

WOMAN DIES IN BLAST

Mrs. A. D. Payne, Wife of Potter Attorney, Victim of Infernal Machine Officers Win in Attempt to Lynch Negro Attacker

"Thar's gold in these here prairies."

Fact: Gray county ranks third in production of crude oil in Texas. Peecos and Winkler counties are first and second, respectively.

Some of the Harvesters are as brown as Indians and as hard as nails. They are digging ditches and doing other hard work in order to keep in condition for the Class football season. The contractors have offered jobs to the Harvesters, and construction work is calculated to tone up the Alps, et cetera if anything will. All the boys should be thinking of that hard schedule and the necessity for getting into first class physical trim.

The words may be somewhat mixed, but we are going to have the biggest Small club in Texas. Mr. Small's time is needed in other portions of the state, and it is up to his supporters to carry on his campaign in the Panhandle. While we should very much like for him to appear for a giant rally here, at the same time we know that his work is more valuable elsewhere. We shall, for the present at least, have to content ourselves with the hope that we shall have the honor of welcoming him many times as governor.

Wheat yields as high as 35 bushels to the acre are not uncommon in this vicinity. Not bad for a Republican year.

Remember The News' Summer Smile contest. Someone is going to be given a smile diploma and a $5 reward in the next fortnight. The judges may be looking at you, so smile, and ignore the heat.

If Lindbergh doesn't name that baby pretty soon, some of the big Morrow interests will be suggesting such titles as Standard Oil, General Motors, National Air Transport, and the like. He might even have to dub it "Spirit of St. Louis," or something. The lad ought to have a name—something short enough to fit the headlines easily.

Having such unusual parents, Lindbergh, Jr., is born with a handicap. We don't know what he can do to show his genius, but we fully expect him to do a parachute jump before his first birthday.

Ferguson has many faults, but he doesn't use the gubernatorial job as a stepping stone. He prefers it for parking space.

Mexico and Kingsford-Smith provide a respite from politics, but there are folks in this state and in this city who wouldn't go through an hour without a political argument even if war should be declared. This is a great country, but it takes politics so seriously that it even has to go down to Haiti and Nicaragua to help those lively boys hold their elections.

And speaking of Jim, not even Ma's opponent who styles himself the "dirt farmer," is flinging one-inch as much dirt as Farmer Jim.

Arthur Teed asks us in a sarcastic manner if we are going to stand by Pampa weather all summer. And sure we are. We haven't forgotten that cool spring, which allowed several months' extra wear of winter gear. The wheat harvest is no longer a physical ordeal lasting a month, and the farmers are behind us in approving this warm, dry weather. That's more farm relief than the Farm Board has given lately.

FIEND TAKEN ON FAST RUN TO BEAUMONT

Port Arthur Mob Is Outwitted This Morning

TEAR GAS IS VALUABLE AID

Eight Assaults Are Confessed by Black

PORT ARTHUR, June 27. (AP)—A mob of approximately 200 failed to get off a train here this morning.

Sliding the negro, who has confessed to eight attacks upon white women here in the past 30 days, the latest upon a young couple Wednesday night, down the fire pole in city hall, Chief M. B. Word and his officers successfully fought off the mob until the negro was placed in the car of the Port Arthur speeder.

After firing of several shots in the air, the fire car roared out of the fire hall with the negro in the rumble seat. The officers were taking the negro to Beaumont for safe keeping.

Fire Chief J. C. Enright had the motor of his speeder running and the negro was shoved into the rumble seat and the lid closed.

The mob made a rush for the car and had succeeded in opening the rumble seat and partly dragging the negro from the car when Officer Dewey Smith fired two tear gas bombs into the mob.

Two cars bearing members of the mob followed the fire chief's car in which the negro, Chief Word and Officer Dewey Smith were riding, but only for a short distance. Word from Beaumont at 11:30 said the negro had been lodged in county jail safely by the Port Arthur officers.

The trip to Beaumont, 22 miles from here, was made in 15 minutes. The victims, eight couples, were all attacked at different times while parked in cars on the Texas company road, near the gate of the Gulf refinery.

The negro will not be given a preliminary trial due to high feeling here. He will be billed direct by the Jefferson county grand jury in Beaumont and tried there in criminal district court.

Delegation Impressed

AUSTIN, June 27. (AP)—The Wisconsin delegation sent to Texas by Governor Kohler to investigate the possibilities of land in the lower Rio Grande valley frankly admitted following the three day tour of inspection that people of Wisconsin had been grossly misinformed as to its real worth, Governor Moody said today.

TRUHITTE WILL RETURN

Former Pastor Will Serve Central Baptists

The Rev. D. H. Truhitte, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city for more than two and a half years, has resigned his charge with the Baptist church of Weslaco, which he accepted several months ago, to return to Pampa as pastor of the Central Baptist church.

Announcement of the Rev. Truhitte's acceptance of the pastorate of the local church was made this morning by members of the official committee of the congregation.

The minister and his family will arrive here by July 10, and the Rev. Truhitte will take charge of the work of the church immediately.

The Central organization, now meeting in a hall on the second floor of the Culberson-Smalling building on Ballard street, has purchased three adjacent lots at the corner of North Starweather street and East Francis avenue, as a building site for a new church. It was indicated a building campaign would be the first major project under the Rev. Truhitte's ministry, and would be launched immediately.

Death Verdict Returned in Case of Joe Shield

BROWNWOOD, June 27. (AP)—Joe Shield was given death for the murder of his estranged wife, Mrs. Opal Mae Shield, by a jury in district court today.

The verdict was returned at 9:40 a. m., after the case was given to the jury last night at 11 o'clock.

Shield also was indicted for the murder of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shields, the three having been shot to death at Brooksmith, a small community near here, last night.

Mrs. Shield was killed as she sat on the front porch of her home and her aged mother and father were shot as they came across the street from their store after they had heard the shots that took the life of their daughter.

Shield, an oil field worker, surrendered to officers at Coleman a few hours after the triple killing and was quoted as having said he "made a good job of it."

He was placed in jail at Brownwood, but later was removed to a neighboring county for safe-keeping after Sheriff M. H. Denman said he feared possible mob violence. Feeling in the Brooksmith community was tense.

Visitor Tells of Majestic School

C. W. Burks and son Carl of Elk City, Okla., are business visitors here today. Mr. C. W. Burks is associated with the Diamond C company, and has recently returned from Chicago, where he attended the Majestic radio school.

There were 137 who attended from Texas and Oklahoma. A special train was run between Oklahoma City and Chicago. Those attending the school stayed at the Lakeside Athletic club, 15 miles from the Majestic factory. Five buses carried the students to the session of the school.

Mr. Burks said that the police department cooperated very efficiently with officials of the Majestic company in clearing traffic for the buses. An auto wreck at one time would have delayed the students but for the aid of motorcycle police who cleared traffic for the buses around the wreck.

C. O. Seeds was in LeFors yesterday.

ROMANCE IN SPOTLIGHT OF LONG FLIGHT

Southern Cross Men to Proceed to California

CHICAGO GIRL JOINS CO-PILOT

But Radio Operator Not Known by Cupid

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Columbian of Pacific and Atlantic and just 2,500 miles from a complete circumnavigation of the globe, Squadron Leader Kingsford-Smith and crew of the monoplane Southern Cross today were the honored guests of the City of New York.

At dusk last night, 6:30 eastern standard time, the Australian flier set his big black monoplane down at Roosevelt field, completing a 3,000-mile flight from Port Macquarie, Ireland, an epic journey interrupted only by a 24-hour stop for fuel at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

Tired? Not so very. Tired of flying? Not a bit of it.

As soon as New York gets through telling them what heroes they are they expect to take the Southern Cross on a non-stop flight to Oakland, Calif., completing for Kingsford-Smith a flight around the world that he started on May 21, 1928.

Bathed and dressed in fresh clothes, a late dinner of ham and eggs consumed, the major lolled back comfortably in a big chair in his suit at the Hotel Roosevelt and talked of flying.

The Pacific flight was the hardest of his two ocean crossings, he said.

Pacific Flight Hard

"The job of navigating a plane to a tiny spot in the biggest ocean in the world is too difficult to try very often," he said. "With the Atlantic we at least knew that all we had to do was keep on flying and we were sure to strike America. In the Pacific we had to hit a small island, and we knew that if we were the least bit off we'd be lost."

The aviation business thus disposed of the interview turned to more personal things. First, his fiancée.

SUSPENDED TERM IS GRANTED SHOOK

EASTLAND, June 27. (AP)—Thomas Davis was found guilty of the murder of Lucian Shook and given a five-year suspended sentence by a jury in district court today.

Davis had been given death at his first trial the judgment having been reversed and remanded by the Court of Criminal Appeals. He is also under indictment for the murder of Leon Shook, bodies of the Shook brothers having been found near a cabin they occupied in the oil fields, in September 1928.

Joe H. Jones, county attorney, said he would oppose bail for Davis in the pending case, and no date for trial on that indictment had been set.

The jury had deliberated since early Wednesday night.

Clyde Thompson also was indicted for murder for his alleged part in the double-slaying.

Woodrow Davis, brother of Thomas, testified that he and his brother had gone with Thompson to get the Shook brothers to go hunting with them. He said Thompson had killed the Shooks with a gun he had taken from the Davis home and that his only explanation of the double killing was:

"I wanted to see them kick."

Alcohol Kills Traveler—Dies in Police Station

Denatured alcohol claimed the life of its latest victim at 2 o'clock this afternoon when S. L. Dean, 53, died in the city jail.

He told police that he drank a pint of denatured alcohol last night and displayed an empty bottle as proof. The label on the bottle indicated that it had been bought at Panhandle. A few drops of the alcohol remained in the bottle.

The man was found just before noon today by Police Chief J. I. Downs in an unfinished room of an apartment house now under construction near Central high school. His groans drew the attention of workmen, who notified the police. Dean was totally blind when found by Chief Downs, but asserted that he was not ill. He walked without the assistance of the officer.

He was taken to the police station and a physician was summoned. While the doctor was on his way to police headquarters, Dean became suddenly ill and asked permission to lie down. He was placed on a cell bunk where he died two hours later. The body is at the G. C. Malone funeral home pending arrangements.

The victim told Chief Downs that he lived "here and there," and he gave the address of a brother who lives in Memphis, Tenn. He has been notified of his brother's death. It is believed that Dean came here yesterday.

Dean told the police that he was a painter by trade.

The physician in charge said that there was not a chance for the recovery of the man. Dean said he was in the habit of drinking denatured alcohol.

Report of Expense in Campaigns Must Be Filed By July 2

Aspirants for county offices, if they have not already made a careful check of their expenditures in behalf of their campaigns, will do so before next Wednesday.

July 2 is the deadline for making a report of expenditures to Charles Thut, county clerk. Another report must be made following the election.

MYSTERY IN TRAGEDY NOT YET SOLVED

Explosive Placed in Auto Under Seat

BOY ALSO MAY DIE OF WOUNDS

He and Mother Were Driving Down Town

AMARILLO, June 27. (Special)—An infernal machine, placed in the family automobile by unknown hands, today took the life of Mrs. A. D. Payne, wife of a well known Amarillo attorney, and probably fatally injured her 14-year-old son.

Mrs. Payne's body was blown to pieces by an explosion which wrecked the body of the car as she was driving toward the city from the Country Club addition, where the family home is located. The explosion apparently was directly beneath the driver's seat.

The boy's left side was lacerated and he was hurled 30 feet into the air. An arm and a leg were almost torn from his body. The chassis of the car was left intact and neither the engine nor gasoline tank was damaged.

Bits of wiring and pieces of dry cell batteries were found in the wreckage by detectives. Tex Thornton, widely-known nitroglycerine expert and oil well shooter of the U. S. Torpedo company, inspected the wreckage and said positively that the blast was not caused by gasoline or dynamite, but that either nitroglycerine or TNT had been used.

Mrs. Payne and her son had driven eight or nine blocks from their home when the explosion occurred. Mr. Payne had, according to his custom, walked to his office this morning, and Mrs. Payne was to join him. The tragedy occurred about 10:35 a. m.

All available men of the sheriff's office, police department, and the district attorney's office were working on the case, but no arrests had been made. Payne said that, although the bomb appeared to have been meant for him, he could recall no enemy who would go to such means to kill him.

Payne had been a candidate for district judge but recently withdrew. He had participated as an attorney in several sensational cases in the Panhandle during the last year. One of these was an attorney for the plaintiff in the breach of promise against J. A. Whittenton.

Payne, a degree graduate of West Texas State Teachers college, studied law in spare time, passed the state bar examination, and has been practicing law here for several years. He formerly was superintendent of schools at Canyon.

INTRODUCES HOUSTON TO TEXANS

Marquis James through the medium of "The Raven", Pulitzer prize biography, has given Texans a new conception of the man who was already well known through Texas histories but whose calibre was never stressed as national in character.

The writer was taught his Texas history by a native Texan, but he confesses that he did not know much of the real Houston until he read James' great biography.

James' Houston is not altogether admirable, but he is a Texan of greater zeal than even proud Texans have imagined and claimed.

The biography has been made "required reading" in New York City schools, where many pupils still pronounce it "Howston", as they do their Houston street.

And Marquis James, by the way, pronounces his given name "Marky".

"OLD PETE" IS BEATEN BUT STEERS WIN

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

That old ditty to the effect that it's not what a man used to be, but what he has on the ball at the present moment, had a new significance today for old Grover Cleveland Alexander, who apparently has reached the last outpost of a long and honorable career.

The crafty veteran, who stood major league batters on their heads for some twenty years, made his first appearance in the Texas league yesterday and was hammered from the hill by the Fort Worth Panthers, who are no respecter of persons. Notwithstanding that their new ace was driven out in the fifth, however, the Dallas Steers pounded their way to an 18 to 9 victory to square their series with the Cats.

Old Alec was unfortunate in picking one of the hottest days of the year to make his debut. The heat apparently affected him, as it did some 8,000 fans who turned out to give him a rousing send-off. For four innings the veteran did very well, but in the fifth the Panthers hopped all over him. Among the wallopers off him was a homer by Joe Bonowitz, third Cat up in the first inning.

In coming back to win for Walt Tauscher, who succeeded Alexander, the Steers displayed a world of punch. The team's revamped line-up, clouted three Panther pitchers steadily, rolling up 18 hits and scoring in every inning. Their attack reached its crescendo in the seventh, when nine runs crossed the plate. Gene Moore and Frank Tobin each smacked two homers, Moore poling one in the seventh with the sacks loaded.

Alexander's heralded premiere, however, only served to detract attention from the fact that the Wichita Falls Spudders have started out to play tag with the field team. The first half champs slammed out their second straight victory over Shreveport, 9 to 1. While Lester White limited the Sports to seven hits, the Spud swatsmiths made merry with Morrell. Fitzgerald led the way with a triple, double, and single.

The Houston Buffs kept pace by scoring their second win over the San Antonio Indians, 10 to 3. It was an easy one. The Bisons swatted Smith and Mallico lustily, Kaufman and Lucas hitting homers with men on, while Joe Brown had the Red Men well tamed all the way. Doubles by Filpen and Moore gave the losers their only earned run in the first frame.

Beaumont also kept their second half record clear by taking a 12 to 4 verdict from Waco. The Exporters knocked Wachtel from the hill in the fifth and then finished up on Thurman. Among their 17 hits were homers by Easterling and Wade. The Cubs got Denny Burns out of there in the fourth, but Mallett stopped them cold the rest of the way.

NO FIRE DAMAGE

A trash box at the rear of the Piggy Wigly store on West Foster burned last night about 10 o'clock, causing a lot of flame and smoke, but no damage was done as the fire department extinguished the blaze a few minutes after it began. Flames soared above the roof of the building and a large crowd soon gathered.

Apology Is Made to Baseball Writer

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Edward G. Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, has apologized for an assault on Bill Slocum, veteran baseball writer of the New York American.

Jacob Ruppert, owner of the club yesterday expressed "profound regret" over the incident, and announced the appointment of George Perry, his personal secretary, to handle all matters in which the club makes contacts with the press. This work previously had been handled by Barrow.

Barrow's attack on Slocum was the outgrowth of an article in which Slocum had criticized the secrecy with which Barrow surrounded all news of trades and other general interest.

Barrow's apology for the attack was made at a meeting of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

Clingman Weathers Storm of Roughness to Win Over Rose—Two Falls are Fast

Recovering from a row of vicious head-locks, Otis Clingman executed an unusual body slam to win the third and his second fall in a fast match with Jack Rose last night at the Pla-Mor.

Otis turned a head-lock to his own advantage by slipping his head through Rose's legs when the latter rushed at him, and by flopping him over on his back. When Rose fell, Clingman was lying on top of him, and he quickly pinned both of Rose's arms. This left the Dallasite powerless to move and his shoulders were square on the mat.

San Fenberg, local referee, declared that the first two falls set a world's record for speed. Rose won the first fall 18 seconds after it started with a step-over toe-hold and a hair hold. After the two wrestlers had shaken hands, Rose kicked Otis' feet out from under him, grabbed him by the toe with one hand and by the hair of the head with another. He was slowly bringing these two together and in addition putting plant yof pressure on Otis' back when the Pampa wrestler patted the mat.

Clingman equally good at surprises caught Rose unawares with a flying toe-hold and the second fall lasted 101-2 seconds. In the first two falls, Rose by numerous slugs and the hair-pulling instance indicated that he was a tough young man.

Clingman Weathers Storm of Roughness to Win Over Rose—Two Falls are Fast

Recovering from a row of vicious head-locks, Otis Clingman executed an unusual body slam to win the third and his second fall in a fast match with Jack Rose last night at the Pla-Mor.

Otis usually takes a lot of punishment before he pays back slugs, bites and hair-pulling, but last night it seemed that the Dallas boy infuriated Clingman a few minutes after the third fall began. Rose got rough but Clingman was rougher. Rose broke an arm-lock by biting Clingman and later on Clingman broke a bone-crushing double toe-hold by applying the most agonizing sort of finger hold. One must admit that Otis was goaded into using rough tactics. For instance he bit the Dallas boy's finger hard enough to bring the blood when Rose was tugging at Otis' cheek with his two fingers in the Pampa's mouth. He applied the finger-hold when Rose was trying to get a hair-hold in addition to a double toe-hold.

Each of the wrestlers got a split, and both were adept at applying and recovering from dizzy head-locks. Rose managed to throw Otis out of the ring one time, but Clingman landed on his feet. The Pampa wrestler executed an unusual number of armlocks. The third fall drew vehement applause for Clingman from the crowd, while Rose was alternately hissed and booed. Rose weighed 170 and Clingman 158.

The preliminaries featured amateurs but were interesting and fast.

Baseball Game—Guns and "66"; Saw Only Two "Hits" in Game

(BY A. F.)
(Impressions of a sports writer on seeing his first baseball game.)

There are dramatic critics who never saw a play, music critics who have never been inside an opera house nor a concert hall, book reviewers who never read the book and their stuff sounds genuine, but this is the story of a sports writer who saw his first baseball game last Sunday. The fact is no reflection on his technique because he could turn out a pretty good story by dint of much questioning of both teams.

It is true that he had played many a game of "town ball" when he was going bare-footed. It is also a fact that at the age of 14 he did see the team of Salt Creek and Hackberry battle through 19 innings of a bloody shambles that began one July 4 at 1 o'clock and ended at dark. During this game, the loyal fans broke the two bats, one belonging to each team, over each other's heads, and the ingenious players went out into the woods and cut hackberry limbs with which to put the pill.

Each team lacked a shortstop and the Salt Creek team was minus a center fielder. When a batter struck out, he always threw the bat at the pitcher. If he missed the moundman, the spectators did not join in the fight. One of the rules of the game provided that if the catcher caught the ball after a third strike, the batter was O-U-T!

In brief, the sports writer was so dumb about baseball that for all he knew, he might have thought that Babe Ruth was the original Sonty

Boy and that the Red Sox was a Communist club. He lives in Amrillo.

Benny Romine Helped

Last Sunday, the Phillips manager prevailed upon him to keep score at the "66"-Gun game. Flattered, he accepted but with trepidation. The score book he carried with him measured three feet wide and one foot long. A hasty glance at the book had already convinced him that Einstein had devised that particular system of score-keeping, despite the fact that certain sports writers had been known to record every movement made in a baseball game and discuss politics and play chess at the same time. However the system in this book was based solely on numbers, dots and dashes.

As it turned out if it had not been for Benny Romine of the Phillips who differentiated between hits, errors and told him the difference between an assist and a put-out, the sports writer stated to us in a letter received today, that he would have reported the game in some such manner as this:

As It Might Have Been

With their cheeks loaded with golf ball-size chews of tobacco, the Gulf Guns won a baseball game yesterday—you could tell by the way they collected dough after the game. Phillips was up to the bat first and last. No one explained why the Guns did not get the last whack at it; however, they did not seem to want to play the last half of the ninth inning but one would have thought they'd have wanted to.

Cool off at the REX!

most runs but they didn't run half as much as the Phillips—nor half as far. Why the Phillips chased balls at least 100 yards further than the Guns and they seemed to let the balls slip through their fingers so they could run further.

—Ump Finally Found

"A peculiar thing about the Guns: they wouldn't toss the ball, until they shifted the quid from one jaw to the other and knocked up a cloud of dust with tobacco juice. Nobody had a fight but one guy who bet three dollars on Phillips ran into the fence and cut his nose. The managers of both teams kept telling their men not to get tough when the ump called strikes, but this writer didn't see anything tough—at any rate nobody not tough in the way wrestlers get tough. And what an ump! He was rotten, crazy and crooked. Both teams said so and the spectators sitting around in the cars reminded me of the Salt Creek-Hackberry revolution when they pleaded with a Phillips man to break the bat over the ump's head. This writer couldn't fine the ump for a long time. Finally Mr. Romine—he certainly was an obliging friendly fellow—pointed him out behind the bat, and then I learned that the team didn't have two catchers. Although I wondered why he was catching for the same team, and why the catcher in front of him never missed any balls just to give the ump practice. However, I never did learn which hand was for strikes and which was for balls. I could have asked Romine this, but then I had already asked him a lot of questions.

"Romine says that the Guns got 7 hits and the Phillips 11 but according to my count, there were only two men hit in the game and they weren't hurt, and besides, there weren't any fights even after the men got hit so bad they limped down to first base."

Girls Succumb to Burns Suffered on Kansas Farm

WICHITA, Kans., June 27. (P)—Two girls were fatally burned last night when a gasoline stove exploded in the Riverdale farm home of Thomas Ostrander.

The girls, Lavonne Ostrander, 9, and Georgia Simpson, 17, died to day.

Their clothing was ignited by the flaming stove as it was sort hurtling through the kitchen door by Ostrander, grandfather of Lavonne.

Ostrander was refueling the stove when the blast occurred, spreading flames over the kitchen. Unaware his granddaughter and her guest were entering the kitchen, he hurried the stove through the door and almost into the faces of the girls.

The younger girl, her clothing, aflame, ran more than 100 yards before her grandfather overtook her and beat out the fire with hands already severely burned.

Miss Simpson made a futile attempt to save her life by rolling in the grass.

Jungle Party Novel and Amusing Event for Friendship Class

A miniature jungle of palms, ferns and foliage was the setting of a novel party given yesterday afternoon for members of the Friendship Sunday school class of the First Methodist church. Toy monkeys and tropical birds perched in the trees, and silhouettes of jungle beasts were seen in the background. The inevitable water hole, this time filled with punch, completed the scene.

The arriving guests received helmets and knap sacks of brown paper for the "big game hunting" of the afternoon. In the first contest, each class member formed as many animal names as possible from the letters of her own name; in the second, the guests formed animals from moulding clay; and in the third, they supplied missing animal names in a "jungle mystery" story. Mrs. Cars on Loftus, Mrs. Jerry Boston, and Mrs. T. C. Lively received prizes.

The affair was held in the parlors of the Methodist church, with Mrs. C. S. Boston and Mrs. John B. Hesse as hostesses. An ice course was served at the tea hour.

The following were present: Mrs. O. W. Ferguson, Mrs. F. H. Sifton, Mrs. Roy Bourland, Mrs. S. A. Beavers, Mrs. W. E. Jarvis, Mrs. Carson Loftus, Mrs. Phillip Schumacher, Mrs. W. J. Foster, Mrs. R. R. Jones, Mrs. Robert Morris, Mrs. Chester Norris, Mrs. Frank Murray, Mrs. T. C. Lively.

Methodist Circles Convene in General Session Wednesday

A general session of the Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church was held Wednesday afternoon at the church, with a large group of members present from each of the four circles.

The afternoon was divided between a devotional period and a business session. The meeting was opened with the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us," following which Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar offered a prayer. Mrs. S. A. Hurst was in charge of the devotional, which was on the theme, "Widening Our Friendship with Jesus," based on a passage from the seventeenth chapter of St. John.

During the business session, at which Mrs. W. Purviance presided, plans were made for a weekly story hour for children of the city. Definite arrangements were to be made later. The members voted to hold an all-day meeting of the entire society on July 10, to complete the study of Spiritual Adventure, whereupon the organization would dismiss for a vacation until fall.

YANKS HELD BACK BY TWO CLUBS' WINS

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees have won seven out of their last ten games without improving their position, for Washington and Philadelphia have each won eight out of ten. The Athletics are a game and one half ahead of the Senators with the Yankees' anchor half game back.

The Yanks won yesterday after a struggle with Cleveland. The count was 13 to 11, and nine of Cleveland's runs came in the last four innings after the Yanks had piled up an 11 to 2 lead.

Philadelphia and Washington were victors by big scores in a day which produced 106 hits by the eight American league clubs and 67 runs. The Athletics made 13 blows, eight of them for extra bases, off Sammy Gray and defeated St. Louis 8 to 3. Washington, scoring seven runs in the first inning, trounced Detroit 12 to 4.

Even the humble Boston Red Sox did some heavy hitting, attacking A. J. Thomas of the Chicago White Sox for five runs in the fifth inning and defeating the pale horse, 9 to 7, for the sixth time in succession.

The New York Giants outdid anything the American league could offer by piling up 20 hits to beat St. Louis, 12 to 4.

A slip by Phil Collins, until yesterday the league's leading pitcher, gave Pittsburgh the first game from Philadelphia, 1 to 0. He wound up while Briskell was on third and let the ball slip from his grasp. Before he could recover the one run was in and he lost the game although he gave but four hits. Every Pirate clouted the ball at least once in the second game to bring an 11 to 5 decision.

The highly heralded struggle of the Titans between Brooklyn and Chicago turned into a demonstration in honor of Dazzy Vance which put the Robins two full games in the lead with a 7 to 1 triumph. Brooklyn drove Charley Root from the mound with five runs in the second inning.

Miss Mary Powell of Australia. "I'm to be married in September," he said, and grinned to show the prospect was pleasing, "but it won't interfere in the least with my flying. My fiancée likes flying almost as much as I do and she's been up with me lots of times."

"My mother? She never worries about me. In fact, she seems to have a sublime faith in me. My father, who is 78 years old, never worries about me either."

The major did not monopolize all the romantic attention of the moment. Everet Van Dyk, big, slow-spoken co-pilot on the Atlantic flight, made a mysterious phone call soon after reaching the hotel. In a few moments arrived Miss Ramona New, attractive brunette from Chicago.

"Going to get married?"
Large, non-committal smiles from both.

"Engaged?"
More smiles.
It developed they had met five years ago, seen each other several times since and—well, were good friends.

One Romance Lacking
Captain J. Patrick Saul, Irish widower whose little eight-year-old daughter waits for him back in the old sod has a fiancée, Miss Lena Marchant of Dublin. Only John W. Stannage, small but mighty radio operator whose efficient service was praised by Kingsford-Smith as being the controlling factor in the latter stages of their flight, could offer no romantic attachments.

At least ten thousand persons waited through the hot afternoon at Roosevelt field for the arrival of the Southern Cross and when it appeared at sunset, threw restraint aside and risked limbs and clothes in a mad dash for the plane and the fliers.

Three hundred Nassau county police won their way through to the plane and escorted the fliers to field headquarters where they were photographed by still, motion, and sound news men, and interviewed, between bursts of cheering, by the press.

An hour after they had landed the party was in open automobiles bound for New York City, a bath a meal and sleep.

Crowds, attracted by the screaming sirens of the motorcycle escort, lined the streets of the many Long Island towns and cheered as the motor cavalcade swept past at 60 miles an hour.

Mrs. W. M. Anderson Dies on Thursday

Mrs. William Walter Anderson, 81, died of a heart attack at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Tracy, 816 West Kingsmill avenue, yesterday. The body was taken overland this morning to Sayre, Okla., where funeral services will be held. G. C. Malone funeral home has charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Anderson was a southwestern pioneer and was known throughout the Texas Panhandle when it was virtually a frontier country. Before her marriage she was a member of the Osborne family of Miami. She has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Tracy, for several years.

In addition to seven children, she is survived by 66 grandchildren, 55 great-grand children and one great-great-grand child. She is also survived by several brothers and sisters, most of whom live in Miami. Her husband preceded her in death several years.

The surviving children are Mrs. Fannie Shelton, Miami; John Anderson, Glazier, Texas; Henry Anderson, Groom; Mrs. D. W. Tracy, Pampa; Mrs. Joe Kimbell, White Flat, Texas; Mrs. Charles Morgan, Ende, New Mexico.

Was Sleepy But Now He Has No Desire to Sleep

Morpheus took a decisive stand for the police and for J. F. Taylor this morning, and now that Robert Kell, the man of parts, has plenty of time for snoozing, the eccentric and fickle god of sleep has departed from him.

Last night, Mr. Taylor telephoned police that a suitcase had been stolen from his automobile in front of his house. This morning em-

When he arrived the young man's head was pillowed upon garments taken from the suit case which Mr. Taylor identified as the one which had been taken from his car.

The boy denied that he took the suitcase from the car. Charlie said, "he just slept too long." Robert finds that the jail is not conducive to sleep.

Sport Slants

by ALAN J. GOULD
What a lot of experts have overlooked in prematurely placing a "world's" heavyweight crown upon the black thatch of Max Schmeling is that the "title" was involved in his match with Jack Sharkey only by the influence of proclamation ballyhoo and the unsuspecting consent of John J. Fan, led to believe that this would be the FINAL elimination.

Old John has been quicker, probably, than the experts to realize that what actually happened was the ELIMINATION OF BOTH FIGHTERS, at least for the time being, so far as any real manifestation of championship calibre was concerned.

Had either Sharkey or Schmeling held the title that Gene Tunney forsook two years ago, no argument or edict could deprive the German of its possession. The fact is, however, that the two heavyweights were on trial before a crowd that came, hoping for the best, but remaining to see the worst. Schmeling, a beaten boy as he went groveling to the floor in the fourth round, fouled, was no more the picture of a champion then or afterward than was Sharkey, who saw prospective victory bounce from his erratic grasp.

Championships, a number of them, have been won or lost on fouls but only when the victim or his opponent had tangible access to the title before-hand.

After all, it may not seriously disrupt international relations even if Schmeling is regarded only as the champion in some sections of the U. S. A., Germany and Lithuania and not in the British Empire or the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, comprising the larger portion of the universe. In fact it is doubtful if the aforesaid far-flung Empire of the U. S. S. R. cares who is champion.

If we must be serious about it here, it will be time enough to pass the laurel to Der Maxie, a game kid, if and when he demonstrates a superior fighting prowess. For the time being, John J. Fan may consider himself fortunate to have whatever championship claims there are rest peacefully in Germany.

The Husband Hunter

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC. BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Natalie Converse, jealous of her husband's friendship with Bernadine Lamont, leaves him. Alan seeks consolation with his secretary, Phillipa West, who has cleverly managed to become engaged to him.

Natalie returns, and Alan realizes that he loves her, but his entanglement with Phillipa prevents him from seeking a reconciliation. He asks Phillipa to release him but she refuses, and makes an effective appeal to his pity.

Natalie's sister, Florence, fakes an illness to bring him back to his home, but Phillipa still stands between them. Florence departs, hoping they will get along better if left to themselves. Natalie makes a visit to Alan's office and there meets Bernadine, who is seeking business advice. Natalie's old jealousy flares up again and she quarrels bitterly with Alan.

Alan goes to Phillipa's apartment for dinner, afterward spending the night at a hotel. The next day Natalie comes to the office to plead for forgiveness, but Alan is out. He telephones and Phillipa does not tell him that Natalie is there.

Phillipa, fearful Alan's anger will not endure, uses a letter from Bernadine in a plot to discredit Natalie. She changes the name of a stock Bernadine wants to one that is worthless. Bernadine comes to the office after the order has gone through and learns that she has lost money she could ill afford to part with. Alan is against when she tells him he has bought the wrong stock and sends for her letter to prove that he had followed her instructions.

Bernadine discovers the change that was made in the letter and then starts an investigation to learn who had made it. Suspicion, directed by Phillipa, points to Natalie. Alan believes her guilty and goes up to Hillshire to ask her why she had done it.

Natalie's lips stiffly framed the inevitable question. "Do what, Alan?"

He answered with a sneer: "Yes, I suppose I may expect you to try and bluff it out."

His laughing brown eyes were now like dark agate, glistening coldly at her.

"I am not bluffing, Alan," she said simply; "you will have to tell me what you mean."

Alan laughed, shortly, contemptuously. "Going to see it through along that line, are you? Innocence accused. Very well, then, let's bring it out in the open and see what comes of it. I mean why did you change the name of the stock in that letter?"

Natalie stared at him uncomprehendingly. Had he been even a little less inflamed with anger, he could have judged her expression with enough accuracy to know she was not simulating it. As it was, he thought she had made up her mind to carry her bluff to the end and he reacted by becoming more infuriated.

"Why don't you deny it?" he demanded fiercely, as her gaze remained upon his face, unchanging, fascinated.

Natalie merely shook her head. She was beginning to be afraid of him.

"What kind of a woman are you, anyway?" he raved. "Jealous! Jealous! Jealous! Beastly jealous. And you had to pick on a woman who has never done you a bit of harm. A woman who is sick, the sole support of a kid whose father died to make the country safe for people like you—so you can cheat and rob his widow."

His wild words beat on her ears like blows, and the hollow, bitter, laughter that followed them was like an echo of some faraway sound. His denunciation numbed her with its shocking violence.

Could this be Alan torturing her so? She scarcely could think. Alan's eyes were black—she had never seen them black before. And that red light—oh, perhaps they were bloodshot. He must be ill!

Something dreadful was the matter with him.

Letter? Letter? Letter? Why was he talking about a letter? The word, tormenting her brain, escaped her lips in a weak utterance.

"That's right, Bernadine's letter," Alan thrust at her. "Come on, tell me, why did you do it?"

He advanced toward her, his lips twisting in his passion of temper. Natalie shrank back from him, visibly frightened.

"You deserve it," he snarled. "I ought to choke you, but I've got to save my hands for cleaner work. I've got to work, do you understand, and make up for your mischief."

His bloodshot eyes bored threateningly into her own feverish ones, but his half-raised hands dropped to his sides.

Natalie's face, aside from her burning eyes, seemed dead. It was white and set, her lips frozen against any words that might have come to them. But there was nothing she wanted to say—and yet a thousand thoughts were on parade in her agonized mind.

"You haven't any defense, have you?" he taunted her. "Not a thing to say. Well, you're wise to keep quiet. God, I couldn't stand to hear you deny it! I've had enough of your saintliness that covers the cheapest kind of soul. But if you think you've a chance to hide under silence, just listen. I know what you did, all right."

"You came into my office when I was out and you got hold of Mrs. Lamont's letter. It gave you your chance. You saw what you could do, but here's where you made your big mistake. You thought you would cause her to lose a pretty penny, but you're wrong. It's me you've damned near ruined."

He swept his arms in a circle to indicate the room. "All this," he said savagely. "Background! That's what you call it. But to me it's my earnings. Oh, yes, I could always make more—you knew that—it was never hard for me to make money. But what's become of it? We've saved precious little. And now, now I've got to make good what you tried to steal from Bernadine. You know what that means, don't you?"

Natalie continued to stare strickenly at his ferociously contorted mouth and reddened eyes. Her attitude drove him frantic.

"Why, don't you say something?" he yelled at her, unmindful of the inconsistency he was showing.

Still she did not speak, though her head moved a little in a pitiful, sidewise motion and the numbness partially left her bloodless lips.

"So," he raved on, "because you fiendishly substituted a rotten stock for a good one in that letter, I've lost a small fortune." A grim laugh burst from his dry lips. "It wasn't so clever, was it, forgetting that I have a sense of honor even if you haven't? But the work was damned clever, I'll grant you that—"

It seemed now to Natalie that she must speak, must stop him, even though she had to answer blindly. For she only partly understood the nature of the charge he was bringing against her.

"Don't, don't, don't," she cried imploringly. "Oh, Alan, you can't believe that I would touch one of your letters? Surely you can't believe that? Why, I didn't even see a letter!"

"Never mind the high-minded stuff," he snarled at her. "The time for that is past. It only makes what you've done more hideous. Look at you. White and gold and clean! You ought to be black, black, black! As black as hell! Oh, no, you wouldn't touch a letter that didn't belong to you. Look at your hands!"

His voice was stinging and sneering. "They're lovely, aren't they? Who'd ever thin they could turn themselves to taking bread and butter out of a baby's mouth? Oh, no, you wouldn't touch a letter. You wouldn't erase the name Bernadine wrote and put in one that's a joke on the market, would you? You didn't know that I'd fall for it because she got a tip from a man that even you know by his initials, did you? You haven't heard me mention him by them, have you?"

He broke off, breathless and panting.

Natalie's face was regaining its color under the smart of his words. She understood now. But not clearly. Her mind jumped to a false conclusion. Bernadine had done this, she believed. How, she did not know—she would need time to think it out. But Bernadine Lamont had done it. She had used her genius for evil to turn Alan into a blind fool, a mad, blind fool. He was Bernadine's now, heart, mind and soul.

Natalie told herself this with sickening despair. She saw that it was useless to try to convince him of her innocence at the present time. Perhaps—when his anger had abated—the thought held little of hope. A cold chill was creeping into the very core of her heart. Knowing how hateful was the thing Alan accused her of, she was beginning to feel that he could never have loved her, to believe, for one minute, that she would be guilty of

Her soul seemed dying within her, as though his words lay upon it with crushing weight. She put out a hand and groped for physical support. Oh, no, no, no, she must not show Alan her wounds. They were for her only to know about.

Alan laughed at her tottering progress to a chair. He did not know her sight had left her, that she was literally blinded with pain.

"Good acting," he applauded. "Too bad to waste it on me alone. But you were always good at everything. Everything, that is, but matrimony. You've made a fine mess of that!"

Natalie reached her chair, and slipped limply into it. She did not see Alan go, but she heard him, dimly, as though the sound came from a world not her own.

Darkness descended upon her, engulfed her. Her body dropped over the arm of the chair. She was very still.

Alan went directly to Bernadine's house. She was at home. Dr. Wagnall had positively forbidden her to go to the club. She was both relieved and alarmed to see Alan.

"You look like . . . well, never mind," she greeted him.

"I know. Like nobody's business," Alan finished for her. "And this time that's not just slang, Bernadine. Nobody's business is just what I'll get if this keeps up. I can't stand it!"

"No," Bernadine said soothingly. "I know you can't. But don't try to be funny, Alan. This has got into you too deep for that. But come and sit down and let me make you comfortable."

She was, herself, barely able to stand on her feet, but she made the effort for Alan's sake. She did not want him to guess that the financial blow she had just suffered had cost her much in physical strength as well.

"Have you any idea who did it?" Alan flung at her when she seated him in her living room.

She looked at him with Oriental inscrutability. "No," she lied, "have you?"

She seemed to know his belief in Natalie's guilt was affecting him as if it would affect her if she were to see her son, Bobby, committing some ugly act. She felt deeply sorry for him.

"Well, I have," he declared, breathing heavily. "I know who did it."

Bernadine uttered a little cry. "Oh, Alan, are you sure?" she asked pleadingly.

"It was Natalie," he answered, his voice as hard as steel.

"Oh, no, there must be some mistake," Bernadine cried. "Natalie is too lovely a woman to do anything like that. I know she is."

She saw at once that her remark was unfortunate. "That's just it," Alan declared. "That's what makes it so unforgivable. If I hadn't always thought her something to be worshiped, I could stand it better. But I'm glad I found her out at last. She'll never fool me again."

Bernadine looked at his "hard, set face and trembled for Natalie. She wished she could say something, do something, to palliate his wife's offense, but in her heart she too was convinced of Natalie's guilt. Alan moved, as though he were about to rise.

"Alan," Bernadine cried fearfully, "what are you going to do?"

Tris Speaker Quits
NEWARK, N. J., June 27. (AP)—Discouraged over his failure to develop a contender, Tris Speaker, one of baseball's greatest figures, has resigned as manager of the Newark club of the international league. His resignation was announced yesterday and Jack Onslow, coach, was named acting manager.

Speaker came to Newark as manager at the start of the 1929 season. The Bears finished sixth last year. Now they are seventh.

Math Students of College Succeed

CANYON, June 27. (Special)—A recent survey made at the West Texas State Teachers college shows that from 1920 to 1929 inclusive, 47 graduates of the Teachers college majored in mathematics. A booklet has been published by the mathematics department, giving a brief sketch of each of these mathematics majors, and showing the work each has done and the positions held.

Of the 47 graduates whose major was mathematics, four have their Ph. D. degrees and six are working their M. A. degrees and seven are well advanced toward this degree. Nine of this group are now on regular faculty lists of colleges and universities.

Three of the group are technical experts where advanced mathematics is prerequisite, one is an accountant, one is farming, one is in business, one is home-making, two are teaching in the lower grades, and 38 are teaching in high schools and colleges, exclusive of assistants in graduate schools.

The survey shows that approximately eight per cent of the young men and women who graduate from the Teachers college major in mathematics.

The mathematics department of the Teachers college is composed of L. G. Allen, head of the department, and Miss Edna Graham and C. A. Murray.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General topic—The Meaning of Christian Discipleship. (Quarterly view).

Scripture lesson—Isa. 2:2-4.

2. And it shall come to pass in the latter days, that the mountain of Jehovah's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it.

3. And many peoples shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of Jehovah, to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths; for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of Jehovah from Jerusalem.

4. And He will judge between the nations, and will decide concerning many peoples; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

Golden text—Thou art the Christ the Son of the Living God.—Matt. 16:16.

INTRODUCTION

"In Christ there is no East nor West. In Him no South or North; But one great fellowship of love throughout the whole wide earth."

Review of the Quarter

During the quarter just closing, we have studied the second half of a six months series of lessons in the Gospel of Matthew. During the first quarter of this year we studied the life of Christ from His infancy until the middle of the last year of His ministry.

In the first lesson of this quarter we had the notable declaration of faith by the apostle Peter in the divinity of Jesus. In reply to Jesus' question, "Who sayest thou that I am?" Peter boldly said, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Soon after this, the gracious privilege was given to Peter, in company with James and John, to be with Jesus on the mount of transfiguration. On this occasion, they had their faith confirmed by seeing Jesus temporarily clothed in His heavenly glory and by hearing the voice of the heavenly Father saying to them definitely: "This is My beloved Son."

In the last two lessons we have the account of the consummation of the life work of Jesus, the fulfillment of the great purpose for which He came into the world, viz., His death and resurrection.

The topics and the golden texts of the twelve lessons of this quarter, together with a few seed thoughts in regard to each lesson, are as follows—

Lesson I. The Law of the Cross.—Matt. 16:13-26. Golden Text—If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me.—Matt. 16:24. Salvation, service, sacrifice. Profession and assurance. A serious, hard message. Their call to the cross.

Lesson II. The Child and the kingdom.—Matt. 18:1-14; 19:13-15. Golden text—Suffer the little children, and forbid them not, to come unto Me; for to such belongeth the kingdom of heaven.—Matt. 19:14. Qualifications for membership in the kingdom. Things to turn from and throw off. Jesus' evaluation of childhood.

Lesson III. Jesus Teaching Forgiveness.—Matt. 18:15-33. Golden text—Forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors.—Matt. 6:12. Two contrasted pictures. Clouded eyes and the Christ. Angels of hope. Lesson IV. Giving up all for the Kingdom.—Matt. 19:1-29. Golden text—Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.—Matt. 6:20.

Lesson V. Promotion in the Kingdom.—Matt. 19:30 to 20:28. Golden text—The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many.—Matt. 20:28. The cross foretold. The request. True and mistaken ideas of the kingdom.

Lesson VI. Jesus acclaimed as King.—Matt. 20:29 to 21:46. Golden text—Hosanna to the Son of David; blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest.—Matt. 21:9. The term "Son of David." King by popular approval. The royalty and the humility of our Lord.

Lesson VII. Who is a Good Citizen? (Temperance Lesson)—Matt. 22:1 to 23:39. Golden text—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the great and first commandment. And a second like unto it is this. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—Matt. 22:37-39. A nation no better than its citizens. The good citizen shares in the government.

Lesson VIII. Jesus describes the Future of the Kingdom.—Matt. 25:1-13. Golden Text—Take ye heed, watch and pray; for ye know not when the time is.—Mark 13:33. A parable of "final destiny." The inevitableness and uncertainty of our Lord's coming.

Lesson IX. Contrast between Faithfulness and Slothfulness.—Matt. 25:14-46. Golden text—Well done, good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things. I will set thee over many things, enter thou into the joy of thy lord.—Matt. 25:21. A parable of Judgment according to works, not words. The servants and their talents.

Lesson X. Jesus in the Shadow of the Cross.—Matt. 26:1-75. Golden text—He went forward a little and fell on His face, and prayed, saying, My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass away from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt.—Matt. 26:39. Peter and his false confidence. Gethsemane; its location and name. Ordeal, prayer, victory.

Lesson XI. Jesus on the Cross.—Matt. 27:1-66. Golden text—Looking unto Jesus the author and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising shame, and hath sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.—Hebrews 12:2. Golgotha, the name of the place. Jesus' acquiescence in the Father's will. The darkness and the dying

The supreme question. Jesus' invitation. "Come, follow Me!"

The cross foretold. The request. True and mistaken ideas of the kingdom.

TRIED ALL KINDS OF LAXATIVES

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Gave Only Permanent Relief

As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain drugs and the habit-forming menace.

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse."

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthy condition."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded.

In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
