EXTRA—Al Smith Comes Out for Coolidge

BOSTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Two years ago Al Smith took Calvin Coolidge's home state away from the Republicans and placed it in the Democratic column for the presidency. Today the former New York governor came back to Boston to help his party while former President Coolidge agreed to break his political silence with a radio speech for the Republican cause on Thursday.

After a street parade Smith will speak tonight in favor of a Coolidge-but a Democratic one, Marcus A. Coolidge of Fitchburg, candidate for senator and for Joseph B. Ely, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

In Northampton Calvin Coolidge is putting finishing touches on a speech which, characteristically, will require just 15 minutes to deliver. In it the former president will urge the election to the senate of the man who managed his 1924 campaign—William M. Butler, and the re-election to the governor's chair of the man who survived the Smith wave in this state in 1928, Gov. Frank G. Allen. It will be Coolidge's only radio speech of the fall.

NO FUNERAL PLANS MADE FOR DUERR

Body Will Arrive in Pampa Tomorrow Afternoon

The body of W. A. Duerr, Pampa resident and general manager of the Cabot company, industries in Texas, will be sent home today from Cisco, where yesterday he was found dead in the hotel where he registered Saturday night.

Arrival of the body will be on the afternoon train tomorrow. Simultaneously Mrs. Duerr will reach Pampa from the East, where she was on a vacation trip when news of her husband's death reached her. She was to take an airplane at Columbus, Ohio, today after reaching there by rail.

Oscar Dial of the Cabot office, who started to Cisco by plane yesterday afternoon to take charge of the body, ran into rain and fog near Ahilena and had to turn back. He and Pilot Bill Morris flew back to Amarillo last night. A. W. Gould of the Ellaville carbon black plant owned by the company drove to Cisco last night to assume responsibility for arrangements there.

Mr. Duerr's body was discovered by a bell boy about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The remainder of what was believed to be poison was lying nearby. Mr. Duerr was en route home from a business trip to San Antonio. Probably the last business transaction by him was to send a telegram to Chas. C. Cook concerning a legal matter of interest to the latter. That was late Friday.

Cabot Company officials said that funeral arrangements would not be made until relatives are consulted. Mr. Duerr's father and mother are living in New York state, where the man was born 31 years ago. Also surviving him are two small children, who are here with the housekeeper.

Mr. Duerr had lived in Pampa about 3 years and had taken a keen interest in public affairs.

PAMPA—CITY OF OIL AND WHEAT—CITY OF GOOD HOMES

PAMPA, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS, TUESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 28, 1930

PRECAUTIONS IN BRAZIL ARE SEVERE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Strong precautionary measures were invoked today by the provisional authorities to preserve calm in the city until a new government can take charge and bring order out of the chaos which has succeeded deposition of President Washington Luis.

More than 100 casualties were counted in rioting which developed yesterday when parts of the fifth, second and sixth battalions of police, who in Brazil serve as soldiers in time of national need, revolted at the character of food offered them and attacked the Rio de Janeiro garrison quarters.

It was two hours before garrison troops could quell the uprising and restore order, the situation being greatly aggravated by hundreds of citizens who, fearing a counter-revolution, broke open stores and obtained arms with which they joined the fray. More than 400 shots were fired.

Col. Bandeira de Mello, commanding the fifth battalion, led the police in their attack on the garrison. He was captured and imprisoned. Others arrested included Col. Caldeira Bastos and Major Augusto Ferreira. As quickly as shots were heard shops shut their doors and iron shutters were run up, but after firing ceased the city resumed its normal appearance.

Dr. Osvaldo Aranha, Liberal leader and acting president of the state of Rio Grande do Sul, arrived here by plane from Porto Alegre and immediately began conference with members of the military junta which deposed President Luis and have assumed charge. It was believed that as a consequence of the conferences composition of a provisional government would be announced today.

There is general acceptance that Getulio Vargas, president of Rio Grande do Sul, Rebel Generalissimo, Liberal party leader, and defeated Liberal candidate in the recent presidential elections, will be declared president, both to fill out Dr. Washington Luis' unexpired term and to begin the regular new term as of Nov. 15.

It is not believed however that he will come here from Punta Grossa, Parana, until troops which originally fought the revolutionary battles have penetrated Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro. There still is marked suspicion in the revolutionary camp, dispatches from the south state, of motives and intentions of the junta members of which waited until the revolution was three weeks old to place themselves in line with it.

It is known that this suspicion was voiced in three quarters, from the south, where Dr. Vargas is supreme, Minas Gerais, one of the original revolutionary states west of Rio de Janeiro, where Dr. Vargas is highly thought of, and in the north, where another man, Captain Juarez Taxora, is considered the logical person to handle the situation.

Captain Juarez yesterday established a provisional government at Bahia, or Sao Salvador, completing the conquest of all of North-eastern Brazil with the small army, augmented by volunteers, with which he left the state of Parahyba.

GAS HOLDS BACK RESCUE WORK TODAY

Relatives of Men in Mute Misery at Shaft

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 28. (AP)—Bodies of four of the 29 men trapped by an explosion in the Wheatley No. 4 mine of the Samples Coal company near here last night, were found on the sixteenth level of the mine at six o'clock this morning. With finding of the bodies, the death toll mounted to five. William Donley, workman at the mouth of the mine, was killed instantly.

The explosion, occurring near the mouth of the mine, which slopes back some 5,000 feet—into the ground, choked the shaft with rocks and timbers for an undetermined distance.

The mine, although on the prison grounds, is worked by civilian labor.

The blast, of unknown cause, was exceedingly violent. Donley, who was working on the surface, was caught by its force and hurled against the tipples, which was damaged. The explosion was heard two miles away.

Rescue workers had no communication with men in the mine, a shaft that went on duty at 7 o'clock last night, about three hours before the explosion occurred, and could only conjecture as to their fate. Ventilating fans were kept in operation, in the hope of keeping the interior of the wrecked mine in livable condition.

A group of McAlester American Legion members did volunteer police duty about the mine. There was little demonstration, relatives and friends of the entombed men, for the most part standing silently about. Occasionally, women could be heard sobbing.

Sailed Small Boat Across Atlantic

Just for a lark, and for a visit to his native land, a college professor, his wife and their 7-year-old daughter crossed the Atlantic alone in a tiny schooner and here are shown being welcomed on their safe arrival at Barcelona, Spain. Prof. Henry Blanco, left, of the University of Iowa, and his wife and daughter, right, sailed last July from Salem, Mass., in their 38-foot craft. Storm tossed, and bronzed by wind and sun, they reached Barcelona in time to share in the celebration which had been prepared for Columbus Day.

RASKOB FOR REFERENDUM

Democratic Chief Takes Bold Stand on Issues

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—Just a week before election, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee last night suggested a national referendum on prohibition be made one of his party's objectives if it obtains power.

John J. Raskob advanced the proposal as one of six points in a campaign address carried by radio all over the country. Taking first place in his program was the five-day week for working men. His other suggestions included determination by the federal trade commission of the legality of proposed business combinations in advance of their formation; abolition of the capital gains and loss tax; appointment of tariff commission members for life to take tariff-making out of politics; and employment of caution by congress to have all its legislative proposals with good economics.

"Is there any dry so stubborn," asked Raskob, "that he would insist on the country being dry if the people by referendum abolished the 18th amendment? Or is there any wet so bigoted that he would refuse to abide by the decision if a referendum showed the country to be dry?"

The Democratic chairman, who also is a director of the association against the prohibition amendment, said it was a "sorry plight indeed" to see ministers and other good citizens "unconsciously working hand in hand with bootleggers and racketeers in an effort to deny the people of the United States an opportunity to vote on this great social experiment after a 10-year trial."

Together with the five-day week proposal, Raskob suggested the celebration of legal holidays on Monday to give three continuous recreation days. The shorter week, he maintained, would result "in sufficient savings to enable industry to pay the same wages for five days as are now paid for five and one-half days' work."

The increased leisure of workers and their families, he said, would increase their expenditures and thus the output of the industries. He suggested as a first step that the Democratic party work for adoption of the five-day week by the government and the states for their own employes. Legislation to declare every Saturday a holiday, to permit all banks to close if they wished, also was suggested.

Raskob took occasion also to deny a Republican charge that he had maintained a Democratic publicity bureau in Washington to "smear Hoover." He termed the accusation a "childish attempt" indicating the "irresponsibility of panic minds."

THIEVING OF CATTLE HERE

Association Operative Is Here to Investigate Reports

Numerous cattle thefts which have been made in this community brought J. E. Russell, special officer of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, to Pampa today.

Several cattlemen have complained lately that there is a gang operating in Gray county which steals the cattle and then butchers them for the market.

Mr. Russell said that there is more cattle stealing now than in the last 10 years. "There are always lots of cow thieves in hard times," Mr. Russell believes. The special officer is a brother of "Uncle" Bud Russell, known throughout Texas as the man who takes prisoners to the penitentiary.

J. E. Russell has gained no little fame during the many years he has been with the Association. He has rounded up scores of cattle thieves from the Rio Grande to the Canadian. He is a picturesque figure with his drooping gray mustache, full crowned gray hat—a cattlemen of the old west.

Mussolini Talks Much Of War

ROME, Oct. 28. (AP)—Premier Mussolini in exercises celebrating the eighth anniversary of the Fascists' march on Rome pledged his legions arms today to lead the nation in arms again if needed.

While 80 airplane maneuvered over Rome the Duce in full uniform of an honorary corporal of Fascist militia, addressed a large throng in the Piazza di Siena, on the Flaminio hill.

Mussolini spoke briefly, directing his talk mainly to wounded black-shirts, among whom were 40 blind. Himself a wounded veteran, the Duce called them "comrades" and added that it was eloquent that they, already proven in conflict, should feel the need of entering the militia to defend the Fascist revolution.

"I am sure," the Duce said, "that if events required it you, who already have given so much in yesterday's war would be ready even tomorrow, to march ahead of all the armed nations."

His hearers shouted "yes."

"Will you do it?"

"Yes!" the throng repeated.

"All Italy welcomes your oath and knows you will be faithful to her in every instant of your lives."

"Italy and the whole world must take note that the Fascist regime every year conquers new consciences of upright and valorous men, capable of renewing the gesture by which they made themselves great in victorious war," the premier said.

MARK DENSON'S WELL FLOWS THIS MORNING—DEEPENING IS BELIEVED TO BE NEED OF TEST

A three-year-old argument was won by Mark Denson this morning when his No. 1 W. E. Cobb, section 184, block 3, blew in at 3 a. m. for an estimated flow of between 750 and 1,000 barrels of oil.

The well is located one and one-half miles northwest of Kingsmill, just over the Carson county line. About four million feet of gas came with the oil.

Mr. Denson has been drilling the well off and on for three years. Five months ago, the well was reported completed with a production of less than 100 barrels. Confident that the well would produce more if drilled deeper, Mr. Denson began increasing the depth. He has encountered an amazing and varied number of difficulties in drilling the well. Mr. Denson's belief differed from geologists' who told him that drilling deeper would not increase the pay.

The producer was drilled to a total depth of 3,088 feet. The exact flow of the well has not yet been determined and is constantly increasing. All available storage on the lease is full. The well is now being cleaned out and will be drilled a few feet deeper.

The well has never had a pipeline connection.

Chief among local stockholders in the well is J. M. Dodson.

The United States manufactured 842,780,160 wooden pencils last year, an average of about seven apiece for every man, woman and child.

A Los Angeles showman filed suit against the Santa Fe railroad for $20,000 because it refused to haul his 60-ton whale to the American Legion convention at San Diego.

Presbyterians Are to Provide Room For School

A delightful church night was held at the Presbyterian church last evening with 75 members and friends present.

Men and women joined in bringing their baskets and a bountiful dinner was served, consisting of sandwiches, vegetables, meats, salads, pies, cakes and ice cream.

In the business session George W. Briggs, the superintendent, told of the growth of the Sunday school in two years from an average of 40 to the present average of 110. Mr. Briggs stated that further growth was hardly advisable unless additional room was made available as eight classes were now meeting in the auditorium of the church.

B. E. Finley gave a brief report of the finances for the first half of the church year and requested that the Presbyterians get behind the budget for the next six months which will include an addition for the Sunday school. He endorsed every item of the budget and said in his opinion it should not be burdensome for the church to raise the entire amount needed.

The gathering was closed with the singing of several of the old and new gospel hymns lead by Mr. Briggs and the choir, the entire assembly heartily joining in.

Rehearsing Decision Is Set For Nov. 3

Whether the Interstate Commerce Commission will grant or deny the plea of the Rock Island for a rehearing in the Pampa-Childers railroad fight will be decided by that body Nov. 3.

This information was received by the Board of City Development today from Senator Morris Sheppard. The Rock Island is trying to keep the Denver line out of Shamrock.

Think Last Of Bandits Captured

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 28. (AP)—Officers of the state bureau of criminal identification believed today they had captured the last of the quartet of bank robbers who on Oct. 7 looted the bank of Salina, Mayes county, of $1,000.

Emmett Norris, said by the officers to be a paroled Arkansas convict, was captured at Broken Bow late yesterday. Norris, who has been residing near Seminole, was brought to the bureau here today, finger printed and photographed, then taken to jail at Pryor, where Shorty Dye, Homer Marion and Claude Thompson, also alleged to have been connected with the robbery, are held.

Clint Miers, bureau operative, said Dye, Marion and Thompson had confessed, implicating Norris. Thompson and Marion were arrested at Locust Grove recently, and Dye at E. Summers, Ark.

Many Bicycles Stolen In City

The epidemic of bicycle thefts which has kept youngsters of the town anxious and worried for the last two weeks broke out again last night when three bicycles belonging to Western Union boys were stolen.

Two were taken from the parking space in front of the Western Union and one was stolen from where it was parked in front of the Rex Theater.

The boys are convinced that there are individuals in town who are stealing the bicycles and sending them to another city where they are sold.

A delegation of boys visited police headquarters yesterday, pleading with the officers to catch the thieves. A dozen bicycles have been reported stolen in the last 10 days.

About Industries For Pampa

The Chamber of Commerce Monday appointed an industrial finance committee whose job it will be to see what industries can be brought to our city.

At the same time the committee was appointed, it was warned that factories needed to be near the raw products, to have ample transportation facilities, cheap fuel and plenty of water.

The committee should consider well before it offers bonuses to companies to locate here. A vacant factory looks bad for a city. We should encourage those industries that we know could thrive indefinitely and would not be short lived.

Judge Duncan was right when he warned the body that industries are of no value unless they can make money. A factory that starts up without prospect of running very long is a detriment to the community. It will bring many new families into the city when it begins, and when it goes bad, they will be left on the city's hands.

The group should study all the possibilities of this field and then form its program and urge those industries that could do well in the community to locate here. With these things in mind, we can keep on building a bigger and better Pampa than we have ever known.

Distinction For Stuart and Daily News

Stuart is the smallest community in the continental United States that supports a daily newspaper.

This is an unusual distinction and speaks very highly for the loyalty of the people of this city and the surrounding trade territory. October 8 marked the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Stuart Daily News, and if it stands out today as a vigorous, growing institution, the credit is entirely due to the faith expressed in it by the residents of Martin County.

For three months we have been compiling information about the small dailies of the United States, to ascertain what right we had to make the assertion that Stuart is the smallest community that has a daily newspaper.

Stuart has a population, according to the 1930 census of 2,004.

Our nearest rival for the distinction of the smallest town with a daily newspaper is Corning, California, where the "Observer" is a daily. Their 1930 population is 1,390 inside the corporate limits of the city, but this figure is misleading because more than 3,000 persons live there and the corporate limits do not take them in.

We are frank to say that Stuart is beaten if we go outside of the 48 States, for the town of Seward, Alaska, has a population of only 826 and the "Seward Daily Gateway" is very proud of its distinction of being published in probably the world's smallest daily town.

Another close rival for Stuart's honors in the United States is the "Daily Siskiyou News," published at Yreka, Calif., which has a population of 2,133.

Pampa, Texas, with its "Pampa News," stood out as a rival until the 1930 census was taken when its population shot up to 10,459, or more than ten times the population 10 years ago.

Corry, Pa., had the honors for a time, with its "Corry Evening Journal," but the 1930 census gives Corry a population of 7,338 and it is out of the running.

Stuart may well be proud of the distinction which it has among daily newspaper towns. This newspaper is a member of The Associated Press and receives wire and mail news service, pictures and features of all sorts from this greatest of news organizations, just as the larger dailies do. The Stuart Daily News is your paper and you, the readers, make it what it is.—Stuart (Fla.) Daily News

The entrance to the swimming pool consists of two gaunt pillars. The story runs that in the original design these were surmounted by a dome. But when it was protested that a domed entrance would be too extensive the architect picked up an eraser and removed the dome.

"But," concludes the newspaper, "the new embassy fills the citizens of Washington with delight. It triumphantly withstood the test of its first reception some weeks ago, and Sir Ronald's fears that the crowd would not be able to circulate easily proved unfounded."

Old Ironsides is to be sent soon from Boston to Chicago for a visit. Just to show the old frigate, perhaps, that she hasn't seen her toughest battles yet.

Maybe that western university which proposes a time clock for co-eds who go out on dates merely wants to insure them all of a good time.

Indication that Boston is on the up and up is seen in the report that a newspaper there, which has run a chess column for 16 years, has abandoned it to devote more space to backgammon.

Think Bonus Paid to Killers Of Joe Aiello

CHICAGO, Oct. 24. (P)—A bonus of $10,000 was paid to the assassins of Joe Aiello, wealthy gang leader slain by machine gunners last Thursday, detectives believed today.

Berganti Rocco Felli and William Balsano, said they had facts to support their theory that the killers were kept on a gang payroll at $100 a week, and received the bonus after the slaying.

Pasquale Prestigiacomo, from whose home Aiello stepped into the fire of machine gun nests, was subjected to a long questioning last night, in the belief he knows more of the slaying than he has thus far revealed. He was surrendered by his attorney yesterday and locked up after last night's questioning for further examination.

Inquiry Into Disaster Begins

LONDON, Oct. 28. (P)—Sir John Smith, British Liberal statesman, today opened a searching government inquiry into loss of the dirigible R-101 with nearly 50 lives three weeks ago on a hill-side at Beauvais, France.

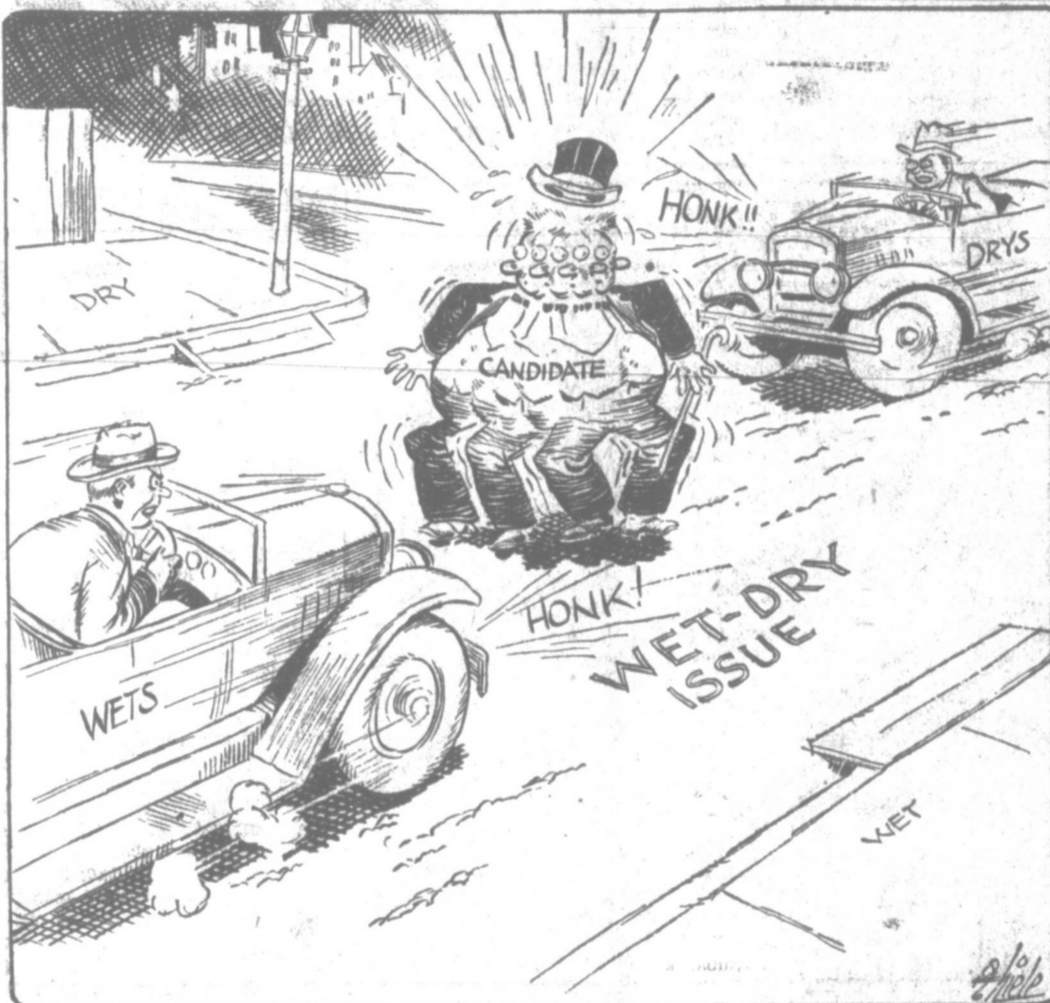

Sir John, bringing the meeting of the court to order in the great hall of the civil engineers' institute, said: "I think it will be fitting if we stand for a moment to express our sense of poignancy of the tragedy we are met to investigate and to show our sympathy with all those to whom the dead were honored and dear."

SPUR HIGH SCHOOL PLACED UNDER INDEFINITE PROBATION

DECISION IS MADE AFTER LONG SESSION

AUSTIN, Oct. 28. (AP)—Charges that officials of Spur high school member of conference B of the Texas interscholastic league, used unethical tactics in obtaining the transfer of an athlete from the Dickens to the Spur school, were sustained here last night by the league executive committee. The committee reviewed the charges in executive session which lasted nearly four hours.

Although the charges were sustained, the committee did not expel the Spur school from the league, but placed it on probation for an indefinite period. Resolutions severely criticizing and reprimanding the action of the Spur officials were adopted.

Three charges submitted by the Spur district committee were sustained.

The first alleged undue pressure was brought to bear on officials of the Dickens school to obtain a transfer certificate of Edgar, a student from the Dickens to the Spur school. The second alleged the transfer certificate of Edgar, submitted to the office of the league in Austin, did not contain the true signature of the principal or superintendent of the Dickens school. The third count charged that Edgar was used in games before his transfer certificate was filed.

Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the league, said the committee voted to place the school on probation rather than resort to expulsion, because Edgar had not been used in any conference games by the Spur school.

Federal Prisoners Begin Terms Here

Two women and two men began serving 30-day sentences in the county jail today, assessed when they pleaded guilty to liquor charges in federal court last week. They are Lorne Mathis, Mrs. Fred Myers, Louis Baker and Whitely Burke. Marvin Henchey is serving one 60-day sentence and one 30-day term. He was also fined $500. White Burke was fined $100 in addition to his jail sentence.

PLEASURE HARBOR IN CALIFORNIA STARTED

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 28. (AP)—Construction of a new $2,000,000 pleasure harbor here will get under way today when the first pile is driven for a 300-foot extension of the municipal pier.

Contracts were let yesterday for extension of the pier and for construction of a 150-foot suspension bridge to extend from the pier to a 1,500-foot concrete breakwater.

The project is planned ultimately to provide anchorage for approximately 200 yachts and pleasure boats. It is to be completed in less than two years, in time for the 1932 Olympic games.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 28. (AP)—Bradley King, motion picture scenarist, and George H. Boyd, Los Angeles constructing company official, today announced they would be married tomorrow night at the home of the bride in Beverly Hills.

Miss King, for many years identified with studios here as a leading scenarist, is the widow of John Griffith Wray, one of Hollywood's pioneer picture directors.

Fox Hunters Now In Session

CRAB ORCHARD, Ky., Oct. 28. (AP)—The second cast of the chase futurity and a horse show comprised the program today for the national fox hunters' association. A light rain fell last night, promising ideal weather for the second day's chase.

Headman (by Ladkin out of Bonnie Stride) and Ruling Chief (by Little Danger out of Susan Moore), tied for first place in the general averages of yesterday's hunt. Headman is owned by G. P. Patton, Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Ruling Chief by the Golden Valley Kennels, Forest City, N. C., of which Tracy Moore is master.

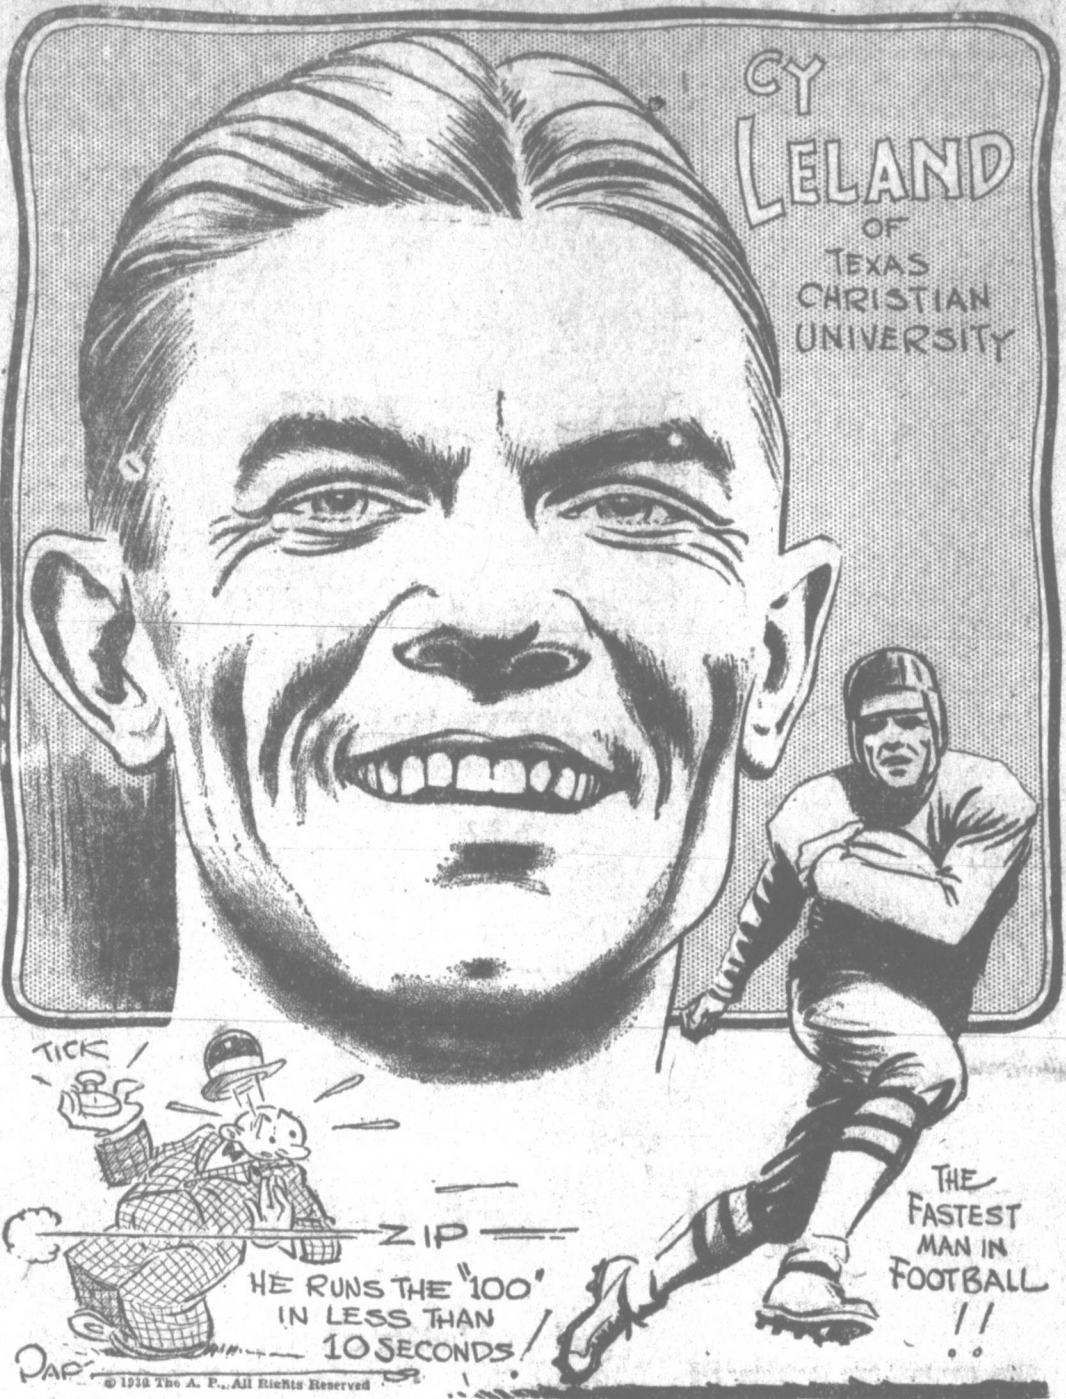

The weather yesterday was too dry for good hunting. The judges disqualified 17 of the 76 dogs that started, leaving a field of 61 for today's cast. The horse show was to be staged this afternoon after the hunt.

The third and final cast of the chase futurity, worth $1,000 and trophies, will take place tomorrow, with a steeplechase as an added feature of the program. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the All-age stake will be run. No purse is offered in the All-age stake, but the owners of the winners will receive trophies.

VIVIANO RECALLS MEMORIES OFF CORNELL'S GREAT PFANN

BART VIVIANO

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—One of the main reasons why Ithacans are hailing another "Big Red" team as representative of Cornell university on the gridiron is a stocky young man named Bart J. Viviano.

Viviano's home is in Plainfield, N. J., he "prepped" at Andover Academy and he is the sophomore sensation of the fleetest, best looking backfield Cornell has had under the regime of Head Coach Gilmore Dobie in seven years, or since the Kaw-Pfann era.

In many respects Viviano in action is reminiscent of George R. Pfann of Marion, Ohio, one of the best all-around quarterbacks modern football produced and one of the hardest to stop.

Viviano has Pfann's spirit of persistence in getting every available inch and foot forward when in possession of the pigskin.

Pfann, with the strength of a young bull and the durable qualities of a hard rubber ball, frequently rode along with two or three tacklers clinging to him. Viviano did this several times against Princeton in Cornell's first major victory of the year.

The young Cornell star also is a fine defensive back, but he has yet to develop the ability as a kicker or passer that helped make Pfann a superlative player in every department.

The estimated cost of the American occupation of Haiti up to the present time is $21,000,000.

Wind Holds Back Boy's Long Flight

DETROIT, Oct. 28. (AP)—Unfavorable weather today delayed resumption of 18-year-old Stanley Boynton's attempt to set a new junior transcontinental flying record.

A heavy fog prevented Boynton taking off for Chicago as he had planned, and indications were that he would not be able to start before afternoon.

Boynton flew here yesterday from Rochester, N. Y. His flying time from Rockland, Me., the starting point, to Detroit was 6 hours and 45 minutes. The record he is seeking to lower is 27 hours and 40 minutes.

PAMPA COLLEGE OF MUSIC
CALL MAY FOREMAN CARR, Dean, 438-J

AUSTIN, Oct. 28. (AP)—Reversing its previous decision, in which athletes were barred from participation in interscholastic athletics after five years from the time they graduated from grade school, the Texas Interscholastic league yesterday held the rule inoperative for the remainder of the 1930-31 school year.

The action removed the cloud that has hung over several high school athletes and will permit use of hitherto ineligible players during the remainder of the season.

In reversing itself, the committee said it had decided the change in the eligibility rule was material and that schools should have been given a year's notice of the revision.

The constitution of the league provides "material" changes may be made by the committee without notice but that notice of one year must be given if the change is material.

The ruling was protested at the meeting by representatives from Marshall, Abilene and Galveston although numerous other schools had protested against the action of the committee as unfair.

The old rule, which permitted athletes to attend 10 semesters of school and be eligible for eight, regardless of the time they finished the eighth grade, will govern the remainder of the scholastic year.

The protested ruling gave athletes the opportunity to participate in interscholastic games only for a period of 10 semesters following completion of grade school.

No statement was made by the committee concerning its attitude toward adoption of the rule for the 1931-32 year.

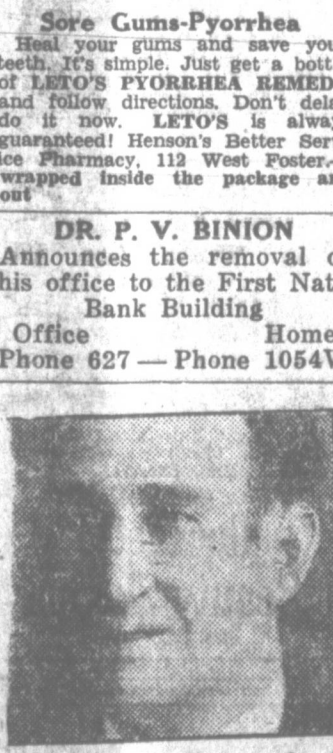

At the time the rule was placed into effect, league officials did not believe it would affect more than a few athletes. Several of the schools have been observing the ruling, Roy B. Anderson, athletic director of the league, said, and these schools now will be free to use athletes formerly held ineligible.

What an Appetite!

"Ever since I started taking Herbine I have been able to eat all the good food I always had to deny myself without suffering from indigestion, sour stomach and sick headaches. That's why I would not be without it in the house," says J. L. Carpenter, 126 Lowell Ave., in San Antonio.

Herbine is a vegetable liquid which does nothing more than help your stomach and bowels take care of the food you eat. That eliminates the gas which causes constipation, biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, and sour stomach. Then your blood gets plenty of vitamins, to build red corpuscles and give you strength.

DISPUTE ON TOUCHDOWN IS WAXING WARM

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—Football students had the problem when is a touchdown not a touchdown? before them today as well as the growing speculation that all is not as well as it might be in the football relations of Yale and Army.

Officials at Yale announced yesterday after a review of motion picture of Saturday's Army-Yale game that Tom Kilday, Cadet half-back, had scored an illegal touchdown in putting Army in a position to gain a 7-7 tie. They claim that the pictures, viewed in private by Head Coach Mal Stevens, line coach Adam Walsh, Tad Jones, Dean Clarence Mendell and Harold F. Woodcock, general manager of the Yale Athletic association, showed that Kilday was knocked over the goal line from behind by Stecker, a halfback mate, after he had been stopped short of the goal in a charge from the Yale one-yard line.

At the same time, Yale officials said they expected to do nothing about the situation and would accept the official decision giving Army the touchdown. It was pointed out, however, that rule 10, section one, says that "no player of the team in possession of the ball may help the runner except by interfering for him and there shall be no inter-locked interference." A supplementary note adds that "pushing the runner or lifting runner from the ground by a team mate is an infraction of the rule," the penalty is loss of 15 yards.

While Army officially maintained silence, refusing quotations, supporters of the Cadets expressed wonder at the existence of motion pictures of the game and took little pains to hide the fact that there was feeling of the Army side concerning the sportsmanship of the Eli Rooters.

Yale mentions that the pictures also show the play on which Albie Booth, quarterback Ace, was smothered by Cadets and bruised so that he was forced to retire from the game on the first play in which he participated. The Yale version is that the pictures show Booth had been stopped after intercepting a long Army pass and that the referee had signalled the play at an end when Army players, picking up speed suddenly, leaped into the mass on the ground, among that mass, Booth.

Army spokesmen comment bitterly on the scenes that followed. They insist Booth was downed hard but legally and the Cadet cheer, cheering his gallantry, was boomed by the Eli section. Later, when an Army man was injured, Yale cheered again and this time the Cadets think the Eli had something else in mind.

While the game was hard fought and at times bitter, it is felt among the wisest minds that any ill-feeling that might have cropped out will die away with the excitement of the day.

Fans Glad Waters to Have Chance Against Real Scientific Grappler

Sir Thomas Will Build New Boat

LONDON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton, entraining today for Southampton to take the Leviathan for America, stated that he had determined to have another Shamrock ready in two years to race for the America's cup. It will be one, he said, that "will make the Americans sit up."

"Am I going to contest for the America's Cup next year?" said Sir Thomas. "I don't think so, unless I have a boat like the Americans have," he laughed, "but by the following year I'll have a Shamrock ready that will make the Americans sit up."

There appeared to be no regret today among the wrestling fans who read that Teddy Waters would remain for another match and that Jack Rose would not.

It is expected that Waters, pitted against a man who can match hold for hold and not crawl thru the ropes at every opportunity, will put up a real battle. The former Childress man studied under the old master Farmer Burns and is a master of every wrestling hold except a few freak ones.

His opponent will be Eddie Challenger of Mississippi, who will be seen in action here for the first time at the Pla-Mor Thursday.

The Laketon school is to be benefited by a carnival to be sponsored by the Laketon P-T-A Friday evening. Ghosts, witches, and everything that goes to make up a spooky Hallow'e'en function will be provided and sandwiches and cocoa will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Plans for the gathering were made at a meeting Friday evening with the largest attendance ever held by the P-T-A.

After the opening song, "America," a prayer was led by Rev. J. Vermillion and the following program was rendered by the pupils: "Dolly Has the Flu," Lora Beth Beebe and Elmer McLaughlin; "I Live for Those Who Love Me," Joan Alford; "If I Had a Sweetheart," Joe McLaughlin, a little visitor.

Bishop Cannon Now Very Ill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, is undergoing treatment at a hospital here for an acute attack of neuritis and inflammatory arthritis.

The churchman's condition is complicated also by other nervous disorders brought on in considerable measure, physicians believe, by the pressure of difficulties which have surrounded him in recent months.

The attack of arthritis is a recurrence of an ailment from which he has suffered in the past. It was to ease the pain this caused him that the bishop carried a crutch during the stormy sessions of the senate lobby committee last winter.

Within the last few weeks legal steps have been taken against one of his sons, R. M. Cannon of California, in connection with financial difficulties. This, the bishop has charged, was one of a series of attempts to persecute him and his family.

PROTEST MADE ON AIR RATES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Earl B. Wadsworth, superintendent of air mails, said today that the new contracts going into effect November 1 basing rates on space mileage instead of poundage would give a decreased return to the National and Boeing Air Transport companies and increase the rate pay of Colonial Western Airways, Western Air Express and Continental Air Line.

The Boeing company, covering the Chicago-San Francisco route, will be the biggest loser—about $75,000 a month—under the new rates act calling for the new rate basis, Wadsworth said. Its rate pay, he added, would drop from $1.53 to $1.23 per mile, reducing its monthly mail pay income from about $344,000 to $296,755.

The National Air Transport, operating from New York to Chicago, he said, would lose about $6,000 a month, its contracts dropping from approximately $122,000 to $116,000 a month.

MENU for the FAMILY

By SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer.

The housewife in search of appetizing new vegetable dishes to tempt the family palate will find a wealth of possibilities in kale, kohlrabi, turnips, cabbage and onions.

These good cool weather vegetables possess certain dietary qualities which are most desirable and should not be overlooked. Kale very acceptably takes the place of spinach. Turnips and parsnips are valuable because they supply bulk, always a necessity in the diet, and some carbohydrates. These vegetables all supply some mineral matter and vitamins.

When cooking these vegetables, one should remember that their structure is very different from that of the succulent summer vegetables. Boiling water or intense oven heat are necessary to soften the woody fibers of turnips, parsnips and the like. They also must be quickly cooked in a generous amount of water. These precautions prevent them from becoming soggy and unappetizing both in taste and appearance. Add salt to root and tuber vegetables when they are about half cooked. These vegetables require more salt than the delicate summer vegetables. Kohlrabi is delicious served in a mock Hollandaise sauce. Turnips in piquant sauce are so very good that one would mistrust their humble origin. Kale scalloped with bacon is nourishing and appetizing. Baked beets are superior to ordinary boiled beets. Carrot timbales served with white sauce make an excellent main dish for luncheon or supper.

Following are the recipes for two of these unusual vegetable dishes:

TURNIPS IN PIQUANT SAUCE Three cups sliced turnips, 1 lemon, 2 hard cooked eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 1-2 tablespoons flour, 1-1-2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, few grains sugar.

Cook turnips in boiling water to which lemon juice has been added. Save 1 teaspoon lemon juice for sauce. Cook uncovered, and when tender drain. Mash folks of eggs and blend with butter and flour. Add milk and cook and stir until thick and smooth. Add turnip cubes, seasoning and chopped whites of eggs. Heat for a few minutes. When ready to serve, stir in one teaspoon lemon juice.

KALE SCALLOPED WITH BACON Two cups cooked and chopped kale, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 4 slices breakfast bacon, tablespoons grated cheese, 2 tablespoons fine bread crumbs. Cut bacon in dice and cook crisp. Drain and keep hot. Combine kale with butter, egg yolks, pepper, paprika and nutmeg. Half in a buttered baking cover with minced onion and bacon. Cover with remaining kale. Sprinkle top with grated cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in a hot oven done.

DAILY MENU BREAKFAST—Grapes, cream, scrambled eggs, toast, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON—Oyster, toasted crackers, cold slaw, wheat bread, jumbles, milk. DINNER—Pot roast of mashed potatoes, parsnip cakes, head lettuce with Thousand Island dressing, green mate pie, milk, coffee.

Cold weather is motor-punishing weather... Now, more than ever, you need the extra protection of this DE-WAXED, EASY-STARTING OIL

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED PARAFFIN BASE MOTOR OIL. In cold weather motors usually are hard to start, but Conoco Germ-Processed oil actually makes starting easier! There are two good reasons for this. First: Germ-Processed oil is thoroughly dewaxed and does not congeal at low temperatures. Second: Germ-Processed oil does not drain away during periods of motor idleness. The initial 'turning over' process is made easier by the protective lubricating film which is on duty before you touch the starter. The usual 40% to 60% of motor wear occurring during the starting period is greatly reduced. Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil gives you safe starting—and quick starting, even at zero temperatures. Change now to this new oil. Use it all winter for motor safety and economy. You always will find Germ-Processed Motor Oil at stations bearing the Conoco Red Triangle.

BEGIN HER TODAY

CELIA ROGERS, just out of high school, suddenly learns that her father she has believed dead living and a wealthy New York lawyer. The revelation is made when JOHN MITCHELL, the father, calls at the humble apartment in Baltimore where Celia lives with her mother, MARGARET ROGERS. Margaret tells the girl for the first time that Celia is the daughter of a first marriage. Margaret and John Mitchell were divorced. The second husband, BOB ROGERS, has been dead for years.

Mrs. Rogers and Celia have no home but the mother's earnings as a seamstress, though Celia has secured a position as stenographer.

BARNEY SHIELDS, a young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell proposes to take Celia to New York and offers to shower her with luxuries. She refuses, but Mrs. Rogers, knowing she herself is need with serious illness and loss of work, persuades Celia to accept.

Celia and Shields spend one last evening together and she promises to wait for the day they can be married. The next afternoon Celia and her father depart for New York, and though Shields has promised to see them off, he does not appear.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

Celia sat primly in her parlor seat and watched the passing landscape. Mitchell, beside her, read the newspaper he was reading. She stole a quick glance at him, then turned back to her window.

Green fields. Rows and rows of fence posts. Here and there a farm house. Cattle grazing pastures. She saw these things through blurred eyes.

"Why had Barney Shields not come to the station to say good bye? As long as her eyes were on the flying countryside she could rack her brain for answers and nurse her wounded feelings.

"Would you like something to read?" John Mitchell asked.

"No, thank you."

"Hm!" She was to become familiar with that monosyllable reply, but it held no meaning then.

Mitchell folded his own newspaper and laid it beside him. He took a watch from his waistcoat, snapped back the lid and looked at it.

"In three hours," he said, "we'll be in New York. Hm!"

Celia felt that she should say something, but her lips would not move. Two large red circles were burning in her cheeks.

"You've never seen New York?" he continued.

"No. I've no idea what its like. Tall buildings, I suppose, and noise and everyone hurrying. That's the way I've pictured it. Is it like that?" Mitchell nodded gravely.

"Yes—at least part of it. You'll find it fairly quiet in my mother's home."

Celia could think of no suitable reply and remained quiet. Her heart was beating rapidly.

"It's an old section of the city," Mitchell went on. "Gramercy Park. Lived there when I was a boy, but there've been many changes. Not many of the old houses left."

He seemed to forget the girl, losing himself in memories. Celia studied her father's face.

In a way Mitchell was good looking. There was nothing at all about the man to remind her of herself. Celia thought he had the coldest, most impersonal expression she had ever seen.

"Mother doesn't hear very well," Celia's misgivings increased. She speak rather loud to make her understood.

"Will I see her this evening?"

"Oh, yes! Certainly. She's been spending the summer in town. Generally goes up in New England, but this year—at least for a time—she's decided to stay in the city."

Celia's misgivings increased. She had not considered the prospect of acquiring a grandmother. Grandmothers, as she pictured them, should be old ladies dressed in lavender with little caps of lace on their heads and spectacles on their noses. She thought of such a grandmother sitting in a rocking chair and knitting.

"Of course she'll see that you meet young people," Mitchell said, as though he had read the girl's thoughts.

There was a pause and the man returned to his newspaper. Celia balanced timidly about the car. She hoped no one would guess that it was her first trip in a parlor car. She eyed the other travelers curiously.

A girl about her own age sat a few seats distant. She had black hair, combed away from her face, and very red lips. She wore a black dress. A young man sat beside the girl and the two were in gales of laughter. "He isn't as good looking as Barney," Celia thought to herself. The thought brought a stab of pain. She turned back to her window and tried to remember all the things Barney had said the night before.

The sun was directly in the west now. A white-clad colored man came through the car, announcing that dinner was served. A man and two women arose and followed him. Mitchell asked Celia if she would like to dine. She said she was not hungry.

The little watch on the girl's wrist told her that it was 6 o'clock. Her mother would be getting her evening meal. What was she cooking? It made Celia sad to think of her mother alone at the table where the two of them had always sat. She wondered how Mrs. Rogers would spend the evening.

A little later Mitchell led the way to the dining car. Celia was impressed by the array of silver and linen and the heavy trays the waiters bore so easily. She could not conceal her wonder at this traveling restaurant.

Her father ordered. He was insistent in directing that the steak should not be over-done and that the cheese must be well ripened.

Everywhere Mitchell seemed to receive the same prompt deference Celia noted. It made him more awe-inspiring than before.

She had little to say as the meal was served. Her father ate heartily. After one or two attempts at conversation he devoted himself to the food.

Shadows lengthened on the countryside as the train sped by. When they had finished eating and were back in the parlor car dusk had fallen. There was nothing to be seen outside the windows now. Celia selected a magazine and tried to entertain herself.

She was surprised when Mitchell touched her arm.

"Almost there," he said. "Are you ready?"

"You mean we're in New York?"

"No, no! Have to cross the river yet. This is Jersey City. We change to the bus here."

Some of the women in the car were putting on coats and hats. Celia took the tiny vanity case from her purse, patted her nose with powder and pulled on her gloves.

The conductor's shout rang through the car.

"All out!"

The girl scrambled to her feet, followed closely behind her father in the press toward the door of her car, then across the pavement to the long line of waiting motor coaches.

"This our bus?"

"Yes, sir. Twenty-third street!" the uniformed attendant answered. Mitchell helped Celia into the coach.

"Short ride now," he said. "Be home in half an hour!"

She watched with wide eyes as the coach was driven on the ferry boat. Suddenly before her loomed the horizon of New York.

"Over there!" her father nodded. "That's the city."

Celia leaned forward and studied the panorama. Towers, spires and squat lower outlines darkly visible against the gray sky. Flashes of gold glistening from myriads of windows. The dark, wide expanses of water between. Brightly lit river craft drifting by, signaling one another by moaning whistles.

"New York!" Celia breathed the words softly.

The ferry was moving now.

"Like to get outside and look around?" Mitchell asked.

She said she would. Others in the Red Leader Seized in Riot

For the first time, a Communist demonstration was carried through the doors of New York's City Hall. Mayor Walker, presiding over a meeting of the Board of Estimate, was denounced by a Communist as "a grafting Tammany politician and a crook" and the Red delegate was bounced unceremoniously into the plaza, where rioting already had been in progress. There scores were injured by flying clubs and fists, and sixteen were arrested. The above photo shows the arrest of two women Communists and one of their leaders, J. Louis Engdahl, Communist candidate for Lieutenant Governor of New York State.

coach were leaving to find places for themselves against the boat's rail. The wind whipped against the girl's cheeks and unconsciously she braced herself. Mitchell named some of the more impressive buildings as they passed.

Celia barely hears his voice. She was lost in the majesty of the metropolis. Its hugeness was challenging, mysterious, stirring.

Later when they left the motor coach for a taxicab and went whirling through crowded streets this spirit of adventure departed. New York close at hand seemed to look like any other city.

She was surprised when the cab halted.

"Here we are," said Mitchell. Celia stepped to the pavement and looked up at the old-fashioned house. It was too dark to see the building clearly, but it was impressive in spite of taller dwellings on either side.

Slowly she climbed the steps after her father. The front door opened, letting out a blinding flood of electricity.

"All right, Edward. Take these bags, will you?"

Mitchell was speaking to the servant who had opened the door. He dismissed the taxi driver and followed Celia into the hallway.

"Mrs. Mitchell is in the drawing room, sir," the gray-haired Edward said, pausing with the traveling cases in his arms.

"We'll go right in," Mitchell nodded toward Celia.

He led the way into a vast, gleaming room. The girl on the threshold caught a swift vision of crystal lights, mirrored mantelpiece, ornate furniture and maroon hangings.

She stood quite still.

"Well, mother, we're here!" Celia put out her hand.

A tall woman dressed in black silk rose from a chair across the room. She had white hair, combed back from her forehead and arranged in a twist on top of her head. She was a large woman, stiffly erect and with an air of tremendous dignity. She did not smile, but her gaze shifted immediately from the man to Celia.

"So this is the child!"

The elderly woman's voice was sharp, high-pitched. "Come nearer," she went on, and there was no doubt that she addressed Celia.

Hesitantly the girl moved forward.

"Yes, this is Celia," John Mitchell said. "Celia—your grandmother." Celia put out her hand.

"How do you do?" she said in a voice that trembled.

For a full second she felt Mrs. Thomas Worthington Mitchell's scrutiny. Then the proffered hand was accepted.

"How do you do?" Mrs. Mitchell said, in the same sharp voice. "I hope you'll like your new home. Don't see that you look much like the Mitchells."

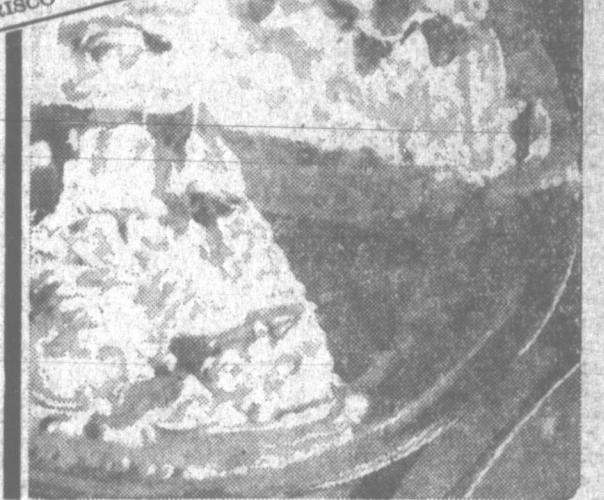

The butler's appearance in the hall doorway interrupted her words.

"Excuse me, ma'am. There's someone on the telephone asking for Mr. Mitchell. They said it's important."

Cooking School Note

In the cooking school conducted under the auspices of The News-Post, Miss Grace Bull stressed modern methods of cooking. Usually, then, she uses and recommends CRISCO the modern shortening.

He rode 10 miles and crossed a river to get Lemon Pie like this

I CALL this "Matty's Lemon Pie" because a man from Missouri told me it was as good as that made by an old colored cook named Matty—and he once rode 10 miles on horseback and rowed a mile across the Missouri River just to eat her lemon pie.

"Matty's Pie" is just sweet enough—with an overtone of fresh, piquant fruit, crowned with a pert meringue, browned to a golden glow and served in a Crisco pastry shell, as crisp on the bottom as it is around the edge—as only Crisco pastry can be.

MATTY'S LEMON PIE

1 lemon, juice and grated rind	1 cup granulated sugar
1 orange, juice and pulp	1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks, beaten light	2 tablespoons Crisco
2 tablespoons cornstarch	1 1/4 cups water

Beat egg yolks light and stir in mixed dry ingredients. Add liquids, lemon rind and Crisco. Cook in double boiler until thick. Cool. Pour into baked shell. Cover with meringue (2 egg whites beaten stiff blended with 4 tablespoons granulated sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon juice). Brown in moderate oven (350° F.) for 15 minutes.

FLAKIER PIE-CRUST

(and a short cut)

If you haven't made pie-crust with Crisco, you're yet to discover how really tender and flaky pie-crust can be! Sweet-tasting, too, because Crisco tastes sweet and pure all by itself—and comes to you fresh in an air-tight can.

To save time in pie-baking you can keep this pastry dough, already mixed, in the ice-box and bake a crust just when you need it. It will stay sweet, because Crisco itself stays sweet. And the thorough chilling will make the crust even flakier than usual.

2 cups flour	3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup Crisco	6 to 8 tablespoons cold water

Sift flour and salt together. Cut Crisco in well with two knives until consistency of small peas. Add only enough water to hold mixture together. Roll 1/8 inch thick on floured board.

For baked shell, use half of recipe and cover inverted pie plate with pastry. Leave enough dough to fold back to make a firm edge. Prick well with fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes.

For two-crust pie, bake 10 minutes at 450° F., then reduce heat to moderate (350° F.); bake until filling is done.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL. Recipes tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

Taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor will tell you why things made with Crisco taste so much better.

FRESH Tea

A QUALITY YOU WOULD INSIST UPON IF YOU KNEW ALL THE FACTS

Fact No. 16. Tea, just like coffee, should be sealed in vacuum to preserve its flavor. The flavor of each resides in certain volatile oils that evaporate—in coffee very quickly, in tea slowly but surely. Unfortunately, it is many months before tea can reach you—frequently a year. You have never tasted the fragrant flavor of truly fresh tea (unless it was Schilling Tea).

Facts No. 17, 18. Both a tea leaf and a coffee bean must be toasted to drive off the moisture, which helps to rob it of flavor. Good coffee is packed in vacuum immediately after roasting. Tea is toasted at the tea gardens, then sealed in large chests lined with lead. When it arrives in America it is repacked in ordinary tins or even card board boxes. And that's where the damage is done! But this is how Schilling does it. As the tea is poured from the lead-lined chests, it is toasted again, and while still hot (just like your coffee) it is sealed in vacuum. Schilling Tea comes to you as fresh and fragrant as it left the Orient—the only tea that is completely protected from the tea garden to you.

Try a tin! If you do not declare it the most fragrant tea that ever entered your home, phone your grocer. He has been instructed to return your money without question. You keep the tea.

The house of commons and the lords met in combined session at noon to listen to his speech from the throne, which he read in a firm, resonant voice.

The lord's adjournment was until 4:15 p. m. but the commons was to meet again at 3 p. m. when debate on an address in reply to the king's speech was due to begin.

Two features of the speech from the throne were accepted as highly controversial, projected electoral reform, and indications of an attempt to nullify the law which made the general strike of 1926 illegal and would tend to prevent other strikes of the nature.

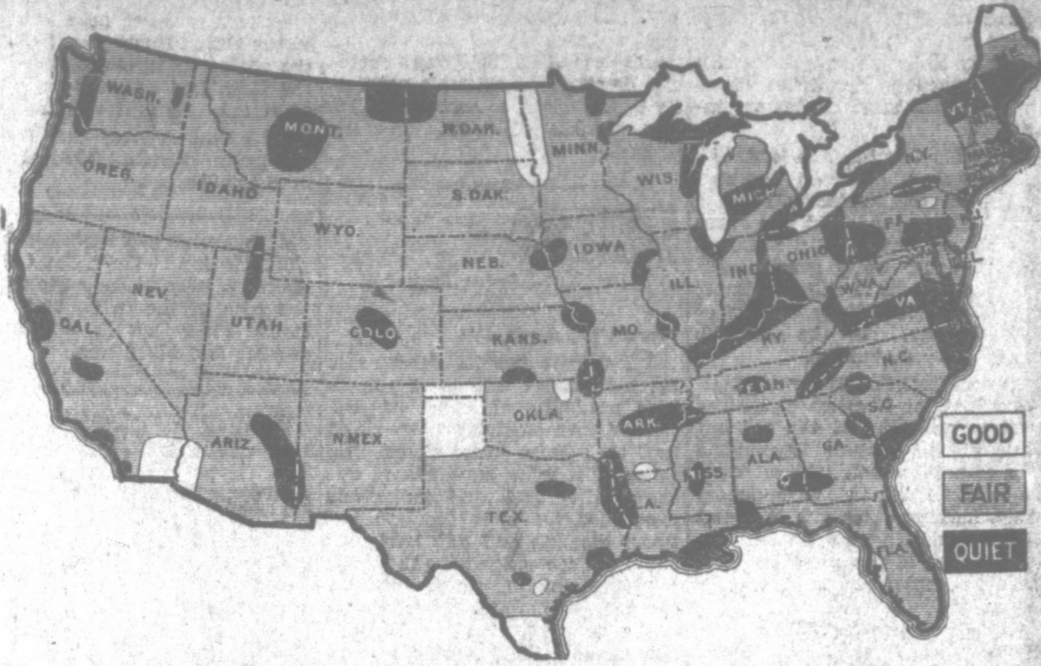

Olivia Jackson, negro woman, charged with assault with intent to murder, pleaded guilty to the charge and was assessed a $25 fine by the judge for aggravated assault this morning.

Honeymoon Yacht Conquering Storm

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 23. (AP)—The Bulgarian Royal Yacht Czar Ferdinand, with the royal newlyweds, Czar Boris and his Queen, Giovanna, aboard, appeared at noon today to have won a battle with a violent gale which made their crossing of the Adriatic from Brinnost difficult and dangerous.

After hours during which, because of atmospheric interferences, the yacht was out of touch with the world, she radioed that she was off Patras at the entrance to the Gulf of Corinth, and expected pass through the Corinth Canal shortly after 3 p. m.

It was regarded as certain here that Boris and Giovanna, who were married Saturday at Assisi, Italy, and left Brindisi Sunday for Varna, Bulgarian Black sea port, have had a very rough voyage thus far.

DROUGHT BRINGS NO LOSSES FOR CHAMPION BOY FARMER

CONWAY, Ark., Oct. 20. (AP)—The drought didn't beat Carlton Patton, star Smith-Hughes student farmer of the United States.

On the other hand, young Patton, who less than a year ago was acclaimed the nation's best agricultural student farmer, has come through the dry summer with flying colors.

Carlton is a firm believer in registered dairy cattle and in a balanced system of agriculture.

As a result he has provided feed for his cattle during the drought and, unlike many farmers, he will not be forced to depend on commercial feed to keep them through winter months.

Patton will gather a fair cotton crop this fall, maintain his pasture land and in addition will have steady revenue from his dairy and poultry products.

Communists Have Strong Grip On Chinese Province

HANKOW, Oct. 28. (AP)—Communists were reported today to have captured Nanchowing, Northern Hunan province, where they killed 100 Chinese.

HONKONG, Oct. 28. (AP)—Fear that Kiangsi province Communists who have occupied the city of Kian since Oct. 5, have invaded the southern part of the province was felt here today when efforts to communicate with Kanchow by wireless failed.

The local government station's calls to Kanchow went unanswered, leading to the belief the Reds had interfered with the Kanchow station, which is within the walls of the city.

Kanchow is a city of 250,000 population, poorly defended, with only 1,000 troops forming the garrison. The city is four days' march from Kian. At the latter city recently Red leaders indicated to Bishop Magnani and Father de Jenlis, Catholic missionaries, that they planned to invade Southern Kiangsi.

There are 13 foreign missionaries at Kanchow. Six are American Catholics, five British and two German Protestants.

A message from Suichow, Northern Kwangtung province railroad center, today stated the American priests, Fathers John McLaughlin of Brooklyn and Edward Young of Jamestown, N. Y., who were stationed at Nananfu, Kiangsi, left that city Oct. 9, crossed the Kwangtung border and were heading for Canton.

Kiangsi province was fast becoming the center of China's Communist movement. Virtually the entire province was overrun with peasant class Reds while Communists constituted the provincial government, functioning in almost every district.

The principal Red stronghold was reported situated northeast of Kanchow on a plateau 50 miles square and approached only by a narrow pass between high precipices. The entrance was said to be well guarded.

Modern guns render the area virtually impregnable. The plateau is reported rich in cultivated lands, indicating the Reds could hold out many months if besieged.

At Tungako, 100 miles eastward, is the alleged Communist military academy, where Red leaders are trained in modern warfare.

The "Big Three" of the Communist movement now dominating China are all in Kiangsi province at present. They are said to be Chu Teh, a German educated, cultured military expert; Mao Chen-Tung, a French-speaking propagandist, and Peng Teh-Huai, who is known as "the blood-thirstiest man in China" as the result of his numerous, barbarous wholesale slayings.

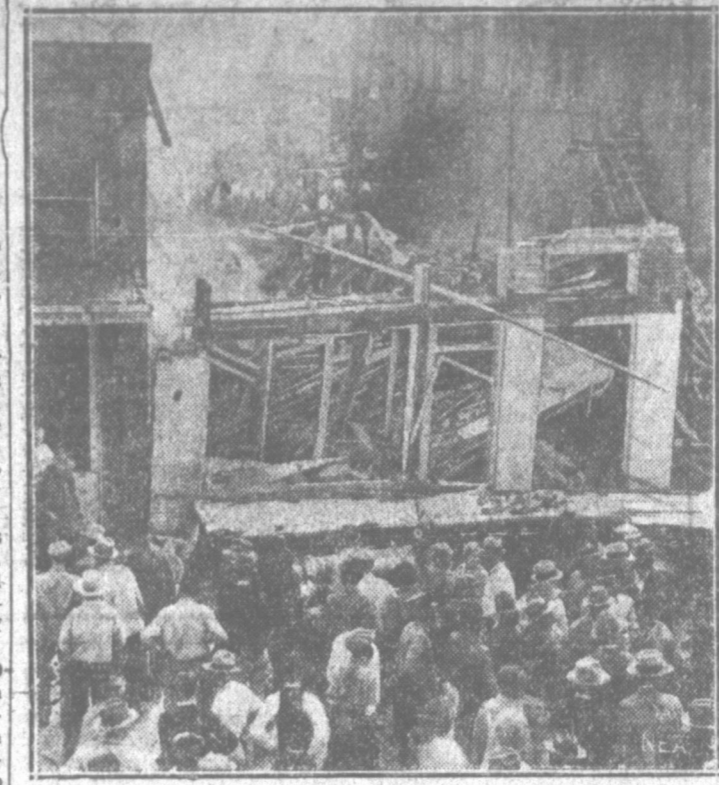

Ensign Is Killed On U. S. S. Idaho

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Oct. 28. (AP)—An accident during navy day maneuvers here resulted in the death of Ensign Glenn Desch, on active duty on the U. S. S. Idaho and in probably fatal injuries to Ensign E. W. Anderson.

The plane, catapulted from the battleship's deck, veered sharply, naval officers said, and plunged into the ocean. Desch's body was recovered after a search of an hour. Anderson was found in the wrecked plane.

Mrs. Edna May Desch, Long Beach, Calif., mother of the dead officer, and Mrs. Anderson, wife of his companion, were aboard and witnessed the fatal accident.

Lion Couldn't Hear Himself Roar Above Modern City's Raucous Din

The lion's roar the loudest animal-made sound ancient man knew isn't as loud as many modern auto horns, scientists find while a modern city's ordinary rumble is almost as loud.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor.) NEW YORK (AP)—A few scientific tests by the New York City noise abatement commission show that modern man has set up a below worst than primitive man's most terrific sound—the lion's roar.

The lion's roar measures, in cold scientific terms, 87 decibels, 87 times the sound that can barely be heard. A Bengal tiger rates 75.

But about 40 per cent of auto horns rate at 101 decibels, one point even above riveting with an even 100.

Subway blasting, steamboat whistles and elevated trains all outrun the lion. Motor trucks hold him exactly even.

Suspended Man Faces Charges In Bank Case

CONROE, Oct. 28. (AP)—In addition to ouster proceedings, A. W. Morris, suspended county judge, today faced three felony charges, filed by state rangers in connection with an investigation into records of the First State bank of Conroe.

The charges accused Morris with giving false testimony to a state bank examiner with reference to the security of a note executed by H. A. Budde, the security on several notes aggregating $6,500 executed by the Wells Kennedy company and with concealing an $8,000 liability due W. A. Trice.

Having waived examining trial, the 56-year-old jurist, whose ouster suit was continued yesterday until Monday, was released under $500 bond in each case.

He refused to discuss the charges other than to say his talking would be "done during my campaign for county judge on an independent ticket."

J. M. Griffith, cashier of the failed Farmers' and Merchants' State bank, whose records were discovered recently to have been burned, also faced a felony charge, which asserted he had raised a $320.51 item in the bank's books to read $2,321.51. Previously he had been charged with theft of the bank's records and with embezzlement. He was at liberty on bond.

Oklahoma Has Decline in Crude

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 28. (AP)—Oklahoma's daily average crude oil production dropped to the lowest point since October, 1928, as the country's daily average output declined 5,723 barrels in the week ended Oct. 25 to reach 2,362,838 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal estimates.

Oklahoma's production was placed at 536,845 barrels, a decline of 7,965 from the preceding week's figures. Present allowable production for the state is 550,000 barrels.

Total output for the Midcontinent area, including both light and heavy gravity oils, was 1,259,637 barrels, a decline of 5,153. West Texas production, at 275,147, was down 1,218 barrels, while the Texas Panhandle registered an increase of 5,680 with a production of 85,816 barrels. Kansas production was 115,520 barrels, a gain of 2,905.

Rocky Mountain production declined sharply, the output being 99,511, a drop of 8,501 barrels. California production, including both light and heavy oils, was up 4,280 barrels at 593,250.

Daughter of Former President Dies Early Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Relatives here announced today receipt of word that Mrs. James Robert McKee, daughter of President Benjamin Harrison, died early today at her home, Berkeley lodge in Greenwich, Conn.

Mrs. McKee was Miss Mary Scott Harrison, only daughter of the former president and his first wife, Carolina Scott Harrison. She had been ill since the middle of February when she underwent an operation in New York.

Mrs. McKee is survived by her husband; a brother, Major Russell B. Harrison of Indianapolis; a daughter, Mrs. Mary McKee Reisinger of Greenwich, and a son, Benjamin Harrison McKee, of Paris. A sister-in-law, Mrs. Russell B. Harrison, is now in Washington.

For many years she was a prominent figure in charity and club circles in New York and Indianapolis. Before her marriage she was known as one of the belles in Washington society.

With her children she stayed at the White House for the greater part of her father's regime as president, and was mistress of the mansion during her mother's illness and after her death.

Coupe Taken. A Ford coupe belonging to W. E. Power of the Bell Refining company was stolen last night.

and slows the fingers of girl typists and interferes seriously with development of babies and children.

There is a striking explanation for all this harm. Turn again to the scientific figures, and instead of decibel ratings read the noise in terms of intensity, as measured by electrical instruments.

The intensity leaps from 10 to 100 million while the loudness in decibels is going from 10 to 100.

Take the intensity for the home which rates 30 decibels. The house sound intensity is 1000.

But the lion's roar is 170,000 times the intensity of the home. No wonder primitive man may have quailed.

No wonder stout-hearted moderns are harmed physically by the babel of voices their traffic has created, voices beside which the lion's roar is as intensely in flux-like, voices that are just ten million times as intense as the sounds in a home.

PUBLIC FORUM

To the Editor:

In regard to Mr. Duncan's article which appeared in Monday evening's paper wherein he criticized the "you birds" of Gray county, I take this opportunity to answer him:

As County Commissioner and a citizen of this county, the same as Mr. Duncan, with all his wealth and his boastful statements in helping to defeat the most important thing that has come up for the good of the surrounding community and for Gray county, I take exception to the slurs which he has hurled at Tom Kirby and our efficient Chamber of Commerce body.

Mr. Duncan would lead you to believe that he has enough power to tell the State Highway Commission to locate the highways where he suggests them. In order to get state aid the state and federal government locate such roads themselves.

Citizens and voters of Gray county: Mr. Duncan, have been before the state highway commission with his expenses paid by your tax money, and what has he accomplished—nothing—except to hear the commission tell him they were running that department and they would make the locations on the most practical routing.

As a county commissioner I have endeavored in every way to serve all of the people in the most practical way so far as the expenditure of the taxpayers' money is concerned and to have such remarks thrown up is enough to make any intelligent voter resentful.

Now readers, Pampa and Gray county have been good to Mr. Duncan in every respect. Mr. Duncan has not labored for his wealth. The growing industries, the development of Gray county have made Mr. Duncan immensely rich. Mr. Duncan states that he would have a bond issue that would suit him and all of the old timers here. I want you to pause for a moment and ask yourselves if the old timers have made Pampa what it is today?

Your farmers have the best roads of any in the state of Texas. Mr. Duncan states that he would favor a road bond to pave from here to Wheeler county line over the present routing of 33-A, running east out of Pampa. I wonder if Mr. Duncan thinks the state highway commission is going to give state aid on 33-A, and until then they can go "where it never snows" with their federal highway. I say NO! If they do, then I do not think the highway commission the intelligent body of men I have always given them credit of being.

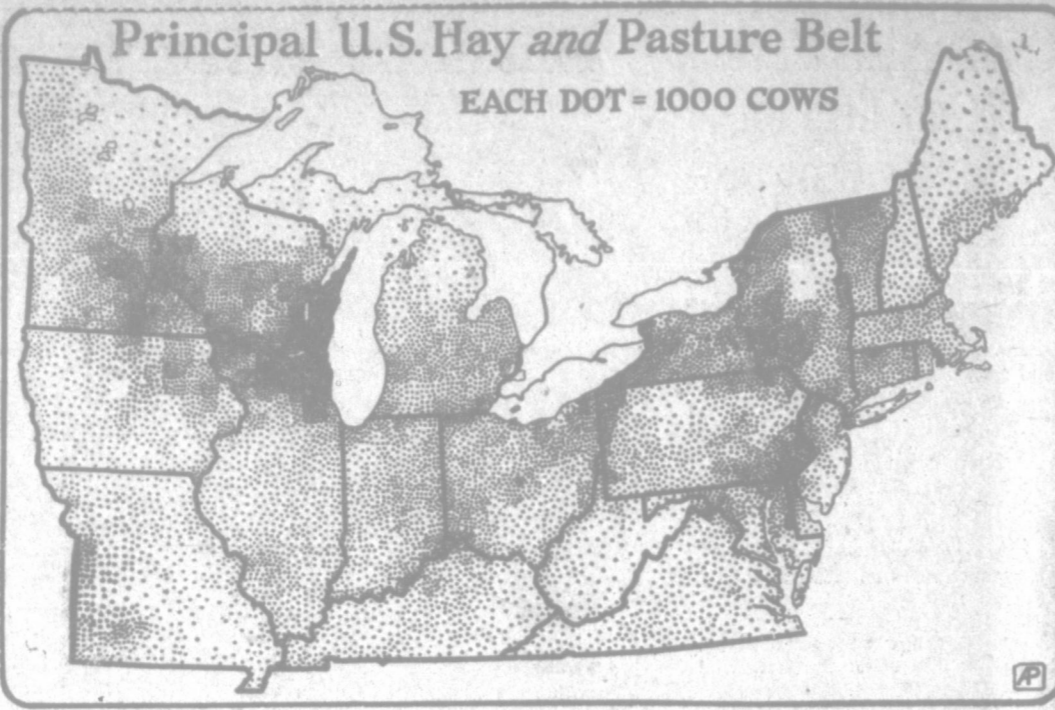

As county commissioner, as I see this road proposition, Gray county needs every state and Federal road in the county paved. If they are not important enough to pave, then the state of Texas should take them off their system and tell the county to maintain such roads and when this is done, then the present revenue that you receive will have to be spent on these roads. When this happens, and I predict it will happen, where will the money come from to maintain your lateral roads and re-build bridges and construct new bridges.

Now reads, think for a moment of the signers of that handbill and see if you are not already paying a special tax for paving which runs past the homes of the leaders and signers of this petition. In other words they have what paving they require and "to Hell with the rest of us," and by the virtue of this paving they are not paying any more taxes on this farm land than you are with a dirt road. Now, when you are trying for your paving they will stop you by defeating every bond issue which does not exactly meet with their approval.

The Chamber of Commerce endeavored in every way to get all interested parties in Gray county, to attend meetings and to help formulate plans for a paving system in this county, and as I recall it not one of the signers of that petition were ever present to voice their sentiments for or against this proposition, or either of the propositions which have been voted down this year.

Dr. Duncan states that there are enough old timers and level headed business men left in Gray county to defeat any issue that the progressive people put up which serves the people instead of these particular individuals.

One of the most absurd statements in Mr. Duncan's article was the assertion that this was strictly a property owners election and that he hoped none of the voters would rush to the polls and vote as the bait has been thrown heretofore.

Three in Race

It's a three-cornered race for the United States senate in Minnesota this year, and here are the rival candidates. Top, Einar Hoidale, Democrat; center, Thomas D. Schall, blind Republican nominee for re-election; bottom, E. Lundeen, Farmer-Labor party.

i. e., that any man or woman who owned real or personal property had a right to vote in a bond election. The law is very plain in this matter. As you will recall, Mr. Duncan did not make any effort to disqualify voters when Gray county was trying to get the courthouse. At that time he told the voters that you were qualified to vote if they were paying taxes on a registered dog or a watch and he urged them all to vote in that election.

Now, just because there are people in this county who are not fortunate enough to own property and who are not immensely wealthy as Mr. Duncan is, he tells them they should not vote. This in itself is enough to make every voter and citizen resent his assertions.

Now, all of you who believe in Pampa and the Chamber of Commerce and its various committees, should strenuously object to the slams which were thrown at the Chamber of Commerce and the county commissioners in yesterday evening's paper by Mr. Duncan.

Grains Are Higher
CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Reports of crop damage by rust in Argentine wheat led to early higher prices here today for all grain. An unexpected upturn in Liverpool wheat quotations accompanied the damage reports, and helped give impetus to wheat buying in Chicago.

Opening unchanged to 1 cent higher, Chicago wheat future deliveries showed subsequent upturns all around. Corn started at 1-8 to 3-4 cent advance, and afterward held near to the initial range.

troops of Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro also is causing some nervousness, particularly in Sao Paulo where the deposed government spread reports that revolutionary troops had been promised an opportunity to sack and loot the city as inducement to join the rebellion. It is felt that some clashes are inevitable.

Dr. Julio Prestes, the erstwhile president-elect, has been granted asylum in the residence of the British consul general at Sao Paulo and has gone there. The residence is kept under heavy guard. Dr. Washington Luis is still a prisoner in the quarters of the officers of Fort Copoaba, on the Atlantic shore of Rio de Janeiro.

Advices from Rio de Janeiro indicated that the situation created by rival antagonisms of the military junta which ousted Dr. Washington Luis as president, Dr. Vargas, leader of the southern revolutionary army, insurgent elements in Minas Gerais, and Captain Juarez Tavora, leader of the northern revolutionary army, had been entirely cleared up.

Captain Juarez received a telegram from the chief of general staff, stating "General Pragos (head of the military junta) has invited Dr. Vargas to assume charge of the government, according to hostilities should be suspended immediately.

Previously the president of Rio Grande do Sul (presumably Dr. Osvaldo Aranha, president protem) had telegraphed the northern leader to continue his march beyond Bahia, where he is now located, if he felt it necessary. Captain Juarez is understood here to have indicated to friends his willingness to accept whatever solution of the situation that may be worked out at Rio de Janeiro choosing, despite a considerable popularity in the north, to subordinate his own political aspirations for the present.

ing state records. A few more hopeful watchers at the mine today said there was a bare possibility of some of the trapped men surviving if they had kept their ledge doors closed. The force of a mine explosion is upwards, they said, and indications were that the blast occurred between the 12th and 10th levels. No one would conjecture as to the cause of the explosion, which crushed Donnelly against wooded struts at the mine head, ripped sheet iron housings off the top of the shaft and shot flames 200 feet into the air, casting a reflection on the gray walls of the state penitentiary half a mile away.

Existence of the damp added to fears for the trapped men. It is quickly fatal, although not explosive. Three hundred or more persons were gathered about the shaft mouth and the engine room this morning. T. W. Wheatley, McAlister, mine manager, and part owner, collapsed in a private office near the scene of the blast. Hours later he sat in the engine room, staring fixedly at the floor, and speaking only when addressed. He is a veteran miner.

All except four of the trapped miners are married. Most of them have families.

JAMES A. FARLEY

Says
"Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the Toasting of LUCKY STRIKE ranks with the many other great contributions to the health and comfort of millions."

Here is the complete statement as authorized by
JAMES A. FARLEY
President, General Builders Supply Corp.; Chairman, New York State Athletic Commission; Chairman, New York State Democratic Committee

"I am certain that without the use of modern, scientific methods the skyscrapers for which our country is so justly proud would never have been possible. I am equally convinced that your modern use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the Toasting of your LUCKY STRIKE Tobaccos ranks with the many other great contributions to the health and comfort of millions and that it is responsible for the skyscraping sales of your famous brand."

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company has invited Mr. James A. Farley to review the reports of the distinguished men who have witnessed LUCKY STRIKE'S famous Toasting Process. The statement of Mr. Farley appears on this page.
