Battles in Brazil Are Coming TORNADOES TAKE TOLL

HIGH WATER DRIVES MANY FROM HOMES

Man Is Electrocuted
As Wire Is Blown
Down

By the Associated Press
A check-up today revealed that Texas had come through a trio of small tornadoes and heavy rains which sent rivers and creeks from their banks with the loss of but a single life—a soldier who stepped on a live wire blown down by a heavy wind at Brownsville. Brady, hardest hit of any section by flood waters, today was straightening up after the Brady river, normally unthought of as a dangerous stream, had resumed its usual peaceful course after sending water into 40 or 50 business houses to damage stocks to the extent of $300,000. About 50 small houses were washed away making about 300 persons homeless.

The sun was shining over the vast area that had been drenched by rains that assumed the proportions of cloudbursts in many sections. Cattlemen and farmers who had been through one of the state's most prolonged dry spells, were preparing to plow and plant and stock their ranges anew.

HOUSTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—A Southeast Texas farming hamlet, Latozo, was all but swept away by a tornado reported to have injured 25 persons late yesterday, while Houston and much of the remainder of the area were assailed less severely by wind and rain.

None of the Latozo victims, according to available reports, was in a dangerous condition. The storm there came out of the southwest, missed the town of Crockett, nearby, and dragged a lethal trail some 300 yards wide for more than six miles. It skirted the school house by a quarter of a mile and disappeared with a roar in the woods.

In Houston, a much less destructive windstorm shrieked over 20 blocks in the thickly populated south end, wrecked servant houses and out-buildings, tore up power and phone lines and damaged roofs. A cloud burst ahead of it had flooded many of the streets, filled basements, halted street car, intracity bus and automobile traffic. Fire apparatus, answering several minor alarms, was stalled. No one was reported injured.

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 7. (AP)—One man was electrocuted by a live wire blown down by strong wind and the Presbyterian church was damaged by lightning during a rain storm here early today.

Private Robert Anthony Melchione, 28, of Philadelphia, was killed by the "stray" wire which was hidden in a puddle of water.

BEAUMONT, Oct. 7. (AP)—Two houses were demolished and about 20 were unroofed and otherwise damaged when a wind storm struck a small area here early today.

The wind came with a terrific roar and was accompanied by strange lights, those who lived in the affected section said.

One man said he saw a ball of fire resembling a comet come close to the ground and rebound into the sky.

Four inches of rain fell during the night.

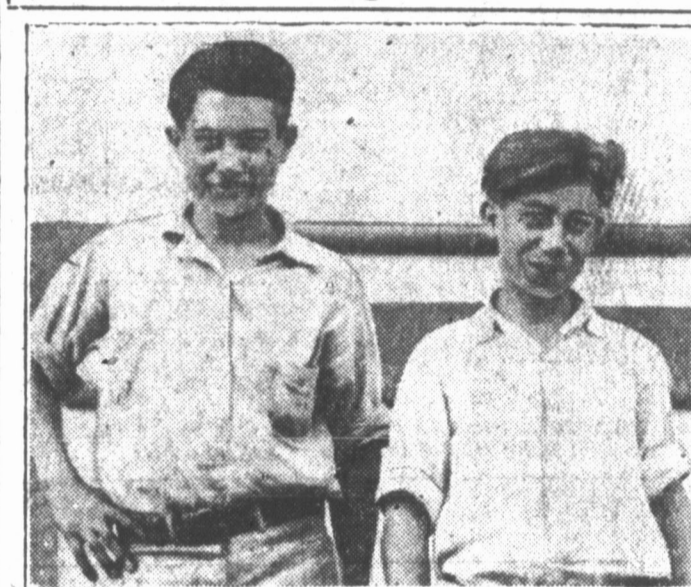

AUSTIN, Oct. 7. (AP)—Colorado river here at 10 a. m. today stood at 22 feet above normal with the peak of 24 feet expected about 4 p. m.

Only slight damage had been reported in this area. Officials have notified people living in the lowlands to evacuate their homes as a precautionary measure.

GREAT BEND, Kans., Oct. 7. (AP)—Several homes on the northeast edge of Great Bend farm homes north of here were surrounded by water today as a result of an overflow of Dry Creek following heavy rains over the week end.

Wrestler Is Wanted
CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 7. (AP)—Neices county officers left today for New Orleans to bring back Ernest B. Stephens, former wrestler known as "The Canadian Wildcat" wanted here for removing mortgaged property. Stephens waived extradition.

Louisiana's Youngest Moonshiners

After spending weeks looking for work so that they could support their aged, paralyzed mother and their 10-year-old sister, these two New Orleans boys started a whisky still and are now under arrest as Louisiana's youngest moonshiners. They are Joe Porrechio, 15 (left), and his brother, Paul, 17. Raiders took them as they were about to load five barrels of whisky on a wagon.

FORMER ASSISTANT STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL FINED AND GIVEN YEAR'S TERM

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 7. (AP)—W. Oscar Gordon, former assistant state attorney general, was sentenced to 12 months in the Oklahoma county jail here and fined $1,000 by Federal Judge Edgar S. Vespart today on his plea of guilty to extortion.

Gordon was sentenced on one of five charges against him growing out of the alleged extortion of a total of $2,300 on three occasions from Homer Knappenberger, former mayor of Earlboro, boom oil town. The other counts were dismissed. The count on which he pleaded guilty charged he accepted $900 from Knappenberger during Gordon's investigation of vice conditions in the Seminole-Pottawatomie oil fields.

Knappenberger testified at the Pottawatomie county liquor conspiracy trial here last winter he had paid the money to Gordon to avert prosecution after the state officer has discovered Knappenberger and other city officers were accepting protection money from bootleggers. Gordon resigned from the state office after Knappenberger's revelation.

Bank At New Orleans Robbed

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7. (AP)—Five or six armed men shortly before noon today held up the Metairie bank on the Jefferson highway, scooped up an undetermined amount of money and headed for the river road.

Employees of the bank reported that four or five masked men walked into the bank with shotguns and pistols and covered them. One of the bandits singled out L. D. Barrett, manager of the bank and another gathered up all the money in sight.

After the robbery had been executed the bank drove off in an automobile with a confederate at the wheel.

Pivotal Stocks To Lower Levels

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—Shares prices swung over a wide arc which carried most of the so called pivotal issues to new low levels for the year of longer in today's stock market, before lifting them above the closing prices on the previous session in the last hour of trading.

The late advance, however, attracted renewed selling, and net gains and losses were narrow and mixed at the close.

Total sales approximated 3,750,000 shares.

Body Is Recovered
CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 7. (AP)—The body of Edmund E. Seim who was drowned in Copano bay while fishing Sunday, was recovered today. It was located by an airplane flying over the water.

ARMIES MOVE ON BIG CITIES OF COUNTRY

Defeated Candidate to Lead One
Section

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 7. (AP)—Revolutionary armies moved today toward the two largest cities of Brazil, gathering force as they traveled for what their leaders believed would be decisive battles.

Leaders of the rebel movement planned to divide the armies of the state of Rio Grande do Sul, which is committed to the revolution, sending one section against Sao Paulo, coffee exporting center, and the other against Rio de Janeiro. The second section will await forces from the states of Minas Geraes, Ceara, Pernambuco, Piahy, and Rio Grande do Norte before attacking the capital city.

Getulia Vargas, president of the state of Rio Grande do Sul, and defeated candidate for the presidency of the national elections, has delegated responsibilities of his state office to Dr. Osvaldo Aranha, minister of interior, and will take personal command of the southern revolutionary armies.

The newspaper Republicano at Santa Ana da Livramento said today that radiograms from the front had announced arrival of the insurgent vanguard at the borders of the state of Sao Paulo, not far from where federal troops are gathering for defense of the important city. Troops from Santa Catarina and Parana are assembling with the insurgents for the invasion of Sao Paulo.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 7. (AP)—The government, faced with a growing revolutionary movement in both south and the north, announced today it would call out today the first and second classes of army reserves.

All food stuffs have been requisitioned by the federal government in the capital city. Authorities alleged that retail merchants were charging excessive prices for their wares owing to communications with the state of Minas Geraes being interrupted.

Although official news is scanty it was known that the government is working feverishly to obtain the up-berland in the situation. Federal forces are marching slowly toward Minas Geraes, but their progress is delayed because of the many bridges and track which has been destroyed along the century railway.

The war ministry announced that General Lavane Wanderley, commander of the seventh military region, had died of wounds received while fighting the revolutionists in the state of Pernambuco.

PAMPA—CITY OF OIL AND WHEAT—CITY OF GOOD HOMES

CHORUS HAS AN ELECTION

Miss Thomas Is Elected to Presidency — 55 Are Present

Increasing interest of local singers in Handel's famed "The Messiah" which will be given near Christmas was noted last night when 20 additional singers reported for practice at the First Methodist church. This number raised the total membership to 55.

Miss Josephine Thomas was elected president of the chorus and Walter Hardin was elected secretary last night. Copies of the work were distributed by Emil F. Myers, director. It is hoped that 50 more singers will join the chorus in the next three weeks. Mr. Myers pointed out that the only expense of members would be the price of the book of choruses.

Most needed now are tenors and altos. Three local violinists assisting Mrs. May Foreman Carr in playing the accompaniment at practice last evening. Membership of every church in the city is already represented in the chorus. It was emphasized that every singer in the city, regardless of church affiliations, is urged to join the chorus. Practice is held each Monday evening, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Apple pie a la mode was served to those present after practice last night.

Director Myers stated that he was well-pleased with the interest shown and by the number already enrolled. He told the singers last night that they were making unusually fine progress in learning the choruses.

New U. S. Envoy To Mexico

New American Ambassador to Mexico is Joshua Rueben Clark, above.

CITY IS GIVEN NEW PRAISE

Fortune Magazine Has An Article on Carbon
Black

A brief article on carbon black, accompanied by a large picture, gave Pampa favorable publicity in the September issue of "Fortune," which, it is said, numbers more millionaires and wealthy persons among its subscribers than any other magazine in the nation.

The article deals with a Cabot carbon black plant here and its owner, Godfrey L. Cabot of Boston. The photograph shows a detail of the machinery in the plant.

The article follows:

"Carbon black, the soot of natural gas, goes down a conveyor belt to meet rubber in the vast Banbury mixer, a mechanically churning cauldron which cost some $1,000,000. Until 1915, carbon black was used to make tires black. Its concomitant, and far more important, effect of toughening rubber has made tires of 30,000 mile age possible. A pound or so of carbon black adds 10,000 miles to the life of a tire. (The same amount added to eight gallons of oil makes enough ink to print 100 copies of an average novel). Seventy per cent of the U. S. consumption of carbon black goes into the rubber industry, 20 per cent into printing ink, and the rest into such things as shoe polish, and phonograph records."

"Great producer and pioneer in the carbon black industry is Godfrey L. Cabot of Harvard and Boston. In his plant, the world's largest, at Pampa, Texas, 100,000 pounds of carbon black are made each day from 58,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Of that great family of Cabot chemists (Samuel Cabot, Inc., father and son), Godfrey Cabot knows well the smells of the laboratory and the counts as a great compliment a remark overhead among the men in a West Virginia gas field: "Hell, Cabot's just as common as anyone."

"Fortune" is claimed to be the highest-priced and the best printed magazine in America.

TICKET SALE WELL BEGUN

Miami Citizens Are to Join the Delegation of Pampans

Ticket sales for the Harvester-Sandstrom encounter in Amarillo Saturday started briskly this morning at the Board of City Development, but the business in train fares was less than expected.

Both adults and children's general admission tickets to the game are on sale. The prices, as set by the Interscholastic League, are $1 and 50 cents. It is greatly desired that persons expecting to go by train shall buy the $1.10 ticket orders at once. The size of the train, and even the certainty of it, will depend upon the response in the next two days.

Manager George Briggs pointed out today that travel by train would be more pleasant than by automobile. There will be a traffic jam at Butler field. The same situation will prevail at the gates, and it will be advisable to purchase tickets here, he pointed out.

Editor R. B. (Bob) Haynes of the Miami Chief told The News this morning that the game was the "talk of the town" in Miami, and that many citizens of that place will join the Pampa delegation.

Court Recessed This Morning

Due to the continued illness of District Attorney C. G. Engledow, 31st district court adjourned this morning until 1:30 o'clock afternoon in order to allow Curtis Douglass, appointed by the court yesterday to serve in the absence of Mr. Engledow, to familiarize himself with several criminal cases on the docket which will come up for trial this afternoon.

Tragedy Was Fully Planned By Lubbock Man

LUBBOCK, Oct. 7. (AP)—Discovery of two letters today led officers to believe that Crville Parks, who yesterday shot and seriously wounded his young wife and fatally wounded himself, had deliberately planned the tragedy.

One letter addressed to Mrs. Flora Parks of Waco read: "Dear Mother: I guess you will think I am a coward and not man enough to face my troubles. Well, guess I am, but am in bad health and worrying so much here of late I believe I would go crazy before long. Velma and I have an insurance policy apiece both paid up so you and Mrs. Hayes divide them. Mine made me, Velma. Hers to me. So long. Love, Crville."

The second was addressed to Miss Charline Hayes of Spur, and contained much of the same text. A post-script said: "If the boys ever marry I hope them lots more happiness than I have had."

Policeman Killed
EL PASO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Francisco Munoz, police commissioner stationed at the mines of Los Llaneros, near Villa Ahumada, Chihuahua, was shot to death last night, according to word received at Juarez today. A miner who gave the name of Sabas Vargas was charged with the shooting.

GASOLINE IS CONSUMED AT LOADING RACK

Blaze Requires Four Hours of Hard Work

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed 3,000 gallons of gasoline and for four hours menaced a string of 30 cars all filled with gasoline at the Phillips loading rack early this morning.

The blaze was brought under control at 4 o'clock by the local fire department, assisted by firemen of the Phillips Petroleum company. The blaze was reported by Bud Cottrill, member of the night police force, to Fire Chief Alex Schneider, who turned in the alarm at 12:30 o'clock.

The fire truck with 13 firemen aboard was held up at the Santa Fe crossing eight minutes by a long freight train on the way to the loading rack. Later, the other truck was detained at the same crossing by an equally long freight for seven minutes. The contents of one tank car were blazing and the gasoline saturated ground under the string of cars for several hundred feet along the track was in flames when the firemen arrived.

While one company of firemen sprayed the flames with Foamite, special preparation for extinguishing gasoline and petroleum fires, another group connected the hose with a water plug four blocks away. In all, 1,500 feet of hose was strung. Water was poured on the flames continuously for four hours.

Phillips employees arrived soon after the local department with Foamite equipment. However, their supply of the fluid was soon exhausted and two truck loads brought from the Wilcox refinery were used before the flames subsided.

Danger of the fire's spreading was not eliminated until the three blazing tank cars were separated by Santa Fe engines from the ones which had not ignited.

Chief Schneider reported that it was one of the most difficult fires to control that ever broke out in the city. He and 16 members of the volunteer department arrived at the fire station at 4:30 more exhausted than they have ever been after a local fire.

All the gasoline in one tank car went up in smoke while a quantity burned in two other cars.

"Not Guilty," Is Verdict in Case Of 47 Years Ago

CUNTERSVILLE, Ala., Oct. 7. (AP)—A Marshall county jury today returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of James F. Neely, 70, charged with murder for the alleged slaying of Hiram Cooley, 47 years ago.

Neely was placed on trial yesterday, testimony and arguments being completed in half a day, and the jury taking the case early last night but retiring before starting deliberations.

A handful of witnesses, including the aged defendant, paraded thru the witness stand in the brief court hearing that was in a decided contrast to the years that have intervened between the slaying and the trial to give their versions of the fight atop Georgia mountain, near here, in which Cooley was fatally beaten.

Speaking in a low voice, Neely told a simple and dramatic story of his fight with Cooley, pleading that he fought in self-defense after Cooley himself had made the rendezvous to "settle the trouble between them."

Neely said the fight started when Cooley attempted to hit him with a hoe handle and that they fought with hands and fists for several minutes before Cooley attacked him with a knife, stabbing him in the right hand and right hip.

"Cooley fell," Neely explained, "and when I left the scene I did not know he was hurt."

The fight started after Cooley died three days later. Neely told in a brief history the 47 years wandering through Tennessee into Ohio and finally to Tyler, Texas, where he was arrested while visiting a brother.

Slayer Sought in Feud Affair

STRANGE, Okla., Oct. 7. (AP)—Mayer county authorities today were conducting a search for Paul Mitchell, 37, alleged to have fatally injured "Uncle" Steve Edwards, 75, as the result of trouble said to have been brewing between their respective families for years.

Officers said Edwards was struck four times by Mitchell, yesterday while the latter's brother, Claude, held W. P. Brandon, a justice of the peace, who had attempted to intervene. Brandon said he heard Paul Mitchell tell the aged man "I ought to knock your head off," and had tried to prevent the younger man from striking Edwards.

Flying To Amarillo
WICHITA, Oct. 7. (AP)—Laura Ingalls, St. Louis aviatrix, seeking to establish a woman's transcontinental flight record landed at the municipal airport here at 10:21:58 (CSF) and took off at 11:22:22 for Amarillo, Texas, her next scheduled stop.

AND WHAT WILL COME NEXT?

Farmers in Western and Eastern Texas are probably wondering what will be the next thing to come along and cut them down.

After suffering for several months from the drought which resulted in the ruination of their crops, now come a flood and a tornado that finisher up the job by tearing down their houses and barns.

More than 200 persons were reported to be homeless Monday as a result of flood during the past weekend. At Crockett and the nearby community, many of the farm homes were reported torn down by a tornado that made a path of destruction until it spent its force.

We cannot ask congress to pass a law against tornadoes and floods. These are just some of the disheartening things that happen as we go through life. The best thing we can do is to give money to the relief organizations that are doing their best to relieve the suffering.

A DEFECT IN WORLD ECONOMICS

Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania complains that "the greatest material need of civilization is a solution of the distribution problem" and it is not hard to see why he should think so.

The world today is suffering from a tremendous economic depression, in which all countries are faring poorly.

Yet, at the same time, there never was a time in the world's history when it had the capacity to produce so much at so little expense.

There is—either actually in existence or immediately available—a great plenty of everything that men all over the world need.

Yet, because of some defect in the machinery somewhere, this very surplus, this skill with which humanity can meet all of its wants, simply operates to make a bad situation worse, and a great many people, scattered all the way from the United States to China and from the Argentine to Scotland, do not have nearly enough of anything.

The American farmer finds himself going bankrupt because there is a "surplus" of wheat—and hundreds of thousands of Chinese are dying of starvation.

American automobile manufacturers cut down their schedules because of overproduction—and countries like Russia suffer acutely because they are not able to mechanize their transport fast enough.

Cotton growers and textile manufacturers are hit by a supply that exceeds demand—but in every city in the world you could find dozens of people who do not have enough clothing to keep them in good health.

Nor is that all. Producers of various kinds, from farmers to manufacturers, complain that they are not able to make money—but retail prices remain high. The price of bread, for instance, has not followed the price of wheat down the toboggan. The farmer's hard luck is not the consumers' gain.

Somewhere back of all of this there would seem to lie a major defect in our machinery of distribution. From foodstuffs to radios, from blankets to sewing machines, mankind at last is able to produce far more than enough to go around; but this ability is beginning to look more like a curse than a blessing.

What is the answer? As Senator Reed remarks, "It is a question which demands the best brains not only of our country but of the world."—Lubbock Avalanche.

Wheat Offered To Farmers Living In Drought Area

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 7. (AP)—Opportunity to purchase wheat and other feed in carlot loads from the Farmers' National Grain corporation of Chicago was before the farmers of the state today.

In a telegram to officials of the Agricultural and Mechanical college yesterday, secretary of agriculture

Arthur M. Hyde called attention to an offer of the corporation to ship grain in carlots to drought-stricken counties at minimum charges.

He suggested that arrangements be made with local dealers, elevators or co-operatives to purchase such grain from the corporation and to parcel it out to farmers at "reasonable handling charges." He urged that county agents look into the matter.

At the same time, he stated reports to him indicated farmers were paying widely divergent prices for hay, wheat, oats, barley and corn and blamed uneconomical methods of handling and distribution, and he believed the carlot purchasing would prove a relief to them.

Word also was received that 20 Texas counties were being certified for drought relief reduced freight rates and that the rates would be effective as soon as railroads could issue tariffs. The counties are Palo Pinto, Jack, Brewster, Reeves, Pecos, Presidio, Jeff Davis, Culberson, Rudspeth, Glasscock, Martin, Howard, Edwards, Kinney, Via Verde, Crockett, Upton, Reagan, Real and Terrell.

Hotel Men to Advertise State

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Urging the cooperation of Texas hotels in sponsoring a nationwide advertising campaign for this state, Chas. A. Mangold, Dallas, principal speaker of the first session of the Texas Hotel Men's association convention here today asked the 160 delegates to take more interest in national publicity.

Mangold stated that by attracting more tourist trade, not only the state in general would be benefited but also the hotel owners themselves.

R. D. Hall, credit manager of the Baker hotels system, advanced the idea that all Texas hotels should prepare an alphabetical list of the hotel "deadbeats" in an effort to put a stop to passing of bad checks and worthless credit.

The Hollywood Story

Copyright 1930 by NEA SERVICE Inc. by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beginning as an Extra, ANNE WINTER has progressed rapidly and is now under contract to Grand United, one of the largest of the Hollywood motion picture studios.

Anne has been living with two other girls, MONA MORRISON, and EVA HARLEY. Mona and Eva are extras, but Mona works only occasionally and Eva but rarely. Eva is bitter over this and over a tragic love experience. She leaves Hollywood finally, leaving behind her a heart-broken note for Anne and Mona.

DAN RORIMER, former New York newspaper man and now a scenario writer in Hollywood, is in love with ANNE WINTER, who, beginning as an extra, has progressed rapidly and is now under contract to Grand United, one of the largest of the motion picture studios.

Dan formerly was under contract at General Pictures, but he was unable to get along with the studio executive there and he is now free lancing.

PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily column of movie comment for a string of newspapers, shares Dan's apartment with him. He has great faith in Dan's ability, despite the latter's lack of success as a free lancing.

While in New York Dan had written a play for the legitimate stage. His agent, unable to place it, finally sends it back to him, and Anne Winter and Paul Collier, when they read it, are enthusiastic over it. They think it would make a great picture and urge Dan to revise it for the movies.

Anne, who has not yet had a dramatic role on the screen, says she would love to play the part of the main girl character.

Dan follows their advice and the play is accepted by Grand United. He is given to understand that they think highly of him and may offer him a contract. Then he suggests to the studio executive that Anne Winter be considered for the picture. Heretofore she has played roles in which her singing and dancing featured.

GARRY SLOAN is to direct the picture, and Dan is told that the suggestion will be made to Sloan to give Anne a test. This is what happens and Sloan is pleased with it.

Now go on with the STORY CHAPTER XXXVI

Word was traveling through the Grand United lot that Garry Sloan had made another "discovery." From the publicity department emanated "copy" that told of the quick rise of Anne Winter from extra to singing and dancing comedienne to player of one of the season's choicest dramatic roles.

Others had tried for it. Dan Rorimer was given to understand by Phillips, head of the scenario department, that studio politics virtually dictated that several others be given a test.

"They resent the girls who come from the stage and grab off some of the desirable roles. Sometimes it's hard to convince them that the studio isn't partial in the matter. Of course, if Sloan wanted to be tough, they'd have to like it. But you know how it is."

Dan, remembering what Mr. Johnson had frankly volunteered about "keeping peace in the family," said he understood. But he reminded Phillips triumphantly: "I told you she was good, didn't I?"

Phillips grinned. "She had to be, she's the first brunet to play a leading woman to Lester Moore in two years."

Garry Sloan said it was Anne's voice, more than anything else, that had won the part for her. "Otherwise," he told Mr. Johnson, "I might have been a toss-up. But none of them can talk like Anne Winter."

His mind, he said, had been made up as soon as he heard the recording, and Johnson, viewing the test, said he didn't wonder.

"This Rorimer," he chuckled, "knew what he was talking about, apparently."

He called Dan into his office and made the admission directly. He said he owed it to him. "You said that you had an idea we might thank you for your suggestion, Rorimer. Well, we do. And any time you have any more ideas as good as that one, just step right in."

Dan went out pleased. He thought: "What a difference between him and Adams!"

Paul Collier, back from his vacation and exuberant over the good fortune of his best friend, wrote a "success" story about Anne Winter and, unknown to Dan, devoted the major part of one of his daily "columns" to Rorimer and the play that had been kicked from one producer's office to another on Broadway, only to be purchased by Grand United for one of its major productions of the year.

He contended that there was more vision in Hollywood now than in New York, and that it might be well for those who controlled the destiny of the New York stage to drop their patronizing attitude toward the "talkies" and take a leaf or two from the infant industry's book of experience.

He "went out on a limb." With the start of production still some weeks away, he predicted that Rorimer's play would be one of the sensations of the audible screen.

After his first long talk with Garry Sloan, Dan somewhat regretted the prejudice he had formed for the director for no very good reason. The man, he was forced to admit, had perception and imagination. And he knew what he was talking about.

"Nothing makes us any happier, Miss Winter, than to give someone a real chance—especially some one deserving of it. For your present opportunity you can thank the training you acquired on the stage—and your good friend Mr. Rorimer."

The executive smiled. "It was Rorimer, you know, who informed us that we weren't taking full advantage of your talent. He spoke right up in church."

"I know that," Anne said. "He told me later what he had done, I'm grateful to him, and to you for listening to him—and to Mr. Sloan of course. Everybody has been very wonderful to me. I'll try very hard to deserve your kindness."

"I'm sure you will—only don't call it kindness, Miss Winter. We're pretty hard-boiled, really."

Anne went at once to Rorimer's little office and found him there bending over his typewriter, at work on his scenario. "Dan," she said at once, "I'm so happy I could hug you right here."

And Dan grinned and got up.

"You've never seen him work," Paul said. "I have. Sloan knows only one way to make a picture and that's his own way. When it's finished you can be sure that Garry Sloan got the best out of every line in it. He isn't satisfied with anything else. With him it's just like this; he feels that his reputation is at stake with every picture he turns out, and it's just too bad if the boys and girls don't come through the way he wants them to."

Collier said he had no fear that Dan would have any trouble with him. "You'll get along with him all right. You might have to make script changes up to the final shot, but Sloan's reason will be good ones. He's a great director; Anne Winter's got the biggest opportunity of her life. Sloan's made more stars than any three men in Hollywood, but they have to work for it. I've seen Sylvia Patterson reduced to hysterics because of what she thought at the time was Sloan's brutality; but in the end he always manages to get what he wants out of them."

"The executive smiled. "It was Rorimer, you know, who informed us that we weren't taking full advantage of your talent. He spoke right up in church."

"I know that," Anne said. "He told me later what he had done, I'm grateful to him, and to you for listening to him—and to Mr. Sloan of course. Everybody has been very wonderful to me. I'll try very hard to deserve your kindness."

How Gale Wrecked ships on English Coast

These pictures tell a graphic story of how fierce autumnal gales sweeping the English coast, took a heavy toll of shipping. Battering waves 40 feet high, shown upper right surged over the promenade at Hastings and menaced near-by buildings, give a vivid impression of the storm while it was at its height. Meanwhile the Cardiff steamer Umberleigh was being driven on the jagged rocks at Bovisand Point, and is shown upper left as she rested high and dry at low tide after the gale had subsided. The Antwerp steamer Ida, en route from Cardiff to Portsmouth with a load of coal, was grounded off Prawle Point, at Devon, as seen lower left but the crew was saved due to the heroism of a lone sailor who swam ashore with a life-line. Wrecked upon the rocks of Euchen Ness seven miles from Peterhead, the Elberman liner City of Osaka is shown lower right after her officers and crew, numbering 80, had been taken off in safety.

"Go right ahead, Anne; I won't stop you."

But Anne glanced around in pretended fear of discovery and laughed. "If it weren't so public—"

"Well, we can't put it off till this evening, I suppose, but that's a mighty long time to wait. I'm sure glad you got it, Anne; you don't know how badly I wanted to see you get it. We'll have to celebrate, won't we?"

"You're such a dear person, Dan Rorimer. We certainly must. What shall we do?"

Dan considered thoughtfully. "Well I don't know," he told her. "I guess it really requires some thought. How about you? Got any ideas?"

Anne smilingly confessed that she had none at the moment that would do justice to the occasion.

"Because I don't know when I've really been so happy."

She left him with the understanding that she would have her mind made up when he called for her.

When he arrived at the bungalow that evening she suggested immediately that they go for a drive.

"Anywhere. I just want to talk, Dan. There are so many things to talk about, and I've been such a pest to Mona ever since I got home."

"All right with me," Dan said. "And I hope you haven't forgotten that little matter you brought up this afternoon in my office."

"What little matter?" Anne frowned.

"Why, you haven't forgotten, have you?"

"Oh, I know." She laughed and ran over to him and threw her arms around him. She said to Mona, in explanation: "I told him this afternoon I was so happy that I could hug him, and you see he made me make good, with my threat."

felt just a little bit cheated, Anne. It wasn't quite fair."
"But why? Mona didn't mind."
"You would say something like that wouldn't you?" he ginned.
"Doggone it, why do you suppose I consented to a postponement? I've been looking forward to it; I thought it was going to be real private and exclusive."
"Well, you brought the subject up in front of Mona," Anne reminded him.

"I did do that," he admitted. "That's what I get for being impatient; I guess it's my own fault. I don't suppose there's a chance of going through with it again, is there?"

She shook her head and laughed, and she laid a cool finger across his lips. "I didn't say twice, Dan. . . Where are we going?"
Dan kissed her finger before she could take it away. "I don't know. Where do you say? How about good old Santa Monica? Want to sit on the beach and spoon?"

Anne made a little face at the word. What she wanted, most of all to do, she said, was talk.

"The world's so wonderful all of a sudden, Dan, and I'm so happy and excited about everything! I just want to talk and talk and talk."

Life Term Is Granted Pardon

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7. (AP)—Gus Toms, alias "Dutch" Gardner, former prize fighter, and runner serving a life term in the state penitentiary for the slaying in April 1923, of two St. Bernard Parish deputy sheriffs who halted a liquor caravan, today received a full pardon from Governor Huey P. Long.

The governor said the pardon was issued on recommendation of two members of the state board of pardons, Lieut. Governor Paul N. Cyr and Judge J. Claude Meroux, of St. Bernard Parish, made in 1928 and on a written request from the widow of one of the slain men asking the release of Toms.

The victims of the fight were Joseph L. Estopaul and August Esteves. Their deaths caused a wide-spread investigation into an alleged

Rodeo Horses Are Suffocated in Baggage Car

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 7. (AP)—Thirty nine rodeo horses, bound from Wichita to Texas, suffocated in a baggage car on a siding at Marland, south of here.
The car was set out on the siding to await a second car of horses furnished by the "101 ranch" here. When ranch employes investigated today they found all the Wichita animals dead from lack of air.
Name of the shipper was unknown here.

"Unique" Arrest in Houston Aired

HOUSTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—Paul Fasullo, 23, was in the county jail today in default of $2,500 bond after an examining trial in which details of the $1,700 Metropolitan theatre robbery on June 23 were reviewed.

The hearing gave hints of the unique circumstances surrounding Fasullo's arrest and the charge of robbery by assault filed against him.
Fasullo was identified by R. W. Weir, house manager at the Metropolitan, as the man who entered his office and escaped with the money without drawing a gun.

The defense attorney, cross-examining city Detective A. P. Martial asked many questions concerning the arrest.

Martial said he first took Weir to the federal courtroom last Saturday to view Fasullo while Fasullo was awaiting trial on a charge of possessing narcotics. He declared Weir identified Fasullo there.

"Where did you arrest Fasullo?" asked the lawyer.
"At the federal building that Saturday morning."

"Isn't it a fact that the federal authorities later demanded Fasullo's arrest so that he could face trial in federal court and that he walked out of the police station scot free?"

"I don't know," Martial answered. "I put Fasullo in jail and that was the last I had to do with the case just then. But I heard that had happened."

TAKEN FOR RIDE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—Herbert Irving Roberts, notorious gunman and racketeer, who escaped in 1928 from the Virginia state penitentiary, was found dead early today in the back seat of an abandoned automobile in a residential section of the Bronx. Police said he had been taken for a "ride."

Roberts, according to the police records, is known as a gunman and confidence man to the police of every large city in the country. Since his escape from the Virginia prison he is believed to have been active as a bootlegger.

AUSTIN, Oct. 7. (AP)—Refusal of the state board of medical examiners to allow an osteopathic school graduate to take the state medical examination because the school did not have two years of "premedico" college work as an entrance requirement was attacked in mandamus action in the supreme court today.

John W. Crawford, Dallas, graduate of a Missouri school of osteopathy and surgery, sought leave to file the mandamus action requiring the board to allow him to take the examination.

UNIVERSITY STUDY CLUB HOLDS FIRST SESSION OF YEAR

Course In Modern Fiction Approved By Members; Regular Meeting Days Are to Be First and Third Mondays

Gathering for the initial business meeting of the year, members of the University Study club approved a course of study prepared by Mrs. Maggie Barry of the Extension department, Agricultural and Mechanical college, College Station. The meeting was held Monday afternoon at the First Methodist church.

It was also decided to hold regular meetings on the first and third Mondays of each month at 3:45 o'clock. All sessions are to be held temporarily at the First Methodist church.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY HOLLYCE SELLERS

Yesterday we discussed the disadvantages of worrying over trivial matters, the tragic outcome of becoming alarmed over petty annoyances.

Worry over minor details usually is again so sensitiveness, which, according to Kathleen Norris, is one of the most maddening forms of selfishness.

"Any girl who wants to succeed in the business world," says Kathleen Norris, "must be well cured herself of sensitiveness once and for all, and the younger the better, for it is death to success. There is no type so bitterly hated in the office as the self-justifier, the explainer, the woman who is always right."

Books Are Given

The following books are included in the study for the next eight months: "Giants in the Earth," O. E. Rolvaag; "Pure Gold," by the same author; "Some Aspects of Biography," Andre; "Voltaire"; "Journey's End," E. G. Sheriff; "Presidents," Margaret Cuylin; "The Great Masadoy," Elizabeth Madsen; "Smoot as in a Dream," Elizabeth Seagrave; "River House," Frank Young; "The Book of Betty," Eleanor Mercier; "This Side of Jordan," Bradford; "Black Roses," Britt Young; "Mr. Fortune Margot," Warner; "The Lordly One," Lehman; "Can't Get a Red Bird."

Those attending were Miss Wilhelms May, Miss Fannie May, Mrs. V. H. Nichols, Mrs. Roy Wiley, Mrs. H. H. Peck, Mrs. Carl Boston, and Mrs. W. R. Campbell. Twenty women, however, have announced their intention of becoming members of the club. The membership is limited to 24.

Other Groups Formed

Other study groups are being formed under the sponsorship of the Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women and the College club at a meeting this afternoon at the First Methodist church. Ten subjects have been proposed, and as many groups are being formed as there is a demand for. Each group will choose its own leader for the year.

Program Will Be Given By Pampa Art Group Friday

This week's program for the Pampa Art League was announced today by the president, Mrs. George H. Wallace, who stated that the meeting would be held on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the parlors of the First Methodist church instead of on Saturday evening as was announced previously.

The complete program follows: "Sistine Madonna" (Raphael) and "The Last Supper" (Leonard) as examples of unity and composition, to be contrasted with Manet's "St. James before Herod Agrippa" by Mrs. O. H. Booth; "Allegory of Spring" (Botticelli), as an example of linear drawing, contrasted with "The Creation of Man" (Michelangelo), as an example of modeling, by Mrs. I. Baum; "Madonna with St. Jerome" (Cortegiano), as an example of the use of light, contrasted with the use of light in the "Sistine Madonna" by Mrs. Harry Barnard; "Lavinia" (Titian), as a study in the use of color, contrasted with the use of color in the "Sistine Madonna" by Mrs. Clayton; "Madonna Enthroned" (Cimabue), as a study in the lack of perspective, Mrs. Craig; "San't Egidio" (Uccello), as an example of linear without aerial perspective, Mrs. A. H. Doucette; "Castelfranco Madonna" (Giorgione) as an example of aerial perspective, Mrs. Roy Tinsley.

Social Calendar

WEDNESDAY
Methodist W. M. S. circles will meet as follows: Circle 1, Mrs. W. M. Castleberry; Circle 2, Mrs. J. G. Burgess; Circle 3, Mrs. W. R. Campbell; Circle 4, Mrs. Lewis Robinson.

Loyal Women's class, First Christian church, will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. E. H. Sewell, 437 Yeager.

Women of the Mooseheart Legion will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Locust Grove club for an initiation service.

"One Actor In Family Is Enough," Thinks Elder Coogan, As Youngster Romps About Movie Studio

You'll remember Jackie Coogan with Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid" (center) and recognize him as a knight of King Arthur in "Tom Sawyer," his next role—but have you met his little brother? It's confusing, but Robert is shown with Jackie (right.)

Changes Made In Administration of Library; September Reports Made

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jackie Coogan grew up, of course.

But over on the lot where he is making a picture, a new model from the Coogan pattern is romping about to confuse visitors.

The new model is Robert, Jackie's little brother, just 5 years old. Robert looks very much as Jackie did in the days when he was making "The Kid" with Charlie Chaplin.

He wears his hair bobbed in the same manner, dresses in coveralls, but is a bit plumper than Jackie.

At home they call Robert "The Sea Gull" because of his appetite. He eats anything—and much. The appetite comes from his active life, for Robert is a good swimmer already.

He has started his studies, too, and speaks a smattering of German and French as well as English.

But will he follow Jackie? "I'm going to be in 'Tom Sawyer,'" he says in his soft, voice, barely audible unless one leans over to his level.

"No, you're not," his father smiles. "One actor in the family is enough. Robert's going to be a business man."

In the meantime Jackie, 15 now, is finishing his picture and ready for high school again. He wants to go to university later.

The Coogans believe Jackie must have a college education before continuing his career. If Paris are open during vacation he may take them.

Where he'll go to college isn't sure. His father thinks Harvard, Notre Dame or Santa Clara, Cal., with a year at Oxford or Cambridge.

Will Make Racks
The librarian was instructed to have magazine racks and newspaper files made and place in the new building.

Reports Are Made
The librarian's report for September included the following figures: Books checked out, 1394; average per day, 43; amount collected in fines, $3.06; expenses, $2.70; library patrons, 1353.

A balance of $116.61 was shown by the treasurer's report.

Registration will continue all this week, according to Mrs. W. H. Davis, who is in charge. All who care to make donations are requested to see Mrs. DeLea Vicars, treasurer.

Drinks Poison—Dies
EL PASO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Preston S. Bowen, 48, died today after drinking poison. He was found unconscious in a woodshed at his home.

New Grid Rules Are No Curb on "Open" Game Declares Coach Yost

CODE LIKELY TO REMAIN AS AT PRESENT

BY FIELDING H. YOST
 ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 7. (AP)—For 40 years changing the rules of football has fascinated coaches and officials. But after the game has been kneaded these four decades it now has assumed a shape in which the rules committee intimates it should remain for a number of years.

I consider the game of today a better one to play and to watch than ever before. Its key-note is one of "openness." The style makes necessary more boys of speed and alertness. The 150-pound lad has more chance than ever before "to make the team."

An "anti-fumble" rule has eliminated fluke touchdowns, encouraged double passing, known generally as lateral passing, triple passing; in short, there now is a greater reliance placed on plays where skill and speed bring added variance.

The last process in the evolution that has resulted in this "modern" game came through the codification of the 28 rules of previous years. They have been consolidated into 13 divisions, each presenting a distinct department of the game.

The new arrangement and wording have made learning the game and instructive teaching of football much easier. But the manifold things that can happen on a football field still leave a thorough knowledge of the game the reward of hard study only.

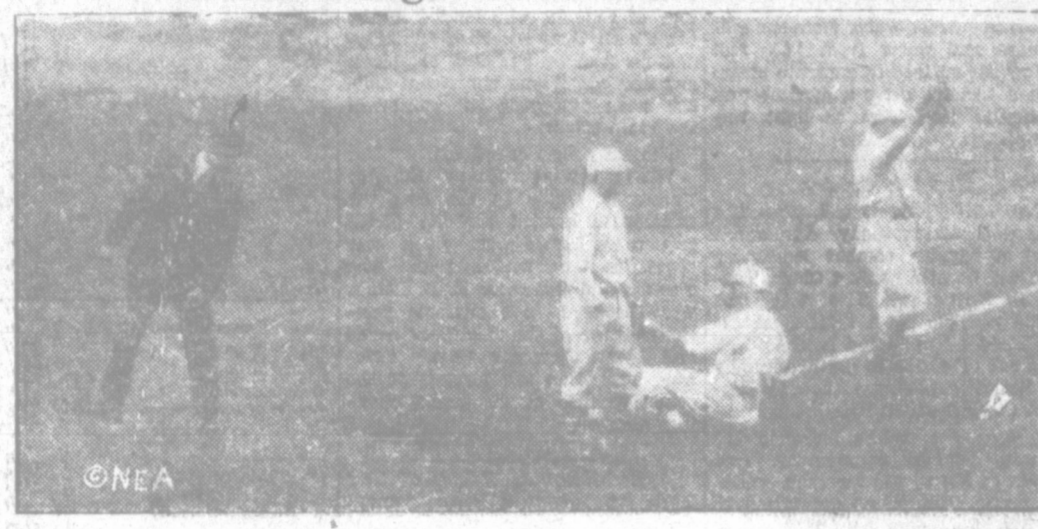

As long ago as 1905 I wrote a book that had some bearing on the important work of clarifying the football rules. I used little black corner headings to introduce each rule, and presented the penalty for violation immediately following. The system was used later in many rule books. I think it was a distinct aid to the study of the game's regulations.

Three-fourths of football rules are made for administration of the game. Consequently these are of little importance to the run of mine spectator. The thing that counts with him are the spirit and zest, the headiness of the autumn air, the running, passing, kicking, blocking, tackling. Then there is that intangible something present in any meeting of young men in games.

Here follow some of the changes from previous regulations in the new codified rules:

1. Permission to mark the field in some color other than white. The concession was made to allow for color that offer better possibilities of contrast in night games.
2. A stop after a shift or huddle is made more certain. The referee is now instructed to time the stop intervals, that is, after the shift and before the ball is snapped, by counting rapidly 1 2 3 4 5 6.
3. Possibility of field goals is increased by a stipulation that after a free kick on a fair catch the defense may not charge until the ball has been kicked. The former regulation permitted the charge when the ball touched the ground.
4. Emphasis is placed on former rules against ineligible interference to defenders against a forward pass. None of these changes, it is obvious, curtails the openness of the game. Nor do I favor any that might. But in the last analysis, the kind, type and spirit of play and of the game are in the hands of the coaches and players. The codified rules give both a better opportunity.

Gelbert Brings In Needed Run For Cards

This NEA photo from St. Louis shows the tying run coming in for the Cardinals after Gelbert, sensational young shortstop, rapped out a triple in the fourth game of the world series.

CARDS MUST WIN TWICE FOR PENNANT

Associated Press Sports Writer.
 En Route to Philadelphia from St. Louis, Oct. 7. (AP)—The Athletics of Philadelphia and Cardinals of St. Louis today were well on their way back to Philadelphia to resume their world's series, battle tomorrow on the American league grounds.

Both teams had reason to be satisfied with their three-day stay in National league territory. The Cardinals won two games to get them back in the series, while the Athletics captured the final clash in Missouri in a thrilling battle of pitchers and started home a game ahead and only one decision away from another world's championship.

The Cardinals left Philadelphia last Thursday night two games behind the Athletics and they return only one in arrears, but still their task is the harder. In a golf match the holes eventually run out and this is all in favor of the player ahead. The Athletics have to win only one more to repeat their 1929 triumph and win the supreme prize of Connie Mack as a "great team."

The Cardinals must win two straight.

Manager Mack today made no forecast of the ultimate end of the series except to say that he had faith in his "boys."

The "sabby" general of the Cardinals, the weather-beaten Charles Street, as always, was optimistic today.

"We can win two straight from the Athletics," he said, "and this we will do. We have done it already in this series and we can do it again."

The final game in St. Louis, won 2 to 0 by the Athletics in the ninth inning when Jimmy Fox drove a home run high and far into the left field bleacher seats among a group of disgusted customers, was a gripping struggle.

For seven innings the 37-year-old Burleigh Grimes, a courageous, cagey pitcher, and George Earnshaw, younger, bunter but no cracker, battled on even, scoreless terms. The day was dark, with a low ceiling and rain threatening throughout, and all in all it was a pitchers' day if ever there was a world's series stage set with scenery made to order for the sharpshooters on the mound.

Burleigh threw his famous "splitters," mixing enough fast balls and curves with them to prevent the A's getting "set," while Earnshaw had a fast one, a curve, and a half speed ball that baffled the opposition by throwing the batsmen off their stride.

In the eighth inning Earnshaw moved out of the picture to make way for a pinch hitter. The honors were even with his rival for each had allowed two hits in seven chukkers. The pinch hitter got on but in spite of the partial success of the Mackian strategy, Grimes pitched himself out of this hole.

Lefty Grove, the speed ball king of the A's, came in to succeed Earnshaw and as he held the Cardinals rudderless during the eighth and ninth innings and as the pitcher of record when Fox hit for the circuit, he was credited with the victory.

This was compensation for a game he saved for Earnshaw in the last world's series when the big righthander under the scoring rules was credited with the victory.

Man, Found Dead.
 GOLDTHWAITE, Oct. 7. (AP)—J. G. Bachelor, 50, was found shot to death in a pasture near his home three miles from town yesterday. A lead from a shotgun had struck him in his stomach. The gun and a note was found near the body.

ONCE A CRIPPLE, BOINEAU HAS BECOME NOTED DIXIE GRIDDER

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 7. (AP)—Edward "Bru" Boiniau, one of Dixie's best halfbacks, is that instead of a cripple because he wanted to be like other boys—and threw his crutches away.

Now South Carolina's most dangerous running back, Boiniau was crippled at five—crippled for life—the surgeons said.

But "Bru" just wouldn't believe it although a knee infection that had threatened to make an amputation necessary had left his leg weak, withered and stiff.

Four operations had barely saved the limb and surgeons said he would never walk without crutches.

"But Edward," says his mother, "was always anxious to play with the other boys and was stubborn about it. He threw the crutches away and would hobble from chair to chair, using his leg as much as he could and giving it plenty of exercise."

To everybody's surprise it gained strength and he hobbled to school without crutches. In a few years he was as good as new.

Boiniau blossomed as a sophomore, flash at South Carolina in 1928 and was a sensation of a weak eleven, in 1929.

He accomplished 85-yard dashes against Clemson and Maryland, scampered 50 yards for a touchdown against Citadel and ran 75 yards for a score against Presbyterian college. His punting saved the Gamecocks more than once.

He's a senior this year.

BAYLOR HAS WARNED RIVAL GRID CLUBS

DALLAS, Oct. 7. (AP)—There had been a tendency to "low-rate" the Baylor Bears before their tussle with Purdue Saturday, but Coach Jennings' machine will have a hard time sneaking up on any Southwest conference foe now. The battle put up by the Bruins was, without doubt, an outstanding feature of the mid-west invasion.

Southern Methodist did little more than its followers anticipated, in holding Notre Dame to a single touchdown margin, but Purdue had been rated a top-heavy favorite over the Bears. The fact that the Baptists fought the Boiler-makers on almost even terms all the way and lost only because their secondary failed to bat down a couple of passes will not be overlooked by conference rivals.

On the strength of their form to date, the leading contenders might be ranked: 1. Southern Methodist; 2. Texas Christian.

Observers have said for two years that Baylor's team would be a title contender when, and if, it "over found itself." Their form Saturday would indicate they at least are getting "warm."

The Angies' defeat at Lincoln emphasized their one weakness—lack of a capable offense. Coach Bell's line functioned well, as was to be expected from such a veteran unit, holding the big Cornhuskers scoreless until it became worn down in the second half.

The point is, say friends of Coach Clyde Littlefield, that the entire scheme is being reversed this year. The Longhorn mentor is bringing his team along slowly, especially Shelley, holding things down in preparation for the conference race. By the time the orange eleven meets Rice in its opener on Oct. 25 at Houston, Littlefield hopes to have it going full speed.

That seems a plausible explanation of the Steers' indifferent showing against Centenary Saturday, when they were held to a scoreless tie in the mud.

Utah Football Player Is Dead.
 DELTA, Utah, Oct. 7. (AP)—The death yesterday of Joseph M. Howell, Jr., 18, was the second among Utah high school football players this season.

Howell died of pneumonia which followed the fracturing of two ribs in football practice a week ago. Orvil Henrie, 18, Ferron, died of a fractured skull suffered in a game Friday.

Barrow Appears To Defend "Public Enemies"

Clarence Darrow, famous criminal lawyer, emerged from semi-retirement in Chicago the other day to appear in court for two gangsters who were listed among Chicago's "public enemies"—George "Red" Barker and William "Three-Fingered Jack" White—who were brought in on vagrancy warrants. This photo, taken in Judge John H. Lyle's courtroom, shows: No. 1, Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne; No. 2, Darrow; No. 3, Assistant State's Attorney Brown; No. 4, Assistant State's Attorney Mast; No. 5, Attorney Smith; No. 6, White.

Julian Motion To Dismiss Suit Is Turned Down

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 7. (AP)—A motion of the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties company to dismiss its appeal in the state supreme court which attacked the constitutionality of the Oklahoma proration laws and the jurisdiction of the corporation commission to enforce them, was denied by the state supreme court today.

John Head, attorney for the Julian company, sought the dismissal immediately after the federal district court issued an opinion in a similar case pending there. Head in a statement said he was seeking to dismiss the case but with a view to continuing a fight against the proration laws. The procedure he would follow, he indicated, would be to take the case before the corporation commission and obtain a definite ruling there before appealing.

The attorney general's office protested the dismissal, declaring the oil fraternity desired a quick ruling. The case, the attorney general

Football School Will Be Started by Women's Club

A school of football instruction, to last through several sessions, is being planned by the Business and Professional Women's club.

It will probably begin Thursday night, although definite arrangements had not been made early this afternoon.

Planned originally to enable women of the city to learn more about the game in order the better to appreciate it, the school will be open to men and children as well. Former grid stars will be the instructors. The talks will be illustrated. Interest in the project is said to be keen.

Probe Liqueur Ring

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 7. (AP)—Investigation of an alleged liquor ring in Tillman county and adjoining Southwestern Oklahoma counties was expected to occupy the attention of the federal grand jury called to meet here today.

It had been intended to inquire further into affairs of the Universal Oil and Gas company, whose alleged head, S. E. J. Cox, and seven officers are under charges of using the mails to defraud but that matter was deferred by Roy S. Lewis, district attorney, because he and postal authorities had not completed their own investigation. Lewis has intimated he intends to question Richard E. Enright, former police commissioner of New York City, and J. C. (Jack) Walton, former governor of Oklahoma, when the case finally is brought to the grand jury's attention.

Enright, Walton and others were represented to have written literature recommending the purchase of Universal stock. The Universal company was placed under receivership by the federal court last spring on the application of a stockholder. In the Tillman county case, P. V. Ruch, county attorney; C. A. Wages, sheriff, and Bud Wells, former deputy sheriff, are under arrest on liquor conspiracy charges, on information furnished confidentially by Walls, who came to federal authorities several months ago claiming he had seen "double crossed."

Candidates Are Outdone by Circus

RENO, Nev., Oct. 7. (AP)—In competition with a circus in a small town, a political meeting is about as attractive to the proletariat as an epidemic of measles but it is possible to mix the two together and have a big time.

This was demonstrated at Yarrington, Nev., by the Republican candidates now on a vote seeking tour of Nevada, who landed in the town with their speeches all wrapped up just as the two elephants and one camel and the steam calliope were occupying the center of the main street.

The rally was called off. With United States Senator Tasker L. Odie in the lead the candidates headed for the circus and were immediately given star spots in the performance. The senator and Governor F. B. Blazer were honored with enviable positions on top of the elephants' heads and Lieut. Governor Morley Griswold was given the services of the camel to ride in the grand opening number.

Mayor James J. Walker of New York was given a special union card so he might operate a steam shovel at a ground-breaking ceremony.
