RECRUIT SPEAKERS ADD ZEST TO GUBERNATORIAL RACES

FEMININE AVIATORS WILL REACH AMARILLO THIS EVENING

If all the jokes and absurdities of the Texas and Oklahoma political campaigns were printed, it would be a volume of Americanisms which would embarrass the entire nation. Still, it has been amusing to watch the political puppets and we owe the campaigners a lot of enlightening this hot summer.

A fictitious constable won fame at the Sturgeon speaking here. Speaking of "some folks" fence-straddling, Judge Newton P. Williams said he was reminded of the country constable who was asked the question: "Well, how do you stand on the curriculum?" To which the office seeker was said cautiously to have replied: "Wal, I joined it all right but I haven't attended a single meeting since."

Judge Sturgeon added that the constable was asked how he stood on the issue of heaven and hell, and replied that he didn't like to say, as he had friends in both places.

Secretary Hyde at the Amarillo wheat conference used a story that drew great applause from his farmer audience. He said a school had been non-plussed by the question of how many Hessian soldiers fought for England in the Revolutionary war over here. The boy had no idea, but received a high mark for his reply: "A darned sight more than ever got back home."

People sometimes accuse the newspapers of suppressing political news. They hear scathing remarks in speeches that are not repeated in print. The answer is that the newspapers print all the law allows, and if the people deem it essential to know more of what is being said they'll have to work for liberalization of the libel laws. We think the editors of Texas, as we know them, are as fine a lot as any state has, and we are certain that they give more time to public service than members of any other profession.

The Pampa has just completed a tour of the new fire station and city hall with City Commissioner Clyde Patheer and R. G. Allen. It was an informal inspection, but one which revealed that Pampa is going to have two municipal structures of which she may be truly proud. Mr. Allen, who knows a lot about steel fabrication, remarked that the city was surely getting its money's worth in material, the low price of which made possible the low bid on the building.

Indications are that the city hall will be completed in late October, with the formal opening due for about November 1. Besides the finishing of the interior, the sidewalks must be laid and the grounds narrowed to allow widening of the streets east and west of the square. The fire station is nearly complete. After the city offices are moved, the present hall will be torn down and the site made part of the lawn around the fire station.

The city planning firm, Montgomery & Ward of Wichita Falls, will make landscaping plans for the fire station grounds, municipal square, and Gray county court house lawn under the contract recently signed. Next summer Pampa will have a beautiful array of public buildings, surrounded by grass and shrubbery. The new Pampa would certainly be real to anyone who has not seen this city since 1925.

LONG BEACH WOMAN LEADS FLIERS AGAIN

Mrs. O'Donnell Lands At Lubbock at 11 o'Clock

TODAY'S LAP IS FROM ROSWELL

Big Crowd Present to See Awarding of Prizes

LUBBOCK, Aug. 21. (P)—Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach entrant in the Women's National Air Derby, won another lap today when she landed at 11:01:41, after taking off from Roswell, N. M., at 9:01 A. M. Mountain time, an elapsed time of 1 hour 38 minutes and 41 seconds. Mrs. O'Donnell's time from Long Beach to Lubbock was 7 hours 24 minutes 41 seconds.

Marjorie Dolg, holding second place in the derby, landed here at 11:04:38, making the flight from Roswell in one hour, 2 minutes and 38 seconds. Her elapsed time to Lubbock was 7 hours 30 minutes 2 seconds.

The women stayed over night at Roswell. They stopped here for lunch with their next hop this afternoon to Amarillo, another overnight stop.

Other entrants landed as follows:

Jeanne la Rene, 11:27:50, lap time, 1:23:50, Mildred Morgan, 11:28:03, Time 1:23:03; Ruth Barron, 11:28:39 time 1:25:39; Ruth Stewart, 11:28:39, time 1:32:09. Lap prizes totalling $500 were distributed as follows: O'Donnell, $250, Dolg $150; Morgan $100. Several thousand persons were at the air port for the arrival and gave the women fliers a demonstrative welcome. The take-off for Amarillo was set for 2:30 p. m.

Absentee Voting in Second Primary Somewhat Lighter

If absentee balloting can be relied upon to indicate the size of the vote, the poll in the second primary will be considerably smaller in Gray county than in the first. Thus far, 42 absentee ballots have been cast for the run-off primary while in the first over 100 had voted on Thursday before, the election on Saturday. However, these figures are not taken seriously by Charlie Thur, county clerk, who has the opinion that more local citizens were vacationing in the latter part of July than now.

That the vote in Gray county Saturday will be lighter than in the first primary is the belief of many political prognosticators. The governor's race is the reason, they say. There is a number of voters—just how many, the forecasters won't say—who won't vote for Jim Ferguson and just as forcibly declare that they can't vote for Sterling.

Charged in Kidnaping WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 21. (P)—Pauline Bailey, Kyle, Texas, hitch-hiker, was held today charged with kidnaping 13-months-old Juanita Baker from a tourist camp here. The woman, arrested with the infant in a nearby town, said she was weak from hunger, having spent all her money to buy clothes for the baby.

J. W. Clay has taken employment at the Magnolia Filling station operated by Art Gatten. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Sullins and family left today on a vacation trip to Oklahoma.

ORDINANCE FORMING PLANNING COMMISSION IS PASSED—TO BE EFFECTIVE SOON AS APPOINTED

Nine Members Will Be Named to Participate in Work Launched by Firm of Engineers

To promote the orderly development of the city and any area outside its boundaries that may relate to its comprehensive growth, an ordinance was passed by the city commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday. The ordinance carried an emergency clause. The function of the planning commission is to adopt a master plan for the development of the city. The commission has the authority to employ city planning engineers. The planning commission to be appointed will prepare a budget, which will be submitted to the city commissioners for ratification, following which the city commissioners will set apart the amount of the budget.

Members of the planning commission will first make a comprehensive survey and study of the city as it is and the master plan is to be made with a general purpose of an adjusted, co-ordinated, harmonious development of the city so as to best promote health, safety, morals, order, convenience, prosperity, efficiency and economy.

The planning commission may alter, amend, extend or add to the plan from time to time. An annual report will be made by this commission, showing the expenditures of the preceding year. After the plan is adopted by the city commissioners, no public building will be constructed until its location has the approval of the city planning commission.

Maps, lists, charts, and descriptive matter will show the planning commission's recommendations in the master plan for the development of the city, including: the general location, character and extent of streets, alley ways, viaducts, bridges, railroads, terminals, parks and park ways, playgrounds, aviation fields, school grounds, athletic fields, fire station sites, public grounds, public improvements, and the relocation, widening, or extending of any public work now existing.

Terms of the members of the planning commission, which will consist of nine members, are: three of the commission will serve for one year, three for two years, and three for three years. Upon the expiration of the term of any of the commissioners, his successor will serve for the unexpired term. The mayor and one of the city commissioners will be members ex-officio of the new commission. Meetings are to be held not less than once a month. Members may be removed from the planning commission for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance.

The ordinance is No. 125, and was signed by Mayor D. W. Osborne. Contract was awarded to the Stephenson Furniture company for furniture for the dormitory of the fire station. The bid of the company was $542.05.

Laketon Area Receives Rains

Recent rains in portions of the county, particularly in the Laketon community, have provided enough moisture to bring up volunteer wheat, and many farmers will start their plows again Monday, according to reports received today.

Three heavy showers have fallen at Laketon in the last two weeks. This section produced the highest average wheat yield in the Pampa territory during the last season. Rain is still badly needed in the southwest and northwest portions of the county, and very little of the volunteer wheat is up.

MILLER SPEAKS FOR FERGUSON

"Pa" Will Speak at Fort Worth This Evening

By the Associated Press Drawing new support for their respective campaigns from strong political leaders, Ross S. Sterling and James E. Ferguson continued Thursday to hammer away in eleventh-hour efforts to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Saturday's run-off primary, Ferguson speaking for the candidacy of his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington, third ranking candidate in the July primary who carried West Texas almost solidly, was arrayed with the Sterling ranks, making his first speech last night at Waco.

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, also an eliminated candidate for the governorship in the first primary, spoke last night at La Grange for Mrs. Ferguson's candidacy. Ferguson, who returned to Central Texas last night for an address at Terrell, turned northward again today and was due to speak tonight at Fort Worth.

Sterling spoke last night at Cameron and planned addresses today at Georgetown and San Marcos.

Gov. Dan Moody, who delivered a denunciation of "Fergusonism" at Dallas Tuesday night, made a long jump into West Texas for a similar attack last night at San Angelo. With equal rapidity, he expected to trek across the state today for another appeal tonight at Houston.

Sterling's speech at a rally on the Milam county courthouse lawn again was an attack centering upon the Ferguson pardon record. Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary of the Democratic state executive committee, called out indictments against Ferguson and his record.

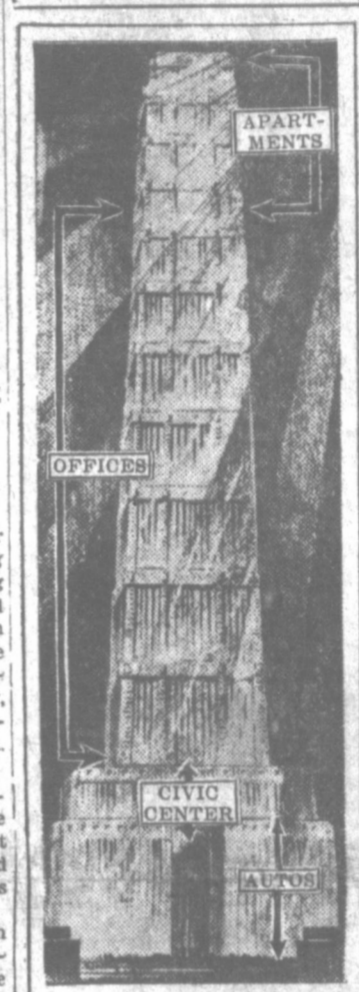

Sterling again explained the state highway bond proposal, saying he wished to "unbond" the people of the state, not to "bond" them and added, "I want you people who have differed with me on the bond issue to understand that a vote for me is not a vote for a bond issue. No governor could issue one dollar's worth of bonds. The people would have to vote for them." Attacking Ferguson, Sterling asked, "did you read what his brother said about him? If a brother of mine said that about me, I would get down off this platform and you wouldn't have an opportunity to vote for me for anything."

His speaking engagement for Friday at La Grange was announced as having been changed to Columbus.

Still Harps on Roads Ferguson, at Terrell, unleashed another attack on Gov. Dan Moody, and on Sterling. Attacking Sterling's proposed state highway bond issue, Ferguson told the people to "go to the polls, chop off his head."

1960 Skyscraper

Skyscrapers like this—half mile high, housing more than 20,000 workers and containing garage space, a civic center, offices and apartments—will be in style about 1960, in the opinion of Francis Keally, New York architect, who drew this plan. The building will be 20 degrees cooler a title top than on the first floor. Office employees will be able to rest and spend the noon hour in the civic center on the second level, while the first level will be used for parking autos.

STERLING MEN ARE TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian, known as "the dean of Panhandle lawyers," arrived in town this morning to obtain, as he said, "the lay of the land," before he advocates the candidacy of Ross Sterling at the courthouse at 8 o'clock tonight. Judge E. J. Pickens, also of Canadian, will occupy the platform with Judge Hoover.

At a Sterling rally at LeFors last night, Judge Hoover was taken unawares by hecklers but he quickly silenced them with stinging bars of his well-known sarcasm. Judge Newton P. Willis will preside at the rally and will introduce the speakers.

Judge Hoover has lived at Canadian 40 years and is known thru-out the Panhandle. His scorching satire and penetrating wit usually draws out all the old timers and new-comers as well where ever he appears. Judge Hoover actively supported Small in the first primary but the menace of "Fergusonism" brought him into the Sterling camp in the run-off primary, he declared. Senator Pink Parrish of Lubbock, Panhandle Sterling manager, and Judge E. J. Pickens of Canadian also will speak tonight.

REDUCTION WILL BE IN FORCE AT ONCE

Fifth Slash in Five Years Made by Utility

After conferences with the city commission, the Southwestern Public Service company has inaugurated a reduced schedule of rates for electric light and power users in Pampa. According to W. H. Curry, manager, the new schedule will effect an annual average saving of approximately 12 per cent to users of electricity. At the request of the city commission, the reduction is dated back to the last meter reading in July, consequently the lower rates will apply on all bills mailed out Sept. 1.

This reduction is the fifth of its kind put into effect during the five years that the Southwestern Public Service electric utility. These reductions, it is pointed out, have been made in recognition of the rapid growth of the city and through a desire on the part of the company to expedite this growth.

Residential lighting will now be 11 cents per KWH for the first 50 kilowatt hours, eight cents per KWH for the next 50 kilowatt hours, and four cents per KWH for the remaining consumption. The complete, reduced schedule will be found on page four of The News today.

The company is installing another power unit to raise the horsepower of the plant here to 1,800. This plant, together with the high line from the super-power station at Amarillo, affords the city two reliable sources of power.

Miss Ball Heard By Lions Club

Miss Anita Ball, Chautauqua entertainer extraordinary, won great acclaim at the Lions club luncheon today.

Miss Ball "captured" her audience with a program of recitations, whistling and vocal solos, and accordion selections.

After examining two crippled boys, the Lions raised a large sum for their treatment. One of the lads has just returned from an Oklahoma hospital where a bone maul was corrected. The other, his right leg drawn as the result of burns, will be given special treatment by the Lions club in cooperation with local doctors and the men's class of the Methodist church.

In the absence of regular officers, C. H. Walker presided today. John B. Hessey was inducted into the club by Lion Arthur Teed.

School Bonds of District Approved

AUSTIN, Aug. 21. (P)—Bonds approved by the Attorney General: Pampa Independent school district, Gray county, $25,000 school house bonds, five per cent serials.

The bonds were voted recently to complete work of erecting one new ward building and additions to Central high school, Baker and East ward schools, all of which are now nearing completion.

The new ward building under construction at the end of north Frost street will be ready for occupancy about Sept. 7, according to Joe M. Smith, business manager of the Pampa Independent school district. Additions to the two wards will be completed by the first of next week. Least progress has been made on Central addition but the contractor expected to deliver the building completed and ready for occupancy by the first school opens.

H. D. Willard of Dallas was in Pampa today.

Mrs. Moore Halts Jail Break At Stinnett Today

STINNETT, Aug. 21. (P)—Four prisoners escaped from the county jail for a brief interval of liberty today and Mrs. C. O. Moore, wife of the sheriff, prevented the possible escape of a dozen more when she rushed to the jail, gun in hand as the prisoners were trying to break out.

The four fugitives were at large only a short time, being caught by a posse consisting of sheriff Moore and his deputies.

A. D. Payne, Amarillo wife slayer, was in a cell which was not opened and made no effort to escape.

C. H. Jackson, charged in a car theft case, plied the arms of W. L. Kelly, deputy sheriff, when the officer went to feed prisoners in a large tier of cells called "the tank" at noon. Earl Miller, J. J. Reed, and Lloyd Ramsey, held on minor charges, obtained his keys and tried to lock Kelly in a cell, and then ran down three flights of steps through the courthouse. Mrs. Moore heard the commotion and ran from her apartment, gun in hand, as another prisoner tried to complete the incarceration of the struggling Kelly. Mrs. Moore liberated the deputy and halted the jail break.

FERGUSONISM AND THE FARMERS

"Fergusonism" might be described as a condition of double-action "proximity." "Ma" is "Jim's proxy in the simple act of eligibility to hold office. "Jim" is "Ma's" proxy in the gentle art of "bally-hoo" in campaigning and the application of "Fergusonism" to the administration of the office of governor.

A large percentage of that same "bally-hoo" is worked around the so-called "farmer vote." The stump speaking proxy speaks of the latter somewhat as though it might be carried around the speaking itinerary in the speaker's vest pocket. He creates the idea that "the boys in the forks of the creek" are an election element to be taken entirely for granted.

He was that way back in 1914. He created the idea in his speeches that the tenant farmer was both the backbone of Texas industry and the most abused institution in the state. He rarely failed to give a "horrible example" or two in every speech. One of his favorite tales had to do with a tenant farmer who thought he was under contract with the landlord on a basis of one-quarter of the cotton. When the crop was made the tenant found he had unsuspectingly signed a contract for five-eighths.

Some time during the reign of "Fergusonism" before it came of necessity to be a proxy government, the legislature of Texas passed a tenant farmer bill which Governor Ferguson signed with a clarion flourish of trumpets. It provided that no landlord might contract with a tenant farmer except on certain fractions of the crop arbitrarily set out in the statute. As rapidly as the first test case could wend its way to the supreme court of Texas, that body declared the act unconstitutional because of the very obvious restriction on the right of private contract—one of the oldest fundamentals of the common law.

The facts are, simply, that the "Fergusonism" promises to the farmers of Texas have not been even up to the grade of the proverbial "pie crust." If one cared to give him credit for forcing the legislature to pass the tenant farmer bill—and the Fergusonists have been notoriously impotent in legislative influence—it was a law that did not affect "farm relief" so much as one iota.

All of the Ferguson farmer friendship may be found in those stump speech utterances and the one unconstitutional piece of legislation. He has done nothing for the farmers nor for the agricultural interests of the state. Neither will he do anything for either if he succeeds in the present race for governor in his wife's name.

"Farmer Jim" on the political platform, is reminiscent of nothing quite so strikingly as the old "Blue Mountain Joe" troupe of medicine-show specialists that brought its own band of Kickapoo Indians "who make that medicine sold each evening from the roots, herbs, leaves, fruits and barks of their native hunting grounds. The only friendship for farmers exercised by "Fergusonism" is the line of patent-medicine phrases which neither heal nor help, but like hair tonic, contain just enough of alcohol to deceive the unwary.

Just To Remind You

Though, ordinarily, we may not deem the office of constable a very important office, however, when we pause to consider the matter with personal concern, we find that it may mean as much to any one of us as does any one of the so-called higher offices.

POLITICS

and we'll end this proposition forever." "For 16 years they've been making the charge that Jim Ferguson was a thief," he said. "What is it? When is it? They've never found a nickel he's stolen. If they're such fourth-raters that they can't figure anything out, you ought to quit fooling around with them. They talk about all the money I've stolen. I'm a broke farmer and rancher just like you. I don't even own a piece of property that is not mortgaged."

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, speaking for Mrs. Ferguson's candidacy at La Grange, said he had chiefly four reasons for supporting her. "I believe the best interests of those who supported me loyally are served by electing a governor not of long standing in the millionaire class," he said, "and who has lost the common touch, but whose heart is with the tough, but whose heart Mrs. Ferguson's heart shares the trials and tribulations of the masses."

He opposed the Sterling road bond plan, reiterating arguments against it made in his own campaign. He also expressed opposition to Sterling, because, he said, the latter's campaign seemed to indicate "an attempt of the Ku Klux Klan to make a rear door entry and seek control, as in 1924." Miller planned to speak tonight at San Antonio.

Small Makes Comparison: Launching his attack upon "Fergusonism" in three thrusts, Senator Clint Small spoke at Waco in his first address of the campaign for Sterling's candidacy.

His three broadsides at the Ferguson past were "Ma's" pardon record, the highway contract scandal, and a comparison of "Ferguson, the politician, to Ross Sterling, the business man."

Governor Moody, speaking at San Angelo, opened his address with reference to Ferguson's offer of $50 to him for every speech he delivered in West Texas. "I know Jim won't live up to his agreement, the governor said. "Besides, if he did pay me $50, I wouldn't accept it."

He devoted practically all of his address to a recital of the Ferguson impeachment proceedings and to the pardon record of Mrs. Ferguson. He charged that Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson together had freed more than 6,000 convicts while they were in office and that the cost of convicting these prisoners had been about $1,000 each.

WACO, Aug. 21. (Special)—"Political bunk, hokum and chicanery are Jim Ferguson's stock in trade Senator Clint Small, West Texas' candidate for governor, who ran third in the first primary, said last night as he came out for Ross Sterling against "Farmer" Jim and "Ma" Ferguson.

"He can make pure bunk more palatable to the ordinary individual than any other person in America today," the senator continued. Launching his attack on Ferguson methodically took the record of the Ferguson's completely apart to the accompaniment of enthusiastic applause tempered with a generous sprinkling of heckling.

Senator Small was accompanied from Fort Worth by Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, and was introduced by Jake Tiley, prominent Waco attorney. A graphic comparison of Jim Fergusonism in three thrusts, the senator made as a politician with Ross Sterling as a business man. "Ma's" pardon record, and the highway scandal of the Ferguson administration constituted the three main points of Small's attack.

"I am taking back nothing of what I said in the first primary and am advocating the candidacy of Ross Sterling on the same principles upon which I made my race. Ferguson's entire appeal is to the emotions and is based on the creating of prejudice, while Ross Sterling, unschooled in the ways of politics and politicians, is offering the same sound principles that have made him a successful business man in private life."

"Sterling's integrity has never been questioned and his honesty is above discussion; but I challenge anyone to point out a single bit of constructive legislation accomplished under any Ferguson."

"The state-wide bond issue is not an issue in this campaign as Jim would have you believe. The major question is, shall we have the honest government?" Speaking of Ferguson's pardon record, Mr. Small referred to the Langhorne and Holmes cases, the Santa Claus robbery and murder in Eastland county in 1924 were aired in response to hecklers' challenges.

"Ross Sterling would not base his pardon policy on commercial expediency, to say the least. And the common knowledge that pardons were bought and sold in Austin during the Ferguson administration is a condition that would not exist."

Highway contracts let by Ferguson on "excessive figures," partly recovered by Dan Moody as attorney general, drew criticism from the West Texan.

"Texas became the laughing stock of the entire United States as a result of our inability to sell road bonds four years ago. And it was all the result of political graft at the capitol. I point to the record of Sterling as chairman of the highway commission for the past four years and invite comparison with Jim's record in the same capacity."

Assistance of other citizens will be asked only after the list has been exhausted, according to officials of the Council. A basket picnic on the lawn adjacent to the educational building is planned for the first evening.

Light Rains in State Give Relief

By The Associated Press
Farmers and business men over Texas had a more optimistic outlook today after light rains in various sections Tuesday abated high temperatures, watered thirsty crops and gave hope for better fall pastures.

Business men said the rains in many places were too light to be of great benefit to crops but constituted a psychological life-saver as a stimulant to trade.

One of the longest summer droughts on record in Dallas county was terminated by a shower and light rains were reported at Abilene, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Palestine, Port Arthur, Bridgeport, Bronson, Crosbyton, Dublin, Eastland, Nacogdoches, Weatherford, Ladonia, Nacoma, Sherman, Longview, Marshall and Woodlawn.

Winds accompanied thundershowers in the vicinity of Shiloh, Locust Grove and Centerville, wrecking several barns and garages and blowing a few dwellings from their foundations. No persons were reported injured. At Houston, Walter Kuhl, a plumber, was paralyzed from the waist down and burned by a stroke of lightning.

"Fergusonism" might be described as a condition of double-action "proxy." "Ma" is "Jim's proxy in the simple act of eligibility to hold office."

A large percentage of that same "bally-hoo" is worked around the so-called "farmer vote." The stump speaking proxy speaks of the latter somewhat as though it might be carried around the speaking itinerary in the speaker's vest pocket.

He was that way back in 1914. He created the idea in his speeches that the tenant farmer was both the backbone of Texas industry and the most abused institution in the state.

He devoted practically all of his address to a recital of the Ferguson impeachment proceedings and to the pardon record of Mrs. Ferguson.

Some time during the reign of "Fergusonism" before it came of necessity to be a proxy government, the legislature of Texas passed a tenant farmer bill which Governor Ferguson signed with a clarion flourish of trumpets.

The facts are, simply, that the "Fergusonism" promises to the farmers of Texas have not been even up to the grade of the proverbial "pie crust."

All of the Ferguson farmer friendship may be found in those stump speech utterances and the one unconstitutional piece of legislation. He has done nothing for the farmers nor for the agricultural interests of the state.

"Former Jim" on the political platform, is reminiscent of nothing quite so strikingly as the old "Blue Mountain Joe" troupe of medicine-show specialists that brought its own band of Kickapoo Indians.

Just To Remind You

Though, ordinarily, we may not deem the office of constable a very important office, however, when we pause to consider the matter with personal concern, we find that it may mean as much to any one of us as does any one of the so-called higher offices.

Your constable is, or should be, always at hand and available to respond to our every need and command in the honest and efficient enforcement of our laws, while it is sometimes difficult to make quick contact with one of the boys more remotely situated on a higher official perch.

And, no doubt, this very fact had something to do with deciding our lawmakers to create the office of constable. I really do want to be nominated and elected to his office, and, therefore, I do most sincerely solicit your vote and respectfully request that you please speak to your friends and neighbors in my behalf.

and we'll end this proposition forever."

"For 15 years they've been making the charge that Jim Ferguson was a thief," he said. "What is it? When is it? They've never found a nickel he's stolen. If they're such fourth-raters that they can't figure anything out, you ought to quit fooling around with them. They talk about all the money I've stolen. I'm a broke farmer and rancher just like you. I don't even own a piece of property that is not mortgaged."

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, speaking for Mrs. Ferguson's candidacy at La Grange, said he had chiefly four reasons for supporting her. "I believe the best interests of those who supported me loyally are served by electing a governor not of long standing in the millionaire class," he said.

He opposed the Sterling road bond plan, reiterating arguments against it made in his own campaign. He also expressed opposition to Sterling, because, he said, the latter's campaign seemed to indicate "an attempt of the Ku Klux Klan to make a rear door entry and seek control, as in 1924."

Small Makes Comparison Launching his attack upon "Fergusonism" in three thrusts, Senator Clint Small spoke at Waco in his first address of the campaign for Sterling's candidacy.

His three broadsides at the Ferguson "past were "Ma's" pardon record, the highway contract scandal, and a comparison of "Ferguson, the politician, to Ross Sterling, the business man."

Governor Moody, speaking at San Angelo, opened his address with reference to Ferguson's offer of $50 to him for every speech he delivered in West Texas.

He devoted practically all of his address to a recital of the Ferguson impeachment proceedings and to the pardon record of Mrs. Ferguson. He charged that Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson together had freed more than 6,000 convicts while they were in office and that the cost of convicting these prisoners had been about $1,000 each.

WACO, Aug. 21. (Special)—"Political bunk, hokum and chicanery are Jim Ferguson's stock in trade. Senator Clint Small, West Texas' candidate for governor, who ran third in the first primary, said last night as he came out for Ross Sterling against "Farmer" Jim and "Ma" Ferguson.

"He can make pure bunk more palatable to the ordinary individual than any other person in America today," the senator continued. Launching his attack on Ferguson methodically took the record of the Ferguson completely apart to the accompaniment of enthusiastic applause tempered with a generous sprinkling of heckling.

Senator Small was accompanied from Fort Worth by Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, and was introduced by Jake Tiry, prominent Waco attorney.

A graphic comparison of Jim Fergusonism in three thrusts, the senator

guson as a politician with Ross Sterling as a business man. "Ma's" pardon record, and the highway scandal of the Ferguson administration constituted the three main points of Small's attack.

"I am taking back nothing of what I said in the first primary and am advocating the candidacy of Ross Sterling on the same principles upon which I made my race. Ferguson's entire appeal is to the emotions and is based on the creating of prejudice, while Ross Sterling, uneducated in the ways of politics and politicians, is offering the same sound principles that have made him a successful business man in private life.

"Sterling's integrity has never been questioned and his honesty is above discussion; but I challenge anyone to point out a single bit of constructive legislation accomplished under any Ferguson.

"The state-wide bond issue is not an issue in this campaign as Jim would have you believe. The major question is, shall we have honest government?" Speaking of Ferguson's pardon record, Mr. Small referred to the Langhorne and Holmes cases. The Santa Claus robbery and murder in Eastland county in 1924 were aired in response to hecklers' challenges.

"Ross Sterling would not base his pardon policy on commercial expediency, to say the least. And the common knowledge that pardons were bought and sold in Austin during the Ferguson administration is a condition that would not exist."

Highway contracts let by Ferguson on "excessive figures," partly recovered by Dan Moody as attorney general, drew criticism from the West Texas.

"Texas became the laughing stock of the entire United States as a result of our inability to sell road bonds four years ago. And it was all the result of political graft at the capitol. I point to the record of Sterling as chairman of the highway commission for the past four years and invite comparison with Jim's record in the same capacity."

Yes, we'll manage somehow to fill up the paper when the second primary is history. Maybe accidents will increase during that dull period between election time and football and the world series.

Almee has had her face lifted and is rumored to be almost losing her sight. The tragedy, however, would be for her to lose her tongue. You are supposed to see by faith, you know.

New Mexico publicity seems to be doing fairly well, despite the fact that this is the first summer in several years that the Pampa has not written about that state's scenic wonders.

Light Rains in State Give Relief

By The Associated Press
Farmers and business men over Texas had a more optimistic outlook today after light rains in various sections Tuesday abated high temperatures, watered thirsty crops and gave hope for better fall pastures.

Business men said the rains in many places were too light to be of great benefit to crops but constituted a psychological life-saver as a stimulant to trade.

One of the longest summer droughts on record in Dallas county was terminated by a shower and light rains were reported at Abilene, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Palestine, Port Arthur, Bridgeport, Bronson, Crosbyton, Dublin, Eastland, Nacogoches, Weatherford, Ladonia, Nocona, Sherman, Longview, Marshall and Woodlawn.

Winds accompanied thundershowers in the vicinity of Shiloh, Locust Grove and Centerville, wrecking several barns and garages and blowing a few dwellings from their foundations. No persons were reported injured. At Houston, Walter Kuhl, a plumber, was paralyzed from the waist down and burned by a stroke of lightning.

Grain in Rally

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Corn ran up briskly in price today after a hesitant start. Offerings of future deliveries, September in particular, were scarce, and crop reports as to corn continued to dwell on the poor filling of kernels.

Fears were also expressed that much corn would not escape frost damage. Wheat rallied with corn. Opening unchanged to 3-4c off.

Corn afterward scored a decided general advance. Wheat started 1-4 to 7-8c down, sagged a little more, and then recovered to above yesterday's finish.

LOSE FAT

Safely and Quickly

Kruschen Salts—(a perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body must have every day to function properly) purify your blood of harmful acids, and aid the kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material—the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat.

In this modern age of living, it's impossible to get these salts from the fancy foods you eat—but don't worry just as long as you have Kruschen Salts.

Take a half teaspoon every morning in a glass of hot water—little by little that ugly fat disappears, you'll feel better than ever before—years younger, more energy. You'll soon possess that enviable beauty, clear skin, sparkling eyes, superb figure which only perfect health can impart.

At 85c bottle (lasts 4 weeks) at Fatheree Drug Stores or any progressive druggist in America. Money back if Kruschen doesn't convince you that it is the safest, quickest, easiest way to lose fat.

PHILADELPHIA PREPARES TO HEAR NEWS OF PENNANT

A'S. UNLIKELY TO BE BEATEN OUT OF TITLE

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the National league pennant race goes merrily on without getting very near to a decision, the Philadelphia fans are about ready to hear the news that the Athletics have clinched the American league title for another year.

It will require an amazing winning streak on the part of the Washington Senators or the New York Yankees combined with a wholly unexpected slump on the part of the A's to keep the world's champions from capturing another American league flag. After yesterday's game 10 to 6 victory over Detroit, the Athletics had only 31 games left to play and a margin of eight and one-half games over Washington. If Philadelphia slumps to far as to lose half of its remaining contests, winding up the season with 98 victories and 56 defeats, Washington must win 25 of its remaining 34 games to tie while the Yankees, now 10 games behind, could lose only seven of 33 games.

The Senators continued their case yesterday by trouncing the St. Louis Browns, 14 to 4, scoring a 10-run burst in the fifth inning which went down in the fifth inning which went down in the fifth inning which went down in the fifth inning...

"I Am Feeling Better Than In Ten Years"

Amarillo Lady of 73 Glad to Indorse Konjola, the New and Different Medicine.

MRS. NANNIE BRYANT

"For eight years I suffered from a complication of ailments and I tried many medicines and treatments, but never did I see anything like Konjola," said Mrs. Nannie Bryant, 616 East Eleventh Street, Amarillo. "I had rheumatism in my right arm and shoulder. The pain was terrible. I had stomach trouble; was constipated, and was always taking something to produce bowel action.

"A friend urged me to try Konjola, and I did. I began to improve in every way and soon the rheumatic pains began to leave. Today, I am feeling better than in ten years. I have regained normal weight and am doing my own housework. I can even walk uptown. I am certainly thankful for Konjola."

This does Konjola work, yet suffers are used to use a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles for best results.

Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

HOUSTON HAS 17 GAMES AT HOME FIELD

BY GAFFLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was weeping and wailing around the Houston Buffs' business office last spring when it was discovered that the official Texas league schedule for 1930 provided that the Bisons close their season with 19 straight games on their home lot.

It didn't suit Prexy Fred Ankenman at all. If his club should be hopelessly out of the race when that last long home stand began, attendance would be slim and the Buffs would suffer financially. He told his fellow magnates about it and uttered a threat, which today assumed all the aspects of a prophecy:

"All right," exclaimed the Houston magnate, "you've forced this schedule down my throat. All I hope is that when we open that last home stand we're only two or three games out of first place. Then somebody will be sorry, and it won't be me."

The Bayouites were home today to finish the season, starting against the Dallas Steers, and they were only two and a half coasts behind the leading Fort Worth Panthers. The baseball fraternity regarded them as top-heavy favorites to romp through to the second half play-off and meet the Spudders in the play-off.

In their final road bout yesterday, the onrushing Buffs made it two straight over Beaumont, 7 to 4. Dizzy Dean chalked up something like his sixth victory in less than a month as he held the Exporters to seven hits until the eighth, when George Payne took over the job. A four-run spurge off Walt Newman in the fifth wrapped it up for the Schultzens.

Dick Whitworth pitched and batted the Panthers into the leadership on the eve of their southern invasion, his long homer in the tenth defeating the Dallas Steers, 3 to 2, after a thrilling tilt. The big righthander had relieved Lil Stoner in the eighth and held the herd hitless from there on. A timely single by Ed Brown that scored Mallon from second enabled the Kittens to tie the count in the ninth. It was "Jim Moore day" at Steer stadium and the big outfielder got all of his team's hits off Stoner—both of them.

The Spudders fell back into second place as Shreveport swept their short series, 3 to 2. Hal Witte, vainly striving to ring up victory No. 18, limited the Sports to four hits, but was the victim of sloppy support. None of the winners' runs was earned, but they counted, Bill Morrell did some fair flinging on his own hook, allowing the Spuds only five blows, all singles.

Tight pitching in the clinches by Hobo Carson enabled the San Antonio Indians to square their series at Waco, 5 to 2. The Cubs managed to square the count in the seventh, but the tribe came right back with three runs in the eighth off Thurman to take the verdict. Carson helped his own cause along with a homer, and Munson smacked one for the Cubs.

J. Lee and Byron Nelson, both of Glen Garden. Several outstanding favorites, including Gus Moreland of Dallas, found their games wrecked by the rain and failed to qualify for the title flight.

Among the leading lights who faced opening matches today were Emnis Lavender, Abilene; Dixon White, Dublin; "Fap" Massingill, Fort Worth; Jack Jackson, Dallas; Bud McKinley, Del Rio; Robert Conliff, Jr., Oklahoma City, and A. K. Barbee, Waco.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN.
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, artist's model loves ALAN STEYNE, who is also loved by CHUMMY MORLEY, her best friend. Chummy had loved Steyne years ago, and lost her memory when he went away; so, though he loves Judith, Judith insists it is his duty to marry Chummy, who regains her memory when she sees him again. Judith studies dancing and becomes a star in a musical show backed by RICHARD WYON; later, however, she learns Wyon is merely an agent for BRUCE GIDEON, a financier who is infatuated with her. Meanwhile Chummy learns Judith and Steyne are in love and breaks her engagement, but Judith refuses to marry Steyne, telling him he belongs to Chummy. After some months Judith believes Chummy and Steyne have resumed their engagement. Gideon traps Judith in his house and tries to attack her, but she escapes. Then he goes to her hotel and asks her to marry him. She refuses, and he asks her why she has led him on if she did not care for him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV
"I've told you," Judy told Gideon quietly, "to pay you back for what you said to Mr. Stornaway about me."

"So you've been cherishing that all the time?"

"I've carried it in my mind."

"You're revengeful, spiteful, hateful little cat!"

He spluttered the words out. He looked at her murderously but she was no longer afraid.

"You can call me what you like, she said, "That night, when your sister came to supper at your flat and snaked away and left me alone with you, and you locked your front door—did you want to marry me then?"

A sudden stillness fell in that very ordinary hotel sitting room.

It became a theater, and a silent drama was played out in it, as the two looked at each other, Judy had risen, and they stood a few feet apart.

"Did you want to marry me—that night?" she asked again.

Those forces and feelings that lie dormant in the hearts of men were active and astir. The room quivered with them. It was an atmosphere of battle. The two measured each other as adversaries, and realized that all along they had been engaged in a fight.

And the man knew that he had lost. In those moments he looked into the naked soul of little Judy Grant, and he knew that he had lost far, far more than just a girl whose beauty and charm his covetous eyes had desired. He saw her pride and her strength and her purity, and he was awed.

He looked right inside the shell of Judy Grant, whom he had considered fair game from his point of view, and he had seen something that made him turn his eyes away.

"So this is your revenge!" he said, and his voice broke.

"If you like to call it so."

He looked at her with something piteous in his eyes.

"I suppose I deserve it. I shall suffer for it; but I shall try to make you suffer, too!"

"That's what I should have expected of you, Mr. Punch."

"Perhaps you'll change your mind."

"It's not likely."

"Are you going to marry anybody else?"

"Not that I know of."

"Are you lying to me?"

"It's a thing I don't often do."

She smiled mockingly. "I find the truth serves me well enough. And now I think you'd better go. I've got an appointment in a few minutes."

He turned toward the door. Rage and hatred were in his soul, and the madness of baffled desire, which would companion him for many a day; but he controlled himself.

"I shall try to make you change your mind. I shall live for that!"

"You'll waste your time," she said.

"You'd much better forget all about me. I'm sailing for Sweden next week. I shall be away all the rest of the summer. I'm planning to live abroad a good deal."

"I shall follow you."

"Well, I don't advise you to."

"I shan't be able to help myself, Judy!"

Her name came grinningly from his lips. It was an appeal. Even now he could not understand; but she made a little gesture of dismissal and he had to go.

She followed him to the door and watched him go along the corridor. His great bulk hung forward; he shambled, bowed at the shoulders. She thought he looked like a mountain about to tumble down. She was not quite sure that there was not a scrap of pity for him in her heart.

She went back to the couch and sat down, her hands hanging spiritless beside her.

She had been false to what she had meant to do. She had meant to marry Gideon—for Chummy's sake.

She had meant to prove to Alan Steyne once and for all that she was worthless and ready to sell herself for gold. That would have done the trick, she knew. Steyne would have loathed and despised her, and would have turned to Chummy.

But she couldn't bring herself to do it when it came to the point. She was a coward—that was the truth. Her triumph was a failure, after all.

With a tremendous sigh she went and tidied her hair, changed her hat, put on a light wrap, and went downstairs, asking the hall porter to call her a cab. She was due at one of the smaller concert halls at six o'clock. Gregor Gossteivitch was coming there to a room that they had hired. He was bringing a friend to pay over to her certain parts of the "Suite Ecosaise" that he had composed for her.

He had not been satisfied with the finale the last time, and she was to dance it in Stockholm at an early date. He could not play it himself, because of his broken wrist—which, however, was doing as well as could be expected.

As she drove to the hall, her depression spread itself over the wonderful Scottish ballet music of the young master, and she wished he had never written it for her.

Through her closed lids she saw that gray-green scene of mountain and fir trees and babbling streams, with the pale sun illuminating it.

But for the ingratitude of it, she would have decided then and there not to give that dance. She felt all of a sudden that it would be unlucky, that it would bring evil in its train. By the time she reached her destination, she dreaded the beautiful "Suite Ecosaise" as those given to superstition dread the evil eye.

As it happened, the "Suite Ecosaise" set the seal on Judy's career. The northern countries went mad about it. There was something in that interpretation of hers, much elaborated since she had first danced it a l'improvisite in Bruce Gideon's music room, that aroused a species of nervous enthusiasm in the beholders.

Gossteivitch went to Stockholm with her, and to Copenhagen, and to Christiania, and to several other towns in the Scandinavian countries. He conducted his music. The two were on terms of the closest friendship. Judy warmed to the pianist's genius for life, as well as to his art. In many ways she found a kindred soul in him.

Judy was very happy, as an artist must be when her work not only satisfies herself but delights the public. She knew that she had never done anything better than the Scottish dance. She knew it because it hurt her so much. Each time she danced it it hurt her more, when she closed her eyes and thought of Alan's little house among the Maine hills; and that was always the moment that brought the house down.

Gossteivitch told her one morning that he had heard from Gideon. He had been ill, and was Aix les Bains.

Quite suddenly, one day, Gideon appeared. It was about six weeks later, and Judy was dancing in Bergen. Gossteivitch was leaving the party, as he had news of the serious illness of his mother, who lived in Rome. He came in one morning to Judy's sitting room, with his customary bunch of flowers, and told her that Gideon was with a party of yachtmen who had put into the port for a few hours.

"He has offered to take me across to Hull, mademoiselle," he explained. "It will be the quickest way, for there is no boat until tomorrow, and they are leaving this evening."

"I shall miss you, monsieur," she answered warmly. "And I do hope you will find your mother better." She did not even mention Gideon, so the pianist returned to the subject.

"Mr. Gideon hopes you will allow him to see you, mademoiselle."

She shrugged her shoulders.

"Oh, all right," she said carelessly. "If you would like to arrange it, monsieur."

When the time came, she found that she had no feeling at all about meeting Gideon. They drove out to the little cafe in the woods, where Judy ordered coffee and the man drank beer. Gideon looked more like late nights and self-indulgence than like a cure at Aix. He never took his eyes off Judy.

Gossteivitch went in to pay the bill, and Judy and Gideon were left alone in the creeper-clad veranda.

"You are not looking well," Mr. Punch, the girl said.

"It's your fault," he answered crossly.

"Oh, la, la! I hear you're to be married, after all."

"I may."

"The same lady?"

"Yes."

Judy laughed.

"I think you're very wise. And you said you had to pay $200,000 to get out of it."

"That was your fault," he said. His voice was sharp with exasperation. "And there you are queening it, with Gossteivitch to make love to you!"

"Really, I think you're very coarse," the girl returned fiercely. "You judge other men by yourself."

"I shan't marry her now I've seen you again, Judy," Gideon said. "That's ridiculous. You ought to marry her."

"There's always a chance."

"There isn't the ghost of one, Mr. Punch—take my word for it."

He leaned across the table. As much genuine passion as he was ever likely to feel glowed in his eyes.

"Judy, your name will always be written on my heart," he said.

"Only, Mr. Punch—only because you couldn't get me!"

He pushed back his iron chair. The feet of it ground on the stone floor and set her teeth on edge. She rose, too. Gossteivitch came out. They went to the car and headed back to Bergen.

Just before she started for the theater, a note was brought to her by hand. It had been sent before the yacht sailed, and was from Gideon. He reproached her for her behavior to him, and said he would be in Paris for her autumn season. He wrote other foolish things, such as a man writes whose emotions are out of hand. Judy read them with curling lips.

But the sting was in the tail, although he wrote the postscript quite innocently:

By the way, Stornaway writes me that your fair-haired friend, Miss Morley, and her young man are getting married at last. I wonder if you didn't know. You used to be so much worried about her.

Judy refused to dance the "Suite Ecosaise" that night. She persisted in her refusal, although they tried to persuade her to change her mind.

She was so glad that Chummy was going to be happy. It had all come out right; but she wouldn't dance the Scottish dance that night.

Ends Piles Quick

Pile sufferer can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. Cutting and external remedies can't do this—an internal medicine must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, a specialist, succeeds, because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success right in this city that Fatherese Drug Store says to every Pile sufferer, try HEM-ROID at my risk. DON'T LET GUMMY GASOLENE STEAL YOUR MILEAGE

USE KOOLMOTOR GASOLENE

IT'S FREE FROM HARMFUL GUM

Here's another harmful effect of excessive gum in gasolene—fewer miles per gallon.

Inferior or carelessly refined gasolenes contain excessive gum. This is deposited on your valves causing delayed seating and, in some cases, complete sticking of valves. Faulty valve operation allows unburned gasolene to blow out through the exhaust—unused and wasted!

Koolmotor Gasolene—the original high test, anti-knock green gas is free from harmful gum. It is powerful and clean burning—keeps your valves clean—allows them to function perfectly at all times.

A special process—the Cities Service mini-gum process—reduces the gum content in Koolmotor Gasolene to a harmless minimum.

Get more miles per gallon—power when you want it—perfect engine action every mile of the way by keeping your tank full of Koolmotor—the gas that is free from harmful gum.
