Two Girls And Two Boys From Sayre Killed

SAYRE, Okla., Aug. 11. (AP)—Two girls and two boys lost their lives in a motor car accident on a river bridge here last night.

The four were killed when their automobile rushed onto the bridge of the north fork of Red river and crashed into a parked automobile in which two children were sitting. The dead are Ralph Burkhalter, driver of the car, John Hartman, Miss Grace Does and Miss Winoreland. All resided on farms near here.

The children were slightly injured. Their father, Booker Waddell, had left the car on the bridge when motor trouble developed and had gone for help.

New Claim Made For "Meanest Man"

August A. Gordon says that regardless of claims as to who is "the meanest man in the Panhandle," he believes he has picked him out.

Last Saturday night between 1 and 2 o'clock a man entered the quarters in the rear of his home at 624 North Somerville and stole one of his Shetland ponies. The pony answers to the name of "Powder River" and is brown and white spotted. It was one of the ponies to be given away by Gordon's store which is an annual feature of the organization.

WOMAN KILLED LAST NIGHT IS UNIDENTIFIED

HOUSTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—A young woman killed about midnight in the crash of a small roadster which struck a railroad track and overturned still was unidentified today while three of her companions in the machine lay in hospitals in serious condition.

The injured were Dean Hayes, 23; Miss Doris Bates, 21, and Johnny Melot, 23. Hayes and Melot recovered consciousness at intervals and declared they did not know the young woman killed. Meanwhile, Samuel Mann, about 25, was sought as the supposed driver of the roadster. He was reported to have rented the machine and after the accident, to have rented still another automobile. He had not been seen since he obtained the second automobile.

Hayes first was identified by his mother as Samuel Mann, who swooned when Hayes' sister and a brother identified him as their brother, and said: "I guess I've made a mistake."

Motorcycle officers said they had pursued the roadster last night before the wreck and had given a speeding ticket to the driver, "who said his name was Samuel Mann," for driving 48 miles an hour.

"Alfalfa Bill" Will Be Voted On Tomorrow

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11. (AP)—Ending a whirlwind two weeks campaign of bitter personalities, Oklahoma's Democrats, normally all-powerful, will go to the run-off primary polls tomorrow to nominate for governor and U. S. senator.

For their gubernatorial nominee, heretofore always elected, they must choose between Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City oil millionaire, and colorful William Henry (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Tishomingo, constitutional author just returned from an ill-fated Bolivian colonization attempt, who had a 65,000 vote plurality in the first primary July 29. Charles J. Wrightman of Tulsa, also made wealthy by petroleum's favors, and blind Thomas P. Gore, for 13 years United States senator, will contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination. They finished the first primary on virtually even terms. The winner faces a stiff general election contest against Senator W. B. Pine, Republican and an independent field including J. C. (Jack) Walton, ousted as governor in 1923 when he ordered martial law to quell a Ku Klux Klan disturbance.

Democrats must nominate in 16 other offices, 11 of the state wide, and Republicans will vote for six major candidates.

War Veteran Is Arraigned Today on Murder Charge

GROTON, Conn., Aug. 11. (AP)—Stanley Smith Bogue, 34-year-old world war veteran, was arraigned today on a charge of murder for the axe slaying of Mrs. Evan Jennings Roberts, 53, boarding house keeper, and Ole Ostberg. He was held without bond for the next term of superior court.

State police said Bogue, who made an ineffectual attempt to kill himself, confessed to hacking to death the woman and the man who had replaced him in her affections Saturday night when he found them together. The bodies were found in the rear of the boarding house.

SHADOW OF ALFRED SMITH WILL LOOM LARGE OVER THREE STATES HOLDING PRIMARIES THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—The shadow of Alfred E. Smith, 1928 Democratic presidential candidate, will loom large over three of the four state primaries to be held Tuesday of this week.

Voters of Alabama, Arkansas and Nebraska will have the burning issue of two years ago brought back to them indirectly while in the fourth state where ballots are to be cast prohibition is to figure largely in the vote.

Alabama Democrats are to choose a successor to Sen. J. Thomas Heflin, ousted from this year's party primary because he failed to support the Democratic presidential candidate two years ago. Heflin, however, has conducted a vigorous campaign for re-election as an independent and will be the November opponent of the victor in the Democratic primary. John H. Bankhead of Jasper and Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher, are the senatorial candidates in the primary. It will be the first time in more than 30 years that the Democratic senatorial nominee faces opposition at the general election.

BOMBER'S NOTE TO HIS WIFE IS FOUND IN CAR

PORT WORTH, Aug. 11. (AP)—Whether Nathan M. Martin, 30, who caused his own and another's death by exploding a vial of nitroglycerin in the Stockyards National bank Saturday during an attempted robbery, had confederates, remained a mystery today.

Police found Martin's automobile yesterday, parked nearly three miles from the bank. The sedan doors were locked. The bomber's bank book and a note to his widow were inside. He had written "here is all the money I have." Inside the bank book was $4.25 and the book showed a balance of $157.

Entering the bank, Martin walked to the desk of W. L. Pier, president, and demanded $10,000. He said he was desperate, was carrying a vial of nitroglycerin and would blow up the institution unless he received the money.

Pier walked into a cage apparently to get the money, and signaled the police. Fred L. Pelton, vice president, talked to the intruder. When two policemen entered hurriedly, Martin hurled the vial to the floor. The interior of the bank was shattered and Martin and Pelton were killed.

FATHER AND 3 CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

Gasoline Purchased at Filling Station Before

BLOOD FOUND NEAR BODIES

May Have Been Shot Before Fire Was Started

KINSLEY, Kans., Aug. 11. (AP)—A father and his three children were found dead today in the ruins of their home which was destroyed by fire. They are Albert Watkins, Erlene Elizabeth, 8, Margaret Alberta, 8, and Charles Albert, 2.

Firemen, after extinguishing the blaze, found the bodies in an upstairs room and a five-gallon can which had contained gasoline was nearby. Blood near the bodies led authorities to believe the victims had been shot before the fire started.

Mrs. Neva Watkins, the wife and mother was at work in a downtown restaurant at the time of the fire. The father was not employed.

A filling station attendant reported he sold Watkins some gasoline just before the blaze. The condition of the bodies was such as to make an examination impossible.

Patrolman Shot By Smuggler In Fight On Border

LAFERIA, Aug. 11. (AP)—A fresh outbreak of gun fighting between border patrolmen and liquor smugglers has accounted for the death of an officer, a Mexican and the probable fatal wounding of another.

Margarito Rodriguez, 20, was shot to death and his brother, Victor, 23, wounded by a sheriff's posse yesterday searching for the slayers of Burt Ellis, customs inspector slain Saturday night by seven bootleggers he surprised uncracking liquor near a Mexican dance hall at Haysville, Hidalgo county.

The posse encountered the Mexicans in a cotton field near Lafia. Rodriguez was killed and his brother wounded in an exchange of shots. The officers said they were fired upon first by the Mexicans.

At an inquest into Rodriguez's death, a verdict was returned that "death was due to gunshot wounds inflicted in a gunfight with officers of the law."

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Briggs and son, Burnham, left today on a vacation trip to the mountains of Colorado.

ANOTHER GROUT HORSE IS CHAMP OF PANHANDLE HORSE SHOW BUT NUNN HORSES WIN MOST POINTS

My Astral King, owned by Dr. George P. Grout of Panhandle, walked away with highest honors at the second annual Panhandle horse show at the Ellis track, Panhandle, Saturday night. The horse, a son of the famous Astral King, won the championship of the show on points. He was ridden by Dennis Ellis of Panhandle.

Polyanna Grout, ridden by Mrs. Geraldine Van Pelt of Pampa, was also awarded a number of places. This mare won first in the five-gaited class. Polyanna was champion of the Amarillo horse show last week.

Although My Astral King was high-point horse, the Lindsay Nunn stables of Amarillo gathered a fair majority of the classes and points. Big Boy, ridden by J. W. Hamilton, Pampa, won the jumping class. Bob, also of the Nunn stables, won the five-gaited gelding and the plantation classes. My Astral King took highest places in the combination, and the ladies and gentlemen's walk classes. Miss Newcastle of the Nunn stables, won the road hack class.

Bobby Bradshaw of Panhandle, won first place in the young ladies' riding contest. Robert Lemmons, also of Panhandle, won first in the boys' riding contest. They rode their own horses. J. F. Ellis was awarded first in the fine harness class with It's Me.

The Nunn horses were ridden by Gilmore Nunn, son of Lindsay Nunn, J. W. Hamilton, Miss Josephine Townsend and John Ward. About 1,200 persons attended the show which began at 7:30 o'clock. It was sponsored by the American Legion. There were over 75 entries. The show was a financial success, it was stated. Many Pampa people attended the performances.

STERLING TO SPEAK WEDNESDAY NIGHT AT AMARILLO; FERGUSON AT CLARENDON TOMORROW NIGHT

By the Associated Press
Campaign fires flared anew Monday as political partisans of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and Ross S. Sterling, candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, prepared for hostilities in the two weeks remaining before the run-off primary Aug. 23.

West Texas, carried by state Senator Clint Small in the first primary was the battleground picked by Sterling and Ferguson forces for the week ahead. Dallas Ferguson headquarters planned an elaborate rally tonight at the state fair grounds in Dallas, with both Mrs. Ferguson and her husband, James E. Ferguson, on the program for addresses.

Mrs. Ferguson's itinerary for the week included an address Tuesday night at Clarendon, Wednesday night, Floydada; Thursday, Colorado; Friday, Aspermont, and Saturday, Breckenridge.

Senator Small announced Saturday he would vote for Sterling, although he added that he did not presume to dictate to his supporters in the first primary as to whom they should favor in the run-off.

Sterling expected to begin his offensive in West Texas with an address tonight at Wichita Falls, another Tuesday at Childress, Wednesday at Lubbock, Friday afternoon at Big Spring and reaching Sweetwater Friday night for a West Texas rally planned there by his adherents.

Executive committees of both Democratic and Republican parties meet today to canvass results of the July primary elections, the Democratic committee at Dallas and the Republican at Brownsville.

James V. Alfred of Wichita Falls, leading candidate for the nomination for attorney general in the first primary, and Robert L. Bobbitt, incumbent by appointment of Governor Moody, announced their itineraries for the week.

Bobbitt, after speaking Monday morning at Rockwall, at Emory in the afternoon and Monday night at Greenville, planned to deliver an address Tuesday morning at Ladonia, at Honey Grove in the afternoon and at Bohman, at night. He expected to visit Whitesboro, Pilot Point, Aubrey, Argyle and Roanoke on Wednesday and to speak at night over a radio station at Fort Worth. His itinerary included a speech Thursday night at Amarillo, Friday at Tulsa, Plainview and Lubbock, and Saturday afternoon at Crosbyton.

Alfred was listed to speak this week as follows: Monday, Mabank, 10 a. m.; Jacksonville, 8 p. m.; Tuesday, Crockett, 2 p. m.; Nacogdoches, 8 p. m.; Wednesday, San Augustine, 10 a. m.; Jasper, 2 p. m.; Orange, 8 p. m.; Thursday, Port Arthur, 8 p. m.; Friday, Houston, 8 p. m.; Saturday, Hillsboro, 3 p. m.; Waxahachie, 8 p. m.

Youth Who Fires Building Sent to Training School

DUNCAN, Okla., Aug. 11. (AP)—Eldores Taylor, nine-year-old urchin who set a $75,000 lumber yard fire here Saturday night, today was committed to county Judge John W. Scott to the boys' training school at Paul Valley, to serve until he is of age.

Eldores said he "was after chain stores," but gave no reason. Four other fires he set were in the rear of chain stores but failed to gain headway, the only serious damage occurring at the Long-Bell lumber yard.

TRIAL TO BE HELD DURING FIRST WEEK

District Court Will Open Last of August

SAYS HE WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Claims He Can Prove That He Is a Sane Man

AMARILLO, Aug. 11. (AP)—The trial of A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney, charged with murder in connection with the death of his wife, blown to her death by a dynamite blast, will await the regular term of district court which opens Aug. 23.

After a conference with Judge Henry Bishop today, E. W. Thomsen, district attorney, announced a special grand jury would not be convened to consider the case.

He said a heavy docket at Canyon with numerous criminal cases set for next week would preclude the extraordinary term of court. Thomsen said Payne should be indicted and his trial begun by the middle of the first week of the regular court term.

AMARILLO, Aug. 11. (AP)—Action of district Judge Henry Bishop for calling a grand jury to indict A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney, charged with murder after a dynamite blast June 27 killed his wife and maimed their 11-year-old son, remained for announcement today after the judge returned to his courtroom at Canyon.

The judge declared yesterday it would be impossible to conclude court business at Canyon and call a grand jury at Amarillo before Wednesday.

He indicated that if the Payne trial could be completed in the remaining four days of the week, he might attempt to hear it immediately, but could not permit it to continue into the following week, which was designated for hearing the criminal docket at Canyon.

Payne, himself, after confessing he planned to kill his wife with a dynamite bomb planted in the family automobile, declared he would not plead insanity as a defense and wished to have a speedy trial and be sent to the electric chair as soon as possible.

His brother, Sidney Payne of Tulsa, when asked what his attitude would be toward entering an insanity plea for his brother, said: "I don't know what to do. I don't know which way I should turn or what is the right thing for me to do."

STINNETT, Aug. 11. (AP)—A. D. Payne, awaiting trial for murder in connection with the death of his wife, who died in an explosion at Amarillo June 27, reaffirmed his expressed intention of pleading

AND A SMILE
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11. (AP)—The Goshas are going to have soup today.

And it won't be because Tony Goshka likes soup, nor because the law has said they must.

It's over two weeks now since Mr. Goshka had his teeth pulled, and every day Mrs. Goshka has had meat with no soup. The whole thing came out when the Goshas were taken before a magistrate for throwing furniture at each other. So the magistrate re-arranged the Goshka menu, ordering the Mrs. to cook soup and plenty of it.

READING THE CLASSICS

The book publishers have been disturbed by trade conditions lately.

Americans are reading books more voraciously than ever before; but more books are being published, also, and business, while booming, is not so profitable as it might be.

As a result, a number of publishers have cut their prices radically, while others are reducing their output by as much as 25 per cent. If the public gets fewer books, they reason, each edition will have a larger sale.

It is certain that the flood of books loosed on us in the last few years has been overwhelming. Unfortunately, an enormous percentage of this flood has been very light-weight stuff. Shoddy novels and makeshift biographies pour out in a never-ending stream; to contemplate their long procession is sometimes to wonder if the American public is unalterably devoted to tripe.

However, there is a brighter side to it. Elliott B. Macrae, of the publishing firm of E. P. Dutton and Co., reports that the great classics of the world's literature continue to enjoy a steady and profitable sale. The Everyman's Library edition of classics, put out by his firm, has sold more than 25,000,000 copies since it was organized, and its best-sellers are not the trash of current fiction but the old-established masterpieces.

"New books," remarks Mr. Macrae, "are given at least 99 per cent of the publicity, the advertising, the sales promotion effort. Yet, in spite of all this we find that old Shakespeare and many of his friends go serenely along outselling 90 per cent of the new books year after year. It is well to note that the best sellers of today appear under the imprint of one publishing house, while the classics appear in as many as 20 or more editions, published by as many different publishers."

A New York book-seller points out that of the Everyman books, the fastest moving volumes, in this order, are Shakespeare's "Tragedies," "David Copperfield," Shakespeare's "Comedies," "Don Quixote," Dostoevsky's "The Idiot," and Plato's "Republic."

The popular trash comes and goes; but the old, established works of the great minds of the past continue to find a steady, receptive market. In that fact there is much encouragement.—NEA.

WASHINGTON.—It is almost impossible to imagine that Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, will not be an unqualified success in the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee being vacated by the Hon. Claudius Huston.

Senator Fess will not do the party any harm, which is much the most important thing, and he ought to do it considerable good by reinvesting the chairmanship with the odor of personal and political purity which is possessed in almost unbelievable quantities by the gentleman from Ohio. His principal job, assuming that he is appointed to the chairmanship as everyone expects, will be to sit benignly as the party figurehead, issue inspirational statements and do nothing whatever which might tend to damage Hoover's prospects for renomination in 1932.

It is obviously very good strategy on the part of the Republican political wizards to insert Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, the commissioner of internal revenue, as chairman of the national committee's executive committee with the assignment to do all the heavy work in the coming campaign. While Senator Fess is fumigating the precincts with his well known odor of sanctity Mr. Lucas will be out working with the boys.

His job will correspond to that of Mr. Jouett Shouse, who holds a similar title in the Democratic party and is the party's real active head despite the retention of the chairmanship by Mr. John J. Raskob. Because so many Democrats hated the sound of Raskob's name it was good strategy to have him step into the background behind Mr. Shouse, just as it is fine Republican strategy to have the saintly Senator Fess—or someone just like him, which there isn't—step into the shoes of the rather shopworn Mr. Huston and show the country that the party can still produce a chairman with a halo if necessary.

It is a mistake to describe Senator Fess as a solemn Anti-Saloon League and the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, as well as the most regular of all regular Republicans, as Senator Fess is, and still not be like that. As a matter of fact he has the happiest smile that you could find in a day's walk. Just as long as you take the Republican party and Prohibition seriously you will be rewarded by that happy Fess smile and in case you have any trouble taking things seriously it's almost worth it.

Quarter Inch Rain Falls Here Sunday

Showers that fell intermittently for two hours yesterday afternoon in Pampa extended about two miles from the city in each direction. A small rain fell at White Deer. One-fourth of an inch of rain fell in this vicinity.

The drought is still unbroken in the south part of the county, in the McLean community, and the eastern portion. Feed crops are badly in need of moisture, and farmers are hoping for a good rain to bring up volunteer wheat.

Hasty Marriages Are Target of New Chicago Law

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. (AP)—Hasty marriages were the target of a proposed uniform state law recommended today before the opening session of the 40th annual national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws.

The proposal provided that couples intending to marry would have to publish a legal notice of their intent seven days before applying for the license, except in cases of non-residents who would have to give 30 day notice.

A proposed uniform divorce law would set up certain requirements which if observed would make the divorce legal and recognizable in each of the states. Among the requirements was a year's residence

CATS LEADING SPUDDERS BY SINGLE GAME

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
When Pres. Ted Robinson of the Fort Worth Cats talked Dick Whitworth's employers into giving the brakemen an extension of his leave of absence until Sept. 7, he might have talked the Panthers right into a pennant.

It looked for a time last month like the Kittens would lose the crack righthander. Officials of his railroad had ordered him to report for duty under penalty of losing his seniority, and Dick was all set to turn in his suit and get back on a caboose. The Cats appeared to be out of the running, anyway, and Whitworth's loss did not loom as a catastrophe. Now it looks like he might have been right about it.

Since learning he would be permitted to finish the season, Whitworth has been hurling mighty ball for the Cats. His curves played a big part in the drive that carried the Snydermen from the second division to the top of the second half race, and he is doing yeoman service now to keep them there.

Yesterday the Austin brakeman allowed the Beaumont Exporters seven hits and whipped them, 12 to 7, to keep the Cats a full game ahead of the Spudders, who were knocking Waco down into third place. In seven of the nine innings Whitworth did not allow a runner to reach first and he struck out seven. Mallon and Ed Brown, each with four hits, led the bombardment on two Export flingers.

Vincent, rookie righthander, held the Cubs to seven blows, all singles, as Wichita Falls downed the Prattmen, 7 to 2. Lefty Stein went the route for the downstaters and was battered for 15 hits, including a homer by Kloza. Levey and Fitzgerald each had four knocks.

Houston's flag hopes were damped somewhat as the Sports spilled two of the Buffs' mound aces for a 9 to 1 loss in a night game. While the Louisianaans hopped on Stout and Dean for nine hits, including a homer by Krauss, the Bisons found Pat Moulton almost a complete puzzle. Their four safeties were divided among as many batters.

In a bargain bill between chronic second-fighters, the Dallas Steers knocked San Antonio's Tjunks off twice, 15 to 5 and 4 to 3. George Murray hurled nifty ball in the first tilt, holding the Cellarites to five hits, while his mates rolled up 12 runs in the first three frames off Cooper and Carson. The nightcap was a duel between Walt Tauscher and Cy Smith, with the former finally getting the verdict when the Steers rallied to score twice in the last round.

Amarillo Man Leads Tourney

AMARILLO, Aug. 11. (AP)—Several hundred golfers from the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma and New Mexico, came, did their best and were conquered by the home talent in the 72-hole Panhandle amateur golf tournament which ended yesterday.

Led by Mansel Merriman, who shot four rounds of sub-par golf for a total of 282, Amarillo sharpshooters made a clean sweep of the first three places. Elliott Hatch took second with 289 and G. W. Dodd was third with 290.

The first "foreign" threat to place was Dennis Lavender of Abilene, former state champion, who tied with Eddie Johnson, Amarillo, for fourth with 294 strokes.

Merriman's feat in playing four rounds over the Hillcrest country club and Municipal courses in six strokes under perfect golf gained him a $1,500 sedan automobile. Hatch was awarded an electric refrigerator.

Eastland, Texas Suicide Victim Not Identified

EASTLAND, Aug. 11. (AP)—Police continued today their efforts to establish the identity of a man found dead Saturday night in a theatre here. A small vial that had contained poison was found near the body.

His purse, although empty of money, contained a packet of cigars, papers, one of which was written, "Clarence Simmons, Beauty parlor." The bottle was traced to a drug store here, where records showed the poison was purchased Saturday afternoon by a man who signed the name, "A. E. Camp" and gave an Eastland address.

Two boys took a letter to a policeman on the street and said a drunk man in a theatre gave it to them, telling them to deliver it to the county attorney. The letter, dated at Abilene, was addressed to "dear mother." Justice Steele returned an inquest verdict that the man met death by drinking a poison, self administered.

ROBINS FIND THORNY ROAD IN THE WEST

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Once again the Brooklyn Robins are finding the pathway through the western half of the National league circuit a thorny road to travel in their quest for the championship pennant.

On their last swing through the west, the pace-setting Robins failed to break even, dropping seven of their thirteen games, and if the results of St. Louis the last three days are any criterion then Brooklyn's pennant hopes are due to receive a severe jolt before the Robins return to Flatbush.

The second and third blow in two days was handed the Robins yesterday when the Cardinals took a double header, the first 8 to 3 and the nightcap 4 to 0. The double defeat while the Cubs were winning two gave Brooklyn just a one-game advantage over the league champions. Burleigh Grimes pitched steady ball in the first but wild Bill Hallahan was brilliant in the closing contest. He let the Robins down with five hits and fanned 12, striking out seven of the nine men that faced him in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

The Cubs took the measure of the Boston Braves 6 to 0 and 11 to 1. A pair of highly polished pitching performances by Charlie Root and Pat Malone and Hack Wilson's home run but accounted for Chicago's triumphs. Root set the Braves down with three hits in the opener while Wilson blasted out his thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth home runs. Malone produced a five-hit game in the second while Hack was sending his thirty-ninth homer over the wall.

The lowly Phillies also won a double header, taking the Cincinnati Reds into camp by the scores of 18 to 0 and 4 to 3. Four Red hurlers were touched for 21 safeties in the first while Collins had the edge over Rixey in the nightcap.

Turning on the Cleveland Indians the Washington Senators managed to hold onto second place in the American league by their forty-second victory, eleven runs in the eighth inning accounted for the large score.

The Yankees kept pace with the Senators in a home run festival with the St. Louis Browns, the New Yorkers winning 14 to 11. Babe Ruth connected with his forty-second of the year while Combs, Goslin and Blue also rapped out circuit blows.

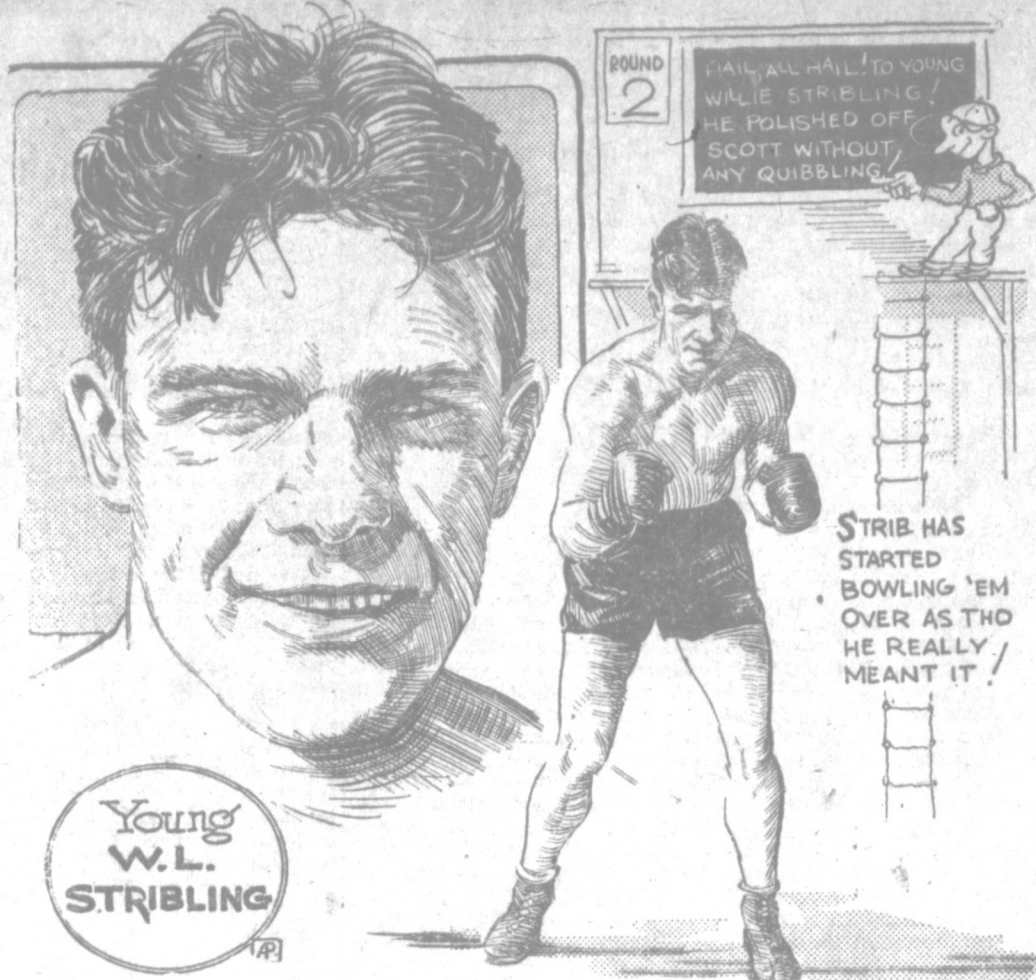

Earl Whitehill chalked up his ninth straight victory for Detroit as the Tigers turned back the Boston Red Sox 4 to 2.

O. W. Ferguson has returned from a business trip to St. Louis.
Walter Liebman of the Pampa Ice Manufacturing company, is absent from his work today on account of illness.

RELIEF PLANS TO BE PREPARED AFTER DATA FROM ALL AFFECTED STATES IS READ BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—A detailed report on drought damage, made up information from each county in the affected states, was before President Hoover today as he pushed forward preparation of plans for relief.

Returning early from his Virginia Mountain lodge the chief executive planned to devote the morning to examination of the data which included the latest word from many of the county agents who reported over the week-end to the department of agriculture.

On the information contained in this summary will be based Mr. Hoover's recommendations to the governors of the afflicted states who will attend a White House conference on Thursday. Yesterday, it was learned the president would ask the governors to appoint one man from each of the twelve states represented to compose a rehabilitation commission. Also it developed Mr. Hoover did not as yet consider the situation one to require either a nation-wide appeal for funds or the calling of a special session of congress.

Preliminary information from the reports led to the conclusion that distress from the drought was localized and that no cause existed so far for general alarm.

The drought problem engaged the president's attention constantly over the week-end yielding only briefly to the celebration in quiet fashion of Mr. Hoover's fifty-sixth birthday. A cake bearing his full quota of candles and a few simple gifts presented at the Sunday dinner were Mr. Hoover's only departure from the routine of camp life. Secretary Hyde and Vice Chairman Stone of the farm board conferred with him, the latter bringing his eye-witness report of conditions in Kentucky, Southern Ohio and Southwestern Indiana, which he had just visited.

Until the governors' conference takes place no further direct action for relief is contemplated. The president was satisfied with the Interstate Commerce Commission's authorization of railroad rate reductions for aiding movement of livestock, feed and water in the dry sections and planned no request for specific rate reductions, leaving it up to the railroads to act. Many already have prepared to do so.

25,000 Baby Golf Courses Counted in United States

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—These baby golf courses sprouting around the United States now number 25,000 and represent the incredible value of $125,000,000 in investment.

This is the estimate compiled by the commerce department, which finds that 15,000 of them have sprung into existence since last January, and that their total is still on the rise.

Primarily the government's commercial ships have been investigating the subject by reason of the demand the miniature golf establishments are creating for materials of various kinds, all during a period when demand for substances is a matter of general concern. The courses promise to consume in the aggregate very respectable quantities of cotton, through their use of duck and canvas for enclosures. They use also the products of a dozen industries, and if they exhibit driving power thru winter weather, will require shelter and heat for the crowding players.

Hack Wilson Needs Five More Homers For a New Record

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. (AP)—Just five more home runs—and 44 games in which to get them—and Hack Wilson of the Cubs, will have set a new National league record for round-trip blows.

The pudgy Cub outfielder yesterday laced Boston Brave pitching for three homers in a doubleheader to give him a total of 39 for the season, and equal his 1929 record. The league record of 43 was set last year by Chuck Klein of the Phillies, who today was 10 behind Wilson.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. (AP)—Robert Whalon of Chicago, president of the National Automobile Racing commission, was killed yesterday at a race track in Sterling, Ill.

Whalon, solicitous for the spectators, was on the outside of the track, trying to keep the crowd back from the fence. One of the racing cars, rounding the curve in a cloud of dust, swerved close to the fence and struck and killed him.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH "Spirit" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Aug. 10.

The golden text was from Romans 8:10: "The Spirit is Life because of righteousness."
The following passage from the Bible was included in the lesson-sermon: "For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the everlasting.—(Galatians 6:8).
The spirit shall of the spirit reap life. The service also included the following citation from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (pp. 223-223): "We must destroy the false belief that life and intelligence are in matter, and plant ourselves upon what is pure and perfect. Paul said, 'walk in the spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.' Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in soul, in matter instead of in spirit."—Contributed.

Fewer Clothes For Babies Is Bureau Advice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—No nightie, no socks, no shoes, no slip, no shirt for baby this hot weather.
That's today's advice from the United States children's bureau.
The 1930 August costume, which for quite a good many adults has shimmered down to "shirts-n'-shorts," should omit the shirt for the infant.
"The fewer clothes he wears, the better," the bureau set forth as its official opinion.
The children's bureau advice coincided exactly with the health habits of the most modern babies of the capital city.
Instead of the hem-stitched and beribboned wardrobes of yesterday, many a 1930 baby here has as its chief pride one delicate suit of sun-tan.
By the children's bureau, by physicians of the capital city, and by mothers, the loss of much of the old-fashioned "layette" was regarded as baby's gain.

Plane Accident In Chicago May Cause Changes

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. (AP)—An inquiry into Chicago's most unusual airplane accident has been opened with the prospect that the city's air ordinance may be changed.

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen and Major Reed Landis, deputy coroner in charge of aviation cases, have summoned a jury of aviators and airplane technicians to investigate the deaths of two young women and a pilot who were killed late Saturday when a cabin monoplane fell into a north side gas tank.

The young women, sisters, were Mary Laws, 24, and Eugenia Laws, 22. The pilot, whom the sisters engaged for a ride over the city, was Orville Suchy.
Soon after the plane left the Municipal airport, a severe electrical storm broke. The plane was walled in by dark clouds and lightning. Witnesses said after a severe crack of lightning, the wings of the ship collapsed and it plunged from a height of 1,000 feet into a storage tank of the People's Gas, Light and Coke company.
The impact cleaved the steel roof and bottom of the gas chamber and the plane dived into a 40-foot reservoir beneath, filled with water. The ship finally rested in the murk at the base of the tank. A diver aided by police rescued the bodies Sunday.

All the known witnesses have been summoned to appear today at the inquiry. Coroner Bundesen indicated that a change in the air ordinance regulating flights over the city would be sought.

Distance Fliers Are Forced Down

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11. (AP)—Bob Wark and Eddie Brown, Tacoma to Tokyo fliers, who were forced down here yesterday en route to White Horse, Yukon territory, planned to resume their aerial trip from Ladner airport here today.
The fliers took off at 11:33 a. m. (PST) Sunday from Tacoma field, but air in the gas lines of their big Fokker biplane, "Pacific Era," forced them to land at Vancouver airport on Lulu island about 2 p. m.
Vancouver is approximately 150 miles from Tacoma by air.
They expected to take off for White Horse, approximately 1,000 miles distant, in time to reach their destination by late afternoon.
Wark's announced itinerary included Fairbanks and Nome, Alaska, and Petropavlovsk, Siberia, as refueling points, en route to Tokyo. The trip outlined from Tacoma to Tokyo is approximately 5,400 miles.

E. H. Ezell, Amarillo, of the Magnolia Petroleum company, is a business visitor in Pampa today.
W. B. Saulsbury was a visitor in Hereford Sunday.

The ship is being piloted by R. W. "Dutch" Bartgis. Other passengers in the plane are Mrs. Cree and children. The party is now taking a bird's eye view of Canada. The plane stopped at various cities in Ohio and Pennsylvania before going to Canada. The ship left Pampa airport a week ago.

Pioneer Cattleman Dies in Galveston

FORT WORTH, Aug. 11. (AP)—Andrew Jackson Long, 81, retired capitalist and cattleman of Fort Worth, died yesterday at a hotel in Galveston, while on a vacation.

He made many cattle drives over the old trails from Texas to Kansas and amassed a fortune in the cattle business, living for a number of years at Sweetwater and at Coleman. DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN. COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, artist's model, loves ALAN STEYNE, painter, who is also loved by CHUMMY MOSELEY, Judith's roommate and best friend. Chummy had loved Steyne years ago, and had suffered a loss of memory when he went away; so although Steyne loves Judith, Judith insists that it is his duty to marry Chummy, whose memory is restored when she sees him again.

Steyne and Chummy are engaged, and Judith studies dancing under the great GUARVENUS, while rich BRUCE GIDEON—whom Steyne detests—offers to star her in a musical show. Guarvenus is killed in an auto accident, and Chummy breaks her engagement after she sees Steyne kissing Judith. EDWARD WYON, a friend of Guarvenus, rehearses Judith for a new show he is putting on. She meets BASTIEN DUMONT, an artist friend, in a cafe, and they discuss the breaking of Chummy's engagement.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIX

Judy leaned across the table, her eyes big with a feverish question. "What do you mean, Bastien? What else? What do you know?" "I oughtn't to tell, I suppose," the young man said rather unwillingly. "It seems mean. She's not here, and she might hate anybody to know."

"Would Chummy hate me to know anything?" asked Judy, reproachfully. "No—not you, Judy," he said quickly. "Of course, not you. Well, you know she's taken a studio in a building near mine, and a little bedroom, and a funny little galley just off the stairs, with a gas ring and a sink. Before she went she just told me that she wasn't going to be married. She didn't explain, and somehow I didn't like to ask her. She moved her things in and asked me to keep an eye on them while she was away. There is no housekeeper in the building, and she was going to leave me the key."

"Well, not to make it too long, I mistook the day she said she was going, and, not receiving the key, I went round to inquire. The door of her studio was open, and it looked empty, so I went in. She wasn't there, but I looked through the door of the other little room, and there she stood. I oughtn't to have looked, but I couldn't help myself. She had her back to me. In her hand she held a small photograph in a kind of miniature frame."

Judy nodded, catching her breath. "His—Mr. Steyne—I know! He gave her the frame not long ago." "I recognized it," Dumont went on, "because she had shown it to me at the cafe—I suppose it was the day he gave it to her. Well, Judy, she was looking at it, holding it in her hand. Then she stretched out her arms wide and stood like that for a moment, and then she clasped her hands together and bowed her head. Then she kissed the photograph—kissed it over and over again. I don't know how I got away, I was so upset; but, thank Heaven, I did get away before she saw me. Now, Judy, I ask you, would she have acted like that if she didn't care for the chap?"

Judy said nothing. She sat with her chin in one hand, the fingers of the other drumming on the table. "Judy, do you think he really cares for her?" Dumont went on. "Of course, Alan cares for Chummy! Don't be a fool, Bastien!" "It just occurred to me. You know what kind of a girl Chummy is—one of the world's very best. It occurred to me that it was just possible she had found out that he didn't care for her, and she had made it up about not wanting to be married."

Judy looked at him with a thunderstorm face. "Bastien, you're a perfect goose!" she said angrily. "It must have been a quarrel. They'll make it up when they come back. I wish you hadn't told me!"

When she got back to her rooms, she by her window with a very set little face. She was wondering. Was it possible that Chummy had guessed something? Had Alan been so foolish, so wicked, as ever to let her see for a second that he did not care for her? No, of course he couldn't. It was impossible that Chummy had guessed. That would be too great a calamity to contemplate. But why, then, had she decided not to be married?

Judy had got procenium boxes for Bastien and Tony Leigh and Michael Stone. She would have filled all the boxes if she had not been checked. She had a beautiful seat all ready for Chummy, of whom she had heard nothing since the receipt of a post card from the coast in reply to Judy's long and rambling account of her extraordinarily good fortune.

It came to the last day before the first night. Judy's heart was very sore. Chummy not to be there when she first danced in public! Every few minutes of the day she found herself thinking about it. Alan she dared not think about; but Chummy—it seemed to her that Chummy was the most important person in her life. All those years when she and Chummy had fought life together—all those poor, hard-working years! Years of slavery, yet they had been happy in a way. And had Chummy forgotten it all? Didn't she care a bit?

Then, going home about six o'clock, Judy found Chummy waiting in her little sitting room. As usual, it was a bower of flowers. She knew now that Gideon sent them; but she had said nothing. She loved them too much.

It was a gray day, and it had been drizzling, but Chummy's hair and her delicately tanned face seemed to make sunshine in the room. Judy flung herself on her. "Oh, Chummy darling, what joy and bliss! I've been so miserable! I've been thinking you'd forgotten little Judy! I was having the idea of tomorrow."

"I came back for it, Judy," the other girl said, when Judy finally released her and she could breathe. "I've got you a lovely seat," said Judy. "I don't care what happens, now that you're going to be there!" In breathless haste she poured out the whole tale of her wonderful luck. So innately modest was little Judy that you might easily have thought that her genius had nothing to do with it at all.

When she had finished, a silence fell. Something had to be said. They both knew it. They looked at each other. Judy's glance was fever bright; Chummy's was serious, but serene.

Judy nerved herself. "And—Mr. Steyne?" she asked. "I don't know whether he's still in Paris," Chummy said quietly. "Tell me, Chummy—it was only a squabble, wasn't it?" "What do you mean?" Chummy replied, with her grave smile.

"I mean between you and Mr. Steyne. Chummy, from the first I knew it must be only a quarrel." "You are wrong, Judy. It was never a quarrel. I couldn't quarrel with Alan—you know that. We were always such—friends." "Chummy, you seem years older! I'm sure there's something." "There's nothing, Judy dear." "And you don't know where Mr. Steyne is now?"

"No." Chummy was not looking at her friend. She spoke very slowly, as if choosing her words. "I have not heard from Alan, Judy. You see, it was better not, since we had parted. He saw it just as I did. He was very generous. He might have reproached me."

Chummy did turn her eyes on her friend then. An eager question flashed into them for an instant, like a bright flame. Her whole being seemed to glow with an intense and violent light. It was as if something were impending, something tremendous, so that she dared not breathe; but slowly she turned her eyes away again.

"I thought perhaps you might have heard from Alan, Judy," she said. "I?" Judy's voice was what it had never been in her life before—frightened. "Yes, Judy dear," Chummy went on gently. "It seems strange that he has written to nobody. And you and he were friends, too."

"Yes," said Judy. She looked at her friend. A blank silence fell. Judy knew in that moment—she knew that Chummy knew the truth! Chummy knew that Alan and Judy loved each other; and that was why she had refused to marry him.

"Yes," said Judy again, in a very little voice. "Yes, he and I were friends, too." They talked of other things after that, and presently Chummy went away. She was tired after her long journey, and she had her little home to set in order. Her little home, thought Judy—her little lonely home.

She went away, this new Chummy, so much older but so much more beautiful. The great night was indeed a great night. It was a stupendous, a binding, success. It was silent with the silence of acute enjoyment; it was noisy with the noise of uncontrollable enthusiasm. The house yelled and roared, and held its breath, and yelled and roared again.

Little Judy Grant was a great dancer—there was no doubt about that. She was the whole program. There was a ballet, of course, and a very good one. She herself had only three people appearing with her, and they were mere adjuncts, though useful and appropriate ones. Her dances were danced alone.

Judy had three changes of scene. First came a Greek scene, in which she did three different dances—a woodland dance, a girl playing ball, and a moonlight idyl to the music of Pan pipes.

The third was a series of old English dances, which brought down the house. Judy, as Jack-in-the-Green, was simply irresistible, laughing out of her little green house of foliage. As an encore, she gave a child's dance in front of a Punch and Judy show.

The final curtain fell on an indescribable scene of enthusiasm. Up at the back of the gallery, Alan Steyne had stood from the first moment the curtain went up. He had returned from Paris unknown to everybody.

To him it was a night of wild torture and of wild delight. The artist in him reveled in it. The man loathed it. For the most part, while the program was going on, the artist carried the man away. When the calls could no longer be taken, and the manager had announced Judy's complete exhaustion, Alan ran down the steps like a madman. He hung around the stage door. A big car was drawn up there. Alan knew whose it was. He was blind and mad with misery but he could not go away.

Presently a little person came out. He crouched in the shade, and breathed with relief. A crowd of men swept around it—the boys from the Cafe Turc. Gideon's bulky figure fought through them to Judy's side.

Then Alan heard her voice, gay and hoarse and half delirious. He caught a glimpse of the familiar many-colored shawl in which she was wrapped. "No—no, Mr. Gideon. No, Tony and Michael! No, all of you! I'm tired out. Call me a cab. I'm going home alone to cry myself to sleep!" (To Be Continued)

India's worries continued, too. A force of fierce Afridi tribesmen estimated between 5,000 and 10,000 advanced on the northwestern city of Peshawar, key to the famous Khyber pass. On the outskirts of the city they skirmished with British patrols, while some 50 British airplanes watched their movements from the air and attacked them when safety demanded it. Some Afridis were killed by bombs, and others by cavalrymen. Six Indian troopers were killed. To the southward, in Sukkur, the ancient animosity between Moslem and Hindu has cost at least 20 lives. The trouble arose a week ago, when a Hindu Nationalist procession attempted to pass a Moslem mosque. Sporadic rioting has occurred since.

The Nationalist civil disobedience campaign continued with demonstrations. A number of important arrests were made during the week, with Vallabhai Patel, acting president of the all-India National congress, being sentenced to three months simple imprisonment.

Meanwhile foreigners were alarmed in the third province, Kiangsi. The nearness of Communist bands to Nanchang, the capital, caused Chinese banks to close. Kluksiang, Yangtze river port, was said to be the objective of the raiders.

Forces of the United States, Great Britain and Japan prepared to protect their nationals. Eleven foreign war craft, including two American river gunboats, law with their guns trained on the tri-cities, while British and Japanese troops have been sent to the Yangtze valley cities.

Foreign missionaries still are beleaguered in various sections, including 11 Catholic workers at Kanchow. The fate of the Rev. Allen H. Cameron, who stayed behind when the invaders swept over Changsha, still was uncertain, although one report said he had been stabbed to death.

Two British women missionaries, Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor Harrison, are held by bandits on the Min river above Fochow. A finger purporting to be one of Miss Nettleton's was sent to officials with a demand for $17,500 ransom, and the British consul at Fochow dispatched emissaries for negotiations.

Through all this the Nationalist government has attempted to stem the Communist tide but has had little success because most of its troops are battling a strong rebel coalition in the north.

Chinese Communists, Murdering, Pillaging And Burning, Continue To Spread Terror in Provinces

By the Associated Press Chinese Communists, murdering, pillaging and burning, continued their terrorization of three provinces last week.

Changsha, important city of Hunan province, was left in ashes, with thousands of Chinese slain and foreigners made refugees, as the Reds advanced on the thriving tri-cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, in Hupeh.

Meanwhile foreigners were alarmed in the third province, Kiangsi. The nearness of Communist bands to Nanchang, the capital, caused Chinese banks to close. Kluksiang, Yangtze river port, was said to be the objective of the raiders.

Workers Clear Debris After Fatal Fort Worth Bank Blast

Shattered by a bomb thrown by a bandit who demanded $10,000.00 from President W. L. Piers, the interior of the Stockyards National bank is shown above, as workers aided those injured by the blast. Two men were killed, one the bank robber, and three injured. Piers had placed the money in a sack and was ready to give it to the bandit when police appeared. At sight of the uniforms, the bandit threw down his satchel, believed to have contained nitroglycerine.

Police Uncover Detroit Gangsters' Arsenal

Michigan state police and Detroit officers are shown here inspecting the 57 pistols, four shotguns, two rifles and two machine guns seized in raids on gangsters' hideouts in the drastic cleanup campaign that followed the murder of Gerald Buckley, crusading radio announcer. Lieut. Joseph M. Sheridan of the state police, extreme left, and Detroit Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox are discussing the workings of a Browning sub-machine gun that Wilcox is holding. More than half of the guns seized have figured in killings as proved by matched bullets taken from victims, say police.
