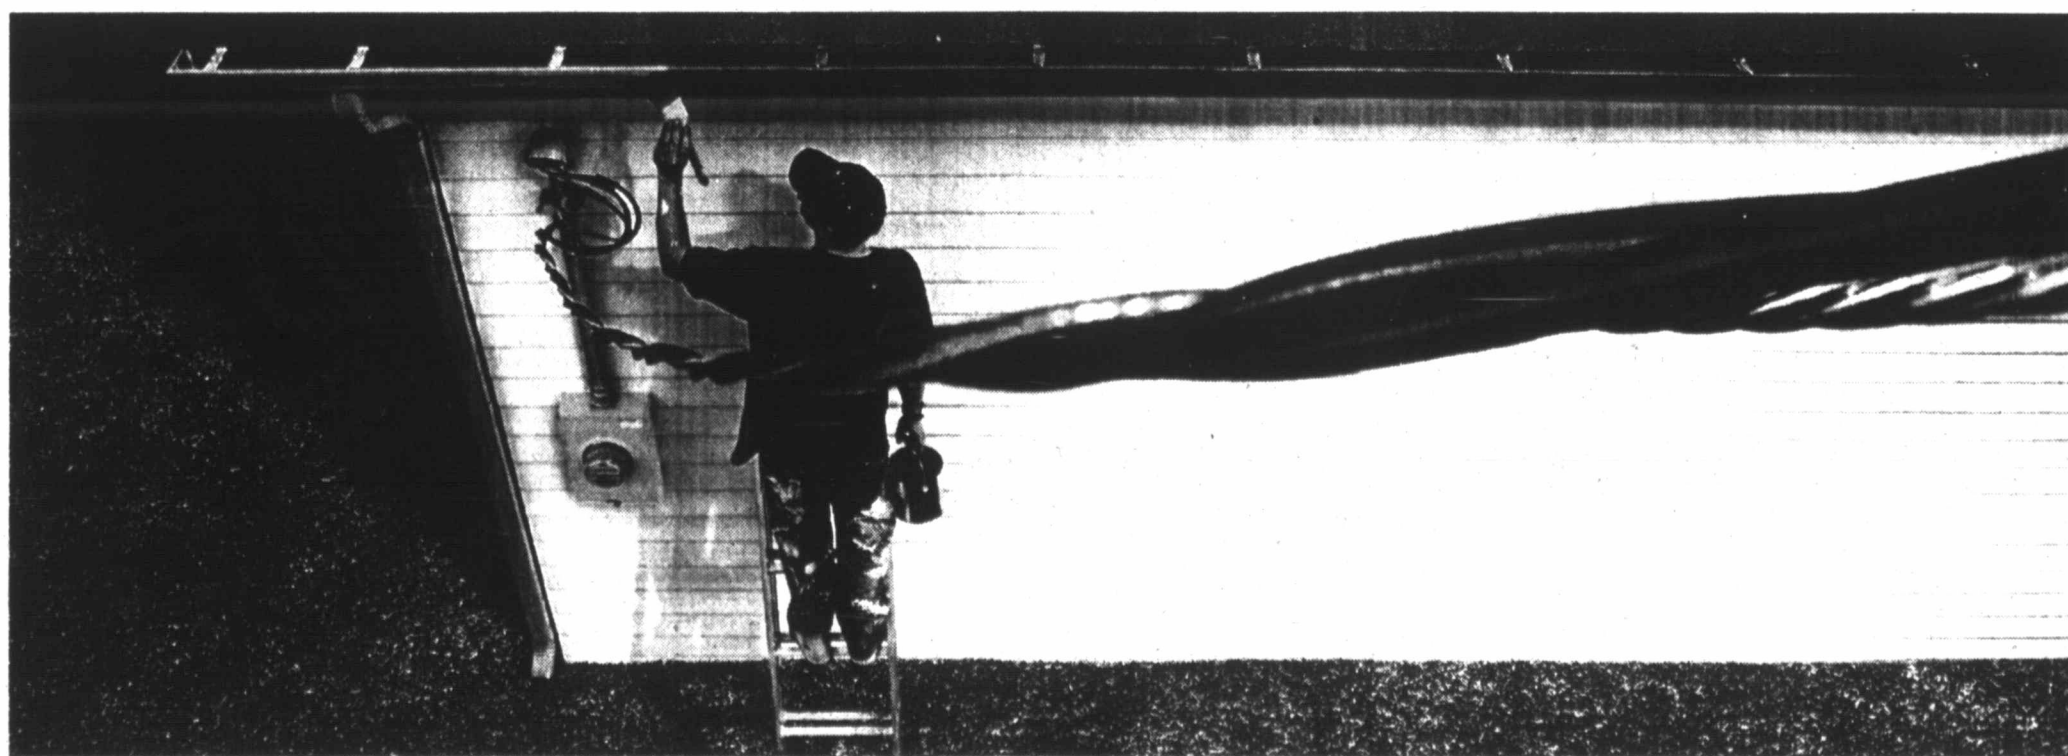

Later, after each student had the chance for a one-on-one visit with the eight-time NBA all-star, they gathered for a brief question and answer session and impromptu slam dunk contest.

Bond homerless, but Giants beat Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — San Francisco starter Kirk Rueter got plenty of help from a guy he grew up watching.

Eric Davis, the 39-year-old Giants outfielder in his 18th major league season, had a two-run homer and five RBIs Tuesday night as Rueter won his fifth straight decision in a 10-2 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Even though Rueter grew up a Cardinals fan, he watched the early stages of Davis' career while he was a teen-ager.

"That is what he always says, but if you look around, a lot of these guys did," said Davis, who won a World Series with Cincinnati in 1990 while Rueter was still in college. "It just tells you how long I've been here."

Rueter (9-6), whose previous win was June 17 against Oakland, allowed two runs and six hits in 6 2-3 innings. He has given up two earned runs or fewer in seven straight starts, including four straight no-decisions.

Davis and Rich Aurilia both hit two-run homers off Kenny Rogers (5-7) in the first inning, giving the Giants a 4-0 lead before Rueter even took the mound.

"I tried to go out and pitch like it's 0-0," Rueter said. "I'm just concentrating on being aggressive at the start of a count. I got in trouble early in the season getting behind 1-0, 2-0 and thinking I had to throw a fastball right down the middle."

Barry Bonds was 1-for-7 with six hits and didn't homer in the three-game series. His two walks Tuesday increased his major league-leading total to 94.

Even with just one homer the past 19 games, Bonds has 40 in 94 games — matching Mark

McGwire's total after the same number of games in 1998, when he hit a record 70.

If Bonds fails to homer Wednesday against Colorado, he would fall behind McGwire's pace for the first time since hitting nine homers in six games from May 17-22.

Davis, starting for only the 20th time this season, homered for the first time since April 22 when his opposite-field shot just cleared the fence in right. He was credited with an RBI in the third when he reached on an error and hit a two-run double in the fifth.

Pamcel to have 2-Man Scramble

PAMPA — The Pamcel Golf Club's 2001 2-Man Scramble will be Aug. 11-12 at the Celanese course west of Pampa.

Cost is $110 per team.

Deadline is Thursday, Aug. 9 at 4 p.m. The scramble is limited to the first 36 teams.

The tournament will be flighted by total team handicap (maximum 10-stroke difference) and past performances. All handicaps must be verifiable.

There will be a free practice round with paid entry fee on Friday, Aug. 10 at any time. There will be 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. tee times available in Saturday's round.

Sunday tee times will be according to the flight.

Carts are available for $15 per day. Personal carts may be used.

On Saturday, there will be a free evening meal following by a drawing for door prizes.

4th Annual Water Garden Show

Beautiful exotic Japanese and domestic Koi fish will be viewed in many of homes' water ponds during the Fourth Annual Water Garden Show.

The Martin Riphahn home located at 2111 Charles is listed as a site for the Las Pampas Koi & Water Garden Society on Saturday.

Koi & Water Garden Society hosts annual tour

By NANCY YOUNG
Managing Editor

Nestled in the backyards of many Pampa residences are beautiful water gardens and ponds. These gardens and ponds are immensely enjoyed by their owners, and the local aquatic enthusiasts will open their yards for the public to enjoy the Fourth Annual Water Garden Tour on Saturday, July 21.

Exotic Japanese and domestic Koi fish swim throughout the ponds which have an abundance of gorgeous aquatic plants. Water lilies, cattails, papyrus, water canna, horsetail rush, umbrella palm, parrot feather, floating heart, iris and pennywort are among the numerous aquatic plants in the ponds.

Pampa and area residents will be captivated by the lush beauty of the water gardens and ponds located in the heart of the Texas Panhandle. Los Pampas Koi and Water Garden Society was formed locally in 1998. A small group of pond buffs formed a club to share acquired knowledge as well as ideas and information about water gardening and fish health, and to hold a pond tour.

The first tour was in September, 1998, and featured six ponds. In 1999, 14 ponds were featured on the increasingly popular tour.

Proceeds from the original tour were used to defray the cost of the materials for a water scape just east of the entrance of the Clarendon College Pampa center. The project was designed and built by Paul Coronis.

The "Book of Knowledge" is made of concrete, and lays on a pedestal standing five feet tall at the center of the area.

Proceeds from the 2000 tour will be used to complete the project to include shrubs, benches, rock work around the base of the fountain and flower beds. The patio area around the water scape will also be completed.

Ponds on the tour range in all sizes. Some are small with a 150 gallon capacity while others contain over 6,000 gallons of water.

The owners have designed, built and provided the finishing touches in the water garden areas. Many Pampa residents are joining with pond and water garden lovers across the country as they develop a rapidly growing interest in these projects. Many home ponds begin as hobbies and develop into profitable ventures.

Local residents of all ages have become involved in the ponds and water gardens. Interest in the water gardens continues to grow as more and more people are becoming involved in the avocation.

The objective of the local society is to promote interest, appreciation and enjoyment of water gardens and their surrounding natural habitat through education, exchange of information, ideas and experiences. The annual tour helps to promote community awareness and interest in water gardening.

Soothing waterfalls in many of the ponds provide a relaxing atmosphere. Many tropical plants and statuary also stand in the water garden and pond areas.

Benches located in the areas give their owners and visitors a place to sit while enjoying the breathtakingly beautiful water gardens and ponds. Exotic fish as well as native and tropical plants are found in the water areas.

Fourteen residential ponds and water gardens will be on the tour for the public while three commercial ponds are listed.

Meetings are held the second Monday of each month at the home of different members of the society. Anyone interested in becoming a member may contact Sharon Andrews, president.
