An Auto Line

The direct route from Big Springs to Lubbock lies through Gail. Many travelers are induced to take a circuitous route by way of Lamesa to Lubbock, in order to travel on the auto.

With an auto line through Gail to Lubbock, travel would be greatly increased to Lubbock, via Gail and Tahoka.

The route would be greatly shortened to Lubbock, and travelers would fare well at each of these 3 towns. We would be glad to see such a line established.

C. S. Brown, who has been keeping a meat market here for the past six months left us Wednesday to do a market business in Tahoka. Mr. Brown kept a nice market here, well supplied at all times and did a good business. He will be greatly missed, and his place will be hard to fill.

Fire,

There was a fire about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Stokes House in Gail. Holt, the proprietors son was the first to wake, and arousing his mother told her he was choking and believed he was dying, the other inmates of the house 15 in number, were at once called up, all experiencing the same choking sensation from sulphurous fumes. A quick search was made and the fire was located in the office near the East Window where a small section of the floor was burned, but it was soon extinguished. The proprietor was made sick and all felt the effects afterwards of carbon.

An incendiary had evidently raised the window, poured some carbon on the floor, and fired the house. A reward of $550.00 is offered by the citizens for his arrest and conviction.

Married

On Sunday evening, L. O. Johnson of Dunn, to Miss Alfa Dixon of Ira. The ceremony was performed by Eló, H. D. Pruett at the Stokes House. The couple left Monday morning to visit the brides relatives at Ira. We trust the married life of this hopeful young couple will be a blissful one, and the trials of life may serve to bind them closer together, as the years go by.

Newspapers Hit Hard.

The paper and pulp mills have held a meeting and decided that because of the scarcity of pulp, the increased demand and lack of transportation facilities, paper has advanced from $2.55 per hundred to $3.35 per hundred, and the end is not yet. The Enterprise has been compelled to reduce the size of the paper to meet the advance about 30 per cent. Job printing stock has also taken a fly skyward. Labor has increased in price. The time has come when the papers in the State and the printers of the State will be compelled to either advance prices of advertising, subscription and printing, or retire from business.—Cleburne Enterprise.

He Was Hungry.

A sad, forlorn looking man was standing gazing into the far away distance as though he were trying the deep paths that lead through the labyrinths of eternity. His face was a picture of solum grief and sorrow; his eyes were dimmed by the gathering tears; his appearance necessarily led to the inquiry: "What is the matter?" His reply was: "I am hungry, not for food, for I have plenty, but my desire is for something greater and more substantial; something that contributes more to happiness than all the dainty dishes an epicure could devise. I hunger for that which makes heaven the place of happiness, and which alone can give happiness and joy and peace on earth. The want of it makes me feel like a poor, homeless, wandering, friendless orphan. I am hungering for some one to love me, some one that desires to ever be near me; some one who can sympathize with me in all my trials and afflictions in this life; some one, who in the hours of gloom that come to all mortals, can with a loving smile, bring rays of light that will make the heart glad." Such love once was his. He had known it, felt its influence and had a soul full of sunshine and a heart full of gladness. He could once look into the sweet face of one whom he loved and there read the words of affection that sent a thrill of joy through every vein and nerve. But the cold, cruel hand of death dragged that loved one away, and now when he would call for one more look at that dear mother's face the cold, cold grave intervenes, and that face and form is hidden away never more to be seen.

Gave him Tit for Tat.

Young Stevens was on his way North to spend the week with his parents and felt in a particularly jovial mood, says Tit Bits:

The train in which he was traveling stopped at a small village and as a farmer, who was sauntering up and down the platform, came opposite Stevens' compartment, he was asked by that youth if he knew that the Duke of Devonshire was in the train.

Immediately the man showed great interest and said:

"Not is he?"

"I think he is not," answered Stevens, "only asked if you knew that he was."

The farmer said nothing but continued his walk on the platform. As he came opposite the window again he remarked that their town had been experiencing some excitement.

"What's the matter?" Stevens asked.

"The authorities wouldn't let some folks bury a woman," replied the farmer.

"What was the reason for refusing?"

"She wasn't dead," was the laconic reply.

And then he strolled away, leaving young Stevens biting his lip.

An Improvement in Texas

Boston Herald: They go at the thing in a very simple fashion in Texas. There is a 2-cent-a-mile bill before the Legislature there, and the railroads meant it with an offer to spend $15,000,000 in extensions and improvements within the next fourteen months if the bill is defeated. If the bill passes, the projects will be indefinitely postponed. It is open, fair and above board. A great improvement on maintaining an expensive lobby of shyster lawyers to work secretly and underhandedly against any and every measure the railroads regarded as harmful. Why not copy Texas up North?—Breckenridge Democrat.

BREVITIES

THE HALL OF FAME.

Count Tolstoi once refused a bicycle as a present on the grounds it was a luxury. His recreations are chess and lawn tennis.

President Roosevelt will deliver the principal address at the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Agricultural college of Michigan in May.

Blind barristers are rare. One has been recently admitted in Sydney. Neville Gilbert McWilliam is his name, and he took the degrees of B. A. and B. L. with special distinction.

Nicholas Hatheway of Fall River, Mass., who died lately, spent considerable time in trying to prevent the newspapers from spelling the second syllable of his surname with an "a," but was mainly unsuccessful.

Thomas A. Edison remembered his native town of Milan, Conn., by presenting it with a set of apparatus for the physical laboratory of the village high school as a New Year's gift. The inventor made the apparatus himself.

A St. Louis millionaire, F. S. Ladington, will gratify a personal whim by spending $40,000 to see in St. Louis a reproduction of the Campanile at Venice. The tower is to be 200 feet high and will be situated between the Auditorium and the chapel of the Second Baptist church.

Henry White, the retired American ambassador of Italy, has presented Queen Helena a complete collection of United States postage stamps, sent to her by the postmaster general at Washington, with the approval of President Roosevelt. She expressed a desire to have this collection.

Edward Wolfenden and Thomas Bleasley have not missed a single session of the Baptist Sunday school at Upland, Pa., in twenty-four years. Thomas K. Draper has been present at every session for the last twenty years, and Elias Eves and William Taylor have attended every Sunday for ten years.

William Pryor Letchworth has donated to the state of New York his superb estate, upon which he has spent about $500,000, located at Portage, N. Y., to be in care of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation society. The property includes about 1,000 acres and embraces the three famous Portage falls as well as the canyon of the upper Genesee river.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Coats fashioned of strips of insertion will be a feature of the new styles.

Much as we cling to the short skirt, it is positively decreed to be unsuitable for any except the typical tailored street suit.

For spring costumes of thin materials will be generally made up with laces dyed to match and with passementeries, embroideries and other garnitures of self shades.

Spring will find many silk street suits in evidence, with taffeta again to the fore. Here the cutaway and directoire coats will figure conspicuously, not only as parts of suit costumes, but as separate garments.

The very latest material for dressy wear, and especially for evening frocks, is liberty messaline, which comes in a wide range of colors and tones and has the advantage of being durable as well as attractive.—New York Post.

FACTS FROM FRANCE.

Paris pays to foreign countries $25,000,000 a year for coal.

The French government gives twelve medals annually to its best washerwomen.

Only 7 per cent of the men in the French army exceed five feet eight inches in height.

Telephone girls in France must no longer say "allo," but "j'ecoute" (I listen). This is one of the new postmaster general's "reforms."

A Paris correspondent says, "There are in France some 45,000 persons who use titles of nobility, of whom only 435 families have any moral right to them."

LAST WORDS OF FAMOUS MEN

Edmund Burke (1730-1797), English statesman, "God bless you."

John Wesley (1703-1791), English divine: "The best of all is, God is with us. Farewell."

Henry Van (1612-1662), English statesman, "Ten thousand deaths for me ere I stain the purity of my conscience."

William Cowper (1731-1800), English poet: "Feel? I feel unutterable, unutterable despair. What does it signify?"

Francis Buckland (1826-1880), English naturalist, "I am going on a long journey, and I shall see many strange animals by the way."

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Robert Loraine is preparing to produce George Bernard Shaw's play, "The Philanderer."

George C. Tyler announces that Eleanor Robson is to appear in a new Rosband play in the near future.

Comyns Carr is making a Dickens play from the much discussed and mad-deningly mysterious "Edwin Drood."

Edward Knoblauch, author of "The Shulamite," has written a new play for H. B. Irving, entitled "A Loyal Rebel."

Mrs. James Brown Potter has made a success in her revival of "Charlotte Corday." It is now being given in suburban theaters near London.

It is reported that Harold MacGrath, the novelist, is writing a new play, in which Max Figman will appear next season, in addition to "The Man on the Box."

Edith Wynne Mattheson, who was the brilliant feature of Beu Greet's first American tour and created the part of Everyman, is to have Mrs. Patrick Campbell's role in the London production of "The Bondman."

The new theater that has been opened in Utica, N. Y., by Jacob and Lee Shubert has been named the Sam Shubert theater by the lessees in memory of their brother, who was killed in a railroad wreck two years ago.

Ethel Barrymore and perhaps her brothers, Jack and Lionel, are going to appear in London next spring in Rachel Crothers' western play, "The Three of Us," which has been one of the unexpected hits of the season in New York.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

In the United Kingdom 200 out of every 1,000,000 persons are employed as writers or editors.

Alderman J. A. Parr, the mayor of Dewsbury, has served in the town council for over twenty-one years and has never been absent from a council meeting.

The house of lords consists of the spiritual lords of England, the temporal peers of England, Great Britain and the United Kingdom and of representative peers of Scotland and Ireland.

The recent invitations for bids on cutlery for the British army are probably among the largest ever specified. These tenders include 300,000 table knives, 200,000 table forks and 70,000 clasp knives, containing a can opener and a spike.

A Northampton family, whose five children won thirty-five scholarship medals, recently set up a claim for the British record in that line. Now, however, a London family reports thirty-six secured by six child pupils, of whom three also gained London courtly council scholarships before any one of them was twelve years old.

SHORT STORIES.

Alaska is twice as large as Texas with California thrown in.

About 10,000 laborers will have employment several years in rebuilding Valparaiso.

Bullets that fail to penetrate pasteboard three inches thick will pass through a five inch plank.

One-fourth of the dairy cows of the country do not pay for their feed, and more than half of them do not return any profit.

Two wells in the rear of the San Francisco mint, bored many years ago and about 175 feet deep, have become artesian since the earthquake of last April, flowing freely over their tops.

It is claimed that the territorial capitol of Arizona at Phenix is the only building of the kind in the United States that was erected within the architect's estimate and without taint of graft in the slightest degree.

POSTAL NOTES.

Last year the department issued 630 fraud orders and barred from the mails fifty-nine lotteries and similar enterprises.

More than 325,000 persons are employed in the United States postal service, and the department expends annually about $250,000,000.

Money orders, domestic and international, were issued during the year ended June 30, 1906, for the enormous amount of $453,916,232. Something of the amount of work involved will be realized when it is known that this required the issuance of 61,407,861 orders.—Ridgway's.

During the last fiscal year there were 328 casualties to mail cars, in which postal clerks were either killed or injured or in which mail matter was lost or damaged. Sixteen clerks and one mail weigher were killed, seventy-seven clerks were seriously injured, and 414 were slightly injured.

PITH AND POINT.

Don't get critical when your boss tells you to do things.

But few people appreciate the rose until they encounter the thorn.

Unless a man knows when he has enough he's apt to get too much.

It doesn't pay to hurry. Take your time, but don't take other people's.

Isn't it strange that men who brag always brag about something that doesn't interest you in the least?

Don't forget that your social standing in the next world will not depend upon the fashionable cut of your garments in this.

Don't sit down and think about what you would do if you could live your life over. Get busy and improve the rest of it.—Chicago News.

Surprising Confession.

"Pshaw!" remarked Jigley, looking up at the clear blue sky. "I'm sorry I took this umbrella now."

"Well, well!" exclaimed Hammer. "I didn't suppose your conscience ever troubled you that way."—Philadelphia Record.

TO PROFESSOR MATTHEWS.

Wordman, spare the word
Or start an awful row!
In youth its sound I heard,
And I'll protect it now!
It was my father's switch
When I was but a tot
That made my spelling sich;
Thy pen shall harm it not!

That old familiar word,
Whose glory and renown
O'er land and sea were heard—
And wouldst thou hack it down?
Wordman, forbear to stun;
Cut not its hidebound ties.
Oh, spare that aged one
Now yelping to the skies!

When but an idle boy
I sought its grateful aid;
In all their gushing joy
Here, too, my sisters stayed.
My mother spelled it so;
So father did demand.
Forgive this foolish woe,
But let that old word stand.

My heartstrings round thee cling;
Strong is thy spell, old friend.
They shall not do a thing
To clip thy old tail end.
Old word, the storm still brave!
And, wordman, leave the spot!
While I've a word to save,
Thy pen shall harm it not!
—Robertus Love in Judge.

Would Seem a Tight Fit.

Benjamin's Wife—Who would think, Benjamin, my dear, that a carriage like that could possibly hold more than one person?—Pele Mele.

O Ye Tears!

The president of one of the well known colleges tells this story of one of his professors of chemistry:

It seems that the professor and his wife had not agreed upon some domestic question, the professor asserting that his means would not warrant the expense involved. His wife had used all her powers of persuasion without avail and at last resorted to the final feminine expedient, a flood of tears. At this the professor picked up his hat, but paused to remark:

"You might save yourself the trouble of that, my dear. Your tears have absolutely no effect upon me. Why should they, being nothing but common water with a very small percentage of phosphorous salts and a trace of chloride of sodium?"—Harper's Weekly.

He Was the Whole Thing.

The overburdening egotism shown by Governor Swettenham of Jamaica the other day recalled to the mind of a naval officer the story of the commander of a ship whose ego was larger than his brain.

A seaman had died. The crew was lined up on deck, and the chaplain began reading the service for the dead.

"I am the resurrection and the life," he began.

"Back to your quarters," commanded the captain. "I want you to understand that on this ship I am the resurrection and the life."—New York Globe.

Still Cheerful.

"Blakesley's the most persistent optimist I ever knew. He slipped and fell in a mud puddle yesterday, and you never saw such a sight as he was when he got up."

"What did he say?"

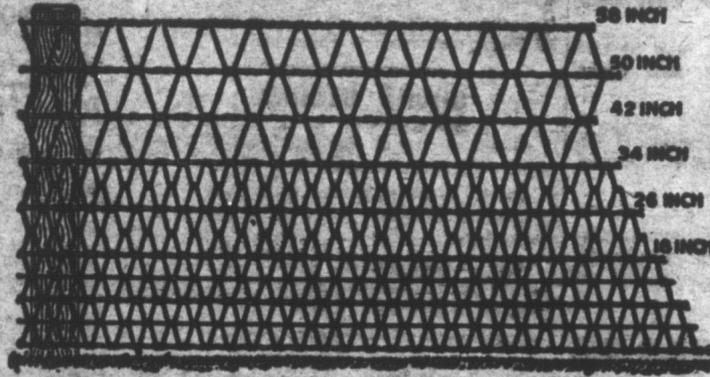

"He congratulated himself on the fact that it was so nice and soft where he had struck and expressed the opinion that if it had been hard he might have broken a bone or two."—Chicago Record.

The Strongest Fence

Science proves that the strongest fence, because constructed throughout on scientific lines, is the

ELLWOOD FENCE

SIMPLE-SCIENTIFIC-STRONG

The Reasons:
1st—Each horizontal extension of the ELLWOOD is a steel cable, consisting of two heavy wires intertwined.

2d—Each of these cables is tied to each other cable by a continuous heavy wire lapped tightly about every cable—not tied in a crooked "knot" or twist to weaken the strength of the tie wire at the bending point. (Wrap a wire around your finger and the wire is not weakened; tie a wire up in a hard knot and you cannot untie it without breaking, it is so much weakened.)

THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO ELLWOOD FENCE—

Heavy steel cables lapped about and held together by steel wire, forming uniform meshes. Simple, isn't it? No chance for weakness in any part; uniformly strong. The reasons for the superiority of ELLWOOD FENCE are not hard to find. This company owns and operates its own iron mines and furnaces; its own wire mills and six large fence factories—either one of the six being larger than any other fence factory in the world. These facts should be convincing.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFE TIME.

Practical Ideas Free for Western Farmers.

In this age of progress and advancement in all kinds of business the successful farmer and stock raiser is compelled to put more brains into his business than ever before. The price of land is increasing every year, and better and more improved methods of farming must be and are being inaugurated. There are many great problems to solve, and one of the greatest exponents of new practical ideas for the western farmer is the Western Breeders' Journal, published at Clay Center, Kansas.

We have succeeded in making arrangements with that valuable publication, whereby we can furnish it absolutely free to every reader of The Borden Citizen.

Beginning with this issue and continuing for a specified time both papers, The Borden Citizen and The Western Breeders' Journal, may be had for the price of The Borden Citizen only, which is One Dollar per year. In other words every one paying One Dollar on subscription during the next ninety days will receive both the aforesaid mentioned papers one year. The Western Breeders' Journal is conceded to be the most practical, up-to-date farm and stock paper in this territory. It gives the experience and reflects the ideas of those who have made a success of farming and stock raising under conditions that exist here.

Sample copies may be seen at this office at any time within the next ninety days. Remember the time limit, however, and see to it that your name is enrolled before the expiration.

TO HOME SEEKERS.

We wish to call the attention of home seekers to the advantages of Garza county. There is no more inviting field for investment than this county affords, for it has health, fine climate and productive soil. It lies partly on, and partly below the Plains. Good crops of cotton, corn and oats are grown here, and it is also adapted to fruits and vegetables. A variety of nutritious grasses, good protection and an abundant supply of water, makes this also a good stock growing locality. There are some subirrigated lands here on which Alfalfa flourishes. This is a well watered county, has plenty of wood for fuel and many fine springs of excellent water. I have land to sell in large or small tracts, improved or unimproved, to suit the purchaser, at from $3.00 to $10.00 per acre. Come and I will show you.

Building a City.

Anything tending the general advancement and improvement of a city helps the individual and property owner to at least the same degree, rightly declares the Austin Tribune.

Anything helping the merchant to increase his business and create a demand for more room tends to increase the income of the property owner.

Increased business in all lines of trade makes a demand for more help and the employment of more people in turn makes a demand for more dwelling houses, more clothing, more articles of food, more necessaries of life, and increases the business and growth of the city. It is a wheel within a wheel, an endless chain, each and every business growing by the increase and aid of the other.

How necessary it is then that every inhabitant of a city, should work for its upbuilding. Most people do this from a purely business standpoint, yet there are some who either thoughtlessly or from a lack of public spirit neglect to do their part in the building of the attractive little city they would enjoy living in. No city can be built unless the citizens manifest a lively interest in things necessary to the prosperity and happiness of the community. No man can hope to be of benefit so long as he remains within his own doors and selfishly tries to push only his own business. No city can be built without good streets and nice side walks, no city can be built without a concerted action to secure the trade of the best citizenship of the surrounding country. To build a desirable town in which to live, the churches and schools must be built up. There is no one, whether he be blest with children or not, who is not responsible for the Christian education of the rising generation. Culture is necessary to the happiness of any people and it is well known that no person of intelligence would consent to live long in a land destitute of churches. To build a city, a happy and contented people is necessary and to have these, pleasant homes are indispensable. No citizen can afford to neglect the beautifying of his home. It is a duty that he owes not only to his family but to his neighbors as well. Beautiful yards with nice walks interspersed here and there with shrubs and shade trees would make the pleasant homes necessary to build Tullia into the nice little city she should be. The question is: Are you doing your duty in the matter?—Tullia Standard.

A COLD DAY.

We have a few subscribers who put us in the mind of Tom Jones whom the Swede collector said had promised to pay his account in January. As the story was told, the Swede returned from an unsuccessful trip and told the boss that "Yim Yohnson say he vill pay when him sell his hogs. Yim Smit he vill pay when he sell n'im wheat, and Tom Yones say he will pay in January."

"Well", said the boss, "that is the first time Tom ever set a time to pay. Did he really say he would pay in January?"

"Vell aye tank so," said the Swede. "He say it been a colt day when you got dat money. I tank dat been in January."—Hope Dispatch.

Looked for Himself.

Councilor Tom Coward relates an extraordinary experience. He says that he returned home one evening after a particular busy day, and after his wife retired to rest he remained in the sitting room reading for some considerable time. He went upstairs with a lighted candle and asked: "Where is Tom?" He declares he heard no answer and remarked: "It is time he returned." He then retraced his steps downstairs, but could not find himself. He finally went to bed, and the next morning his wife questioned him as to his strange conduct, and said he stood scratching his head in confusion in the bedroom. He could not account for his behavior and consulted a medical man, who solved the puzzle by saying that one-half of his brain was dormant while the other half was active. Such a case was not unknown in the medical world. Mr. Coward is a teetotaler.—London Express.

butes greatly to the trade and prosperity of that town. But she realizes her need of another road, and is now reaching out to secure the Panhandle, offering a liberal bonus, ample grounds for depot shops, round house &c, also right of way through the county. From Plainview to Big Springs the route would lie through a territory of fine farming country of which Big Springs is the trade centre, and it would have the advantage there, of the finest supply of water to be found in this section of the country. With these advantages to offer, we do not think the Panhandle can afford to miss Big Springs.

Road Begun.

On the morning of the 8th, work begun at Hereford, on the Panhandle Short line. The citizens flocked out to see the road graded through the town. Grading ceased after reaching the city limits, to be continued after the permanent survey is made, till probably about 15th of May.

Mrs. W. N. Collier and her little daughter returned home Monday.

The Domestic fowl known as the turkey received its name from the erroneous opinion formerly held that it come originally from Turkey. America has the honor of being its birth place, as it was found among the Indians and was domesticated by them, long before the discovery of America. Whilst not so useful as the hen as an article of diet, it surpasses its cousin, the hen, both in size and quality. These preliminary remarks are suggested by the recollection of the excellent turkey and other good things to match of which I partook last Sunday at the Stokes House, for which Mr. and Mrs. Stokes have my unqualified, hearty and sincere thanks. The Stokes house is conspicuous for its neatness, variety of its fare and the manner in which it is served.

The vacant Block in Big Springs, between the court house and the First National Bank, fronting East on Main street consists of 12 lots. Of these J. L. Ward owns five, Ellis Douthitt 2, A. D. Alderman 2, Dr. Baird 1 City Hotel Co. 2. The extensive excavations being made on this block preparatory to the erection of substantial 2 story brick business houses is being watched with much interest and pride by the citizens of that progressive town. These improvements will not only fill up an ugly gap, but add greatly to the solidity and finished appearance of Main Street. Our sister city has reached that stage of development when a steady and continuous growth does not depend upon seasons or surroundings, but like the mountain torrent, it gathers strength as it goes.

Our forge and bellows man D. E. Naylor, took his family out to visit John Clark near the river last Saturday. They went a fishing Monday and Tuesday and not only had the sport of catching, but also the pleasure of eating some nice fish and a pleasant trip besides.
