Mr. Fish is chairman of the congressional committee which has been investigating Communists and the impartial nature of his investigation has been indicated by his violent utterances, radio and otherwise. The Fish committee recently unearthed the appalling testimony of a nervous old gentleman that Communist kids in summer camps had been saying, "Damn it, pass the bread!"

There may be more important results after all this fuss, such as a new crimp in American exports or federal legislation against Communists, but the chief effect thus far has been to stir up the Reds.

"The next step can only be a trade blockade; and following that, war—imperialist war for the overthrow of the first workers' government," hollers the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker.

"Other People's Business" Is Title of Chautauqua Play

A determined young ex-service man secures a position in a factory under a heavy handicap set by the president of the organization. How this sterling young man forges ahead from the shipping department up the ladder of success and the manner in which he overcomes obstacles is told in the play, "Other People's Business." The story deals with a wealthy manufacturer and his son and daughter. Clever comedy situations produce hundreds of laughs with a few real heart punches that absorb one's interest throughout the play. "Other People's Business" is a Comedy Drama of real life. It is so true to character, so enchanting and wholesome that it justifies its place as one of the greatest plays produced in America.

Red and White Grocery Opens Here Tomorrow

The first Red and White grocery store to be opened in Pampa is announcing its opening tomorrow, according to W. J. Robinson. It is at the old location of Sipes Self-Serving store, 408 South Cuyler street.

According to Mr. Robinson the Red and White stores offer the following advantages, to buyers: high grade merchandise at lowest prices due to the buying power of the Red and White organization; convenience of selection of merchandise, through scientific, attractive arrangement of store interior; the individual, personal interest of the store's owner to his customer's needs. Another feature of the system is that "your grocer" will conduct his business as he has always done. Those who have delivered groceries in the past will continue the delivery service and other services will be just as they always have been. "Perhaps the greatest factor entering into the Red and White system is the fact that it does not deprive the small grocer of his independence. There are no membership fees, brokerage charges, royalties or "dues." All that is required of him is that he rearrange his store according to the plan as outlined by the Red and White system cooperative with other members in the buying of goods.

Nationally Known Goods

"For those member owners who desire to stock it, a complete line of merchandise is offered by the organization under the Red and White label. However, a complete line of nationally advertised goods will be available at the supply house. "To facilitate transformation of the member stores, an official of the Red and White organization has supervised the work of rearranging and the decoration and equipment of the Pampa store.

"In evolving this system of operation," the Red and White organization for the past ten years has solicited any suggestion looking toward the improvement in the operation of the system. "The Red and White system has been in operation for more than a decade and has had ample opportunity to eliminate any unsound principles which might have developed in the organization and so successful have been the operating principles of the system, that expansion has been rapid and sound until Red and White at present is international in its scope.

More than 20,000 stores, buying 100 wholesale houses which buy through one source, situated in three-fourths of the United States and from Montreal to British Columbia in Canada bear witness to the success of Red and White operation.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Buzbee returned yesterday from Vernon where they visited several days.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. G. Taylor Cole of Vernon. Mr. Taylor was formerly employed at Levines and Mrs. Cole was with the Rose Motor company.

Dr. McKean Makes 132 Miles An Hour In Denver Flight

Dr. J. C. McKean averaged 132 miles per hour in his Stearman biplane while flying last Saturday to Denver, Colo., where he planned to enter the Denver air races. He was accompanied by William Morris. The races were scheduled to be held Saturday, but were postponed until Sunday on account of cloudy weather. For the same reason they were postponed until Monday. Dr. McKean found it impossible to remain longer and he returned to Pampa.

Misunderstanding the registration rules, Dr. McKean did not register until 30 minutes after he arrived at the field. Officials finally informed him that it would be necessary to register before clocking in and that the extra minutes during the field would be counted in which he remained in his plane on determining his average speed per hour from Pampa. This decreased his average to 122 miles per hour. The highest speed made by visiting planes was 130 miles per hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Walker returned Wednesday from an enjoyable visit in Fort Worth with the latter's parents. They were accompanied to Fort Worth by Mrs. Walker's brother, Maurice Luther of Tulsa, who had spent the preceding week in Pampa.

Quarrel Results With One Death; Another Injured

SPRINGTOWN, Tex., Aug. 15. (AP)—Dock Hinkle was shot and killed and Jed Woody, who was charged with the shooting, was found probably fatally shot several hours later after a difficulty early today at the home of Jim Pote Matthews north of Springtown in Wise county.

Hinkle, shot in the hip, died about 6 o'clock this morning, five hours after he was wounded. An artery was severed.

Officers went to Woody's home, several miles from the Matthews residence, about daybreak. As they approached the house they heard a shot, according to Sheriff George T. Gage of Decatur.

"We went to an outhouse at the rear of the yard where we believed the shot was fired," said Sheriff Gage. "We found Woody there with a pistol in his hand. He has a bad wound near the heart. One shell in the chamber of the cylinder had been fired and one cylinder was empty." The charge of assault to murder against Woody was filed in justice court at Boyd before Hinkle's death. Constable A. V. Isbell of Springtown, who accompanied the sheriff on the call, said that the first shooting was the result of a quarrel at the Matthews home. He said that Mrs. Matthews was the only witness to the shooting of Hinkle. Hinkle and Matthews had delivered a load of watermelons to Fort Worth Thursday and the two were planning to make another trip Friday.

the lowest priced closed models has been reduced $150, the new base price being $895 against the former minimum of $1045 on closed models. "Similarly the former Pontiac base price of $745 has been cut to $665, a drop of $80, with even larger reductions up to $110 on some body types."

R. C. Lindley of Tulsa was in Pampa yesterday.

CUBS HOLDING CLOSE MARGIN OVER ROBINS

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unless today's final clash of the "decisive" series between Brooklyn and Chicago finally brings something like a decision, it looks as if their race of the National League pennant might continue indefinitely, or at least until they meet again in September. Despite the big margin they hold over the Robins in their season's play, the Cubs have not been able to get far ahead in the three games of their current series.

Chicago has won two clashes and went one full game ahead yesterday as Pat Malone pitched a fine game for a 5 to 1 Cub triumph. But still the big advantage for the Robins is that the difference is in the losing column where Brooklyn is two games to the bad. The future schedules show little possibility of a "break" for either team.

The Cubs, held in check to some degree through the second game, were completely superior yesterday as Pat Malone stopped the thunder of Brooklyn's bats. They went out ahead in the very first innings and did all their scoring in the first three to win without much difficulty. Bill Clark, Brooklyn's southpaw ace, lasted less than two innings and Ollie Dudley could not check the Cub slugging until the damage had been done. Malone, his speed-ball working at its best clip, gave the Robins only three hits in the first six innings and had a shutout in hand until two were out in the ninth, when a Cub letup permitted the only Brooklyn run across the plate.

With four teams kept idle by rain and wet grounds, the National league as a whole made little progress yesterday. The St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Braves divided a close double header that was principally notable for the appearance of some of the league's older pitchers. Socks Seibold lost a tough struggle in the first game as the Cards put on a two-run rally in the ninth to win, 4 to 3, although out-hit, 11-9. In the second, old Tom Zachary outlasted Burleigh Grimes and held St. Louis to six hits while the Braves pulled out a 3 to 2 triumph. The Card winning streak went to six games before it was broken in the second game.

Three pitchers, Wes Ferrell, Earl Whitehill and Eddie Durham, provided the features of the American league's day. Ferrell won his 20th victory of the season as Cleveland came back from five straight defeats to pound out a 15 to 0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Whitehill won his tenth successive game, setting a major league record for the season as he beat the New York Yankees, 5 to 1, on a seven-hit and 11 strikeout pitching performance. Elias Funk's triple with the bases full in the fifth gave the Tigers most of their runs. Durham, pitching in a lesser cause, turned in the best hurling job of the day. He shut out the St. Louis Browns with four singles and without a free trip to first to give Boston a 3 to 0 victory.

Washington's Senators used three hurlers in their final clash with Chicago and obtained the best results of them all so far as the standings were concerned although they had something of a struggle to win a 6 to 4 decision. As New York and Philadelphia both lost, the Senators gained a full game on their important rivals, placing themselves eight games behind the league leaders and two ahead of the Yankees.

Mrs. J. C. Umbarger and daughter Amania left yesterday for their home in Shreveport, La., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gooch here. Mrs. Umbarger is a sister of Mrs. Gooch. Mrs. Umbarger and daughter are en route home from a trip to California and Colorado.

SPUDDERS GO BACK ATOP IN TEXAS LEAGUE

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Harvey Bailey, well known San Antonio outfielder, juggled a lazy fly ball yesterday and the Wichita Falls Spudders were back atop the Texas league standing.

Bailey's costly muff enabled the Spuds to make it two straight from the Indians, 14 to 12, after a 12-inning struggle. The tallenders were leading, 12 to 11, going into the last of the ninth and had every indication of winning until Harvey went haywire on Tuler's looper and Irving Burns trotted in with the tying run. That was all the leeway the Spudders needed. In the 12th Fitzgerald bumped one out of the lot with a mate aboard to make the victory official. It was Fitz's fifth blow of the melee.

The Fort Worth Cats were handed another jolt by the Buffs, 7 to 6, dropping into second place. The Panthers nursed a three-run lead into the ninth, when the Bigons suddenly jumped on Buchanan for four scores to break up the game. Dizzy Dean went in and set the Cats down in order in their half. The win tightened Houston's hold on third place, three and one-half games off the roof.

Waco continued to feel the loss of its regular third sacker, Jodie Tate, as the Dallas Steers handed the erstwhile sensations their sixth straight loss on the road, 6 to 4. The venerable Del Pratt, filling at the hot corner, mopped up a pair of bunts that led to as many Dallas runs and had a miserable day at bat. Twice he was the victim of a third out with the bases loaded, and again with two Cublets on. While the Mavs fell on four opposing chunkeys in timely fashion, old "Specs" Meadows hurled steady ball all the way.

Chick Shiver smacked two homers to account for half of his team's runs as the Beaumont Exporters made it two in a row at Shreveport, 10 to 6. The league's leading hurler, Oscar Tuero, was the victim, being charged with his fourth loss of the year. Beat to a whisper for seven frames, the Sports fell on Mallet for five runs and drove him from the hill in the eighth, but Green hustled in and stopped them before they could do more damage.

Blanscet Issues A Statement To Correct Rumors

Blanscet Issues A Statement To Correct Rumors

"FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Oct. 5. (AP)—L. L. Blanscet of Pampa, Texas, was shot in the arm above the elbow, while hunting with E. L. Davis in the Kaibab forest when he stepped into the range of Davis' gun. His arm was amputated by a physician at Kane, and he was being brought here by an airplane. He will remain in a Flagstaff hospital until able to return to his home."

Blanscet Issues A Statement To Correct Rumors

It is further rumored that he forged his way into the government hospital at Muskogee for the re-attachment of the same arm. In order to disprove the possibility of anyone being able to do this Mr. Blanscet has gone to the expense of telegraphing Dr. Pat Fite, head surgeon of the Veterans' hospital at Muskogee, Okla., and who also does private practice and operates his patients at the Muskogee General hospital, a civil institution located at Muskogee. Dr. Fite's telegraphic reply is as follows:

"MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 14, 1930.—Lon L. Blanscet, Pampa, Texas. You were not in the government hospital, but you were hospitalized in the Muskogee General hospital, a civil institution located at Muskogee, Okla., and you were operated as a private case for which you paid me in full. The operation consisted of a re-attachment of the right arm a few inches below the shoulder. Hope you get elected sheriff." (Signed) DR. PAT FITE.

Mr. Blanscet has the cancelled check showing payment in full for the reattachment referred to in the above telegram. Mr. Blanscet is very anxious that no one shall get the impression that he is endeavoring to gain votes through sympathy on account of his misfortune. If anyone has decided to support him on account of the lost arm he asks that they forget his condition and look only to his qualifications.

Blanscet Issues A Statement To Correct Rumors

It is further rumored that he forged his way into the government hospital at Muskogee for the re-attachment of the same arm. In order to disprove the possibility of anyone being able to do this Mr. Blanscet has gone to the expense of telegraphing Dr. Pat Fite, head surgeon of the Veterans' hospital at Muskogee, Okla., and who also does private practice and operates his patients at the Muskogee General hospital, a civil institution located at Muskogee. Dr. Fite's telegraphic reply is as follows:

Blanscet Issues A Statement To Correct Rumors

"MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 14, 1930.—Lon L. Blanscet, Pampa, Texas. You were not in the government hospital, but you were hospitalized in the Muskogee General hospital, a civil institution located at Muskogee, Okla., and you were operated as a private case for which you paid me in full. The operation consisted of a re-attachment of the right arm a few inches below the shoulder. Hope you get elected sheriff." (Signed) DR. PAT FITE.

Blanscet Issues A Statement To Correct Rumors

Mr. Blanscet has the cancelled check showing payment in full for the reattachment referred to in the above telegram. Mr. Blanscet is very anxious that no one shall get the impression that he is endeavoring to gain votes through sympathy on account of his misfortune. If anyone has decided to support him on account of the lost arm he asks that they forget his condition and look only to his qualifications.

BIRTH CONTROL DISCUSSION AT BISHOP'S MEET

LONDON, Aug. 15. (AP)—The Lambeth conference of bishops of the Anglican church, which has just concluded its sessions, strongly defended the Christian standard of the family and of marriage and also took up the question of birth control.

On this the conference agreed that methods of control might be used in "those cases where there is such a clearly felt moral obligation to limit or avoid parenthood," provided this was done in the light of Christian principles. Birth control from motives of selfishness, luxury or mere convenience was strongly condemned.

The suggestions of the bishops, published in a lengthy encyclical yesterday, were given wide prominence in the London press and the reports overshadowed even the voyage of the R-100 and the troubles in India. It was remarked that if this newspaper display accurately gauged public interest, the frequent contentions that the community has become indifferent to religious matters seemed wide of the mark.

"Where there is a clearly felt moral obligation to limit or avoid parenthood, the method must be decided on Christian principles," one of the resolutions said.

"The primary and obvious method is complete abstinence from intercourse as far as may be necessary in a life of discipline and self-control."

"Nevertheless in those cases where there is such a clearly felt moral obligation to limit or avoid parenthood, and where there is morally sound reason for avoiding abstinence, the conference agrees that other methods may be used, provided this is done in the light of the same Christian principles."

"The conference records its strong condemnation of any methods of conception control from motives of selfishness, luxury or mere convenience."

The resolution, one of 70 passed by the conference, passed only over bitter opposition of high-church prelates, and those from the overseas branches of the church, it was understood. It was passed finally by a vote of 193 to 67.

The conference condemned divorce.

Noted Organdist Asks Sentence to Cure Dope Habit

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Dr. P. Reginald Deighton, 68, who said he once played the organ before King Edward VII and had played in the Rheims and Notre Dame cathedrals, begged Judge William Helander today to send him to jail that he might break the narcotic habit.

Shabbily dressed and unshaven, Dr. Deighton pleaded for a chance to cure himself in prison "although it may kill me." He was fined $100 and costs, the sentence affording him opportunity for treatment under state supervision.

Dr. Deighton said he was graduated from the Royal College of Organists at London 40 years ago and became enslaved to narcotics when suffering from rheumatism 33 years ago. He came to this country a year ago.

Walter E. Liebmann has returned to his work at the Pampa Ice Manufacturing company, after an absence of three days due to a summer cold.

POLITICS—

and Sterling was "carrying the banner of righteousness and victory."

The tense feeling of the governor's race also was noted in that for attorney general. At Amarillo, Attorney General Robert L. Bobbitt read his address, in order, he said, that he would not be misquoted by his opponent. At Port Arthur, James V. Allred denied he had anything to do with the distribution of a circular to which Bobbitt had taken exception.

Considerable discussion continued as to the attitude of State Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington, candidate for governor who was eliminated in the first primary. Ferguson headquarters were openly irritated at announcement by State Senator Walter Woodward that Small would take the stump for Sterling. They insisted that Small would make no speeches and also said James Young, another gubernatorial candidate eliminated in the first primary, would not speak for anyone. Senator Small said he will vote for Sterling, but has denied he will support him from the platform.

Virginia Man Is Held For Death Of Navy Worker

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—Herbert M. Campbell of Virginia Highlands, Va., today was indicted by a District of Columbia grand jury for the murder last April of Mary Baker, navy department employee.

Campbell, a Virginia real estate operator, was arrested after ballistics experts reported a gun belonging to him was used to kill Miss Baker.

He denied his guilt and claimed an alibi which was supported by members of his family. He was released by Virginia authorities but was immediately taken into custody by federal officers and the indictment today followed.

The Baker case has been a puzzle to District of Columbia, Virginia and Federal officers. The girl's body was found in a culvert near Arlington national cemetery after discovery of her abandoned automobile caused a search.

W. L. Davis and J. Q. Davis of Perryton were in Pampa Wednesday.

Preston Lester Injured

Preston Lester, employed at the McLaughlin No. 2, suffered a concussion of the brain, severe scalp wounds, and contusions on his left shoulder, Tuesday when a piece of timber fell from the middle of the derrick, striking him. He is improving at McKean and Connor hospital.

Children's Camp Refuses Flag—Mob Threatens

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 15. (AP)—A threatening mob of 2,000 men and boys with a sprinkling of women, was held to a deadline today by Sheriff Harry J. Tiff and six deputies, assisted by a dozen state troopers, at the Communist children's camp at Van Ketten, following threats last night to burn the camp.

Leaders of a mob of 200 persons from Waverly, N. Y., and Sayre and Athens, Pa., last night gave camp heads and the 70 children under their charge a half hour to leave before they set fire to the camp. Authorities arrived just in time to prevent the threat being carried out and established a deadline after dispersing the mob.

The trouble began last Friday when a society's offer of an American flag was refused by Mabel Husa and Alene Holmes, leaders of the International workers' relief camp for children at Van Etten.

Miss Husa and Miss Holmes were arrested on a charge of desecrating the flag after a mob had torn a red flag from the entrance and had burned a fiery cross there.

At their hearing yesterday the two young women obtained a postponement until tomorrow. Members of the International Labor defense were present at the hearing.

The 70 children in the camp were terrified when leaders of the mob, wearing white armbands, ordered the camp heads to leave before they burned it. Mob leaders said they were determined to destroy the camp before the inmates leave tomorrow, the last day of their stay.

R-100 Reports Bad Weather

ABOARD THE AIRSHIP R-100, Aug. 15. (AP)—Heavy rains and generally unfavorable weather conditions were encountered by the R-100 today on the homeward flight from America.

Better conditions were reported ahead, this afternoon, and the passengers were hoping the British dirigible would reach the Irish coast tonight and Cardington in the early hours of tomorrow.

A jazz band, coming in on the radio, drowned out the lashing of the rain against the windows and the passengers were entirely undisturbed by the bad weather outside.

There still was hope the big ship would set a new record for dirigibles in spite of all the unfavorable conditions.

Flexible Winged Plane Has Added Safety Features

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15. (AP)—An airplane with flexible wings hinged to the fuselage and operated by air drums was demonstrated here yesterday by the inventor, Waldo Waterman, who claimed special safety features for his device.

The wings, he said, flexed automatically in response to air currents made quick stopping after landing possible and could be tilted in flight to increase the plane's speed.

The wheels are attached directly to the lower wing and a skid drop from the front of the fuselage. Waterman flew his ship at a speed of 140 miles an hour. He said his device would be demonstrated at the national air races in Chicago.

Waterman has been flying since 1909 was once associated with the late Glenn H. Curtiss.

Three Residents Are Freed After Election Trouble

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. (AP)—A writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge F. Hawkins of the Criminal Appeals Court and returned to the Supreme Court, freeing three residents of Harlandale, suburb of San Antonio, from a sentence of contempt of court in connection with an election there Aug. 8, was on file today in the court clerk's office.

The usual procedure of a criminal court justice returning a writ to the Supreme Court was justified on the grounds that although it was a civil action, all judges of the Supreme Court were out of the state. The writ was set for hearing Oct. 8.

The writ was requested by Thurman Barrett, Elmer Bonham and Monroe Bernhard, who were fined $50 each and sentenced to one hour's imprisonment for holding an election to determine whether the town of Harlandale should be incorporated as a city despite a court injunction restraining the election.

Citizens of "Sunny South" and "Koepte addition," neighboring suburbs, sought to stop the election, claiming they were a part of Harlandale but had been excluded from participating in the election. Harlandale citizens and that citizens of the landale citizens replied that these sections spoke of themselves as suburbs were not in fact parts of citizens of San Antonio.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School Lesson for August 17, 1930.

General Topic:—Saul, A Man of Great Possibilities Who Failed.

Scripture Lesson:—1 Sam. 9:15-17, 25-27; 10:1, 19:9-11; 31:1-4.

1 Sam. 9:15. Now Jehovah had revealed unto Samuel a day before Saul came, saying,

16. Tomorrow about this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, and thou shalt anoint him to be prince over My people Israel; and he shall save My people out of the hand of the Philistines: for I have looked upon My people, because their cry is come unto Me.

17. And when Samuel saw Saul, Jehovah said unto him, Behold, the man whom I spake to thee! this same shall have authority over My people.

25. And when they were come down from the high place into the city, He communed with Saul upon the house-top.

26. And they arose early; and it came to pass about the spring of the day, that Samuel called to Saul on the house-top, saying, Up, that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went out both of them, he and Samuel, abroad.

27. As they were going down at the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant pass on before us (and he passed on), but stand thou still first, that I may cause thee to hear the word of God. 1 Sam. 10:1. Then Samuel took the vial of oil, and poured it upon his head, and kissed him, and said, Is it not that Jehovah hath anointed thee to be prince over His inheritance?

1 Sam. 10:9. And an evil spirit from Jehovah was upon Saul, as he sat in his house with his spear in his hand; and David was playing with his hand.

10. And Saul sought to smite David even to the wall with the spear; but he slipped away out of Saul's presence, and he smote the spear into the wall; and David fled, and escaped that night.

1 Sam. 31:1. Now the Philistines fought against Israel: and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down slain in mount Gilboa.

3. And the battle went sore against Saul, and the archers overtook him; and he was greatly distressed by reason of the archers.

4. Then said Saul to his armorbearer, Draw thy sword, and thrust me through therewith, lest these uncircumcised come and thrust me through, and abuse me. But the armorbearer would not; for he was sore afraid. Therefore Saul took his sword, and fell upon it.

Golden Text:—Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.—Cor. 10:12.

Time:—Saul made king, B. C. 1102. Philistine wars begin, B. C. 1086. Final break between Samuel and Saul, B. C. 1078. Saul drives David into exile, B. C. 1068. Death of Samuel, B. C. 1065. Death of Saul, B. C. 1063.

Introduction

"Saul began so well! And Saul might have been what David was—accompanied by God, prosperous, and the idol of his people. Two souls stand side by side for a moment on the same platform, with the same divine goodness and love enshrining them, and the one steadily rises, while the other steadily sinks. How awful are the endless possibilities of progress in either direction that lie open for every soul of man!"—Alexander MacLaren. The story of Saul opens in Samuel's old age. The great prophet-judge had not learned the lesson which he should have learned from his predecessor, Eli, but had repeated Eli's great mistake in failing to train his two sons in ways of righteousness. The people saw that, as judges, those young men took bribes, were avaricious, and perverted justice; therefore, despairing of a successor to Samuel from his own family, they asked Samuel to appoint some one to be king, as all the surrounding nations had kings. Samuel protested vigorously, but the people insisted, and finally Jehovah told His prophet to grant their request.

Meeting With Samuel When Saul started out from home to find the asses that had strayed from his father's pastures, little did he dream of the experiences to which his journey would lead. Though he did not suspect it, the hand of God was guiding him. The failure to find the animals he was hunting resulted in his meeting with Samuel, the old prophet who had so long ruled Israel. "That these two should meet, and that the older of them should have the opportunity of instructing and influencing the younger, was of the greatest est consequence for the future welfare of the nation. And the meeting is brought about in that casual way that at first sight seems to indicate that all things happen without plan or purpose. Yet we find, on more careful examination, that every event has been planned to fit in to every other, as carefully as the pieces of a dissected map, or the fragments of a fine mosaic."—Blake.

Saul's Appearance "When he stood among the people, he was higher than any of the people from his shoulders and upward." When Saul was brought before the people, they were at once impressed by his splendid physique. "To an Oriental people, a stately and commanding personality was essential to an ideal king. They liked a king that would look well on great occasions, that would be a commanding figure at the head of an army, and inspire at first sight an involuntary respect for the nation that had such a ruler at its head."

Saul and Jonathan The warlike Philistines on the Mediterranean seaboard had gained such ascendancy over the Israelites in Central Palestine that they would not allow them to have smiths to make weapons and sharpen their tools, so that they might be as defenceless as possible. They looked with deep suspicion on the election of Saul as king, considering it a portent of revolt. Saul knew that he would soon be attacked by them, and carefully prepared an army. Jonathan, Saul's brave and noble son, himself took the offensive, and the news of his successful attack flew over the land. A host joined Saul at Gilgal, the ancient capital.

In this battle Saul almost lost the day and nearly lost his own son by invoking a curse on any one who should eat before the victory was gained. But Jonathan did not know of his father's injunction and ate a little wild honey to strengthen himself for the pursuit. Saul, when he heard of it, was on the point of slaying Jonathan, but the people were more sensible, and their determined protest saved the crown prince whose gallantry had really won the day.

Saul Forfeits Kingdom At the opening of this important campaign Samuel bade Saul wait at Gilgal till he should come to offer sacrifice and obtain Jehovah's favor for the way on which he had entered. In order to test Saul's faith and obedience Samuel delayed his coming for a week beyond the time he had set. Saul's soldiers were deserting, and at last his impatience could brook no further procrastination. There should be sacrifices, but he would offer them himself, which he proceeded to do. In the course of his impious proceeding Samuel appeared, horrified, and sternly rebuked Saul's unfaith and disobedience. "Because you have not kept the Lord's command," the aged prophet declared, "your kingdom shall not continue." It was a true prophecy, and must have shaken Saul's wiful self-confidence, but he soon forgot it and was as headstrong as ever.

Saul's Moral Decline "The Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord troubled him." As the result of Saul's disobedience the Spirit of Jehovah left him, for the Holy Spirit cannot make his abode in an unholy life. To punish him, the Lord sent an evil spirit to take his place, a spirit which tormented him with melancholia, one of the most distressing of all forms of insanity, as the records of insane asylums show abundantly. Modern insane asylums also show the power of music as a soothing treatment for the insane, and it is used for that purpose exactly as David's harp and David's lovely psalms were used in the case of Saul. The young shepherd, David, calmed and delighted Saul by his beautiful soul as well as by his sweet songs, and became at once a favorite with the king.

Seeks to Kill David For the remainder of Saul's life his dark story is interwoven with the bright history of David. The shepherd boy's defeat of the Philistine giant, Goliath, made him the idol of Saul's army, won for him Saul's daughter Michal as his wife, and aroused against him the king's bitter jealousy. Fortunately Jonathan, the fine spirited crown prince, who would naturally be most jealous of David's rising fame, felt nothing of that embittering passion, but loved David as his own soul. When Saul planned David's death, it was Jonathan who interceded him, winning his father to better thoughts, and gaining for David his old place in Saul's affections. But this did not last long, for war again broke out with the Philistines, and the laurels again went to David, so that Saul's murderous jealousy was once more excited.

"And Saul sought to smite David even to the wall with the spear," Moffatt's translation is, "Saul tried to pin David to the wall with the spear." A sudden frenzy, born of jealousy, came over Saul, and he was in the habit of yielding to his fits of passion rather than suppressing them. "But he slipped away out of Saul's presence, and he smote the spear into the wall." David had not lost the agility of his shepherd days, when he had to meet the wolves and bears that attacked his sheep. "And David fled, and disappeared that night." He saw clearly that further attempts to soothe Saul were futile; the king had placed himself beyond help.

Saul at Gilboa Though David was in exile, fleeing from place to place with a band of bold followers who adored him, Saul continued to seek his life. On two occasions, when Saul was pursuing him, David could easily have slain the king, but refrained. During this period the aged Samuel passed away.

"Saul's last offense was his consultation with the witch of Endor. He knew that God had ordered witchcraft punished and put down throughout Israel. He knew that he himself had arrested and punished all whom he could find who practised necromancy and divination, and that it was a great sin to consult such; but now utterly desperate, with no hope of a communication from God, he requested his servants to seek out a woman who had a familiar spirit. Next day the battle was fought."—Rev. M. H. Wharton, D. D.

Despair and Death "Now the Philistines fought against Israel." These long-time enemies of Israel had gathered all their forces for a life-and-death struggle. The fierce onset of the Philistines drove Saul's army back upon their camp, and then pursued them as they sought safety in vain on the slopes of the mountain. "And the battle went sore against Saul and the archers overtook him." "Therefore Saul took his sword, and fell upon it." On the day after the battle the enemy found Saul's body, recognized it, and cutting off his head, fastened his body and those of his sons to the wall of Beth-shan.

Warnings "We have seen Saul declining from very promising appearance of religion, and advancing from one degree of impiety to another, till at last he scrupled not to consult the devil himself, and then perished miserably by his own hand. Let us, then, beware of formality and hypocrisy. Let us fear to depart from the clear line of duty in even the minutest circumstance. For many have fallen by little and little."—Thomas Robinson.

Chicken Pox Found in Few Flocks of Birds Over County

BY RALPH E. THOMAS
County Agent

Chicken pox, or (diphtheria) has been found in a few flocks of chickens in Gray county. One flock of five hundred birds has been reduced to nearly half by the disease during the past week. As the disease is highly infectious precaution should be taken that the disease may not be spread to other flockover the county. The disease may be carried by infected birds, by free flying birds, or by persons passing from infected yards. At the present time there is little danger of general infection over the county if the poultrymen use precaution in going where there are sick birds, and are careful not to bring any infected chickens in the flock. In going from infected pens persons should disinfect shoes and hands.

Chicken pox has the same general symptoms as roup, but may be distinguished from the latter by nodules on the head and the presence of cheesy patches in the eyes, mouth and throat.

As a precaution any sick or droopy bird should be taken out of the flock as soon as detected, and should be put in each gallon of drinking water. It is also well to give the entire flock Epsom salt at the rate of one half teaspoon to each adult bird. The salt may be mixed with enough mash for one feeding.

To Widen Streets

Instructions were given the city engineer to make plans and specifications for the widening of the pavement on Frost street on the west side of the new fire station, and for the widening of the pavement ten feet on the street east and the street west of the new city hall, at the meeting of the city commissioners Tuesday.

It was also decided at this meeting to have the radius of all four corners of the courthouse block set back ten feet.

This meeting was one of the shortest the commissioners have ever had, the entire proceedings requiring slightly more than one hour.

Mrs. Ora McNamara Granted Divorce

Mrs. Ora McNamara was granted a divorce, custody of a 10-year-old girl, and $100 a month for the support of the child, in 114th district court this week by Judge Clifford Braly. The court also ordered division of community property between her and her husband, P. T. McNamara.

Tuesday, Judge Braly granted Ralph Walker's petition for an injunction to restrain his wife, Mrs. Martha Walker, from visiting Walker's blacksmith shop. The court also ordered Walker to pay Mrs. Walker $15 per week to support two boys, and house rent since Aug. 5 until a suit for divorce is heard in court.

Walker in his injunction alleged that Mrs. Walker came to the blacksmith shop and attacked him with wrenches and other tools. Mrs. Walker on the stand denied this and declared that her husband beat her when she visited the shop. He exhibited a bruised elbow testifying that the injuries were inflicted by his wife.

Stange Marriage Tale Wins Divorce

A story of strange pre-nuptial happenings and a non-existent marital relationship won a divorce for C. W. Berry from Elizabeth Rebecca Berry in 114th district court this week.

Berry told the court that he first met his wife during the latter part of last year while he was staying at her father's house at Vernon. He testified that her parents wanted him to marry their daughter but that he was already engaged to a girl at Dallas.

The daughter then wrote to the Dallas sweetheart, telling her that she and Berry were married, and asked her not to write to her husband any more, Berry said. This brought the Dallasite to Vernon. She immediately went to the place where Berry was working and that young man denied that he was married and in addition promised to marry the Dallas girl as soon as he could go home, change his clothes and get back to town.

Berry stated that when he started back to Vernon, the parents and their daughter were waiting for him at the front gate. "They made me get in the car, and when we got back to town they made me marry the girl," he said. Berry said he left Vernon the next day and has never seen his wife since, although he searched for her at other places several months later. He declared that he was going to marry the Dallas girl as soon as the divorce was granted. "She's still waiting for me," he said. "I've explained my marriage to her to her own satisfaction."

Magnolia Company Offers New Ethyl

Announcement is made by the Magnolia Petroleum company of its new Anti-Knock gasoline, called Magnolia Ethyl.

This new gasoline is offered the motoring public because motor car makers continue to increase the compression ratios of engines.

"When the Magnolia Petroleum company first marketed Magnolia Anti-Knock gasoline," E. P. Angus, vice president, explained, "that gasoline had sufficient anti-knock properties to develop the greatest efficiency in motors with high compression ratios."

"But in the last year and a half motor car makers have gone on increasing compression ratios until the natural anti-knock properties in any crude are not sufficient to develop the full power and speed of these motors."

"The Magnolia Petroleum company is the best gasoline it is possible to produce, now offers Magnolia Ethyl gasoline, which has sufficient anti-knock qualities for motors of the highest compression ratios.

"But," he continued, "Ethyl fluid does not make a gasoline good. It merely makes it adaptable for present-day motors so as to develop their full power efficiency."

Working with the knowledge that the better the gasoline to which Ethyl fluid is added, the better the resulting anti-knock fuel, Magnolia engineers have perfected a gasoline peculiarly suited to the newest types of motors, Mr. Angus added.

"Death defying stunts" are scheduled to be performed Sunday, August 17, at 3 p. m., at the Canadian river bridge on the Amarillo-Dalhart highway. Both automobiles and airplanes will be used in the stunts. Harold English will execute perilous dives in a plane and flaming cars will be sent over cliffs to fall into the quicksands 100 feet below.

J. E. Morrell of the McCarty motor company made a business trip to LeFors yesterday.

H. G. Hamrick, Amarillo, Potter county auditor, was a business visitor here Wednesday.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH GRANT, artist's model loves ALAN STEYNE, painter, who is also loved by CHUMMY MOLEY, Judith's best friend. Chummy had loved Steyne years ago, and had lost her memory when he went away; so, although Steyne loves Judith, Judith insists it is his duty to marry Chummy, whose memory comes back when she sees him again. Judith studies dancing, rejects the offer of the rich BRUCE GIDEON—whom Steyne distrusts—to star her in a show, and appears in a show backed by RICHARD WYON, who is secretly acting for Gideon. Chummy sees Judith in Steyne's arms and breaks her engagement. Steyne begs Judith to marry him but she refuses, telling him he belongs to Chummy. BASTIEN DUMONT, young artist who loves Judith takes her to an artist's ball. He learns that Wyon is really the agent of Bruce Gideon, rich financier, who has been infatuated with Judith for a long time, and on the afternoon of the ball he sees Judith coming out of Gideon's house.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIII
 Judith was ready for Bastien punctually at nine o'clock. She wore a frock of bright-green tulle, with a broad sash and little sleeves of silver lace. Her shoes and stockings were silver, and there was a wreath of silver leaves in her red-gold hair. She looked like a fairy. She was still very thin, but she had lost the dragged look of fatigue and of unnatural excitement. The rest was doing her a world of good.

She teased Bastien about being so quiet as they walked to the Lemon Grove. Judith was snug in her fur coat. A rather crude and yet elusive perfume reached the young artist's nostrils as she tripped close by his side and linked her arm in his.
 "Chummy has promised to come, Bastien. Clara will be there, and all the boys. It will be like the dear old times!"
 "The dear old times!" repeated Dumont mechanically.
 "Bastien, your voice sounds like a funeral! Aren't you well? Buck up, old boy! You wanted me to come."
 They reached the dancing hall. It was, indeed, a gala night. From the roof the lights hung in lemon-colored Chinese lanterns that cast a glow like moonlight on the dancers. The stiff lemon trees painted on the walls had been touched up and their tubs made scarlet. The wood work around the doors was scarlet, and all the beams were bright royal blue. In the supper room an even more dazzling color scheme had been devised, as the members said, "to make you forget what you're eating and drinking."

The pace was crowded. They saw everybody they knew. Chummy was with Michael Stone, Clara Jenks with Tony Leigh. Clara was very smartly dressed and prosperous at the moment; but her snub face lit up with the old adoration at the sight of Bastien, and Judy made him go and dance with her at once.
 It was not until half an hour later that he found Judy again. Without a word he put his arm around her waist as the orchestra struck up, and they danced the whole of a fox trot through without speaking. Judy and Bastien could make a fox trot into a thing of beauty.
 When it was over, she drew a deep breath.
 "You do dance better than any man in the world, Bastien!"
 They danced several more dances, always in silence. At last Judy exclaimed:
 "I say, Bastien, I'm fond of dancing, but I did want a little chat!"
 "So do I," he said. "Come into the other room."

The supper room was long and narrow. Half of it was taken up with table, covered with red-and-blue-checked tablecloths. At the farther end there was a kind of alcove, with a window looking into a disused timber yard. The window was curtained with orange and green.
 On a long buffet were spread sandwiches, pastries, and sausage rolls. Most of the foreign element drank straws with water, but there were always spirits, vermouth, and beer for those who wanted them.
 When Judy and Dumont entered there was already a crowd round the buffet, and all the tables were full. Dumont piloted her to the alcove, in which were placed some basket chairs. There was nobody there at the moment, and the others made noise enough to make private conversation easy.
 Judy sank into a chair.
 "You might get me some lemonade, Bastien," she said. "I'm parched—Oh, Bastien!"
 He voice had suddenly fallen to a whisper. As he stood over her, she noticed for the first time that there was something the matter with her friend. He was ghastly pale; the dark hair lay on his temples in wet rings. His eyes had a wild stare. He swayed to and fro on his feet, as he stood there, but he had control over his voice.

"Judy, what were you doing at Gideon's apartment this afternoon?" he asked.
 She stopped, and looked at him with a touch of offense.
 "Oh, yes you were there. I saw you come out!"
 "Yes, I was there, Bastien; but how queer you are! I was having tea with Mr. Gideon and his sister, Madame de Toros."
 "You lie!" he said under his breath. "There was no other woman there. You were alone with him!"
 "I was not. Bastien, are you mad?"
 "You are a liar!" he went on, bending over her, with his back to the others. "You said this man Wyon owned the Monopole, and brought you out as a purely business proposition. That's a lie. He's Gideon's agent—it was Gideon's money. You lied to us all, pretending you knew nothing about it. The Monopole is Gideon's theater. I've been talking to his business manager this afternoon, and he told me all about it. Wyon's only a man of straw."

"Bastien!" Judy's face was white as a sheet. He eyes stared, full of a dreadful fear. "Bastien, you can't be telling the truth! You're mad! It isn't so. Mr. Wyon—"
 But now Bastien was past control. He dragged Judy by the shoulder out into the room.
 People crowded around them, and other dancers pushed their way in from the ballroom. The rumor had swiftly spread that there was a scene—by no means an unknown incident at the Lemon Grove.
 Dumont's voice rang out, ugly and reckless with drink and the madness of jealousy. He gripped Judy by the shoulder all the time.
 "You people, see here! This girl we thought we knew so well—she's taken a rich man's fancy! That swine, Bruce Gideon—she's been taken up by him, if you please, and made into a great dancer!"

And she kidded all of us—her old friends—that it was all business, and that Gideon had nothing to do with it. She's a liar—that's what she is! Judy Grant's a liar! And she's—"
 But the rest was never spoken. Tony Leigh and Michael Stone, with horror-stricken faces, burst through the crowd and seized Dumont.
 Judy gave a low cry. As Dumont's grip on her relaxed, she slipped unconscious to the floor.
 Chummy rushed to her friend's side. Other men cleared a space. Dumont was led away, laughing riotously in his madness, and Judy was carried to the cloakroom.
 There was a hubbub for a short time, and among the little crowd of friends there was immense surprise. It was so unlike Bastien! He was such a quiet fellow, and they knew that he adored Judy.
 Many of the other people, however, though it rather was a storm in a teacup. They knew it as a matter of common gossip that Bruce Gideon was "running" the little dancer. Dumont had drunk too much, had got excited, and had made a fool of himself. Well, he would have a head in the morning, and would feel very sorry for himself. Meanwhile, on with the dance!

Judy opened her eyes in the cloakroom. Chummy was bathing her forehead and the attendant was holding smelling salts to her nose. She gave a little moan.
 "Take me home!" she said. "My head is splitting. What a terrible noise that band is making!"
 Chummy hastened out to tell someone to call a taxicab. The attendants tried to make Judy drink some brandy.
 "No, take it away," she said.
 Chummy came back, and with her Michael Stone. There was a side door. They helped Judy out through a yard, and into the taxicab. She smiled at Michael in the old childish way.
 "I was a perfect silly, Michael!"

She did not speak in the cab. When they reached the door Chummy hesitated.
 "You're tired, Judy dear—"
 "Come up with me, please, Chummy!"
 Chummy had no choice. They went upstairs into Judy's little sitting room.
 Judy's first action was a very Judyish one. The room was full of flowers, as usual—a marvelous collection of midwinter roses and carnations and lilies. Judy swept them all out of the vases and bowls, leaving trails of water everywhere. Then she opened the window, with her arms full of them, and flung them down into the street.
 "What did Bastien say, Chummy?" she asked, when she had slammed the window down.
 "I wasn't there," her friend answered.
 "But you must have heard from the others. Chummy, I must know! As far as I can remember, he said that Mr. Gideon was—"
 "Judy, darling, poor Bastien was drunk."
 "He said Mr. Gideon was giving me money," Judy went on inexorably. "He told all the boys and girls that I had taken Mr. Gideon's fancy, and that he had paid for everything and brought me out at the Monopole."
 "Judy, Bastien adores you," Chummy insisted. "He is jealous, and he was drunk."
 "I know he was drunk," replied Judy; "but that was what he said, wasn't it?—that Mr. Gideon had paid for everything—that the Monopole is his theater—that Mr. Wyon is only Mr. Gideon's man of business. And Bastien said I lied because I pretended that it was Mr. Wyon who had brought me out, and that it was a matter of business. Is that right, Chummy?"
 "I wasn't there—yes, I suppose that's what he said; but he wasn't responsible."
 "You see, Chummy, you may believe me or not, but I didn't know. It was an awful shock. That's why I fainted. I knew Bastien never meant to hurt me. I knew that he had gone mad; but it was the shock—his shouting that all out before the boys, and making me out to be Heaven knows what! And I didn't know, Chummy—I didn't know! That brute has utterly deceived me."

Chummy, and that slimy little devil with the old woman's face! And I thought I knew men!"

Poor Judy dropped on a chair and laughed and cried convulsively. Chummy did her best to comfort her, very much at sea as to what it all meant.

"Of course you didn't know, Judy darling! It doesn't matter—not a pin. Nobody would have believed it."

"Easiest said I was a liar! He had them all! He's found out something—if he isn't quite mad."

"Dearest, he never meant it. He wasn't himself. They all know that. Now you must rest, Judy. Let me put you to bed."

"No, I'll put myself, thanks. Chummy, angel, thanks ever 'so much, and good night. Don't stay—I'm all right. I must get some rest because tomorrow I've a great deal to do."

Judy was up quite early the next morning. She dressed herself with more care than usual. She looked quite collected, but she was simply boiling inside. She would have brought down the universe about her head without a quiver.

She was going to have no truck with men of straw.

She rang up Bruce Gideon's apartment, and asked him when he could see her. The answer was that he had an appointment at 11 o'clock. She said that she would be at his home at half past 10.

Gideon was in his study, and she was shown straight in there.

"Is it true, or is it not," she began, "that you own the Monopole theater, and that you paid all the expenses of bringing me out?"

"What have you been hearing, Miss Judy?" the big man cautiously replied.

"Just that. Is it true?"

"Well, yes, it is. How have you found out?"

"Never mind! So you've fooled me over this business!"

Gideon behaved with commendable tact. He was neither frivolous nor self-satisfied nor provocative in any way. "After all, what do you object to?" he asked persuasively.

"I object to being deceived," said Judy savagely. "I object to people saying that you run me, and that I've taken your fancy. I object to anybody thinking I've ever taken anything from you, except a few meals!"

She flung the last words out with a biting contempt that brought a glow into Gideon's pale eyes.

"Who is saying that?" he asked.

"Never you mind! It has been said."

Gideon looked at her inquiringly.

BOY HIRED TO KILL CHINESE TELLS POLICE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP)—Through the dark and mysterious maze of a fitfully warring Chinatown today moved the menace of "Tong slaughter on a strictly cash basis."

For behind the arrest yesterday of three Chinese and a Filipino lay a story whose ferocity startled even detectives. The story was told by two white youths whose identities remain a secret with the police to protect them from the fate they were hired to mete out to four Leong tongmen at $500 a murder.

A nineteen-year-old youth, friend of detective Cosenberg, told him that as he was sitting in Bryant Park, dispondent over his inability to find work, he was approached by the Filipino, Lamberto Bullaran, 38 who asked him whether he was working.

The Filipino, the youth said, then told him he could make some money "if he had any guts."

"That's all I have got," the youth said he replied. "What's the proposition?"

"Murder Chinks at $500 a Chink," was the answer.

The youth said he agreed and promised to bring a companion into the scheme. Arrangements were made to meet at a 26th street laundry last night. The youth tipped off Rosenberg who with four other detectives waited outside the laundry while the youths went in.

The two were introduced to the Chinese who gave them their instructions. Bullaran was to go with them. They were told four Chinese had been marked for death at their hands last night.

When the youths emerged from the laundry with the Filipino, the detectives seized him, but he put up a terrific struggle, and was subdued only after 15 minutes of fight. The detectives then arrested the Chinese.

"Since your conscience is quite clear—" he began.

"My conscience is clear enough," she interrupted, and the words dashed from her lips like a mountain waterfall. "But I shouldn't like to have yours, Mr. Gideon! Lying to a poor girl who has to make her living—making her name a byword! Do you suppose I'd have gone on with the job, once M. Guarventus was dead, if I'd known it was a fool to be taken in. Other people knew it—my friends, all the people I love, and a lot of horrible strangers; but I never knew it myself!"

Arkansas Slayer Is Electrocutted At Prison Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 15. (AP)—W. H. (Bill) Howell, 64-year-old triple slayer was electrocuted at the state penitentiary here today.

Howell in whose behalf a long legal battle had been waged, was strapped in the electric chair at 7:05 a. m. and four minutes later was pronounced dead. He went to his death calmly. He was given the death penalty for the killing of Jeff Nicholson, an aged inmate of the infirmary. He was indicted but never tried for the slaying of Superintendent Cliff Deffenbaugh and his wife.

Howell's dismissal from the infirmary as a result of a quarrel in which Nicholson was involved, prompted the killings, the state charged at Howell's trial.

During a long legal battle Howell remained hopeful of having sentence commuted to life imprisonment. Governor Farnell, however, would not interfere.

Slayer Given Life Sentence

HONDO, TEXAS, Aug. 15. (AP)—Homer Edwards was under life sentence today after conviction of the slaying of John W. Bradshaw.

Bradshaw's body was found in Guadalupe river near Waring on April 10.

Ernest Young was recently given a 40-year penitentiary sentence in connection with the same case.

Edwards pleaded insanity, and did not deny the slaying except in a formal plea of not guilty on arraignment. Two statements in which he admitted the killing were read to the jury over the protests of the defense.

Murderer Hanged

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 15. (AP)—Robert Lee Wilkins was hanged in the penitentiary here today for the murder of John W. Brooks, Walla Walla attorney, on the night of Dec. 9, 1928.

J. E. B. Williams, Dallas, was in Pampa Wednesday.

S. G. Surratt and Ben Renshaw were visitors in Clarendon Tuesday.

DOLLAR VALUES

Your dollar today is worth 58 cents—42 cents less than in 1914. In other words that is the buying power of your present dollar as compared with the 1914 dollar. This is natural. Material costs, labor costs, tax costs, are all higher—the producer, the distributor and the retailer cannot do business at pre-war dollar values.

Your ELECTRIC DOLLAR, however, is worth $1.36—more than double the 58-cent cost-of-living dollar.

In spite of paying the same rising costs of material, wages of labor and of taxes, there has been such a tremendous increase in the efficiency of production and in the extension of use of electricity, that light and power are now one commodity selling far below pre-war prices.
