STERLING'S LEAD OVER "MA" IS NOW 93,277 TEACHERS INSTITUTE WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 8

SCHOOL OPENS THREE DAYS LATER IN CITY

Dates Announced by Supt. R. B. Fisher Today

TEACHERS WILL GATHER HERE

Football Game to Be Played Prior to Opening

The teachers institute in the Pampa Independent district will begin here on Monday, Sept. 8, and enrollment of pupils will start Sept. 11, it was announced this morning by Supt. R. B. Fisher and the school board.

All teachers will be required to report at the Central high school building at 9 a. m. of Sept. 8. The institute will last three days. The program will be arranged in the next few days. The schedule of classes and assignments of teachers will be made during the institute.

The school term will start one week later than last year, and will end next May 23.

The first school activity will be the football game with Spur here on Sept. 6. A temporary cheering organization will be formed by the pupils for that game, and business houses will close during the contest.

Mr. Sackett estimated that at least 60 of the visitors were from Pampa. The Rev. A. A. Hyde, minister of the Pampa Presbyterian church, conducted the devotional service. He will remain during the rest of the camp, which will close August 28.

Every boy in camp will pass at least one rank, and will be honored at the close of the training period in a special service.

MANY VISITORS IN ADOBE WALLS CAMP SUNDAY

Visitors at the Ceta Canyon encampment of the Adobe Walls Scouts council on Sunday outnumbered the boys themselves.

There are about 85 boys in camp, and the visitors numbered more than 150. A heavy rain fell yesterday in the canyon, but the Scouts were well sheltered and all are in good health, according to Scoutmaster J. D. Sackett, who returned here today.

Large Crowds Attend Revival; Rev. Neal Speaks

Rev. Frank Neal, general evangelist and the Clarendon district gospel singer, was greeted by large and enthusiastic crowds at the opening services of the revival campaign at the First Methodist church Sunday morning and night.

There were no dull moments in the service while Rev. Neal fired his crenguines to the church to take up its responsibility and cooperate in the saving of the lost. He emphasized that the church is the house of mercy where all may find the blessing, that the church could have no substitute. The church should be a moving, vital, spiritual force where the multitudes may find manifestations of the presence of the Lord, dispensing light to a darkened world, and power to save sinners, he said.

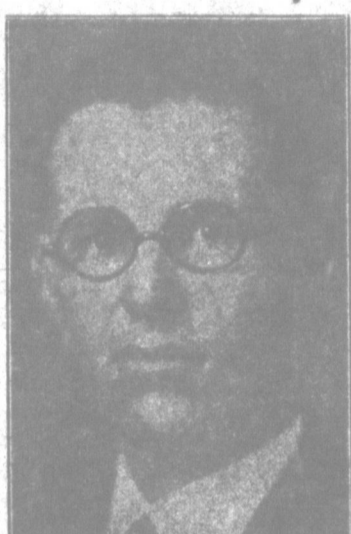

The pastor, Rev. Tom Brabham urged his people to attend the morning services from 10 to 11 o'clock each day. The quartet will sing at each service morning and night. The evening services are 8:15 o'clock.

FERGUSON IS SADDENED BY NEW DEFEAT

Tabulation Accounts Now for 838,211 Votes

ALLRED MARGIN IS SENSATIONAL

Sterling Has Quiet Sunday — Goes to Church

DALLAS, Aug. 25. (AP)—Ross S. Sterling's lead over Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for the Democratic nomination for governor was 93,277 votes when the Texas election bureau included the latest scattered returns in its tabulation today. The vote was Sterling 485,769; Ferguson, 372,492.

The tabulation accounted for 838,211 votes, including reports from all except one of the counties which held a run-off primary Saturday, 111 of them complete and the others nearly complete.

Other totals were: Lieutenant governor, Edgar E. Witt, 413,304; Sterling P. Strong, 350,618; attorney general, James V. Allred, 455,457; Robert Lee Bobbitt, 331,433; railroad commissioner, Pat M. Neff, 442,303; W. Gregory Hatcher, 325,642; state treasurer, Charlie Lockhart, 402,888; John E. Davis, 345,735; commissioner of agriculture, J. E. McDonald, 429,564; A. H. King, 298,782.

DALLAS, Aug. 25. (AP)—The great army of Texas Democrats today hailed a new leader drafted from the ranks of wealth and success in business, Ross S. Sterling of Houston, nominated for governor in Saturday's run-off primary.

The highway commission chairman defeated Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, member of a family prominent in Texas politics 16 years. Mrs. Ferguson was governor from 1924 to 1926 and was defeated for renomination in 1926. Her husband, James E. Ferguson, served as governor from 1914 to 1917 when he was impeached. He tried to come back to the governor's office in 1918 and failed. In 1920 he sought the presidency on the American party ticket. Two years later he reached the run-off race in the contest for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate.

Many large daily newspapers acclaimed the Houston man's victory as the political demise of the Fergusons. They pointed out that Fergusonism was dead.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The program for curtailment of oil production, sponsored first by the government as a conservation measure and begun later by the oil industry with co-operation of various states, is showing some results.

Instead of increasing as in previous years, oil production has been cut down. There was an increase from 901,000,000 barrels in 1928 to 1,006,000 barrels in 1929, but production for the first six months of 1930 was only 465,000,000 as compared with 488,000,000 in the first half of 1929.

Imports of crude oil fell off from 44,000,000 barrels to 31,000,000 barrels in the same period, but there was a corresponding increase in importation of refined products—mostly gasoline—so all that means is that the big American oil companies are doing more of their refining in the countries where they get their oil.

The significant point seems to be that while new resources have been discovered and the amount of "shut-in" oil has been at a new high peak, the amount of oil taken from the ground has nevertheless been diminished. The producers of crude have undertaken, with considerable success, to keep their output within the limit of actual demands. Competition in drilling as well as in production has been considerably cut down.

The Federal Oil Conservation Board pointed the way for this achievement and is now pleased with the results, but the industry acted voluntarily with the aid of state laws and state commissions. Crude oil is all converted into something else; no consumer buys it. Oil companies figure out their refinery demands and business requirements at the first of the year and the idea has been to make production fit those figures.

Geologists have given up making estimates of the supply of oil which the country may depend upon underground. In the past 10 years every such estimate has had to be revised as too conservative. New and better methods of geological exploration, discovery of deeper prolific sands, improved operating methods and successful rejuvenation of partially depleted fields have all widened the conception of how much oil there may be to be taken out.

The Federal Oil Conservation Board still insists, however, that since oil is an irreplaceable natural product the resources of oil are limited. In its recent and fourth report it pointed out that increased production was not an index of the remaining reserves but a record of depletion and a warning of impaired reserves.

The government, it said, must, in providing for national defense and promoting general welfare, co-operate to protect the newly discovered reserves and those previously known from dangerous and too rapid depletion.

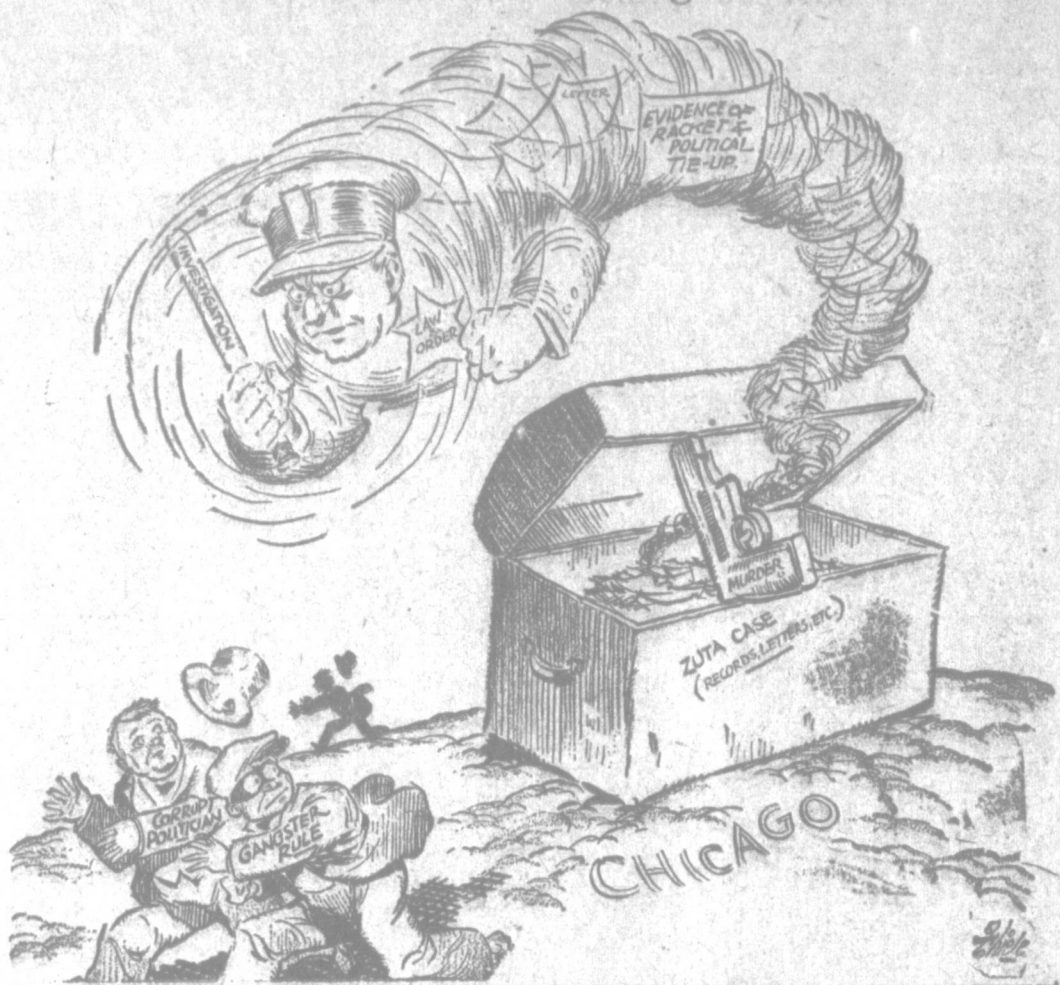

"Almost incredible increases in the rate of production" have been nearly matched by increasing consumption and no one knows how long the supply will keep pace with demand. And the Oil Board said: "Even the most generous estimates place the data at which our oil reserves will be depleted, under present rates of consumption, in the comparatively near future." The board's purpose, it pointed out, was to delay the coming of the day when impending shortage of crude oil will cause a radical advance in the price of gasolene and other refinery products.

The big hope of producing a gasoline substitute is now seen in the new hydrogenation process which makes a motor fuel out of hydrogen and carbon. A plant using this process has been in operation nearly two years in Louisiana and two or three more are under construction. Cost of production of this new motor fuel on a large scale has not yet been determined, but all experts in the petroleum field are intensely interested.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morpew and family of Borger were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Presnell Sunday. Charles Wylie, George H. Gray, and T. J. Clauson made a business trip to Amarillo yesterday. J. D. Kinnison has purchased the barber shop located at 121 South Cuyler from O. Z. McDaniel.

DANCING JUDITH

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN. COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY JUDITH GRANT, artist's model loves ALAN STEYNE, who is also loved by CHUMMY MORLEY, her best friend. Chummy had loved Steyne years ago, and lost her memory when he went away; so, though she loves Judith, Judith insists it is his duty to marry Chummy, who remains her memory when she sees him again. Judith studies dancing and becomes a star in a musical show backed by RICHARD WYON; later, however, she learns Wyon is merely an agent for BRUCE GIDEON, a financier who is infatuated with her. Meanwhile Chummy learns Judith and Steyne are in love and breaks her engagement, but Judith refuses to marry Steyne, telling him he belongs to Chummy. Judith plans to marry Gideon so that Steyne will forget her and marry Chummy; but she finds she cannot do it, and rejects Gideon's proposals. Steyne and Chummy are about to be married when Judith is badly hurt in a thirder fire. She goes to a hospital and it is doubted if she can ever dance again. Chummy, realizing that Steyne loves Judith, tries to commit suicide by inhaling gas, but is found and revived by BASTIEN DUMONT, a young artist who also loves Judith. She tells Bastien why she had tried to kill herself.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XII

Again a slight doubt crept into Dumont's mind. "Are you quite sure of all this, Chummy?" he asked. "Of course I am. When she came back the other day, she was only eager for Alan and me to marry; but she loves him, Bastien. Judy loves him and she loves her, but she will never marry him while I am alive; so you'd much better have let me die."

"That was your way out," he said. "The only way," she replied. Bastien rose and walked up and down the room. Chummy was recovering her self-control. Her voice no longer had that wild tone; it was her ordinary, beautiful, bell-like voice.

"I don't think it's the only way at all," he said. "It is, Bastien; and now you've spoiled it. You see, I've been perfectly horrid. When Alan used to be worried about Judy and Mr. Gideon, I used to think that Judy could look after herself, and that he was being too fussy. I never dreamed that I was standing between them!"

"You needn't stand between them any longer," he said. "I must while I'm alive. You know Judy. She'll never give way."

"Chummy, you couldn't marry Steyne if you were married to someone else."

"To whom?" "To me."

Chummy stared at him. "Oh, Bastien!"

"It's a perfectly sound suggestion," he assured her.

"But Bastien, you love Judy yourself!"

"So you know that?" "Of course I do."

"And so do you love her, Chummy. Between us, we can give her her happiness. If you marry me, you can't marry Steyne; and then she can."

"Bastien, you would be willing to do that for Judy?"

"Of course I would." Then he looked at Chummy and laughed a little awkwardly. "And, after all, we're a good deal in common, Chummy, and I don't think we should get on each other's nerves. I don't want to be rude."

"You're not rude, Bastien—you're wonderful. But are you sure it would work?"

"I don't see how it could help working. Married to me, you couldn't marry Steyne. Why should you?"

"You drive me mad!" he said. It was a whisper, but it went razing through the room. He was shaking from head to foot. Madness had entered into him. He could not have her, and he wanted to kill her.

"If you can, why shouldn't I?" she asked. Her voice was deeper than ever. "I don't think you love her more than I do Bastien—only differently; but it's not fair to you."

"Why not?" he asked belligerently. "Aren't you a wife any man would be lucky to get? I should say you were!"

"Oh, I don't know, Bastien. I'm rather funny, you know. Remember all those years! And then, when Alan did come back, I didn't know him, Bastien. I might easily get queer again."

"I'll take the risk," said Dumont and his eyes met her with an unflinching purpose behind which lurked the humorous twinkle necessary to lighten the situation, difficult as it was.

"And then they both laughed. "My way out is better than yours," Dumont went on. "In fact, it's the only way. If I hadn't come in tonight, Chummy, and you had really done that supremely idiotic thing, do you think Judy wouldn't have known? Do you think for a moment Judy would have married Steyne then? Do you imagine Judy would ever have been happy again?"

"I believe Judy cares for you, in a way, more than she cares for anybody on earth. There's a pace in Judy's heart that nobody but you can ever fill. It's a bargain, then?"

"If you really think it's the best way, Bastien."

"You'll have to buck up and do some acting," he said a trifle nervously. "You've got to be happy, you know. We'd better get married at once quite quietly, without letting them know, and go away. They'd do some wondering. Then we turn up again, an old married couple. That way it won't give Judy such a shock."

"No, Bastien."

"I think between us we can manage it."

"Oh, yes, of course we can." She smiled at him—that wonderful young smile now tinged with the maturity of pain. "I believe you're right, Bastien. It's perhaps the only way. You know Judy."

"We won't come back too soon," he said. "We'll go abroad somewhere. After all, Clarissa, we have our work." His voice and face were very grave. He looked at her as if he wondered whether he was asking too much of her; and then, suddenly, he became his usual bright self. "And now, Chummy, don't you think you ought to see a doctor?"

"Oh, no," she answered vigorously. "I'm quite all right. I don't think I did it very thoroughly, Bastien."

They shook hands on their pact, and Chummy washed and changed her dress, and they went downstairs together and around the corner and across the road to indulge this being a special occasion, in Gino's special table d'hote dinner.

German Fliers Reach Halifax on Trip to America

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 25. (P)—The German seaplane D-1422, carrying Captain Wolfgang von Gronau, German aviator, and his crew of three from Germany to New York, arrived at Halifax today after a one stop flight from Queensport.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 25. (P)—Captain Wolfgang von Gronau and his three companions, who have flown by easy stages in their Dornier Wal flying boat D-1422 from Germany by way of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador, paused at the little fishing village of Marie Joseph today and waited for clear weather before continuing on to Halifax, 80 miles westward.

Fog along the coast interrupted this morning's flight. The fliers reached Queensport, N. S., yesterday afternoon and continued their flight this morning, starting at 6:50 a. m. (EST) for Halifax where a supply of oil and gasoline awaits the vessel. Captain Von Gronau had started in the face of foggy weather, but with prospects that it would clear.

At 8:30 a. m. the flying boat was set down at Marie Joseph. It had kept a true course through the fog, but the captain decided against an attempt to make Halifax until conditions were more favorable.

Friday the plane left Reykjavik, but chose a course toward Greenland instead of toward Germany and after reporting position occasionally by radio, landed at Ivigtut, Greenland, in the afternoon. Fuel had been sent on there and Saturday morning the plane continued to Cartwright bay, Labrador. Departure from Cartwright bay was at 7 a. m. Sunday morning.

Captain Von Gronau said apart from the fog they met with no difficulties on the flight. The trans-Atlantic crossing is the third westward crossing of the North Atlantic, the other two, however, having been non-stop crossings.

YOUNG DANNY TAYLOR PROVES REAL SENSATION WITH CUBS

STEALS HOME WITH SCORE TIED IN NINTH

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer

By his brilliant work as substitute for "Old Hoss" Riggs Stephenson, young Danny Taylor has just about won himself a regular place in the Chicago Cubs outfield. Taylor, who finished the Cubs' triumph over Brooklyn a week ago by driving in the winning run in the final game, did the same thing in the New York Giants yesterday in a more sensational fashion and put Chicago five full games ahead in the National league pennant struggle with a 3 to 2 triumph.

Taylor stole home in the ninth inning when the score was tied, the bases full, two men out and two strikes on the batter. The Cubs' triumph which gave the badly-worn Robins a day of rest added a few more complications to the National league struggle for all except the Cubs. The Giants dropped a half game, remaining only 1-2 games ahead of Brooklyn, while the fourth place St. Louis Cardinals placed themselves only one game behind the Robins by winning a double header from the Phillies, 9 to 4 and 6 to 4.

In the clash between two of the league's promising winning streaks at Cincinnati the Pittsburgh Pirates extended their series of triumphs to seven games by defeating the Reds in the first game, 9 to 6, as Ray Kremer's pitching stopped the Cincinnati string at five. It was broken, however, in the second game when Ray Kolp had the better of a duel with Steve Swetonic by a 2 to 0 count, each making five hits.

Opening their new series against the eastern clubs of the American league, Washington trounced Philadelphia, 7 to 3, and reduced the leaders' margin to 7 1/2 games.

The New York Yankees fell further back in third place as they divided a Cleveland double-header with the Cleveland Indians. The Yanks won the first game, 5 to 3, in eleven innings as Dusty Cooke clouted a home run with two on bases after Cleveland had broken a 2-2 tie. Wes Ferrell hurled his 22nd victory for the Indians and his eleventh in succession in the second game, allowing the Yanks only six hits for a 4 to 2 triumph.

The St. Louis Browns checked Earl Whitehill's series of pitching successes at eleven when they pounded him for 13 hits in eight innings and defeated Detroit, 7 to 5. The Chicago White Sox remained virtually tied with the Browns in the standing as they split a pair of pitchers' battles with the Boston Red Sox. Boston won the first 2 to 0, on Milton Gaston's three hit hurling but Chicago gained a 5 to 4 victory in the eleventh inning in the second clash as Pat Caraway outpointed Eddie Durham.

Rain Sends Harvesters to Tent At Training Camp—Scrimmage Is Held Briefly Yesterday by Boys

Pampa Harvesters last night were routed from bunks distributed for half a mile along the North Fork when the rain began to fall. They assembled under a large, but not waterproof tent. Enjoying the outdoor life, the boys have been using their ingenuity to devise sleeping quarters. A few stayed under the tent, but most of them sought groves and trees to fix up individual camps. The News representative spent an hour hunting up various camps and becoming familiar with Camp Salsbury, Tree James, and the like.

Charles James took to a tree, desiring solitude and time to think. He is out for football for the first time, although he has starred at basketball and track. Inevitably, several of the lads were found in the swimming hole. And, also inevitably, several were badly sunburned and smarting where "shoulder pads rubbed."

Yesterday the boys had Sunday school, and some good thoughts volunteered by the athletics constituted the sermon. The boys said it was a good service, and Coach Odus Mitchell was smilingly noncommittal. The good humor of the camp is the first feature noted by visitors. Will Rogers could get a new supply of wisecracks on short notice.

Ray Chastain, with a flair for music dancing, was heard deploring the prevalence of soprano voices on the records played on the camp portable phonograph. The soprano could be heard for half a mile, but the "music" seemed to fade into the atmosphere. Ray said when he became president he would make it an offense for sopranos to make records.

The Spatters, or anti-cigarette club, is gaining recruits, although the initiation wrennits by the writer was severe. Albert Lard, one of the Knights of the Padle, spent most of Sunday afternoon whittling out shillennials.

But the main purpose of the camp is football, which is being given to the more than forty boys in stronger and stronger doses. First scrimmage was held yesterday afternoon for a few minutes. The casualties were few, and confined to several lads who surrounded watermelons during the afternoon while out from under the eye of the mentor.

From now on the boys will be running plays, and the 1930 machine will begin to take form. With practically no new material available, the task Coach Mitchell faces is to develop the little Guerillas of 1929 to fill the places of the Harvesters who were lost by graduation last spring. Much of the work must be with the line, and return of Assistant Coach A. M. Fox with a travel tour this week will help that department.

Supt. R. E. Fisher and Principal L. L. Sone visited the camp yesterday afternoon for the first time since they returned from New York and California, respectively. The camp will close Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Campbell made a trip to McLean Sunday.

CATS SLOWING BUFFS DRIVE FOR PENNANT

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

The wild dash of the Houston Buffs toward the Texas league pennant pinnacle wash checked at least temporarily yesterday when the Fort Worth Cats nosed out the Belton 8 to 7 in the opening bout of their important series at Buffalo stadium. It was the initial loss for the Junior Cards since they returned to South Texas a week ago. By getting the drop on the club they figure they will have to beat out to win the second half, the Panthers boosted their pennant stock considerably. They were only a half-game behind the Spudders today and a game and a half ahead of the Buffs, with fourteen days to go.

In halting Houston's streak the Felines handed Dizzy Dean his first defeat after a run of six straight triumphs. The rookie sensation yielded two runs in the third inning and finally was taken out for a pinch hitter after the Cats had fallen on him for five more in the sixth. Dick Whitworth helped win his own game with a homer and double that drove in three runs. Generally overlooked in the excitement of the past week, the Shreveport Sports have crept up on the heels of the leaders and easily could be in the thick of the scrap within a few days. Trouncing the San Antonio Indians 10 to 5 in their opener yesterday, the Louisiana enter entrenched itself more firmly in fourth place, two and a half contests from the top.

By dropping a Sunday double-header to Beaumont, 8 to 1 and 5 to 4, the Dallas Steers ran their reverse streak to seven. The Atzems at least have proved themselves consistent. Before lapsing into their present coma they had captured 10 in a row.

Rain erased the Spudders' inaugural at Waco.

Women Facing Hard Golf Test

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25. (AP)—A hundred champions sought the women's western golf title, held by Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, in the week's hillcrest starting today at the Hillcrest country club. Mrs. Hill and Miss Dorothy Page, Madison, Wis., were designated to lead the qualifiers out on the 18-hole test which will determine the 32 to win places in the championship flight.

Seasoned players among the women said the hilly course is a severe test to best golfers and many averred women par to 82 would be broken by few of the 100 entrants. Par out is 42, in 40. Men's par is 73, 37 out and 36 in.

Match play will begin Tuesday. All matches, until the 36-hole finals, will be at 18 holes. There will be five other flights besides the championship group.

Among those expected to give Mrs. Hill a battle is Mrs. C. C. Cary, Dallas, Texas state champion.

BANDIT GETS $3,000 OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 25. (AP)—A lone robber held up Thomas Curtis, clerk in the Oklahoma Railway company receiving station here today and escaped with $3,000.

Seeking U. S. Polo Honors

They're a couple of hard riding Texans whose mallets are flashing in the test matches to pick a United States "varsity" polo team. Ranch born and bred, H. W. (Rube) Williams, left, rode No. 2 for the "Whites" when they won the fast galloping ninth match from the "Reds" by a score of 19 to 16 at Locust Valley, Long Island. A strong rival for the No. 2 position on the varsity team of Cecil Smith, right, who rode No. 3 for the defeated "Reds."

Strong Sooner Team Will Be Seen in Canyon

CANYON, Aug. 25.—Following the announcement of night football at West Texas comes also the announcement of the scheduling of another very important football game. The same to serve as an opener.

Central Teachers college of Edmond, Okla., has been scheduled to meet the Buffaloes on the night of September 26. Central is the leading team of the Oklahoma Conference having won the Oklahoma conference championship in football twelve times during the last seventeen years.

Central is coached by Chas. W. Wantland, a graduate of Oklahoma University; he having played at Oklahoma just prior to the time that Coaches Reed & Burton were playing under Oklahoma colors.

Wantland has coached at Central seventeen years and has never produced a poor team.

The Central team meets some of the strongest in the Southwest. Last season Centenary was able to nose out the Oklahomans by the small margin of 9 to 6, after the Sooners had led in scoring through out the last three quarters of the game.

The last two times the Central team met Oklahoma University, they defeated O. U. once and tied them once. This is probably the strongest football team that has ever been scheduled by a Buff grid team and it is expected that thousands of football fans will witness this grid classic.

SMILING GIRL FROM ENGLAND IS NET CHAMP

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Betty Nuthall, 20-year-old British girl with a smile famous on two continents and a blistering forehand drive, is the new tennis champion of the United States.

She wasn't considered good enough to have a place this year on the British Wightman Cup team and she was a disappointment at Wimbledon, but before an American gallery that made her its darling she scored a double triumph in the finals of the National Women's championships on the rain-drenched courts of the West Side Tennis club. Succeeding to the title forfeited by Helen Wills Moody just before the tournament started, Miss Nuthall captured the singles championship by defeating Mrs. Anne Virgin, le McCune Harper, San Francisco left-hander and fifth ranking American, 6-1, 6-4.

Returning to the courts after a heavy downpour and playing on slippery turf through intermittent showers, Miss Nuthall teamed with a 17-year-old American girl, Sarah Palfrey O'Boston, to win the doubles honors. They came from behind to defeat Mrs. Harper and Edith Cross, also of San Francisco, 3-6 6-4, 7-5.

For the first time in 43 years, the American Women's singles championship goes abroad in Miss Nuthall's possession, but few victories by homebred stars have been received with any more applause than was Betty's triumph.

DEMPEY TIP MOVES STRIB TO SLUG OUT OF SHADOWS

Willie Stribling, Dixie flier, hopes to soar to the top of the heavyweight division, by supplanting boxing with slugging, a suggestion of Jack Dempsey.

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Georgia's fistic peach, suddenly transformed from a cautious boxer to a puncher, socked his way from an obscurity which fell over him following his mediocre performance against Jack Sharkey in Miami.

Stribling, lithe veteran of more than 300 fights, although he's only 26, started a new drive for the title when he knocked out Otto Von Porst in the first round in Chicago.

Down in Dixie, where the home folks have strung along with Strib even in his bad moments, they're giving none other than Jack Dempsey some of the credit for the Georgian's spurt—and his new lethal powers.

Dempsey refereed a fight in Atlanta a few months back and said that the Dixie flier could become a champion.

Strib, who has been boxing since he was in knee pants, is one of the most colorful figures of the fight game. Trained from childhood by his father-manager, a former acrobat, Willie did some of his first fighting for nothing because "Pa" wanted the promoters to look "the boy" over.

He fought in virtually every weight division as he grew up and has never been knocked out. Besides that he's a first class aviator, has a plane of his own, boasts a transport license and is a flying officer in the army reserve corps.

Citizens Congratulated By Benedict On Obtaining of Denver Railroad

Congratulations to Pampa on securing the new railroad have been received by M. K. Brown and C. F. Buckler from Judge Russell Benedict of Great Neck, L. I., owner of the White Deer lands and one of the founders of this city.

The letter follows:
Dear friends,
Your telegram of the 16 inst. was received and I congratulate you and the citizens of Pampa on the success of your efforts in the matter of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad. It ought to prove of great benefit to Pampa and was justly due to its citizens.

Please remember me to my friends in Pampa, whom I am hoping to see some time again.

With my best regards, I am, as ever,
Yours faithfully,
RUSSELL BENEDICT.
P. S.—I enclose a memorial of Mr. Frederic de Peyster Foster which may interest you, R. B.

The memorial, prepared by Mr. Benedict and printed in the 1930 yearbook of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, follows:

"Frederic de Peyster Foster, a member of the Association from 1881 until the time of his death on May 25th, 1929, was born in the City of New York on February 20, 1849. His father was Frederic Giraud Foster and his mother was Emily Hone. He has several brothers and sisters—Andrew Foster, deceased; Clara (Carey) DeLafield, the deceased wife of Richard DeLafield; Giraud Foster of Lenox, Mass.; Marie Antoninette Sherman of Paris, France; John Hone Foster, deceased; Emily Hone de Rham, the wife of Charles de Rham, and Albert Edward Foster, deceased.

"Mr. Foster studied at private schools in New York and was graduated from Columbia college with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1869, with the degree of Master of Arts in 1871, and from Columbia law school with the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1872. During 1869-1870 he studied at the Sorbonne in Paris. After his admission to the bar in this city, he became a partner in the law firm of Carey and Foster with his brother-in-law, Geo. Herbert Carey.

"On April 7, 1883, he married Mrs. Julia Marshall Talbot, the widow of Richmond Talbot, who survives him. He died at Tuxedo Park, New York, where he has resided for many years.

"Mr. Foster, by his own exertions, built up a large and lucrative practice, specializing in the field of real estate law in which he became well recognized as an eminent authority. He did not take up the practice of law in the courts, preferring an office practice. He was adept in the drawing of wills and achieved renown as a most careful conveyancer and competent adviser in the law, rather than for forensic eloquence in the courts.

"By reason of his ancestry and social prominence he was much sought after as a leader in sociologic interests. He also was connected with many financial institutions in New York City on whose boards he rendered assiduous service for many years. It may be worth while, as indicative of the extent of his labors in these fields, to call attention to some of the organizations to which he had, from time to time, belonged and with most of which he was still associated at the time of his death, viz: New York Bar association, became member in 1881; New York State Bar association, Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club, founder; St. Nicholas Society, president for years 1900, 1901; Sons of the Revolution, Huguenot Society, Society of Colonial Wars, director of Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, director of Fulton Trust company, director of Providence Fire Insurance company, United States director of the Royal Exchange Assurance of London, New York Genealogical and Biographical society, chairman of the trustees of the New York Society Library, New York Historical Society, member of the Board of Counselors of the Society for the Relief of Destitute Children of Seamen, trustee and treasurer of the New York Dispensary, vice-president of the Society for the Relief of the Destitute Blind of New York and its vicinity, attorney for the members of the advisory committee of An Association for the Relief of Respectable Aged Indigent Females in the City of New York, treasurer of the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind. He was also a member of the Knickerbocker club, former governor; Union club, Tuxedo club, former governor; University club, and the Downtown association."

WE CELEBRATE OUR FIRST ANNIVERSARY IN PAMPA

We do it by enlarging our stock to meet every office need, and by increasing the personnel of the business to render more prompt and efficient service to our customers.

Our business has been most gratifying throughout the first year, month after month showing a steady increase. Our building has been enlarged to accommodate a larger stock of goods, and each month we have added a large number of new names to our list of satisfied customers.

It is our ambition to keep abreast with growing Pampa, and to meet every demand for office furniture and appliances, from pins and clips to high-class desks and steel equipment. If we haven't it, we'll get it, and at a price no more, possibly less, than you would pay elsewhere.

With Royal typewriters, both standard and portables, Shaw-Walker Skyscraper steel files, and Victor Adding machines, we feel that we have adopted lines that have no superior in the office appliance world, and a man specially trained and with years of experience in the sales and service of typewriters and adding machines, we are prepared to give expert service to all makes of machines and back it up with our guarantee of satisfaction.

We are here to stay and grow with Pampa, and we invite your account.

such a vote on demand. Ross Sterling should keep this in mind, for though his following would probably put him into the run-off for re-election two years hence, a vote like that of Saturday against him would be obviously disastrous. He must make a good governor to win a second term—a very good governor, indeed.

Evidently quite a number of Gray county folk scratched the name of both candidates for governor, as they had threatened. There were 2870 votes for governor, and 2972 cast for sheriff in the county. A peculiarity of halting seems to be that the least known candidates tend to get nearly equal support. How this occurs is a mystery, but the voters appear to use a hit or miss method which equalizes the support.

Comparison: Oklahoma has a governor nominee who boastfully seldom bathes—Texas has one who is accused of having 29 bathtubs.

Come to think of it, we believe there are several revolutions going on in the world, but of late most folks have been confining their thoughts to domestic political revolutions.

Wins Nomination for Sheriff

By a 22-vote margin, Lon Blanset Saturday won the Democratic nomination for sheriff of Gray County.

Something Happened to "Ma's" Nose

This picture, taken at her bedside, shows Mrs. Minnie ("Ma") Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple MacPherson, the evangelist, and her nose, which she claims her daughter broke for her in a fist fight at the latter's Angelus Temple in Los Angeles. With Mrs. Kennedy is Kharvina Burbeck, her secretary.

Racing across country from California to Chicago, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, above, of Long Beach, continued to pile up her lead in the National Women's Air derby as the contestants passed over mountains and deserts of the southwest.

guson was 59 years old and that his wife had been beaten in her last two races. "Farmer Jim" was denied the right to run for governor this year because of his former impeachment. Since the election, Ferguson had kept his own counsel, but newspapermen last night noted that his voice lacked its usual ring of cheerfulness.

Goes to Church

Sterling observed the Sabbath about as usual. In the morning he went to church and in the afternoon he received friends at his Bayshore home. He and his party listened to the latest returns which showed his lead creeping slowly toward 100,000. The night before he had been assure of being the state's next chief executive unless Texas breaks a precedent it has followed since the reconstruction era—election of its Democratic nominee for governor.

Texas oil gave Ross Sterling, born poor, his millions, millions he has invested in philanthropies, in buildings and in the Houston Post Dispatch of which he is publisher. After he sold the Humble Oil company in 1925, he had more time to devote to public service and became chairman of the highway commission early in 1927. The governorship, however, was the first elective office he had sought.

Governor Dan Moody, who stumped the state for his appointee and against "Jim Ferguson," his bitter enemy, was one of the first to send the Houston man congratulations. In the first primary, Sterling waged his campaign on a proposal to issue state highway bonds, but in the run-off race he asserted all issues were overboard except that of "Fergusonism" and honesty in government.

Record Vote Cost

The torrid campaign was decided by more ballots than were ever before cast, probably more than 850,000. Sterling already was out with a statement urging Texans to forget the differences engendered by the contest and to join with him in a program of constructive government.

Dr. George C. Butte of Austin, nominated by the Republicans in the July primary, and R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Republican national committeeman, had made no comment. Both had predicted Republican victory in the fall in the event Mrs. Ferguson had been nominated.

Robert Lee Bobbitt, Moodys appointee as attorney general, was defeated in his fight to continue in that post by 31-year-old James V. "Jimmy" Allred of Wichita Falls, whose friends claim his speeches have an appeal to the common people which approaches those of Ferguson or of the late United States Senator Oseph Weldon Bailey. Allred's majority was already 125,000 votes.

Prohibitionist Wins

Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, one of the old crusaders for prohibition and state superintendent of the anti-saloon league two decades ago, was beaten for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor by the veteran state Sen. Edgar Witt of Waco.

Representative Guinn Williams of Decatur was given a scare by B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls, aligned with the Hoover-Democrats in 1928, in the only congressional contest but he emerged victorious. The latest tabulation gave Williams 20,386 votes and Sartin 17,461.

Allred lacked only a few votes defeating Claude Pollard in the attorney general's race four years ago. As district attorney at Wichita Falls he attained considerable fame thru his prosecution of former Mayor Frank Collier of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Collier for the killing of their son-in-law some five years ago.

Neff Easy Victor

Former Gov. Pat M. Neff of Waco, who lacked only a few votes of getting a majority in the first primary, in the race for railroad commissioner, had piled up a lead of more than 100,000 over state Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher. Neff, chairman of the railroad commissioner, had 441,238 votes, Hatcher 324,777.

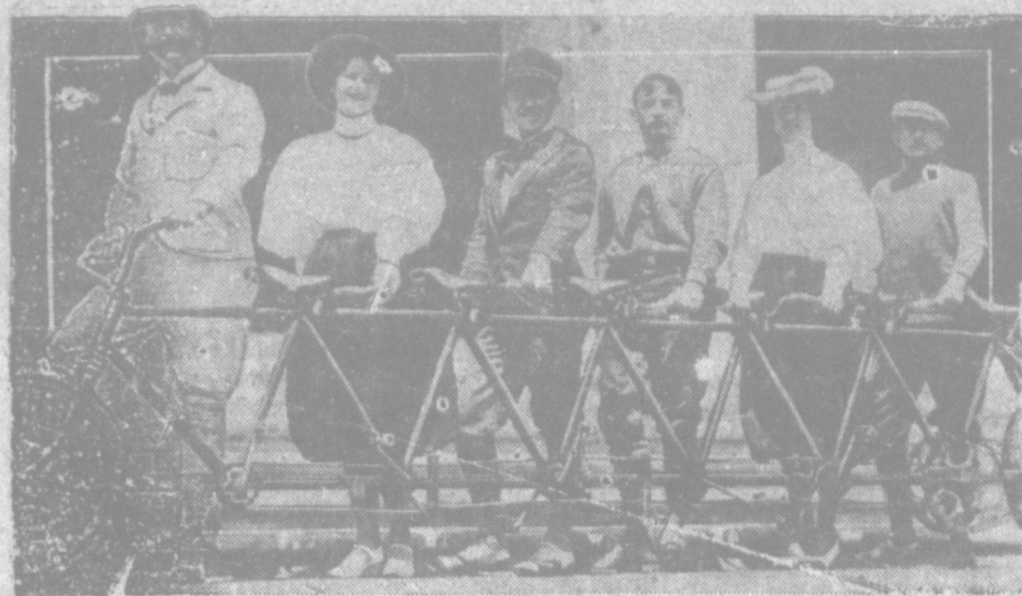

Charley Lockhart, an assistant in the state treasurer's department for 10 years and who is less than four feet tall, was elevated to the post of state treasurer. He defeated John E. Davis, seasoned legislator and editor of the Mesquite Mesquiter. Lockhart lived at Snyder a number of years. The latest count gave Lockhart 400,909 votes and Davis 345,016.

J. E. McDonald of Waxahachie scored a sweeping victory over A. H. King of Throckmorton, his fellow member of the state house of representatives, in the race for commissioner of agriculture. McDonald had 428,487 votes to 297,269 for King in the latest tabulation. The Ellis county man was nominated to succeed George B. Terrell, who relinquished the post voluntarily. Terrell has been nominated for a place in the legislature.

Two Senators Beaten

Two state senators, Ed Westbrook of Sherman and Eugene Miller of Weatherford, were defeated for re-nomination. Rep. Jake Loy of Sherman beat Westbrook by nearly 5,000 votes and Rep. Grady Woodruff of Decatur had a 2,000-vote edge on Miller. Ben G. O'Neal, Wichita Falls attorney and ardent fish and game protectionist, was nominated to succeed W. D. McFarlane of Graham, defeated for congress, in the state senate. O'Neal won over Ruben Ostin of Henrietta.

At Borger, Jim Crane, who was the chief deputy sheriff when martial law was declared last October and who resigned at that time, was nominated sheriff over C. O. Moore, who was appointed then.

T. H. McGregor, anti-prohibitionist and Ferguson friend, was nominated to the legislature from Travis county in a close contest. McGregor is a former member of the state senate.

Dallas county, always an anti-Ferguson stronghold, gave Sterling a larger majority than did Harris, his home. Sterling's lead in Dallas county was 16,530, with perhaps 250 votes unreported, while in Harris county it was 16,056 with the returns complete. These two counties returned the largest majorities for the Houston man.

Mrs. E. Voss was taken from St. Anthony's hospital, Amarillo, to her home in Pampa Sunday, in a Stephenson's ambulance.

"Mind."

The Golden Text was from Romans 11:34. "Who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath seen his counsel?"

The following passage from the Bible was included in the lesson-sermon: "After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people" (Jeremiah 31:33).

The service also included the following citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible. The only way to this living Truth, which heals the sick, is found in the Science of divine Mind, taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus" (page 180).
