Memphis Is Leading Contender for Next Women's Club Convention

BIG MEETING NEARING END HERE TODAY

Singing Contest for Choruses Being Held

REPORTS SHOW MUCH ACTIVITY

Program Yesterday Is Called One of Best

Memphis, making a spirited campaign for the next year's convention of the seventh district of federated clubs, appeared very likely of success early this afternoon.

Selection of a 1931 meeting place, the awarding of prizes and loving cups for the current club year, and the singing contest among the choral clubs of the Panhandle were the principal events scheduled for the final session this afternoon of the ninth annual convention of the Seventh district of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

During the preceding two days of the convention, business sessions, reports of the departments, county organizations, and individual clubs, addresses by distinguished speakers, and programs of unusual interest occupied the attention of 250 visiting women and the large group of local club workers attending the sessions, with attractive social courtesies filling almost every leisure hour.

Beginning with the pre-convention board meeting early Wednesday afternoon, when 35 officers and departmental and divisional chairmen met with the president, Mrs. J. T. Whitmore, for brief consultation and reports, the convention has been one of inspiration and instructive value, wherein chairmen of the 75 distinct lines of activity and the delegates of clubs, forums, and county federations have exchanged helpful suggestions and practicable plans.

Departments which have reported are the American home department, the department of applied education, the department of public welfare, and various special committees, including that on World war veterans and rehabilitation. Mrs. T. V. Reeves of Canyon has led in brief summary discussions which gave point and additional significance to these reports and those of the club delegates. The department of fine arts was to report this afternoon.

Of foremost interest in yesterday's program were the addresses of Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women of West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon; Senator C. C.

Todd Case Goes to Jury Today

The suit of F. P. Todd against the city of Pampa went to the jury at noon today. Arguments which followed four days of testimony were delivered by the attorneys in the case this morning. It was the first trial in Gray county in the 114th district court before Judge Clifford Braly.

Mr. Todd is suing the city for damages which he alleged were sustained when his daughter, Mickey Todd, was killed in an automobile wreck here. He alleged that the machine was wrecked when it struck a ditch in the street from which a culvert had been removed.

The city was represented by Cook, Smith and Teed, and Mr. Todd by W. M. Lewright. This is the third time the case has been tried. In the first trial the plaintiff was given a $5,000 judgment and the case was reversed by the Court of Civil Appeals. In the second trial, a judgment of $3,500 was returned but the court granted a new trial.

Jurors in the case are Howard Blake, Ira Vanaradall, O. L. Beebe, Tom Breeding, Ira Spearman, E. S. Stapp, Arnold Steger, C. H. Mesdor, J. M. Minard, O. H. Holt, J. J. Simmons and Floyd Parker.

American tourists spent around $300,000,000 in Canada last year.

Club President Pleads for an Awakened Public Sentiment to Combat Lawlessness— Declares Citizens Not "Too Busy" to Help

Dean of Girls in High Schools Called Essential

"Upon the woman of tomorrow depends our hope of a stabilized citizenry of the future," Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women of West Texas State Teachers college, told an audience of approximately 450 club women, when she addressed the Seventh district of Federated Women's clubs this morning on "The Place of a Dean of Girls in a High School."

Commenting upon the multitude of the problems connected with girls in high schools and colleges, and the necessity for a guiding, stabilizing force beyond that which busy teachers are able to offer, Mrs. Green added: "You cannot put a girl or a young woman into the jazy atmosphere that characterizes modern high schools and colleges for a period of from four to eight years, and expect her to emerge a home loving, book loving, cultured person, of fine and genuine manners."

She reiterated that it was in the formative years that the influence of a sympathetic, tactful, wise, and admirable friend could have the greatest effect, and could be even of greater value than the college years.

Two imperative needs for a high school dean of girls were seen by the speaker. The first was for a capable factor to counteract the effects of mass education in crushing the individuality and the creative powers of the student, and to assist the girl in finding and developing her own individual powers.

The second was for an adult to wisely guide the energies and moral trends of the group of girls slightly below normal in intelligence and group somewhat above the average, who represented problems of almost equal magnitude, Mrs. Green declared.

In describing the type of woman fitted for the office of a high school dean, Mrs. Green suggested she be a young woman, not more than 35; that she be a woman of tact; irrefragable character, though not a prude; a woman who respected the conventionalities and was ready to comply with the best social usage in the community in which she lived, in setting the example for her girls; a woman whose health did not subject her to frayed nerves; above all a woman of broad education and deep understanding. Lastly she mentioned the sense of humor, which, she said, was more than ever the saving grace when found in a dean of women.

She suggested that the most feasible means of securing a satisfactory dean of women in the high school of the average city was to select that teacher to whom the girls naturally go with their problems and their confidences, who is best fitted according to other requirements, and send her to a recognized school for training in dean's work. She described the lines of education offered in modern colleges to prepare the teacher for "deaning." She urged that once the teacher had been prepared for her work, she be relieved of at least half of her teaching work, in order that she might have the necessary time and energy for her more important task.

Mrs. Whitmore Says Happy Marriage Prevails

"The cure for lawlessness is an awakened public sentiment," was the message brought by Mrs. J. T. Whitmore, Snyder, president of the Seventh district Federation of Women's clubs, to the large audience which last night heard her deliver her convention address and sound the theme of the ninth annual meeting, at the First Methodist church.

"That the majority of the people are honest and right, down in their hearts; that they believe in their country and love it, I have no doubt," she said. "Our greatest trouble," she continued, "is that we are tremendously busy—too busy to study and consider conditions—and our ignorance of unhappy conditions explains their existence."

Striking a note that was touched many times during the convention—in conferences, reports, and addresses—Mrs. Whitmore told the officers and members of her great district that they must take the home as the base of their campaign for better schools, cities, and state.

"If we would have a better citizenry, we must have better homes," she declared. The tendency prevalent in society to dwell upon the failures among marriages, rather than the successful examples, and upon the disadvantages of home life rather than the beauties and advantages.

"We need a greater recognition of successful marriages and successful homes, and a more earnest striving toward both. To convince youth and guide it toward happiness, we must live our belief in these sacred institutions, set the precept and example," she said.

Mrs. Whitmore advocated a careful study of all problems of public life, the interchange of ideas, and determined pressing toward the mark, once the right had been seen through awakened public sentiment on any question, to the end that all difficulties of international affairs, law enforcement and observance, marriage and divorce, and others would be forever solved.

"It is for us to become the watchman on the wall. A big task, it is, but not too great if we turn our feet toward the rainbow of hope."

J. W. Hale, brother of the district president, and secretary of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, spoke on "Home and Education." Greetings bespoken by Mrs. Tom E. Rose, local convention chairman; a violin solo by Roy Tinsley, and an organ duo by Mrs. F. L. Elliott and Mrs. T. W. Brabham completed the pleasing program.

OBSERVANCE OF LAWS IS SMALL'S TOPIC

Would Solve Most of Problems, He Asserts

SENATOR SAYS LITTLE OF RACE

Declares Home Life Fails to Impress Young

Not wishing to mix personal politics with a program on which he had been placed before he announced for governor, Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington yesterday afternoon confined his remarks to his subject, "Observance of Law."

"Have you ever thought," he asked delegates to the seventh district convention of federated clubs, "what a wonderful change would be brought about if the people observed the laws for one year? It would solve most of our most vexing problems of state. It would reduce the tremendous cost of crime detection and prosecution. It would release funds to solve the problem of education and the tax dilemma would pass out of the picture. The prison problem would cease to be an issue."

While deploring the fact that citizens are governed by statute from the cradle to the grave, and that each legislature adds a volume of new laws, he said that observance of law was highly essential. He pointed that every state had a prison problem and that the situation with respect to law was getting worse instead of better. Prison populations are increasing proportionately faster than other populations. Five thousand men, most of them in the prime of youth, are in Texas penal institutions.

Law enforcement is a factor—a vital one—in the crime situation, but it is not the root of evil, the senator said. Lack of observance by so-called respectable people he declared to weaken the legal structure. Many citizens, he pointed out, break some laws consistently and do not demand enforcement of laws not directly affecting them, taking a passive attitude that condones law enforcement and at the same time encourages violations.

The fundamental trouble, however, it was shown, was that home life no longer contributes to good citizenship as it once did. Parents have little time in which to build moral fiber in their children. They are "out" somewhere almost every night, or else the children are, and the young contract habits of extravagance above their means, and wander into crime when they find they cannot satisfy their desires from normal activities.

"More old-fashioned living would go far toward solving this problem," the senator asserted, while the club women applauded.

He urged the women to stand for and teach the law in the home. He commended the subject to the lecturer, the school teacher, and the minister.

In concluding, Senator Small leveled an attack at officers who do not observe the laws themselves. Enforcement should not be entrusted to anyone who does not believe in the laws implicitly, the speaker said. He pointed out the necessity of having unimpeachable officers and prosecutors in the enforcement of the prohibition laws. Women's hopes for enforcement will remain a wish unless the right kind of office holders are elected, he said, adding that a group of women on the trail of a crooked official can unseat him more rapidly than many other agencies.

Senator Small told The News that he announced for governor when it appeared to him that a West Texas man had some chance of being elected governor. He said he did not do so until every other West Texas man had given assurance of having no desire to make the race.

The senator arrived yesterday noon from Dallas and immediately went into conference with friends and advisers. He will in the next week open headquarters in the large

HALE COUNTY MAN TO BECOME AGRICULTURAL AGENT OF GRAY COUNTY, BEGINNING ON MAY 1

A county agricultural agent for Gray county will go on duty May 1, it was said today by Commissioner M. M. Newman, who received a letter from John R. Edmonds, district agent, College Station.

The man originally chosen, who lived in Iowa, declined the position and made another choice necessary. Mr. Edmond's letter follows: "I have at last secured the services of a man to go on duty as county agent of Gray county, May 1. He is Mr. Ralph R. Thomas, who is connected with the Hale County Dairy association as field man. He is a graduate of A. & M. college in the class of 1922, and has had wide experience in dealing with farmers. He is a married man and a gentleman of high type."

"I think we are indeed fortunate in getting Mr. Thomas, and I have no doubt as to his success as county agent of Gray county. I wish you would be of what assistance you can to him in securing home comforts for him and his family in Pampa."

"I will be to see you some time in May I think, and hope you will like Mr. Thomas because the college is thoroughly satisfied with him as county agent for Gray county."

Lindberg Takes Off for Miami

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh took off from Bolling field for Miami, Fla., today at 9:45 a. m. He said he expected to make the flight in one hop, arriving in Miami late today.

Officials at the flying field said conditions were good for a fast flight. The distance on an air line is 923 miles. Lindbergh's monoplane has a cruising speed of 160 miles per hour.

Lindbergh will leave Miami tomorrow, arriving in Havana tomorrow night with the first batch of mail to be taken southward on the inauguration of the new seven-day air mail schedule of the Pan-American Airways, Inc., between New York and Monevideo, Uruguay.

From Havana he will fly to Cristobal, Panama, and remain there to fly back with the mail at an undetermined date.

BIG HAUL IS MADE BY PAIR EARLY TODAY

Loot of $30,000 Is Taken; Escape Puzzling

MISSING CAR IS ONLY CLUE

Roads Guarded After Alarm Given to Officers

TONKAWA, Okla., April 25. (AP)—The First National bank of Tonkawa was robbed of approximately $30,000 and bonds of undetermined value shortly after it opened today by two men who escaped without being seen by any one outside the bank.

Four employees of the bank and five customers were made to lie down on the floor while the men looted the cash drawers. Ralph Gummerson, assistant cashier, was made to open the safe. The robbers escaped after locking the employees and customers in the vault.

The robbery was accomplished with little demonstration, and the only clue to the vehicle used for the escape was the observation by a passerby of a large blue car of the coupe type parked by the bank and missing after the robbery.

One of the robbers was attired in overalls and wore a large hat of the cowboy type. He was tall and unshaven. The other man was dressed in a blue serge suit and cap. He was described as being short and heavy set.

The imprisoned persons called the police over a telephone in the vault. Officers in surrounding towns were notified, and all roads leading out of Tonkawa were placed under surveillance.

School District Economy Found Necessary Here

Despite the fact that the Pampa Independent school district has a budget of $208,000 for next term, it must expedite carefully to prevent a deficit, Supt. R. B. Fisher told members of the Lions club yesterday.

He pointed out that while the district is about 12 by 15 miles in size, much of it lies outside the oil development. Moreover, oil assessments are one year behind development, and collection of taxes 2 years behind. The district's valuations total $16,500,000. Last year the scholastic enrollment was 2,034, while this term amounted to 2,850. Population always presents a hardship when it goes ahead of valuations and tax collections in oil territories.

Next term there will be about one hundred teachers and fifteen school buses. Addition of 33 class rooms will be no more than take care of the increase in enrollment. Six-year-old pupils will be admitted by state law for the first time. It will be possible, he believed, to remove the shafts from the central campus.

Per capita cost for educating pupils last year was about $75, but this year was lowered to $70 through economies and overloading of some teachers. Mr. Fisher said he presented these facts to offset misconceptions that the school district was rich and able to pay big salaries to teachers. The salary scale was raised an average of $5 per month for next year.

Visitors at the club's luncheon were C. A. Clark of Panhandle, L. S. Moore of Wichita Falls, J. O. Davis of Bufala, Okla., and Paul Shepherd.

The luncheon was served at the American Legion hall in order to release the Methodist church basement, where meetings are regularly held, to the club convention. The delicious meal was served by members of the Eight and Forty organization.

There are more than a quarter of a million stamp collectors in the United States.

Pampa Church Leads District

The district conference of the Clarendon Methodist district came to a close Wednesday afternoon. Those attending from the Methodist church of Pampa were W. W. Harrah, Lee Harrah, Chris Baer, O. W. Ferguson, W. R. Campbell and the Rev. Tom W. Brabham.

According to reports made by the different pastors of the district, the Methodist church of Pampa has led in every department of church work during the year. W. R. Campbell was elected as delegate to the annual conference, which meets at Sweetwater, next November.

Paving on LeFors Road Is Opened

One and one-half miles of new paving on the LeFors road was opened for traffic this morning.

The remaining one and one-half miles will be opened Monday, providing shoulders now being laid are completed by that time. This work will be finished by Monday if rainy weather doesn't cause suspension of work, according to A. H. Doucette, county surveyor. When opened, the paved stretch on the LeFors road will measure 3.3 miles.

RAIN IS GENERAL BUT LIGHT IN PLAINS AREAS

Although light, rainfall which began last night was welcomed by wheat farmers in this territory. Investigation today showed that moisture was general.

Today remained cloudy, but chance of getting additional rain seemed remote.

By The Associated Press

Breaking a drought of several weeks in some sections, rains were reported to have fallen over a large area of West Texas last night, with prospects for more moisture today and tonight.

The rains, which extended into New Mexico, were said to have definitely broken a drought from Vanhook to Baird. At Hobbs, N. M., a severe electrical storm was reported.

The first rain in several months fell at Sweetwater, the fall measuring three-fourths of an inch with good indications for more rain. It will be of great benefit to ranchers who have been forced to feed their livestock because of lack of grass in pastures.

Bus service west of San Angelo was delayed. Streams were reported rising. The fall at San Angelo was 1.08 inches. The fall was general over Terry county, ranging from one-half inch to more than an inch.

Other places reporting rain included: Osoma, 1 inch; Norton 1 inch; Big Lake 2 inches; Christoval 1-2 inches; Eldorado 2 1-2 inches; Robert Lee 3-4 inch; Maryneal 3-4 inch; Barnhart 1-2 inch; Blackwell 1-2 inch; Bronie 1-4 inch; Lubbock 57 inch; McCarney; Sonora; Ballinger Eden; Forsan; Merizon; Sterling City; Wall, and Big Spring.

Murder Backstairs

by ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "THE EVENING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON" ETC. ©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DORIS MATTHEWS, lady's maid, is murdered in a summerhouse on the Berkeley estate, by blow from heavy perfume flask given MRS. GEORGE BERKELEY by SEYMOUR CROSBY, engaged to CLORINDA BERKELEY, whose scarf binds the rock-weighted body when it is taken from the lake by DETECTIVE DUNDEE.

Evidence involves Mrs. Berkeley, Clorinda, DICK BERKELEY; EUGENE ARNOLD, Doris's fiance; GIGI BERKELEY, 15, who unaccountably sprinkled everyone Friday evening with perfume from murder flask, later placed in Mrs. Berkeley's room by WICKETT, butler.

An unfinished letter of Doris to her sister in London almost causes the arrest of Seymour Crosby, and links the maid's murder with the sudden death of PHYLLIS CROSBY 15 months before in London. Dundee cables Scotland Yard, then grills Crosby who denies charges of having bribed or killed the maid, and having caused his wife's death, officially pronounced suicide.

The discovery that HARVEY JOHNSON, valet, has robbed Mrs. Berkeley and Crosby convinces STRAWN the murder is solved. Johnson is sought and Dundee left in charge at the Berkeley home.

MRS. LAMBERT, social secretary to Mrs. Berkeley, requests an interview with Dundee, begs him not to accept any solution which reflects on Doris's splendid character; then is closely questioned on the death of Phyllis Crosby, close friend of Mrs. Lambert and Doris's former mistress. Dundee asks: "Did Doris ever confide to you her suspicions regarding the real cause for Phyllis's suicide?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIV

Mrs. Lambert's eyes flew wide, to stare at the detective incredulously. "Doris? Suspicious?" she repeated. "I am sure Doris knew you mean. I am sure Doris knew no more about Phyllis's suicide than I did, or than Seymour Crosby knew."

"Probably no more, but as much, Mrs. Lambert!" Dundee retorted significantly. "Don't mind him, Tish!" Gigi cried, stroking the pale cheek of her friend consolingly. Then to Dundee she blazed: "Can you blame her if she fits a little to protect Phyllis Crosby's memory from scandal?"

"I have told nothing but the truth, Gigi," Mrs. Lambert said wearily. "You were at the inquest, of course." Dundee persisted. "You heard her father's testimony. He was on his way to see his daughter and to take her home when she died, I believe."

"Yes," Mrs. Lambert admitted with sudden spirit. "But I believed then and I still believe that Clorinda and I were talking when she died. As you probably know, Clorinda and Mr. Crosby became engaged on the last day of the voyage."

Dundee was silent again for a long minute. Then he asked abruptly: "Mrs. Lambert, was it from you that Doris expected to borrow sufficient money to set up a beauty shop of her own?"

"From me?" Mrs. Lambert was obviously surprised. "That is absurd. Doris knew quite well that I have nothing now except my salary as Mrs. Berkeley's secretary."

"Do you know whom she had in mind as her benefactor?" Dundee pressed. "Why, no! I haven't the least idea."

"Mrs. Lambert, did Doris tell you last night that Mrs. Berkeley had slapped her face?"

"The effect of the question was blazed with anger, and her lips were shaking as she repeated: 'Slapped Doris?' 'Oh!' Then, regarding a measure of control she answered: 'No, Doris did not tell me that.'"

"Don't mind so, Tish!" Gigi pleaded, stroking her friend's flushed cheek with tender brown fingers. "Able has a rotten temper, you know. She flies off the handle and goes banging around, but she really doesn't mean any harm. I got baffled myself last night, remember, and I'm not harboring any bad feelings now against my peppy parent."

"I remember," Mrs. Lambert agreed quietly, but her arms tightened about the small body. "Forgive what must seem like an unwarranted prying," Mrs. Lambert said to you, "All right, I promise. Will you tell me, please, what a promise you extracted from Mrs. Berkeley?"

"Really, Mr. Dundee, I must refuse to answer that question," Mrs. Lambert retorted icily. "It was a purely personal matter, having nothing at all to do with—the tragedy you are investigating."

Dundee shrugged slightly, then smiled at her disarmingly, as he took a rather crumpled package of cigars and a patent lighter from his coat pocket. He was snapping unsuccessfully at the flint when Gigi scrambled out of Mrs. Lambert's lap and snatched the lighter from his hands.

"Let it needs filling!" she told him. "Let me do it! See this funny little fountain!" and she ran around the big desk to where an ornamental keg with gleaming brass bands held a prominent position among writing accessories. "It's a filling station for starting lighters, but we used 'em wood alcohol instead of gas. Watch!" and she jerked the tiny reservoir directly upon the miniature spigot whose tap she turned. "Now see if it will light."

Dundee accepted the refilled lighter with thanks, then remarked admiringly: "That's neat! I never saw one before."

"Say that to Dad and he'll assure you a present of one," Gigi assured him. "He patented the thing himself and one of his factories turns them out by the thousands. He's sinfully proud of it, too. Designs a new type of 'body' every week or so. The house is full of them. Able has a gorgeous one for his sitting room—a modernistic turn, the darlinest thing. But Dad had a besetting worry about them. He's afraid some thirsty and incautious member of his precious family will take a swig of wood alcohol and fill an untimely grave. Therefore he delivers periodic lectures on the horrible effects—"

The ringing of the house telephone interrupted her torrent of words. Snatching up the receiver she cooed "Hello!" and winked at Dundee. "Able—on the rampage!" she whispered after a moment. Aloud: "Yes, darling! She's still being 'quizzed' . . . Oh, me? Why, Able! How can you? I'm being my most charming self—your dear, little wide-eyed daughter . . . of course I'm not giving away family secrets! . . . All right, darling. Keep your shirt on. I think they're almost through."

"She wants you to hurry, because she needs Tish," she explained unnecessarily. "Till hurry," Dundee grinned at her. "Now, Mrs. Lambert, will you please tell me when you last saw Doris Matthews?"

"At exactly what time, you mean?" Mrs. Lambert asked. "Let me think . . . It was about 11 when I came upstairs. I went to my room first and was reading a long letter which I had been too busy to open when it came on the late afternoon post, when I suddenly remembered that I had neglected to enter an important engagement for this morning on Mrs. Berkeley's desk calendar. As I was opening my door to go to Mrs. Berkeley's sitting room I saw Doris hurrying past on her way to the backstairs. She looked as if she had been crying."

"Did you stop her—speak to her?" Dundee asked. "Yes, I called to her. She stopped in my door and I asked her what was wrong. She said 'Nothing. It's just that I've been talking with Mr. Crosby and—and remembering.' I saw that she was emotionally upset and did not detain her. She ran on up the backstairs to the servants' quarters and I went to Mrs. Berkeley's sitting room."

"You did," Dundee exclaimed, startled. "We had no idea—How long were you there, Mrs. Lambert?" (To Be Continued) proceedings of the City with reference to said matters. Following such hearing assessments will be levied against abutting property and the owners thereof, and such assessments, when levied, shall be a personal liability of the owners of such property, and a first and prior lien upon the property as provided by the law in force in the city and under which the proceedings are taken, being the Act passed at the First Called Session of the 40th Legislature of the State of Texas, known as Senate Bill No. 68, now shown as Article 1105-b of the Revised Statutes of the State of Texas.

The improvements on each said portion of street or highway constitutes an entirely separate and distinct unit of improvement, all to the same extent as if entirely separate and distinct proceedings had been taken with reference to the improvements and assessments therefor in connection with improvements on each such portion of street or highway, and the assessments against the property abutting upon any unit shall be and are in no wise affected by any fact or circumstance relating to or connected with the improvements in other units.

Of all said matters and things, all owning or claiming any such property, or any interest therein, as well as all others in anywise interested or affected, will take notice. Done by order of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Pampa, Texas, this 15th day of March, 1930.

HERE'S PROOF

THIS is to certify that I was diagnosed as having cancer of the stomach by three up-to-the-minute physicians, before I was brought to a chiropractor's office by Uncle Frank and Aunt Mary Cope. I was hardly able to sit up at that time, and had lost 47 pounds. I had a Radionic analysis which verified the diagnosis of the other doctors.

With the Copes' aid I purchased a card of Radionic Vibrations—that being Armistic Day, 1929. Today—March 15, 1930—I have gained 32 pounds, can work hard every day, and feel good all the time. I was too sore to be adjusted for the first three weeks, so I just took the Radionic alone for the first three weeks. I was dismissed today—and I can do a man's work and feel good all the time.

I can highly recommend the Radionic and Chiropractic. (signed), HARRY ANDERSON, Box, 95, Pampa, Texas.

Mr. J. N. Thompson
"For ten years, I was troubled with my stomach and kidneys," said Mr. J. N. Thompson, 2612 Roosevelt avenue, Fort Worth. "During the past year my suffering was dreadful and growing steadily worse. Intense cramping pains followed every meal and I belched up particles of undigested food. Severe pains across my back, over my kidneys, was another source of misery to me. My sleep was broken by frequent night risings. I became very nervous and irritable and felt miserable all of the time."

"Konjola lost no time in getting to work in my case. Within a week I felt improvement and I eagerly continued the treatment. Today I feel better in every way than I have felt in years. The pains and misery have entirely vanished from my stomach and I am no longer subject to those sick, dizzy spells after eating. My kidneys have been straightened to such an extent that I am no longer forced to rise during the night. The pains have gone from my back and my nerves have quieted."

It is logical to believe that what Konjola has done for others, it will do for you—for everyone. This is especially true if Konjola is given a fair trial of from six to eight weeks. This is the proper treatment in most cases.

W. S. Ray, local man, has returned from the University hospital at Oklahoma City, where he underwent a leg amputation. He was enabled to have the operation through the help of the local Legion post and the veterans' bureau, both of which he gives the greatest praise.

Mr. Ray wishes to inform veterans of all wars that the treatment given at the hospital and by the veterans' bureau officials is the best imaginable, and that no ex-soldier should hesitate to apply for hospitalization. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American war. Operated upon four weeks ago, he was back in Pampa in five weeks, and yesterday was able to be about on crutches.

He added that the Pampa Legionnaires looked after his family while he was at the hospital, and in many ways helped to make the ordeal easier. Without their help, he said, his condition would have been almost hopeless.

New Trial for Yale Requested

Motion for a new trial for Jake Yale, who yesterday was given a two-year sentence in the penitentiary, was filed yesterday afternoon by Will Saunders, counsel for the defendant.

If the new trial is denied, the case will be appealed to the Court of Criminal Appeals, Austin. Basis of the request for a new trial was the charge to the jury, and the argument of acting District Attorney Ben Alfred before the jury. Yale was charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Jack McKee, alias Jack King here March 23. He offered a plea of self-defense in the trial.

Mr. Saunders, counsel for Gilbert Cox, also under indictment for murder, announced that the defense will be ready for trial on May 5, date set by the court for trial.

With the program varying from the sublime to "apple sauce," the Apple Blossom dinner honoring Mrs. J. T. Whitmore, president, last evening was one of the most brilliant events of the Seventh district federated club convention.

The basement auditorium of the Methodist church was a profusion of blossoms, with every decoration and program topic bearing on the main theme.

Mrs. Wayne Boren of Snyder, chairman, introduced Mrs. G. M. Holt of Amarillo, who was the clever toastmistress. Mrs. W. A. Bratton of Pampa was hostess.

Entertainment features included a duet, "When It's Apple Blossom Time In Normandy," by Miss Audrey Noel, Miss Yvonne Thomas; male octet numbers by the Lions club group composed of Roy McMillan, Charles Boles, E. D. Zimmerman, Olin E. Hinkle, George Briggs, Elbert Thomas, R. B. Fisher, and Director Thomas Fannell, with Mrs. Fannell as accompanist; and a piano duo by Miss Dorothy Pollard and Miss Ruth Anne Mitchell.

Speaking on "Budding tendencies," Mrs. S. W. Meharg of Plainview paid a heavy tribute to modern youth, whom she characterized as better physically, brighter mentally, and probably cleaner in thought, all things considered, than the older generations.

Mrs. R. F. Lindsay state president, spoke briefly but eloquently on the dignity and scope of club activities, which are touching nearly every part of her current life and contributing much to the public welfare.

Her subject was "The Fruit." She said motherhood was service to the nation comparable to that of being president of the republic.

Mrs. Whitmore, honoree of the occasion, spoke her sincere appreciation of the cooperation of her associates, and then turned to her subject, "The Blooming Men." Addressing the large number of male guests, she said that she wanted them to understand the women's club program. Women, she said, have never accomplished anything worthwhile without the assistance of men, and the latter have always had the sympathy and encouragement of women. She pointed out that many of the club projects will succeed or fail according to the amount of support given by men.

Supt. R. B. Fisher was given the subject, "Apple Sauce," which he used in a kindly though ironical manner, recalling various kinds of apples and their counterparts in life.

Blossom tributes were paid by Mrs. H. H. Hicks to Mrs. Lindsay and Mrs. Whitmore, who were given orchids as tokens of appreciation and esteem.

Negro Is Acquitted

Fennie Harris, negro, a victim of "jake" paralysis, was acquitted on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale by a jury in 31st district court yesterday. Judge Ben Baldwin was attorney for the defendant. It was the first case in which District Attorney G. C. Engledow represented the state as a prosecutor.

They will also help "wreck" some "poor Goofs" there Saturday night. The Pampa members of the 40-8 will be joined in Amarillo by C. C. Gibson, grand correspondent, and Dr. T. M. Montgomery, sous grand chef de train.

El Paso is asking for the next state convention of the American Legion in 1931.

Mowery to Make Foreign Journey

LUBBOCK, April 25.—Prof Ray C. Mowery, of the animal husbandry department at Texas Technological college, Dr. Mowery, and Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, of the speech department, will sail from Montreal on June 14 for a tour of the European continent. The party will visit England, Scotland, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and France.

Prof. Mowery has appointments with professors of animal husbandry at the universities of Edinburgh, Cambridge, Oxford, Denmark, Belgium, and Holland.

Tom Dowell, manager of the Operators Royalty company, returned last night from a business trip to Tulsa, Okla.

"Mustang Boys" Coming Tomorrow

On their first tour for this school year, "Those Harmony Mustang Boys," otherwise known as the Southern Methodist university men's Glee club, will appear here for one night's performance under the auspices of the choir of the First Methodist church, Saturday night.

The organization is directed by David McPherson, former assistant director of the Wisconsin-university glee club. It is said that this club rehearses three times every week from the opening of school in the fall. The director refuses to permit the club to appear in concert before Feb. 1.

BAD WEATHER HURTS CLUBS THIS SEASON

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer. The chills and dampness of spring appear to be storing up trouble for major league baseball teams almost as fast as they are piling up double headers. Only one club so far has played all its games, the Chicago Cubs gaining this honor, while the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers have had but one postponement apiece.

More cold weather yesterday caused postponement of all but two major league games, and neither of these proved very profitable to the owners. Only about 1,000 St. Louis fans turned out to see the Browns beat Detroit, 12 to 4, while about three times that number appeared at the Cubs park in Chicago to see the St. Louis Cardinals down the National league champions, 9 to 2. For the rest, the cold was piling up more grief. The Boston Braves, for example, seemed headed for something like the slaughter of September, 1928, when they played four successive double headers against the New York Giants and lost eight games. The Braves now have five twin bills to play against New York and each one makes the prospects better for the Giants, who have less need to conserve their strength.

The New York Yankees are in similar difficulties. Out of six games scheduled against Philadelphia, they succeeded in playing only the opener in each city. And the Yankees have a rather small staff of starting pitchers, ill fitted to endure the rigors of a succession of twin bills while the champion Athletics seem ready to go as far as they like with overtime play.

The Chicago White Sox have six double headers scheduled against the Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns, both of whom have more pitching strength.

Although St. Louis gained all the glory in the two games that survived yesterday, the teams owe it to a few players. George Fisher, young outfielder, played the leading role as the Cardinals downed the Cubs, scoring one run and driving in four with a single, two doubles and a sacrifice in four trips to the plate. Chick Hafey followed the example Fisher set in the previous inning when he tripled with the bases loaded to bring in three of the five runs St. Louis scored in that inning. Sylvester Johnson hurled the entire game for the Cards.

Fred Schulte and Chad Kinsley divided the honors in the Browns' triumph over Detroit. Schulte did most of the heavy hitting while Kinsley stepped in as a relief pitcher when Herman Holshouser began to wobble, and shut out the Tigers with a hit for four innings.

BAKER'S MEN DEFEAT CATS IN 4-1 GAME

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Those students of the national pastime who predicted the Beaumont Exporters would wilt once they came in contact with the so-called "tough" clubs of the northern division received something of a jolt yesterday as Manager Del Baker's clouters polished off the Fort Worth Panthers, 4 to 1, in their debut on the Texas.

As a result the Shippers today found themselves two full games ahead of the pack. In years past certain southern clubs have invaded the upper section in early season full of vim, vigor and paprika, only to flake out like a damp firecracker. Last year it was the San Antonio Indians. But the Exporters appear to be a different article.

There was nothing to indicate the club was a morning glory in the way it went about its work yesterday. While Milesheo Vaughn kept nine Cats hits well scattered to register his third victory, the siege guns of the Export line-up bunched their eight blows off the veteran Bill Clarkson. They sewed it up with a two-run sprig in the ninth.

Houston, the second southern threat, fared not so well in its northern premiere, losing to Shreveport, 7 to 4, and dropping back a notch. The Buffs scored all their runs off Senor Oscar Estrada in the first frame before Bill Morrell could get warmed up. After Morrell went in they were helpless. The Sports knocked Littlejohn loose with a three-run rally in the second and then pounded out a victory off his successor, Joe Brown.

Two big innings enabled the bedraggled Waco Cubs to take their opener from Wichita Falls, 11 to 5 and begin a losing streak. They cranked down on young Lester White for four runs in the first, but he stuck around until they had denied the plate five more times in the seventh before giving way to Galer. Lefty Thomsen got credit for the victory, although Thurman relieved him in the seventh.

Walter Tauscher limited the San Antonio Indians to six hits in the inaugural at Dallas, the Steers winning 12 to 2.

Allison and Van Ryn Go to Tennis Finals

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 25. (AP)—Those dashing doubles partners of Davis cup fame, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, and John Van Ryn of Orange, N. J., were in today's final round of singles in the Mason and Dixon tennis tournament through upset victories over the second and third ranking players of the country. Allison snatched his semi-final round match with George Lott, No. 3 in the ranking, out of the fire with a sensational rally yesterday to win 4, 6, 6, 6, 3, 6, 3, 6, 4. Even more astonishing was the victory of Van Ryn over Frank Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., ranked second only to Big Bill Tilden, 6, 2, 4, 6, 6, 2, 2, 6, 6, 4.

Noted Trapshooter Dies at Dallas

DALLAS, April 25.—Funeral rites were planned today for Nico Arie, 47, nationally known professional trapshooter. He died yesterday at his home here. Arie was a native of Champaign, Ill., and came to Texas 25 years ago.

He learned to shoot with his brother, Mark Arie, winner of the Olympic in Belgium several years ago. Nico Arie won the sunny south handicap at Houston a few years since and had taken shooting honors in Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis and other cities.

CLINGMAN SLAMS JAPANESE TO WIN BEST MATCH SEEN IN PAMPA—GOES THREE FALLS

A middleweight American triumphed over a welterweight Japanese in a super-excellent wrestling match at the Pla-Mor last night. Otis Clingman, the Pampa favorite, weighing 158, won the last fall from 147-pound Ioti Shima with six headlocks and body slams followed up with a flying Dutchman.

The second fall Otis won in the same manner but minus the flying Dutchman. Some of the headlocks ended in spins to the mat and these more than the body slams contributed to the undoing of the plucky son of Nippon.

Shima and Clingman gave the cleanest exhibition of wrestling seen here this season. Shima, resorting to no jiu-jitsu tricks, wrestled strictly according to rules, and Clingman, never on the initiative in starting rough play, matched the Japanese in making the event a scientific test of skill and strength.

Shima won the first fall in 39 minutes with five flying mares, preceded by head locks and spins. Otis won the second fall in six and one-half minutes and the third fall in 19 minutes. Shima started the third and second falls with the intention of repeating his arm-slam performances of the first fall, but by that time Clingman had learned how to apply a head lock in such a circumstance. After the first fall Otis realized that he could never throw the Jap or make him pat the mat unless he resorted to some demoralizing attack like the head lock body slam.

Clingman did not apply a hold which the Jap couldn't break or slip out of. At the beginning of the first fall, Otis began working on the Nipponese's arm and toe, and hammer-lock after hammer-lock followed. Shima broke these in a reasonable length of time and slipped out of double toe-holds in an admirable manner. Only one time did Shima attempt to flip Clingman above his head and Otis frustrated this effort rather easily.

It was evident that the Japanese is no veteran at catch-as-catch-can wrestling. He got four double toe-holds on Otis but did not know how to apply them effectively. He got few toe-holds on Clingman but his toes were in Otis' grasp a great deal of the time. The visitor slipped out of numerous spins and scissors just as easily as he broke arm-locks. Clingman probably dealt Shima more punishment than the latter did him.

The two wrestlers were so concentrated on demonstrating the scientific points of the game that personalities were for one time ignored by the audience. Both drew enthusiasm and applause. All in all, it was the best match seen here this season. Shima made a big hit with the fans.

WHY DESIGNATIONS HARD TO GET

Development of Texas is making opening of new state roads very desirable. Many delegations lately have been asking for designations of roads which were shown to be desirable. Highway 41 is an example.

At the same time, the state is setting as its objective the connecting of paving in a primary system of roads. In order to push the paving projects, designation and maintenance of dirt roads are being discouraged. The present commission has in mind the voting of state bonds and of letting the counties build the secondary and lateral roads. Of course the bond issue is far from voted, but the commission is pointing its activities toward that ultimate conclusion—too much so, it appears.

The following dispatch from Austin is enlightening: "The state would make few designations in the immediate future was seen in announcement yesterday of Commissioner W. R. Ely of Abilene that the highway system now contains 3,000 more miles than it should. Ely stated efforts of the commission of the primary road system and that lack of funds would prevent the state from making further designations of county roads at the present time."

Texas needs nothing so much as a more definite highway policy. Vote upon the highway bonds seems to be the issue that must decide upon the method to be used. The federal government will be very generous in the next few years, and cooperation in this state will go far toward closing the gaps in the primary system. That is, unless the subject continues to be a political football.

There are many things we do not know about the gubernatorial situation, but we do know this: Gray county owes Clint Small a big debt of gratitude and a shower of votes for his successful waging of the war against land grabbers at Austin. Furthermore, he is the most effective legislator sent to the senate from this section in a long time, and West Texas should avail herself of the opportunity to support such a leader.

If Gray county ever is going to get together and build roads from one community to another, now is the time to do so. Failure to vote whatever bonds are going to be voted will mean loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars through loss of levies on current valuations.

It is our observation that the big oil companies do not greatly oppose voting of bonds for things that are actually needed, and which will be of some value to the oil industry as well. A paved road across Gray county would greatly help the oil men, who should support the bond issue for that reason. Moreover, Gray county must now or never retain a portion of her natural wealth in the form of natural resources.

Stout ladies of New York are protesting vigorously against styles which place battle-ship figures into garments of light cruiser proportions. Here, apparently, is one movement against naval reductions.

Again speaking of disarmament—there is no indication of this trend in the gubernatorial race, although the big guns are a little slow in the opening up. We hope the people of Texas will lay down a barrage against hokum, with which many aspirants will be liberally supplied.

It shall be the purpose of this newspaper to make a vigorous campaign for West Texas' candidate for governor—Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington. At the same time, the arguments of the other candidates will be presented in an impartial manner through the news columns, particularly through the medium of the Associated Press. Our readers are entitled to the claims of all candidates, as well as to opinions of the editor. After all, the public is entitled to have all the news so that it can form its own opinions. The best newspapers keep their news columns free of comment and opinion, although interpretation of events is placed in the editorial columns.

THE PAINTING OF BARNS

Wisconsin seems to be harboring a minor schism in regard to that old standby of the rural scene, the red barn. George S. Parker of Janesville, wealthy manufacturer, has started a campaign to abolish the red barn on the ground that it is an eyesore; and now Frank Lloyd Wright, famous Wisconsin architect, has taken the opposite side, declaring that the red barn is distinctive, agreeable to the eye and aesthetically proper.

"Red barns," says Mr. Parker, "are a curse on Wisconsin's landscape."

"Wisconsin," replies Mr. Wright, "should pass a law compelling every farmer to paint his barn red."

So the battle lines have been drawn, and what's going to come of it all we don't know. Nothing, probably; but the argument is interesting, like all really arguments, and instructive.

"A farmstead," Mr. Wright points out, "is somehow warmed and given life by the red of the barns as they stand about over the green hills and among the yellow fields."

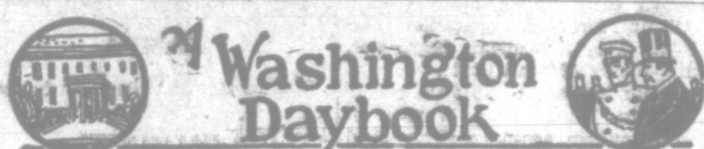

Very true; and any motorist who has driven through the American countryside will agree. Perhaps Mr. Parker is correct in urging that an occasional barn in blue, gray or tan would be an improvement; but somehow that red splash of color, lying brightly on the green and brown and yellow of the rural scene, is something that the eye rests on gratefully.

Besides, it is distinctive. You cannot mistake your whereabouts when you see a red barn, with a russet-yellow haystack behind and a monumental-looking yellow silo alongside. The ensemble is as American as a stack of buckwheat cakes.

All in all, we're inclined to side with Mr. Wright. But there is one point, mentioned by neither of these gentlemen, that is even more important; it is the farmer paint his barn any color he chooses—red, green or lavender—but let him, by all means, recover speedily from the practice of permitting his barn to be daubed up with monstrous, eye-searing advertisements, legible a mile off.

That is one thing that does spoil the landscape. Many a delightful scene in this country is completely ruined by a blatant advertising sign painted over what would otherwise be an attractive farm plant. Let these two Wisconsin men concentrate first on abolishing that evil; then they can have it out about the exact color that should be used.—N. E. A.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—It's a pretty safe bet that in the future senators and congressmen will think twice—yes, thrice—before they agree to take part in another spelling bee.

That affair at the National Press club the other night, when statesmen and newspapermen lined up on opposite sides of the club auditorium to outspell each other over a nation-wide radio hook-up, left the former in a plight highly amusing.

As one of them put it "we are hearing from home."

More than one wonders why he did not exercise the care that many of his colleagues did and refuse to participate. As it is they are trying to find alibis for not being able to spell the word given them by the "Prof." Simeon Clear. And at the same time "clear their skirts" in the eyes of their constituents.

Alibi Hunting

One congressman, who took his seat after spelling "liquefaction" with an "l," attempted to get himself out of the "ridiculous situation" by faking his case to the floor of the house.

Amid laughter from his colleagues he said that he had tried in vain to find an alibi for misspelling the word. He, too, had "heard from home." The only excuse he could give was that he represented a dry district in congress and since "liquefaction" is a pre-Volstead word, it is no longer of any important general use to the states.

Taunting were some of the statements in these letters from home. "We of the third district felt honored that you were chosen one of the team of contestants, but we must confess to some disappointment in your failure to stay longer than you did..." "You went out like one of Primo"

Carner's several adversaries, who never lasted beyond the second round.

However, you fell in action, if it was almost at the beginning of the engagement.

"You should get a military funeral, which is a privilege denied congressman other than those who fall in spelling bees, under the rules which restrict them to starting all the wars and at the same time exempting them from military service."

Praiser Fess has come in for a lot of praise on his ability as a schoolmaster. One radio fan who heard him wrore that should he ever elect to retire from politics, a hundred thousand places are open to him as a teacher.

Small of Wellington; and Mrs. J. T. Whitmore of Snyder, Seventh district president. Mrs. Green spoke at the morning session on "The Place of a Dean of Girls in a High School." Senator Small's address on "Law Observance" was the feature of the afternoon meeting. Each of these addresses stressed a main objective in the program of the present administration of both state and the district. Mrs. Whitmore delivered her convention address, "An Awakened Public Sentiment," at the "president's evening" program, immediately following the dinner given in her honor.

Lubbock Woman Speaks
The department of education was in charge of program at the luncheon given yesterday, with Mrs. William Dings of Texas Tech, Lubbock, as the speaker. Mrs. C. M. Ballinger, Lubbock, head of the department, was program chairman, and Mrs. S. W. Meharg, Plainview, a divisional chairman, was toastmistress. Mrs. S. A. Hurst presided as local hostess. Mrs. Dinger spoke on "The Value of Higher Education for Women." Tracing the growth of educational institutions for women of America, and reviewing the many lines of professional activity opened to women through higher education, Mrs. Dinger said that in her opinion the movement toward higher learning and specialization was significant less because it created new and more numerous avenues of enterprise for women, than because it enabled them to do more effectively the work they had always done.

A piano solo by Mrs. F. P. McSkimming, a vocal selection by Mrs. Harry E. Lyman, and a reading by Miss Zella Mae Walsher of West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, were enjoyable entertainment features of the luncheon.

Honor Executive Board
The setting, decorations, and program of every social function have developed a theme of spring time with charming effect. Varied interpretations of the motif have lent added interest to the convention. The luncheon at the home of Mrs. C. F. Buckler, Wednesday noon, honoring the executive board, followed a jonquil motif, the menu repeating the floral suggestions and the color scheme of the appointments.

Spring blossoms in profusion enhanced the setting for the Oriental tea at Mrs. I. B. Hughey's home. The tea table was laid with lace and centered with many-colored flowers. On another table, in the library, was a huge block of ice in which were frozen scarlet carnations and other cut flowers. Pale green sherbet was served from the center of the beautifully formed base.

The apple blossom dinner honoring the president was the most elaborate of the social events. The president's table was set in a bower of apple trees, and every detail of the tables repeated the pink and green combination. Cut flowers and garden blossoms were effectively combined with smilax and fern.

Outstanding Programs
The programs that have been of outstanding interest to the public at large, as well as to the club women in session, were the fine arts entertainment Wednesday evening, when a Texas folk theme was developed in colorful pageantry, and the "president's evening," last night, when Mrs. Whitmore delivered her convention address and the state president, Mrs. R. F. Lindsay of Mount Pleasant, extended her greetings to Seventh district. Mrs. Tillman Jones of Post, first vice president of the district, presided at the latter meeting.

Mrs. Lindsay spoke with admiration of the work of the Seventh district and expressed her official appreciation for its cooperation. In the state program, she urged that the women of the section press forward with definite purpose, high aim, and enthusiasm. She enumerated as the six chief objectives in the program of her administration: A state wide beautification campaign; a dean of girls in every high school attended by girls; legislation for prison reform; institutional care of drug addicts; and a permanent home for the Texas Federation of Women's clubs at Austin.

Thousands of Athletes Entering Drake Relays

DES MOINES, April 25. (AP)—Another "Battle of the Century" and wholesale record breaking was promised today as 2,500 midwestern and southwestern track and field stars invaded Des Moines for the Drake relay games.

This afternoon the college and university stars faced preliminaries.

Interest was centered around the "dash of the century," which will bring together Cy Leland and Claude Bracey, Texans whose rivalry in the 100-yard dash has created sensational races in the southwest's early spring meets. They will find formidable opposition from Eddie Tolan, Michigan negro ace, and Meter, of Iowa State.

Preliminaries in the field events were to bring Tom Warne, of Northwestern against a strong field of competitors who hoped to end his dominance in the pole vault. Warne went 13 feet 9.4 inches in the Kansas relays.

The high jump has Bert Wilson of Butler and Ted Shaw of Wisconsin as the leading lights. Either can go six feet, six inches. Prominent shotputters are Sammy Behr, Wisconsin track and field all star and Jim Bausch of Kansas.

POWELL PLAYS VILLAINY ROLE IN NEW FILM

William Powell, whose versatility is admired by millions of enthusiastic talking screen fans all over the world, is coming to the Rex theatre today for a two day stand in another of those splendid characterizations of his.

The picture, an all-dialog Paramount release is "Street of Chance" an original story by Oliver H. P. Garrett, former star reporter of the New York World.

It is a picture in which "big time" professional gambling is held up to the mirror of reality. Powell is the central character, "Natural" Davis, lord of all the gamblers, who nightly gather in green-shaded hotel rooms to stake their fortunes and sometimes their lives on the deal of a poker hand.

Powell is a lovable villain. Immersed as he is in the lawless swirl of poker cards, nevertheless he has a sympathetic spot in his case-hardened heart for Regis Toomey, his young brother. Powell pays thousands for the college education of his brother and thousands more to prevent the lad from following a long the treacherous pathway that he himself has followed.

But in spite of Powell's efforts, Toomey gets involved in one of the biggest and most dangerous games on the street of chance. He is playing for high stakes with men who shoot faster than they think.

Powell's valiant effort to save the kid is the grand heroic gesture of the show, and brings a climax alike romantic and dramatic.

Lubbock Firm Gets Road Work

Field & McClevey of Lubbock received the contract for grading and drainage work on Highway 33 from Pampa to the Carson county line at the commission meeting in Austin yesterday.

The bid was $19,892. It is expected that work will begin soon. Moving back of the Southwestern Public Service company's high line to permit widening of the right-of-way to 100 feet has been under way for some time. The distance is about seven miles.

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor, The News: Apropos of your recent editorial, "Build Pampa, Not Other Cities"; I have a friend in this town who buys a standard advertised $11 shoe in Amarillo, irrespective of the 15 per cent traveling cost, because the local merchant featuring this line does not know him, despite the fact that they frequently meet in Chamber of Commerce rooms and have worked together in several civic movements.

This is merely a sample of the snobbish spirit prevalent in our community.

I am proud to say I was reared in an environment of refinement and culture. It has been my good fortune to enjoy the friendships of many notable persons throughout the United States. I am proud to list among my friends talented men, and women, artists, musicians, millionaires, and multi-millionaires, as well as many splendid and lovable characters in the most humble walks of life, but never did I encounter snobbery until I moved into small towns. Truly now, as always, snobbery is a characteristic of the yokel class. I am sure the better business men can hold their trade. It is the little man with a big store who is apt to suffer. If we want a big Pampa, let's have big men.

International Sunday School Lesson BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School Lesson for April 27, 1930.
General Topic: Giving Up All for the Kingdom.
Scripture Lesson: Matt. 19:16-28.
16. And behold, one came to Him and said, Teacher, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?
17. And He said unto him, Why askest thou Me concerning that which is good? One there is who is good; but if thou wouldst enter into life, keep the commandments.
18. And he saith unto him, Which? And Jesus said, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, 19. Honor thy father and thy mother, and Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.
20. The young man saith unto Him: All these things I have observed: what lack I yet?
21. Jesus said unto him, If thou wouldst be perfect, go, sell that which thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.
22. But when the young man heard the saying, he went away sorrowful; for he was one that had great possessions.
23. And Jesus said unto His disciples, Verily I say unto you, It is hard for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of heaven.
24. And again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of God.
25. And when the disciples heard it, they were astonished exceedingly, saying, Who then can be saved?
26. And Jesus looking upon them said to them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible.
Golden Text: Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.—Matt. 6:20.
Time: March, A. D. 30, in the last three months of Christ's ministry.
Place: Peraea, the region east of the lower Jordan.

Introduction
This young ruler was an unusual man. He had been carefully trained in the religion of his fathers and was familiar with the law of Moses. He must have had an attractive personality, for Mark says that "Jesus looking upon him loved him." He was wealthy, and yet he had escaped the vice into which so many wealthy young men fall. He had led a clean moral life. He was honest and truthful. He honored his father and mother. He treated his neighbors right. From a worldly point of view he was a model young man, to whom parents of his community often pointed their own boys, in the hope that they would follow his example.

Moreover, he was deeply interested in religion. He felt the need of something better than he had yet found. He longed for a higher life, in which he should be conscious of a closer fellowship with God. He approached Jesus with the greatest respect, kneeling to Him as to a superior, in recognition of his spiritual authority.
"And behold, one came to Him." Mark tells us that he came running in his eagerness and his fear that the great Teacher might escape him, and kneel reverently before Him. (See Lesson, Page 10)

CONSTIPATION IS A HEALTH THIEF

Drive It from Your System with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
Constipation steals the best out of your life. Robs you of strength, vitality, health itself! And many people do not realize that perpetual fatigue, coated tongues, bad breath, are often signs that constipation is in their system.
You must move poisonous wastes out of your system and keep them moving. But there's a right way and a wrong way. Pills, drugs and ordinary cathartics give but temporary relief—and their dose must be constantly increased to be effective.
The great natural cleanser is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. A tasty cereal, which brings you iron for blood building—and, above all, corrects constipation. The abundant roughage in ALL-BRAN gently and naturally sweeps out poisonous wastes and impurities.
Physicians recommend ALL-BRAN. It's guaranteed. Two tablespoons daily. Requiring no water with every meal.
You'll like the nut-like flavor of ALL-BRAN. Eat it in many ways—Delicious with milk or cream—Fruits or honey added. Make muffins with it. At all grocers. Served in hotels, restaurants, dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LESSON—

Jesus. He was a young man (verse 20), and he was rich (verse 22). Luke alone tells us that he was one of the rulers of the local synagogue. And said, "Teacher." According to Luke, he addressed Christ as "Good Teacher," the conventional title of a rabbi. "What good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?" "Oh, that more young men would ask a similar question! It was a very suitable inquiry for an earnest person, such as he undoubtedly was. He sought eternal life, and could not be content with the honors of the hour."—C. H. Spurgeon. Moreover, he was wise in going to the one person who could tell him about eternal life, the one who was indeed the Way, the Truth, and the Life. But he made the mistake made by all the Pharisees in seeking eternal life through outward observances rather than inward realities; he expected to win God's approval by doing rather than by being; and he was so well satisfied with his attainments that he fancied that one additional good deed would clinch his title to eternal life. It was necessary for the Saviour to move him from his self-complacency.

"Keep the Commandments"
 "If thou wouldst enter into life, keep the commandments." Is this coming down to the young man's position, that eternal life is to be won by deeds? Yes, but only for the purpose of demonstrating the impossibility of that position. To be sure, if any should perfectly keep all God's commandments, he would be sure of eternal life; but who could do that. In the next moment the young man recognized the insuperable difficulty, apart from the Spirit of God.

Our Lord omits the first table of the Decalogue, containing the commandments relating to God, because one could not be so sure of perfect obedience to those as to the moral laws of the second table; He was leading the young man on to make his fullest claims. "Honor thy father and thy mother; and, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." The last commandment is from Lev. 19:18, and is Christ's summary of the second table of the Law; see Matt 22:39. It is to be noted that our Lord steps short of the tenth commandment, forbidding covetousness for right there was the young man's special lack, as Christ proceeded to show him.

"What Lack I Yet?"
 "The young man saith unto him, All these things have I observed." "From my youth," is added in Mark and Luke. "What lack I yet?" Looking honestly at his life, and having in view only its exterior, only the outward requirements of the law, the young ruler could see no flaw. He was not a conceited Pharisee, like the one who stood praying in the temple, but was really a youth of noble desires and of honorable living, for it is recorded by Mark that "Jesus looking upon him loved him." Like the scribe of another dialogue, he was "not far from the kingdom of God." (Mark 12:34).

"One thing thou lackest," said Jesus (Mark and Luke). "Jesus said unto him, If thou wouldst be perfect." Our Lord sympathizes with the search for perfection. He will have no easily satisfied disciples, no followers content with halfway attainments. But he makes it plain that the path to perfection is not an easy way.

The Supreme Test
 "Go sell that which thou hast, and give to the poor." Christ bids the young man do something, but the deed is only a test of his sincerity of feeling, a proof of the claim he makes to loving his neighbor as himself. Note that "Jesus does not here teach that every man should dispose of all his property, though every believer must hold his property at the service of Christ. The young man really loved money more than God and had broken the very first commandment of all. Christ wishes to reveal the man's heart to himself."—Prof. A. T. Robertson. "And thou shalt have treasure in heaven." "Do not fear to part with your possessions," Jesus virtually tells him, "For you will be only transferring them from a world where they will soon vanish to a world where they will be eternal treasures." Our Lord was merely advising the rich young fellow to exchange a very poor, risky investment for a "glit-edged" one, an investment sounder than any other.

A Tragic Failure
 "He went away sorrowful, for he was one that had great possessions." His great wealth was a great snare. His gold lay on him as a heavy weight, so that he could not use his wings. He made what Danie calls "the Great Refusal." If he ever changed his mind and followed Christ, we are not told. His name is unknown. He stands for all time as a sad warning of the power of money to debase a spirit that otherwise would have gone far and risen high.

"The rich young ruler was influenced by the desire to postpone the decision. The one duty of the moment was instant action, while delay lost all."—Nowell Dwight Hillis.

Special Lessons
 "We may not infer from this incident—as the Romish church does—that the Lord requires voluntary poverty as something peculiarly meritorious from all his disciples. For Martha was allowed to possess her house in Bethany, and Christians, who possessed house and lands and were at liberty to retain them, are mentioned in the Acts (4:36, 12:12). Such external and general community of goods did not enter into the constitution of the kingdom of God, and did not exist even in the primitive church. The disciples of Jesus were only to possess as though they possessed not,—i. e., as a loan from the Lord, and as that for which they must give an account."

"Wealth has duties to perform in the constitution of our modern society, that poverty could never perform. The progress of science, of the arts, of higher education, the organized efforts of philanthropy, require capital in the hands of a few, just as truly as trade requires capital."—Bishop Henry C. Potter.

"Before we can get the kingdom of heaven in, we must get the kingdom of Satan out."—Horace Mann.

"Every man and every woman in the world will spend or give away every cent and all the property he or she possesses. Don't forget this."

"The man who spends his life accumulating money and property is depositing all his earnings and wealth in a bank which he knows will fail."
