Eighteenth Amendment Is Held Valid By Court

COURT HANDS DECISION IN CLARK CASE

Contents Congress Holds Power To Determine Mode of Ratification of Amendments.

CITES STATUTES

Declares Language Clear Enough On Matter Of Adopting Amendments To Constitution.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—The eighteenth amendment was sustained as valid today by the supreme court.

Under the decision the government will continue its efforts to enforce the Volstead law.

The ruling was handed down in the government's appeal from the decision of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey, who held the amendment invalid because it was not properly ratified.

Judge Clark contended that to be valid the amendment should have been submitted to state conventions for ratification rather than to state legislatures. This view the court found untenable.

When William H. Sprague and William J. Howey were brought to trial before Judge Clark on a charge of possessing and transporting 50 half barrels of beer, he quashed the indictment, holding the prohibition amendment invalid.

In an exhaustive opinion he took the position that the eighteenth amendment attempted to transfer to the federal government jurisdiction over rights reserved to the people if it should have been submitted to them in state conventions for ratification.

He held that its ratification by state legislatures was insufficient to make it effective and binding. The government appealed at once. The supreme court expedited the proceedings, hearing oral arguments in about a month although counsel for the defendants sought approximately three months more time.

Already settled. Contending the question raised by Judge Clark had already been before the supreme court in the national prohibition cases, Solicitor General Thatcher in a brief argument declared the court had disposed of the controversy.

Julius Henry Kahn and Seldin Bacon, counsel for the defendants, contended amendments granting new powers to the federal government over the people must be submitted to the people for approval. As the eighteenth amendment proposed to grant such powers, it was invalid, they insisted, because it had been submitted to state legislatures for ratification instead of conventions.

Hughes Withdraws. Chief Justice Hughes withdrew from the case, stating he would take no part in its decision because he had filed a brief in a previous prohibition case, which, in his judgment, disqualified him from participating.

The controversy turned on the interpretation to be placed by the court on Article V. of the constitution which provides that amendments shall be valid when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states or by conventions in three-fourths of the states "as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by congress."

Judge Clark held the language should be construed as modified by "principles of political science" and that such amendments could be constitutionally ratified only by conventions in the states.

The government contended the language of the article was clear and entirely free from ambiguity, and that there was no room for the construction adopted by Judge Clark.

It insisted that no limitation had been placed on the discretion of congress in deciding which mode of ratification should be adopted.

The court's decision was unanimous. The decision was delivered by Justice Roberts before a crowded court room. He stated that congress was granted complete jurisdiction to decide the mode of ratification and that it had the right to refer the amendment to legislatures for ratification.

Roberts said that the contention had been made by attorneys upholding the Clark decision that the eighteenth amendment took power from the people which the other amendment did. He said that in the opinion of the court there were a number of amendments similar in connection with which the same point could be raised. Among them he named the thirteenth, fourteenth, and nineteenth.

In conclusion he said that in the national prohibition cases in 1920 the court had proclaimed the validity of the amendment and that it now reiterated the position it had taken then.

There was a brief flurry at the conclusion of his decision as a few listeners hurried to the doors but this subsided quickly and Justice Roberts proceeded to the delivery of another opinion.

Covering Now Being Put On Huge U. S. Dirigible

The huge steel frame of the Akron, the U. S. Navy's great new dirigible being built at Akron, Ohio, is now getting its covering of fabric and is at last beginning to look like an airship, as this picture shows. Workmen have started covering the nose and are going backward. The Akron, being built by the Goodyear-Zeppelin company, is due to make its maiden flight this summer.

HOPE REMAINS FOR OIL BILL

Senator Capper Discusses Measure With President This Morning

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—Senator Capper and Representative Hoch, Kansas republicans, discussed with President Hoover today the bill to restrict oil imports to 16,000,000 barrels annually.

The senator said later he would continue to press for action before March 4.

At a capitol meeting of representatives from the oil states, Hoch expressed the belief "there is a real chance" for the house ways and means committee to reverse its decision to shelve the restriction bill.

Experts Called To Put Out Well

CORNING, N. Y., Feb. 24. (AP)—Experts from Duncan, Okla., skilled in the casing and capping of wild gas and oil wells, arrived today at the Meeker farm near Tioga, Pa., 12 miles south of here, and began preparations for subduing the well brought in last week. The well is flowing under terrific pressure at the rate of more than 90,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Brooks Johnson, field superintendent of the Penn United company, which brought in the wild cat, said today that the preliminary work of fitting the casing and concreting it to withstand the enormous pressure probably would take several days.

Engineers of the Penn United company estimated the daily loss from the wasted gas at $106,000.

Crowds of sightseers were held at bay yesterday by guards, who established a dead line more than a mile from the roaring shafts of gas and patrolled every road leading to the field.

House Fly Much Worry To Movie Directors

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 24. (AP)—And now the common house fly takes its place with the corn borer, the cotton boll weevil and the Mediterranean fruit fly as a scourge to a great industry.

The house fly, however, specializes in spoiling motion pictures.

The scene, hundreds of feet, had been spoiled a few seconds before by a fly, which buzzed around a while and then lighted on the pretty nose of Mary Astor just as she was being kissed by Ricardo Cortez in the fadeout.

"There was nothing unusual about the ruination of that scene," Brown went on. "Some of the best shots and sequences ever made were spoiled by a fly. It happens every day at every studio. One can't just cut that part in which the fly decides to park on the nose or the eye. The whole thing has to be redone, because a fly never lights except at the climax."

Four On Trial For Marriage Scheme

DALLAS, Feb. 24. (AP)—Three men and a woman went to trial in federal court today on charges growing out of the activities of the Greater Marriage Endowment association of Dallas.

The defendants were Henry W. Spencer, Roy E. Tittle, Muriel L. Chandler, and J. D. Jones. The indictment charged that in June, 1930, they did "feloniously deposit in the postoffice at Dallas a letter and enclosure concerning a scheme similar to a lottery, offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon chance."

It was the first case growing out of the activities of the so-called matrimonial insurance companies. The courtroom was crowded at the beginning of the trial.

GRAY COUNTY BANKS MERGER

Alanreed Institution Combined With McLean Bank; City Loans Only Money Depository

Alanreed was "robbed" of its bank Saturday, and all that's left of the pioneer institution is the building. But this time the robbers were bank officials.

In a deal Friday, the Alanreed bank and the Citizens State bank at McLean were consolidated, Saturday, the bank was moved to McLean. J. S. Morris is president of the McLean bank.

The Alanreed bank came into state-wide prominence Feb. 4 when Roy McGee and Roy Stephenson, now under heavy sentences, robbed it of about $2,300. The bank was robbed in 1921 and the robbers were caught and convicted.

Senator Protests Raid Statement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—On the eve of receiving a veto message from President Hoover of the veterans' loan bill, Senator Vandenberg protested in the senate today against "this constant effort to make the country believe that in this plan there is some awful raid upon the treasury."

"This is no raid," shouted the Michigan republican, after another analysis of the bill.

"Not a single penny is to be taken from the treasury except funds held in trust for the veterans." He said he had demanded an explanation from John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, for his letter to President Hoover expressing fear the bill would cause an increase in taxes. He said he had wired Edgerton yesterday but had received no answer.

"I ask," continued Vandenberg, "is not such an unwarranted statement a needless menace to business?" Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, said Vandenberg was giving "undue publicity to Edgerton, because on almost every occasion he misrepresents almost all kinds of legislation."

TESTIMONY BEGINS

WILSON GOES ON TRIAL IN TAYLOR CASE

Duenkel First Witness In Murder Trial of Wilson; Found Bullet Lodged In Spine.

Jury Is Completed For Case Early This Morning; Will Finish State Testimony In Two Hours.

First testimony offered in the murder trial of Charles "Little Chuck" Wilson by the state just before noon today concerned the bullet which Chas. O. Duenkel found lodged in H. C. Taylor's spine. Mr. Duenkel is a funeral director at the G. C. Malone funeral home.

The witness said that the bullet wound caused Taylor's death. Sheriff Lou L. Blanscet, the second witness examined by the state, identified the bullet, a battered, jagged bit of lead, and said that it was the same given to him by Mr. Duenkel.

Question Two. Employing his usual dynamic style of questioning, District Attorney Raymond Alfred shot his questions with lightning-like rapidity. The two witnesses remained on the stand about 15 minutes. However, Mr. Alfred said they would be used again. He also stated that the state would introduce all of its testimony in two hours.

The remaining four jurors were chosen between 9:30 and 11:30 o'clock this morning. The defense exhausted most of its challenges. The complete jury includes J. C. Howlett, C. H. Gibson, C. E. Simmons, H. McBeck, Haskell Smith, W. J. Ball, T. W. Cobbs, S. A. Burns, Wallace Keahy, Clyde Johnson, C. E. Brunley, G. E. Mulligan. Selection of the jury was a slow business. Defense Attorney C. S. Wortman, J. S. Morris minutes to question each venireman. Mr. Alfred asked few questions.

Much Interested. The defendant conferred with his attorney regarding every witness this morning. He appeared intensely interested in the proceedings and took notes often. His keen, blue eyes constantly shifted from the face of the lawyers to the prospective juror. His father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. "Chuck" Wilson were interested spectators on the front row. The defendant wears cowboy boots, a yellow suede jacket, a light shirt with a badly soiled collar. His abnormally long fingers seem to be out of proportion to his short, wiry figure.

Senate At Odds With House Over Summer Schools

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (AP)—Further evidence that the senate and house stand at odds over summer school appropriations was shown today when the senate voted 29 to 10 to substitute its figure of $422,750 for the $250,000 asked by the house.

It was indicated that a free conference committee would be called to arrive at the amount to be appropriated for the 1931 summer schools.

The senate finance committee's amendment to the house bill struck out all below the enactment clause and substituted throughout its figures.

The summer schools appropriation bill was the third to pass the senate today. Earlier in the day the senate voted 22 to seven for final passage of a bill by Senator Greer of Athens which asked for an appropriation of $21,727 for rehabilitation of the Frost Independent School district in Navarro county which was struck by a tornado in 1930.

A bill by Senator Pollard of Tyler prohibiting state departments from issuing any annual or biennial report before obtaining permission from the governor and the board of directors was passed.

The senate adopted a resolution by Senator Poage of Waco which urged the veterans' bureau, now advertising for bids on construction of a $2,000,000 veterans' hospital at Waco, to give serious consideration to bids submitted by Texas contractors and the employment of Texas citizens on the job.

Senator Parr of Benavides today proposed in a bill to create the lower Rio Grande valley water conservation district. His bill carried provisions for the appointment by the governor of a board of directors of seven members.

BRAVEST MAN IN HOLLYWOOD CHOOSES BEAUTIES OF SCREEN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24. (AP)—Cecil Beaton, London painter, has become known to his friends as the bravest man in Hollywood.

Beaton chose six film girls who, he said, were the most beautiful in motion pictures. He then went into seclusion in his hotel room. Beaton said he selected the girls to feature a book on beauty which he is writing.

His choices? Well, here they are, with his reasons:

Marlene Dietrich: Because Michael Angelo alone could duplicate her.

Norma Shearer: Because she is lovely, simple, country woman whom sophisticated has not spoiled.

Greta Garbo: Because she is absolutely mad; and being absolutely mad, is therefore ethereal.

Lilyan Tashman: Because she is a Grecian goddess, deserving full marks for her nose and hips; she was one of the most divine forms in the world.

Marion Davies: Because she is the vitally alive-type of young American girl.

Ina Claire: Because she is in reality a Marie Laurencin painting. She is a gorgeous almond, typifying the acme of gayety, laughter and youth.

Assurance that citizens, churches and civic clubs of McLean are supporting Sheriff Lon L. Blanscet and his deputies in their fight to bring to justice violators of the prohibition laws and to stop what was described as the "mushroom crime wave" in Gray county was voiced at a mass meeting held last night at the Methodist church, McLean.

A petition approved by those present urged citizens of Gray county "to lend their help and cooperation to Sheriff Blanscet and his deputies in his campaign to clean Gray county of bootleggers and speakeasies. Belief that if the sheriff is allowed to keep his present force of deputies for a few months the bootleggers will be brought to justice" was expressed.

The purpose of the meeting was general and embraced two objects. The law enforcement agencies and the present sheriff's administration were discussed, and a petition asking the legislature not to pass the bill, recently introduced, legalizing horse racing was signed by "every man and woman present," according to the Rev. Tom Wyatt, pastor of the First Methodist church, who was present. Another purpose of the meeting, it was said, was to let the people know of renewed law enforcement activities not only in Gray county but throughout the whole nation.

The principal speaker in the evening was made by Rev. Brabham, Sherman White, county attorney, accompanied Mr. Brabham and also made a talk.

Mr. Brabham discussed the conditions in Gray county and in the nation from three angles. In his report on the crime wave he declared that the principal one was that America has failed to give proper instruction to the youth of the land.

A portion of his address was devoted to the "pernicious effects of wet propaganda and wet politicians. He flayed individuals and organizations which have distributed wet propaganda, the thesis of which was to prove that prohibition is a failure, and that there is more whiskey being sold now than there was before the war. He branded as a malicious falsehood the statement that more people are being arrested for drunkenness now than during pre-Volstead days.

Mr. Brabham said that just before the eighteenth amendment went into effect, he visited several cities and communities in the United States as well as the dryest and everywhere he went he saw liquor, drunkards and the vicious effects of intoxicants. In contrast to that visit, Mr. Brabham stated that during the last Christmas holidays he travelled through six southern states and while on that trip didn't see a single drunkard or a single drunkard.

"But when I reached Cuba," he declared. "I saw more whiskey and more drunkards there than I have seen since the eighteenth amendment went into effect."

THIRTEEN IN AUTO INJURED NEAR BURTON

Cotton Truck Sideswipes Bus Loaded With People Late Last Night; Two Are School Teachers.

STUDENTS HURT

Many University of Texas Students Were On Auto When Crash Came; Glass Cause Of Cuts.

BRENNHAM, Tex., Feb. 24. (AP)—One man was killed, two young women school teachers were injured seriously and eleven other persons, most of them students at the university of Texas, were slightly hurt late last night when a bus was sideswiped by a cotton truck four miles east of Burton, Texas.

L. L. Fowler, of Elgin, driver of the cotton truck, which is owned by the W. C. Dunks motor freight company of Elgin, was charged with murder in connection with the accident. He was held here.

The man killed was W. Warner, advance agent for Roxy's Gang theatrical troupe from New York. The two most seriously injured were Miss Mary Elizabeth Wright, of Houston, teacher of languages in the Giddings high school, and Miss Bessie Black, principal of the Giddings school.

Miss Wright's head was crushed and her condition was regarded as serious. Miss Black suffered a broken left arm.

A partial list of the other injured includes: Bernard Pearlman, Galveston; Frances Howlett, Hempstead; Sidney Ohlhausen, Eudora, Ark.; Philip Halman, Houston; Miss Allene Simpson, Belleville; E. S. Littman, Galveston; Miss Magda Cuendol, Austin; Miss Kate Johnson, Austin.

J. A. Rosenberg of Austin, was driver of the bus. Passengers praised his handling of the bus after the crash, saying he prevented it from turning over.

Most of the passengers were scratched and cut by flying glass and slivers and continued to Austin after treatment at Burton.

The bus was enroute from Houston to Austin.

Mrs. Kate Johnson, one of the eight persons taken to an Austin hospital, said she was seated beside Warner just before the collision.

"The truck struck the left side of the bus outside the window where Warner was sitting," she said. "The impact threw him completely over my head and he landed across the aisle. Shattering glass fell all about. Practically every window in the bus was broken and the entire car was in confusion."

Robert Williams of Austin, University of Texas medical student at Galveston, gave a graphic description of the crash. Williams escaped with a sprained side.

"I was sitting in the left rear seat and could see the whole thing," Williams stated. "For a moment it looked as if the truck would pass us safely—then—"

"Bang! The rear end of the truck collided with the mid-section of the bus and all was confusion. Our driver grasped the situation and started fighting the wheel in an attempt to keep the bus upright. His efforts were successful and within a 100-yard space he had brought the vehicle to a standstill at the side of the road.

"With the lights extinguished by the impact, flying glass clattering to the floor, and hysterical screams and yells of passengers, the entire bus was in confusion after the crash," Williams stated.

'THE MAGIC SCISSORS' DISCUSSED BY NANCY EARLE

Initial Talk of Series Is Given At City Hall Auditorium Today; Is Under Auspices Of News-Post

Nancy Earle delighted a large group of Pampa women this afternoon when she stepped upon the platform at 2:30 o'clock and opened the News-Post Health and Charm school with a discussion of "The Magic Scissors."

The school will be continued each afternoon through Friday at 2:30 o'clock. An additional talk will be given Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Earle is a woman of extraordinary personal charm, and infuses her talks with those elements of brilliance and color which are of herself. The fund of authentic information which she brings to her charm school has been garnered through thorough academic preparation and enhanced by continued years of study and experience. Yet there is nothing of the teacher about her or her presentation of her subjects. Her exquisite dignity is threaded with gaiety and blithe wit that makes her talks, aside from their practical and serious value, a whole-hearted delight.

In short, as one man said who brought back a masculine version of Nancy Earle, "She's a wow!" Miss Earle's talks are helpful. Through the sparkle of her address runs a deep stream of human understanding, and her sane and workable interpretations of the women's world and how its complex problems may be solved have been inspiring and guide of multitudes of women throughout the country. Her discussions are definite, clear-cut, explicit.

Every feminine problem is included in Miss Earle's talks. Problems of health, problems of personal appearance, problems of homemaking, problems of success, problems of peace and contentment. An entire program, in fact, of self-improvement in body, mind and soul, and that most starting of all problems, the full understanding and fullest expression of the individual self. Miss Earle's oft repeated assertion is that every woman can learn to make herself and her life more beautiful, more charming, more interesting, and more happy. It's all in learning to use the material you have," she declares, "whether it's charm, or success, or happiness you are building."

And so, with Nancy Earle's initial appearance this afternoon, new ideas, new viewpoints, new inspiration, new helps, and new determination were planted by Miss Earle's assertion that anyone who will, may develop these precious attributes. What is your problem? Poor complexion? Overweight? Unpopular? Bewildered by life? What colors to wear? Nerves? Dandruff? Self-consciousness? Miss Earle knows the solution.

If there is some question which you would like to have Miss Earle make a pointed discussion, drop it in the box at the entrance to the city hall auditorium which has been provided for this purpose. Miss Earle will reserve a period at the close of each lecture for the answering of such inquiries. The questions need not be signed.

Remember you are the guests of the News-Post; no admission charges, no collections, nothing sold. Remember the place, City Hall auditorium. Remember the time 2:30. You will want to hear every talk in Miss Earle's schedule.

Patriotic Theme Used In Program

Expression pupils of Mrs. Lee Hill and dance pupils of Miss Roberta Warren presented an attractive patriotic program Monday evening in the city hall auditorium. Elders, folk of Pampa were named honor guests for the occasion.

Pupils of Mrs. Hill are working toward credits at the Horner Institute of Kansas City. She herself is a former pupil of Tula C. McIntosh school, Waco, and the A. A. Cooke school, Dallas. She has been teaching eight years, having been in this city for the last two years.

Miss Warren has studied under Jack Manning, Ivan Tarasoff, Stefano Mascagno, and Sonia Serora, all of New York City; Theodore Smith and Paul Lane of Detroit; George Gleason of Chicago; Theodore Koenig, Earle Wallace, Ernest Belcher, Howard Ross, Edward Frink and Eliza Ryan, all of Los Angeles.

AN AMERICAN IN PARIS

By ADELAIDE KERR
PARIS, Feb. 24. (AP) — American and French music lovers are struggling alike these days to obtain seats for the concert of the Quatuor Basile (The Quartet of the City of Paris) which gives its performance in the Salle de la Lune Rousse, a little cabaret in Montmartre.

The string quartet, steeped in the French tradition and the only organization of its kind subsidized by the city, has engaged Mme. Louise Llewellyn Jarecka as its February soloist—the first American artist to appear with it. Americans are always proud of a "home town girl who makes good" in the French capital; the French are always interested in what Les Americaines may produce; the little cabaret seats but 300 people—and hence the struggle for seats, generally limited to the subscription patrons of the quartet, has added zest.

Arrangements were completed for the Public Relations dinner to be held this evening. Also plans for National Business Women's week were discussed. The following chairmen for the style show were appointed: Mrs. Grace Higgins Pool, general chairman; Mrs. R. J. Kiser, to have charge of models; Mrs. Nina McSkimming, program chairman; Mrs. Lee McConnell, advertising chairman; Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker, in charge of the music. These chairmen will be assisted by their helpers.

The following members were present: Misses Jewel Lovelace, Alta Lagow, Madeline Tarpley, Bernice Chisholm, VeLora Reed, Mildred Overall, Clara Lee Shewmaker, Gladys Payne, Aurelia Miller; Mesdames D. GREEN FACE POWDER NOW IN USE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24. (AP) — Whoever coined the expression, "there's nothing new under the sun," apparently had not heard from Louis Clement, noted Parisian authority on women's styles.

Green face powder is the latest and newest, Clement said in addressing the annual convention of the Philadelphia Hairdressers' association. Women of ruddy complexion should never use rouge, says M. Clement, hence a pale green powder has been compounded for them.

"And for evening use," he added, "under the shaded lights of the dinner table or ballroom, there is a shade of lavender calculated to improve the most charming woman."

"The style in makeup is changing. It is no longer fashionable to appear either very pale or with extreme vivid smears of rouge and lipstick. The violet nail polish is also disappearing, and some well dressed women prefer no polish at all. Vivid red shades were never popular among women who really set the pace for style, and the entire trend is toward little makeup."

Mrs. Jack Sanger left this morning for her home in Clovis, N. M., accompanied by her sister, Mrs. W. E. Murphy, and daughter, Peggy, with whom she has been visiting during the week-end.

Woman Takes up Native Dress To Follow Gandhi

BY JAMES A. MILLS
NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 24. (AP)—Behind the scenes of the present political drama in India is an English woman, Miss Madeline Slade, daughter of Sir Edmund Slade, for many years commander-in-chief of British naval forces in India.

Renouncing all the pleasures, comforts and amenities of everyday existence, Miss Slade has embraced asceticism and the mysteries of Hindu life and has become the ardent disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, who took her to the sacred city of Benares and after immersing her in the Holy Ganges river, initiated her into the mysteries of Hindu religion. Her father disinherited her.

She has shaved her head in monastic fashion, given all her money to the poor, goes barefooted, burned all her European clothes and wears only the cheapest home-spun Hindu garments. She has taken the Hindu name of "Mira Bai".

When asked by her British friends if she is "Miss Slade," she replies: "No. Miss Slade has been dead and buried for five years."

Miss Slade prays, fasts and indulges in various forms of expiation, and enters into regular periods of fasting and meditation. She has charge of Gandhi's household, prepares all his meals, that he is properly clothed and looks after him with a mother's solicitude for a child.

Gandhi's own wife, who is of advanced age, could not show more devotion to the aged leader than Miss Slade who worships him with the ardor of the most intense religious zeal. Mrs. Gandhi, who has no seen her husband since he entered prison nine months ago, keeps quietly in the background, never appearing among those who share Gandhi's counsels.

Miss Slade, a woman of marked culture, ability and executive capacity, is much more than a mere servant or disciple of Gandhi. She takes an active part in the independence movement and in addition to giving Gandhi advice, she attends to his large correspondence.

There have been frequent rumors that the British authorities were on the point of importing her. She is Gandhi's closest confidante, sharing all his secrets, hopes and sorrows. This close relationship has given rise to some criticism on the part of those connected with the congress party but the feeling among the majority is that it is a personal matter for Gandhi alone to decide.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 24. (AP)—Every available tugboat in port was mustered into service today to transport workers to various docks in an effort to avert possible clashes with longshoremen who are striking against reduced wages.

The first day of the strike yesterday was marked by street brawls in which three negroes, one a woman, were severely injured, and the harbor patrol was reinforced to cope with the situation.

The strike started with reduction from 80 cents to 65 cents per hour in wages at docks of four shipping companies.

Police were ordered to disperse all crowds near the wharves.

New Government Will Be Formed By Peru Leader

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 24. (AP)—Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, provisional president, today tendered an olive branch to the insurgents who have occupied Adequipo, second city of the republic.

In a manifesto the army he renounced his candidacy for the constitutional presidency of the country and then issued a decree cancelling the scheduled general elections and providing for election of members of a projected constituent assembly.

In the manifesto he asked the soldiers not to be deceived by "those who made commerce of politics." He promised that the principles outlined last summer when a revolution placed him in power would be carried out.

The duties of the assembly, which will meet May 2, will be to organize the executive power provisionally; to make a new constitution; to pass laws for general and municipal elections, and to set a date for presidential elections. When these tasks are concluded it will act as congress until the new constitution can be put in force.

Meanwhile the provisional government is continuing enlistment of reserves for service in restoring order in southern Peru. Strict censorship is in force. Official announcements claim that only Arequipa has been affected by the military movement and that the attitude of civilians has forced the rebel armies to camp outside the bounds of the city.

Limited revision and modernization of the Spanish constitution of 1876 is expected from the new government of Premier Juan Bautista Aznar.

CHICAGO IS ARMED TO PREVENT RIOTS AT BALLOT BOXES
CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (AP)—A chance to compete with the democratic nominee for the world's fair mayorship of Chicago was the prize that dangled at the end of today's hectic republican primary race. Confidence of victory was expressed by all three camps. Special guards were on duty to maintain order.

"Big Bill" Thompson, three times mayor and fighting for a trial at a fourth term, hoped to lead his circus parade across the finish line at 4 p. m. with 150,000 more votes than either Judge John H. Lyle, gangster foe, or Alderman Arthur F. Albert Thompson's campaign manager, William J. Balmer, predicted a 150,000 plurality.

Judge Lyle said he expected to beat Thompson by 150,000, declaring a vote for Albert would be a vote for Thompson, while Albert alined charges of "Thompsonism" against both the mayor and the judge, insisting that the victory would be his if the voters decided the question "on the record and reputation of the candidates."

It was one of the hottest campaigns in Chicago's history. A force of some 70,000 persons including American Legion members, special policemen, judges of election and others, was on duty to prevent ballot stealing, and other violations of the law from the opening of the polls at 6 a. m. until they closed at 5 p. m.

Anton J. Cermak, the democratic candidate, was without organized opposition, while the republicans were hurling political brickbats at one another. Egg throwing, heckling, talk about the alleged influence of Alphonse Capone, the gang

PEGGY ARRESTED FOR DISTURBANCE
Peggy Dawson of LeFors, who in the last two years has made a name for herself in the federal and district courts of Amarillo, Pampa, and Vernon, is in jail again. This and disturbing the peace.

Deputies Harris King and Wartime on charges of intoxication ren Belcher brought her to jail—also two other women—from a local dance hall where a feminine argument was in progress last night. For a long time, she said she had been wanting to tell the officers what she thought of them. She began telling them as soon as they placed her under arrest. She quieted down about 3 o'clock this morning.

Down at Vernon as a witness in the Thompson trial, Peggy declared she was a night club hostess, "same as Texas Guinan," when she was asked her occupation. She is under indictment for possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale in district court here.

The wave of influenza which has been sweeping England and Wales became more widespread last week according to official figures.

Yes, Sir, I can back up what I say about Germ-Processed Oil with actual proof, O.K'd by A.A.A.

THREE stock cars from three price classes went through six weeks of testing on Pike's Peak. Three nationally known oils were used in comparison with Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. All of the testing was directly supervised by the American Automobile Association.

At the end of six weeks the AAA took the more than ten thousand observations, then issued a report of the outcome. The report stated that in the Pike's Peak Tests Conoco Motor Oil had shown a reduction of 76.4% in the rate of motor wear... that it had shown greater stability... had lowered frictional temperatures... increased compression pressures... reduced oil consumption... added to gasoline mileage... reduced crankcase dilution... lengthened motor life.

No higher authority could have been called upon to prove the merits of Germ-Processed oil. No more sweeping commendation could have been asked for. The complete story of the Pike's Peak tests is told in an attractive booklet. We'll gladly send you a copy upon your request mailed to "Conoco, Ponca City, Oklahoma"... or you can obtain it at stations showing the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle when you go there to change to Germ-Processed oil, as thousands of other motorists are doing every day.

—AT THE—

FORD SHOW

Open Daily 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wed., Feb. 25 to Sat., Feb. 28

Saunders Building Across from Rose Motor Co.

ADMISSION FREE

Certainly you will want to see the complete display of Ford cars at this show. Thirteen handsome standard and deluxe body types are here—including the smart new Ford Victoria which is taking the country by storm. You will be particularly interested in the substantial furnishings and appointments in these cars, the richness of trim and upholstery, the roomy interiors and deeply cushioned seats. Among the thirteen styles is the car you have always hoped to own.

Business—big business as well as the individual truck operator—has special reasons for visiting the Ford Show. There are so many fine New Ford commercial cars and trucks on display, that no one who is really interested in modern transportation and minimum operating costs can afford to stay away.

To make sure there's not a dull moment in this show, special features have been provided.

There's a talking motion picture of a tour through the Ford plant—more interesting than many you pay good money to see at the theater. It takes you into immense steel mills where Ford-owned raw materials are converted into enduring metal, shows you marvelous precision machines found no other place in the world, convinces you that there are sound and sufficient reasons why so much quality and craftsmanship can be put in the Ford at the price.

TUDOR body in the white—seems to be the easiest way to give every man and woman an "inside" picture of the Ford. You'll like this feature—you don't have to be a mechanic to understand the fine points of Ford construction.

Then, there are special displays of the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield which won't fly when broken—the Rustless Steel, which is used in so many exposed metal parts—the Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers and their double-action—and other features equally important and interesting.

You will see a Ford motor rebuilt. You will be invited to take a demonstration ride. There will be many demonstrators in attendance. Acceptance does not obligate you in any manner. See the show as soon as possible. Admission is free.

THE CRIME IN THE DUTCH GARDEN

By HERBERT ADAMS

SYNOPSIS: Mystery gripping the household of Annabelle Querdling will be solved only when the hand that pushed over a stone image and killed her is exposed. Aiding the investigation in the garden, where the crime occurred, is Jimmie Haswell, London lawyer, previously told by Evelyn Blake, Querdling's niece, of death threats against the system, who was appointed to Evelyn's engagement to Lionel Duckworth. Questioning Evelyn's sister, Marjorie, Police Superintendent Richmond learns that Duckworth, Dr. Netherland and Major Gresham were present on the night of the murder. The doctor had talked to Miss Querdling in the garden and had been accompanied to the gate by Marjorie, who, returning, found her aunt dead, she declares.

CLUES AND CONJECTURES
Superintendent Richmond paused to allow Marjorie to compose herself. "You saw no one in the garden when you found your aunt?" he resumed.

"She shook her head and continued: "I ran to this room, to that door—pointing to the glass door opening into the garden—and called Evelyn and Lionel, who were still singing. They went with me, but it was too late."

"Where did you see Major Gresham?"

"On the lawn, before I got to the house. I hardly noticed him as I hurried to tell Evelyn, but he waited and went with us. Then Lionel—Mr. Duckworth—went for Ben and Green, the chauffeur. They carried her in, and Lionel and Major Gresham sent for the doctor and the police."

Her distress was increasing, but Richmond asked if she had not been surprised at finding Major Gresham near the house.

"No," she replied. "It was Aunt Annabelle's greatest friend, and often came over in the summer to talk to her. I suppose he was on his way to the Dutch garden when I saw him."

"Constable Roscoe, a sturdy young Yorkshireman with an honest red face and reddish hair, was glad to answer Jimmie's question as to the time of the tragedy.

"I got the message, sir, at ten-forty, when Green, the chauffeur, came for me, walking. He said the car was out of order. I hurried over on my bicycle, flashed my light on the scene—and wasn't satisfied, especially remembering them letters. So I went over first thing this morning and brought the superintendent along."

"Right not to be satisfied," commented his chief. "When a murder—what do you say, Mr. Haswell?"

"I'm afraid so," said Jimmie as he stopped to pick a small object off the floor. "You'll test the back of the figure for finger-prints?"

"Of course," said Richmond. "There's another thing, sir," said Roscoe to his chief. "I was passing the main road, outside here, about nine-fifteen last night and saw a car and a man beside it. He stood there for a time and then cranked up and drove off. He was a stranger to me, but I'd know him again. I didn't get the car's number, but it was from London—a small cheapish tourist. They said at the house there'd been no callers—and you heard the young lady just now."

"Nine-fifteen," reflected Jimmie. "That would be precious near the time the deer was done."

Evelyn spared the shock of finding her aunt's body, though more composed under the superintendent's examination.

She and Lionel had been singing in the room where she now stood, she told Richmond, when Marjorie came in—so upset that she could scarcely be understood—and had pulled them outside, where Major Gresham joined them. Then Lionel had gone for Green and Ben, who had carried in her aunt. She said that Green, who had gone for Dr. Netherland, returned, saying he had left a message in the absence of the doctor.

"We were so shocked that at first we didn't think of the police, until Ben the gardener, insisted on knowing us how easily any one could have pushed the figure over. Yet—she hesitated—who could have done such an awful thing deliberately?"

"That is what we have to find out," Richmond spoke grimly. We must know what the people in the house were doing."

Evelyn thought for a moment or two. "Janet and Betty should have been in the kitchen. Lionel found Green working on the car in the garage at the side of the house opposite this, facing the kitchen quarters. He clearly says: 'Richmond looked at his notes. "He is under notice to go because he wanted to marry Janet Raynes, the parlormaid. Was he resentful?"

"He was—and very rude, although I rather sympathized with him."

Richmond said that Green could have pushed over the image and been back on the job within three or four minutes.

"I questioned Ben Acres," put in Constable Roscoe. "He said he'd worked in his garden until dark and then smoked in his doorway. Both he and his wife agreed there'd been no callers."

The superintendent frowned but admitted that the information was important. "Were you surprised at seeing Major Gresham?" he questioned Evelyn, who declared that her aunt's old friend had often walked over through the gardens.

"Your sister and the doctor were more or less on guard in the lane and the gardener was at the main entrance. How did the major come?"

"He generally uses the bottom gate from the links."

"That leaves the gate beyond the garage to account for." Then abruptly Richmond changed the subject. "Your sister and the doctor are very good friends. Nothing more between them than that?"

"Nothing more, I think. We've known him all our lives."

"How long have you been engaged to Mr. Duckworth?" the unexpected question brought color to the girl's cheeks.

"Two months. We had just got engaged when we came to see Mr. Haswell in London," Evelyn said, looking at Jimmie.

"No. We had met only five weeks before we were engaged," was the reply, with a warmer color, "but I told her I loved Lionel and could not give him up. She said she would give me six months in which to get tired of him, and at the end of that time, I could marry."

It seemed for some moments that the superintendent had come to the end of his questions. He sat frowning at his notebook.

HINDE DIES OF ILLNESS
SANDUSKY, Ohio, Feb. 24. (AP)—James J. Hinde, 75, who counseled Henry Ford while he himself was founding in the financial uncertainties which bedeviled many of the early automobile makers, died yesterday of pneumonia.

About New York

By RICHARD MASSOCK
NEW YORK—The Man Who Has Seen Broadway can tell you all about the cut-rate ticket agency of Joe Leblang.

Visitors—and suburban matrons who come to town once a month to see a matinee know it as "Gray's drug store," or maybe they only remember it as "that drug store on Broadway."

Few, excepting those who live off by and for the theater, know the story of the man who runs it.

For some years Leblang has nurtured the idea of a central ticket office, where reservations for all the shows would be available at the minimum price advance of 50 cents per seat, supposedly defeating speculators.

He has set up an agency of that sort. The soda fountain has been stripped out and the drug shelves reduced to a few negligible feet of cosmetics and trade preparations. The principal commodity is show tickets.

How far his place goes toward solving the ticket situation is a different matter. Cooperation seems to be a misplaced word in the Broadway dictionary, and remedial for the ticket ills thus far have been as weak as the eye-wash on Joe Leblang's shelves.

But the cut-rate counter will continue to function, a unique institution. There really are two cut-rate counters, one in the basement, the other upstairs. At about 7 o'clock in the evening and at 1:30 on a matinee day the two rooms are a mash of people, crushing one another like a subway mob, peering at the list of attractions, asking if any dollar tickets are available, clamoring for whatever is left.

Girls call their boy friends at a row of public telephones or the boy friends call their girls. Over the hub-bub the shouts of ticket hawkers are a noisy motif.

Passenger Plane Attempts Record

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Feb. 24. (AP)—Two men, a woman and a 12-year-old boy took off from here today in a seven-passenger plane for the Pacific coast in an attempt to establish a record for trans-continental passenger-carrying flight.

The plane was piloted by Lieut. Allen Van de Mark. The passengers were William Lee, owner of the plane and president of the Lockport Felt company, Mrs. Lee, and their son.

Carrying 100 gallons of fuel, the Lockheed-Vega monoplane rolled down the airport runway here at 6:45 a. m., got into the air without difficulty and headed west. Mr. Lee said the plane probably would make one stop at Springfield, Mo., but that their plans called for an overnight stop tonight at El Paso, Texas.

KEEP THAT YOUTHFUL FRESHNESS . . . that radiant smile

In this advertisement is the expert opinion of thousands of dentists as to the best type of dentifrice to protect your teeth

A WOMAN is as young as she feels? She is also as young as her smile. And how greatly that depends upon teeth and gums! But what is the best way to care for them? You read so many conflicting theories. There are dozens of different dentifrices. Which is right?
That the question might be answered by the highest authorities, E. R. Squibb & Sons asked a world-famous research institution to make an investigation among 50,000 American dentists. Here is the summary of the replies received:
95% of the answers stated that germ acids most frequently cause tooth decay and gum irritation;
95% of the answers agreed that the most serious trouble occurs at the place where teeth and gums meet;
85% stated that the best product to prevent these acids from causing decay and irritating the gums is Milk of Magnesia.
Surely this is overwhelming evidence that Squibb Dental Cream will protect your teeth and gums. For Squibb's is made with more than 50% Squibb Milk of Magnesia.
Squibb Dental Cream cleans beautifully—and without grit or astringent or anything which might injure. Begin using it morning and night and notice how soon your teeth sparkle . . . how healthy and refreshed your mouth feels . . . how much freer from even tiny troubles your teeth and gums keep.

HEAVY BATTLE SCHEDULED AT MIAMI TONIGHT

Mickey Walker Is To Fight Johnny Risko In Ten-Round Bout Under Florida Palms.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24. (P)—Promoter "Pa" Stribling will try to pry the lid off the 1931 heavyweight outdoor season tonight with a card featuring Mickey Walker and Johnny Risko in the 10-round final, besides exhibition performances by the forthcoming championship rivals, Young Stribling and Max Schmeling.

He expects 25,000 customers to contribute $50,000 to $60,000 at the bargain scale of $2 to $5.

If it rains tonight, the show will be a Wednesday night. The weather has been threatening.

There was no hitch in the arrangements otherwise, Stribling said, despite mysterious reports, emanating from New York, that a cancellation was likely.

Ever since a crack developed in Carnera's tenth rib, the boys have been skeptical, despite the statements of Promoter Frank J. Bruen that under no circumstances would he consider calling his show off. The wires have been shutting messages back and forth between those pulling the strings for this year's heavyweight program.

Walker and Risko meanwhile are ready for just an old-fashioned socking bee. Walker won the last time this pair collided in Detroit, but Risko, with a 25-pound pull, in the weights, looks to be in condition to spring one of his typical upsets.

The preliminaries tonight, including five six-rounders, are slated for 8 p. m., the main go at 10.

BOMB INJURES RUSSIAN

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24. (P)—Police today were investigating a mysterious bomb explosion which gravely injured Peter Kasinsky, a Russian, who owns a hardware store near the center of the city.

Kasinsky said the bomb came to him in a package from Vera Cruz, labeled machinery parts, the explosion taking place when he attempted to open the package.

BASKETS and BANKBOARDS

BY "PHOG" ALLEN

LAWRENCE, Kans. (P)—For several years an opinion has grown that basketball is extremely too strenuous for the participants.

Dr. James Naismith of the University of Kansas and the "Father of Basketball" took as a working basis for research work into the problem, high school boys competing in a tournament held at the university.

Every boy competing in the tournament underwent a thorough physical examination. After the fourth championship game tests showed that the members of the Wichita high school team, the winners of the state tournament, and later winners of the national championship at Chicago, were in better physical condition than at any time during the tournament.

Of the members of the two teams that played for the championship the test of but one man gave any indication that previous pinions that basketball was too severe on the hearts and kidneys of normal high school boys might be sound.

Basketball seems strenuous to the spectator because the spectator naturally follows the ball, which is the focus of activity.

However, some years ago, Dr. J. H. McCurdy of Springfield college, Springfield, Mass., conducted a similar test upon team members at that college and found that 87 per cent of the players showed traces of heart and kidney strain.

Perhaps the difference in the results of the two tests was due to the differences in the ages of the two groups of players. The wear and tear on the older physical machines was too severe.

Another interesting test was made on four high school teams, which were entered in a league tournament, to ascertain the actual number of minutes the average high school basketball player was in motion during an entire game.

A separate watch was kept on each of the 20 players in the games. Whenever a player stopped, the watch stopped, and count was resumed again when the player resumed activity.

Betty Robinson Wins by A Foot

CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (P)—Betty Robinson, who won the 1928 Olympic 100-yard dash for the United States, and Stella Walsh, the sensational Polish miler from Cleveland, today were all square in their rivalry.

Miss Robinson, now a co-ed at Northwestern university, last night evened up for a defeat by Miss Walsh last summer, by winning a feature event in the Illinois National guard and naval militia games, by a scant foot over the Cleveland runner.

The time, .114, was only four-tenths of a second lower than Miss Walsh's world record which was made on an outdoor track and was remarkably good for the slow bumpy track in the 124th field artillery armory. Miss Robinson gained a margin of about a foot at 25 yards and held it to the finish. Miss Walsh ran with her left ankle bandaged, due to a strained tendon, but made a great race of it.

Emerson Will Go Before Council

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (P)—Ox Emerson, captain-elect of the 1931 University of Texas Longhorn football team, will appear before the faculty committee of the University Athletic council this afternoon to present his arguments on why he should be declared ineligible for the 1931 season.

Emerson has been assured by the committee that his case will be thoroughly considered and if his arguments are sufficient to call for a reinstatement, the authorities will aid him in every way possible.

Emerson has said that he is ineligible according to the records but he declared the records were wrong.

Dr. Metzenthin said officially Emerson was ineligible and it was squarely up to him to prove his eligibility.

Bill Ford, end on the 1928 Longhorn team, said he did not remember Emerson having participated in any games during that season. Emerson is charged with entering in 1928 a game between Texas and Baylor as a substitute.

Soccer Match Is Scheduled Soon

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24. (P)—A soccer match between the local Mexico club, unbeaten state champions last year, and the Galveston Pirates may be booked in Galveston for March 8, it was announced here today.

Manager Olguin of Mexico club, as far as football prowess is concerned, the Big Three is not the Big Three it used to be.

Upstart school in the west and middle-west do not hold the sacred trio of old in any reverence. Football supremacy is no longer vested in these eastern states.

But the Big Three was the cradle of football. The football world that has swept beyond the confines of a little triangle glances back to that cradle with a respectful memory.

Yale! How Could You! For some years, the creme de la creme of gridiron events has been the Yale-Harvard game.

That is, of course, according to Harvard's way of putting it. Yale played Princeton, too, but then that was just like Yale playing Millsaps or Swinsh—it didn't count for much.

The important fact was that Yale played her last game of the season with fair Harvard, and all the rest of the Eli football schedule led up to that struggle.

Now Eli Yale does a startling thing. The noble old school announces that hereafter Harvard shall close Yale's season only every other year, and that the alternate final foe of the Blue will be that old meanie, Princeton.

Awful Things Ahead The Harvard date with Yale will remain as usual—the Saturday before Thanksgiving—but Princeton will be played by Yale before Harvard one year and after Harvard the next.

Thus, in 1932 Yale will meet Harvard the week after Princeton. The dreadful thing will happen in 1933 when Harvard will have to play Yale before Princeton does.

Now it would be just like Prof. Harlow Shapley, the Harvard astronomer, to discover a mob of football rooters dwelling on the sun, and all of them wearing Princeton colors and mocking the dear old Harvard accent.

Yale's move may go farther than any conference between athletic heads toward the eventual restoration of football relations between Harvard and the Crimson.

Then again, it may not. Harvard and Princeton are "funny that way." Harvard has always been pointed as looking upon the Tiger, even in any conference between athletic heads toward the eventual restoration of football relations between Harvard and the Crimson.

"Only Sargon Gave Me Relief"

"Before I started taking Sargon I couldn't eat a meal without suffering with indigestion," said Mrs.

MRS. HOMER LYLE Elmer Lytle, 1301 West 1st St., Oklahoma City.

"There was a heavy feeling of gas in my right side; I had awful sick headaches from constipation and was very nervous.

"My husband was in as bad fix as I was and Sargon had helped him so much, I made up my mind to try it. Now I feel like a different woman. My appetite is splendid and I can eat anything I like without the slightest trace of indigestion.

I'm not nervous any more and my entire system has been strengthened. Sargon Pills gave me the first lasting relief I've had from constipation.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms.

Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old-fashioned medicine which you can get at 35c per bottle from Fatheree Drug Co. adv.—5

COTTON IS ACTIVE
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 24. (AP)—Cotton had a very active opening. Liverpool came in much better than the and first trades here showed gains of 11 to 16 points. Today being first notice day for March delivery, notices for 12,200 bales were issued here and for 97,000 bales in New York.

As it promptly became evident that the notices were being stopped at the prevailing differences between the near months, the market continued to advance and May soon traded as high as 11.44 and October at 11.97, or 21 to 23 points above Saturday's close.

At the end of the first hour the market was very steady and at the high.

GRAIN PRICES OFF
CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (AP)—Grain prices underwent transient setbacks early today with corn dropping to a fresh low record for the season. Largely increased supplies of wheat and Argentine shipments being diverted to Great Britain had a temporary bearish influence. Beneficial moisture received by domestic winter wheat was a like factor.

Opening unchanged to 1-4 cent lower, wheat sagged further, but soon rallied. Corn started 3-8 to 3-4 cent down and then advanced.

DANCES IN FOLLIES ASPIRES TO HEAVIER ROLES WHEN OLDER

Grandniece-in-law of the Norwegian playwright, Lillibell Isben is appearing in London's Follies. In Norway, she says, they consider her too young for Isben roles.

LONDON, Feb. 24. (AP)—Isben's grand-niece-in-law prefers English to Norwegian on the stage—the words mean more she thinks. Further, she has a leaning toward comedy, although drama is her goal.

She is Lillibell Isben, now in the "Chelsea Follies" here, who married the scotch Norwegian playwright's grandnephew Tancred.

She, too, is Norwegian, and started as a ballet dancer when she was 9. For three years she studied with Reinhardt in Berlin, for whom she played the nun in "The Miracle."

Later she was "Anitra" in Isben's play "Peer Gynt" in New York, where she learned to speak English. When she came to London she had to learn the language again—England couldn't understand her "Newyorkese."

Her attempts to explain to friends the types of actors in the various countries in which she had played led her to the mimicry she now does on the stage.

"I've done it 1,000 times now," she said. "It doesn't seem I shall ever get out of it."

Although she has appeared in Isben's plays elsewhere, she never has in Oslo.

"Isben is a classic in Norway," she explains. "They think I am too young." So instead in Oslo she was Mary Dugan in that young woman's play.

Oslo is her home and there her husband and young son live. Tancred Isben is an aviator and scenario writer as well. But hardly in his grandfathers' vein—"somewhat lighter," his wife explains.

Jury Of Married Men Is Sought In Husband Slaying

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 24. (AP)—A Jury of married men was sought by attorneys today in the murder trial of Mrs. Myrtle A. Bennett, 35, accused of shooting her husband, John G. Bennett, after a bridge game quarrel.

Questioning by James R. Page, prosecuting attorney, and ex-Senator James A. Reed and J. Francis O'Sullivan of defense counsel had led to the qualification of 26 men, including one widower, for a venire of 47. Each staff expressed preference for married men. Neither asked questions about bridge.

Mrs. Bennett, pale and attractively garbed, smiled yesterday when Page announced the state would seek the death penalty.

Witnesses to tell of the circumstances surrounding the slaying of Bennett, well-to-do district manager for a perfume company, the night of Sept. 29, 1929, include Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hofman, the Bennetts' opponents in the bridge game.

James A. Padgett, Memphis attorney who employed Mrs. Bennett as a stenographer in 1914 and 1917, has been summoned to testify for the defense. Defense attorneys said Bennett was a struggling salesman when he married on Armistice day, 1918.

Police said an investigation revealed Bennett slapped his wife when she chided him for failure to make a bid in bridge, a bid she had raised two points.

"Only a cur," she was quoted as saying, "would slap his wife in front of guests."

John V. Hill, assistant prosecutor, said the state would present in evidence a white polo shirt worn by Bennett the night he was slain, a bullet hole in the left side and one in the back.

Will Open Bids For Steel Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—The war department today informed Representative Johnson, democrat, Oklahoma, that bids for steel for an $85,000 building at Post field, Fort Sill, will be opened Friday.

Johnson said he expects the contract to be let within 30 days.

Johnson also voiced the hope that an $848,000 appropriation for general improvements at Fort Sill will be included in the second deficiency bill as a part of the army's housing program.

TO CONSIDER APPOINTMENT
AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (AP)—In executive session the senate will again tomorrow morning consider former Gov. Dan Moody's appointment of Frank Baldwin, Waco newspaperman, to the state board of education. The closed session was set by Senator Pollard of Tyler, chairman of the governor's nominations committee.

Standard Takes Crack At Texas

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (AP)—It would not be strange, comments "The Lamp," publication of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey if an oil man in Texas absconded with the "E" and "A" and called his state "taxes."

"For the petroleum industry, directly and indirectly, pays the tax collector well over half the cost of government of the Lone Star State," says The Lamp.

It cites figures supplied by the North Texas Oil and Gas association estimating taxes of the Texas oil industry in 1930, including the charge on gasoline paid by consumers, at $44,154,759 of the total state revenue from taxation of $77,642,721 or approximately 56 per cent.

House Approves Labor Measure

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (AP)—A bill by Representative Bond of Terrell aimed at protecting laborers and material supply men on public works was passed by the house today. It would require retention of 10 per cent of the contract price, subject to laborers' and supply liens.

The bill also would require a bond of 50 per cent of the contract price on all projects as a safeguard for the governmental agency.

The house then shunted other business aside to permit passage of local bills.

Seek Increase Of German Arms

ALTONA, Germany, Feb. 24. (AP)—Theodore Duesterberg, leader of the nationalist "steel helmet," said today that his organization stands for a German demand at the 1932 disarmament conference for increase of her army of 100,000 to 300,000, "to enable the nation at least to maintain armed neutrality."

Equipping such an army, he said, would incidentally solve the unemployment problem.

"MANY WAYS TO LOVELINESS YOU'LL FIND IN ZONITE"
Says Nancy Earle

"Show me the woman who is dainty about her person and you have shown me a woman who has the key to charm." That, in effect, is what the beauty experts say. Who would deny that they are right?

Any woman of any age can have this kind of loveliness. You, yourself, can have it without an array of expensive beauty lotions. In one bottle—a single bottle of Zonite—you will find many ways to gain and hold this daintiness which is the root of all beauty.

Note the list of uses this well-known lecturer gives for Zonite: Among them are treatments for pimples, boils, blisters, cuts and scratches. Zonite is a powerful germicide and antiseptic—a reliable preventive of infection and an aid to healing.

Full directions for using Zonite come with every bottle. Zonite is very valuable to women. So is Zonite Ointment, the white, antiseptic, grassless cream.
